"Tell me now," said Velasco, "when we talk, the darkness seems less, not so terrible. I like to feel you breathing against me; your form is so little and light. Don't move! Put your fingers in mine now and tell me.—Why won't you tell me?—Speak louder."

The girl trembled and he put his arm closer about her.

"Are you afraid of me?" he said. "My tempers are nothing; they are like a gust and it is over. I didn't mean what I said. When I think of my violin, that it is lost, gone forever perhaps, that my hands are so numb and so stiff, it makes me frantic. I feel as if I should go mad for a moment, locked in here; and I never could bear the dark, never; not when I was a child. I see things; sounds ring in my ears. I want to cry out, and storm, and fling myself against the walls; do you? It is my nature, my temperament, I was always like that. My nerves are on fire. Stay by me. When I feel your hand—Kaya your hair is like silk. Don't move. What was it you did?"

"Only what was just," breathed the girl, "and right. I could not help myself, I could not. I had taken the ... I was only the instrument."

"The what—?" said Velasco. "If you were an instrument I should take you in my arms and play on you. The strings would be the strands of your hair and my bow would caress them. The tones would be thrilling and soft like your voice; your cheek would be the arch on which my cheek rests. I would shut my eyes and play on you, and you would answer me, and we would sway together, your heart on my breast.—Ah! Where am I?—Forgive me, I thought for a moment—Don't be frightened, I thought you were my Stradivarius. I was dreaming.—What were you saying? An instrument—I don't understand."

"Let me go," cried the girl, "don't hold me! Take your cloak from my shoulders. You wouldn't understand if I did tell you. You are an artist and understand nothing but your art. What do you know of the conditions we are struggling against, the suffering, the horrible suffering of our country?"

"Don't be angry," said Velasco, "I talk to my violin sometimes like that. There was nothing to flare up about; I was dreaming, I tell you! What do you know of such things yourself? Ugh! Leave them alone, child; leave all ugly things alone. Come back, or the rats will run over you."

"It is terrible the things that happen," whispered the girl. She was on her knees and she was pushing him away with her hands. "I never knew until lately, but now—now I have met the Revolutionists; they have talked to me, they have told me. They are splendid men. Some of them are extreme, so am I. I hate the Tsar—I loathe him; I loathe them all! I would kill them all if I could."

She was trembling violently: "It is true that I have—" And then she began sobbing, struggling with Velasco as he drew her to him.

"Be still," he said, "Hush! Your voice was like a trumpet then. You are not like a girl at all; you are like a soldier fighting for his flag. What are you talking about? Hush! Let me wrap you again. The rats are getting worse. Creep closer and rest on my arm. The Tsar is the little Father; we must respect him and speak low about him always."

The girl caught her breath, sinking back on his shoulder, wrapped in his fur. She tried to resist him, but his arm was strong and encircled her; his hand covered her own, it was supple and the wrist was like a hinge. There was a power, an electric force in his touch, a magnetism—she shut her eyes, yielding to it. She was like a violin after all! if he chose to play on her with his bow! Ah—she quivered.

"Monsieur," she said low, "You don't understand. You are a Pole and you care nothing for Poland: how could you understand? And yet you play—my God, how you play, as if you had cared and suffered more than any one in the whole wide world. Have you ever suffered?"

"No," said Velasco, "What should there be to make me suffer? Not until to-night!—Ugh, this is torture, horrible!"

"Have you ever twisted and writhed in an agony of mind that was like madness because—"

"Of course," said Velasco, "After my concerts I am always like that. It is—" He shuddered. "A black depression creeps over one. Bosho moi! It is awful! Is that what you mean?"

"No," she said, "that is not what I meant. Tell me, Monsieur, have you ever cared for any one?"

Velasco stretched his cramped limbs and yawned. "Never, any one particularly," he said, "that I can think of. I used to like my old master in Warsaw; and I have friends; good gracious! All over Russia and Germany I have friends. You don't mean that?"

The girl stirred uneasily against his arm.

"Was that another rat?" she said. "I felt something run over my dress."

"Draw the cloak to your chin," whispered Velasco, "Huddle yourself in it. There, are you warm? Put your head down again. One moment you are like a boy ready to fight the universe, the next you shake at the sound of a rat.—Kaya!"

"Yes, Monsieur?"

She shivered, clinging to him.

"What did you say? Say it again; don't tremble like that."

"I would die," she whispered, "A thousand times I would die rather than have brought this on you. If I had known—if I had guessed!"

"Your hair is like down," said Velasco, "a soft, golden fluff. I can't see it, or you; are you there? I shouldn't know if I didn't feel you breathing, and the touch of your head and your hand. Go to sleep; I will watch."

She murmured again. He laid his cheek to her hair and they sat silent, the girl half unconscious, Velasco staring out into the darkness, his face white and set.

There was a stirring of something within him impossible to fathom; something apart from himself, strange and different, like the birth of a soul; a second personality, unknown, unrevealed. His heavy eyes gleamed through the slits. The round of his chin stiffened; his mouth took new lines. The luxurious artist personality of the musician was dormant for the first time in his life; his virile and masculine side had begun to awaken. The muscles of his arm swelled suddenly and he felt a strange beating in his heart.

This girl, this stranger! She was helpless, dependent on him and his strength. He would guard her and protect her with his life. His arms were around her and no one should take her from him—no one! Not the Tsar himself! She was breathing, she was there; she was a woman and he was a man, and his strength was as the strength of a lion. What harm could befall her?

He bent his head on his breast and his lips touched her hair. Across the sodden floor of the prison, suddenly, came the first rays of dawn falling aslant, touching the shadows, the two figures crouching, the rats as they fled.

Velasco drew the cloak closer about the sleeping form of the girl, with a tender, protecting gesture. His eyes were alert. He had forgotten himself; he had forgotten his violin; he had forgotten his art. He was facing the sunlight grim and determined.

(To be continued)

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman, thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

Cold Upsets the Kidneys

And Uric Acid Poisons Bring Pains and Aches to Back and Limbs

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You feel pains in the back, find the urine heavy and unduly coloured, have indigestion and irregularity of the bowels and these may be the rheumatic twinges.

You wonder what has gone wrong until you recollect that you have been exposed to sudden changes of temperature, perhaps sitting in a draft or passing from a very warm room to be chilled by the outdoor air.

The kidneys are most susceptible to cold, and a sudden lowering of temperature throws an extra burden on them by closing the pores of the skin, which are ordinarily a great aid to the kidneys in removing poisons from the blood.

The danger lies in not understanding the meaning of the symtoms given in the first paragraph. Once you know that the kidneys need assistance you can help them promptly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Every day you put off treatment you are taking the risk of developing Bright's disease, dropsy or rheumatism. Because of the inactivity of the failing kidneys your system is being loaded with poisonous impurities, and that means pains and suffering.

Get Dr Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills today. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

No. 605. A new low-bust model, fitting the average figure to precise styles. A graceful style, beautifully made. Sizes 18 to 28.

No. 631. (Back view) A French model for medium figures. Very stylish and easy-fitting.

C/C

à la Grâce

CORSETS

are made for every type of figure — the tall, the short, the slender, the moderately plump and the large—modelling each, easily yet firmly, to the fashionable lines of the newest styles. Get the model suited to your figure and a perfect fit is assured.

Ask for "C/C a la Grace" at the best stores. Write for new style book to Crompton Corset Company Limited, Toronto. 304

The Signs in Cactus Center.

We allus know comes ripplin' when the lark begins to sing.
A liquid note comes ripplin' when the lark
The cowpunchers are buyin' new saddles, quirts and chaps,
And the wolfer from the foothills gits a brand new line of traps.

The talk all turns to roundups when the cattlemen come in
And some one from the open says the stock is lookin' thin.
The sheepmen come a-straggiin' from the lonesome winter ranges.
The town's one barber gits 'em, and he leaves 'em lookin' strange.

The Mexicanos gather 'gainst the sun washed 'dobe walls,
The prairie dog is scoldin', and the hungry coyote calls;
There is green upon the plainsland, though there's snow in all the draws,
And we know old winter 'd likin' at the sendin' of spring's laws.
—Denver Republican.

What Pestered Mistah Johnson.

"Miss Tilly," said George Washington Johnson at the swell colored ball, "hit 'pears lak Ah heah twitterin'."

"Ah, gwan, Mistah Johnson," said Miss Jones; "you don't heah no twitterin'."

"'Pears lak Ah does." A pause. "Miss Tilly, Ah sho' do heah twitterin'."

She turned haughtily and swept indignantly away.

"For de Lord's sake, Mandy," she whispered in an agonized breath, clutching the back of her hair, "you forgot to tak de bird out o' dat bird-cage!"—Success Magazine.

"Pneumonia"

Pneumonia is nothing more or less than "Lung Fever," or as it used to be called, "Inflammation of the Lungs" and the results come entirely from a local source such as taking a violent cold.

There is more or less difficulty in breathing: a cough, at first dry, but soon accompanied by raising a thick, sticky rusty-colored matter, composed of a mixture of phlegm and blood.

There is only one way to prevent Pneumonia, and that is to cure the cold just as soon as it appears. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will do this quickly and effectively.

Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Pattullo, Ont., writes: "Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of Pneumonia. Since that time, at the beginning of each winter, I seem to catch cold very easily. I have been so hoarse that I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try D. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and before it was half used I was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25 cents.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dirt and Death.

When a celebrated Paris physician was asked how the city could prevent the coming of a plague than ravaging other European places he answered, "Boil your lice!" That tersely called attention to the necessity of utter cleanliness and that even ice made from impure water carried disease.

"Yellow fever," said Henry Ward Beecher, "is God Almighty's opinion of dirt." The chief contributing cause toward modern efficiency in surgery is that surgeons have learned to keep clean. Nothing is so spotless as a good hospital. Everything is boiled and sterilized—beds, instruments, clothing, washrags, floors, hands and finger nails. That is why they save lives there. Nobody would die if he could keep perfectly clean. Death is the final triumph of dirt.—Chicago Tribune.

A German Poser.

That the German authorities can so far unbend as to propound conundrums is only another proof of how little we know our Teutonic relations. In the census papers now being distributed, however, they ask, "If you do not know the date of your birth, how many years old are you?" which is more humorous and at least as intelligible as "Why is a mouse when it spins?"—London Black and White.

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER

INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

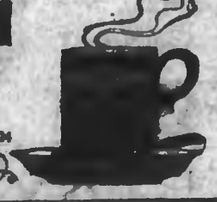
SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

The best Coffee costs but little more than the poor grades. You get the best that money can buy at moderate price when you use

Seal Brand Coffee



Packed in 1 and 2 pound cans only. 124

It Pays The Housewife

to use the best sugar—because poor sugar means poor cooking.

St. Lawrence Sugar

is the genuine "Montreal Granulated"—absolutely pure, sparkling crystals of the most inviting appearance.

Ask your grocer for a 20 lb. bag of ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED — also sold by the barrel and in 100 lb. bags.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited
MONTREAL. 32

Indispensable in Emergencies

THE sickness of a valuable animal on the farm demands prompt remedies.

It's a case for the veterinary—a case where minutes count. That's where the Bell Service shows its value to the farmer.

By means of the telephone the veterinary is reached, and he at once tells the farmer what to do until he arrives.

No far-sighted farmer gets along without the protection of the Bell Service.

He can never tell when it is going to save him from serious loss. Besides, he has daily proof of its usefulness.

Peterborough Exchange, 1375 Subscribers including 145 on Rural Lines.

Every Farmer needs Telephone Service in his business.

Favorable Rates and a large Exchange Service make the Company's proposition attractive.

If you are interested, ask the Company's Local Manager for particulars, or write

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA,
MONTREAL.

A 10 to 1 Shot—The chances are 10 to 1 that you will die before your house will burn. Then, your life is 10 times more important than your house, or should be. Is your life as well insured as your house? If not, get particulars from The MANUFACTURERS' Life Insurance Co.

THOMAS MARK
General Agent, Bank of Commerce Bldg
Peterborough - Ont.

Lots For Sale
— AND —
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

Serviceable Gifts

You can present no better gifts than knives, forks, spoons or fancy serving pieces of the well-known brand

"1847 ROGERS BROS."

For over sixty years the best made, best designed silver plate. No other is "just as good." Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped MERIDEN BRITA CO. Sold by Leading Dealers. "Silver Plate that Wears".

Relieves CATARRH of the BLADDER and all Discharges in 24 HOURS

SANTAL CAPSULES MIDY

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

THE INVESTITURE OF PRINCE EDWARD

A Magnificent Pageant Will be a Part of the Ceremony in Wales in July

Never, in all its history, has gallant little Wales witnessed anything one-tenth part so imposing as the magnificent pageant which the King has arranged in conection with his eldest son's investiture as Prince of Wales, a ceremony which has not taken place since Henry VII. sat on the throne.

In the King's honor the Home Fleet will guard Carnarvon Bay, while the whole of the Welsh Territorial (reinforced by British cavalry) will be mobolised for the occasion.

The actual ceremony of investiture will be performed by the King himself (not, as has been erroneously stated, by Queen Mary, although, of course, she will be present). Inside Carnarvon Castle room will be found for 15,000 leading Welshmen to witness the proceedings, the poetry and mystic symbolism of which are of a nature to appeal strongly to a Celtic people.

The precise ritual of the investiture has not yet been published, but if ancient precedents are followed the picturesque ceremony will be approximately as follows:

Wearing a crimson mantle, young Prince Edward will be formally presented before King George, who will be robed in purple and gold and all the stately trappings emblematic of his Royal station. With his own hands the King will place upon Prince Edward's head a chaplet of gold, made in the form of a garland, as a token of principality. Next the King will put into the Prince's hand a sceptre of gold, the emblem of government. Finally, his Majesty will place a ring of gold upon his firstborn's middle finger, at the same time adjuring him to be a husband to his country and a father to its children.

When the Welsh bishops have led the Prince of Wales to a species of throne and seated him upon it with due solmnity, the investure proper will be completed. But there still remains the picturesque act of the Prince's presentation to the people.

Opposite the famous Eleanor Gate of Carnarvon Castle there is a big quarry. When cellared and fitted up with seats this will form a grand stand to accommodate 50,000 people, all of whom will have a perfect view of the gate, over which a temporary platform will be constructed.

When a fanfare of trumpets announces that the ceremony inside the castle is concluded, every neck will be craned for a good view of the King and Queen and the young Prince as they mount to their place above the Gate. From this same spot seven centuries ago, King Edward I. presented his infant son to the Welsh people to be their Prince. There will be a breathless hush while King George V. stands forward and in ringing tones presents his own first-born as Prince of Wales in the same way.

So long as he lives no Welshman, who witnesses that soul-stirring spectacle, and hears the thunderous echoes of the people's cheering, peal on peal, is likely to forget it. So far as the King is concerned a magnificent banquet will conclude the proceedings but for a week thereafter historic Carnarvon and all Wales will hold high revelry.—Penny Pictorial.

KING GEORGE
When a little sailor Prince.

MANY REQUESTS

But Few Are Granted—Applications for Presentation.

Earl Spencer, the Lord Chamberlain, has been working from early morning to dewy eve trying to cope with the applications from all sorts of possible and impossible persons for presentation at Court which have literally poured in on him for the last month.

No less than 3,000 names have been received for the May Courts alone, and as only a limited number possibly can be invited there will be many sad hearts. It is one of Earl Spencer's tasks to refuse applicants and at the same time to calm their feelings—not an easy job, by any means.

MURDERED FOR THEIR MONEY

A series of mysterious murders has occurred in the vicinity of Karlstadt, in Croatia, apparently the work of an organized band of murderers, who made it their specialty to assassinate Croatian emigrants returning with savings from North America. Many such persons have suddenly disappeared of late; while on the other hand a great number of stripped bodies has been found in the River Kulpa. In one week alone four were found. All of them had bullet wounds in the temples, and the faces were so mutilated that identity could not be established. Part of the clothes of the murdered persons were torn or cut into small shreds, which were found strewn about on the bank.

Family of Railwaymen

One of seven brothers who have worked on the railway, Mr. Charles Dalby, formerly stationmaster at Porthcall, is dead.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

MRS. WILLIAM SKANKS

Lewiston, Me. (Special)—"I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for a good many years and know its value. I intend to use it right along, as I need a stimulant and tonic. I will only be too glad to recommend it to all my friends as I feel sure it will be of great benefit to them." Mrs. Wm. Skanks, 37 Skinner St.

If you wish to feel young, strong and vigorous and enjoy perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It corrects the defective digestion of the food, increases the appetite, strengthens the heart action, gives force to the circulation, cures insomnia, brings restfulness to the brain and nervous forces and gives vigor to the entire system. Recognized as a family medicine everywhere. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children, and is a promoter of health and longevity. We have thousands of grateful patients who write us they have been cured after they were given up by the doctors.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for free medical booklet and advice.

The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

F. R. J. Mitchell, George St., Agent.

FROM FAR AND NEAR

At Weblingen, Germany, a woman named Huber found the sum of £60 in an old stove which had not been used for sixteen years.

The gross rental of London's buildings is $215,000,000, while that of all the agricultural land in England and Wales is under $135,000,000.

The first cockatoo to be exhibited at the Crystal Palace was found dead in its cage recently. It belonged to Mr. E. Gammon, of Ripley, and had been in his family sixty-seven years.

M. Spiridonoff, a wealthy Moscow merchant, who was about to celebrate his golden wedding, sent out invitations engraved on thin sheets of gold, worth $25 each, instead of the usual cards.

Egypt has a desert railway which runs forty-five miles in a straight line; but the longest straight piece of railway line in the world is from Nyngan to Bogrke, in New South Wales. This railway runs 126 miles on a level in a dead straight line.

Tickle-'em-Jock, the best animal in the New York Dog Show, whose owner refused to part with him for $5,000, was for a short period on the benches of a dealer in Leadenhall Market, and could have been bought for less than a $25 bill. The dog is a brindled Aberdeen terrier.

The Philadelphia Police Force boasts the possession of a millionaire policeman. This is Mr. Edward T. Stotesbury, the well-known financier and sportsman, and a partner of Mr. Anthony Drexel. He was sworn in as a special policeman by the Chief of Police at Philadelphia, as a mark of the force's appreciation of his generous donations to the police funds.

A French invention for preventing the formation of hail is described in a bulletin issued by the International Institute of Agriculture. It takes the form of rockets, or "hail-dispelling" petards, which exploding at altitudes varying from 1,300 to 1,600 feet break up the hail clouds. Eighty firing stations have been set up for the protection of 59,000 acres of rich land at Limagne.

The 250 heirs of a man called Johann Kilp, who was born in 1719, met together at Kelkheim, in the Taunus, in curious circumstances. Their ancestors died in Holland, leaving a huge fortune to be divided amongst his heirs a hundred years after death. He directed that until that period had expired the interest on the capital should be devoted to a Dutch charity. The capital amounts to the huge sum of $40,000,000, and the claimants elected at this meeting a committee to take steps to secure the property. It is curious that, although in 1860 a hundred years had passed since the death of Johann Kilp, nobody had been at the pains to investigate the matter.

Lansdowne Receptions.

The Marchioness of Lansdowne, whose Coronation reception in 1902, just before King Edward's illness, was the most splendid of the whole season, attended by the Indian princes in their gorgeous robes and wonderful jewels and by nearly every other royal personage in London, will again receive at Lansdowne House. Chelsea House will be thrown open, the first time in many years, and the earl of Cadogan will entertain largely both in honor of the new Countess Cadogan and of his granddaughter, the Honorable Sybil Cadogan, who is just eighteen.

Fixing Up an Annex.

Mr. Nutt, of the Office of Works at Windsor Castle, is busy preparing for the fixing of an imitation antique lath and plaster stonework annex outside the west door of Westminster Abbey. He designed that of 1902, which necessitated minute inspection to detect that it was not part of the original structure, antiquity and even decay being closely simulated.

The annex will serve the purpose of increasing the accommodation and supplying a convenient robing-room for the 7,000 people for whom places are to be found in the Abbey.

A Shakespearean Ball.

A very picturesque function of Coronation month bids fair to be the Shakespearean Costume Ball, which has ben fixed provisionally for Monday, June 26th, at the Albert Hall. It was originally intended to hold the ball last year, but was postponed on account of the death of King Edward. King George and Queen Mary have given their patronage, and it is expected that practically the whole of the distinguished Coronation guests will be present.

QUACK DOCTOR SKINNED A CAT

Laid its Body on the Chest of Patient—Arrest of a Sorceress in France

Many people of the working classes in town and country still have great faith in quack doctors, and if these persons profess to have some acquaintance with the occult sciences this confidence is strengthened rather than diminished. In connection with the dearth of a young man who died after a short illness, a woman who went in for hope-setting, and who, moreover, had recourse to empiric devices, had just been arrested in the Lyons district, France. When, at the eleventh hour, the doctor was called in, he diagnosed pneumonia, but he saw that his services could be of no avail, as the case was already too far advanced.

The young man had been a patient of the so-called sorceress, who had laid the body of a cat, which she skinned while it was alive, on his chest, with strict injunctions that it should be kept there as a sovereign remedy. Sometimes she used pigeons, rabbits, and even squirrels for the same purpose. She had a special liking for squirrels, but in this particular instance the cat was employed, as it was less expensive.

Although she is in custody it is difficult to get evidence against this woman, as the peasants are reluctant to give anything away on account of the wonderful reputation that she enjoys among them as an expert in the healing art. Her prestige in these parts had been greatly enhanced by the fact that she has never missed an opportunity of proclaiming that some time ago she cured the wife of a physician in practice in one of the chief towns in France, of a dreadful malady, and that the lady's husband, out of gratitude, had initiated her into the secret of dealing effectively with every manner of disease. This story, of course, is pure fabrication, but the ignorant peasants believe it.

MARRIED A CONVICT

A Dressmaker Was the Bride in a Montpelier Prison

At the prison of Montpelier the other day, a convict was married to a young dressmaker from Marseilles. The man, named Dennery, who was recently sentenced to a long term of penal servitude, was leader of an organized band of bandits operating in the south and centre of France, and was nicknamed "Big Heart." The witnesses to the ceremony were the prisoner's brother and three of the prison warders. The doors of the prison were thrown wide open so that the ceremony might be "public," but there was a strong military guard on duty. The dressmaker seemed proud and happy at the idea of having become the wife of a real bandit.

JACK THE RIPPER

A House Painter in Berlin Was Arrested on Suspicion

The police have arrested a house-painter named Richard Bennewitz on suspicion of being the criminal known as "Jack the Ripper," who perpetrated a series of mysterious outrages in Berlin two years ago. The first outrage occurred on February 9, 1909, when a woman named Mary Schafer was stabbed, and died almost immediately from loss of blood.

Two days later, two girls were wounded by the "Ripper" while walking along one of the principal thoroughfares. Other outrages followed in quick succession, until thirty-three women had been the victims of this mysterious assailant. Finding the police were close on his track the "Ripper" fled to the provinces, and a woman was stabbed at Leipsig a few months later. The authorities claim that they have collected evidence sufficient to secure a conviction of Bennewitz in ten cases, and legal proofs of his participation in other similar outrages.

Enjoyment

tonight may mean suffering tomorrow, but not if your stomach, liver, and bowels are helped to do their natural work by

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 25c.

Handy Things for House Cleaning

Dustbane For Sweeping
Liquid Veneer For Polishing
Wyandotte For Cleaning

Soaps, Brushes, Brooms, Liquid and Powder Ammonia

FLAXOAP

For washing all kinds of Woodwork. Does not injure the hands, varnish or wood.

Porter S. White
336 George St. Phone 208

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

do their work without affecting the rest of the system. Nursing mothers take them safely. 25c. a box at all druggists.

National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Deposits	30 November 1910		$32,418,445
Assets	30 November 1910		$48,654,938

Every banking facility offered to

FARMERS

SALE NOTES DISCOUNTED
CHEESE CHEQUES CASHED.

Peterboro Branch, GeorgeSt., C. G Wainright, Manager

Library Voting Contest

Two Handsome Libraries of 80 Volumes Each with Oak Sectional Book Cases Will be Given Away in a Library Voting Contest

Below will be found the names of some of the progressive merchants of Peterborough who make this most popular and liberal offer. One library of 80 volumes and handsome sectional bookcases will be given by votes to the lodge, church, society, school or other organization in the City of Peterborough, and one library of 80 volumes to the schools, lodge, society, church or organization in the County of Peterborough, outside of the City of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes in the following manner. The business men listed below will give with each

5 Cent Purchase 5 Votes

The contest begins Saturday, April 1st, 1911, and ends Saturday, Sept. 2nd at 7 o'clock p.m. A ballot box has been placed in the E.L. Payne Drug Store, where the votes are to be deposited.

At the close of the contest the lodge, church, school, society, or organization, in the City of Peterborough, and the County of Peterborough outside of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes will be awarded the libraries.

Current Accounts when promptly paid will be entitled to votes

REMEMBER votes can only be obtained by trading with the Merchants listed below. Each week The Examiner will announce the standing of the contestants. The libraries and cases are on exhibition in E. B. Clegg & Co's show window. The following is a list of the merchants where votes can be secured :

Peterborough Hardware Co.
Hardware and Tools
368 George Street

E. B. Clegg & Co.
Fine Furniture
427 George Street

J. T. Stenson & Sons
Boots and Shoes
364 George Street

Young & Vandewater
Dealers in McCormick Agricultural Implements, High class Vehicles, Harness, etc.
388 Water Street

Robert Cox
Fresh Meats
461 George Street

R. Farthing - Photographer
Successor to Richmond Studio
147 Hunter Street

Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store
Picture Framing, Picture and Art Goods
345 George Street

STYLE STORE FOR MEN
H. LeBrun & Co.
High Class Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Men's Furnishings
386 George Street

Brock Street Roller Rink

Model Dairy Co.
Cream Milk and Buttermilk delivered in the City
281 George Street

Central Milling Co.
All Bags of Flour contain Library Votes according to value

Peterborough Lunch and Restaurant
330 George Street
WE NEVER CLOSE

T. H. Adams
Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Garments and Furnishings
Adams' Store for Women

Otonabee Boat House
H. B. Rye Prop.
Canoes and Boats for hire—Gasoline Launch Supplies

The Peterboro Examiner
Job Work and Advertising

F. C. Cubitt
Books, Stationery, Souvenirs and Fancy Goods
370 George Street

J. M. Greene Music Co.
Green's Music Bldg. Charlotte St.
New Scale Williams Pianos
Heintzman & Co's Pianos

C. B. Rouiley & Co.
Wall Paper and Chinaware
379 George Street

E. L. Payne
Chemist and Druggist
Corner George and Simcoe

HICKEY
High Class Tailor
434 George Street

A. W. Clysdale & Co.
Successor to W. E. Talbot
Wholesale & Retail Tobacconists
Importers of fine Cigars, Tobaccos and Pipes. 382 George St

W. E. Lech
Hats, Caps and Furs
366 George St. near Simcoe

Peterborough Candy Works
Fine Confectionery & Ice Cream
JAS. HAGGIS
382 George Street

Porter S. White
Grocer, Seeds, etc.
336 George Street

Wesley Bros.
The Clothes Doctors
Corner George and Brock Sts.

Miss E. Smith
Manicurist and Hairdresser
543 George Street

Peterboro Bowling Club
Shooting Gallery and Billiards
384 George Street

A. E. Micks
Stoves and Tinware
212 Hunter Street

F. S. Schneider & Co.
The Watchmaker and Jeweler
Issuer of Marriage Licenses
391 George Street

J. W. Boorman
Bread and Cake Bakery
55 Hunter Street

Robert Gibbs
Hacks and Livery
421 Water Street

Geo. Ruth & Company
Real Estate
395 Water Street

A. McGiverin
City Millinery Parlours
431 George Street

THE RAG TAGS AND BOB TAIL

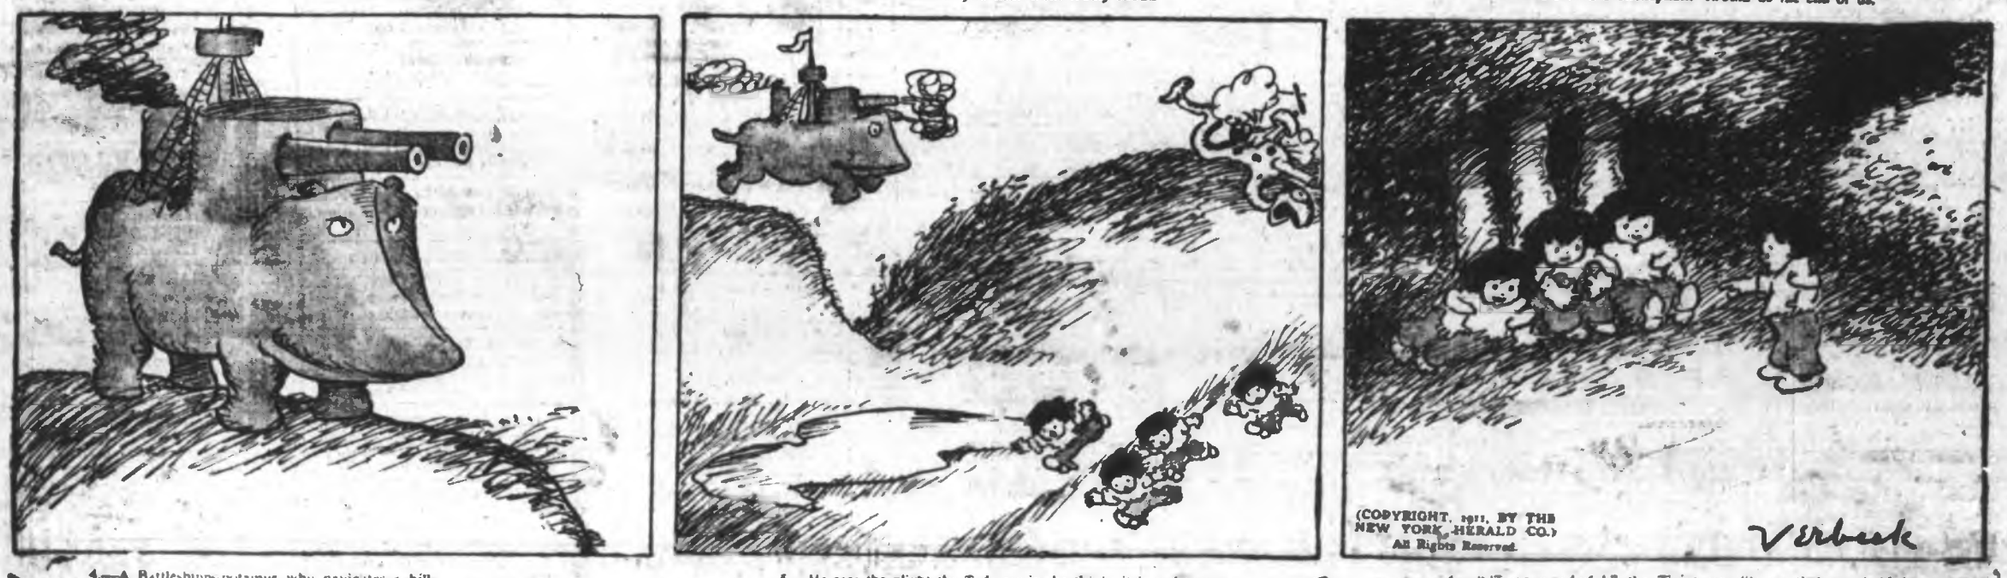
(COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

1.—The Tiny Tads are jumpers, as you see by the above,
To play leap-frog and such like games is what they dearly love.

2.—Oh! What is this that strikes their midst and knocks them all about?
"It is a Pelicannon-ball!" you hear them loudly shout.

3.—"Oh, see the Cruiserpent!" they cry, "He's making all this fuss!
If he should send a Shellephant 'twould be the end of us."



4.—A Battleshippopotamus who navigates a hill
Has heard the sound of firing, also the voices shrill.

5.—He sees the plight the Tads are in, he thinks it is a shame.
He riddles the Cruiserpent with his gun's unerring aim.

6.—"'Twas wonderful," the Tinies cry, "to see that vessel skip!
He must have been a regular old Acrobattleship."

(COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

Verbeck

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka and Georgian Bay	3.40 a.m.	3.55 a.m.
Bancroft, Mattawa, Scotia Jct. and Toronto	9.00 p.m.	9.30 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	3.15 a.m. 3.55 p.m.	11.40 a.m. 9.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west. Niagara Falls, Buffalo	9.55 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	3.55 p.m.	9.05 a.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Omemee, Uxbridge & Scarboro Jct.	11.40 a.m. 3.00 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.30 a.m. 1.15 p.m. 1.15 p.m.
Lindsay Local	3.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, King ston, Montreal and East.	3.15 a.m. 3.55 p.m.	3.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.30 a.m. 3.15 p.m.	8.55 a.m. 12.50 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

	Leave Peterboro'
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Harvard, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Harvard, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Harvard, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	11.10 a.m. 1.55 p.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	4.35 a.m. 8.01 a.m.
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Lyndsay, Toronto, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	7.45 a.m. 4.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES

TO

WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG and return	$33.00
BRANDON " "	34.60
MOOSE JAW " "	37.00
EDMONTON " "	41.00

Also to 80 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

TEROUGH SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular

TOURIST ROUTE

TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.

D. A. ROSE City Agent

COAL ! COAL !

The Standard Anthracite

D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside T. H. track. Phone 88

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a line by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

VENUS, THE GODDESS OF BEAUTY

As sung by Miss HAZELL COX in the new musical comedy

"A SKYLARK"

At the New York Theatre

Copyright, MCMX, by LEO FEIST, 134 West 37th St., New York
International Copyright and Performing Rights Secured and Reserved
Musical Dictionary and Teacher's Assistant for 2 cent stamp and the name of your dealer
Used by permission, MURRAY MUSIC Co., New York

No. 232.

Venus, the Goddess of Beauty. — No. 232.

Fashion IS "up-to-dateism" which marks its follower as somewhat different and gives smart individuality to the man who correctly adopts it.

"FASHION-CRAFT" Clothes are the acme of Clothes Fashion

Peterboro Agency

Craft IS skill in using artistic coloring, novel and high grade construction and when applied to clothing means something out of the ordinary rut of ready-mades.

Such are FASHION-CRAFT Clothes.

$15.00 to $35.00

A. M. Laidlaw Prop.

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

182 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
194 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

Big Value

This is the time to look over your spring ward robe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 569
204 Charlotte Street. Bell 578 Mach. 347

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 796

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 799

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime meat—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon

Butcher Market Arcade

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Nets, Hosiery

MRS. M. J. BYRNE

424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1860

COAL

That Is Coal

is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors have also the every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $[illegible]
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,[illegible]
Surplus $[illegible]

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW

MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, March 17th, 1911.

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio

Ground Floor, 170 Charlotte St

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Siding, Pressed Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing

Including Brantford, Rubberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore

General Roofing Contractors

Phone 775. 244 Water St.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City

Both Phones 264

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

ANCOFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mixed Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord, First class Tamarac, sawing and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

328 George St., HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

Edwin Elcome

TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario.

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 622

We've Aimed at New and Higher Standards of Value Giving Than Ever Before

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

This Profit Saving Event
Begins
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26th and continues to
SATURDAY, MAY 6th

TEN DAYS OF MONEY SAVING OPPORTUNITIES

Welcome news for those with a multitude of wants that the spring and early summer season says must be supplied, and who are not averse to a clear saving of fair proportions on each and every item purchased. Broken lots, the result of heavy Pre-Easter selling together with special purchases ot manufacturer's clearing lots enables us to offer price inducements such as these on seasonable merchandise: :: :: :: :: :: :: :: ::

$2.50 Parasols $1.79

Women's Black Parasols with splendid silk and wool top, 23 inch frame and bulb runner. Good range of new long carved handles and also horn, gilt and natural wood. Ten Days' special, each

$1.79

Exclusiveness a Distinctive Feature of our Spring Millinery

In the demesn of charming spring & summer models to be seen in our millinery showrooms you'll find no two hats exactly alike in their style treatment. Whether your taste demands an elaborately decorated object or one of tailored simplicity the choice is here. Of special interest to thrifty buyers will be this offering of Ready-to-Wear Hats,

$6.00 to $8.00 Hats for $3.98

In this collection are all types of Spring's smartest shapes trimmed in a wide variety of ideas, with flowers, ribbons, velvets or wings. The newest and most attractive shadings. These possess style and elegance to justify almost twice this price. Each..$3.98

Two Attractive Lingerie Dresses Both Specially Priced at $2.98

The White Dress. A Persian Lawn with short sleeves, the waist of which is very dainty with its rows of embroidery and lace insertion. Lace collar and sleeves are trimmed with lace insertion & tucks. 15 inch tucked flounce is headed with row of lace insertion. Each 2.98

The Gingham Dress. Made of fine Gingham with a white ground and large cross checks in sky, navy, mauve and black. Band of plain chambray with 4 rows of white soutache braid runs around neck & belt & down front. ¾ sleeves are also trimmed with chambray and braid. Each $2.98

Hosiery and Glove Prices That are Smaller Than Usual

Infants' Hosiery made from fine lambs wool in black, cream, pink and blue in sizes 4½, 5 and 5½ only. Qualities sold regularly at 35c. While they last ..... 2 pairs 35c

Ribbed Cashmere for children, made from strong all wool yarns in black and tan. Some have double knees, sizes 5½ to 8. 40c values a pair 25c

Fine Cleaned Lisle Hosiery for women in black only, double sole with spliced heel and toe. German dye, fast colour, sizes 8½ to 10. Special at a pair..... 35c

Special Cotton Hose, plain in tans and blacks, seamless with spliced heel and toe. Sizes 8½ to 10, a 25c hose. 10 Days.. 2 pr. 25c.

Long Fabric Gloves in either silk or lisle and black or white, 22 inch lengths with 3 button fastenings. You'll need a pair with your new short sleeved blouse. $1.00 values a pair 69c

Dressy Cotton Voiles 39c

Fine Cotton Voiles in a beautiful range of the season's popular shadings of king's blue, coronation, tan, navy and grey. Plains, self stripes and dainty Dresden effects. 50c values, a yard

39c

The Time for Spring and Summer Underwear

Special Values to Make Quick Selling

Women's Vests at 19c—Women's Cotton Vests for spring and summer wear in sleeveless, short or long sleeved styles, well finished garments & perfectly bleached. Qualities worth regularly 25c.. For 19c

Cotton Combinations 39c—Knitted cotton combinations for women in a heavy closely knitted quality for present wear. A very necessary undergarment for the present mode of dress. Low neck & knee length. Short sleeves. Each 39c

Children's Vests 2 for 25c—Children's summer vests knitted from fine cotton yarns, well bleached and nicely finished garments. Fit a to 12 years. Short sleeves only. Special at ....2 for 25c

Knitted Drawers at 35c—Women's knitted drawers in knee length finished with heavy torchon lace. Knitted from strong cotton yarns. Both styles, a pair 25c

White Lisle Vests at 39c—Women's vests in fine white lisle thread, neck and shoulders neatly trimmed with torchon lace beading and ribbon. Low neck and sleeveless style only. 50c qualities for 39c

Corset Covers at 25c—Corset covers of fine cambric with two rows of torchon insertion across front. Neck and shoulders finished with torchon beading, edging and ribbon, all sizes. Special for Ten Days at..... 25c

Drawers at 39c—Women's Drawers of good English cotton in sizes 25 and 27. Finished with 4 inch tucked frills of open worked embroidery. Regular 50c. Ten Days 39c

Special Petticoats at 98c—Fine cambric Underskirts with choice of 3 different flounces. One has a 12 inch flounce with 3 rows torchon insertion and 1 of edging. Another has a deep embroidery flounce and the third has a 9 inch tucked and hemstitched flounce. $1.25 values. Each..... 98c

$1.50 Princess Slips 98c—Princess Slip of fine cambric with a 12 inch tucked lawn flounce. Neck and shoulders finished with narrow torchon edging, seams well finished, worth $1.50. Ten Days 98c

75c Corsets 59c

75c Corsets 59c—Women's Corsets of good quality white coutil, in new long model, with four hose supporters. Sizes 18 to 26. 75c values. Ten Days....59c

Coloured Aprons 48c

Coloured Aprons 48c—Women's large overall aprons of good quality Print in navy and cadet blue colourings. Made with frill over shoulders and wide frill around bottom. 75c qualities. Each 48c

Quick Clearance Prices on these broken lines of Women's Garments

Some lines of the garment section have felt keenly the busy selling of the Easter Season and to those that have reached the odd ment stage the price clipping knife has been applied

$18 to $32 Suits for $15.00—A cleanup of womens Cloth Suits including odd Panamas, French Serges and Venetians, in browns, greens and navys, worth up to $22.00. This seasons models and all sizes in the lot. Coats are silk lined. Each $15.00

$5 to $10 Coats $4.98—Womens separate Coats in fawn coverts, some plain, others stripes. A clearance of odds and broken sizes, some last seasons. Nearly all sizes in the lot and worth up to $10. While they last, each $4.98

$3 to $4 Petticoats $1.98—Choice of several styles in womens black moreen underskirts, worth up to$4.00. All have deep flounces which are knife pleated, stitched or corded, some have frills others without. Ten Days $1.98

Household Needs in Cottons and Linens

Much Less for Ten Days

12½c Flannelettes 9½c—heavy nappy flannelettes yard wide in grey and white, pink and white and blue and white stripes, good washing qualities. Regular 12 1-2c values, a yard..... 9½c

Cotton Sheets 48c—white sheets 2 yards wide and 2 1-2 long, made of good quality bleached cotton finished with hemmed ends, for ten days each..... 48c

$1.50 Flannelette Blankets $1.29—Flannelette blankets in a heavy fleecy make in white or grey with pink or blue borders, double bed size. $1.50 values for a pair $1.29

$1.25 Quilts 89c—White bed spreads in 11/4 size in closely woven honeycomb design, hemmed ends, $1.25 value, each..... .... 89c

Awning Ducks 29c—Heavy awning ducks 30 inches wide in blue and white, green and white, red and white and brown and white stripes, fast colors, a yard 29c

12 1-2c Towellings 9 1-2c — 1250 yards kitchen towelling, a clearance of discarded lines of a wholesaler's stock, 18 inch widths and every thread linen, fine, coarse bleached or unbleached in the lot. Reg. 12 1-2c a yard, for . 9 1-2c

All Linen Towels 29c—Bleached huck towels, hemmed, in all white or with red border in large size and all linen. A towel worth 39c a piece, Ten Days a pair 29c

20c Percales 11½c —This is a cleanup of a special lot of yard wide shirting percales worth up to 20c a yard, all light grounds and mostly stripe designs, while they last a yard 11 1-2

15c Dress Muslins 9½c—New muslins for summer dresses in spot, floral, stripe and dresden designs on white, sky, pink and mauve grounds, dainty effects worth regularly 15c, Ten Days a yard..... 9 1-2c

New Galateas 23½c — A big range of new galateas for shirts for boy's blouses has just been opened, stripe designs on blue, tan and white grounds, absolutely fast colours and splendid wearing materials. Ten Days, a yard 23 1-2c

35c Embroideries 26½c—Corset cover embroideries on fine cambric materials, open designs with beading and a good edge that will laundry well, a dozen designs, a yard..26 1-2c

Distinctive Style Touches Mark the Showing of Popular Models in the Garment Section

The magnificent display of spring garments in this department has never been excelled outside of the large cities, and back of this again lies the fact that garments of such high excellence have never been priced so moderately.

Two Better Values in Rain Coats, 7.00 Coat 5.00—Made of green stripe shower proof material. Saoulders lined with fancy brocade, patch pockets and rain back cuffs trimmed with buttons each 5.00

12.00 Coats 9.95—Made of rubber lined corded silk, showerproof in fawns, greys, navys and black. Semi-fitting style with soutache braid and fancy button trimming on collar, sleeves and pockets. Each 9.95

Misses Sailor Suits $7.50 to $14.95—Sailor Suits in navy serge or black and white shepherd's checks, prettily trimmed with red military braid, ribbon bows and embroidered emblems. Skirts are in new spring models. Fit 14 to 18 years. Prices range ..... $7.00 to $14.95

Children's Embroidery Dresses, $9.98 to $4.98—Wash Dresses for children, of fine white Persian Lawn & embroidery insertion, rows of insertion down front, back and sleeves, with in some cases a frill of embroidery edging over shoulder. Embroidery beading and ribbon runs around at waist. Skirts finished around bottom with edging. Prices ..... $2.50 to $4.98

$1.25 print Wrappers 98c—Women's Wrappers of good washing prints in greys, navys, cadets, reds and black and white, in stripe, floral, spot and Dresden designs. Finished with frill around bottom. Sizes 34 to 44. Worth $1.25 regularly. Ten Days, choice 98c

Generous Savings on Skirts. $5.00 Skirts 2.98—Several styles in Women's Panama Skirts in navy or black. Nearly all are pleated and trimmed with bands of self and buttons. Lengths 38 to 42. $5.00 value. Each $2.98

$5.00 to $7.50 values 2.98—Fine French Panama Skirts with panel front & back. Pleats on either side of front running up 18 ins. to band of self. Band is trimmed with fancy crochet buttons. Navy or black. Each $5.00

The Newest in Separate Waists—Fine White Batiste Blouses in the new Kimona models, prettily embroidered in shades of sky, king's blue, lavender, coral and black. Choice of high or low neck. Also a style with laundered collar and cuffs, the front of which is prettily trimmed with tucks, pleats and scalloped embroidery. All sizes. $2.25 values, each $1.50

Dressy Silk Waists $3.98—Black Messaline Silk Blouses with the new kimona sleeve and low square neck. Neck is finished with black silk insertion & the front is relieved with a V-shaped row of black and white silk gimp, with a row of same around sleeves. Each $3.98

A Charming $3.98 Waist—Made of Black Messaline Silk with a narrow white hairline stripe. Short kimona sleeve & high neck. Sleeves are finished with & small yoke and collar are made of plain black silk. Row of black silk buttons down front & on sleeves. Open back. Each..... $3.98

Superb Displays of Home Furnishings Presenting a Wealth of New Styles and Big Savings Just When They Are Required

Small Prices on Beds and Bedding Requirements

White Enamel and Brass Bed, one of our better lines, well constructed and has heavy brass trimmings of brass rod & spindles across head and foot with 1 1/16 inch posts, finished with large brass knobs and caps, complete with 6 inch mattress of sea grass and wool and heavy reinforced bed spring. Regular $11.50. Ten Days only $7.95

Fancy Wool Mattress, all wool filling and fancy art ticking in colours of blue, brown or green. Edges well sewn and evenly tufted making a very light soft mattress that is very comfortable, all sizes. Regular 7.50. 10 Days $4.98

Bed Pillows with covering of fancy art ticking and filling of best live goose Down specially selected. A quality not often to be had now a days in bed pillow. Large size. Cheap at 5.00 a pair. Ten Days, a pair. $3.25

Curtain Stretchers only 95c

Patent adjustable Curtain Stretchers that will stretch any curtain up to 4 yds long and 4 yards wide, fitted with non rustable pins and heavy iron clamps for corners. Ten Days .95

Are You Interested in WINDOW HANGINGS ?

3 yard Lace Curtains a pair 42½c — White Nottingham Lace Curtains, 3 yards long and 36 inches wide, neatly scalloped and taped, in well assorted patterns. 10 days a pair 42½c

$1.35 Bobbinette Curtains and Pole 89c—White Bobbinette Curtains made of fine quality washing Brussells net trimmed with 3 inch frill and finished with enamel pole with white silver ends. 89c

$5.00 Irish Point Net Curtains $1.98—Several broken lines of Irish Point and Swiss Net Curtains, 3 and 3½ yards long and 50 inches wide. Only 2 to 4 pairs of a pattern. Heavily appliqued effects in conventional and floral borders with plain or figured centres, worth up to $5. To clear a pr. 1.98

Window Shades only 25c — Linen opaque window shades 37x70 inches in cream or light and dark greens, mounted on roller and brackets, only 25c

Brass Extension Rods 2 for 15c—Brass extension rods suitable for any ordinary size window can be adjusted 30 54 inches. Complete with white silver ends and brass brackets. 10 days only..... 2 for 15c

The Best Values yet in Handsome Floor Coverings for Your Home

$20.00 Velvet Squares $14.89, rich piled Velvet Rugs 9 x 12 feet in colors and patterns equal to many of the high priced axminsters. These all have woven borders and are a make that will give excellent wear. Best $20 lines. Ten Days $14.89

High Class Scotch Wool Rugs—The newest arrival in wool art squares are some beautiful effects in blue, brown, crimson and green, showing the new conventional borders with plain centres. Also stencilled borders with small designs in centre to match. Prices range from 2½ x3 yds @ $5.89 to 3½ x 4 1/2 @ $17.50. (All medium sizes also in stock)

$1.00 Brussells Stair Carpet 69c, English Brussells Stair Carpet 27 inches wide, worsted wool top that will stand the hardest wear finished with neat woven borders on each edge. Fawn, green and crimson. Best A1 qualities. Ten Days 69c

60c Tapestry Stair Carpet 39c—23 and 27 inch Tapestry Stair Carpets in medium quality with all wool face in colours of crimsons, fawns and greens. Regular up to 60c a yard. Ten Days 39c

Brussels Carpet Samples 79c—1½ yards long with selvedge edges and ends. All classes of patterns and colours to choose from. Qualities worth from $1.00 to $1.50 per yard. Fringes to match. 10 Days, an end 79c

A Satisfactory Selection for Every Drapery Need

Art Cretonnes and Art Tickings in new floral and stripe effects in a good assortment of patterns excellent for valances, curtains, cushion covers or light upholstering. A yard..... 25c

American Reversible Art Scrims in cream grounds woven of heavy scrim thread with interwoven heavy cross bar and printed in bright floral and conventional patterns with double borders, 38 inches wide. A yard..... 19c

Tapestry Table Cover, two yards square, reversible, in colours of red, or green with fawn medalion centre, finished with neat borders and fringe. Ten Days, only $1.59

Cocoa Matting for steps and verands use, one yard wide, woven of heavy cocoa fibre that will stand the rain and mud. Ten Days, a yard 42 1-2c

Carpet Sweeper only $3.00

Bissells guaranteed new Grand Rapids Carpet Sweeper, extra easy running, having the new steel ball bearing action anti-ravelling brushes, extra strong springs and dumping pans. Only $3.00

LINOLEUMS

Floor Oilcloth by the Carload to be Sold at Unusual Prices for 10 Days—Extra heavy quality in best enamel face with oil finished back that will not rub off. Colours and patterns are bright and clear and can be had in a great assortment of tile block and floral effects, one and two yards wide. For 10 days big selling we will offer them at a price about ⅓ less than their value or a square yard 25c

MADE MONEY TALK.

Immigrant's Roll of Bills Was Eloquent Enough.

New York, April 25.—Frederick Schneider, who arrived yesterday from Russia, with a wife and fourteen of his fifteen living children, could not answer in English when asked if he had money enough to provide for his army of Schneiders, but he replied in "American" with an eloquence that staggered the immigration officials.

From the depths of various pockets he brought forth rolls of bills and tossed them upon the desk at Ellis Island, while officials and immigrants pressed around to hear the money talk.

The examiner is said to have fainted before the climax was reached, and $28,500 in green and yellowbacks were piled on his desk.

By the aid of an interpreter Schneider explained that his fortune came from the sale of a big farm near Odessa, and that he was on his way to Glen Ullen, N.D., whither his eldest son had preceded him. Schneider entrained at once for his destination, and it is a question whether there will not be fifteen children in the party before they reach North Dakota.

Slumber Chairs in Parlor Cars

Montreal, April 25.—A new style of parlor cafe car will shortly be put into commission by the C.P.R. The new car will be of standard size and weight, but the interior will be arranged in a novel manner.

One end of the car will be built like the observation cars now in use, while the other end will resemble the ordinary vestibule car. Inside the car will be finished in mahogany and will be equipped with heavy slumber chairs, upholstered in dark leather, and can be raised or lowered.

During the last four weeks the Angus shops of the C.P.R. turned out 100 refrigerator cars—an average of six each day. All of the cars were of the standard C. P. R. dimensions, weighing approximately 40 tons each. Fifty of the cars were fitted up with ventilators in the roofs, and were equipped with the C.P.R. pan system of cooling. The other fifty were equipped with the ordinary tank system of cooling.

Brands Herself to Save Man.

Chicago, April 25.—To free Dr. Flanlane Clemenson of this city from a life sentence in prison, Mrs. Jannes Schmidt, of St. Louis, has just made a most dramatic confession. Convicted of poisoning his wife in Chicago two years ago, the doctor fought hard to prove his innocence, but was found guilty and given a life sentence. Now, Mrs. Schmidt comes forward and declares that she can prove that she spent the night of the murder in the doctor's office with him. Mrs. Schmidt, who voluntarily made such an avowal, expected her husband to reconvict her, but he announces himself willing to forgive her in view of the action of Dr. Clemenson in shielding her at the expense of his liberty.

G.T.R. Route to Providence.

Providence, R.I., April 25.—In a letter to Mayor Henry Fletcher, received yesterday afternoon, Vice President E. H. Fitzhugh of the G.T.R., declared that it could not allow the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway, its rival, to select the Grand Trunk's route to tidewater, and that unless his road could have an unobstructed way to a terminal, it would not be justified in constructing the proposed Providence line and would not do so.

The request of the Grand Trunk for amendments to its charter to enable it to reach the tidewater terminal desired is now in the hands of the House committee on corporations.

Should Disarm on Lakes.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Daily Post, speaking of the proposed treaty of arbitration with the United States, says:

Taft has had the hardihood to declare that against Canada alone the United States has felt no necessity to establish a navy. It will be time enough to take Taft's overture at its face value when he has restored the proposal to its original form and given an earnest of his good faith by undertaking as a preliminary to abolish the American navy on the great lakes, in accordance with the existing treaty of disarmament.

Vote For Union.

Zurich, Ont., April 25.—By 43 to 19 the Evangelical Association, generally known as German Methodists, voted yesterday for organic union with the Methodist Church. The conference has to-day nine thousand members and sixty preachers, including locals. The past year $18,000 was raised for missions, $40,000 for preachers' salaries and $33,000 for all purposes. There are 107 organized societies, with a church property of $450,000. The conference formerly was entirely German, but has been largely Anglicized.

Huge Diamond Found.

New York, April 25.—Maiden Lane importers of diamonds have just learned of the finding of a diamond weighing 384 karats in Johannesburg. It will rank as one of the half dozen largest jewels in the world.

A rush to a new diamond field in the Western Transvaal section of South Africa is also reported.

Two Drowned In Canal.

Trenton, April 25.—Two young men named Joseph Walsh and William Root, were drowned here yesterday afternoon through a scaffold collapsing on the works of the Larkin & Gangster, canal contractors.

Ottawa's Coronation Gift.

Ottawa, April 25.—The city will spend $500 on an illuminated coronation address to King George, which will be in album form, and will be enclosed in a casket of native gold and silver.

Auto Turned Turtle.

Brockville, April 25.—G. Knapp and O. F. Duprey had a narrow escape from being killed while automobiling from here to Gananoque. West of Lyn the auto skidded into the ditch and turned turtle, pinning both men under the car. They were badly bruised up, and the auto was wrecked. Knapp and Duprey are students here. The former came from Prescott and the latter from Amherst, N.S.

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY APRIL 25 1911

See Page Six For Turnbull's Great 10 Days' Money Saving Opportunity Sale

You Have Until Seven O'clock To Vote For The Tire By-law

ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER FATALLY INJURED IN A FIGHT

Dispute Arose at a Labour Meeting at Glace Bay and Man Uses a Revolver With Fatal Results.

WAS NEARLY LYNCHED

Special Wire to The Examiner.

HALIFAX, N.S., APRIL 25.—During a labour meeting of miners at Glace Bay last night a dispute arose between an intoxicated man and a man named Beal, who was going for the police to put the disturber out when friends interfered, the affair ending with Beal drawing a revolver and shooting William Bryant and fatally wounding Michael Murphy, both miners. Instantly there was a riot and the crowd wanted to lynch Beal on the spot, but calmer counsels prevailed and the police took charge of Beal.

WE DARE NOT SHOOT THEM.

One might as well try to prevent Reciprocity by closing the gate as to attempt to prevent the sure and certain advance of 30-day Shorthand. Moon College graduates, it seems, insist on talking to their friends.

PLEADED GUILTY

Special wire to The Examiner:

CAYUGA, APRIL 25.—Lawyer Murdock of Jarvis, this morning pleaded guilty to seven charges of theft and one of forgery from clients. Sentence will be imposed later.

WHY HESITATE?

An Offer That Involves No Risk For Those Who Accept It

We are so positive our remedy will completely relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish it free of all cost if it fails.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are eaten like candy, and are particularly ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on the other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively overcome chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Sold only at our store. The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

BILL WAS REPORTED

Special Wire to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 25.—The Ontario Government's legal representative this morning made a vigorous protest to the Railway committee against the granting of charters giving the railways indiscriminate rights of extension in Ontario. However, the bill to incorporate the New Ontario and Quebec Ry. Co. into the Porcupine district was duly reported.

ITS WORRY THAT KILLS

Nothing so wastes the vital nerve force as worry. Nothing so certainly retards restoration to health. Get out into the sunshine, be cheerful, use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild the wasted nervous system, and you will be surprised how quickly there will be a change for the better. This advice will be better than gold to you if you will but follow it.

THE FIRE FIEND

A fire at the Grand Trunk tool house, which did damage to the amount of $15, gave the firemen a run at 1.15 p.m. to-day. This was quickly followed up by a telephone call to another fire, which on the arrival of the brigade, proved to be a pile of burning telegraph poles near the gas works. The blaze was quickly extinguished. No damage was done.

DAMAGE $15,000

Serious Fire at Ottawa Destroyed Barns and Stables and a Large Amount of Live Stock Perished

500 HOGS KILLED

Special Wire to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 25.—Five hundred hogs, eighteen jersey cattle and five horses were suffocated to death and partly incinerated when the stable and barns of Hurdman Bros. near here, were destroyed this morning. The loss will be $15,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

LIVELY RUNAWAY

Team of Horses Ran Into Plate Glass Window on Charlotte Street

A very serious accident was miraculously averted on Charlotte street this morning about 11 o'clock, when a team of horses attached to a waggon, ran away from the Perkins Ice & Co's establishment at the G. T. R. Charlotte street crossing. One of the men, seeing that the horses were going to run away, jumped on one of their backs and got a fast though short ride. They started east on Charlotte street and swerved off the road in front of J. Grady's shop and ran up against the plate glass window of the grocery store next door. Fortunately they struck it at an angle and though the glass has badly cracked, no further damage was done to the store. Both horses fell in a heap on the sidewalk in front of the store, and the man who had jumped oh the horses back, jumped sideways and then sat on the horse's head and held it down until help arrived and both of them were properly secured. Had it not been for the angle at which they struck the window, they would certainly have gone right through into the store, and the results would have been serious.

Funeral To-day

The funeral of Mr. Stephen Jeffrey, who passed away at the home of his son, Harvey Jeffrey, 57 Olive Avenue, will take place to-morrow. Service will be held at the house at one o'clock, Rev. Mr. Trumpour will officiate. Interment will take place at St. John's cemetery, Cavan, where the Rev. Canon Allen will officiate. Deceased emigrated to this country 37 years ago, first settling in Peterborough, after which he removed to Cavan, where he established a brick-making industry. About 12 years ago he moved to Peterborough, and has resided here ever since. Two sons survive; they are, George of Davidson, Sask., and Harry of this city; also one sister, Mrs. Cheen, of Hove, Brighton, Sussex, England.

DRUG STORE DAMAGED

Omemee Store Visited by Disastrous Fire on Sunday—Origin of the Blaze is Still a Mystery

COVERED BY INSURANCE

Special to The Examiner:

OMEMEE, APRIL 25.—Fire broke out on Sunday morning, at 2 o'clock in J. A. Wylie's drug store. Mrs. Morrison, who occupies the house in the rear of the store, was awakened by an explosion, and on discovery that the drug store was on fire, sent in an alarm at once. Almost the entire stock was damaged by heat and smoke. The origin of the fire is unknown. The building, which is owned by Mr. Morrison, and the stock belonging to Mr. Wylie, are insured in the "Gore," and it is understood that the loss is fully covered by insurance.

Sunday afternoon Dr. Thompson's horse took fright at an automobile on the Lindsay and Peterborough road. The horse ran away, throwing the Doctor out. With the exception of a few bruises the Doctor was not seriously hurt.

NEW YORK MILLINERY

Ladies have the advantage of receiving free votes for the Library Contest with all fashionable millinery bought at Miss McGiverin's, 431 George St. Special close prices Friday and Saturday. Come. 3d96-tf

WEDDING BELLS

LACOMBE—DEROCHER.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral at 6 o'clock this morning, when Miss Margaret Derocher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Derocher, 260 Murray street, was united in marriage to Mr. C. Lacombe of Owen Sound. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCarthey. Miss Katie Derocher, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, while the groom was assisted by Mr. Harry Lacombe. After the ceremony the young couple and guests to the number of thirty, gathered at the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding dejeuner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Lacombe left on the 7.50 C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will spend a few days before leaving for Owen Sound.

The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls and to the bridesmaid a gold locket and chain.

On Friday evening the bride's friends surprised her with a "kitchen shower" at which a large number of useful gifts were presented.

Both young people have a host of friends here who will unite in wishing them every success in their new home in Owen Sound.

AN AWFUL CONTINGENCY.

"What are you girls doing?"

"Settling our costumes for the Shakespeare Ball, mother."

"Take my advice and wait. They may dig up something at any moment to prove there never was such a person, and then where would your Rosalind and Celia be?"—Punch.

THE LICENSE COMMISSIONERS CONSIDER APPLICATIONS FOR HOTEL AND SHOP LICENSES

All Are Granted with the Exception of Palace Hotel and Snowden House, Where Three Months Extension Has Been Made.

BARTENDERS' LICENSES

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for West Peterborough, held at the residence of the chairman, Dr. M. A. Morrison, last night, applications for licenses for the hotels and shops of the city were considered and dealt with. All the applications were granted, except that of Isaac Eastwood of the Palace Hotel and R. P. Collop, of the Snowden House, in both of which cases an extension of three months was made.

There were present, Dr. Morrison, chairman; Jas. Kendrey, R. Sheehy and Jos. Stewart, License Inspector.

Following is the list:—

Geo. N. Graham, Oriental Hotel, granted.

D. B. Denison, Hotel National, granted.

Chas. R. Nixon, Grand Hotel, granted.

Frank Montgomery, Montgomery House, granted.

J. B. Laroque, King George Hotel, granted.

Samuel Long, Peterborough House, granted.

Arthur T. Johnston, Windsor Hotel, granted.

R. J. Munro, Munro House, granted.

Patrick Hogan, Albion Hotel, granted.

Isaac Eastwood, Palace Hotel, extended three months.

R. P. Collop, Snowden House, extended three months.

SHOP LICENSES

F. R. J. Mitchell, granted.

Mrs. E. Brennan, granted.

J. C. Sullivan, granted.

Peterborough Club, granted.

Inspector Stewart has the matter of bar-tender's licenses in his own hands and will grant licenses to those he considers proper persons to have them.

A MIXED MARRIAGE

Examiner Special.

MONTREAL, APRIL 25.—On the ground that when they were married 30 years ago, he was a Protestant and his wife a Roman Catholic, and that therefore his marriage was not legal, George Dowden has applied to the Superior Court for annulment. A Protestant tied the knot. The parties are sixty years of age. In view of the present controversy this case is causing great interest.

FUNERAL TO-DAY

Friends Paid Last Respects to Late Hugh Waddell, Esq.

The funeral of the late Hugh Waddell, Esq., took place from the family residence this afternoon and was largely attended. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Jas. Rollins, B.A., Pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased had been a member. The pall bearers were Messrs. John J. Lundy, Jas. Kendry, J. H. Burnham, R. E. Wood, Robt. Fair, W. H. Hill, J. H. Ferguson and G. W. Bennett.

Among the out-of-town visitors who were here for the funeral were: Hugh Waddell, Esq., Houston, Texas; Mrs. (Dr.) Scott, Houston, Texas; Mrs. McLelland, Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hurdon, Toronto; Mrs. Wm. Needler, Lindsay; Miss Needler, Lindsay; Mrs. Rolland Boswell, Ejora; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Waddell, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Clark, Port Hope; Dr. McLaren, Toronto; Prof. Laird, Kingston; Geo. Needler, Millbrook; Chas. Needler, Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McLennan, Lindsay; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Robinson, Toronto; Mr. John McClelland, Toronto; Mr. Geo. McClelland, Cookesville; Mrs. Harry Allen, Millbrook, Mr. J. C. Kells, Millbrook; Mr. A. A. Smith, Millbrook; Mr. John Frizzell, Toronto.

IS SENT UP FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF STEALING CHOP

Farmers Give Evidence in Case at Police Court This Morning—Quaker Oats Company's Superintendent States That His Company Gives Away No Material—Prisoner is Out on Bail of $1,000.

Louis Houdrey was this morning sent up for trial on a charge of stealing a quantity of chop from the Quaker Oats Company in March or April, 1911. Houdrey appeared before His Worship Magistrate Dumble, in the police court, and would not elect, so the evidence was taken.

David Lawson, a farmer living in Otonabee, bought some chop off Houdrey in the latter part of March or the beginning of April, and was put in the box to state what he knew about the case. He said that he was getting some peas from Mr. Houdrey and Mr. Houdrey asked him if he wanted to get some chop. The witness stated that he had a look at the chop and finally bought a quantity of it. He said that his brother-in-law, Mr. John Crowe, of Cavan, was with him at the time, and they bought between them about 55 bags. Some of the bags were brought to court for examination. They were not actually the same bags that the chop had been purchased in ,so were very little use as evidence in the case.

Mr. John Crowe was put in the box and gave evidence which corroborated the former witness' statement. He also stated that he paid $25.00 for the amount of chop he got.

Joe Shearer, who has been convicted of stealing some of the chop in question, was put in the box to tell what he knew regarding Houdrey's connection with the case. He would not tell much about the case. He said that Houdrey had formerly told him that the stuff had been given him by the Quaker Oats Co's foreman, Mr. Gervey. Shearer also stated that Houdrey had employed him to bag the stuff. He said he put up about 65 bags or more and afterwards sold some of it. When asked as to whether he divided the money with Houdrey, he said that Houdrey said that he only wanted a pair of boots out of the deal. Shearer said that there had been no dividing of the money, for the simple reason that Houdrey had sold some of the stuff in the mill and had not divided the money with him. He said that he had seen Houdrey and Mr. Garvey speaking together, but did not know what they were speaking about.

Mr. Wm. J. Garvey, the Company's assistant shipper and foreman was put in the box. He said that he had not given Houdrey any of the stuff. He explained how the stuff come to be on the floor. He said that some of the bags would get burst and others would be eaten by the mice and rats, and both grades of the stuff would get mixed on the floor, so that it was just swept up into a heap on the floor, and taken back to the mill, where it was cleaned and mixed with other food for sale. He said that the sweepings on the floor were not as dirty as had been described by the witnesses. And that none of it had been so very dirty that it was no use to the Company.

Mr. W. H. Denham, Superintendent and Manager of the Quaker Oats Co., gave evidence, explaining that no stuff of the Company's was given away.

His Worship then stated that the charge against Houdrey was that he sold feed, the property of the Quaker Oats Co., and that the evidence in the case was sufficient to show that he did sell certain stuff of the mill, and was also sufficient enough to send him up for trail. Howdrey was allowed out on $500 of his own bail, and two sureties of $250 each. Mr. La Plante appeared for the defence, while Crown Attorney, Mr R. E. Wood, prosecuted.

ADVISES BRITONS TO STAY AWAY FROM PEACE MEETING

LONDON, APRIL 25. — The Morning Post points out this morning with a prominent and strong appeal to all patriotic Britons to keep away from the Lord Mayors perpetual peace mass meeting on Friday next. It says Sir Edward Grey's acceptance of President Taft's peace proposals is not conducive to the safety of England, and the Post calls on the United States, before talking of further advances to cordiality to carry out the present agreement and take the warships off Lake Ontario and Lake Erie as per the treaty made years ago.

COULD NOT RAISE BAIL AND THE CROWD JEERED

Special to The Examiner.

INDIANAPOLIS, APRIL 25.—Walter Drew of New York, counsel for the Organized Bridge and Steel Building Construction Co., Joseph Ford, Assistant District Attorney of Los Angeles, Cal., and Frank Fox, the chauffeur, arrested on a charge of kidnapping J. J. McNamara, secretary of the Iron Works and arresting him on a charge of conspiracy in connection with a dozen explosions, were arraigned before a local magistrate this morning and committed to appear before a grand jury and remanded on bail of ten thousand and six thousand, which they could not raise. They were taken to the county jail amid the jeering of crowd. The charge against them is that they conspired to take McNamara out of the State without due press of law. The spectacle of the prosecuting attorney being jailed for prosecution, the case shows how far the labour men are ready to go in reprisal against the capitalists who, they say, caused the arrest of McNamara.

DRESS CAUGHT FIRE AND WOMAN WAS BADLY BURNED

Lindsay, April 24.—A distressing accident, which may yet prove fatal, occurred this morning in the north ward, when Mrs. John Bryans, an elderly woman residing on Colborne st., near the north ward school, was badly burned.

It appears that Mrs. Bryans, who has been living alone since the death of her late husband some time ago, was out in the yard with her little granddaughter burning some leaves, when in some manner Mrs. Bryans' dress caught fire, and in a short while her outward garment became ignited and she was enveloped in flames. The little girl threw water on the aged lady, but very soon the flames leaped to her head and her hair caught fire. The lady had stiff presence of mind enough to duck her head in a rain barrel which was standing near by, and thus managed to check the flames. However, she became greatly weakened by the shock and the burning [illegible] just managed to walk into the [illegible] and sit down in a chair when [illegible] arrived. Mr. Marshall across the road as well as Mrs. Wilson [illegible] been called by the little girl.

Mr. Marshall worked heroically in an effort to put out the flames, after doing so summoned Dr. [illegible] who was soon on the scene. She removed to her bed and [illegible] carefully attended to. The doctor found that she was very badly burned, the flesh being burned off on her limbs. Mrs. Bryans is suffering considerably, and the doctor holds out very little hope for her recovery.

Mrs. Bryan's clothing was completely off, and in fact the fire spread to the woodwork before for the assistance of neighbors in quenching the flames. She would have been burned to death [illegible]

Scene in the Big Comic Opera "The Kissing Girl" with Texas Guinan and Company of 60 People, which comes to "The Grand" Thursday, April 27. Seats Now on Sale

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 380 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.
E. H. CLEVER, Managing Director.
Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1911

VOTING RIGHT BY MISTAKE.

Six of the Conservative members at Ottawa voted for the reciprocity agreement as a whole. Mr. Seeley, a government member, introduced an amendment calling for the elimination of the clause relating to fruits and vegetables, and endorsing the agreement otherwise. Mr. Seeley is interested in fruit canning, and fearing that reciprocity would raise prices of fruit wanted fruit and vegetables excepted from reciprocity of free entry. Six Conservatives, Messrs. Lennox, (South Simcoe); Henderson, (Halton); Sproule, (East Grey); Blair, (Peel); Roche, (Marquette, Man.); and Currie, (North Simcoe) voted with Mr. Sealey for the amendment and the passing of the agreement. All this was done in the wee sma' hours, about 3 o'clock in the morning, and now these bolting Conservatives are trying to crawfish out of their vote. The Mail and Empire is so much ashamed of the vote that it refains from the publishing the name of the heroes. These say that they voted by mistake or misunderstanding, for the reciprocity agreement. They may have been mistaken. It is only natural, for it can only be by mistake that members of the Conservative Opposition vote right where this a matter of party interest concerned. Their vote for the agreement may make it awkward for them in caucus, but it won't hurt them in the eyes of their constituents, for all over the country, the sentiment in favour of reciprocity is growing in spread and intensity every day.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

A st is told of a newspaper editor of the Manitoba villages who ha pike on a citizen of his town not long since. The citizen and his family are great admirers of the departmental store, and buy all their goods in Winnipeg. A few weeks ago, a daughter of the house got married, and the entire bridal paraphernalia, including the invitations, was purchased in the city. The day after the wedding the bride's father brought to the newspaper office a long account of the event, but when the paper appeared it contained nothing about the wedding, but an announcement of three or four lines. Next day the citizen called at the newspaper office to demand an explanation why the report of the wedding had not been printed. "Oh, that's all right," said the editor, "You'll probably find it in Beaton's spring catalogue."

The lesson in this is plain. Fair play demands, that money made in a town or city, say Peterborough, by the help of the residents of the city at large, should be spent in the city, to the advantage of those that helped make it. That is, assuming that fairly equal value can be obtained at home. And this can be done in Peterborough with its excellent shops of various kinds, which compare very favourably with those in the larger cities. Perhaps some few articles are quoted at a lower price by city departmental stores; but when one counts postage, express charges; the unsatisfaction of having some rat-crowned shop girl do your selecting, the qualms of conscience that must come from doing an injustice to your own merchants and the outrage of the principle of cooperation that alone can build up a city in all its interests—when all is taken into account, the "bargain" is not so much a bargain after all. Every citizen of Peterborough gains his money by the help of the other citizens; and if he has a spark of the spirit of fair play, he will reciprocate. This he can do by buying his goods at home, patronizing home enterprise, helping those who help him. It is only by the general application of the principle of cooperation, that a city can advance the most successfully. This cooperation should extend to everything—cooperation in the promotion of good works; in the advancement of the material upbuilding of the city; in the cleanliness, tidiness and beautification of the city, in the preservation of created beauty; in the prevention of acts that militate against civic beauty and civic well being generally.

SPARE THE BIRDS.

It is true to the point of axiom, that, if our bird life were destroyed we should starve to death. Birds devour the noxious worms, insects and small life that, if unmolested, would destroy every green thing, grains, vegtables, fruit.

The National Association of Audubon Societies has received estimates that the losses last year to food and cloth products in the United States amounted to over $10 for every person, chiefly due to the destruction of feathered insect-eaters.

The Government biological survey at Washington has given statistics which go far to prove that the cost of living has been raised to cover $1,000,000,000 loss in agricultural produce from the ravages of insects and rodents that would have been largely wiped out if their natural bird foes had been protected from feather men, market butchers, and pot hunters.

Last year's cotton crop suffered a loss of at least $25,000,000, paid for by all who buy cotton goods, because the birds that destroy the weevil are being killed off.

Almost every edible product of the farm, excepting meat, has decreased in quantity and increased in price because of the lack of insect-eating birds to drive away or destroy the field pests.

Only recently some 75,000 meadow larks were killed in Georgia because of their beautiful plumage, yet seventy-five per cent. of the diet of these birds consists of crop-destroying insects.

There is not a Canadian bird, though some of them may prey upon our fruits, like the cheerful robin, or steals our corn in the hill like the crow, that does not much more than pay it board bill, by destroying noxious insects and worms and vermin that if not destroyed would wreak far more destruction upon all sorts of crops.

Not to speak of the cheer of birds about us with their tuneful notes, their picturesque, living presence, flashing from tree to tree and shrub to shrub. The bird life of this city is a material benefit by the work they do in destroying insect forms that would, if unmolested, destroy our vegetables and fruits. Therefore it is timely to make the call to spare the birds.

No sooner does spring open and the birds begin to nest, than we see wicked boys armed with catapults ready and willing to destroy all sorts of bird life, leaving the young to perish by starvation, or robbing nests, and thus preventing reproduction of the most beneficient of created animal life.

Every Sunday in the suburbs can be seen boys, young, and sometimes, older, men ,stalking the country, seeking what birds they may destroy.

These vandals, these land pirates the enemies of society are not only breaking the Sabbath day, but the law of the land and the law of nature which provides the birds to do their work in contributing to the feeding of the human race.

We are striving to arouse a general interest in the work of beautifying the city; and we cannot beautify it in a higher and more profitable way than in preserving the beauty and utility of bird life in the aesthetic and material interests of Peterborough.

A WONDERFUL VETERAN.

General Booth reached his 82nd birthday on April 10. Except for his eyesight he is in sound health. One eye is permanently sightless, but he is hopeful that an operation will restore the full use of the other. The spirit of this wonderful old man is as keen and buoyant as ever and he is preparing to shoulder tasks that would appal his juniors. To an interviewer he said on his birthday:

"Next month I shall meet the foreign delegates who are coming to London for the International Social Congress. Officers will be here from Australia, Asia, South Africa, Canada, and the States, and all the European countries, and we shall hear from their own lips what they are doing and why, and we shall describe to them the methods we have found beneficial in this country.

"After the congress I commence a tour in Scandinavia, visiting Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Finland, and though I am not quite certain at present, it is probable that I shall visit St. Petersburg and see how far burenucratic obstacles have been removed to the extension of our work in Russia.

"In September and October I visit Canada and the States, going as far as Manitoba and British Columbia. If the operation on my eye does not take place in the autumn I shall take another tour in Germany in November, and if it does, and is successful, I shall pay the German visit later in the year."

Perhaps the General was endowed with a robust constitution, but it is a union of the spirit and the flesh that keeps him in vigour at 82. Intense mental application will wear a man out if he disregards the laws of health, but if he is careful of his body there is no preservative like a busy brain, especially if it is employed in high and noble tasks, since thoughts have their physical counterparts. It is the brain-workers who, with ordinary care of their health live the longest. Mental stagnation induces phsical stagnation. In General Booth the forces of nature are nourished by an ardent soul. The machine will wear out or suddenly collapse, but it still enables him to work long after most men of his age lag superflous; and every hour of his work is a gain for the world. Happy the man who has such support for his last years.

MUST HAVE NEW MARKETS.

(London Advertiser)

Those who would tie Canadian farmers to a single outside market are not looking at the future. The production of Canadian wheat is growing so rapidly that Great Britain alone will not be able to take care of the surplus a few years hence. The total imports into Great Britain in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1911, were 163,162,656 hundred weights of 112 pounds, or 192,570,105 bushels. With a favourable season Western Canada alone may produce 175,000,000 bushels this year. In ten years the crop may be trebled or quadrupled. This table of wheat imports in Great Britain in 1910 and 1911 by countries will be found instructive (the figures are in hudred weights of 112 pounds):

Wheat.	1910.	1911
Argentine Republic	19,583,000	16,011,900
Australia	9,189,100	13,270,800
British E. Indies	15,423,600	18,286,556
Canada	1,494,900	635,200
Chile	1,494,900	635,200
Germany	375,000	84,900
New Zealand	701,400	713,400
Roumania	515,100	951,500
Russia	19,724,540	28,055,800
Turkey	51,700	177,100
United States	14,935,300	9,535,800
Other countries	206,940	285,300
Totals	99,730,725	103,162,656

Commenting on these figures the Winnipeg Free Press says:

"A study of the figures as a whole indicate that it is not reasonable to expect to find in Great Britain a market for the enlarged output of Western Canada. Even though a preferential tariff were to come into operation, we should have to divide the English market with the British East Indies, with New eZaland, and with Australia, and in the face of their competition, could not hope to do much more than double our present contributions to that market."

Nor can a great increase in the shipment of flour be counted upon, as the imports into Great Britain are actually decreasing. The British millers are evidently increasing their hold on the home market; they are able to assemble wheat from all parts of the world.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

Upper Lakes Service, Owen Sound to Fort William and vice versa. Commencing to-day, April 24th, Upper Lakes steamers will leave Owen Sound for Sault Ste. Marie & Fort William, Athabasca, Monday; Keewatin, Tuesday; Alberta, Wednesday; Manitoba, Thursday; Assiniboia, Saturday; at 1.30 p.m. To connect from Peterboro leave at 5:26 a m. For tickets, berths and all information, see W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent, 248 George St. 4d-95

Forgery And Lying Last Refuge Of Opponents Of Reciprocity

Under the heading "A Thumping Big Lie," the Globe says:

The Rev. W. E. Milson of Kingsville, deserves the thanks of all who believe in the discussion of public affairs in an honourable spirit for his exposure of one of the meanest political tricks of recent years. For some time in Essex and other border counties an anti-reciprocity pamphlet has been in circulation, which contained, among other arguments against the agreement, a speech said to have been delivered in Missouri by Mr. Champ Clark, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and one of the Democratic leaders in the United States national politics. In this remarkable oration Mr. Clark was said to have made the following statements:

"Fellow-Missourians, our party sees in the reciprocity bill a wedge which will be driven between eastern and western Canada. A country divided against itself must fall, and the wedge we shall drive by means of this bill will split Canada in two, and both halves will fall into the lap of the United States. In other words, gentlemen, the Democratic party mean to annex Canada by force or guile. Why? Because, gentlemen, Canada is under the tyrannous heel of a foreign country, a country that is a monarchy, and, therefore, absolutely opposed to all the tenets of democracy. The Democratic party have come to the conclusion that Great Britain by its monarchical system, which is extended over Canada, directly transgresses the fundamental idea of the Monroe doctrine, and we are therefore acting well within our rights; we are going to annex Canada."

Mr. Milton did not believe that anyone of Mr. Clark's prominence would so deliberately insult a friendly nation. The whole speech seemed like the product of some fakir earning a dishonest dollar by trying to frighten the farmers of Canada into an attitude of opposition to better trade relations. Mr. Milson sent one of the pamphlets to Mr. Clark for his inspection. His denial was prompt and conclusive. The Speaker of the House of Representatives said: "I never, at any time or place, delivered a single sentence of the document which you sent me, and which I reenclose to you, purporting to be a speech I made recently in Missouri. In the first place, I haven't set foot in Missouri since the 10th of last November. The man who attributes this speech to me is a liar, and a malicious one at that. To show you that there is no doubt about what document I am talking about, I write my name on the one which you sent me and which I am sending back. I have always been in favour of reciprocity, not only with Canada, but with all the nations of the earth. I am in favour of it now. It is part and parcel of my tariff reduction scheme, and always has been. My own judgment is that it will help both Canada and the United States."

"It would be interesting to trace the authorship of the bogus speech. The man who wrote it was guilty of forgery to almost the same extent as if he had signed Mr. Clark's name to a check or a draft. The organization that circulated the pamphlet is not without its share of guilt, for the bogus speech was on its face one that should have been carefully verified before being sent out as the genuine utterance of a leading statesman of the United States.

If the anti-reciprocity cause has no better material with which to rouse the country than the lying pamphlet circulated in Essex, it should be made ready for a quiet burial. No cause is worthy to live, the active advocates of which stoop to tactics so disgraceful as the publication of a bogus speech full of statements deliberately calculated to make bad blood between kindred peoples.

IRON IN THE BLOOD

is an essential element to health.

When it is insufficient or lacking, there is a dearth of red blood corpuscles, which causes anaemia and a run-down condition of the entire system, with consequent bodily weakness.

In order to restore the blood to a healthy condition, iron must be supplied in an easily assimilated form. We guarantee this may be done by Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, made without oil.

This combination of two world-famed tonics, restores to the blood the elements lacking to make rich, red blood, which imparts strength and vitality to every organ in the body.

J. Edmund Miller, of New Haven, Conn., says their little girl had been frail and sickly ever since her birth. Vinol was recommended and they tried it, and immediately noticed an improvement in her condition. They continued its use and it built her up, until they cannot recommend it too highly to build up a weakened system." McDermid and Jury, druggists, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

Men's Balbriggan Underwear, on Sale Wednesday.
S. H. KNOX & CO.

GETS SIX YEARS IN KINGSTON

Special to The Examiner.

CAYUGA, APRIL 25—Lawyer Murdock, who pleaded guilty to charges of theft and forgery, was sentenced this afternoon to six years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

MUST BUILD THE VIADUCT

Special to The Examiner

TORONTO, APRIL 25.—Both Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways were given a sharp rebuke by the Dominion Railway Commission to-day for dilly dallying with the plans for the erection of the Toronto viaduct. They were ordered to file plans before August and complete the job in two years.

"Grand" To-night
"Honeymoon Trail"
The Big Chicago Musical Comedy

Burn "Ocoo" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
2m-98

OPHIR COBALT MINES
We have prepared a special circular dealing with the above company, containing map of underground working and shall be glad to mail copy on request
USSHER, STRATHY & CO.
47-51 KING STREET WEST, TORONTO

IT IS EASY TO OWN A SINGER SEWING MACHINE
The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.
J. W. Stuart, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

WORK WANTED

WANTED—BY WOMAN, LIGHT HOUSE work as general servant. No washing. Apply Box 4969. 3d-96-4969

ENGLISH WOMAN—WANTS TWO OR Three Days' Washing or Cleaning. Apply 344 Smith Street. 3d-95-4935

YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN (ENGLISH) Requires Work by the Day. Apply a this Office for Address 3d-95-4910

SPECIAL WORK WANTED BY EXPERienced gardener. Gardens renovated. Cut supply plants. Apply John Montgomery, Gravel Road, N Monaghan, Peterboro P.O. 3d-92-4882

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1739, Lockport, N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, Box 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHERS Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 228 Albert St. Ottawa. d-6mos20-3694

WANTED

TWO BOARDERS WANTED. APPLY AT 2 Anson Street. 3d-94-4905

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 692 Stewart St. 12d-89-479

WANTED—BOARD AND ROOM WITH Private family. Apply Box 4945. 2d-96-4945

WANTED—ROOM AND BOARD BETWEEN Charlotte and Dalhousie Sts., by young couple. Must be first-class. Apply to Box 4946, Examiner. 2d-tts-96-4946

IF THE PARTIES WHO HAD ADVERtisements addressed to the above numbered boxes will call they can obtain same. Box 4433, Box 4541, Box 4670, Box 4732 Box 4675, Box 4691.

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY EXaminer Office

WANTED—FIRST-CLASS PAINTERS AND paper hangers. Apply W. A. Kingdon, 762 Water Street. 3d-96-4959

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons. $25.00 weekly, job guaranteed $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1760, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-92-4682

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.
FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-85-4781

HELP WANTED—Female

TWO GIRLS WANTED. APPLY NAtional Hotel. 3d-95-4936

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT Apply 362 Hunter Street. 3d-94-4906

WANTED—YOUNG GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a baby. Apply 190 Rubidge Street 2d-96-4958

WANTED—A YOUNG LADY AS NURSE Companion to Invalid Lady. Apply Box 4907 Examiner Office. 3d-94-4907

WANTED—A GOOD GENERAL SERvant for May 1st. Apply evenings, 417 Stewart Street. 3d-94-4904

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St. Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d.1ns.84-4689

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A., British Canadian Industrial Company, 228 Albert St., Ottawa d-6mos 92-4884

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Deanstoun, Peck & Kerr dtf-84

HOUSE TO RENT—131 RUBIDGE STREET Apply Phone 1281 or 161 Hunter St. dtf.92-4871

HOUSE TO RENT—146 PARK STREET TO rent. Phone 1281 or 161 Hunter Street dtf.92-4866

HOUSES TO RENT—146 PARK STREET also 131 Rubidge Street. Apply 161 Hunter Street, or Phone 1281. d.tf.94-4910

TO RENT—GROUND, SUITABLE FOR Garden for Summer. Apply Mrs. F. Drummond, Barnardo Avenue. 3d-95-4918

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS, WITH Modern Conveniences and centrally located. Rent, $10.00 per month. Apply 437 George Street. d.tf-95

TO RENT FOR THE SUMMER—FURNISHed house centrally located. 489 Charlotte Street, modern improvements. Possession given first of May. Apply to G. W. Hatton, Solicitor 397½ George St. 6d-eod-92-4862

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 399 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 93 1-2 Hunter Street. dtf-76-4625

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough d.tf.

LOST

LOST—A PERSIAN LAMB SCARF. REward if left at 866 Water Street. Phone 875 3d-96-4965

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—LIGHT ONE HORSE DElivery wagon in good repair. 618 George Street. 6d-96-4962

FOR SALE—GENT'S BICYCLE IN FIRST class condition, also three new tires. Apply 339 McFarlane Ave., East City. 3d-95-4948

GENT'S WHEEL FOR SALE—Ridden only a few times, a snap for quick sale. Apply at No. 276 Thomas Street. 3d-94-4905

FOR SALE—EIGHTEEN HENS, THIRteen Minorca Pullets, and One Rooster. Two Andalusian Hens. Apply 577 Homewood Avenue. 3d-94-4914

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath not fitted, good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 6d-92-4900

GOUDAN'S EGGS. HEAVY LAYERS. Headed by Cock won 1st Montreal, 2nd, Toronto Winter Show, 2nd, East Toronto; Hon. 2nd Toronto Winter Show and two fine pullets. $2 per 15.—Jos. Kilbrick, 516 Chamberlain St. 2d-95-4900

SEED TO LAY—WHITE LEGHORNS AND Rhode Island Reds, both combs, trapnested for egg production, $1.00 per setting, $6.00 per 100. Day old chicks, 12c each. Grove Poultry Yards, leave orders at 174½ Charlotte St. 6d-91-4827

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once.—H. C. Stabler, 359 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 126 Rubidge street. dtf 199 dtf

Iron Pipe, Shafting, Hangers and Pulleys
FOR SALE—10000 feet Iron Pipe, sizes from one to three inches.
A lot of Shafting, one and a half to four inches, with Hangers.
A lot of Iron and Wooden Pulleys.
D. Florence & Son
Corner Simcoe and Bathurst Sts. 1m-74

FOR SALE
All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale
The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to
R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

A. Brown & Co.
408 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

W. & A. KINGDON
Painters, Papernangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.
All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch
Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials
Estimates Cheerfully Furnished
Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

A Real Estate SNAP
Lots 37 & 39, block 1, Buena Vista
SASKATOON
$1050 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months
This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro
L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro 12d-90-4080

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip
will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.
Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.
Painting, Decorating Kalsomining
Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.
Further Particulars From
J. H. VANCE
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?
If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:
Buy a Lot
and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by
J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

The Payton Pump Works
114 Simcoe St., Peterborough
Improved Wooden and Iron Pumps manufactured or supplied to order—Payton's Pumps have been in use for over 40 years, and are well tried and tested.
Pumps Repaired
in most satisfactory manner.
Stickney Gasoline Engines, Toronto Windmills and Reliance Wire Fencing supplied to order. A call solicited.
Merrell & Stephens
(Successors to late Jas. Payton)
TELEPHONES:
Pumps Works 748. Residence 518

Money to Loan
Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.
Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr
3m-95 415 Water St., Peterborough

Might & Taylor
378 Water St. Phone 99
Real Estate and Insurance
Lots on George Street South $300 each
$1350.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.
$950.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT
A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $600,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent. bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.
National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS
including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.
Cash or Time Payments
Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Special Seasonable Snaps in the Ready-To-Wear DEPARTMENT

SALE BEGINS MONDAY, APRIL 24th

The manager of our ready-to-wear department has decided to clean up all the ladies' spring suits and dresses and they are all this season's latest styles

Among them are really high class fine cloth suits lined with pure strong silk lining which will be sold for..... 12.50

American Silk Dresses at about half their usual prices and greatly less than you could buy the material for

Dressy Cloth Dresses gotten up in the most modern designs from $9.00 up

The method we have adopted calls for everything to be cleared out in plenty of time for the styles to be real bargains, before the style season runs out. We won't show you anything old fashioned. In fact some of the later shipments for this spring have recently arrived, these are all included in the sale.

Come early and get your choice while the values are at their highest.

Moire Underskirts worth up to $2.00 will be placed on sale for..... 98c

Kid Gloves

Another shipment of those real Kid Gloves, good quality, every pair guaranteed, all shades 69c

Children's Drawers

24 dozen of children's drawers, sizes from 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, nicely trimmed. Regular 25c, on Saturday two pairs for 25c

Our Millinery

Our Millinery has had a most phenomenal success both in quantity and in the beautiful artistic finish of its work.

The ladies say our millinery stands in a class by itself and it costs no more than the others. MISS NOBLE, head milliner

When you want to telephone Miss Noble, call Bell telephone No. 770, she has a phone in her department.

Try one of our long corsets for your new suit. Our corsets have the proper lines.

ELLIOT'S

Our Shoe Department shows all the new styles. We can save you money on shoes

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

A FEW days ago a young girl came to me to tell me that in the course of a five minutes' walk through a park in this city she had been insultingly accosted by seven men.

She said she thought such conditions were disgraceful and that I ought to write something about it.

Since then I have talked the matter over with five of my women friends and acquaintances who know this park.

None of them has ever been accosted more than once or twice in all her experience with the place.

Three of them cross it daily on their way to work, returning after nightfall in the winter, and the others have occasion to pass that way very frequently.

Incidentally two of these girls are very pretty and the others at least attractive looking.

How do I account for this discrepancy in stories?

Do I think the girl was lying?

Not at all.

My explanation is this: Except when a man is drunk and not accountable, in nine cases out of ten when a man speaks to a girl he selects the girl advisedly.

He isn't apt to speak to the quietly dressed girl who is going straight ahead about her business, head up, looking neither to the right nor left, and neither expecting nor thinking of possible insults.

He is apt to speak to the flashily dressed girl with the sauntering gait and the sidelong glance, the girl who rather expects someone will speak to her, and who, however she may rave and protest about being insulted, deep down in her heart really considers these attentions as a tribute to her overpowering attractiveness.

There are of course a few incorrigible "mashers" who will speak to any girl at any time. We have all had our experiences with these. But as a rule a man does not attempt to pick a girl up until he has sized her up to be that kind.

Depend upon it, the girl who is always coming home with some terrible tale of a man who followed her on the street or a brute who ogled her out of countenance on the train isn't the persecuted little Puritan she represents herself to be.

Maybe conditions in that park do need purifying, but unless I have some rather different evidence of that fact, some other pen than mine will have to lead the crusade.

Ruth Cameron.

OXO CUBES

are money-savers and health-preservers. There are a hundred uses for OXO in every house.

4 Cubes, 10c.

FLOWERS

Blooming Plants in Pots; Ferns, Palms, and Foliage Plants

Cut Flowers always fresh.

Wedding and Funeral orders promptly supplied

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladies of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG

Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

MORE BIG EGGS IN THE LIMELIGHT NOW

Big eggs continue to come the way of The Examiner. Yesterday morning George Gauthier, 280 Reid street, was a visitor at the Examiner Office and he did not come empty-handed. Accompanying him was what, in size, resembled a duck egg, but which Mr. Gauthier stated was laid by a Black Minorca pullet, which will not be a year old until June 6. The egg produced measured 6 1-2 by 8 1-4 inches and weighed a little over four ounces. The pullet was procured by Mr. Gauthier from Robert Robinson, corner of Downie and London streets.

A Warsaw Monster.

So much for city-bred hens. The latest contribution to the big egg class comes from Warsaw, with the following letter:

Dear Sir,—I have seen in the past an account of large eggs; well, enclosed in this box you will find one that was laid by one of my pure-bred Black Minorca pullets, and it measures 7 x 8¼, and this is the ninth egg she has laid of this kind in the past month, and if you can beat it kindly let me know.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT HELPS,
Warsaw, April 24, 1911.

THE C. G. E. SIDING CANNOT BE OPERATED IN DAYTIME

A Peterborough deputation waited upon the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada at their meeting in Toronto yesterday, in connection with the proposed siding of the C. P. R. into the Canadian General Electric Company's premises. The Canadian General was represented by Mr. E. G. Patterson and Mr. Campbell, their shipping clerk; City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall was present on behalf of the city, Mr. R. C. Braund, his solicitor, Mr. F. D. Kerr, and Mr. W. S. Dodd, of the C. P. R., were the other visitors, of Peterborough, present. As a result of the conference a compromise was decided upon by the Railway Commissioners to the effect that permission will be given for the construction of the siding, but that it cannot be operated in the day time, no use being made of it between the hours of 7 in the morning and 8 in the evening. This will do away with the chief cause of Mr. Braund's complaint.

RHEUMATISM CURED BY FIG PILLS

An absolute guarantee goes with every box of FIG PILLS. They will cure RHEUMATISM, KIDNEY disorder, BLADDER trouble, CONSTIPATION, SLUGGISH LIVER and all STOMACH AND BOWEL disorders. At all dealers, 25 cents per box, or The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

In The World of Sport

Will Get Rudolph Or Some Other Good Pitcher

TORONTO, APRIL 24.—President McCaffery of the Toronto Ball Club returned to-day from New York, where he interviewed Manager McGraw regarding Pitcher Dick Rudolph. Mr. McCaffery said that the club would get either Rudolph or another first-class right-hander, but had no information to give out as to McGraw's intentions. Something definite might be decided by to-morrow. Mr. McCaffery also saw another baseball magnate in New York who will give Toronto first chance on any material that may be let out.

The Toronto Club president saw half the game at Newark yesterday, and half the contest at Jersey City.

"I've seen six of the clubs in the league in action and there are two of them, anyway, that I'm not afraid of," he said.

Rochester, in Mr. McCaffrey's opinion, is stronger than last season, and will be hard to beat, as usual.

Mr. McCaffery plans the biggest opening ever in Toronto two weeks from to-day. A section of 1,500 reserved seats in the centre of the grand stand has been reserved and will be placed on sale this week. There are also a hundred box seats.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

BASEBALL YESTERDAY.

Eastern League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Toronto	3	0	1.000
Rochester	3	0	1.000
Montreal	2	1	.667
Providence	2	1	.667
Newark	1	2	.333
Baltimore	1	2	.333
Jersey City	0	3	.000
Buffalo	0	3	.000

Monday's scores: Toronto 2, Jersey City 1; Baltimore 6, Buffalo 2; Montreal 4, Providence 3, Rochester 7, Newark 2.

Tuesday's games: Toronto at Jersey City, Montreal at Providence, Buffalo at Baltimore, Rochester at Newark.

National League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	5	1	.833
Chicago	7	3	.700
New York	4	4	.500
Pittsburg	4	4	.500
Cincinnati	3	4	.429
Boston	4	6	.400
St. Louis	3	6	.333
Brooklyn	2	7	.222

Monday's scores: Boston 3, Brooklyn 0; Philadelphia 4, New York 1; Cincinnati 7, Chicago 4; St. Louis 6, Pittsburg 5.

Tuesday's games: Boston at New York, Philadelphia at Brooklyn, Chicago at Cincinnati, Pittsburg at St. Louis.

American League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Detroit	5	1	.833
New York	5	3	.714
Washington	4	3	.571
Boston	4	4	.500
Cleveland	5	5	.500
Chicago	4	6	.400
St. Louis	3	8	.273
Philadelphia	2	6	.250

Monday's scores: New York 5, Washington 3, Detroit 7, St. Louis 6, Cleveland 5, Chicago 2, Philadelphia 5, Boston 1.

Tuesday's games: St. Louis at Detroit, Cleveland at Chicago, Washington at Philadelphia, New York at Boston.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

CHURCH LEAGUE HAPPENINGS

St. James' Church team played the C. G. E. a practise game on Saturday afternoon.

* * *

The Park Street Church team had a good practise on Saturday afternoon.

* * *

The Church League will hold a big At Home in a couple of weeks. Further particulars will be given later. A splendid programme is being arranged. Some of Peterborough's leading singers will take part and there will be three good comedians.

* * *

The full list of Saturday's Church League games will be given later in the week.

* * *

Mr. Edwards has kindly offered to give St. John's Club the use of the Crystal for a date to be decided later.

EXHIBITION OPEN

Canadian National Horse Show Commenced To-day

Special to The Examiner:

TORONTO, ONT., APRIL 25.—Decorated in green and white, with festoons of the Union Jack, the Arcouries presented a brilliant appearance to-day at the opening of the annual Canadian National Horse Show. Many visitors from over the Dominion and also from the States are here to attend the exhibition. Judging began soon after the opening to-day, and will continue until the close of the exhibition Saturday night. There are 89 classes this year, with $8,000 divided among them in cash prizes besides numerous cups and other trophies.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

FOOTBALL

The Y. M. C. A. football club held its annual meeting last night and elected the following officers for the season:

Hon. President—Dr. McPherson.
President—Mr. S. Hall.
1st Vice Pres.—Mr. F. Turner.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mr. F. Tate.
Sec.-Treas.—S. W. Canniff.
Assist.-Treas.—Mr. Thompson.
Executive Committee—Mr. Fleming, Mr. Burness and Mr. Flowers.
Representatives to Church League—Mr. A. Flowers.

There will be a practise on the Central School grounds at 6.30 p.m. on Wednesday evening. Every member is asked to be out as the team will be picked for the game with All Saints on Saturday after the practice.—Manager, Mr. C. E. Sisson.

The following members of All Saints' Football Club and any of the Brinton Carpet employees are asked to meet at the Brinton field to-morrow night (Wednesday) at 6:45 p.m., for a work out in preparation for All Saints' first league game on Saturday against the Y.M.C.A., Rew, Robinson, Morarity, Hooper, Curtis, Jones, Dawson, Hildreth, Willis, Bell, Abbott, Downes, Dudley, Campbell, Johnson, Greenwood, Bennett, Farr, Hardy and McCarthy. Secretary T. B. Moffatt.

BUCKLEY.

Union Made HATS Price $2.50

Ask Your Hatter to Tell You About the BUCKLEY GUARANTEE.

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH, 286 George St., - near Simcoe.

The By-Law returns will be announced at the performance of "Honeymoon Trail" "Grand" to-night

Won By Default

Manager Charley Dunmitt and his worthy braves, consisting of members of No. 5 Company, were on hand last night to engage in a schedule of indoor baseball with another company. Whether the latter lacked the necessary nerve or assurance is not known, but for some reason or other they went cold on the game and failed to put in an appearance. As a result No. 5 Co. wins the game by default.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

NO BILL IN SCHENK CASE

Special to The Examiner

CHICAGO, APRIL 25.—The jury has returned a 'no bill' in the case of Mrs. Theresa Schenk, charged with murdering her husband. Seventeen witnesses were examined. Mrs. Schenk is looked on now as a heroine by her friends. She formerly belonged to Hamilton, Ont.

FUR STORAGE

Now is the time to have your furs looked after. We properly clean and renovate furs of all kinds, and protect them from moths and fire, during the summer months. PRICES VERY MODERATE.

Phone us and we will send for your furs. Both phones 340

BARRIE'S Limited

FURRIERS & HATTERS

Corner George and Simcoe Streets - PETERBOROUGH

Wednesday Mid-Week Bargains

FOR APRIL 26th

Tremendous Savings Presented by our Seven Day Sale of Carpets and Housefurnishings. Sale starts Saturday, April 22nd, and ends Saturday Night, April 29th, at 9.30. Every Day a Bargain Day. Watch our Show Windows. : :

HOSE

Splendid quality of tan cotton Hose; seamless feet; sizes 8½, 9, 9½ and 10. Wednesday Bargain, 2 pair 25c

LISLE GLOVES

Fine quality mercerized Lisle Gloves, in colors of grey, tan, black, white, navy, with two domes. Wednesday Bargain, pair 50c

CHAMOIS GLOVES

Real chamois Gloves, wrist length, two domes, will wash easily, all sizes; guaranteed. Wednesday Bargain, pair .$1.00

BUSTER BELTS

Children's Buster Belts in colored, patent and leather, finished with black, gilt and steel buckles. Wednesday Bargain, each 25c

CORSETS

Medium length, light weight corset, with 4 hose supporters; lace trimmed at top; suitable for average person; sizes 18 to 26. Wednesday Bargain, pair 49c

EMBROIDERY

Pretty patterns in Embroidery Edges and Insertions, up to 9 inches in width; strong buttonhole edges. Wednesday Bargain, yard 8c

VESTS

Women's Cotton Vests, sleeveless and short sleeves; good sizes; finished at top with draw. Wednesday Bargain, each 12½c

HANDKERCHIEFS

Special line of Children's Handkerchiefs, plain white and fancy borders. Wednesday Bargain, 6 for 25c

WHITE SILK WAISTS

Very fine quality white silk, made with fancy lace yoke and tucks, long sleeves, with deep cuffs, high collar of lace insertion edged with lace. Wednesday Bargain, each $2.29

CREAM SERGE COATS

Stylish full length Coats, made of all wool, cream serge; strictly tailor made, with beautiful long shawl collar of black satin, body and sleeves are lined with satin, trimmed with black satin buttons, with bone rim. Wednesday Bargain, each $15

GOWNS

Women's nightgown, slip over style, high neck, full length sleeve, trimmed around neck and sleeves with Torchon lace; good full sizes. Wednesday Bargain, each 75c

DRAWERS

Made of good quality Cotton, open and closed style, trimmed with tucks and deep frill of embroidery. Wednesday Bargain, pair 39

UNDERSKIRT

Fine quality Cotton, trimmed with cluster tucks, deep frill at bottom, finished with wide lace. Wednesday Bargain, each 75c

BLACK AND WHITE CHECK DRESS GOODS

In three sized checks for women's and children's dresses, extra heavy cloth and great wearing material; 42 inches wide; worth 40c yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 28c

AMERICAN SPOT SILK

Just a few choice shades left, 27 inches wide, for a nice useful summer gown, see this value. Wednesday Bargain, yd. 32c

SILK AND WOOL SAN-TOYS

In some of the new fashionable shades, such as carnation blues, grays, pale green and navy blue, 42 inches wide, very fine even drapery fabric. Wednesday Bargain, yard 75c

50 YARDS NAVY BLUE COATING SERGE

Fine smooth finish and all pure wool; worth $1.00 per yard; 45 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard 75c

BLACK BELWARP SERGE

For women's Suits, Dresses and Skirts; all pure wool, fast dye; 40 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard 39c

DIMITY

Very fine quality Dimity in colors of white and black; neat patterns; suitable for dresses or blouses. Wednesday Bargain, yard 25c

ART SILKOLINES

Large range of art Silkolines, suitable for curtain draperies and screen fillings, pretty colorings and patterns, worth up to 20c. Wednesday Bargain, yard . .11c

SCOTCH GINGHAMS AND CHAMBRAYS

Splendid assortment of new stripes, checks and plain colors, suitable for ladies' and children's dresses; excellent washing cottons. Wednesday Bargain, yard 15c

WHITE LINEN LAWN

A particularly fine weave, exceptionally good value, laundries nicely and gives best of satisfaction. Wednesday Bargain yard 15c

We are Sole Agents in Peterborough for the Famous Kabo Corsets

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED 305-309 GEORGE STREET

The King Edward Vacuum Cleaner sells at $19.50. See it do the work

A BANQUET IN HONOUR OF ST. GEORGE'S DAY

Englishmen of Peterborough Gathered Round Festive Board to Celebrate the Memory of Their Patron Saint.

AN ENJOYABLE OCCASION

A large and enthusiastic gathering of loyal Englishmen graced the festive board at a sumptuous banquet given in the Coleman restaurant last night, the occasion being the celebration of St. George's day. Judging by the loyal and appreciative remarks that were exchanged by the various speakers it is evident that the Englishmen of this city are fully cognizant of the importance and worthiness of forming a permanent organization, which shall be suitably named, for the purpose of binding the Englishmen of this city and its leaders may feel assured of their support.

The efforts of the musical talent which was present was most enjoyable and praiseworthy, while the speakers proved worthy of the highest expectations entertained in their regard.

Among the many prominent local gentlemen who were present were Messrs. E. A. Peck, Canon Davidson, Rev. Chas. Carpenter, Col. Miller, Major Clegg, Ald. Kerneghan, Mr. R. J. Devey, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Begley and others. After the wants of the inner man had been provided for in a very efficient manner by those present, the following toast list was put through with the usual method of procedure.

Mr. E. A. Peck, who acted in the capacity of chairman, proposed and responded to the first toast to the 'King.' In his opening remarks he referred to the pleasure that was his, in being given the opportunity to be present. It was a long time since a St. Georges dinner had been given in Peterborough and I hope that this occasion will be given more prominence in the future. The origin of St. George's Day dates back a large number of years to the time when a dragon swept over the land devastating everything within its path. St. George with great courage and at the risk of his life, sallied forth and slew the dragon. We all have our dragons, which constantly beset our path, and it requires a good deal of perseverance and indomitable will power to overcome them.

Mr. Harold Lee then favoured the gathering by a patriotic song which was heartily encored.

Mr. Miles then proopsed a toast to "Our Imperial Forces," and in a few appreciative remarks referred to the great pleasure and honour which he felt was his in having to be present at this notable gathering. This was the first St. George's Day that the speaker had participated in during his thirty-six year's residence in this country, and it gave him great pleasure to propose a toast for "Our Imperial Forces."

Col. Miller in reply, said "it is with a feeling o fgreat pleasure that I am honoured with the task of responding to a toast of this nature. I have had, as an Irishman, to help the English out, (laughter.) It would take a more eloquent tongue than mine to tell one-thousandth part of the sentiment that exists in the nucleus of that great race, that call themselves British, towards the Imperial forces. Our forefathers ran down to the seashore to meet Julius Caesar and his warriors, armed with clubs made of stout British oak. Here in Canada we are called militia. "I don't like that term." We might as well say citizen soldiers. The latter are the men who have opened the dark doors of the heathen lands so that the missionary might enter. They are the men who have placed their names high upon the scroll of fame. In 1866 when a little trouble arose with our neighbours across the line a call came for 25,000 men. Inside of two weeks some 32,000 had responded. Our Canadian boys have won distinction for themselves on the field of battle they are ever to the forefront. I would like to see a great display of flag patriotism. Give the children a flag each on the 24th of May, tell them what it is for, and endeavour to instil into their minds that true sense of loyalty which is so much more in evidence in the Mother land, for we are as much British as though we lived within the shadows of London bridge, and when we are shouting for Great Britain, remember we are a unit of the Mother land; we are merely living on the outer edge. A British general won this beautiful country for us. We are a part of God's country.

A selection was then rendered by the following quartette, Messrs. New, Lee, Douglas, Kearns.

Mr. Guy then proposed a toast to "Canad . . ." "This is the land of our adoption" said the speaker, "It is not what it has been looked upon in years gone by, a land of ice and snow. She is fast coming to herown, to the forefront in the industrial and commercial world.

Rev. Canon Davidson made a very suitable and apropriate reply in which he said: Mr. chairman and gentlemen, it gives me great pleasure, and I feel that a great honour has been conferred upon me in being called upon to respond to this toast, a toast that thrills me more than any other, and it is particularly fitting that this toast should be proposed at an Englishmen's gathering. The building up of this country is largely due to the efforts of Englishmen. They have responded magnificently and have come out here and given the best that they had of their physical powers to the upbuilding of this country, and I am glad to see you celebrate the day in such a noble manner. Every man in this room should be a St. George's man to-night. I suppose Great Britain has been grasping and has grasped, a great deal of territory, but she has done it for the good of the people living in the country.

We are for Canada to-day for the upbuilding of the national spirit and a stronger spiritual feeling and a modification of these two factors that we might bind ourselves closer together in stronger bands of unity and friendship.

The Scotchman has his St. Andrew's Day, the Irishman has his 17th of March and the Englishman his St. George's day, but for the rest of the 365 days we are going to strive together and be Canadians.

Asong was then very ably sung by Mr. Chambers, after which Mr. Wilfred Shiner proposed the combined toast to "The Land of Our Birth" and "The Day We Celebrate."

"To every English heart in this room, there must come to them that thrill, the thrill that we are free," said the speaker in his opening remarks. "England, the land of our brith, the land of song. We have every reason to be proud at the way the Sheffield choir were received on their recent visit. It would serve to unite the bonds of friendship on a stronger basis.

Rev. Chas. Carpenter in responding to the toast, said that he feared that he was too light for such a heavy task that presented itself, in having to respond to this toast. It seems, sometimes, as though we cant appreciate the great power of England. I myself never realized the great strength of character that was ever present until I was some time in Newfoundland. Some dissenting voices were raised concerning the nature of my sermon last week at St. John's. I was not referring to the Englishmen who were present, or to those who are present to-night, but to a type of Englishman that actually exists, and one who is very difficult to deal with.

We are not only thinking of ourselves at Great Britain, but greater Britain. I am sure you will all agree with me that the best type of Englishman is the one who, no matter where he may go, will win the respect of the community and be looked upon as a tower of strength.

A song was then given by Mr. Douglas, after which Mr. Ball proposed a toast to "Our City," which was responded to by Ald. Kerneghan.

"I am glad to see so many Englishmen present," said the speaker, in his opening remarks. "No Englishman should feel a stranger in this land which the flag floats over. This is a good country, and if you do not succeed here it will be your own fault. Every square inch of this country is British territory. Don't worry about the annexation cry. This country is ours and we are going to keep it. I hope and trust that this affair will be made an annual one.

Ald. Kerneghan in reply drew attention to the rapid growth of the city during the last few years, and the abundant opportunities that present themselves to the newly arrived. He cited a case of half dozen Englishmen who arrived in the city on Saturday at six o'clock in the morning, saying they could have secured work by 7 o'clock or at the latest 9 o'clock at the C.G.E. The industries of Peterborough have increased during the last ten years sixty per cent.

The singing of the national anthem brought a very enjoyable and profitably spent evening to a fitting close.

HELP FOR OLD BACKS THAT ACHE

GIN PILLS Cure Them

Age is no barrier to the wonderful, soothing, healing properties of GIN PILLS, the great Canadian Kidney Cure. We have on record many letters from men and women of 60, 65, 70, 75, 80 and over, testifying to the great relief they received from taking GIN PILLS.

Mr. Samuel Martin of Strathroy, Ont., suffered for twenty years with misery in his back. Some months ago, he tried GIN PILLS and after taking only three boxes, was entirely cured. Mr. Martin is now 65 years of age and enjoys the robust health of a vigorous man of sixty, thanks to GIN PILLS.

All elderly people are troubled, more or less, with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and pain and weakness in the back. GIN PILLS are a guaranteed cure for all these misfortunes. Money promptly refunded if they fail to give complete satisfaction.

50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto.

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 George Street

Special Assortment of Baking
for this Week End at
COLEMAN BROS.
426 George St.

FANCIES:
Log Cakes Fancy Cakes
Wine Cakes Swiss Rolls
Madeira Cakes
Cream Puffs

FRUIT CAKES:
Gems Pound
Seed Raisin, etc.

Importers of Fry's Chocolate
Special Nut Milk, 40c lb.

ICE CREAM SODAS AND SUNDAES
Prompt Attention

THE HERPICIDE GIRL IS THANKFUL

I am always grateful for real blessings, and I know of nothing that I need to be more thankful for than Newbro's Herpicide. Thousands of ladies not only in the United States but all over the world feel the same way about it. To this wonderful scalp and hair remedy they owe their soft, long, beautiful hair.

Mary J. Terry, of Lovejoy, Ill., writes: "My hair came out until there was just a scanty cover for the scalp. I tried everything I ever heard of or read about until I finally used Herpicide. There is nothing like it. My head is now covered with new hair. I shall forever praise Herpicide."

Most hair troubles come from dandruff. Newbro's Herpicide removes this dandruff by killing the germ which causes it. It also stimulates a flow of blood which nourishes the follicles. The scalp being healthy, the hair does not come out and the new hair is allowed to grow.

There are other preparations which they say are "just as good" as Herpicide. It is not advisable to try them. Instead of doing any good they may do positive harm.

No one is ever disappointed in Newbro's Herpicide. The results are always the same, always satisfactory as is indicated by the fact that Herpicide has been sold for years and has thousands of satisfied friends. It is the only genuine, original dandruff germ destroyer. There is nothing "just as good."

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Applications at good barber shops.

Send 10c. in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

Mendel's Art Photos

Have something more than the ordinary in them. They attract and hold the admiration because they are artistic in every line.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side, The only Studio on George St.

FRESH MAPLE SUGAR
Guaranteed PURE
T.H. Hooper
327, 414 and 601 George Street

Child Study Movement Congress Is Opened

Big Gathering at Washington Today to Discuss the Vital Question of Child Welfare.

MANY SPEAKERS

Special to The Examiner

WASHINGTON, D.C., APRIL 25.—The presence of many men and women internationally promeinent in the child study movement, at the opening here today of the second International Congress on Child Welfare lent added dignity to a convention, the importance of which to the world at large can scarcely be overestimated. The congress meets under the joint auspices of the National Congress of Mothers and the Parent-Teachers' Association. The relations and duties of home, school, church and state to the welfare of the child are to be the principal topics of discussion.

During the six days of the convention addresses will be delivered that will command the attention of the nation, not only because of the timeliness of the subjects of the addresses, but because of the prominence of the men and women who will make them. Foremost among the scheduled speakers are Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Mothers; James Bryce, the British Ambassador in Washington; Mrs. B. F. Carroll, wife of the governor of Iowa; Dr. Elmer E. Brown, United States Commissioner of Education; Mrs. Clarence D. Clark, wife of former Senator Clark of Wyoming; Mrs. Fred T. Du Bois, wife of former Senator Du Bois of Idaho; Mrs. Charles D. Carter, wife of Representative Carter of Oklahoma; Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, of California; Miss Helen McKinney, of West Virginia, and Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone of Texas, former president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. ROUTLEY'S Peterborough 379 George St.

New Wall Papers, New Dinner and Tea Sets, Window Shades, Brass Curtain Rods

Do not make the mistake of buying the above line of goods without getting our ideas and seeing what we have to show you.

Harmony is essential in every home. We have the Wall Paper and Dinnerware which will match your furnishings.

We keep a variety of qualities and prices to suit the poor as well as the rich.

Encouraged by our last week's selling and value giving we will go one better for you & make this week's business still greater.

Crockery Section

18 Dinner and Tea Sets, combined for $6.49, printed floral border on each piece, 97 pieces to each set, as follows:

12 Plates, 8 in.
12 " 7 in.
12 " 6 in.
12 " 5 in.
12 Cups and Saucers
12 Fruit Dishes
2 Vegetable Dishes
1 Gravy Boat
1 Cream Jug
1 Bowl
2 Platters
1 Sugar Bowl
1 Pickle
1 Fruit Bowl

$6.49

10 patterns embossed gilt Wall Papers, with 18 inch borders and ceilings to match, ground color, in any desirable shade, suitable for any room or hall. Regular price 25c, price this week . . 13c

200 rolls German oatmeal effect Wall Papers, 12 to 18 rolls of a color, regular up to $1.30 per roll, clearing at 25c

300 rolls Ceiling Papers, assorted regular 10c to 20c, clearing per roll 5c

182 rolls leathers, suitable for bath rooms, dining rooms and hall dados, regular $1.25 for per roll 69c

10x20 ft. Room Moulding ac ft.

WORKING ON THE C. N. O. RAILWAY

Mr. Bert Gostick Almost Became a Cripple

But his trouble was caused by the Kidneys, and he found quick relief and a complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barnsdale, Lake Joseph, Ont., April 24.—Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am in perfect health again." So says Mr. Bert Gostick, a well known resident of this place. "Before I left the old country," he states, "My breath was bad and my urine was milky. When I came to this country I worked on the C. N. O. Railway, and while there I was taken with pains in my back and Kidneys. I went to a doctor but he did me no good.

"I got so bad that when I came home from work I could not stand up straight and my limbs seemed twice their usual size.

"Reading of Dodd's Kidney Pills I decided to try them, and after taking five boxes I find myself perfectly cured of all my troubles."

Notice how gradually but surely Kidney Disease was getting Mr. Gostick into its clutches. First the urine then pains in the back, then swollen limbs! But the cure was swift and certain when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PIRATES LOOTED THE SHIP

HONG KONG, APRIL 25.—Word has been received here that immediately the Steamer Asia was forsaken by her passengers and crew a swarm of five hundred pirates took possession and before the vessel was submerged they had looted her of everything valuable. Later they engaged in a sharp fight with the men of other vessels who attacked them with shot guns and rifles.

"THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—Famous for over a century. Of highest standard of purity. Distillers to His Majesty the King.

DRAWING TO CLOSE

Virginia Club Dance One of Last Social Events of the Season

The season of dances and social events is drawing to a successful close and the last few weeks have seen some of the most enjoyable events of the year. Last week the West End Athletic Club and the Bankers of the city were the hosts at two very successful dances in the Conservatory Hall and on Tuesday of last week one of the most enjoyable and delightful private dances of the season was given by Miss Muriel Burritt, the evening being an unqualified success.

Last night the Virginia Club, a girls' organization held an enjoyable club dance in the Conservatory Hall. About twenty-five couples were present and dancing was greatly enjoyed to excellent music supplied by Miss Gorman. Refreshments were served by Mr. T. Hooper. The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warnam and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Turner.

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company was held in the Bank of Montreal chambers last night with the president, Ald. Wm. Buller in the chair and about twenty shareholders present.

The annual financial statement was submitted and indicated that the company has had a very successful year and is in a flourishing condition with bright prospects for the future.

The directors elected were as follows: Messrs. W. Buller, president and manager; J. Clancy, R. C. Brainerd, T. H. Hooper, and Roland Deane.

Shiloh's Cure

RECEIVED ORDER

The order for the china for the Chateau Laurier, the new Grand Trunk hotel at Ottawa, has been awarded to the Theodore Haviland Company of Limoges, France. This china is of a very handsome and unique pattern and will be the best that can be turned out by this well-known Company, and includes Regular service, Banquet service, Palm Room, or Tea Room service, and a De Luxe set for use in the Royal Suite.

264th Bargain Annex Event — Wednesday, April 26th, 1911

Bargain Annex

Registered

Our Greatest Sale of Men's Shirts

All New Dollar Values — 55c Each or 3 for $1.55

We have had many sales of Men's Shirts in the Annex, but never one like this one—this is the biggest yet. Just think, nearly 600 new Star Brand Shirts right from one of Canada's largest shirt factories, all carefully selected as to pattern and colour—light and medium grounds, splendid new patterns; a complete range of sizes from 14 to 17; shirts made to sell at $1.00 regularly, but by this big purchase we are enabled to sell them in the Annex at an unheard of price. No limit to numbers sold to each customer. There are plenty for all, but no 'phone or mail orders. In the Annex Wednesday, each..... —See Window—

55c, or 3 for $1.55

WHITE ENAMEL IRON BED $1.97

A heavy 1 1/16 inch post Iron Bed, white enamelled, brass trimmed, four sizes. This is an excellent bed, well finished and worth considerably more than our Annex price, which is $1.97

Also our best $3 wool faced Seagrass Mattress in the same sizes as the bed, for only $2.49

WOVEN WIRE SPRING $1.59

A reinforced coil woven wire spring, same sizes, regularly sold at $2.25. In the Annex Wednesday..... $1.59

Or the Complete Outfit, in all sizes—3 feet, 3 feet 6 inches, 4 feet, or 4 feet 6 inches, for $5.97

Ladies' White Lawn Handkerch'fs 12 for 25c

Hemstitched White Lawn Handkerchiefs in the women's usual size; worth 5c each. On sale while they last Wednesday in the Annex at ONE DOZEN FOR 25c

At the Stroke of Two— 10c Victoria Lawns 6 1-2c

A new lot of 25 pieces of Victoria Lawn, just received from the mill—40 inches wide; regularly sold at 10c a yard. A two o'clock Annex leader, Wednesday only, at, per yard 6 1/2C

Positively not before two o'clock and not more than 10 yards to any family.

$1.00 and $1.25 White Embroidered Muslin Blouses 59c

An Annex Blouse leader that is sure to be a crowd bringer—odd lots of white lawn and Muslin Blouses with pretty embroidered and tucked fronts and tucked backs, 3/4 & long sleeves, a good range of sizes; all regularly sold at $1 and $1.25; one of our biggest Annex Blouse leaders Wednesday, each (See Window) 59c

See Our New Wall Papers—Third Floor
New Ideas in Wall Papers—Third Floor

Cressman's

REV. DR. CLEAVER'S LECTURE WAS GREATLY ENJOYED

Gave His Famous Discourse on Victor Hugo's "Jean Valjean" at Knox Church Last Night.

APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE

The lecture at Knox Church last night on "Jean Val Jean," by Rev. Dr. Cleaver, of Toronto, was a rare treat, and was listened to by an unusual large gathering of interested citizens, the church being crowded.

His Worship Mayor Morrow presided, in a very acceptable manner. He expressed his sincere pleasure at being present, and was grateful for the opportunity of congratulating the Knox congregation, for the first time, upon the magnificent new structure they had erected for worship. He said that it was the first opportunity he had gotten, to speak to the Knox people in their new church, and he was much impressed with the magnificence of the beautiful edifice.

Miss Helen Davies contributed a very acceptable number to the programme, by singing a solo in her usual entertaining and artistic manner, which was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Rev. Dr. Cleaver gave a very able and extremely interesting interpretation of Victor Hugo's story of "Jean Val Jean," and although it took nearly an hour and three quarters to complete the lecture so enjoyable was the speaker's treatment of the subject that the audience showed no signs of weariness. The speaker told the story in such an interesting manner, that he held the attention of his hearers from start to finish, and when the interesting lecture did come to an end, a great many were surprised to find that the hour was as late it was, their interest in his remarks being so intense that they did not notice the time passing. It was an evening well spent.

The Reverend speaker outlined in a fascinating manner the life of "Jean Val Jean," from his childhood until he died alone in his little cabin, in the suburbs of Paris.

His Honour Judge Huycke moved a vote of thanks to the reverend speaker and to Miss Helen Davies. The motion was duly seconded by Sheriff Hall, and the audience showed its appreciation in no uncertain manner. This brought the most interesting programme to a close.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF MOTHER AND SISTER

Special to The Examiner:

MAIDSTONE, VT., APRIL 25.—A special grand jury convened here to-day to take up the case of Arthur Bean, the 18-year-old youth who has been confined in jail for some time on the suspicion of having murdered his mother and sister. The tragedy occurred at the Bean home on March 9 last. On the day of the murder young Bean, with a rifle slung over his shoulder, entered the home of a neighbour and calmly told the persons there that his mother, Mrs. Geo. Bean, and his sister, Miss Nina Bean, had been shot and killed. Neighbours rushed to the Bean home and found the body of Miss Nina in a pool of blood on the floor of the front hall, while that of Mrs. Bean was in a bedroom on the upper floor of the house. There were bullet wounds in both bodies. Young Bean was taken into custody a day or two later, but all efforts to induce him to make a confession failed.

REPORT OF THE GLADYS SEWARD FUND AND THE CONTRIBUTORS THERETO

Mrs. Alice Collins, of Mount Forest, who has been handling the Miss Gladys Seward tuition fund in Canada, writes from Mount Forest, giving an account of the expenditures of the money raised. Her letter to the editor says:

Mount Forest,
April 21st, 1911.

To the Editor,
The Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I have much pleasure in enclosing a statement for publication regarding the Gladys Seward Fund.

Gladys Seward Fund, opened April 1909, Bank of Ottawa, Peterborough, Ont.

Total amount received from April 1909 to April 1911 ..... $880.25

Total expenditure, October 13th, 1909, to April 19th, 1911.... 765.00

Balance on hand April 19, 1911 115.25

Cheques:—

1909, October 13 expenses from Peterborough to New York.$ 20.00
Oct. 15, expenses from New York to Dresden..... 125.00
Nov. 8, expenses from New York to Dresden 20.00
Nov. 18, to Mr. Field 150.00
1910, April 8, to Mr. Field..... 100.00
1910, July 12, to Mr. Field.. 30.00
1910, Sept. 12, to Mr. Field.. 100.00
1910, Nov. 21 to Mr. Field..... 100.00
1911, March 23, to Mr. Field.. 100.00

When Miss Seward left Canada in Nov. 1909, only $429.00 had been donated to the fund so that when the cheque for travelling expenses was deducted and first cheque of $150.00 was sent to Mr. Field (Nov. 18, 1909) the balance remaining in the fund was $114.00.

In 1910 another appeal was made to the Peterborough citizens and more money raised. The money is always sent to Mr. Field by draft on Deutsche Bank Filiale, Hamburg, payable at par in Dresden. Mr. Field takes sole charge of the money and has done wonders in the way of keeping down expenses. The expenses each month run from $40 to $50. Expenses are: Pension, (board, lodging) 110 marks; fuel, 10 marks; piano rental 13 marks laundry, car fare, music, concert tickets, incidental expenses.

When Miss Seward arrived in Dresden there was over $15.00 left from money given for travelling expenses, and this was, of course, used later. Mr. Field sends regular statements of expenditures for different months and any one who desires to see these statements is invited to do so.

The following is the complete list of subscribers since the opening of the fund, and it may be easily seen that only a few Peterborough people have taken advantage of the chance of helping on the greatest musical talent which Peterborough has ever produced.

List of subscribers in 1909:—Mr. Harry Rush, Dr. R. F. Morrow, Mr. W. H. Hill, Mr. John Crane, Mr. F. D. Kerr, Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Haslitt, Miss Dickson, M. Dickson, Mr. Adam Hall, Mr. D. H. Moore, Mr R. Fair, Mr. T. F. Matthews, Mr. R. M. Denistoun, Mrs. J. F. Denistoun, Dr. Halliday, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, Mr. D. W. Dumble, Miss Ruby Burnham, Col. H. C. Rogers, Dr. M. A. Morrison, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mrs. Thos. Bradburn, Mr. G. A. Smith, Mrs. Hasen Ritchie, Mrs. Rverson Ritchie Mrs. Edgecombe Pearce, Mr. E. A. Peck, Mrs. Peter Campbell, Mr. Alex. Elliott, Mr. A. P. McLean, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, Toronto; Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto; Judge Roger, Mr. Robert Fairweather, Toronto; Mrs. J. F. Denniston, Mrs. Arch. Russel, Montreal.

1910—Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Hon. G. A. Cox, Dr. Halliday, Mrs. Seward, Miss Seward, Mr. Arthur Seward, Mrs. James Wood, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, Mr. W. G. Morrow, Mr. J. D. Collins, Mr. H. Rush, Mrs. Hasen Ritchie, Miss Dunlop, Miss Stewart, Mrs. Walsh, Miss Dickson, Miss M. Dickson.

1911—Mrs. Seward, Miss Seward, Mr. Arthur Seward, Mr. G. C. Wainwright, Mrs. Spencer (Mount Forest).

Of the total amount received over $880.00 has been contributed by members of Miss Seward's own family, who are doing all they can and are worthy of the support of every true lover of the art in Peterborough. I shall be glad at any time to answer any questions regarding the fund, and hope that everyone will remember that subscriptions will be gladly received by Messrs. W. H. Hill, Henry Rush, and G. C. Wainwright. At least $900 more should be raised in order to give the pianist of Peterborough a fair chance. Thanks are due to the editors of the Peterborough Review and Examiner for having so often called the attention of Peterborough citizens to this project: to Mr. F. H. Doblin, of the Review, who has so kindly done printing free of charge; to Mr. Rupert Gliddon and others, who helped to make Gladys' last appearance in public in Peterborough a success and to Miss Gilray of Mount Forest High School, who kindly gave Gladys free tuition in German and English during her last year in Canada.

Believe me, yours truly,
ALICE ROGER COLLINS
34 Wellington Street, Mount Forest, Ont.

MUSICAL NOTICES

Two musical notices received recently by Miss Seward are:—

From "Musical America," Dresden, March 25: "An American pianist of but sixteen years, Gladys Seward distinguished herself as the soloist of the Gewerbehaus Symphony concert of March 11th. She revealed great musical feeling in Chopin's E Minor Concerto, and numbers by Liszt and others. Miss Seward is a pupil of Harry M. Field."

From New York "Musical Courier" April 12th, 1911: "Mr. Field's most talented pupil seems to be Miss Seward, whose sincerity and response, smooth facile technic and refined musical feeling left no doubt as to her future or to her gifts."

YOU CA NSEE IT WORK

The beauty of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment as a healer of the skin in eczema, salt rheum, itching skin disease and old sores is that you can see from day to day exactly what it is doing. There is no guesswork, no experimenting. It simply heals the skin and makes it soft, smooth and natural. It heals as if by magic. Prove this to your own satisfaction by trying it.

Catchy Music
Fine Chorus
Big Company
"Honeymoon Trail"
"Grand" to-night

OBITUARY

ROBERT JOSEPH BELL

Mr. Robert Joseph Bell passed away suddenly to-day at 1.15 p.m. at his residence, 321 Simcoe street.

Deceased was a well known and highly respected resident of this city, having resided here for the past 18 years. This is the second death to occur in this family within the last three days, a twin brother, Mr. Charles Bell, of Keene, passed away on Sunday and was buried to-day.

The late Mr. Robert Bell was in his 64th year. He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing widow, three daughters and four sons. The daughters are May, of New oYrk, Lila and Theresa, of this city. The sons are Harry, Bernard, of Cleveland, Ohio, Lawrence and Lionel of this city. Two sisters and one brother also survive. The yare Mrs. Townes, of Seattle, Washington, Mrs. Costello and Thomas of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements later.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, begs to announce that he will be at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911, with a complete display of the newest London, Paris and New York creations. You are invited to call and inspect his goods.

Big Cudahy Brewer Wedding Is Solemnized

Special to The Examiner.

SAN MATEO, CAL., APRIL 25.—Edward J. Cudahy, the young millionaire clubman of Omaha, who some years ago was the central figure in a sensational kidnapping case, was married here to-day to Miss Leonora Brewer, a prominent society girl of the Burlingame set. The ceremony was performed in St. Matthew's Catholic church, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate firends. After a brief wedding journey the young couple will take up their residence in San Francisco.

To-day's wedding was the culmination of a long engagement that was marked by many vicissitudes. About three years ago Mr. Cudahay came west for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Jack Casserly, and shortly after his arirval she entertained at an elaborate musicale at her beautiful Eli Cerrito in his honour. It was on this occasion that he first met Miss Brewer. His attentions to the attractive society belle were marked from the first moment of their acquaintance, and little surprise was expressed when their engagement was announced a few months later. The date for the wedding was set for the following September. Almost upon the eve of the wedding day, however, came the news of Mr. Cudahy's illness and the indefinite postponement of the wedding. It was assumed by society that the engagement had been broken when, last summer, it was learned that Miss Brewer was visiting at the home of Mr. Cudahay's parents. Again last fall it was reported that the wedding was about to take place, but again the event was postponed on account of the health of the bridegroom-elect. During the past winter, however, Mr. Cudahy's condition was greatly improved by his residence in California, and with the impediment of his illness removed it was decided that the marriage should take place without further delay.

Dresser Scarfs and Table Covers on Sale Wednesday.
S. H. KNOX & CO.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

BIRTH

HUFFMAN.—On April 19th, to Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Huffman, 111 Margaret avenue, a son.

That Wondrous Flavor!

Puddings, Sauces, Ices are welcomed with eagerness when flavored with this unequalled essence.

ONLY the finest Mexican Vanilla Beans are used to make it. Thus it has the TRUE vanilla savor—richly delicate and delightful. Try it to-day: Your groceryman.

CAUTION:—
A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

Shirriff's
TRUE VANILLA

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are—Lemon, Almond, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry, Ratafia and ninety more.

KODAKS

We have a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Amateur Photographic Supplies.
Any size film developed for 10c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST

(AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH)

Shiloh's Cure

Re Storage of Furs

More damage to Furs is done by Moths than through actual wear.

We insure your furs against Moths and Fire

PHONE NO. 726 OR DROP US A CARD AND WE SHALL SEND FOR YOUR FURS

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter :: ::

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-NIGHT 25

Perry J. Kelly presents Chicago's Pet Musical Comedy

"HONEYMOON TRAIL" Direct from 225 nights La Salle Theatre, Chicago

45—Singers, Dancers and Comedians—45 including

FRED WYCKOFF and ARLINE BOLLING and the Famous La Salle County Chorus

Every minute a laugh or whistle. Sd-01 Prices—25c to $1.00. Few at $1.5

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, THURS., APRIL 27th

The season's musical event, John P. Slocum's Opera Co., in the New Viennese Comic Opera

X X "The Kissing Girl" X X

From the German by Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow." Adapted for the English stage by Stanislaus Stange, author of "The Chocolate Soldier". Music by Harry Von Tilzer, Lyrics by Vincent Bryan with Texas Guinan and the young English Premier Danseuse, M'lle. Vanity. All star cast and big beauty chorus. Prices, 25c to $1.50. Seats Now on Sale

YOUR CHANCE

to get Your New Spring Suit or Coat

this season for less money than ever before is at H. Zack's Ready-To-Wear Store for ladies and men.

We offer the latest and most up-to-date lines in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing & Furnishings, Men's Spring Suits and Coats, and Ladies' Fine Suits, Skirts, Waists & Millinery in strictly latest styles, at positively lower prices than elsewhere. You are always welcome here

H. ZACKS

Ready-To-Wear Store for Ladies and Men

522 George Street - - Phone 711

It's the Goods Behind the "Ad." That Makes Satisfaction

It's the satisfied customers who come back again and again that make our business good. Every Suit, Overcoat, Hat and every item in Men's Furnishings we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction or we make good. We hope to get your business and keep it by sheer force of dependable merchandise and fair, progressive business methods. Don't let anything detain you from getting your new Spring clothes now.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING THAT MEN AND BOYS WEAR

H. LeBRUN & CO.

PROBS—Light to moderate winds, fine and moderately warm to-day and on Wednesday.

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY, Limited

A SPECIALLY PLANNED SALE
FOR EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

The backward season has resulted in a number of manufacturers being forced to dispose of cancelled orders of high grade New Modish Spring Coats and Tailored Suits for ladies. We have secured generous quantities of both the Coats and Suits at prices averaging of at least One-Third off.

Suits that were made to sell at $20.00 to $22.50 for $15.00

Suits that were made to sell at 24.00, 25.00 and 27.00 for 18.50

Short semi-fitting fancy and plain fawn covert coats that were made to sell at 5.50 and 6.00 for 3.98

Ladies' long Tailored Coats in selected cloths such as serges, coverts, tweeds and shepherd check made to sell at 16.50 and 17.50 for 11.50

This will be a busy week in wash goods on account of the advent of warmer weather

We place on sale 20 pieces of a novelty wash goods, "La Belle Soie" silk and cotton mixtures in fine art printed designs. Regular 75c a yard, Half Price this week .. 37½c

A big shipment of Anderson's Scotch Ginghams in fancy checks and plaids. Regular 15c and 20c, this week 12½c

A Remnant Lot of Superfine Zephyr Ginghams 36 in. wide, regular 25c for 15c

Moter Coat Linens 33 inches wide regular price 30c. This week 19c

Clearance lot Moter Wash Suitings in broken range of colors None sold less than 25c and some at 35c. Your choice this week for 12½c

Coloured Shantung Silks 25 inches wide, all the spring shades represented. Regular value 75c a yard, this week 48c

Black and coloured Japan Silk, 27 inches wide. Regular price 50c yard, this week 39c

Fine French all wool Broadcloth Suitings, glossy finished surface in navy and black only, 50 inches wide. Regular value 1.50 the yard, this week 1.00

We placed in stock this week a full range of "Keyser guaranteed QUALITY SILK GLOVES IN ALL COLORS AND STYLES

We respectfully remind you to take the fullest advantage of our great 15 day sale of Carpets by the yard

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
383 GEORGE STREET. LIMITED

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies
MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F.J.R. MacPherson Co.
Limited
341 George St. : Both Phones 386

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selections

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Probabilities.

—Light to moderate winds, fine and moderately warm to-day and on Wednesday.

Pure Maple Syrup.

—A new supply of Pure Maple Syrup is just in at Porter S. White's grocery. Use the 'phone, No. 208.

57th Regimental Band.

—Members of the 57th Regimental Band are requested to assemble at the Armouries to-night at 7.45 sharp.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carlon, C. J. Carroll.

Call No. 770.

—A new Bell Telephone has been installed in the millinery department of Mr. T. C. Elliott's. Anybody wishing to communicate with the head milliner, Miss Noble, may call No. 770.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 486, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Seed Time.

Time now for planting peas and onions. Call and see our display of fresh garden, field and flower seeds. Dutch and Mulliphers acts. For sale at Porter S. White's grocery, 336 George street.

Gun Club Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Mr. C. B. Routley's cigar store, George street. All members and prospective members are urged to attend sharp to the hour.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19, Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

A Small Fire.

The Fire Dept. was given a run to a grass fire yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Russell, 530 Albert street. It was necessary to resort to the use of a fine of hose to extinguish the flames. About $18 damage was done to fences which were burned.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Co., 395 Water St., (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

At Normal School.

—Dr. George A. Auden, Medical Superintendent for the Education Committee, Birmingham, England, will deliver an address in the Normal School on Thursday, 27th April, at 8 p.m. He will likely speak on medical care and examination of school children. The lecture will be free and open to the public. His subject will be of interest to all parents and should attract a large audience.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

Another Novel Rug Sale.

—The Rug Special, by which a $32 Wilton Rug was reduced $4.00 each day till sold, and which was used as a test of window advertising by Richard Hall and Son, attracted a lot of interest. Offers were received for the rug, covering every day after the third, in the series, but on the second day, when $8.00 had been taken off the price a Charlotte street lady secured it for $24.00.

In order to still further test this way of selling goods, a second rug will be put in the window to be sold on Saturday, when every hour will show a drop in the price that will make the interest lively.

18-Kt.

Our 18-kt. Wedding Rings are all hand made rings.

The name (Warne Bros.) stamped inside of any wedding ring is a guarantee of quality.

Prices From $5.00 to $15

DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

At the Right-End

of things are the men and women who never wait 'till cash is in hand when a new wardrobe is needed. Try their habit of using our method of

Superior Clothing On Credit

and you'll be, like them, at the head of life's procession. Call and we'll explain.

SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK:

Ladies' Suits $5.95
Voile Skirts 4.95
Millinery—all trimmed Hats, 4.50 to 7.95 for 2.98
Shapes 98c
Men's Suits and Overcoats and Pants all at reduced prices.
Housefurnishings—Carpets, Linoleum, Square Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains all at reduced prices.

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE
Opposite the Custom House. The Best Credit Clothiers in the City
311 GEORGE STREET

Six

minutes is all the time required for brewing Red Rose Tea, and the result is a beverage of matchless flavor and satisfying strength. The verdict of your family will be that

RED ROSE TEA is good tea

NEVER SOLD IN BULK

Your Grocer Will Recommend It

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. C. Byers of Toronto, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. W. J. Gage of Toronto, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. A. Vaughan, Raven Lake, is a guest at the Snowden House.

Mr. R. Sargent, of Chicago, Ill., is registered at the Munro House.

Mr. W. G. Fleming, of Belleville, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. R. R. Brown of Pittsburg, is in the city in the interest of the Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co.

BOLD CASE OF KIDNAPPING

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, APRIL 25. — In broad daylight this morning on their way to school Mary Roberts, aged 7 and Margaret Roberts, aged 5, were seized by two men and wisked away in a big touring car. They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Roberts. Roberts has lived in Hamilton, away from his wife, for 2 months and 'tis thought he is responsible for the removal of the children.

Remembered His Old Town.

Brockville, April 25.—Alex. Mackie of Chicago, a former resident of Brockville, has sent a donation of $5,000 towards the erection of a nurses' home in connection with the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital.

Infant Pickpockets.

Montreal, April 25.—Two little boys, Louis and Samuel Gaffen, and their sister, aged six, pleaded guilty before Judge Bazin yesterday morning to stealing a woman's pocketbook. They were let go.

An Artist at Large.

Montreal, April 25.—Some person animated by a strangely misguided sense of humor or out of sheer vandalism, caused damages to the extent of a few hundred dollars to the property of Goodwins, Limited, Sunday night. Armed with a glass-cutting diamond, or a sharp piece of steel, they disfigured nearly all of the large plate glass windows, which surround the store on the ground floor. Skulls and crossbones were executed on the glasses with more or less skill.

Trapped By Forest Fire.

Topsfield, Mass., April 25.—Trapped in the centre of a forest fire in Boxford, near here, Frank Simmons, jr., aged 15, of Boxford, and Albert Morgan of Beverly, were burned to death yesterday. Two others, Frank Simmons, father of the dead boy, and William Simmons, 17, a brother, were also trapped by the fire, but broke through and escaped, although both are so seriously burned that they may not recover.

Two Steamers Sunk.

Manila, April 25.—The steamer Charles Possi, operating between Manila and Corregidor, foundered in a typhoon on Sunday. It is estimated that fifteen persons were drowned.

Tokio, April 25.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Line states the Asia, which left Hong Kong last Friday for San Francisco, has been sunk, but that the passengers were saved by a Chinese vessel.

Sold Whisky at Boarding-House.

Galt, Ont., April 25.—David Williams, aged 52, who comes from Halton County, was yesterday fined $100 and costs or three months in jail for illegally selling liquor in a local option town. He has been bringing in quantities of bottle whisky from time to time and selling them from his boarding-house. He pleaded guilty, and, not having the money, was sent to jail.

Death of F. Killam, ex-M.P.

Yarmouth, N.S., April 25.—Frank Killam died yesterday morning, aged 68. He was M.P. for Yarmouth County for a number of years, and was one of the promoters of what is now the Dominion Atlantic Railway, and president of the Comos Cotton Co. of Yarmouth.

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY
163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

The Warne Shoe Store

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

A line of Men's Button Patent Foxing, dull calf top, strictly high-class $5.00

A line of Men's Blucher Bal. Patent Foxing, dull calf top, welted sole $3.50

A good variety of heavier weights at selling prices.

Our ladies' lines in Gun Metal, Patent and Kid with an assortment of snappy styles, from $2.50 to $4.00

A special line of Misses' Patent Blucher with dull calf tops $2.50

A great assortment of children's wear at the

Warne Shoe Store
348 GEORGE STREET

Very Latest In Vogue

Just returned from the City, with the most up-to-date New York Novelties in

Stylish Hats and Trimmings

representing the very latest creations in Fashionable Millinery.

A Visit of Inspection is Cordially Invited

Miss E. M. Allan
372 George Street : : : Phone 35

A SISTERHOOD GRADUATE OF QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY

Among the names of the graduates of Queen's University just announced is that of Rev. Sr. Mary Pauline, of the Sisters of St. Joseph, of the Diocese of Peterboro, who obtained the degree of Bachelor of Arts at the examination just closed.

The Sister is to be complimented and congratulated upon her success.

There are other nuns in Ontario who are University graduates, but they obtained their degrees before entering religious life; there is also a very considerable number of Sisters who are under-graduates, and who will obtain degrees in the near future at Toronto Queen's or Ottawa Universities, but Sister Pauline is is the first nun in Ontario to proceed to a University Degree in the regular way by attending at lectures in University College during the religious life. She is very reticent, and refuses to say anything regarding herself in her work, but she is known to have taken part of her course extramurally and to have been in regular attendance at Queen's during the past two years. She speaks highly of the kindness and courtesy of the Faculty of Queen's and with unmistakable gratitude for the assistance and encouragement given her in the various stages of her work.

It is understood that Sr. Pauline will now be attached to the staff of St. Joseph's Academy at Lindsay, an institution which, during the past twenty years, has done much for the education of young ladies, particularly in the training of teachers, and the preparation of candidates for Normal, Entrance, Matriculation and other examinations.—Com.

Lastar's Old Stand | N. SUKLOFF | 166 Simcoe St

WHERE YOU GET BETTER VALUES THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE CITY

DRY GOODS

100 ends of Factory Cotton, reg 10c for 6c

30 yards of Dress Gingham, reg. 12c for .. 7½c

10 pieces Sateen, best quality in all colors except black, reg 15c per yard for 10c

20 only Bed Spreads in honeycomb weave in white and colors, large size, reg. 2.50 for $1.49

10 only colored Spreads in the very latest designs large size, reg. $2 for 98c

12 only of single Bed Spreads, white only, reg $1.50 for 75c

LADIES' HOSE

5 doz Ladies' Mercerized Cotton Hose, reg. 20c. 2 for 25c

We Must Get the Men's Trade

THIS is the best we have ever offered and we would advise every man to take advantage of our exceptionally low prices.

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best worsted cloth, well tailored in the latest style in brown only, regular $15.00 for $7.50

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best cheviot cloth, reg. price $12.50 for $7.98

12 only Men's Tweed Suits, regular $10 for $5.00

50 pairs Men's Pants made of very best worsteds, latest patterns, reg. $2.50 to 3.00 for $1.49

3 doz Men's fine Shirts newest patterns and colors, reg 75c for 39c

5 doz Men's Working Shirts, all styles and colors, reg 75c for 49c

10 doz Men's Four-in-hand Silk Ties in all latest shades, reg 25c for 13c

5 dozen men's ready-made Ties, latest patterns, reg 35c for 19c

10 doz men's silkoline Handkerchiefs, pretty patterns, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

24 prs men's patent leather Boots, latest shape, all sizes, reg 5.00 for .. $3.50

24 pairs men's box calf boots, reg 5.00 .. $3.50

24 prs men's heavy working Boots made of French k p, reg 4.00 for $2.25

10 doz men's grey mixed sox, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

10 men's large lawn Handkerchiefs, each 5c

Ladies' Ready-to-wear

2 doz only Ladies' Skirts in blue, black, brown and grey, made from fine all wool cloth well made with button and strap trimmings, reg. $4.00 for .. $2.50

2 doz ladies' fine quality black Sateen Underskirts with deep flounce, shirred or made with small frills, reg. $2.00 for 98c

2 dozen Print Wrappers made of good strong washable print, sizes 34 and 36 only, reg. $1.25 for 69c

3 dozen Ladies' Lawn Waists with front of embroidery and tucks, all sizes, reg $1.00 for 49c

BOY'S CLOTHES

24 only boy's and youth's Spring Suits, three piece bloomer style, made of all wool worsteds, very latest patterns, reg $7.50 for $4.98

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost—10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept it as gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 97 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY APRIL 26 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL
Two Special Vaudeville Acts
LAST CHANCE TO-NIGHT to SEE
GORDON & MOONE
Imitators of the World's Greatest Dancers
SINGING AND DANCING IMPERSONATIONS
BONI MACK
The Little Brown Lady
FEMALE IMPERSONATIONS
These two Acts come direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, and are considered two of the best Acts on the Griffin Vaudeville Circuit.

Motion Pictures
Complete change of motion pictures for to-night including Edison's best comedy, "April Fool", one of the sweetest, prettiest and most naturally acted pictures ever released. Also Paine's Gazette showing King George and Queen Mary opening parliament in state, and several other pictures.
To-morrow, complete change of vaudeville. A big musical act and a comedy acrobatic act.
ADMISSION:
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

Princess
Special New Pictures for To-day
"THE HAUNTED SENTINAL TOWER"
One of Edison's latest and strongest and most sensational dramas
"GETTING HIS OWN BACK"
One of the Essanay Co's latest and foremost comedies.
"FIRE DRILL IN ENGLAND"
One of Chas. Urban's beautiful scenic and educational films
'FATHER MAKES HIMSELF USEFUL'
One of Lubin's best Comedies. Enough said—come to the Princess and keep your eye on Father. He's a dandy.
5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Have You Seen It
ENSIGNETTE
the last word in photography
Goes in a vest pocket and makes Post Card size pictures
The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

Do Your Purchasing at the Elite Clearing Sale of their $16,000.00 Stock of Millinery, Dry Goods, Ladies' & Gent's Ready-to-wear Clothing, & Furnishings.
Big Bargains
Our Aim is to Please Our Customers
CASH OR CREDIT
THE ELITE
432 George St. Phone 567

Children's Aid Society
For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.
Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.
Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 783 George Street

ARE STILL STORMING

Northrup Member for East Hastings Attacks the Printing Bureau —Dr. Sproule Becomes Angry

THAT SEALEY VOTE

Ottawa, April 26.—After another post-mortem into the voting of the six Conservatives for the Sealey amendment in which Dr. Sproule objected to The Globe reported defending himself, W. B. Northrup moved for an inquiry into the printing bureau scandals.

Mr. Northrup charged that there was "incompetency, lack of frankness, lack of co-operation, drunkenness, moneylending, insubordination, forgery, deception and perjury" in it. Mr. Northrup's speech was practically made up of quotations from the Minister's report.

Hon. Mr. Murphy in his reply characterised Mr. Northrup as a disappointed man who was disgruntled because he had failed to secure the leadership of his party.

The vote showed a Government majority of 37 against the resolution.

At the outset Mr. Northrup demanded to know if the Government was still determined, that under no circumstances would they allow an investigation of the Department, and the Premier replied that the Government had appointed a royal commission a few years ago to enquire into the civil service. An investigation would be granted if sufficient evidence was produced.

Mr. Northrup asked if it would be sufficient if the following were proved: Incompetency, lack of frankness by officials, lack of the spirit of loyalty, that branches of the house of Shylock were operated in the bureau, laziness and insubordination, excessive drunkenness, contracts let without competition or any record in writing, defective bookkeeping, dishonesty, deception, forgery, perjury.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that if all these things were proved there would be no need of further evidence.

Mr. Northrup then quoted extensively on the report of the Secretary of State to prove his contention that all these things had been proved.

Hon. Charles Murphy in reply said there was no need for a further inquiry into the affairs of the printing bureau. As the Minister presiding over the bureau he had already held an enquiry and applied a remedy for the evils which were found to exist. The member for East Hastings was late in proposing an investigation, because one had been commenced in November, in 1908, and had been satisfactorily concluded.

Mr. Borden interrupted to say that he had asked for an enquiry into all Departments and that since the entry of Mr. Murphy into the House, Mr. Ames had also asked or an enquiry.

Mr. Murphy retorted that Mr. Ames' motion was made four months after he had commenced to investigate and that it did not refer to the printing department.

Mr. Northrup asked if the Minister had suppressed all the information in regard to wrong-doing in the department till June, 1910.

Mr. Murphy replied that he had suppressed nothing which should not have been made public. He charged Mr. Northrup with having been incubating with a discharged employe of the bureau. In regard to the Mortimer contract he said that the entire blame for it rested upon R. E. Cook, a former employe of the department, who had been dismissed.

The Senate yesterday discussed majority and minority reports of the committee which had dealt with the grain bill. Acting for the majority, Senator Lougheed moved to strike out the section which provides that no person owning or interested in any terminal elevator shall buy or sell grain or be interested in any other form of grain storage.

Senator Davis protested against this. He said Canada had been invaded by the United States grain handlers, who had built strings of country elevators and controlled most of the terminals at the lakes. He charged them with mixing and manipulating grain, and strongly advocated the bill as prepared as best able to meet the situation.

Historic Castle Burned.

Oldesloe, Prussia, April 26.—The ancient castle of Schulenburg was completely destroyed by fire yesterday. It was erected in 1643 and was filled with many objects of great historic interest.

Will Raise Steamer Ottawa.

Kingston, April 26.—The steamer Ottawa of the Thousand Island Steamship Co., which was partially destroyed by fire and sank near the wharf at Cape Vincent last fall, will be raised.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.
See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

MURDOCH'S SENTENCE

Jarvis Solicitor Advanced His Attempts at Restitution as Extenuation but is Unsuccessful

GOES TO PRISON

Cayuga, April 26.—Six years in the penitentiary was the sentence meted out here yesterday by Justice Douglas to J. Y. Murdoch, the Jarvis solicitor, who fleeced his clients out of $10,000. Four years of this sentence was on the charge of forgery and two years on each of the seven charges of stealing, the sentences on the latter charges to run concurrently. Murdoch asked for enlargement of the case for one week, stating that a petition was in circulation on his behalf, and also that there were certain legal matters to clear up in the interests of his creditors.

The judge stated that no petition could retaliate for all the offences committed and the petition would have no effect. He also stated that no doubt the sheriff would allow him a few days before removal, to make what amends he could on behalf of his creditors.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Murdoch stated that he would suffer a great deal, as he would have to look to something else for a living for himself and family. He was making what restitution he could, giving up everything he had, and intended as soon as possible to pay his creditors. The offences were committed under impulse, with the intention of making good, and if matters had not been brought to a crisis when they were he would, in a short time, have settled all.

The judge thereupon passed sentence and afterwards spoke kindly, yet firmly, to the prisoner. He believed that up to two years ago he had lived honestly, but now his home was broken up and the bright future he formerly had had passed away. He would have time to reflect during his confinement and hoped he would come out a better man. Judge Douglas stated that this was a painful duty for him, knowing Murdoch as he had for a number of years. The prisoner was then returned to his cell.

Murdoch took his sentence coolly. He will probably be conveyed to Kingston on Friday. Very few spectators were present when sentence was given.

May Be Test Case.

Montreal, April 26.—On the ground that when they were married thirty years ago he was a Protestant, and his wife a Roman Catholic, George Dowden of this city is now seeking the annulment of his marriage before the Supreme Court, through his attorney, Mr. Joseph Archambault, of Rodier & Archambault.

According to Dowden's statement, as contained in the court record, after they had lived together for some years, Dowden's wife was told that her marriage with the plaintiff was invalid. Under this impression she left him fifteen years ago.

The other grounds he puts forward for separation are that his wife was a minor when he married her, and that they did not have the authority of her guardians, that the bans of matrimony were not published, and therefore could not legally marry one who had been.

Very likely this will be made a test case and taken to the Privy Council to decide the validity of the Quebec marriage laws.

Bunco Men Abroad.

Toronto, April 26.—Supt. Rogers of the Ontario provincial police, is sending out a warning to the public against the plot of United States "green goods" men and counterfeiters to work Ontario people. Mr. Rogers says that the Yankee "green goods" fraternity obtain Canadian directories and address letters to intended victims. The letters state that the name of the recipient has been given as that of a shrewd man.

The writer then states that he is an expert engraver, and formerly was employed by one of the largest bank note companies. He confides to his intended victim that he has spent his spare time in producing plates duplicating one, two and five-dollar bills. On the face of it the offer is an attempt to make the recipient of the letter a party to the fraud.

Sunk by Ice Floes.

St. Pierre, Martinique, April 26.—The loss of the French banking schooner Victor Helene of St. Malo, France, formerly the Gloucester fisherman Stranger, and of the French brigantine Bettina, the latter carrying passengers and merchandise from St. Malo, France, for St. Pierre, was reported here yesterday by vessels of the fishing fleet which brought ashore safely all who had been on board the sunken craft. The sinking of both vessels occurred on the Grand Banks after collision with ice floes.

Ask License Reduction.

Kingston, April 26.—Kingston and Frontenac Temperance Alliance will ask the City Council to submit a by-law to the electors calling for reduction by twelve licenses. This will leave approximately one license for every 1,000 population. If this campaign is successful, it is possible it will be followed next year by another for local option.

The WONDERFUL
Overland CARS

OVERLAND MODEL 51
WITH FOUR DOORS
Read and Compare Values With All Others
Model 52 $2,275.00 — 5 Passenger, 40 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 118-inch wheel base, Bosch Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.
Model 51 $1,775.00 — 5 Passenger, 30 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 110-inch wheel base, Remy new model Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.
Model 49 $1,450.00 — 5 Passenger, 25 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 102 inch wheel base, Remy Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.
Model 38 $1,375.00 — 4 Passenger, 25 H. P., Family Car that is reliable under all conditions. Fully equipped.
Model 46 $1,175.00 — 2 Passenger Torpedo Roadster, 25 H. P., fully equipped, handsome, powerful, durable and simple to operate.
Model 45 $1,050.00 — Business Men's or Professional Men's Runabout, two Passenger, 25 H. P. The most substantial article in the market. Fully equipped.
Also fifteen other models, particulars of which will be furnished on application.
Demonstrations will be given by appointment from 8 o'clock a.m. to 8 o'clock p.m. any week day.
Don't delay. If you contemplate buying get your order in and avoid losing the best of the driving season, as only cars ordered now will get prompt delivery.
Shaw-Overland Sales Co.
53 to 59 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Canada.
Live Agents Wanted.

DETECTIVE BURNS IS NOW UNDER ARREST ON KIDNAPPING CHARGE

Timothy Healy, President of International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, Says Whole Thing is a Plot

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS

Indianapolis, April 26.—Detective Wm. J. Burns last night was served with a warrant, charging him with complicity of kidnapping of J. J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, said to be implicated in the Los Angeles Times' explosion. Three lawyers were arraigned yesterday on the same charge, and they spent two hours in jail because of delay in obtaining bonds for them. They are Walter Drew and J. A. G. Badorf, of New York, counsel and assistant counsel for the National Erectors' Association, and W. Joseph Ford, assistant district attorney of Los Angeles.

Burns was arrested in a street as he was going to the Court of Justice of the Peace Manning to surrender himself. Constables had searched for him all day. He was released under $10,000 bond, to appear before the grand jury.

The hotel at which Drew, Ford, Badorf and Burns and his operatives have been staying was searched for Burns by constables who seemed bent on going into ever corner, until the hotel management declared that they should not intrude on guests.

Drew and Badorf, soon after this order had been issued, came into the lobby of the hotel and announced they had forcibly taken a constable from a corridor leading to their rooms and sent him to the first floor in an elevator. This constable, Daniel J. Barton, obtained in the Police Court a warrant charging Drew with assault and battery, but the warrant was not served.

A Plot They Say.

New York, April 26—Timothy Healy, president of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, one of the best-known labor leaders in the country, joined with Samuel Gompers here yesterday in denouncing the arrest of the McNamara brothers and McGonigal, as a plot against labor by capital. During the recent car strike at Philadelphia, he said, he had frustrated a plot to "plant" dynamite in his hotel room, and then blow up one of the transit companies' power houses.

"Knowing what they were willing to stoop to in my own case, is it not reasonable for me to believe," he said, "that the men under arrest are the victims of a similar and more successful conspiracy. Capital will stoop to anything to retain its grip on the throats of the workers of this country.

"I know Jim McNamara personally, I know him to be an honest, law-abiding citizen, and incapable of the outrage attributed to him by the enemies of labor.

"It is not difficult for capital to find thugs who will commit crimes that are later fastened on the shoulders of honest men. I tell you these dynamitings that have been occurring all over the country during the past years are only a part of a plot that capital has framed, in a last desperate effort to crush labor unions.

"But if money will buy tools it will also hire able lawyers, and labor will see that the McNamaras and any others who may be arrested with them have the best talent in the country to defend them."

Sued For $6,000.

Cornwall, April 26.—Sir William Mulock is presiding at the assizes, which opened here yesterday morning. The docket is a light one, consisting of one criminal action and six on the civil list. Several cases have already been disposed of, including that of Mrs. Lydia Dooley of Avonmore v. the Attorney-General of Ontario, administrator of the estate of the late George McMillan of Avonmore, who died intestate and without heirs. Mrs. Dooley sued for $6,000 for wages, but the bulk of this was outlawed by the statute of limitations. A compromise verdict of $750 and costs was permitted.

Miss Joubert was acquitted on two indictments of appropriating postal notes and having them cashed.

Won't Touch St. Lawrence.

Ottawa, April 26.—Hon. L. P. Brodeur announced to the Marine and Fisheries committee yesterday morning, at which representatives of Canadian shipping interests were present to consider amendments to the Shipping Act, that, after consultation with the Dominion Marine Association, he thought it would be just as well to leave the act alone as regards the St. Lawrence.

G. W. Kyte, M.P., said the whole pilotage question was involved in the sections to be dropped, and suggested that it should also be left over. This, however, did not meet the views of the committee.

FAR TOO ELASTIC

That is Republican Criticism of the Proposed Tariff List—Hard Treatment From the House

FREE IMPLEMENTS

Washington, April 26.—The Democratic free list bill, characterised by the Republicans on the ways and means committee as a political soothing syrup, was roughly handled in the House of Representatives yesterday afternoon by its political enemies on the Republican side.

Mr. Underwood, Democratic chairman of the ways and means committee, introduced it to the House in an hour's speech shortly after the session convened at noon. Then it was left to the mercies of Representative Mann of Illinois, leader of the Republican side.

Mr. Mann declared that the free list bill introduced by the Democrats as the first of their tariff measures was drawn inaccurately, indefinitely and with such general language that it might be stretched to include almost half of the imports on which the U.S. now collects tariff revenues.

The free list bill puts agricultural implements "of any kind and description" on the free list. Mr. Mann expressed the belief that this could be stretched to include the free entry of saws, axes, forks, garden hose, hayknives and almost everything else that a tiller of the soil ever uses.

He said the bill was so drawn that it would admit free the leather from which the farmers' shoes were made, but would exclude that from which his wife's shoes were made. It put a premium on foreign labor, he said, by permitting these special kinds of leather to come in free when they were partly made up.

Mr. Gardner of Massachusetts attacked the measure and the Democratic policy of promising to "reduce the cost of living without reducing wages paid in the United States." He asserted that in putting articles on the free list the Democrats had discriminated against the farmers and manufacturers from the northern states, while leaving protective duties on tobacco, sugar, rice, oranges and other articles produced in the southern states.

Messrs. Adair of Indiana, Russell of Missouri and Adamson of Georgia spoke in favor of the measure.

To Build New Railway.

Montreal, April 26.—A cable from J. N. Greenshields, K.C., states that a syndicate has been formed in London for the construction of a railway from the Saguenay River to Cape Charles Bay, on the east coast of Labrador, a point 650 miles from Quebec. Montreal people, including Rodolphe Forget, are interested in the enterprise, which will connect with the Quebec and Saguenay line, which M. J. O'Brien will build during the next 18 months to Murray Bay, 90 miles from the ancient capital. Jim Hill had his eye on this route several years, but it remains for English and Canadian capitalists to test the practicability of the scheme. The promoters say that Cape Charles Bay is open all the year round, and from that port fast steamers will make Liverpool in 59 hours, or land mails in Chicago thirty hours before they could reach New York by any of the other routes.

Driver's Arm Broken by Horse.

Cornwall, Ont., April 26.—Walter Smyth, son of Chief of Police Smyth and Donald Smyth, the well-known lacrosse and hockey player, met with a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon. They had driven out in the country and were approaching Harrison station, when the harness broke and the horse began to kick. Smyth, who was driving, had his arm broken and his hand cut, the latter wound requiring six stitches. Both men were compelled to jump out and the horse ran away, dashing headlong into the side of a slowly-moving freight train.

Fought Off Pirates.

Shanghai, April 26.—According to passengers who were rescued from the Pacific steamer Asia, after the vessel was wrecked on Finger Rock Sunday, the officers had to use their revolvers to keep a fleet of Chinese pirate craft at bay while the passengers were being transferred. Directly the Asia was abandoned the pirates looted her. It is estimated that the total loss of ship and cargo amounts to $1,500,000.

New Moderator From Comber.

Woodstock, April 26.—A couple of hundred delegates are paying their own board in the city while attending the three days' annual meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Hamilton and London. Monday night Rev. S. W. Fisher, B.A., retired as moderator, Rev. Dr. Smith of Comber being elected in his place. Dr. Smith is a former India and China missionary.

Navigation on Lake of Woods.

Kenora, April 26.—Navigation practically opened here yesterday on the Lake of the Woods, the steamer Clipper making a trip through the ice floes to Norman and returning the entire length of the lake, which should be navigable in the course of a week.

THE Rexall Store
Our store is now generally known as the Rexall Store, due to the fact that we are agents for the famous line of Rexall Remedies in this vicinity.
The Rexall Remedies are a new line of Medicines prepared on the unit system of one for each human ailment and for the cure of every day ills and accidents, where the case is not serious enough to demand the attention of a Physician.
Just now every one should take a Spring System Tonic. In the Rexall Sarsaparilla Tonic you will find the ideal preparation as a Blood Purifier, Tonic and Laxative.
The price of this preparation is 75c and money refunded if not satisfactory.
McDermid & Jury
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
Corner George and Charlotte Sts.

Rebels Routed In Morocco.

Tangier, April 26.—Further news from Fez, received by the British legation last night, says that the route through the Muledjamas territory is now open, and the consuls have decided to allow Europeans wishing to leave the city, to do so.

Capt. Bremond, in charge of the French column, and the sultan's forces, had a sharp fight with the Cherada tribesmen, who are trying to intercept a supply column from Alcasar. The rebels were completely routed by the artillery fire. The French losses are not serious.

It is reported that a French newspaper representative, M. Houle, who left here for Fez recently, has been captured by the rebels and maltreated.

Thought It Was Temperance Beer.

Brantford, April 26.—J. A. Spittall of the King's Hotel was yesterday fined $100 for the sale of spirituous liquors without a license, and the Rock Brewing Co. of Preston, which supplied the beer, was taxed $20. Mr. Spittall claimed that he thought the beer was of the temperance variety. The beer on analysis was found to contain an alcoholic percentage above the legal figure.

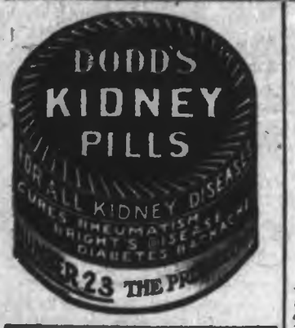
Jurors Are Obstructive.

Viterbo, Italy, April 26.—The murder trial of the 35 Camorrists has been adjourned until Monday because of the illness of a juror.

The trial may be transferred to some other city, because of dissatisfaction on the part of some of the jury, who petitioned in vain for an increase in the fees. If one after the other is taken sick no progress can be made.

Up-to-Date Cigar Store
A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::
D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

We Go To SPECIALISTS
When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are tordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.
We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens-Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.
All Work Guaranteed
A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.



MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 169. 149 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 185 Brock Street.

DR E.V. FREDERICK, M.R.C.S. (Eng L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Surgery and Diseas of Women, 484 George Street. Hours 1.30-3.30—7-8.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 324 Rubidge Street. Phone—Bell 681, Mach., 933. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Office 91 East St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 149. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 1 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 199 Hunter street, or at residence, 203 Hunter street. Telephone No. 68.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 121. J. W. Bennet; B. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 64

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Offices, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st. Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—R. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis H. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. R. E. Hall, G. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetising, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. BRIGGS

(Continued from Tuesday)

CHAPTER VII.

The office of the Polkovnik was small and narrow, low, with ceiling and walls hewn out of the rock. At one end was a window barred, looking out upon a court; at the opposite end of the door. On either side of the door stood a soldier in Cossack uniform, huge fellows, sabred, with their helmets belted under their chins, and their fierce, black eyes staring straight ahead, scarcely blinking.

In the centre of the room was a table, and before the table an officer seated, also in uniform, but his head was bare and his helmet lay on the litter of papers at his elbow. He had a long, ugly face with a swarthy complexion, and eyes that were sharp and cold like steel, piercing as the point of a rapier and cruel. He was tossing the litter of papers impatiently, examining one after another at intervals, then pushing them back. He was evidently waiting, and as he waited he swore to himself under his breath, glancing from time to time at the Cossacks; but they stood stiff and immovable like marble, looking neither to right nor to left. Presently the officer leaned forward and touched a bell on the table.

"There is no use waiting any longer," he said curtly, "Bring them in."

The hammer of the bell was still tinkling when the door swung back suddenly on its hinges and two people, a man and a woman, were half led, half dragged into the room; the Cossacks prodding them on with the blunt edge of their sabres.

"Brr—" said the officer sharply.

In a flash the Cossacks had leaped to their niches, their forms rigid and motionless, only the tassels on their helmets quivering slightly to show that they had stirred. The man and the woman were left beside the table.

"Your names?" demanded the officer, "The woman first."

The girl drew herself up wearily; her face was wan in the morning light, and her hair fell about her shoulders, dishevelled, a bright golden mass, curling about her forehead and ears in little rings and across like the tendrils of a vine. Her eyes were proud and she looked the officer full in the face, her hands clenched. Her voice rang full and scornful.

"My name is the Countess Kaya, and I am the daughter of General Mezkarpin. What have you to say to me?"

"We have a good deal to say to you, Madame," retorted the Cossack, "if it is true that you are the Countess. I never saw her myself, but the Chief will be here presently. He knows her very eye-lashes, and if you have lied—"

"I have not lied,' cried the girl. "How dare you speak to me like that! Send for my father, do you hear me? At once! The General Mezkarpin." She repeated the name distinctly and her shoulders stiffened, her blue eyes flashed. "A friend of the Tsar as you are aware. Be careful! What you do, what you say, every act, every word shall be reported to him."

"If you have not lied," continued the Cossack smoothly, "it will be still worse for you, far worse!" He began smiling to himself and twirling his moustache. "If it is true, this report, I doubt if you leave here alive. Madame, unless it is for the Mines. You have an ugly crime at your door. How you ever escaped is a wonder! The Chief has been on your track for some time, but he was late as usual; he is always slow about arresting the women, especially if they are—"

The Cossack showed his teeth suddenly in a loud laugh, leering at the slim, young figure before him. The girl blanched to the lips.

"A crime!" she said, "What crime?"

Then she put out her hand slowly, shrinkingly, and touched the figure beside her as if to make sure that he was there.

The man was standing dazed, staring from the girl to the Cossack and back again. Meskarpin's daughter, the great Mezkarpin, the friend of Nicholas! And accused of—what? It was a mistake—nothing! He passed his hand over his eyes.

"Is this woman your wife?" said the officer, shortly, "Answer."

"She is my wife."

"Where are the papers?"

The man unbuttoned his coat and felt in his breast pocket, the left, the right; then the pockets of his vest.

"I have them here, somewhere," he stammered, "Where in the devil! They were here last night!"

He felt again desperately. "They seem to be gone! What can have become of them? I put them here—here!" He searched again.

"Curious!" said the official, "Ha ha!"

The prisoner stared at him for a moment blinking. "You impudent scoundrel!" he cried, "She is my wife, papers or no papers. Ask her! —Kaya!"

The girl held herself straight and aloof. She was gazing down at the litter of papers on the table; her face was white and her lips clenched in her teeth.

"Kaya—tell him! The papers are lost! God, they are gone somehow! Tell him—"

The girl released her lip and her voice came out suddenly, ringing, clear as if the room had been large and the Cossack deaf; it seemed to burst from her throat.

"I am not his wife," she said, "He is mistaken. He is telling you that out of kindness. Monsieur is a stranger to me, until last night a perfect stranger. I don't know him at all. Don't believe what he says. You see for yourself there are no papers. Is it likely?"

The tones of her voice seemed to die away suddenly and a drop of blood oozed from her lip. She wiped it away and clinched her teeth again, fiercely, as if hedging her words.

"Kaya!" cried the man. "She is my wife, I tell you, she is my wife! The priest married us. I can prove it."

"Silence" cried the Cossack "What do we care if you are married or not. You will be imprisoned anyway for meddling in a matter that does not concern you. Silence, I tell you. Answer my questions. What is your name?"

"My name is Velasco."

"Ha—the musician?"

"Yes."

"Very good! Try again. There is only one Velasco in Russia, as every one knows, and he isnt here. Your name? Tell the truth if you can."

"My name is Velasco."

"The devil it is!" cried the Cossack. "Ha ha!—You two make a pair between you. Velasco! The Wizard of the bow! The one all Russia is mad over! Ye saints! I would give my old cavalry boots to have heard him. Bah—you anarchist dog! Now, damn you, answer me straight or I'll make you. Your name?"

The Cossack leaned over the desk, his eyes blazing fiercely, shaking his fist "No nonsense now; do you think we can't prove it? Quick—your name?"

The prisoner folded his arms and stared up at the cross-barred window, half closing his eyes The brows seemed to swell, to weigh down the lids.

"Will you answer or not?"

Velasco swayed a little and a dark gleam shot out between the slits. "If I had been brought up a soldier" he said, "instead of a musician, I should take pleasure in knocking you down; as it is, my muscles were trained to much better purposes. This interview, sir, is becoming unpleasant I will trouble you to send for my Stradivarius at once. Some of your men stole it. I fancy last night It is worth its weight twice over in gold There is not another like it in the country, perhaps in the world The next time his Majesty, the Tsar requests my presence I shall inform him that the violin is here in his fortress, stolen by a slovely, insolent official, who doesn't know a violin from a block of wood, or a note from a pin head." His eyes drooped again.

The Cossack examined him narrowly.

"If you are Velasco," he said after a little, "Khoroscho! (Very well) then prove it. There was a case brought in last night, it might have been a fiddle. Brr—Ivanovitch, go for it. No. 17,389, in the third compartment, by the wall. That isn't a bad idea!" He rubbed his hands together and laughed, showing his teeth like a wolf. "There is only the one Velasco and I know a thing or two about music in spite of your impudence. You can't cheat me." He laughed loud and long.

Velasco stood imperturable, his arms folded; he seemed to be dreaming, his mind far away. The words fell on his ear like drops of water on a roof, rolling off, leaving no sign.

The girl looked up at him and her lips quivered slightly. She pressed them with her handkerchief and again a drop of blood blotted the white; then she drew them in with her teeth and drooped her head wearily, the confusion of her hair encircling it like a framing of gold, veiling her brow and her cheeks.

"Ah, here is Ivanovitch," cried the Cossack, "and here is the fiddle. Now, for a lark! Brr—Miliksi, go for the Colonel, he is musical—ha ha! No, stop! I will keep the fun to myself. Shut the door. Is the Chief here yet?"

"No, Gospodin."

"Saprisi! Never mind, shut the door—shut the door!"

Velasco roused suddenly. He looked about him, dazed, for a moment; then he sprang forward, attacking the Cossack and tearing the case from his hands. His eyes were bright and eager; his voice coming in little leaps from his throat, full of joy and relief.

"My violin, my treasure! My beloved, give it to me! You brute, you great hulking savage, if it is damaged or broken, I'll kill you! Out of my way! Let it go—or I'll strike you! Let go!"

He snatched the case to his breast and carried it over to the table, opening it, unfolding the wrappings. They were silken and heavy. The violin lay swathed in them, the glossy arch of its body glistening yellow, golden and resinous. He touched it tenderly, lifting it, examining it, absorbed, engrossed, like a mother a child that has been bruised.

The officials stared at him in amazement; the Cossacks gaped under their helmets. The girl watched him with wistful eyes. She understood. It was the artist-temperament in full command. The man had vanished, the musician was in possession. He was rocked by it, swayed, overpowered, a slave. His eyes saw nothing; his ears heard nothing; his mind was a whirl, a wonderful chaos of sound—of colour, of notes dancing, leaping.

The bow was in his hand, the violin was on his breast. He closed his eyes, swaying, pressing it to his cheek. The eyes of the girl filled with tears. It was just as he had said. He was talking to it and it was answering him, softly at first, faint and low, his fingers scarcely touching the strings; then the tones burst out, full, radiant, like a bud into bloom, rushing, soaring, echoing up to the walls of the room, striking the stone, bounding back, dying away. He was drunk, he was mad; he was clasping the thing, forcing it, pressing it, swaying it, and the strings leaped after his will.

She fell back against the wall, steadying herself, and her eyes drank in the sight of him as her ears the sound—the slight, swaying figure, the dark head bowed with his hair like a mane, the arm with the bow, the abandon of the wrist, the white flashing fingers. She drew a quick breath.

The official sat open-mouthed. The cruelty had gone from his face, the sharp, steely look from his eyes. He was grasping the desk with both hands, leaning forward, staring as one who is benumbed, hypnotized.

Velasco played as he had never played before. He was playing for his life, his identity, his freedom; and suddenly into the tones crept another consciousness, subtle at first, scarcely heard, something frantic and weak, new born, as if struggling for breath. He stopped and passed his hand over his eyes, dropping the bow. Where was he! What had happened! Was it his life, or hers, he was playing to save?—Oh God!

(To be continued.)

Nerves Are Exhausted

And Nervous Prostration or Paralysis Are Creeping Steadily Upon You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

You hear of people suddenly falling victims of nervous prostration or some forms of paralysis. But when you get all the facts of the case you find that they have had months or years of warning.

They haven't slept well. There has been frequent attacks of nervous headache. Digestion has failed. They have been irritable, easily worried and excited and have found memory and concentration failing.

Had they but known that these symptoms tell of exhausted nerves or had they realized their danger they would have restored the feeble, wasted nerve by use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great restorative treatment cures by forming new, rich blood and by rebuilding the wasted nerve cells. No medicine is more certain to prove beneficial, for each dose adds to the system a certain amount of rich, red blood.

Nervous diseases come on slowly and can only be overcome by patient and persistent treatment. Prevention is always better than cure, and for this reason you should endeavour to keep the system at high water mark by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at the first sign of trouble. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

SHOT A BEAR

Morrison's Good Aim While Riding on a Moose's Back

A man named Morrison who resides near Oyster River, N.B., declares that he shot a bear which was riding on the back of a moose. Whether the bear had deliberately attacked the moose, slipped from a tree by accident as the moose was passing underneath or adopted that method of crossing the river, the sportsman was unable to say, but he declares he shot the animal as the moose was carrying him across country as though recently emerged from the waters of the river. One shot was sufficient to kill the bear and the moose thus released made off at a record speed.

ECZEMA AND WHAT IS DONE TO CURE IT

Desperate Efforts, Disheartening Failures and Final Success.

Eczema is a skin affliction to which men and women alike are subject, from the first to the last day of their existence. It may occur as a single tiny spot, appearing and disappearing with each change in general health or present only at certain seasons; at the other extreme, the whole body may be involved in a torturing eruption. The latter condition may gradually arise through the neglect or improper treatment of lesser troubles or an apparently healthy skin may, in a single day, become a mass of eczema.

But whatever the form of the affection, the distressing itching, burning, scaling and crusting, the serious disfigurement and the constant dread that the eczema will become chronic, make a speedy cure the aim of every sufferer. Unfortunately, such a cure is not always readily obtained. The most skilled physician is often at a loss and even hospitals are forced to discharge the patient as incurable. Then a wide variety of remedies are resorted to, many perfectly harmless and equally ineffective, others as offensive to every sense that, were it not for the relief they are supposed to afford, no person of refinement would tolerate them for an instant.

To such sufferers, discouraged by repeated failures of even these heroic methods, the instant relief afforded by the first bath with Cuticura Soap and gentle application of Cuticura Ointment is almost incredible. They stop the itching and burning at once, make sleep possible and, in most cases, point to a speedy cure. So pure and sweet are Cuticura Soap and Ointment and so free from every substance of a disagreeable or harmful nature that they can be used without hesitation on the youngest infant or tenderest skin. Besides, they are most economical, a single set being often sufficient for the treatment of even the severest cases.

In proof of the efficacy of the Cuticura Remedies it will be enough to quote here a single letter, from Mrs. Edward Nenning, 11 Lansing Block, Watertown, N.Y.: "Four years ago I suffered with a terrible eczema, being a mass of sores from head to feet and for six months confined to my bed. During that time I suffered continual torture from itching and burning. After being given up by my doctor, I was advised to try Cuticura. After the first bath with Cuticura Soap and application of Cuticura Ointment I enjoyed the first good sleep during my entire illness. I also used Cuticura Resolvent and the treatment was continued for three weeks. At the end of that time I was entirely cured and have felt no ill effects since. I would advise any person suffering from any form of skin trouble to try the Cuticura Remedies, as I know what they did for me."

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent and Pills are sold by druggists everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, Mass. Mailed free, on request, latest 32-page Cuticura Book, a guide to the speedy and economical treatment of skin and scalp affections, from infancy to age.

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM BRITAIN

A Joke at the Expense of Noah the Milkman—Death of a Famous Cricketer

Noah was the name of a milkman charged with adulteration at Bangor. Mr. Thornton Jones (for the defence): "The name is suggestive of water" (laughter). Mr. Dew (prosecuting): "And unfortunately excess of water" (laughter).

Clergyman Dies in the Vestry

As the service was about to begin at the Coltishall Parish Church, Norfolk, the Rev. H. Collison fell down in the vestry and expired.

Milkmaid and Cow's Tail

So brutally did a cow flick a milkmaid in the face with his tail that her eyes were injured. At Mold County Court she was awarded compensation.

Killed on Errand of Mercy

Comtesse de Villebresene died in a Paris hospital as the result of being run over by a motor-car while she was on a round of visits to the poor.

Linnets in Court

Four linnets were twittering loudly in Woolwich Police Court. A man named William Owen was fined $2.50 or seven days, for causing them unnecessary suffering.

Funeral Extravagance

Judge Hamilton expressed the hope at Preston County Court that at his funeral his friends would walk. The amount of money spent on funerals was perfectly ridiculous.

Attempted Bomb Outrage

For throwing a bomb at Mr. Cowley, a Government engineer, in a Calcutta street, a young Bengalese named Nonigopal Mookerja was sentenced at Calcutta to fourteen years' rigorous imprisonment.

Novel Wedding Procession

Mr. Harry Booth, a keen motor cyclist, rode with his bride to the registrar's office at Halifax, England, to be married. They were escorted by twenty members of the Motor Cyclists' Club, with ladies in side cars.

A Tudor Building

There will soon be seen on Marine parade East, a Tudor building, dating from 1490, which is to be carefully removed from its present site at Hawstead, Bury St. Edmunds, and put up in its original state.

Harem Skirts at St. Stephen's

The sanctity of St. Stephen's Hall was invaded by harem skirts. Two women wearing these garments made their way into the Central Lobby without attracting more than a few surprised glances.

Energetic Old Voter

Refusing all offers of a drive, John Durant, who is in his 102nd year walked a mile to register his vote at the Chertsey Urban Council election He is a pensioner of the Metropolitan Gas Company.

Patient's Legacy to Nurse

A young Aberdeen nurse, the daughter of a Corporation servant, has been left an annuity of $1,000 by a patient whom she accompanied on several voyages to Brazil. On his death he left her certain stocks which will yield this amount.

Princesses as Choristers

Princess Christian and her daughter, Princess Victoria of Schleswig-Holstein, took part as choristers in a performance of Bach's Mass in B minor, which was given in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, by the London Symphony Orchestra.

Famous Cricketer's Funeral

The desire of the late Mr. W. L. Murdoch, the famous cricketer, to be buried in his mother's grave at Kensal Green is being observed. The embalmed body is now on its way from Australia, and the cricketer's widow is coming to England to be present at the funeral.

Death of Noted Transvaaler

The death is announced at Capetown of Sir Jacobus de Wet, who was British Agent in the Transvaal from 1890 to 1896, and later at the time of the Jameson Raid conducted negotiations with the British Government on behalf of the Johannesburg Uitlanders. He was seventy-one.

Rich and the Hospitals

Sir Frederick Treves, speaking at the Mansion House, said that the rich benefitted the hospitals, because without them the Finsen light and X-rays could never have been made available. Yet the poor who attended the hospitals derived the first benefit of any new treatment

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE
Sick Headache and relieves all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD
Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

A Perfect Food Good for all Ages

From infancy onward, Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes is the best food for everybody.

Its nutritive qualities and ease of assimilation makes it more wholesome than meat or eggs—besides it is much cheaper. Serve it regularly and note how the health of the whole family will improve.

Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

Look for the name on the box. 10c

That's it

Its extreme whiteness and impalpable fineness make a paint that has no equal for durability and color.

Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead carries more Linseed Oil, which gives it a greater covering capacity, and actually makes more paint and better paint.

For more than 100 years, Brandram's Genuine B. B. has been the world's standard white lead.

Made in Canada by 53

BRANDRAM-HENDERSON, LIMITED.

MONTREAL, HALIFAX, ST. JOHN, TORONTO, WINNIPEG.

The Kingan Hardware Co., Limited, Peterborough.

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply--

437 George St., City

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

"I Suffered Intense Pains in My Left Side."

Do you realize it is better to be safe than sorry, that it is the best policy to lock the stable door before the horse is stolen?

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

cured Mrs. C. C. Gokey, of a stubborn case of heart disease, such as thousands are now suffering with. Read what she says:

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had grown so weak that it was impossible for me to do things minutes' work in a whole day. I suffered intense pains in my left side and under the left shoulder blade. I could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath that I thought I should never be able to take a full breath again. The least excitement would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half-bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. I began to sleep well, had a good appetite, and improved so rapidly that when I had taken six bottles I was completely cured.

MRS. C. C. GOKEY, Northfield, Vt.

If you have any of the symptoms Mrs. Gokey mentions, it is your duty to protect yourself.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy,

is what you need. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your money is returned. Ask your druggist.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Cowan's seems to hit the right spot. It is a great food for husky young athletes: satisfies the appetite: easy to digest: and delicious

Helps FOR THE Afflicted

For 50 years we have been making and fitting each individual case with the correct appliances suitable to the conditions, giving ease, comfort and satisfaction. :: ::

Trusses, Artificial Limbs
—AND—
Deformity Appliances

AUTHORS & COX
128 CHURCH STREET, TORONTO

Canadian Pacific Ry.
EMPRESSES
And other Steamships

FROM MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Empress of Ireland	May 5th
Montfort (to Londonderry direct)	May 6th
Lake Champlain	May 11th
Empress of Britain	May 19th
Lake Manitoba	May 25th
Empress of Ireland	June 2nd
Lake Champlain	June 8th

Special sleeping car to the ship's side Leaving Toronto at 10.30 the evening before, for "Empress" sailings.

I. E. Suckling, General Agent for Ontario, 16 King St. E., Toronto.
Apply to any Ry. or S. S. Agent or to W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

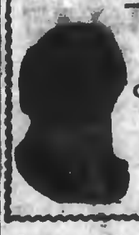
W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.
Both Phones 262
Yards 134 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.



Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Jesus No Longer a Man

Begotten and Born of the Spirit, "Put to Death in Flesh, Quickened in the Spirit."

London, April 23.—Pastor Russell preached in London Tabernacle to-day to a crowded house. His theme was the resurrected Lord, no longer a man, but ascended where he was before—made partaker of the divine nature. His text was, "He was put to death in flesh, but quickened in spirit" (I. Peter iii, 18). The speaker said:

In the past those of us who continued to believe in the resurrection of the dead, held some inconsistent theories respecting the matter which served to make the resurrection doctrine the more absurd in the minds of those opposed. For instance, we claimed that the Logos, the Son of God, left the heavenly or spirit nature and, according to the Scriptures, was made flesh, and that He was resurrected from the dead a human or fleshly being and ascended to heaven with a body of flesh. In the same breath we acknowledged that human nature is a little lower than the angels; and thus, while still wishing to honor the Redeemer and to see wisdom and love in the Heavenly Father's Plan, we assumed that the Saviour, since His ascension, has had a body inferior to that of the angels and out of harmony with His surroundings; and that this is to be to all eternity a part of the cost of human redemption.

How absurd! Do not the Scriptures particularly tell us that in His resurrection the Son was highly exalted by the Father, far above angels, principalities and powers and every name that is named? Do they not tell us that "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God?" Do they not tell us that the elect Church, in order to be the Bride of Messiah and His associate in the heavenly Kingdom, must be "changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye," in order that she may be made like Him, and because "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom?" We have been too careless in our study of the Divine Word. On this subject, as upon others, we have assumed that our forefathers of the "Dark Ages" understood the matter thoroughly. We forgot that those who lost so much of the Holy Spirit that they could burn fellow-Christians at the stake were quite likely to be more or less confused on all questions. But "the path of the just is as a shining light, shining more and more unto the perfect day," and it is now our privilege to learn the way of the Lord more perfectly, in the light now shining upon the Bible through the aid of our wonderful concordances and other Bible study helps.

Our difficulty on this subject arose from our failure to understand that human and spirit natures are distinct, and that God has provided two distinctly different salvations for mankind—the salvation of this Age being exclusively spiritual, while that of the next Age will be exclusively human. We are not to think of these natures as blending, but, according to the Lord's Word, we are to view them as distinctly separate. Whoever is of the human nature is earthly, fleshly, whether perfect or degraded. Whoever is of the spirit nature is heavenly, whether perfect or degraded. Thus, when "the Logos was made flesh and dwelt among us," He was human, though unblemished. And the fallen angels are still spirit beings, although cut off from Divine favor and fellowship. In other words, human nature is not an imperfect form of spirit nature but a totally separate and distinct nature.

The Logos, the Only Begotten of the Father, "was made flesh" (John i, 14). He was not a spirit being incarcerated in a body of flesh and wearing it as a garment, or living in it as a house. He became like others of the race, except that "He was holy, harmless, separate from sinners," while all others are sinners, imperfect. Like other men, the man Jesus was not a dual being—a spirit being living in a human frame. He was merely human.

But the Redeemer became a dual being when He received the begetting of the Holy Spirit at the time of His baptism. Thenceforth, for three and a half years, until His crucifixion, He was dual. The flesh was the same; but the spirit-begetting received from the Father constituted Him a new Ego, a new person. He not only thereafter had new hopes, based upon Divine promises, but He had a new mind or new will specially illuminated, quickened, enlightened by the Holy Spirit. From the time of His baptism His flesh (all that belonged to His human nature) was given up to die in the carrying out of the Heavenly Father's purposes. Thenceforth this Spirit-begotten One waited merely for the accomplishment of His sacrifice according to the Father's will, and for a new body, a glorious spirit body, in the resurrection—His completing or perfecting as a New Creature.

Hence, during the period of our Lord's ministry, for three and a half years, He was a dual personage. So far as form and organism were concerned He was a man, but so far as mind and purpose and interests were concerned He was changed—a New Creature, a spirit being; earthly things had passed away. The New Creature followed the instructions of the Divine Word and providences to the extent of mortifying the flesh—surrendering it fully for the accomplishment in it of the Divine will. "The cup which My Father hath poured for Me shall I not drink it?"

The great Teacher Himself gives us the picture of a human birth as illustrating the experiences through which He passed and the similar experiences through which all of His faithful followers must pass in order to reach the plane of heavenly glory. This picture contains three distinctive views—(1) begetting—(2) quickening—(3) birth. These three steps were illustrated by our Lord's own experiences. He was begotten of the Holy Spirit at the time of His consecration at baptism. He was quickened or energised by that Holy Spirit after His forty days' experience in the wilderness when He began His active service as "the Messenger of the Covenant," selecting His Bride, the Church.

When He finished His sacrifice at Calvary the man Jesus was dead, and the New Creature Jesus, spirit-begotten and quickened and developed, was three and a half years old. According to the Divine Program He slept in hades, the tomb, and on the third day was born from the dead, raised up by Divine power as a New Creature, being given a spirit body of divine nature—glory, honor, immortality; "Him hath God highly exalted (Philippians ii, 9). He did not lose His personality, His identity, and could therefore properly say, "I am He that liveth and was dead" (Rev. i, 18).

Thus was our Lord "put to death in flesh and quickened in spirit"—made alive in spirit, a Spirit Being. True, He was also quickened by the Spirit. It was the Father's Spirit or Power which raised Him from the grave of one born before the time. In other words, St. Paul saw the Lord as He is and not as He was. He saw the Lord of glory, and not the man Jesus. The appearance was glorious indeed. In various parts of the Bible angels in their normal condition are pictured as bright-shining ones. Thus one of the Prophets fell as dead before an angel of the Lord, whose face shone as the sun. Thus John the Revelator, granted a glimpse of the glorified Christ, fell as dead before Him. The effect of this great light above the brightness of the sun upon the eyes of Saul of Tarsus was destructive and a miracle was necessary for their repairment.

Thus the Lord identified Himself in glory with His former self, the man Jesus. These lessons of the Lord should not have gone unheeded. We should not have thought of the glorified Messiah as a man. The effect of the wrong thought has not only beclouded our appreciation of the Saviour in glory, but has also confused many respecting His Second Advent. It is safe to say that even yet the majority of those who are expecting the Second Coming of the Son of God and His establishment of His Messianic Throne are looking for Him as a glorified man, forgetting that He sacrificed Himself as a man, and that He took not back that sacrifice, but received exaltation to the more excellent glory than that which He had left to become our Redeemer.

These wrong expectations respecting Messiah's Kingdom have turned the hearts of many in a contrary direction. They have reasoned correctly—that the establishment of an earthly Kingdom, with Christ the King in the flesh and His saints joint-heirs with Him in His Throne, also in the flesh, and with an earthly court—would be a condition of things inferior to the present one and apparently very inadequate for the accomplishment of the great things which the Bible promises Messiah's Kingdom will secure.

The proper thought respecting the resurrection of our Lord and His present glory shows us clearly that His Kingdom, when it shall be established, will, indeed, be a heavenly Kingdom, a spiritual one. From this standpoint only can we see the force of the Apostle's contrast, when he pictures to us how Satan, ambitious and scheming to be the Emperor of the world, took the path of disobedience. He indeed gained his desire and is the "Prince of this world"—over a sorry Empire, in which sin and death reign. On the other hand, the Apostle points us to the fact that our Redeemer, loyal to the Heavenly Father to the core, humbled Himself to take the human nature, to be crucified; and that therefore God has exalted Him and will give to Him the Kingdom now usurped by Satan, the Prince of this world.

Satan will be bound for the thousand years of Messiah's reign. The spiritual Prince of darkness will be deposed and the spiritual Prince of Light and Truth, as the Father's honored Agent, will be inaugurated as King of kings and Lord of lords. And "He must reign until He shall have put all enemies under His feet"—the last enemy being death, Adamic death, the death introduced through the deceptive lie of Satan, who was a murderer from the beginning and abode not in the Truth" (John viii, 44).

St. Paul, according to the Greek text, institutes a comparison between Satan's course and that of the Logos (Philippians ii, 6). He there implies that Satan was ambitious and sought to grasp Divine prerogatives; but that the Logos "did not meditate a usurpation to be equal with God," but, on the contrary, humbled Himself and made Himself of no reputation. Nevertheless, eventually, in the outworking of the Creator's great Program, the One who humbled Himself will be the Exalted One, and the one who exalted himself will be abased. The Apostle urges the Church to follow the example of Jesus — "Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that He may exalt you in due time" (I. Peter v, 6).

As the Only-Begotten of the Father was begotten of the Holy Spirit at the time of His consecration, as an embryo New Creature, and as He was born of the Spirit or quickened as a New Creature in His resurrection, so also the Scriptures indicate must be the course along which the Church is to follow Him. None can be born of the Spirit unless first he has been begotten of the Spirit and quickened of the Spirit. It is through this spirit-begetting, quickening and birth that the "elect of God," called during this Age to a change of nature, are made New Creatures—"members of the Anointed One," the Christ, the Messiah, the Mediator between God and the world, under-kings, under-priests, under-judges, in association with their Lord, the Chief-Priest and Bridegroom.

In the present life the new nature is merely begun, and, as the Apostle declares, we have it as a treasure in earthen vessels—in earthly bodies. He again declares that all the spirit-begotten ones are in a conflict in which it is required that they shall prove themselves "overcomers." Their special conflict is with their own flesh. The New Creature, the new will, must mortify the deeds of the flesh, the desires of the flesh. It must "fight a good fight" and demonstrate its loyalty to God and the principles of His righteousness. Otherwise it will not be accounted worthy or "meet for the inheritance of the saints in light"

The First Resurrection, or Chief Resurrection, is to be that of the Church. It must be completed before the world's resurrection can begin. And concerning this First Resurrection it is stipulated that none can have share in it except the blessed and the holy. And for these a reward is promised, that they shall be priests unto God and shall reign with Christ a thousand years—on the earth, over the earth, as earth's spiritual Empire and Ruling Government, to put down sin and to uplift righteousness.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promotes a perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.

Mrs. C. Meadows, Clarksburg, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with sick headache and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I only took three bottles of the medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that B.B.B. is the best medicine I have ever used."

Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Father Morriscy's Remedies

Now on Sale in Canada

When Father Morriscy, the famous priest-physician of Bathurst, N. B., died a year ago last spring, he left his prescriptions to the Sisters of the Hotel Dieu, at Chatham, to be used for the benefit of humanity and of the church.

Not being in position to make up and distribute the prescriptions themselves, the Sisters arranged with a number of gentlemen, who had been Father Morriscy's friends, to do it for them. These gentlemen working under the name of the "Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Limited," had by the first of the year placed the remedies in nearly every store in the Maritime Provinces.

So gladly were they received, and so satisfactory has been their record of cures, that the Sisters and the Company have decided to place them on sale throughout Canada.

Father Morriscy's "No. 7", for Rheumatism and the Kidneys—"No. 10", Cough Cure and Lung Tonic—"No. 11", Stomach Remedy—"No. 26", for Catarrh, and "Father Morriscy's Liniment"—can now be obtained from most dealers in this Province. If yours does not keep them write the Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Limited, Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid and Jury.

Making Giant Steamship Propellers.

The casting of large propellers for steamships is an interesting operation. The pits used for the purpose are 26 feet in diameter, and about 5 feet deep. At one of the largest plants in the country, where some of these propellers are made, the pit is in the form of a submerged steel tank built of rolled plate. The material used for the mould is ordinary loam, and is built up from the bottom of the pit. The loam includes gravel and sand of the grade adopted by most steel foundries. Compressed air furnishes the power with which the ramming is done.

There are four gates in the copes of the flask, and these copes are bolted down as soon as the mould has dried and the pattern has been withdrawn. The molten metal is poured quickly from a 30,000 pound ladle, into which the furnaces are tapped. The pouring is done rapidly for the purpose of eliminating from the metal the dross that would otherwise collect. Propeller metal pours similar to molten brass. Four days are usually required to properly "set" the casting, and then the mould is broken and the casting removed for finishing. Recently a wheel measuring 15 1-2 feet in diameter and weighing 16,000 pounds was cast in this manner.

See Bagdad From Afar.

Like most oriental cities, Bagdad looks her best from a distance. You miss the filthy, narrow streets where two horses can hardly walk abreast and behold a vision of luxuriant date groves, out of which rise little islands of green domes and graceful minarets. In the days of its splendor the East India company maintained in the city of the caliphs a resident, with a generous establishment. Nowadays we are content with the usual modest consular service.—Loudon Spectator.

He Understood the People.

One of Jay Gould's campaigns as a dealer in railways was with the Wabash system of railroads. He got control and after effecting a reorganization which increased the capital stock and also the bonded debt sold them out. It is related of him at this time that an associate said to him, "Mr Gould, don't you think you are boosting this much higher than the property will stand?" "That may be," answered he, "but the American people are mighty partial to bonds."

She Has Positive Proof.

The Cook—Sure, an' ye don't mane to tell me that ye think it's bad luck to break a mirror? The New Maid (earnestly)—I don't think; I know it. The Cook—Glory be! An' how do ye know it? The New Maid—Every time I break one I lose my job.—New York Journal.

The Proper Place.

"Don't you think we should make provision for our great singers?"

"Yes; we might send them to the lay nursery."—Chicago Evening Post.

He Would—In Kansas.

The plowman trudges through the mire
The skies are drab.
You'd think he would prefer to hire
A taxicab.

—Pittsburg Post.

Despair and Despondency

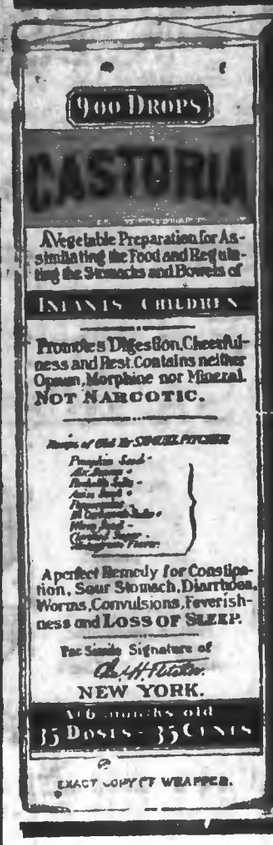
No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.



CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

O'Keefe's

Stout Is Extra Mild

Those who prefer English Porter to Ale, will find O'Keefe's Stout uncommonly delicious.

It has the rich flavor of the finest imported porter—but, being extra mild, will not make you bilious.

All bottles sealed with Crown stoppers to prevent cork and tinfoil getting in your glass. Sold everywhere.

"The Stout That is Always O.K."

THE O'KEEFE'S BREWERY CO. Limited, TORONTO.

230

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up, the nerves become strong as cables, the weak nervousness, dizziness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and mental systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars.

☞ NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Nightmares in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I remembered the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have met them many patients and continue to do so.

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

We treat and cure VARICOSE VEINS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD AND URINARY COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY AND BLADDER DISEASES and all Diseases peculiar to Men.

CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. If unable to call write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we do not treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.

Write for our private address.

WE MANUFACTURE

Plumbers' Supplies

Write for Prices

The CANADA METAL CO., Limited
31 William St. - - Toronto, Ont.

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

REAL ESTATE is the BASIS OF WEALTH

Savings Lead to Wealth!
Good Investments Bring Riches
Prosperity Fosters Contentment
BUY IN SASKATOON NOW

WHERE CAN YOU DO AS WELL?
ECHO ANSWERS—WHERE?
Resolve Yourself Into A Committee Of One And See Us Now.
Make Up Your Mind To Embrace This Opportunity

SASKATOON

THE SURPRISE CITY OF THE GOLDEN WEST

YOU CAN NOT ALL GO WEST TO WORK--BUT YOU CAN SEND YOUR MONEY TO WORK FOR YOU

SEE HERE---MR. MAN

THIS IS A REPORT FROM WAGHORN'S Monthly Guide—AND IS AUTHENTICATE. SASKATOON FLOURISHES AT THE TOP and is said to have had the swiftest growth in the annals of the Empire.

	1901	1903	1906	Dec. 1910	Percentage of Increase
SASKATOON	....	113	3,011	16,000	14,148
Calgary	4,091		11,976	46,000	1,024
Edmonton	2,626		11,167	27,000	928
Moose Jaw	1,558		6,249	16,000	927
Regina	2,249		6,169	18,500	723
Lethbridge	2,072		2,313	10,000	383
Prince Albert	1 785		3,005	8,000	348
Medicine Hat	1,570		3,020	6,000	284
Winnipeg	42,340		90,153	150,000	158
Brandon	5,620		10,408	13,000	131
Portage-la-Prarie	3,901		5,106	7,500	92
TOTAL	67,812		152,577	318,000

YOU WANT A SHARE IN THE FUTURE PROSPERITY OF SASKATOON

Lots in Saskatoon have doubled, tripled and quadrupled in value and will continue to increase.

MONEY FOR YOU INVESTIGATE!
READ ON!
This Reading is Not Fiction BUT FACTS!

Knowing readers fully appreciate these statements. YOU DON'T need a large amount to invest here. SASKATOON citizens are buying up Fairhaven lots now. Every day they are being taken up—they see the advantage—and are using their money to make money.

Every Dollar you invest in Fairhaven LOTS, Saskatoon, is a dollar made—Two if you wait, Three if you do not want almost immediate returns.

FAIRHAVEN LOTS

WHERE ARE THESE FAIRHAVEN LOTS?

FAIRHAVEN IS A SUB-DIVISION ON THE WEST SIDE OF THE CITY

where all the manufacturing industries and wholesalers are located. In 1910 there were over 100 wholesalers distributing from Saskatoon, over 60 concerns having built in the city.

In 1911 Saskatoon expects, and no doubt will, greatly exceed her magnificent record of 1910. Our building permits last year exceeded $3,000,000.

ALL CITIES GROW WEST. YOU SIMPLY CAN'T LOSE

"FAIRHAVEN" is ideally located for a residential district. It is within half a mile of the city limits, and but a short distance from the wholesale and commercial centre of the city.

"FAIRHAVEN" has a beautiful location, is high and dry, providing perfect drainage and healthful surroundings.

"FAIRHAVEN" is only a stone's throw from the St. Paul's Hospital, maintained by the Grey Nuns, which is one of the finest hospitals in the West.

"FAIRHAVEN" abuts on the Canadian Pacific Railway and plans are being prepared for the erection of a suburban station on the property.

20th street, the King street of Saskatoon, runs clean through FAIRHAVEN" and if you will glance at the map you will notice that some of the principal streets of the city pass through this property.

A few hundred dollars judiciously invested in "FAIRHAVEN" NOW will put you on "Easy Street." Do not procrastinate. Act TO-DAY.

Act Now. Here are the Prices. Note the Easy Terms and No Interest or Taxes Until 1912

25 FOOT LOTS SELECTED FROM OUR MAP

$100, $115 $125

$20 DOWN AND $10 A MONTH

Come in to-morrow and see the Owners of the above Described Choice Residential Property

If you can't arrange to come in and see us, send in this coupon and we will mail you information, but it will pay you to see us. Do it now.

Please let me have descriptive information of Fairhaven Lots, Saskatoon.

Name .....

Address .....

Universal Land Security Co., Limited

HEAD OFFICE SASKATOON, SASK.

Branch Offices—Wilkie, Sask.; Winnipeg Man.; Toronto, Ont.

Eastern Ontario Office, Room 18, Bank of Commerce Building, Peterborough.

L. A. Russell. Mgr. T. B. McGrath, Sales Agent.

The name this label is on the bottom of the bed you buy

YOU may like this square-post style best of all the 117 different designs of "IDEAL" Metal Beds.

Particularly if it is to go in a bedroom with any of the modern styles of furniture. Its beauty lies in its simplicity. Trim and neat, of artistically-balanced proportions, and beautifully finished in every detail. Ask your dealer to show it to you.

Or ask us to send you booklet showing the newest "IDEAL" designs. It will help you make the best choice when you buy a bed.

Write Office nearest you for Free Book No. 126

THE IDEAL BEDDING CO. LIMITED

MONTREAL — TORONTO — WINNIPEG 26

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910	$3,375,534.40
Total Liabilities to the Public	$1,506,126.6
Surplus	$1,789 4 7.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL
Limited

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a ne by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies, Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario.

PIERCING THE ALPS

A New Tunnel 9½ Miles Long Has Been Completed

The colossal task of piercing the Bernese Alps between the Kander Valley on the north and the Rhone Valley on the south has been completed. The new tunnel, known as the Kotschberk tunnel, is about nine and a half miles long, entering the mountains at Kanderstek and emerging at Goppenstein, near Gampel, on the Rhone. The completion of the tunnel will greatly shorten the journey between Berne (and thus Basle, Paris and Calais), and Brigue and the Simplon tunnel, leading to Italy. The present railway between Berne and Brigue is forced by the towering Bernese Alps to make a long detour by the Rhone Valley and Montreux. The tunnel has been under construction for five years, and has cost $10,000,000. When the last dividing wall between the two borings, which was about three feet thick, was pierced, the hole was not detected until the wreckage had been removed. It was first seen by a miner from the south side, who sent a drill through the hole, and then realized the fact and stopped the boring. There was then repeated and prolonged cheering through the entire tunnel. Flowers were put through the hole for the engineer, Herr Rotpletz, to whose great energy was due the fact that the tunnel was pierced in so short a period.

REVISED TEA KETTLE

One of the novelties described in the Popular Mechanics Magazine is a tea-kettle with its lid located at the side of the top instead of the centre; thus eliminating danger of scalding the hands.

SIR CHARLES HARDINGE

Viceroy of India, who is giving much attention to the visit of the King and Queen to India in December next.

ACQUIRED THE OPERA

Berlin, at last, is guaranteed the acquaintance of Dr. Strauss' "Rosen cavalier." After many weeks of hesitation and parleying, the Kaiser's Royal Opera has acquired the rights and the piece is to be presented as the opening novelty of the forthcoming autumn season.

SPINSTERS PROTEST

The spinsters of Germany have issued a strong protest against the use of the word "fraulein" as applied to unmarried women. They say it is a ridiculous anachronism, dating from the silliest Rococo age. All women who have reached their majority are entitled to call themselves "frau."

RECEIVE $25,000 YEARLY FOREVER

Descendants of the Farmer Who Hid Charles II. in the Oak Tree Still Receive $6 a Week

The fact that Mr. Gerald Balfour resigned his pension of $6,000 a year, granted for his services as President of the Local Government Board, recalls many interesting things about pensions in particular and general.

Mr. Bradlaugh successfully waged war against the granting of perpetual pensions. Now there remain only three. The heirs of the Duke of Schomberg, $2,000; of Lord Rodney, $10,000, and of Lord Nelson, $25,000. In 1837 no fewer than 230 perpetual pensions were commuted for a little over $2,500,000.

In 1891 the Duke of St. Albans commuted his pension, a sinecure assigned to his ancestors by James II. as Master of the Hawks, for close on $100,000.

The Earl of Rodney's pension was granted by George III., and has already cost the nation well over $250,000.

The Power of Kings

Until quite lately, $10,000 a year was paid to the descendants of Signor Henry de Nassau d'Auverquerque. The Bank of England acquired it recently. It was granted in 1694 by William III., and so little is known about it that Sir R. H. Welby, Secretary of the treasury in 1887, when questioned, could only reply that the Signor was an adherent of William III., and the king had the power to grant such pensions.

But older still is the pension that was granted by Charles II. to a farmer named Richard Penderel. He was the identical farmer who hid the King from the pursuing soldiers in an oak tree. The pension filtered down through one source and another, generation after generation, and in 1906 applications to the courts resulted in holding a little girl as the legal successor of Penderel, and the granting to her of nearly $5 a week.

Ex-Ministers are rewarded with pensions according to their salary and number of years of service. The best pension that is to be obtained by an M.P., though is the one granted when the Speaker retires.

While he is in office he gets $25,000 a year, and on his retirement he is paid $20,000 a year for life, with a seat in the House of Lords.

Viscount Cross, ex-Home Secretary, has made a good thing out of his services. He was Home Secretary for about seven years, and received in all $175,000 in salary. When he retired from office he was granted an allowance of $10,000 a year, and up to date has drawn another $175,000 from that source.

Lord George Hamilton is another who gets $10,000 a year, and many others are paid various smaller amounts.

$150,000 a Year for Judges

A grateful country, however, rewards its servants far more handsomely than is generally believed. It costs the Government, for example, about $150,000 a year to pension off its judges alone. Last year the annual pension bill for judicial services had risen to $215,000.

Mr. Gerald Balfour is not the only one who has given up his pension. Almost exactly two years ago Sir John Gorst, a member of the famous Fourth Party, gave up $6,000 a year.

Admiral Sir Nathaniel Bowden-Smith, who retired from the Navy a few years ago, absolutely refused to accept one of the vacant pensions of some $1,500 a year. He stated that there were others who needed it more than he did, and hoped that the Admiralty would see fit to let some famous sailor come into his own at an earlier period than would otherwise have been the case.

The home of the pension hunter, though, is undoubtedly the United States. The story of the American Army pensions reads like a romance.

There is, to start with, a Pensions Bureau, with a staff of 2,000. It deals with some quarter of a million claims for army pensions every year.

It is well over forty years ago since the Civil War ended, yet every year an average of 14,000 claims come in to the Bureau.

Pension Sharks in U.S.A.

The war with Spain is now twelve years old. Yet to-day the number of those drawing pensions is equal to the number who actually took part in the fighting.

People are actually receiving pensions for the war with Mexico that happened sixty-four years ago. There is a class of people in the United States, known as "pension sharks," and, owing to their activity the number of pensioners has risen from 85,936 in 1865 to 946,194 in 1909. A large number of these pensioners never served in the field, and many have no need whatever for a pension. Last year the annual grant for this gigantic fraud amounted to $200,000,000.

Of curious pensions that have been granted a page might easily be filled. The French taxpayers, for example, are still paying out for a shooting accident which happened over 150 years ago. In 1755, the Dauphin, while out partridge shooting, accidentally shot one of his suite. He was so seriously injured that the king granted a pension of $1,200 a year to him and his descendants for ever.

Judge, Sportsman, Naturalist.

It is not six months ago since Mr. Justice Grantham, whose remarks from the Bench have caused so much criticism, travelled many thousands of miles by land and water on a moose-shooting expedition, although he is seventy-five years of age. A great lover of all kinds of outdoor recreations and sport, Sir William likes nothing better than deer-stalking or cricket, and as a student of nature has few equals. One of his favorite pastimes is to take a number of local children over his country estate at Lewes, and explain to them the various trees, flowers, and birds.

There Is Only One
"Bromo Quinine"
That Is Laxative Bromo Quinine

USED THE WORLD OVER TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY.

Always remember the full name. Look for this signature on every box. 25c. E. W. Grove

ROYAL
Absolutely Pure
BAKING POWDER

Makes Home Baking Easy

Royal Baking Powder helps the housewife to produce at home, quickly and economically, fine and tasty cake, hot biscuit, puddings, the frosted layer cake, crisp cookies, crullers, crusts and muffins, fresh, clean, tasty and wholesome, with which the ready-made food found at the shop or grocery does not compare. Royal is the greatest of bake-day helps.

ROYAL COOK BOOK—400 RECEIPTS—FREE
Send Name and Address.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

STREET TELEPHONES

A New System is to be Tried in Rochester, N. Y.

A new system of street telephones is to be tried in Rochester, N.Y., and it ought to be somewhat of a convenience.

Standards will be erected at various points and equipped with telephones which are cut into the general wires. But these telephones are unique in that they have no receiver or transmitter; these are to be snuppliod by the user. The person desiring to use these telephones comes along and takes out of his pocket a compact transmitter and receiver and attaches them to the telephone, thus making a complete instrument. Then he can use it as he would any other telephone. Thus is created a new system devised to meet special wants.

The idea is that street telephones are often a necessity to a large number of persons engaged in street traffic of one sort or another, such as taxicab drivers, teamsters, and so on, who may want to communicate with headquarters in cases of accidents or other emergencies. This system provides the way.

RAILWAY EXTENSION

Contract Let for 100 Miles by the Alberta Central

The contract for 100 miles of railway grading and ballasting on the Alberta Central railway, 64 miles west of Red Deer and 36 miles east, has been awarded to Janse, Mc Donald & Co., by President John T. Moore and Chief Engineer J. Grant McGregor. The price is $25,000 a mile, a total of $2,500,000. The work was first specified to be completed by the end of August, but an extension of fifteen days is in the contract. At first the company had decided to build only 84 miles of this dump, but the hundred will be finished this season ready for steel.

The papers were signed at Winnipeg. This line is reaching out toward the Brazeau coal fields and is generally considered as a subsidiary line to the C.P.R. system.

PLEASED THE KAISER

According to the Kaiser, Germany has found in Herr Karl Schonherr a dramatist of priceless worth. After seeing Schonherr's "Faith and Fatherlandn" just before he went abroad, the Kaiser sent for the author and complimented him in his customary extravagant fashion. The play, he said, had moved him in a way that hardly any other tragedy had done, while as for the Kaiserin it had affected her to tears.

RACE FOR THE SOUTH POLE

In spite of the news which was received from the Antarctic regions some three weeks ago, that a regular race for the South Pole between Captain Scott and Mr. Ronald Amundsen will take place in a few months. Lieutenant Filschner, of the Bavarian army, leader of the German Antarctic expedition, still thinks he has a good chance of winning. He says there is room and glory enough for several expeditions in the frozen South.

BOGUS BANK BILLS

Counterfeit bills of the Bank of Montreal of the denomination of five dollars are somewhere in circulation to the amount of about $5,000. Notice to this effect was sent out by the bank to the principal commercial establishments. It would appear from the warning that the counterfeits are of the series number 229,707.

M. Seguin, of Marvajols, France, has been awarded $10 damages against the railway company because a train by which he intended to travel started out of the station two minutes too early.

BIG CONE COLLAPSES

The Vesuvius Volcano Has an Uglier Appearance Than Ever

The collapse of the big cone on the main crater of Vesuvius gives the volcano an uglier appearance than ever. Over 1,000 feet of its former majestic summit was blown off by the terrific Easter eruption in 1906, and now another 200 feet has been shorn off its height on the Naples side, and the mass which has tumbled into the crater has left a huge rent 350 yards long and close upon 100 yards wide, leaving the upper station of the funicular railway recently opened by Messrs. Cook, standing on the very verge of the abyss. Any fresh landslide must inevitably engulf the station. It will be realised, therefore, how narrow was the escape of the thirty tourists who were about to ascend to the crater when the collapse occurred. The adjacent towns of Resina and Portici have been smothered with dense smoke and showers of ashes.

THE QUEEN'S JEWELS

She Prizes Most the Brooch King George Gave Her

A diamond brooch, which was King George's first present to her after they became engaged, is the jewel the Queen probably prizes most, at any rate she wears it and the diamond necklace presented to her by Queen Victoria more often than any other of her jewels. The necklace has a special place in her affections because Queen Victoria gave it to her on the occasion of her engagement to King George.

The chain of pearls presented to her Majesty, on her marriage, by the women of twenty-three English counties, is another highly valued piece of jewellery in the Queen's collection. Thirty thousand dollars was subscribed for the purchase of this beautiful gift, but its actual cost was twenty-five thousand dollars, and the balance of the money was, at the Queen's request, presented to certain charities. These pearls are often worn by Queen Mary in the evening.

FOOLED THE YOUNG DOCTOR

How His Advertisement for a Wife Was Treated

The adventure of a young doctor of law, who was anxious to get married, has been the means of causing much laughter in Paris. Through the medium of the Press, the would-be husband set about to find a mate, receiving a number of replies to advertisements inserted in several provincial papers. One of the letters was signed by Mlle. Neclaire, the proprietress in her own right of a chateau near Maurlac, in the Cantal district. The lady declared her readiness to marry, and enclosed the photograph of a very charming girl. Happy at the prospect of meeting his affinity, the young lawyer packed his bag and went to Maurlac. There he learned that the chateau had been in ruins for a century and a half, and that its owner was Mlle. Nectaire, who died rather more than two centuries ago. The photograph which had been sent to him was that of a provincial actress.

ELISA WAS A ROBBER

A sensational trial has just been closed at Geneva with the sentencing of Elisa Baumgartner, of Berne, to 18 months' imprisonment for robbing visitors in hotels. She was a member of an international gang of hotel thieves. It was stated at the trial that the gang committed between 80 and 100 robberies in the leading hotels of Switzerland, Austria, and on the Riviera, to the value of at least $600,000 before being arrested.

KILLED A POLICEMAN

The Paris "Apaches" have killed another policeman—killed him in cold blood and in a street where crowds were passing. The murderers have escaped for the present. For some weeks the police have been looking for a deserter named Durond, who is not only a deserter, but a man of notorious life and an "Apache," who is wanted for a dozen crimes.

STATE OF PANIC AMONG THE BIRDS

Hundreds of Dead Starlings Picked up in a South of Ireland Town

A mysterious panic, born of some unknown catastrophe of the skies, has caused extraordinary phenomena among the bird life of the South of Ireland. In Carlow starlings and curlews have been seen in great flocks and have made the night sleepless for the inhabitants of the district with their discordant cries. Judging by their wild erratic flight, the birds appear to be in a state of panic from some unknown cause. The starlings showed an even stronger disquietude, the flapping of wings becoming irregular and suspended for unusually long intervals. All power of self control seemed to have been lost, the birds dashing themselves to death against church spires, house fronts, and telegraph poles and wires. In Carlow town on two consecutive mornings hundreds of dead starlings were picked up in the streets. In the neighborhood of Bagenalstown recently a vast multitude of starlings gyrated and dived through the air in the most frantic manner. A Wexford church sexton has captured a strange bird whose species has not been determined. For weeks past it has frequented the church tower, preying on rooks, pigeons and sparrows. Its capture was effected with a rat-trap, the teeth of which were covered with rubber. The bird is somewhat after the shape of the eagle, but lacks its peculiar head. It is nearly a foot high, and from tip to tip its wings measure two feet. It is grey-breasted, with the back of the wings and tail of brown, and is armed with strong talons. The head is flat on top and the beak curved, somewhat resembling the owl's.

TOOK THE RINGS

A Well-Dressed Thief Who Stole $4,000 Worth

The police are searching for a thief who stole $4,000 worth of diamond rings in an audacious manner. He was a well-dressed young man, and called at the shop of M. Louchet, a jeweller on the Boulevard St. Germain. He introduced himself as an attache at the Ministry of Finance, said his chief wanted to choose a diamond ring, and asked the jeweller to allow him to select four or five rings, and an employe to accompany him with them to the offices of the Minister. The jeweller readily acquiesced. The young man selected five rings worth about $4,000, and a shop employe accompanied him to the offices in the Due de Rivoli. There the "attache" conducted the jeweller's employe into the ante-room, at the end of the long corridor, where several people were waiting. Asking the employe to take a seat, the "attache" disappeared for a few minutes, and on returning, he took the jeweller apart and said, "My chief is very busy. He has several people with him and cannot see you. Just give me the rings and I will take them in to him so that he can select one at once." The jeweller obeyed without hesitation, and the "attache" retired. After fifteen minutes had elapsed, and there was no further sign of him, the jeweller became uneasy and made inquiries. He quickly found out that the man who had been with him was no attache at all and was not known in the place. He probably knew it well enough, however, and made his escape, it is presumed, at another door of the corridor.

TRAGEDY AT NAPLES

The Chief Participants Were Two Young Lovers

Naples has just been the scene of a little tragedy, the chief participants being two young lovers, and the motive one of revenge. A youth of nineteen, named Lomonico, son of an advocate, was madly in love with the fourteen-year-old daughter of one of the leading families in Naples. The parents of the girl, Gianettasio by name, objected to the young Lotharlo's advances, and seized with a frenzied desire for revenge, the youth rushed at the girl in the street, slashing her face with an open razor, after the manner of the Camorra. Lomonico then fled, but was soon overtaken and arrested.

"I have until now lived for the girl," he exclaimed passionately, "but now I would die for her." He also explained that it was the girl's beauty that had led him on and that he had spoilt it for her, as he was determined it should never belong to another.

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates that are Different

THERE is no such thing as stale Neilson's Chocolates.

They can't get stale, for Neilson's Chocolates—are prepared by a special process which makes this impossible.

They are made right, of the right materials, genuine fruit flavors, pure sugar, rich cream, and the finest chocolate in the world.

Send 80c. for pound box of Neilson's assorted chocolates—if your dealer does not carry them. 33 different packages.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED, TORONTO. 16

Sold in Peterboro by Warne Bros Co., W. Mantill

HER HANDS WERE RAW

HAD TO WEAR RUBBER GLOVES

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured The Eczema

GRAMBY LODGE, QUE., Jan. 2nd, 1910

"My wife was troubled for three years with Eczema on the hands which made her hands almost useless. The doctor gave her several ointments to use, some of which had any effect. He also advised her to wear rubber gloves (she wore out three pairs).

I persuaded her, as a last resort, to try "Fruit-a-tives". The effect was marvellous. Her hands are now cured.

We both attribute our present health to "Fruit-a-tives."

N. JOUBERT.

Eczema, Rash, Pimples, Itching and Burning Skin are always caused by impure blood—due to chronic constipation, indigestion or some weakness with the kidneys.

"Fruit-a-tives" is a positive cure for all Skin Troubles. It is the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world—and is the only remedy made of fruit juices.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka, Georgian Bay	1.00 a.m.	2.35 a.m.
North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	1.00 p.m.	1.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	1.35 p.m.	1.45 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	6.57 a.m.	12.40 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	6.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Omemee, Orillia & Muskoka	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
Toronto, Uxbridge & Markham.	6.05 p.m.	4.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	10.15 p.m.	4.35 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	9.15 a.m.	9.20 a.m.
	6.35 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
Lakefield.	10.05 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
	6.35 p.m.	12.00 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m.
	1.55 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.50 a.m.
	8.01 a.m.
Markstown, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC
LOW ROUND TRIP RATES
TO
WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG	and return	"	"	$30.00
BRANDON	"	"	"	34.00
MOOSE JAW	"	"	"	37.00
EDMONTON	"	"	"	41.00

Also to 80 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

THROUGH SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM
The Popular TOURIST ROUTE
TO
MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE City Agent

COAL ! COAL !

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

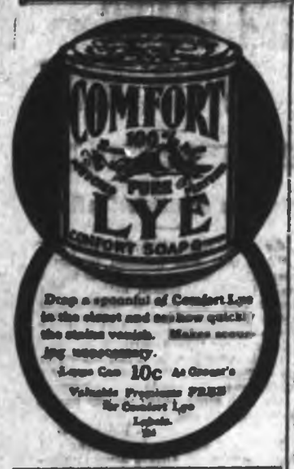
$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First-class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside T. H. track. Phone 68



Drop a spoonful of Comfort Lye in the closet and see how quickly the stains vanish. Makes accurate whitewash.

Large Can 10c At Grocer's

Valuable Premiums FREE for Comfort Lye Labels.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar; positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph, Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars.

MISS A. GRABUATE
Box 360, Bowmanville, Ont.

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladie's of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG

Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Special Assortment of Baking

for this Week End at

COLEMAN BROS.

426 George St.

FANCIES:

Log Cakes Fancy Cakes
Wine Cakes Swiss Rolls
Madeira Cakes
Cream Puffs

FRUIT CAKES:

Gems Pound
Seed Raisin, etc.

Importers of Fry's Chocolate
Special Nut Milk, 40c lb.

ICE CREAM SODAS AND SUNDAES

Prompt Attention

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

ASQUITH MERCILESS.

He Gives Short Shrift to Unionist Amendments.

London, April 26.—Monday's session of the House of Commons was again continued into the small hours of the morning. It was noticeable by reason of the Prime Minister invoking the so-called "Kangaroo" closure, whereby whole pages of amendments to the Parliament bill for the curtailment of the powers of the House of Lords were skipped at the chairman's discretion.

An important amendment proposing a joint session of the two Houses in cases of disagreement was opposed by Mr. Asquith, on the ground that such a plan would always give the House of Lords the last word in legislation, and in his opinion it would be impossible to devise a scheme which would not place the representative body at the mercy of the second chamber.

This amendment and another proposing instead of a joint session, a conference of ten members from each House, were both rejected by large majorities.

After this, a number of amendments, selected by the chairman for the most part, proposing various modifications on the delaying powers of the House of Lords, were all rejected, after the application of closure.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Henry Etherage of Toronto ended his life yesterday by jumping into the bay.

For the fiscal year ending with March 331,084 immigrants arrived in Canada.

The Railway Board has decided that the Toronto viaduct must be completed by August, 1913.

The seventeenth Canadian National Horse Show was opened at the Toronto armories last night by Lieutenant-Governor Gibson.

His Excellency Earl Grey yesterday acceded to the request of the petitioners for the commutation of the death sentence passed upon Nicholas Bilowus.

Berlin was visited yesterday by a serious fire. Several oil cars on the Pere Marquette Railway became ignited from a hot box and a spark from an engine.

As a result of a disastrous fire which visited Parry Sound about 5 p.m., the mills and equipment of the Parry Sound Box Factory, owned by Col. J. B. Miller, is now a mass of ruins.

The new Ontario Government House will be built in North Rosedale. The property is a portion of Chorley Park, belonging to the estate of the late John Hallam, and contains 12 acres. The price paid was about $125,000.

Letters from King George and President Taft were read at Carnegie Hall, New York, last night, at a notable gathering in celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the publication of the King James' version of the English Bible.

Grace Cameron Released.

Kingston, April 26—Grace Cameron, the young woman who conducted a flim-flam campaign in Toronto several years ago, and raked in a good deal of money by presenting forged checks, was released from the penitentiary, having served a sentence of three years.

Dirigible Boats Express Train.

Dusseldorf, Germany, April 26.—The dirigible balloon Deutschland II., with passengers, made a flight yesterday from Aix La Chapelle to this place in 58 minutes. The fastest express train covers the distance in 80 minutes.

Labor Legislation.

Melbourne, Australia, April 26—New labor legislation is to be brought forward by the Commonwealth Government.

Wage's boards will be created together with a court, and industrial arbitration established to settle appeals, strikes will be prohibited, and strikers who refuse to recognize the courts provided for the settlement of disputes will be heavily fined.

Tragedy at Glace Bay.

Halifax, April 26.—A shocking tragedy occurred at Glace Bay late on Monday night near the close of a labor meeting, which resulted in the shooting of William Bryant, a miner, and Michael Murphy, by a man named Beal. Bryant was instantly killed and Murphy died in the hospital.

Committed Suicide In Cell.

Windsor, April 26.—Marcinus Ribble, a laborer, aged 45 years, committed suicide by hanging with a sheet in Sandwich jail Monday night. Ribble was arrested last Friday on a charge of indecently assaulting his seventeen-year-old daughter.

Had Severe Pains In His Back.

Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont. writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor.

"This was nearly four years ago and I still remain cured."

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wheeler's Sores

When the excess of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wheeler, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicines for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Fine rains falling in the dry sections of Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota carried down wheat prices to-day. There was a weak close, with last figures ⅛c to 1c to 1¼c under the level of twenty-four hours before. At the final gong cash varied from the same as the previous night to ⅛c up; oats were ⅛c to ¼c down, and provisions were 5c to 32c advanced.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅝d to ¾d lower than yesterday on wheat, and ⅜d to ½d lower on corn. Paris and Antwerp closed unchanged for wheat. Budapest 1¼c higher, and Paris unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	94¼	93⅝	95⅝	92	93⅝
July	85¼	85¼	85¼	84⅝	84⅝
Oats—
May	36⅞	33⅝	34⅛	33⅝	33⅞
July	35¼	34⅜	35⅛	34⅞	35⅛

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	$0 93	to $0 93
Wheat, goose, bushel	0 93	....
Rye, bushel	0 70	....
Barley, bushel	0 70	....
Oats, bushel	0 40	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 48	0 49
Peas, bushel	0 72	0 73

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 17	0 19
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 23	0 24
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 26	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 24	0 25
Eggs, new-laid	0 17	0 18
Cheese, lb.	0 13½	0 14
Honeycombs, dozen	2 50	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, April 25.—Closing—Wheat—Spot dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock. Futures weak; May 6s 9¾d, July 6s 9 d, Oct. 6s 5⅛d.

Flour—Winter patents dull, 27s.

Hops—In London (Pacific Coast), firm, £4 15s to £5 10s.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, April 25.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat were weaker; bids 1¼d per quarter lower than yesterday, and demand very limited. The foreign demand for oats continues good, and, as bids were in line with exporters' views, sales of 150,000 to 200,000 bushels were made. The local market was easier in sympathy with a further decline in the Winnipeg May option, but prices here show no actual change as yet. The export trade in flour was quiet again, but the demand from local and country buyers is fair, and now that navigation is practically opened for the season, a steady increase in the movement is anticipated.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 40¼c to 40⅝c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 39¾c to 40c; No. 3 C.W., 39½c to 39⅝c; No. 2 local white, 38¾c to 39⅛c; No. 3 local white, 37½c to 38c; No. 4 local white, 36¾c to 37¼c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.60; strong bakers', $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.25, in bags, $1.75 to $1.85.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, 69c to 69½c.

Millfeed—Bran, Ontario, $23 to $24; Manitoba, $22 to $23; middlings, Ontario, $25; shorts, Manitoba, $24 to $25; moullie, $25 to $30.

Dressed hogs—Abattoir, $8.75 to $9.50 per 100 lbs.

Beef—Plate, half-barrels, 200 lbs., $3.75; barrels, 400 lbs., $17; tierces, 800 lbs., $35.

Lard—Compound tierces, 375 lbs., 9½c; boxes, 50 lbs. net (parchment lined), 9¾c; tubs, 50 lbs. net, grained, two handles, 10c; pails, wood, 20 lbs. net, 10½c; tin pails, 20 lbs. gross, 9¾c.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess, barrels, 35 to 45 pieces, $24.50; half-barrels, $11.50; Canada short cut and back pork, 45 to 55 pieces, barrels, $23; Canada clear pork, barrels, 30 to 35 pieces, $20; bean pork, small pieces, but fat, barrels, $18.50.

Eggs—Fresh, 17c to 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 11½c to 11¾c.

Butter—Choicest, 23c; seconds, 22c to 22c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, April 25.—The railways reported 101 carloads of live stock, consisting of 1615 cattle, 1235 hogs, 595 sheep and lambs, 446 calves and one horse.

Butchers.

Choice butcher cattle sold at $5.75 to $6.10; good, $5.50 to $5.70; medium, $5.15 to $5.35; common, $4.85 to $5.15; cows, $3 to $5.25; bulls, $4.50 to $5.25.

Stockers and Feeders.

There was a good demand for stockers and feeders. Feeders, 900 to 1050 lbs. each, sold from $5.40 to $5.60; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., at $5 to $5.25; stockers, 600 to 750 lbs., sold at $4.50 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

There were a few good cows on the market, probably 15 to 20, but the rest were common, medium and late springers. Prices ranged from $40 to $70, but very few at the latter price.

Veal Calves.

Receipts large, trade slow, and prices easy at $3 to $8.50 per cwt., the average price being about $5 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The bulk of the offerings in the sheep barns was of American origin, that had paid $1 per cent. duty, and them were able to compete at a profit against our Canadian lambs.

Wesley Dunn sold 250 Chicago yearling lambs that cost $6.75 at Chicago, freight 1½c and duty $1 per cwt., and Mr. Dunn got $8.65 per cwt. off cars for them.

Canadian lambs sold at $8 to $8.50 with a few at $8.75.

Sheep, ewes, $5 to $5.25; rams, $4 to $4.50; spring lambs, $8 to $9.

Hogs.

Selects fed and watered at the market, $8.50, and $8.20 f.o.b. cars at country points. Heavy hogs over 240 lbs., 50c per cwt. less than above prices.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, April 25.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; market fairly active and steady; prime steers, $6.30 to $6.40; butcher grades, $3 to $6.25.

Calves—Receipts, 400 head; market slow and steady; cull to choice, $3.50 to $8.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 2200 head; [illegible]; lambs, $5.25 to $8.25; cull to fair, $5.25 to $7.75; yearlings, $5.50 to $6.50; sheep, $5 to $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 1700 head; yorkers and pigs, $8.60; mixed, $8.60; heavy, $8.50 to $8.60; roughs, $7.50 to $7.75; stags, $5.50 to $6.50; dairies, $8.60 to $8.65.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Beeves—Receipts, 2500; no trade.

Calves—Receipts, 200; market slow and weak; veals, $4.50 to $11; culls, $4.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 6000; market steady; wethers, $6.50 to $7.25; lambs, $8.50 to $9.75; yearlings, $8 to $8.50; culls and common, $5 to $7.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 4200; market steady at $8.60.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 500; market slow and steady. Beeves, $5 to $8.60; Texas steers, $4.60 to $5.50; western steers, $5.50 to $8.30; stockers and feeders, $4 to $7.50; cows and heifers, $2.60 to $8.40; calves, $8.50 to $9.75.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at 12,000; market steady to a shade higher. Mixed, $8.60 to $8.75; mixed, $8.65 to $8.75; heavy, $8.60 to $8.75; rough, $8.60 to $8.75; pigs, $8 to $8.60; bulk of sales, $8.65 to $8.75.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts estimated at 18,000; market weak; sheep, $5 to $6.60; yearlings, $6.25 to $7.50; lambs, $7.50 to $9.50.

An Ominous Motto.

Among the presents lately showered upon a dusky bride in a rural section of Virginia was one that was the gift of an old woman with whom both bride and groom were favorites.

Some time ago, it appears, the old woman accumulated a supply of cardboard mottoes, which she worked and had framed as occasion arose.

So it happened that in a neat combination of blues and reds, suspended by a cord of orange, there hung over the table whereon the other presents were displayed for the delectation of the wedding guests this motto: "Fight on, Fight Ever."—Lippincott's.

The Shamateur.

If you've a certain smattering of knowledge rather scattering,
A sort of mental spattering of which you are not sure;
If you can skim psychology and rub against biology
And prattle o'er skyology, you are a shamateur.

Just cultivate your vanity and startle poor humanity
And settle Hamlet's sanity with proofs you can't secure.
So in art and oratory, music, acting, sport and story,
If you clinch a bogus glory, you are a shamateur.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Forced Upon Them.

"It is reported that whiskers are coming back into style."

"That is probably due to the arrival of the trousers skirt."

"What has the trousers skirt to do with whiskers?"

"The men must have some way of keeping themselves from looking like women."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Business Proposition.

I asked her if she'd be my bride
And make me glad I walk the earth.
I thought I'd drop when she replied:
"Talk business now. What are you worth?"

"My love undying is," I said;
"With all my wealth I'd thee endow."
The maiden merely turned her head
And muttered, "What's your income now?"

"I came to talk of love," said I,
Astounded at her strange transition.
"But nowadays," she made reply,
"Love is a business proposition."

—Detroit Free Press.

Useless Talk.

"How's business?" said the man in the barber's chair.

"Oh, I've plenty of it, but a lot of it is unsatisfactory."

"What do you mean by unsatisfactory?"

"Why, you know, I shave the men up in the deaf and dumb asylum!"—Yonkers Statesman.

To Spring.

Come, gentle spring, you flighty thing,
Why do you hesitate?
We wait for you with fingers blue
And wrath ejaculate.

We do not care for meadows fair
Or lambkins on the green;
The bosky dells and wild flower smells
Can go to put, I ween.

But this is why for you we cry
With loud and pleading sob:
"How can baseball be played at all Unless you're on the job?"

—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Misguided Energy.

"I am bound to make a noise in the world," said the determined youth.

"But be careful how you go about it," replied Mr. Osage Spouter. "An amateur with a bass drum can spoil the finest symphony ever written."—Washington Star.

The Soul Serene.

Thankful for weather
The bureaus are givin';
Mighty good world,
After all, for to live in.

Lightnin' a-leapin'
Or blizzards a-bummin',
We march to the band
An' hooray for the drummin'!

—Atlanta Constitution.

"O Lyric Love!"

First Cat—How sweetly you sing! I never heard anything so entrancing! What was that last song?

Second Cat (sentimentally)—"If I had nine thousand lives to live I'd live them all for you."—Woman's Home Companion.

Another Puffed Proverb.

The realm where Pluto and his minions hold
Their court and kingdom allegorical
Is surfaced in extenso, we are told,
With righteous projects metaphorical.

—Chicago Tribune.

Looks Better.

"I understand you've traded your automobile for a motorboat?"

"Yes. It looks better to be towed home by a rowboat than dragged home by a farm horse."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The Contrary Sex.

If you have loved a maid and she
Has given you the mitt
Just love another girl and she
Will want to have you back.

—Judge.

MOODY'S KLENZINE in the Kitchen

"What's the cause of all this brightness, this morning, Mabel? Everything so spic and span and your work done so early."

KLENZINE MAID:—"Klenzine is the cause of it. Postie told me how it would cut my work in half, so yesterday I ordered a 10c. package. Why! it simply cleans like magic. Just look at those pans—they shine like mirrors, and it is the same with everything else. Besides, it keeps my hands so nice and soft. I wouldn't be without it even if I had to pay for it myself."

KLENZINE makes all housework easy. For washing dishes, cleaning woodwork, windows, silverware and tinware, bathroom, pipes, etc., it is far superior to soap. A valuable disinfectant—keeps the sink clean and sweet.

Insist on MOODY'S KLENZINE at your grocers. Large size package 10c.

THE ALPHA CHEMICAL CO., LIMITED
BERLIN - - CANADA

For sale by all Wholesale Dealers

Hoops For Children.

The opinion is expressed by men who have made a study of exercises for health that it is a pity the skipping rope and hoop have gone out of fashion for children.

It is suggested they are more excellent mediums for the physical development than bicycles and roller skates. The fact that small children are allowed to have bicycles and consequently make no use of nature's means of progression is offered as an objection to them.

The skipping rope and hoop require them to run and walk. Young children should be encouraged to do this as much as possible, and always with a springy step. They need to use their feet and legs, and exercise that brings these into play is beneficial.

In the Nursery.

Babies about a year old take a great delight in throwing their toys on the ground, often for the pleasure of seeing the mother pick them up again or to hear the noise made in falling. Tie the toys with soft strings to the child's chair and they will be easily replaced without any effort on the mother's or nurse's part.

Seeing and Feeling.

Bill—Which do you think the most reliable sense, seeing or feeling?

Jill—Why, feeling, of course.

"Why so?"

"Well, when you look at a girl's foot you think it is dainty; when she steps on your toe you change your opinion."—Yonkers Statesman.

They Eat Them.

"So you are raising chickens?" said the city friend.

"Yes," answered Mr. Crosslots.

"What do you find the greatest men ace to the welfare of poultry?"

"Sunday company."—Suburban Life.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c. is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Baseboard and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.

Corner George, King and Water Streets

Both Phones Peterborough

This is the time to look over your spring ward robe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 669
304 Charlotte Street, Bell 873 Mach. 367

Very Latest In Vogue

Just returned from the City, with the most up-to-date New York Novelties in

Stylish Hats and Trimmings

representing the very latest creations in Fashionable Millinery.

A Visit of Inspection is Cordially Invited

Miss E. M. Allan

372 George Street Phone 35

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies

MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F. J. R. MacPherson Co.

Limited

341 George St. Both Phones 386

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selections

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Bar. Brock & Aylmer Phone 121

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

352 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio

Ground Floor, 170 Charlotte St.

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY APRIL 26 1911

A VAGRANT GETS SIX MONTHS IN THE CENTRAL

BARNS TO BE SEARCHED

Chief Thompson Believes Vags Sleeping and Smoking in Barns Have Been Responsible for Fires and He Has Given Orders Which He Expects Will Mitigate the Evil --An Old Offender in Police Court To-day.

"Six months in the Central prison, Toronto," said His Worship, Magistrate Dumble, to Benjamin Hobson in the police court this morning. Hobson was arrested last night on a charge of vagrancy, being found lying in the Peterborough Cereal Co's barn. Hobson has been hanging around the city for some two weeks, drunk nearly all the time, and has been sleeping wherever he could get into a barn or any place. Last night he was discovered sleeping in the Cereal Co's barn and the police were notified and he was promptly arrested. He could not give a satisfactory account of his actions. He stated in court this morning that he came from Madoc where he had a home and that he had made a fool of himself here and pleaded for a chance, but he was finally sent to a place where he will have all the chances to reform that are going.

The Chief stated that during his time as chief of police in this city, there have been a great number of barn fires, which could not be accounted for and he felt quite sure that it was such men as this, smoking, that caused them. In future the Chief intends to have the barns around the city, where men are likely to sleep, searched at night and it will not be well for the man who is found in sweet repose there. The Chief intimated that he was determined to stamp out this thing of vagrants staying around the city, and this is the first step to attain that end.

A familiar face appeared in court this morning, with the same look of regret upon it. It was 'Jim' Wilson, of course. Jim was arrested yesterday on a charge of using profane language on the street. He had been drunk for the last week or so, and the debauch was just passing off, and Jim was in bad humour. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5.00 to be paid in 10 days in default of which he will spend 30 days on the hill. Jim departed apparently very thankful that he did not get a life sentence.

Offic al Announcement Of The Brockville Trip Regiment's Good Turnout

The 57th Regiment had their regular weekly drill last evening, and made a splendid showing, many of the officers commanding the companies openly expressing their appreciation of the smart bearing of the men The regiment marched out with both bands in attendance, along Murray to George, up George to McDonnell, aiding McDonnell to Water, down Water to King and up George street to the Central Park, where the companies were drilled for the rest of the evening. There was a good turn out, and both officers and men showed great enthusiasm in the drill. Some of the officers gave the recruits special praise for the splendid manner in which th eyare progressing.

As an introduction to the regular weekly orders, the very pleasing announcement was made that the Regiment will go to Brockville on the 30th of June, remaining Saturday and Sunday, returning on Monday morning early.

The weekly orders were then read as follows:

Headquarters,
Peterborough, April 25.

Orders by the Officer Commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers

No. 1—Extract and District Order No. 3 of April 23rd, 1910-11.

The examination of the garrison signallers class will be held on Thursday, April 27th next at 7.45 o'clock sharp in the armouries. All wishing to take this extra drill, govern themselves accordingly.

No. 2—Detail of duty for week ending May 2. Capt. of week, Capt. McLean; next for duty, Capt. Watt. Subalt. for the week, Lieut. Carruthers; next, Lieut. Comstock.

No. 3—The following are struck off the strength of the regiment: B. Co. Ptes. Halick and Pargette.

No. 4—The gallery range is now open every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 8 o'clock until further notice. Each man is expected to put in six practices only and 7 shots at each of the two ranges will be allowed to count for efficiency pay.

No. 5—Conditions similar to those governing the qualification for efficiency pay in 1910 and the keeping of the score cards are in force for 1911. Staff Sergeant Matchett is re-appointed official score keeper.

No. 6—It will be the duty of orderly officers to act as range officers during the tour.

No. 7—Officers commanding corps will have their thin company store books properly balanced and all issues, etc., accounted for, and the books placed in the respective armouries for inspection next Tuesday night.

No. 8—Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Maj. Mills, Capt. Walker and Capt. McPherson.

No. 9—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotion and appointments.

A. Co.—To be sergeant provisional, Capt. J. Coppeck, vice-sergt., C. T. Lewis, left limits.

C. Co.—To be capt. provisional, Pte Hudson.

D. Co.—To be corp. provisional, Ptes. Targett and G. Moore.

MRS. HEBERT APPLIES TO SUPREME COURT

Special to The Examiner.

MONTREAL, APRIL 26.—Mrs. Hebert, whose marriage was annulled by Archbishop Bruchesi and afterwards by Judge Laurendeau because she was a Protestant married by a Protestant clergyman to a Catholic has come into the limelight and has announced in legal proceedings that she was not a consenting party to the annulment, but was coerced into keeping quiet by threats that if she didn't her child would be taken from her. She has now shown fight, and this morning on her behalf proceedings were taken to reopen the case and bring the much talked of canonical law to issue in the courts. She is applying to Superior court and it is understood the case will be carried on her behalf to the Privy council if necessary. It will be heard here in six days.

Where Tickets Can Be Secured For Membership In Horticultural Society

For the convenience of the citizens of Peterborough who desire to become members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, arrangements have been made whereby membership tickets may be secured at any of the following places:

The Examiner Office, Review Office, Times Office, Office of The Canadian Horticulturist, Simcoe street, E. F. Mason & Co., 429 George street, E. F. Mason & Co., cor. Antrim and George streets, F. R. Clark & Son, jewellers, 439 George street, Wesley Bros. Dyers and Cleaners, 440 1-2 George street, Jordan Bros., Florists, 428 George street, W. J. Kent, Druggist, 402 George street, E. L. Payne Druggist, 362 George street, Roland Denne, Flour and Feed Store, 281 George street; Porter S. White, Grocer, 336 George street, Geo. A. Gillespie Dairy Supply Store, 140 Simcoe street, J. E. Lillico, Grocer, cor Charlotte and Park street, Jackson Park Grocery, cor. Park and McDonnel streets, J. T. Braund, cor. Smith and George streets, W. C. Meade, West End Greenhouses, 547 Park street, T. B. Manners, Grocer, 253 Mark street, and Frank Wise, 21 Crescent street.

The membership fee of $1.00 entitles members to all the privileges of the Horticultural Society and also their choice of twelve bedding plants, twelve window box plants or one large Boston fern, in addition to a fall distribution of bulbs and a subscription to The Canadian Horticulturist. From present indications a membership of 500 seems assured. With such a membership great good can be accomplished towards beautifying our city. We would urge citizens of Peterborough to join the Horticultural Society and participate in the benefits to be derived as well as help along the movement to make Peterborough the most beautiful city in Ontario. Frank Wise, Secretary.

THE TIRE COMPANY BY-LAW FAILED TO CARRY

Although the Majority Was Overwhelmingly in Favour of the Measure, the Vote was 422 Short of the Required Three Fifths.

EVERY DIVISION SHORT

Although the popular majority yesterday was overwhelmingly in its favour the by-law to assist the Independent Tire Company failed to get the three-fifths of the total vote on the list and was therefore lost by 422 votes.

1640 votes were required to carry the by-law and the total polled in its favour fell considerably short of the amount, once more illustrating the practical impossibility of carrying such a measure. There was practically no opposition to the by-law, as is evidenced by the fact that out of 1328 votes polled, only 97 were opposed to the measure, giving the by-law a majority of 2,134. In not one polling sub-division was the required three-fifths polled, although Polling Divisions 6, 7, 8 and 9 at the Council Chamber came very close.

The organization might not have been complete as possible, a number of voters were not called for, and there was a lack of vehicles and workers in some divisions, but it is doubtful if the by-law could have been carried if these defects had been remedied. There are so many people out of the city who have votes here, and so many others that are prevented from voting from one cause or another that it seems impossible to get the required amount, even when the sentiment is as strongly in favour of the measure as was the case yesterday. The Bonner-Worth by-law met with a similar fate, but was afterwards ratified by the Legislature. In this case, however, there will be so much delay that Peterborough stands little chance of getting this promising industry. The returns came in very quickly after the polls were closed at 7 o'clock. Mr. John Sawers, the returning officer at J. J. Cocks', was the first to report results ot the City Clerk, 'phoning in the vote at his poll at 7.06, and the others followed rapidly, the whole returns being in at 7.35. The vote was as follows:

	For Agst.	By-law	Needed
No. 1 and 3	109	3	160 1-5
No. 2 and 5	79	6	114 3-5
No. 4	79	2	86 1-5
No. 6, 7, 8 and 9	143	14	154 4-5
No. 10 and 11	146	7	172 1-5
No. 12	113	8	124 1-5
No. 13 and 14	103	16	151 4-5
No. 15 and 18	106	8	158 2-5
No. 16 and 17	86	7	163 1-5
No. 19	76	6	108 3-5
No. 20 and 21	122	16	154 4-5
No. 22	69	4	91 1-5
	1231	97

INCREASE IN SALARY OF THE M. H. O.

Dr. McPherson Will Receive $800 Instead of $600 and Has Additional Duties Added to List in His Charge

MUST TEST MILK

The committee of the whole council last night decided to give Dr. A. W. McPherson, the city Medical Health Officer, an increase of salary amounting to $200, making his annual stipend $800 instead of $600. At the same time the council added to the duties of the Health Officer the testing of milk and water. Ald. Duncan introduced the matter, pointing out that last year's council had promised Dr. McPherson an increase and it was on this understanding that he accepted the position at $600 for the year just past.

Mayor Morrow endorsed the statement that it had been understood that Dr. McPherson was to have an increase this year.

The list of duties which Dr. McPherson has to attend to was read and it was decided to include among them the testing of milk and water.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral, that the Medical Health Officer's salary be increased to $800.

Ald. Edgar moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Graham, that no action be taken.

The amendment was lost and the original motion carried.

Aching Muscles and After Effects of Grippe

Zam-Buk Gives Ease

As soon as you feel any deep-seated pain in the joints, back, wrists, or elsewhere, place a liberal supply of Zam-Buk on the fingers or on the palm of the hand, and rub it well in. The penetrating power of this "embrocation-balm" is exceedingly great, and, once having reached the seat of the pain, it removes it speedily. It also ends the stiffness, which is so unpleasant.

Mrs. Frances Wyatt, of 25 Guy Avenue, Montreal, says: "I have found Zam-Buk most soothing and valuable in a very bad case of rheumatism, and also for stiffness of joints and muscles. I suffered long and acutely with rheumatism, and tried one liniment after another in vain. I also took medicines internally, but it remained for Zam-Buk to effect a cure. I began applying this balm whenever I felt the aches and pains of rheumatism coming on, or felt the stiffness. The result was truly wonderful. Zam-Buk seemed to penetrate to the very seat of the pains, driving them out completely, and I am now quite cured."

This case and scores of similar cases reported to us, is proof that Zam-Buk's penetrating and healing power is very great. In addition to its use as an embrocation, it is a sure cure for skin diseases, such as eczema, ringworm, ulcers, blood-poisoning, scalp sores, etc., and is the finest known "first aid." For piles it is a specific. Gives certain ease. All druggists and stores, at 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Mothers should also try Zam-Buk Soap for baby's bath and for the rashes, eruptions, pimples, etc., so common amongst children at this season. Shampooing with Zam-Buk Soap beautifies and strengthens the hair.

The "Kissing Girl" played at the Princess in Toronto 2 weeks ago. See it to-morrow night. It is worth while. 1d

A Tax For The Defence Of McNamara

Special to the Examiner.

KANSAS CITY, APRIL 26.—International President Franklin of the Boilermakers, announced to-day that an assessment from 3 to 6 cents would be levied on all members of the organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labour in the United States and Canada, to defray the expenses of the defence of McNamara and his colleagues charged with wholesale explosions.

REGISTER ON DR. CARMICHAEL

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, APRIL 26.—In a strong article the Catholic Register out to-day returns again to the Ruthernian controversy and says that Rev. Dr Carmichael, the head of Presbyterian missions in Manitoba and Saskatchewan is supported by a company of the most thoroughly despicable and incongruous rascals in the shameful drama he is performing in Western Canada.

Burns Is Held For Trial

Special to The Examiner:

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., APRIL 26.—Detective Burns appeared before a magistrate this morning and was held in place of Lawyer Badorf of New York, to appear before a Grand Jury, charged with kidnapping Secretary MacNamara of the Structural Iron Workers. Some of Burns' assistants will also be arrested.

KEEP THE EVENING OF MAY 5th FREE

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of Charlotte street church will hold an indoor garden party in the lecture room of the church on Friday evening, May 5th, when many unique features are being prepared for the programme, decorations and refreshments. 1d-97

CHURCH NOTICES

KNOX CHURCH.

Those who sold tickets for the Dr Cleaver lecture will please make their return at once.

The usual mid-week service will be held to-night at 8 p.m.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet to-morrow at 3.30 o'clock.

BOARD OF QUEEN MARY HOSPITAL

Isolation Building Will be Managed by the Mayor, Chairman of Property Committee and Physician Appointed by the Doctors

POWERS OF BOARD

The new Isolation Hospital will be known as the Queen Mary Hospital and it will be managed under the direction of a board composed of the Mayor, the chairman of the Property committee and a physician selected by the physicians of the city.

These are the principal features of a by-law aproved of by the members of the city council at a meeting of the committee of the whole last night, and the measure will be passed at the next regular meeting of the council.

In addition the by-law provides that the pyhsician apointed shall hold office for one year and shall be eligible to re-appointment. The Board is given full control of the management of the hospital, the appointing of officers and assistants, the purchase of supplies and all business in connection with the institution. Before Feb. 8th of each year the Board will be required to furnish the council with an estimate of the receipts and expenditures for the ensuing year and shall not contract for more expenditure than their appropriation.

The physicians of the city have appointed Dr. R. P. Boucher as their representative so that the inaugural board of the Queen Mary Hospital will consist of His Worship Mayor Morrow, Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Property committee and Dr. Boucher.

IF PARENTS HAVING BOYS OF 15

To 20 only realized that it is an actual fact that we could place in splendid positions from 10 to 20 every week they would no doubt have the boys take up stenography. We know of no more certain road to success than a position at the elbow of the successful business man. 25 to 35 days' study qualifies and we, at this season, positively guarantee good positions. Moon College, 282-286 Yonge St., Toronto. Catalogue on request.

MEXICO PROTESTS

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, APRIL 26.—The Mexican government has made a formal and indignant protest to the British foreign office against the action of Capt. Vivien, of the British sloop Shearwater in landing marines at San Quintin. Action has been deferred till the arrival of Viviens' report.

CORONATION CONTINGENT

Orders Are Issued in Regard to Pay and Training

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, APRIL 26. — Orders are out to-day that the members of the Coronation contingent will be paid according to the rank which they hold in the contingent. Every man must train at the nearest permanent corps depot for seven days previous to joining and for three days prior to embarkation at Quebec. The Ontario infantry will train at Toronto and London, the cavalry at Toronto and the artillery at Kingston, commencing on May twenty-second.

BRADFORD WON FROM NEWCASTLE

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, APRIL 26. — Bradford city defeated Newcastle United to-day before 70,000 people in the play off for the Association championship at Manchester to-day.

Hear the "Kissing Girl" to-morrow night; catchy music and good comedy; Grand Opera House. 1d

"THE COUNCIL HAS BEEN IGNORED, SHORT CIRCUITED" ALD. DUNCAN'S COMPLAINT

Aldermen Discuss Power Report From Engineer Sothman of the Hydro Electric Commission Which Was Read and Published Before Being Presented to the Council --Matter Came Up at Last Night's Meeting of Committee of the Whole.

The report of Engineer Sothman of the Hydro-Electric Commission in connection with Peterborough's power possibilities which was presented by Hon. Adam Beck at a meeting of citizens two weeks ago to-night was read and discussed by the council at a meeting of the committee of the whole last night. Incidentally there was some inquiry on the part of some members of the council, notably Ald Duncan, as to why the council after requesting the report, had been apparently ignored.

When the matter was introduced Mayor Morrow read the correspondence that had taken place between Hon. Adam Beck and himself in regard to the matter. The letters were as follows:

Jan. 28th. 1911.

Hon. Adam Beck, Chairman Hydro-Electric Commission, Toronto, Ont.—

Dear Sir,—The City of Peterborough is desirous of obtaining power and there are several powers in this vicinity that might be suitable. Among them are dams Nos. 3, 4 and 5 on the Peterborough and Lakefield section of the Trent Canal, the dam at Hastings and the dam at Lakefield. Would you be good enough to have an investigation made of these dams under the direction of your Commission for the purpose of ascertaining for us which one or more of these dams it would be best for the city to acquire or to secure the power from?

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) W. G. MORROW.
Mayor.

Feb. 4th, 1911.

Hon. Adam Beck, Chairman Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Toronto, Ont.—

Dear Sir,—I have received your favour of 3rd. 2nd and thank you for the information that you will instruct the Commission's Engineers to obtain information in connection with the supply of power for this city. In your letter you mention Dams 3, 4 and 5 on the Peterborough-Lakefield section of the Trent Canal, but we also mentioned the dams at Lakefield and Hastings and hope your instructions will cover these dams, as we would particularly like to have them included.

Yours truly,
(Sgd.) W. G. MORROW.
Mayor.

His Worship explained that he had taken up the matter with Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. for West Peterborough and had expected that the report would have been presented by Mr. Beck to the council. During his absence from the city, however, Hon. Mr. Beck had visited Peterborough, and the report had been given at a meeting of citizens.

"The council has been short-circuited in the matter," remarked Ald. Duncan. "These people holding secret meetings are not men enough to come into the council and take the brunt of things. The council has been ignored entirely. I for one am not going to stand it. This man, whoever it is, that has done this, had no right to do so."

Ald. Morgan said that the council should hear from the Industrial Commissioner in the matter. If he had prepared the report he had done well, the speaker thought. "I don't object to what these people have done. The councils in the past let all the propositions get away from them and it is up to the outside people to do something if we cannot do it. And we have not done it in the past."

"This report was sent at the request of the council, nothing more or less," remarked Mayor Morrow.

"It is evident that we are getting it second-handed" commented Ald. Kerneghan.

"If we can't run the town we had better let these people," came from Ald. Duncan.

"The public had this report before we got it," pointed out Ald. Kerneghan.

"Who authorized the publication of the report" Ald Duncan wanted to know.

"The reporters were at the meeting" explained Ald. Brown.

"There wasn't one of us asked to the meeting." Ald. Duncan remarked.

Ald. Brown said that the councils in the past had been lax in their dealings with power questions and it was possible that the present council was being thought of in the same position. He therefore felt that the Citizens' committee was perhaps justified in acting as they had done, although it was hardly fair to the council.

Ald. Metheral thought the incident was due to the fact that the Industrial Commissioner was working under the Board of Trade and was perhaps not aware of the fact that the council had asked for the report in question.

The report was read and after a short discussion was received and referred to the committee of the whole council.

FOURTEEN IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE HERE THIS MORNING

Mr. George Howson, Emigration Agent, stated to the Examiner to-day that there were fourteen more emigrants, two of whom were women, came to the city last night, and this morning. Some of them came on the Lake Manitoba, and some on the Victorian, all landing together at St. John's last Monday. Eight of them went to farmers in Smith, two to Otonabee, and four to Fraserville. Mr. Howson stated that they were a magnificent class of people, and that he expected about forty more on the Royal George on Saturday. He also stated that all of these had been placed before their arrivel, and that he had applications for over 100 more now.

MR. STRATTON'S TEAM TOOK FIRST PRIZE

TORONTO, APRIL 26—With greater splendour, more entries and a larger prize list than ever before, the seventeenth annual Canadian National Horse Show was formally opened at the Armouries last night by Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario The attendance at the opening was large, over two thousand being present. The elite of Toronto society was there, and the bank of seats at the south side of the building was a mass of brilliant colour with the dresses of the ladies. There were horsemen from all parts of the country.

The Judging.

The competitions which were judged last night included jumping (open to all), harness horses, saddle horses, amateur pairs, novice horses, four-in-hands, thoroughbred hunters, and jumping by the soldiers. In addition to there being more entries than in previous shows, the class of horses shown in many of the events was probably superior to any that have been in recent years. Fifty entries in the open-to-all jumping contest shows that interest in horsemanship is by no means on the wane.

In this class Hon. Clifford Sifton's Wasp carried off the blue rosette, indicating the first prize, and Joseph Gilgour, with Jap, was second.

The Prize-winners.

Four slashing pairs were shown in the amateur class, first honours in which Mr. Robert W. Davies drove M.r J. R. Stratton's "My Pride" and "Premier" into first place. Second went to the Enniselare Farms' Lord Mynck and Lady Brantwood, driven by Mr. H. C. Cox. Sir Henry Pellatt's Casa Loma Squire and Casa Loma Matchless, driven by Mr. Reg. Pellatt, were third, and Mr. H. A. Taylor's pair, Conquest and Conqueror, driven by Mr. Gordon Myles, were placed next.

Are Now In Los Angeles

McNamara Brothers Will Be Guarded by Special Deputies

Special to The Examiner.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., APRIL 26.—John J. McNamara, his brother John and Artie McNamigal, the alleged dynamiters of Los Angles Times office, all heavily manacled and guarded by night police officers crossed the state border of California to-day. From now on they are under the sole jurisdiction of California and United States court. Specially strong cells have been prepared. Pending their trial they will be guarded by special deputy sheriffs. There was no demonstration when they arrived in the city.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is exquisitely popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful park grounds, five grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its home is far reaching, and many comfortable with pleasure their leisure spent within its hospitable walls.

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plans, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $2.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited. Office, 416 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. M. GLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1911

THE TIRE BY-LAW VOTE.

The voting on the Tire by-law yesterda had about the result anticipated fro mthe merit of the proposal. The by-law was actually adopted by a majority of thirteen to one — 1231 for and 27 against. And yet with this overwhelming indication of popular approval the by-law is dead unless it receives, like the Bonner-Worth by-law, legislative sanction. The requirements of the law as it stands in regard to the proportion necessary to carry such a by-law are absolutely prohibitory, as much as if it were made illegal to submit a by-law of the kind in question. To require three-fifths of the electors on the roll as eligible to vote, is simply absurd. There are about 1800 names on the voters list entitled to vote as free-holders or long-lease tenants. The law demands that 1650 of these should have voted for the by-law, a practical impossibility when one comes to reckon with the number of names on the list that represents people that cannot vote—on account of absence from the city, illness or death. In one polling subdivision there were fifteen names that counted in defeating the by-law, that belonged to dead men. Absentees and dead men, and men who did not vote, actually neutralized the vote of living men and defeated the by-law. The dead and indifferent practically killed—made of more effect—the votes of living men who actually voted. If the law required a certain ratio of majority, as in local option contests, it would be more logical. Those who voted would determine the matter, as against the matter being decided by ratepayers who don't vote or can't vote.

DANGER OF OVER-DOING.

The Chronicle (financial) has the following warning, in regard to the modern-day multiplication of mergers or combinations of capital, in industrial interests:

> It is to be hoped that this business of merging industrial concerns will not be carried too far. The Chronicle has already pointed out the objections to a policy of over-indulgence in this kind of financing. One thing we did not mention is the effect which the merers have in increasing the agitation for tariff changes. During the recent discussion of tariff matters a great deal was said about the various mergers and the monopolies that had been created in several lines of industry. It is the Chronicle's opinion that every new industrial merger brought to pass in Canada in which a monopoly or nearly a monopoly is effected, serves to weaken the system of tariff protection. And it is well that those who take an active part in bringing these consolidations to pass should understand that in doing so they are weakening the foundations of the tariff wall—which perhaps enables them, or at any rate, helps them, to earn good profits.

The tendency of the age is to combination and organization, which practically amounts to centralization, an element of danger for popular rights. A contemporary points out that a little more than a generation ago any young man who decided to adopt some mechanical or commercial pursuit could reasonably entertain the hope of some day being the head of the business; conducting it himself. In almost all the villages of the country were to be found little waggon-making establishments, small shoe shops, tailor shops, etc. To-day the difference is decidedly marked. Instead of a multitude of minor industries, we have gigantic combinations embracing practically the whole Dominion, which control the matter of output, the employment of labour, and practically the fixing of wages. While it is to be admitted that legitimate combinations of capital and industrial operation permit of lessened operating expenses, to which a lessened cost of production, with a lessened cost to the consumer would be a natural sequel, but unfortunately is not—while these combinations may be theoratically justified, they have two or three evil results. One is the disappearance of individuality—the wane of the characteristic most fundamental in the best manhood and citizenship. Instead of this, each worker, under the combination condition, becomes a mere cog in a wheel, with little hope of ever being an individual employer and head of a business. It also comes to pass that these combinations may become a dominating influence in politics, and a, by no means, beneficent, factor in the promotion of the public weal, and in the matter of public rights. The Chronicle rightly says that every industrial merger that borders on a monopoly "serves to weake nthe protective system"; and those who stand by this have their warning. When any system is used to procure or produce infringment of popular rights it is in danger. There is a point beyond which the public endurance of a burden will not be taxed. Industrial interests were warned by Mr. Fielding, that too bitter opposition to reciprocity, designed to be, and believed to be, in the interest of the farming calling, and the community generally, would provoke hostility to, and a demand for, the lessening of the special privilege the industrial classes enjoy. So with the mergers. If they are not moderate in the use of the advantages combination brings they will produce such reaction as has come in the United States in respect of the combines and trusts. There privilege and monopoly are strongly entrenched; but in the end popular rights will triumph, especially if the sufferers from deprivation of their rights are goaded to desperation.

SO MUCH THE BETTER FOR US.

Senator Nelson, former governor of Minnesota, says:

> "Minneapolis has, in recent years under our protective system, been one of the great barley markets and malting centres of the country, and, in consequence, our farmers have profitably raised large quantities of barley.
>
> "This reciprocity scheme will utterly destroy such market, and much of the malting business. The province of Ontario will supply the barley for the brewers and maltsters east of the Mississippi River and our barley market will simply be a feed barley market."

This may be true; if it is it shows that in this respect, as in many others, the reciprocity agreement is providing a better market and enlarged advantages for the Canadian farmers.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The violence and vulgarity of the language and manners of six or seven members of the Ottawa Opposition are, says the London Advertiser, a reproach to the House of Commons. They might take pattern of their leader in this respect, but apparently they are too congenitally coarse-fibred to acquire any touch of the quality that makes a gentleman.

THE LABOUR ARRESTS.

(London Advertiser)

The secretary of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers of America, John J. McNamara, has been arrested on a charge of instigating a series of dynamite outrages which have been attended with great loss of life and property. Bound and menacled, he is being hurried to Los Aengeles, with an alleged accomplice, to face an indictment for the wrecking of the building of the Los Angeles Times, in which 21 men perished.

McNamara is either the victim of a hideous conspiracy, or he is a foul traitor to the cause of organized labour. Readers of the industrial history of England know what a setback was given the trades union movment, then struggling against cruel disabilities, by the Sheffield outrages in the sixties—the work of a few individuals. British trades unionism has lived down the memory of these things, and to-day its officials sit in Parliament and the highest places in the land. The trades unions of America must in self-defence crush violence in their ranks if it is found to exist. If McNamara is guitly, he has done an atrocious injustice to his comrades who have trusted him, and made him a leader. If he is not guilty, some persons have abused the process of the law to bring discredit on trades unionism, and should be detected and punished to the limit. Naturally the labour organizations are prompted to defend a brother under fire. They owe it to the accused and themselves to see that there is a fair trial. The prisoners should be given the benefit of the doubt in the meantime. Mr. Gompers the president of the American Federation of Labour, says the incident is a well-staged plot. The president of the Bridge and Structural Ironworkers declares that the explosives were placed in the offices of the union by its enemies. It is hoped the trial will be thorough and searching, and that guilt or innocence will be made perfectly clear, so that responsibility may be fixed in either case.

THE ELEMENTS THAT ENTER INTO IMPERIAL CONSIDERATION

(London Advertiser)

Ambassador Bryce believes that the best cement of Empire is knowledge. This was the central thought of his address on Saturday. The duty and necessity are laid upon the people of each part of the Empire of cultivating an interest in the other parts. We, in Canada, are keenly attentive to the affairs of the mother country, an attitude which has been reciprocated in recent years, but we need ot know more about South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and India. The characteristics of the people of these countries, their national aims, social conditions and methods of Government, should be objects of our study. Here is a wide realm for imperial thinking." Mr. Bryce says the British Empire, which is like no other empire of the past, could not exist but for such modern ties as the telegraph and the steamship. These are agencies for the rapid dissemination of information and ideas. The circulation of knowledge is as necessary to the unity of the Empire as the circulation of blood to the human system.

Another cornerstone of Empire is local self-government. Even with the best intentions no government in the mother country could rule a distant dominion so satisfactorily as it could govern itself after it had reached a certain position in numbers and intelligence. Mr. Bryce says British statesmen learned this lesson through painful experience—the loss of the American colonies. He could have added with truth that the process of education was not completed by that catastrophe, and that Canadian patriots helped to put on the finishing touches. Here and there we still catch a faint echo of the old colonial theory. There are politicians in Great Britain who resent an assertion by Canada of her fiscal autonomy when it happens to cross their party interests. The other day a Canadian public man complained that the Dominion had arrogated the treaty-making power to a fuller degree than was consistent with the hegemony of Great Britain. But these are voices crying in the wilderness. The doctrine of local freedom has been accepted by all parties in all parts of the Empire, and no step will be retraced. Certainly Canada has had no grievance against a British Government for many years, nor is she likely to meet difficulties in that quarter in the future, whatever British politicians may say when not constrained by the responsibilities of office. Mr. Bryce belongs to a school of statesmanship which has stood for the widest diffusion of the principle of self-government. Its application to the Transvaal—the most modern instance—has been crowned with success, and it is hoped that the some happy results will flow from its extension to Ireland.

Mr. Bryce gave the monarchy its rightful place as an integrating force. An elective president in Great Britain, who would be merely the fleeting head of one of the political parties, here to-day and gone to-morrow, would not be accepted in other British nations as the pivot of the imperial system. The monarchy dissociated from party politics and standing above all parties, is the symbol of imperial unity in the eyes of the diverse races under the British flag, and inspires a common consciousness as nothing else could in the present organization of the empire. Royalty performs this service for Canada, and the other daughter nations without imposing on them the paraphernalia of a court and certain social conventions unsuitable to new countries, but which have their appropriate historical setting in the old land. As Mr. Bryce says, the crown belongs ot Canada as much as to Great Britain. At least, it works out this way in practice. The sovereign is governed by the advice of a committee of the Imperial Parliament—the cabinet—and the Imperial Parliament can, in theory, override the Canadian Parliament. Nominally, therefore, the sovereign might refuse, on the advice of a British ministry, to assent to legislation demanded by the people of Canada through their Parliament, but it is scarcely conceivable that such a situation can ever arise. Perhaps in the evolution of the Empire this theoretical subordination of Canada to the mother country will disappear, so that the letter of the constitution will conform to the practice. In that event, the crown would be the sole political tie between British self-governing unity, and the sovereign would stand in the same relation to the Parliaments of Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland, as he bears to the Parliament of Great Britain. There are sanguine imperialists who think the Empire will be organized eventually on a different basis—a federal plan.

Mr. Bryce, of course, was too discreet to touch on controversial aspects of this great question. He confined himself to a discussion of accepted principles, such as local autonomy and the compatibility of provincial and national patriotism with the larger patriotism which embraces the whole Empire. But these were not always commonplaces and if they are so to-day it is because of accumulated experience and the teachings of a long line of far-sighted imperial statesmen, among whom James Bryce is not the least.

THE SLANDERER ABROAD.

(The Globe)

Mr. George Taylor, M.P., seems to have become envious of the evil eminence of Mr. Haughton Lennox as a Parliamentary prevaricator. Mr. Lennox is the gentleman who told the astonished members of the Commons about the fabulous sums The Globe was getting from the Government, and who had not the common honesty to own up when it was proved that his statement was nine-tenths falsehood. Mr. Taylor on Friday last tried to outdo his colleague in the mud-throwing business—and succeeded. He was criticizing the public expenditures. Hansard indicates his methods:

> "Mr. Taylor—Then we come to the Commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway. These are pets of the Prime Minister. A year or two before he appointed the Chairman of that body I told him he was going to appoint his pet, Mr. Parent, and he can find that prophecy of mine in 'Hansard.'
>
> "Mr. Lennox—That is because he built the bridge.
>
> "Mr. Sproule—A strong evidence of his qualification.
>
> "Mr. Taylor (Leeds)—These gentlemen spent in travel $7,760.
>
> "Mr. Foster—Where did they go to?
>
> "Mr. Taylor (Leeds)—They had a private car; they furnished that car and this is how they did it. When they wanted to go out on one trip, for example, they sent to Mr. Lapointe for supplies costing $24.54, from another man they bought $10.33 worth, from the fruit man they bought some fruit, and then they sent to Bate & Company to get their liquor supplies.
>
> "Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Not Mr. Parent.
>
> "Mr. Taylor (Leeds)—The liquor was supplied to the Transcontinental Railway Commissioners and I challenge the Prime Minister ot bring down the accounts and if he does I will vouch for the fact that nine-tenths of the expense is for champagnes and liquors for that car and they bought it from Bate & Company.
>
> "Mr. Sproule—They are not much of a temperance crowd
>
> "Mr. Taylor (Leeds)—No, on one of these trips they got $132 worth of lush to supply the car."

That slander has gone all over Canada by this time. Immediate inquiry proves that liquor is not carried on the car of the Transcontinental Commissioners, and that not a dollar of the Bate or any other grocery account was for liquor. But the Commissioners have no redress. Mr. Taylor spoke as a member of Parliament, the only class of men in Canada free to slander anyone they please. The remarks made in the House are "privileged," and there are always people in public life mean enough to say within the precincts of Parliament what they dare not say outside.

Mr. Taylor is too good a fighter ot join that class. Sanctuary for slanderers should be reserved for the Lennox type. The member for Leeds will probably feel called upon to admit that on Friday he himself was "inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity."

Another example of the distinct dishonesty of the political, or, rather, partizan methods employed by the Conservative opposition in Parliament, is furnished by the Ottawa Free Press, under the heading "A Parliamentary Trick."

"Forty-five dollars for liquor cases."

The average voter reading such a sentence as the above in his newspaper or in a parliamentary report would naturally suppose that the $45 in question had been expended for cases in which to carry liquor.

That was the intention of Major Sharpe, of North Ontario, when he used the sentence in the Commons, and he would probably have got away with it, had not the Minister of Public Works proven, by the same record from which Major Sharpe was quoting, that the $45 was paid as law costs in prosecutions made by the Department of Justice in connection with the Prevention of Crimes on Public Works act under which a zone is set aside in the vicinity of the Transcontinental in which it is illegal to sell liquor, with the result that there are constant prosecutions of whiskey peddlers and shebeen keepers. That is legitimate legal expenditure, but the Conservative junior whip from Ontario will now probably go back to his county and assert that he revealed a conspiracy by which the Minister of Justice paid $45 for liquor cases for the use of his department.

That may be good politics, but it is not fair play.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

Upper Lakes Service, Owen Sound to Fort William and vice versa. Commencing to-day, April 24th, Upper Lakes steamers will leave Owen Sound for Sault Ste. Marie & Fort William, Athabasca, Monday; Keewatin, Tuesday; Alberta, Wednesday; Manitoba, Thursday; Assiniboia, Saturday; at 1.30 p.m. To connect from Peterboro leave at 5:26 a.m. For tickets, berths and all information, see W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent, 343 George St. 4d-95

A. T. COLE — COLE & SMITH — W. B. SMITH

MEMBERS DOMINION STOCK EXCHANGE

402 LUMSDEN BLDG., TORONTO

Stocks and Bonds bought and sold on all Leading Exchanges

Special attention given to Development at the New Gold Fields at Porcupine. Cobalt Stocks

IT IS EASY TO OWN A SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.

J. W. Stewart, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

WORK WANTED

WANTED—BY WOMAN, LIGHT HOUSE work as general servant. No washing. Apply Box 4949. 3d-96-4949

ENGLISH WOMAN—WANTS TWO OR Three Days' Washing or Cleaning. Apply 344 Smith Street. 3d-96-4937

YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN (ENGLISH)—Requires Work by the Day. Apply at this Office for Address. 3d-96-4924

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1720, Lockport N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1438, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 120

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 228 Albert St., Ottawa. d-6mos28-3694

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 492 Stewart St. 12d-89-4792

WANTED—BOARD AND ROOM WITH Private family. Apply Box 4945, 2d-96-4945

IF THE PARTIES WHO HAD ADVERTISEMENTS addressed to the following boxes will call they can obtain same. Box 4433, Box 4541, Box 4670, Box 4732, Box 4673, Box 4691.

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY EXaminer Office.

GOOD SMART YOUTH WANTED TO learn the Barbering. Apply at No. 154 Simcoe Street. 3d97-3979

WANTED—FIRST-CLASS PAINTERS AND paper hangers. Apply W. A. Kingdon, 762 Water Street. 3d-96-4959

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons. $25.00 weekly, job guaranteed. $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1760, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-21-4621

WANTED—Competent men for Electrical Testing Department, must understand testing and adjusting Integrating Watt Meters; position permanent. Apply P. O. Box No. 2518, Montreal, P.Q. 2d97-4977

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.

FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 291 George Street. 1md-86-4701

HELP WANTED—Female

TWO GIRLS WANTED. APPLY NAtional Hotel. 3d-96-4956

WANTED—YOUNG GIRL TO TAKE CARE of a baby. Apply 198 Rubidge Street 2d-96-4958

WANTED—AT ONCE, TWO FUR MAchine operators, permanent employment Apply Barrie's, Limited, George St 3d97-4978

WANTED—AT ONCE, AN EXPERIENCED Hardware clerk, fine opening. Apply Peterborough Hardware Co., Peterborough. 3d97-4980

FIRST-CLASS TAILORESS WANTED AT once. Can make pants and vests good steady situation to right person. Apply M. J. Hickey, High-class Tailor, 434 George Street. 3d97-4974

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-94-4689

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A British Canadian Industrial Company, 228 Albert St., Ottawa d-6mos-92-4854

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STR Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. d1f-24

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED ROOMS Apply Box 4961 Examiner Office. 3dwfs-97-4961

HOUSE TO RENT—131 RUBIDGE STREET Apply Phone 1281 or 161 Hunter St. d1f-92-4871

HOUSE TO RENT—146 PARK STREET TO rent. Phone 1281 or 161 Hunter Street d1f-92-4956

HOUSES TO RENT—146 PARK STREET, also 131 Rubidge Street. Apply 161 Hunter Street, or Phone 1281. d-tf-94-4910

TO RENT—GROUND, SUITABLE FOR Garden for Summer. Apply Mrs. F. Drummond, Barnardo Avenue. 3d-96-4918

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS, WITH Modern Conveniences and centrally located. Rent, $10.00 per month. Apply 437 George Street d-tf-93

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 289 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 93 1-2 Hunter Street. d1f-76-4525

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough. d-97

WINDSOR HOUSE

BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.

Accomodation for tourists both Coting and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to

N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE

2m-96.

LOST

LOST—A PERSIAN LAMB SCARF. REward if left at 865 Water Street. Phone 475. 3d-96-4955

LOST—ON THE KRENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

LOST IN TOWN ON THURSDAY EVENing, April 20th, red check blanket. Finder please. Leave at Examiner Office 3d-97-4967

LOST—SUNDAY EVENING BETWEEN St. John's Church and Corner George and Hunter Streets, Gold Brooch, set with Pearls. Please leave at Examiner Office. Reward. 1d-96-4933

FOR SALE

FOR SALE — BABY CARRIAGE, GOOD condition, cheap. Apply 463 Cedar St. 3d-97-4966

FOR SALE—LIGHT ONE HORSE DElivery wagon in good repair. 418 George Street. 6d-96-4958

FOR SALE—SIMPLEX CREAM SEPARATor in good condition. Apply 48 Lansdowne. 3d97-4971

FOR SALE—GENT'S BICYCLE IN FIRST class condition, also three new tires. Apply 220 McFarlane Ave., East City. 3d-96-4940

FOR SALE—FACTORY SITE, 1½ ACRE with siding of four cars on G.T.R. Line, North end. Apply to the owner, 32 Barnardo Ave., City. 3d97-4963

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well-built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 6d-92-4940

FOR SALE—A LIGHT SINGLE DELIvery Wagon; in use less than a year; a snap for quick sale. Also Two 30-barrel Puncheons, suitable for cistern or cheese factory. Apply Calcutt's Brewery. 1md.eod-6w.17 4919

ROUDAN'S EGGS. HEAVY LAYERS. Headed by Cock won 1st Montreal; 2nd, Toronto Winter Show; 2nd, East Toronto Hen, 2nd Toronto Winter Show and two fine pullets $2 per 13.—Jos. Kilbrick, 516 Chamberlain St. 2d-96-4960

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once. —H. C. Stabler, 350 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired, cheap. Apply on premises, 134 Rubidge street 4tf-119 ow

Iron Pipe, Shafting, Hangers and Pulleys

FOR SALE—10000 feet Iron Pipe, size from one to three inches.

A lot of Shafting, one and a half to four inches, with Hangers.

A lot of Iron and Wooden Pulleys.

D. Florence & Son

Corner Simcoe and Bethune Sts. 1m-74

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

Chas. A. Stoneham & COMPANY

Commission Stock Brokers

23 Melinda Street - Toronto

Telephone Main 2580

Our business is strictly that of buying and selling mining securities on commission. We are not promoters, and are in no way identified with new flotations. Our independence makes our advice particularly sound as we have only the interests of our clients to serve. We maintain correspondents in all camps and at all markets and are in constant touch with influential news. Our Weekly Market Letter, issued every Friday evening is a guide to market profits. Put your name on our mailing list. Private code books and market guide furnished free.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

Direct Private Wire to our Main Office, 54-56 Broad Street, New York

6m-da-116

A. Brown & Co.

406 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

A Real Estate SNAP

Lots 27 & 28, block 1, Buena Vista

SASKATOON

$1050 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months

This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro

L. A. Russell

REAL ESTATE OPERATOR

Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro

12d-96-4950

Chanberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting, Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

Further Particulars From

J. H. VANCE

773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?

If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:

Buy a Lot

and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

631 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarded Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on applications

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Papernangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—

762 Water Street

PHONE 1140

Money to Loan

Mortgage loans on City and Farm property at lowest current rates.

Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr

3m-56 415 Water St., Peterborough

Might & Taylor

376 Water St. Phone 99

Real Estate and Insurance

Lots on George Street South $800 each

$1350.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.

$950.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 25 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent. bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of

TYPEWRITERS

including:

Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines

10% off Duplicating Machines

Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments

Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen

Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.

Cash or Time Payments

Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company

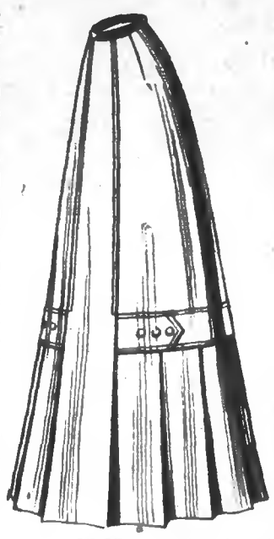
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Summer Time is Skirt Time

——THE SKIRT AND BLOUSE SEASON——

Three Days' Clearing Sale of Odd Skirts

In going over our large stock of Women's Skirts yesterday we found about two dozen odd skirts—ends of sold out lines which we deem it wise to close out now while the demand is on for separate skirts. These garments are not in the latest "hobble" or "harem" styles, yet they are good styles, nice cut and trimmed in neat staple effects—not extreme and freaky—the kind we would like to see our mothers or lady friends dressed in. There are only one of a kind in most cases and not more than two of a kind in any. Three days does not last long, so the sooner you make your selection after Thursday morning at 8:15, the more chance you have of securing a skirt that will fit you. All are equally good values even to the last one. Not shop-worn or soiled, not samples or job lots. Come early Thursday morning—that's to-morrow. Sale ends Saturday night.



$15 BLACK VOILE SKIRT $7.85—A natty skirt made of black French voile trimmed with satin braiding and reversed box pleats, sides with bands of black satin edged with braid. Usually $15.00, Three Days' Sale price $7.85

PRETTY BLUE VENETIAN SKIRT $7.85—This skirt cannot be bought regularly for such a small price but for three days only we offer it at only $7.85, being an odd garment, inverted box pleated panel front with clustered self strappings and buttons. Very fine quality imported fabric.

BLACK PANAMA SKIRT $7.85—Natty $12 pleated skirt with panels of self strappings and trimmed with self covered buttons. A truly good value skirt. Three Days only.. $7.85

VOILE SKIRTS FOR $7.85—A very fine range of English and French voile skirts in a variety of trims, no two alike and all worth from $12 to $15. Some braided, some self trimmed, some trimmed with satin. All on sale Thursday at only.. $7.85

$8 BLACK VICUNA SKIRT $4.95—Fine soft finished imported vicuna in a good fast black, skirt in nice tailored style with double stitched stropped seams, lightly trimmed with self covered buttons, two sizes only. Regularly priced at $8.00, Three Days' price $4.95

$8 FRENCH VOILE SKIRT $4.95—Very fine quality French voile in black only, plain tailored with front trimmed with silk piped button effect, high waist band, a really big value skirt at $8, Three Days' price $4.95

$8 BLUE VENETIAN SKIRT $4.95—Excellent quality venetian cloth skirt in navy blue, trimmed with graduating box pleat back and front in combination with side pleats, also silk piped folds on each side, one size only. Regular $8, Three Days' price $4.95

NATTY $8 VENETIAN SKIRT $4.95—A very pretty venetian skirt with satin faced strappings in graduating panel effect joining at the back, skirt is button trimmed, two sizes only. Regular $8 00, Three Days' price $4.95

If you have wall papering to do, do it now. Select your wall decoration and housefurnishings all at one store—Cressman's

Cressmans

We have the latest 1911 ideas in wall papering for your benefit—Wall Paper, Carpets, Rugs, Curtains, etc., on our third floor

POST CARD COLUMN

Peterborough April 25, '11.

Sir,—On Monday night a reverend lecturer says: "There are more single men and women in jail than married ones." Now, Mr. Editor, don't you think many of themarried men would rather be in jail.

JACK POINT.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Little wonder that some of our modern preachers are turning to the book of nature for their sermons, and for their religion. The old Bible has lost its charm for them. Seeing that these theologians have criticised and analyzed the Book of Revelation, and left it in such a mutilated condition, no wonder that they have to resort to something else on which to build their own and their peoples' faith upon. The letter of your correspondent "Observer," which appeared in the Examiner the other evening, reminded the writer of a sermon he heard recently from one of these naturalistic preachers.

This preacher said: "Friends, the times of trouble, trial and tribulation will come to you all. The time will come when you will be bereft of friends, property and health, but he said in such dark times what are you to do? Why, he said, and his face lit up, you look around you and you see the little butterfly, the little fishes and the flowers, and then you look up to God and all is well."

The writer asked himself the question: What in the name of the Lord will the poor saints do when trouble overtakes them in the winter, when the buutteflies are in their cocoons; when the little fishes are under two feet of ice, and the little flowers are under two feet of snow? The heathen have nature and the butterflies, etc., many of them, all the year round. Some of the preachers are teaching the people, now, that the Word of God is not the ground of the Christians' faith. Old Paul said: "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." The old preacher told us that men were saved by the preaching of the word and would quote our Saviour's teaching, when he said: "The seed is the word," and would go on to tell what he said, that when the sower (the preacher(sowed the word, then cometh the Devil, and catcheth away the word out of their (the hearers) hearts, lest they should believe, and be saved. Yes, and these old pastors would exhort their hearers to "receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls." Yes, and instead of pointing anxious souls to nature, they would point them to the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. They would do as Philip did to the Ethiopian eunuch, point them to Isaiah 53, and explain to the anxious sinners that this man of sorrows, spoken of in that chapter, was Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, who died as their substitute, bearing all their sins in His own body on the tree, and in this simple way these old ministers of the Word got multitudes saved, whereas these modern apostles of unbelief are getting none saved. If these modern preachers of doubt would burn their theological magazines and get down to a prayerful and earnest study of the word of God and preach the same to their hungry people, instead of teaching pernicious things not sparng the flock it would be infinitely better for the home, the church and the commonwealth. When the preacher preaches Christ crucified instead of himself dignified, the people leave the church saying to one another, "Say, brother, what a wonderful Saviour we've got" instead of saying "what a smart preacher we have," why, he quoted twelve authors in that sermon! What the people want and must have is the bread of life, not 'Higher Criticism.'

What the people want is the Word of Life. "Holding forth the Word of Life" should be the motto of every preacher. Sinners cannot be born into the Kingdom without it. "Being born again, not by corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the Word of God, which liveth and abideth forever; and this is the word which, by the Gospel, is preached unto you of Pet. 23 25.

Young Christians need the word preached to them. They will grow better on that than on Higher Criticism. "As new born babes desire the sincere milk of the word that ye may grow thereby" Young men need the word preached to them to make them clean and strong. "Wherewith all shall a young man cleanse his way? By taking heed thereto according to to thy word." So thought the Psalmist.

"I write unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you" says the Apostle John. Higher criticism, which blasphemously denies the infallibility of the word of God, and also the infallibility of the Son of God, will never strengthen the sinews of any young man's soul. We all need the Word of God to live by as well as to die with. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path, has been the language of living and dying saints, down the ages.

When John Knox, the great reformer, was dying, he requested that they read repeatedly to him the 53rd chapter of Isaiah. It helped him to keep his mind and faith stayed on Christ, on whom were laid all his iniquities.

Among the dying words of John Wesley were: "I, the chief of sinners am, but Jesus died for me. This simple faith of Wesley came to him in the dark hour from the writings of Paul, where he said: "Jesus came into the world to save sinners of whom I am chief." My theology now, said the dying Spurgeon, to a friend, is in four little words: "Jesus died for me." I do not say that this would be all I should preach were I raised up again, but it is enough to die upon. "Jesus died for me." Where did Spurgeon get that faith? Did he get it from nature? No, he believed the Gospel that Paul preached, by which also he was saved. "Now that Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures." We used to sing "How firm a foundation ye saints of the Lord is laid for you faith in His excellent word. If the preachers who deny the truth of that good old hymn will return to the old paths and replace the old landmarks, which they have removed, and fling their Higher Criticism back to the devil, from whence it came and begin in right good earnest to preach Christ and his excellent word, then the children will not have reason to complain and say: "we want for bread, but received a stone."

Yours, etc.,

JOHN CARLISLE.

WATCHED FOR 25 YEARS

Mr. D. M. Waters, the popular druggist Belleville, Ont., said his first box of Dr Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills a quarter of a century ago and since then has noted many remarkable cures, as this medicine grew in popularity. The latest cure coming to his attention is that of Mrs. Mark Ottrey, Bay Side, Ont., who was cured of wrinkles disappear, and the glow of health returns to the cheeks

Burn "Scoe" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

G. T. R. WILL PUT ON NEW TRAIN

Permanent Passenger Service Between City and Port Hope

The G. T. R. officials are changing the time-table for some of the local trains, and are also going to add an extra train for the summer, and possibly, for permanent traffic. There will be a train leave the G. T. R. station here at 8.30 a.m. for Port Hope, arriving at Port Hope at 9.30, making connection with the east-bound trains. There will also be a train leaving Port Hope for Peterborough at 10.45, arriving here at 11.45. This will enable passengers, leaving Toronto at 9 a.m. to arrive in Peterborough at 11.45 a.m. This change will go into effect on the 26th of June.

A new schedule is also being gotten out for the Lakefield train to accomodate tourists going up the lakes during the camping season. There has been no definite arrangements made yet, but as soon as they are decided, it will be published.

The Peterborough-Port Hope train was running a couple of years ago, but the Company cut it out, because it did not pay. It is understood that it will be run permanently this time, for accommodation. It is expected that this train will be a permanent addition to the G. T. R. passenger service.

Scrofula cured by Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Wm. Madill, druggist.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. td

EARLY POTATOES AND EARLY POTATO-BUGS

Mr Wm. Miles, florist, 547 Weller street, generally crowds the robin for first-place honours. Hardly has spring made its bow than Mr. Miles makes his bow in the Examiner sanctum with a small batch of this year's potatoes. To-day, April 26th, he dropped in with a few potatoes of the vintage of 1911, of fair size—1 1-4 by 1 1-2 inches—grown in the open, not under glass, but protected. He also brought, in the same consignment, potatoes grown on "sets" of vines of this year's growth. But Mr. Miles is not alone in his enterprise. He cannot rise early enough in the morning to get ahead of the potato-bug, which, as early as his potatoes are, is quite on time, ready for business. A thumb-pot, with three or four live and lively potato-bugs is a part of Mr. Miles' exhibit.

FEEDING BRAINS

Why Studious Children Always Crave Oatmeal

Nature gives oats more organic phosphorus than to any other grain she grows. And phosphorus is the brain's main constituent. Brains can't grow, brains can't work without it.

Oats also contain more lecithin—the nerve food—than any other grain. They form our greatest energy food.

That's why growing children love oatmeal. Some instinct within them calls for these elements, and woe to the child who doesn't get all it wants.

The right oats for food are the rich, plump grains. In the choicest oats there are but ten pounds to the bushel. In making Quaker Oats these choice grains are selected by 62 separate siftings.

Quaker Oats—just the cream of the oats—costs but one-half cent per dish. One dish is worth two dishes of common oatmeal. Don't you think it would pay to serve your children such oats?

Made in Canada. (72)

P. C. I. ANNUAL CONCERT

In assembly Hall Friday Evening, April 28th. An excellent program by local artists assisted by Mr. Owen A. Smiley, entertainer, Toronto, who will present an entirely new list of numbers. 4d-15-22-26-28

N.W.M. Police Contribution

The members of the R. N. W. M. Police force have joined in a contribution to the fund of the British and Foreign Sailors Society in honour of our Sailor King's Coronation. The gift of over $100 which has been forwarded to Rev. A. Hall, Toronto, through Mrs. Perry, wife of the Commissioner, A. B. Perry, C. M. G. of Regina, will be devoted to the special purpose of providing and furnishing a cabin in the new Sailors' Institute at Vancouver to be called the "Royal Northwest Mounted Police Cabin."

WILL BE PLACED ON LOCAL WATERS AGAIN

The Lindsay Post says:

Mr. R. Pinchin, of Peterborough, manager of the Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Co., was in town to-day and informed the Post that the steamer "Manita" would again be placed on the local waters this season.

The steamer Otonabee would also carry excursions from Port Perry and Lindsay, and a good season was expected.

A RUNAWAY

Bell Telephone Team Bolted Leaving Their Load Behind

An accident, which might have been more serious, occurred to-day, about 11 a.m. Some of the Bell Telephone employees were coming up George street, with a big load of cross-arms, and as they went to go through the gateway into the Grand Hotel yard, where the cross-arms were to be piled, they found their load was too wide for the opening. But it was too late, as the horses were going in at a fast walk, and the whole load, men and all, were piled in a heap inside the gate. The horses became frightened at the noise and bolted, but were fortunately caught, just before they plunged through the board fence at the farther side of the hotel yard. Practically no damage was done.

SHE IS YOUNG AT FIFTY

This is said of the woman whose blood is rich and red and whose complexion has the natural healthful glow. You can restore the healthful colour of the skin by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, because it actually forms new, red blood. The form is rounded out by firm, healthy flesh, serious and torturing kidney and bladder trouble by the use of this great medicine.

PAID MONTHLY

Arrangements Made to Give Assessors Part of Salary Each Month

Thanks to a motion introduced by Ald. Duncan at last night's meeting of the committee of the Whole Council, the city assessors will this year receive a portion of their salary each month instead of having to wait for the whole until the end of the year as has been the practice heretofore. Ald. Duncan thought that provision should be made for paying part of their remuneration each month keeping back a portion until the rolls were returned. This suggestion met with favour from the other aldermen and after a short discussion on the amount that should be paid each month it was decided that the assessors should receive $60 each every month.

"Love is Like a Rose," "On the Boulevard", "When You Kiss the One You Love", are some of the hits of the "Kissing Girl" at Grand to-morrow night. 1d

MORE AUTOS HERE

Jas. J. Duffus Gets Another Shipment for Local Men

Mr. Jas. J. Duffus, sole agent for the Russell and Ford Motor Car Co., received another carload of Ford Tourist Model T's to-day. One car is for J. E. A. Fitzgerald, another for Dr. Amys, and a third for Smith Kelly. This will be a splendid addition to the city's list of automobiles. The Ford, Model T car appears to be a special favourite among business men and others. It is a splendid car for pleasure or business, is always ready and always reliable. The demand for both the Russell and Ford cars is increasing, and Mr. Duffus expects to place a number of cars with local men, in the course of a few weeks.

OMEMEE FIRE

OMEMEE, APRIL 25.—The fire fiend seems to be hard at work, for another fire occurred here on Monday morning, when the house occupied by Mr. Brooks, just east of the village, was burned to the ground. Mr. Brooks was away at the time, and only Mrs. Brooks, and her daughter were at home. Neighbours at once came to their assistance, but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save scarcely anything in the house. The house was owned by Mr. Shaw and we understand that the insurance was light.

THE PRIVATE SECRETARY

Plays may come and plays may go but "The Private Secretary," like Tennyson's "Brook," seems destined to go on forever. So great has been the success of the big revival of this famous comedy in New York by Mr. Gillette, that the management have secured this laughable comedy at the Grand Opera House for two performances, Saturday, April 29.

Each visit finds this comedy, with its consistent humour, quaint sayings and excruciatingly funny tableaux as attractive as ever, and large audiences have been the vogue wherever seen. The Company presenting this remarkable comedy is well chosen. It serves to introduce for the first time in this city Mr. C. James Bancroft, who has played the part of "The Private Secretary" for seven years in England. Mr. Bancroft, who is a member of the famous Bancrofts of the English stage learning of the big revival of this well-known comedy came to America to show this country his portrayal of the wonderful character study. Surrounding Mr Bancroft are a number of talented farceurs, including Alexander F. Frank in the role of Cattermole, the old East Indian Uncle. His irascibility, his warm heartedness, his contempt for milksops, and his impatience for things in general when they do not go to suit him are points of character which are portrayed with consummate skill. Those who want to enjoy a hearty laugh, should not miss the opportunity of seeing "The Private Secretary."

Miller's Worm Powders for restlessness and peevishness. Wm. Madill.

DEATHS

ALEXANDER — Suddenly, in New York, N.Y., Mary Alexander, wife of Charles Perry Alexander, of Oak Orchard, Harvey Township, Ont. Interment at Holy Cross cemetery, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Shall we send for your Furs for insurance against Moths and Fire?

If so phone No 726 or drop us a card

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-MORROW, THURSDAY, APRIL 27th

The season's musical event. John P. Slocum's Opera Co., in the New Viennese Comic Opera

X X "The Kissing Girl" X X

From the German by Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow." Adapted for the English stage by Stanislaus Stange, author of "The Chocolate Soldier". Music by Harry Von Tilzer, Lyrics by Vincent Bryan with Texas Guinan and the young English Premier Danseuse, M'lle. Vanity. All star cast and big beauty chorus. Prices, 25c to $1.50. Seats Now on Sale

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SAT., APRIL 29th

MATINEE AND NIGHT

The Greatest of of all Farce Comedies

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

By William Gillette

An All Star English Company, with C. JAMES BANCROFT as the Rev. Robert Spaulding as played by him over 2000 times in England.

PRICES—Evening, $1.00, 75c, 50c, & 35c. Gallery 25c.

Matinee, 50c 35c 25c Seat Sale opens Thursday Morning

It's the Goods Behind the "Ad." That Makes Satisfaction

It's the satisfied customers who come back again and again that make our business good. Every Suit, Overcoat, Hat and every item in Men's Furnishings we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction or we "make good." We hope to get your business and keep it by sheer force of dependable merchandise and fair, progressive business methods. Don't let anything detain you from getting your new Spring clothes now.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING THAT MEN AND BOYS WEAR

H. LeBRUN & CO.

FATALLY BURNED

Special to The Examiner.

BROCKVILLE, APRIL 26.—Playing aroun da bonfire at her home, the clothin gof Isabella Jackson, aged five, caught fire and she was so badly burned that she died at her home this morning. Her father, who tried to rescue her, was also badly burned.

BOLD ROBBERS

Get Away With $8000 Worth in Chicago

Special to The Examiner.

CHICAGO, APRIL 26 — Four bold daylight robbers rode up in a Limosine auto to the jewellery store of Edward Aberti, Milwaukee avenue, today, stunned two clerks and then robbed the store of $8,000 dollars worth of stuff. There is no clue.

WELL KNOWN FAVOURITES

Theatre-goers will be pleased to know that Harry Hermison, who plays the part of Hippocrates Muller in the "Kissing Girl" was here some time ago as the funny man in the Royal Chef. Miss Texas Guinan, who has the title role to-morrow night was here in the Gay Musician as leading lady. The music is ver ycatchy and the comedy is full of laughs. There are a few good seats left yet, though there has been a large advance sale.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

All friends of the Young Women's Christian Association are cordially invited to attend the 20th Anniversary meeting of the Association on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

All members of the Y. W. C. A. Home Mission Class are reminded of the examination to-morrow at 8 o'clock, p.m. Dr. McPherson will conduct the examination for Dr. McCulloch.

The Business World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES

Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES

Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE

GEO. SPOTTON, President

PROBS—Fine and moderately warm. Thursday, fresh easterly winds, fair, not much change in temperature.

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY, Limited

A SPECIALLY PLANNED SALE

FOR EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

The backyard season has resulted in a number of manufacturers being forced to dispose of cancelled orders of high grade New Modish Spring Coats and Tailored Suits for ladies. We have secured generous quantities of both the Coats and Suits at prices averaging of at least One-Third off.

Suits that were made to sell at $20.00 to $22.50 for..... $15.00

Suits that were made to sell at 24.00, 25.00 and 27.00 for 18.50

Short semi-fitting fancy and plain fawn covert coats that were made to sell at 5.50 and 6.00 for 3.98

Ladies' long Tailored Coats in selected cloths such as serges, coverts, tweeds and shepherd check made to sell at 16.50 and 17.50 for..... 11.50

This will be a busy week in wash goods on account of the advent of warmer weather

We place on sale 20 pieces of a novelty wash goods, "La Belle Soie" silk and cotton mixtures in fine art printed designs. Regular 75c a yard, Half Price this week.. 37½c

A big shipment of Anderson's Scotch Ginghams in fancy checks and plaids. Regular 15c and 20c, this week 12½c

A Remnant Lot of Superfine Zephyr Ginghams 36 in. wide, regular 25c for 15c

Moter Coat Linene 33 inches wide regular price 30c. This week..... 19c

Clearance lot Moter Wash Suitings in broken range of colors None sold less than 25c and some at 35c. Your choice this week for 12½c

Coloured Shantung Silks 25 inches wide, all the spring shades represented. Regular value 75c a yard, this week..... 48c

Black and coloured Japan Silk, 27 inches wide. Regular price 50c yard, this week..... 39c

Fine French all wool Broadcloth Suitings, glossy finished surface in navy and black only, 50 inches wide. Regular value 1.50 the yard, this week 1.00

We placed in stock this week a full range of "Keyser guaranteed QUALITY SILK GLOVES IN ALL COLORS AND STYLES

We respectfully remind you to take the fullest advantage of our great 15 day sale of Carpets by the yard

ROBERT FAIR & CO.

383 GEORGE STREET. - LIMITED

18-Kt.

Our 18-kt. Wedding Rings are all hand made rings.

The name (Warne Bros.) stamped inside of any wedding ring is a guarantee of quality.

Prices From $5.00 to $15

DIAMOND HALL

WARNE BROS.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Probabilities.

Fine and moderately warm. Thursday, fresh easterly winds, fair, not much change in temperature.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149 Peterborough Messenger Service, 345 1-2 George street.

Pure Maple Syrup.

—A new supply of Pure Maple Syrup is just in at Porter S. White's grocery. Use the 'phone, No. 268.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St. M. Carton, C. J. Cartoll.

Will Hold Meeting.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Knox church will hold their regular monthly meeting to-morrow afternoon, at 3.30 in the church parlours.

A Grass Fire.

A grass fire gave the Fire Department a run to the home of Mr. M. Chittick, 592 Aylmer street about 10 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

Signalling Corps 57th Regiment P. R.

—All members of the above named corps will turn out at the Armouries on Thursday at 7.45 p.m., sharp, for examination by the District Signalling Officer.—G. K. Rackham, Lieut. O. C. Signalling Corps.

Special Meeting of All Saints.

A special meeting of All Saints' football club will be held to-morrow night in the Chapel Hall at 7.30 o'clock. Every member is requested to attend this meeting, as important business is to be transacted.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 485, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Seed Time.

Time now for planting peas and onions. Call and see our display of flesh garden, field and flower seeds. Dutch and Multipliers sets. For sale at Porter S. White's grocery, 336 George street.

Gun Club Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in Mr. C. B. Rontey's wall paper store, George street. All members and prospective members are urged to attend sharp to the hour.

Funeral To-morrow.

The funeral of the late Robert Joseph Bell will be private and will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, 231 Simcoe street to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

Knox Church Choir.

—There will be an important practice of Knox Church choir to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock sharp. Every member is requested to attend. There will be a meeting of the male choir on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All male singers are earnestly requested to take part.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19, Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

Special Meeting.

A special general meeting of St. John's Anglican Young People's Association will be held in the Guild room on Friday next at 8 p.m. Special business. To elect a member to the city Lawn Tennis Association and to inaugurate the programme of St. John's tennis for the coming season. Every member should be present. Frank Roberts, Sec.-Treas.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaner Co., 395 Water St., (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25c.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 425—141 Hunter street west.

At the Right-End

of things are the men and women who never wait 'till cash is in hand when a new wardrobe is needed. Try their habit of using our method of

Superior Clothing On Credit

and you'll be, like them, at the head of life's procession. Call and we'll explain.

SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK:

Ladies' Suits $5.95
Voile Skirts 4.95
Millinery—all trimmed Hats, 4.50 to 7.00 for 2.98
Shapes 98c
Men's Suits and Overcoats and Pants all at reduced prices.
Housefurnishings—Carpets, Linoleums, Square Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains all at reduced prices.

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

Opposite the Custom House. The Best Credit Clothiers in the City

311 GEORGE STREET

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY

163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

1m 25-1951

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. J. F. McCarty, of Hastings, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. W. Bates of Lakefield, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. J. McCullough of Marmora, is registered at the Munro House.

Miss Ada L. McFarlane, of 103 Rubidge street, has gone to St. Thomas to attend the funeral of her uncle, Camell Ferguson, who died at Provost, Alberta, on April 17th.

Mr. Isaac Moore was brought in to the Nicholls Hospital this morning in Bellegheim's private ambulance. The patient was stricken down with pneumonia while staying at the home of Mr. Joseph Lowes, Emily.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

WEDDING BELLS.

O'CONNOR—WELCH.

Miss Mary T. Welch and Mr. Robert Andrew O'Connor were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. Dr. O'Brien, in St. Peter's Cathedral at 7 o'clock this morning. After the ceremony a dainty breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents.

ALLEN—MANN.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. David Mann, 588 Water street, at 11 o'clock to-day, when their daughter, Miss Jennie Mann was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. John Allen of this city.

Rev. Mr. Pogue performed the ceremony. They were unattended.

The happy couple left via the G. T. R. for Kingston and other points east.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

HONEYMOON TRAIL.

"Honeymoon Trail" one of those pleasing Hough and Adams compilations of wit, funny situations, pretty girls and catchy music was pleasingly presented by a capable company at the Grand last night. The production was above the average and one of the most enjoyable tune shows of the season. The principals were clever, the chorus pretty and vivacious and the costumes and scenery left nothing to be desired. Arline Boling had the principal feminine role and got the most out of her part, while Fred Wyckoff, as the Baked Bean manufacturer, was decidedly funny. Willie Dunlay, who was here with the "Girl Question" last season, did good work as Tommie Perkins, an advertising manager and incidentally sang the song hit "You Can't be a Friend to Everybody."

BASEBALL

The management of the Baseball Club, which was organized by the boys of the King Edward School last night, will be glad to arrange a game with a similar club of the city.—Earl Eakins, Manager.

An enthusiastic meeting of the boys of the King Edward school was held last evening for the purpose of organizing a baseball club. The following officers were elected:

Honourary Pres.—Mr. John Crane.
President—J. W. Kelly.
Sec.-Treas.—F. E. Kerr.
Manager—Earl Eakins.
Mascot—Walter Evans.
Executive committee—Arthur Frost, Charles Campbell, Milton Frost.
Representative of the Public schools—Mr. F. E. Kerr.

SKIDOO NIGHT

There was an unusually large crowd at the Brock Street Roller Rink last night when "Skidoo" night programme was put on. Among the prize winners were Miss E. Warboy, Miss F. Cresswell, Miss Logan, Miss Ruby Halpin, Miss C. Kenneally, Miss S. Brown, Miss Eva Hartley, Charles Rogue, E. White, J. F. Milloy, M. Kenneally, John Cook, R. Brown, R. Gavine.

SMALL FIRE

The fire brigade received a call to the home of Mr. William Mitchell, corner Water and Smith streets at noon to-day, where a grass fire was in progress. No damage was done.

A Hint.

Teacher—I have been trying for some time to get the room so quiet that we could hear a pin drop. I have dropped the pin several times, but you have been making so much noise that it has been impossible to hear it. What do you think we had better do, children? Reddy Backrow—Tie a dumbbell to it next time, teacher.—Brooklyn Life.

A Reversion.

"Matrimony," said a modern benedict the other day, "produces remarkable revolutions. Here am I, for instance, in a few short months changed from a sighing lover to a dying sire."—Illustrated Bits.

The Time to Think.

A man who is really thoughtful of the family name should begin to think about it quite awhile before it occurs to him to enter the name of John Doe on the police blotter.—Atchison Globe.

Deeds That Count.

Maud—Why don't you prefer Harry to Will? Harry is capable of big deeds. Edith—Yes, but Will owns some.—Baltimore American.

SOOTHED THE SPIRITS.

A Preliminary to House Building in the Shan States.

House building in the Shan States is not such an easy matter as it looks. Mrs. Leslie Milne, author of "Shans at Home" tells how she arranged for the building of a bamboo house at Namkham, and, though the materials arrived, no progress seemed to be made with the actual construction:

"When I first spoke of house building I had been asked what to me seemed an irrelevant question—namely, the day of the week on which I was born. When I answered that it was late on Saturday night or early on Sunday morning I did not know that my reply was of importance. As time went on and the bamboos lay untouched, looking like long green snakes in the grass, I complained of the delay only to be told that until I could tell them my birthday they were afraid to begin work, as the spirits would be angry if the offerings for the proper day were not made.

"I suggested that the building should begin, I braving the anger of the spirits, but they thought the work too dangerous, as the risk was not only for me, but for the workmen as well. On consulting a wise man a way was found out of the difficulty. He decreed that an extra large offering to content the spirits of both Saturday and Sunday should be made. This was done, and the building commenced next day."

SINGING SANDS.

Peculiar Properties of These Curious Freaks of Nature.

The most notable of those curious freaks of nature, "singing sands," are those of the Hawaiian island of Kauai. When a small quantity of this sand is clapped between the hands it is said to give forth a sound so shrill as actually to resemble a hoot. Put into a bag and violently shaken, the sand emits a noise strangely like the bark of a dog.

Similar sands also occur in the Colorado desert, where also are to be found those curious nonsedentary sands that continually travel hither and thither over the vast plain of clay. Their movements are induced by the winds, and when a strong breeze is blowing the particles of which they are composed give out an audible humming or singing.

Under the microscope these sands show an almost perfectly spherical form, so that they roll upon each other at the slightest impulse, a circumstance that also accounts for the rapidity with which the sands travel over the desert. One theory advanced with respect to the "singing" of these sands is that it is due to an exceedingly thin film of gas that covers the grains. Gathered and removed from the desert, the sands lose their vocal properties.—Exchange.

Spoiling the Tobacco.

Winchcombe St. Peter, in Gloucestershire, began the cultivation of tobacco in England toward the end of the sixteenth century, and the inhabitants are said to have derived considerable profit from it until the trade was placed under restrictions. An entry in Pepy's Diary on Sept. 19, 1667, concerning the coming of a cousin of his to town proceeds: "She tells me how the life guard which we thought a little while since was sent down into the country about some insurrection was sent to Winchcombe to spoil the tobacco there, which, it seems, the people there do plant contrary to law and have always done and still been under force and danger of having it spoiled, as it hath been oftentimes, and yet they will continue to plant it. The place, she says, is a miserable poor place."—London Globe.

Europe's Middle Classes.

In France is an organization called the Congress des Classes Moyennes. Translated, this means "Congress of the Middle Classes." The sharpness with which class lines are drawn in Europe continues to puzzle some Americans, although there are others who think we have class divisions without the names. The French middle classes correspond to the German "mittelstand" and comprise the middlemen of the towns and the country and also many contractors, master builders and clerks. The organization has an annual luncheon, at which the most distinguished men of France are accustomed to speak.

Conscientious.

Donald—I want a cake of soap, Mr. McTavish.

Chemist—I canna let ye hae a cake o' soap on th' Sawbaath day.

Donald—But ye sell'd that lassie some peppermint drops!

Chemist—Aye, ye can suck peppermint drops in the kirk, but ye canna wash yersel' there!

Strategy.

Ryan, the corner cop, gave us the best definition of strategy we have ever heard. "Sthrategy," says Ryan, "is whin ye keep right on shootin' so the inimy won't know ye're all out av ammunition."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Misunderstood.

Miss Bute—How dared you kiss me? Didn't you hear me say "Sir!" when you asked me if you might? Jack Slanger—I thought you said "Cert."—Boston Transcript.

Back to the Soil.

"Don't you like to get close to nature sometimes?"

"Sure. I'm very fond of these palm rooms."—Pittsburg Post.

Humility is a virtue all preach, some practice and yet everybody is content to hear.—Selden.

Tobacco in Lambton.

The interest in tobacco has spread to Lambton and next spring will see fields of tobacco growing in the vicinity of Forest.

The Warne Shoe Store

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

A line of Men's Button Patent Foxing, dull calf top, strictly high-class $5.00

A line of Men's Blucher Bal. Patent Foxing, dull calf top, welted sole..... $3.50

A good variety of heavier weights at selling prices.

Our ladies' lines in Gun Metal, Patent and Kid with an assortment of snappy styles, from $2.50 to $4.00

A special line of Misses' Patent Blucher with dull calf tops..... $2.50

A great assortment of children's wear at the

Warne Shoe Store

345 GEORGE STREET

The Moonrakers.

"In the English county of Wiltshire," said a customs official, "the natives are called 'moonrakers.' There's a Wiltshire story, over a century old, about some rustics who were found one night raking away in a pond at the reflection of the moon, which they took for a cheese.

"That's a very good story, a very funny skit on the men of Wiltshire, but ask a Wiltshire man about it and with a contented chuckle he will say: "'Oh, yes, people tell us how they give the name o' 'moonrakers' to us Wiltshire people because a passel o' stoopids one night tried to rake the shadder o' the moon out o' the brook, takin' it for a thin cheese. But that's the wrong end o' the story. It's altogether the wrong end. Them chaps as was doin' this was smugglers and they was fishin' up some kegs o' brandy and only pretended to rake out a cheese. The policeman as axed em what they was about had a good laugh at 'em, bet, by Harry! they had a better laugh at him when they got home with the stuff.'"

The Tough Chicken.

There are several ways of transforming a venerable fowl into a respectable family piece de resistance. In fact, by the following method such fowls have been made as tender as spring chickens: Let the bird, after drawing, seasoning and stuffing, simmer until over half done. Then place it in the oven with a piece of pork laid over its breast. Pour the liquor over and around the roast in the pan. Finish the cooking in a very hot oven, basting frequently with the drippings. When ready to serve skim off any superfluous fat that may be in the pan before preparing the gravy. The pork prevents the fowl from becoming dry, and if a small onion is also added it will have a more savory flavor. The simmering lessens its toughness. In fact, slow simmering is just the thing for any tough meat, but it should simmer, not boil. Boiling will toughen the tenderest of meat.

A Death Lure.

According to tradition, Kenith, the legendary king of Scotland, was allured to his death in a most novel manner. Kenith had slain a son and brother of Fennella, who to be avenged ordered Wiltus, a famous silversmith, to construct a death dealing statue of silver. In its right hand the statue held a basin and in the left hand an apple of pure gold, both set with diamonds and other precious stones. To touch the apple was to defy death, it being so arranged that any one guilty of such vandalism would be immediately riddled by poisoned arrows shot from openings in the body of the statue. Kenith was invited to inspect the wonder, and, as Fennella had hoped, he tried to pluck the precious imitation fruit. When his hand touched the apple he was wounded by the arrows and died where he fell.

Animal Life on Venus.

"There are many physical reasons for thinking that if any other planet besides the earth is inhabited it is probably Venus," says Professor Pickering. "It is about the same size as the earth, and its density is about the same. The force of gravity upon its surface is only slightly less than that on the earth. The temperature on Venus is probably the same as in our own tropics, and the dense atmosphere may be of a composition such as enveloped the earth when in the carboniferous period. As to the existence of intelligent life, the question is still open. If it is ever established that the planet Venus is inhabited it will be less surprising than if the same were proved conclusively of any other planet, owing to the similarity in many respects of Venus and the earth."

A Cotton Legend.

Cotton was the theme of one of the most fabulous nature stories on its first introduction into Europe. Travelers related that in Tartary there grew a shrub and that when its ripe fruit was cut open within was "a lyttle Beaste in fleecie, in bone and blode as though it were a lyttle lamb with outer wolle." The flesh of this "vegetable lamb" was eaten, ran the story, and the wool made into cloth. The basis of the legend is the way in which the cotton pod ripens and bursts, showing the white fluffy raw cotton, which closely resembles wool. Raw cotton is still called "cotton wool."

J.T. BRAUND

718-724 George St.

WHERE YOUR CASH BUYS MOST

We Sell Everything You Need

Read our CASH Bargains

GROCERY DEPT.

1 qt bottles Catsup, reg 20c for 12c
1 pt " " " 10c " 7½c
Tomatoes, reg 13c for 11c
Peas, reg 13c for 11c
Pure Maple Syrup per gallon.. 1.25
Maple Syrup, new goods, reg 30c per quart for 25c or per gallon 85c
Qt cans Maple Syrup, reg 25c.. 18c
Pt " " " 13c for 10c
Soap Chips, reg 10c, 4 lbs for.. 25c
5 gallons Coal Oil for 60c

DRY GOODS DEPT.

A line of Dresses for girls from 5 to 12 years, nicely trimmed and right up-to-date in style, prices range from $1.00 up to..... $2.25
Ladies' Wrappers, several styles in all sizes, worth up to $1.50, Cash Sale..... 98c

DRESS GOODS

A nice line of black and white check goods, reg 25c, Cash Sale 19c

STOCKINGS

A very fine lot of Children's Stockings for school wear, these are extra value at per pair 13c

Extra Special—With a $1 order of other goods, sugar and flour excepted, you can add to the order,

2 CANS TOMATOES 15c

LINEN

Table Cloths 2½ yds long, all hemmed and ready for use, reg 1.00, Cash Sale 79c
Linen Toweling, special value yd 8c

FURNITURE DEPT.

Solid Oak Hall Racks, oval plate glass mirror, reg $9.50 for 7.99
Solid Oak Hall Racks, good size B. B. plate glass mirror, reg 15.00 for $13.49
Solid Oak Hall Racks, extra large size, large B. B. mirror, reg 18.00 for..... $16.49
All Wool Mattress covered with best ticking, reg 5.50, Cash Sale $4.49
Don't buy cheap mattresses: it don't pay
Our Meat Dept is always stocked with the best of all kinds of Fresh and Cured Meats, also Cooked Ham, Head Cheese, Bologna Sausage, etc. Give us a trial. We can please you.

FLOUR AND FEED

98 lb bag highest grade Bread Flour for $2.60
98 lbs No. 1 good Bread Flour 2.40
25c bag Pastry Flour for 15c

PAINT! PAINT!! PAINT!!!

Highest grade of House Paints for inside, outside or doors, reg price 55c, Cash Sale price per qt.. 49c

FLOOR OIL CLOTH & LINOLEUM

Best quality Floor Oilcloth, reg 35c for ..... 29c cash
Linoleum, reg 60c for sq yd.... 50c

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 263.

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small price.

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Loste- 10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No matter.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 98 PETERBOROUGH THURSDAY APRIL 27 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

PROBS—Southwesterly winds, fair and very mild. Friday, moderate to fresh southeast to south winds, a few local showers but generally fair.

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY, Limited

A SPECIALLY PLANNED SALE
FOR EVERY DAY THIS WEEK

The backward season has resulted in a number of manufacturers being forced to dispose of cancelled orders of high grade New Modish Spring Coats and Tailored Suits for ladies. We have secured generous quantities of both the Coats and Suits at prices averaging of at least One-Third off.

Suits that were made to sell at $20.00 to $22.50 for $15.00

Suits that were made to sell at 24.00, 25.00 and 27.00 for 18.50

Short semi-fitting fancy and plain fawn covert coats that were made to sell at 5.50 and 6.00 for 3.98

Ladies' long Tailored Coats in selected cloths such as serges, coverts, tweeds and shepherd check made to sell at 16.50 and 17.50 for 11.50

This will be a busy week in wash goods on account of the advent of warmer weather

We place on sale 20 pieces of a novelty wash goods, "La Belle Soie" silk and cotton mixtures in fine art printed designs. Regular 75c a yard, Half Price this week.. 37½c

A big shipment of Anderson's Scotch Ginghams in fancy checks and plaids. Regular 15c and 20c, this week 12½c

A Remnant Lot of Superfine Zephyr Ginghams 36 in. wide, regular 25c for 15c

Motor Coat Linens 33 inches wide regular price 30c. This week..... 19c

Clearance lot Motor Wash Suitings in broken range of colors None sold less than 25c and some at 35c. Your choice this week for 12½c

Coloured Shantung Silks 25 inches wide, all the spring shades represented. Regular value 75c a yard, this week..... 48c

Black and coloured Japan Silk, 27 inches wide. Regular price 50c yard, this week..... 39c

Fine French all wool Broadcloth Suitings, glossy finished surface in navy and black only, 50 inches wide. Regular value 1.50 the yard, this week 1.00

We placed in stock this week a full range of "Keyser guaranteed QUALITY SILK GLOVES IN ALL COLORS AND STYLES

We respectfully remind you to take the fullest advantage of our great 15 day sale of Carpets by the yard

ROBERT FAIR & CO.
383 GEORGE STREET. - LIMITED

It's the Goods Behind the "Ad." That Makes Satisfaction

It's the satisfied customers who come back again and again that make our business good. Every Suit, Overcoat, Hat and every item in Men's Furnishings we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction or we'll make good. We hope to get your business and Keep It by sheer force of dependable merchandise and fair, progressive business methods. Don't let anything detain you from getting your new Spring clothes now.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING THAT MEN AND BOYS WEAR

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

ROYAL
BIG ATTRACTION IN VAUDEVILLE

The Musical Copes
REFINED MUSICAL ACT
Introducing
Both Classical and Popular Music

Louis Charette
The Wonderful Barrel Jumper and Acrobat
Comic and Straight Work

These are two acts of high class refined vaudeville that should please everyone. Arthur and Stella Cope are two of the best musical artists seen at the Royal for a long time, while Louis Charette has the latest and greatest single act on the circuit.

Motion Pictures

Another change of motion pictures for to-night including one of the best comedies ever seen, "The New Stenographer" by the Vitagraph Co'y, one that keeps the laughs going throughout and a few more to take home with you, also three other pictures.

ADMISSION :
Afternoon ...5c Evening.....10c

PRINCESS
EXTRA EXTRA EXTRA
Special Attration
COLORED FILM D'ART

'Il Trovatore'
PATHE'S GREAT MASTERPIECE

This magnificent production is one of the best and most popular films ever produced. Special music to fit scene for scene has been arranged from the score of Verdi's great opera and will be played as the picture is being shown. Let no one miss seeing this great Italian opera and hearing the grand music.

"THE HAUNTED SENTINEL TOWER"
One of Edison's latest and strongest and most sensational dramas

"GETTING HIS OWN BACK"
One of the Essanay Co's latest and foremost comedies.

"FIRE DRILL IN ENGLAND"
One of Chas. Urban's beautiful scenic and educational films

Remember, the great opera 'Il Trovatore will be here only to-day and to-morrow.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Have You Seen It
ENSIGNETTE
the last word in photography
Goes in a vest pocket and makes Post Card size pictures
The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Just Received—A New Supply of LADIES' & CHILDREN'S HATS

Every one the very latest in style Our Trimmed Hats a specialty. Come and see the prettiest Millinery in town. You can buy your Summer Hat cheaper here than elsewhere.

SPRING SUITS AND COATS for Ladies and Gents
All made up-to-date in the present day styles.

You will need some new things for the home, now the housecleaning time is here. Come and see what you require in the way of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains, etc.

We will be pleased to show you our new stock, Come and open up an account with us. A small deposit and easy terms to suit your convenience.

432 George St. Phone 567

Children's Aid Society
For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 86 George Street

THE LIBERALS WILL FIGHT RECIPROCITY QUESTION TO A FINISH IN THE COMMONS

At a Caucus Held This Morning it Was Decided to Push Bill Through to a Vote—Will Make Personal Sacrifices to Do So.

DECLINE ADJOURNMENT

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 27.—At a well attended Liberal caucus this morning when stirring speeches were made by party leaders, it was decided to take up the challenge thrown out by the Conservative caucus of yesterday, and fight to a finish in the commons on the question of the reciprocity bill. The decision made was practically unanimous and all agreed to make personal sacrifices to do it. It is understood the Conservatives made a proposition officially to vote interim supplies and permit an adjustment to the middle of July to permit the attendance of Canada's delegation to the Coronation, but the Liberal caucus declined this concession, feeling that the government is in honour bound to push the bill through to a vote before the concluding present session. The feeling here this afternoon was very tense, the feeling being that this means the continuance of the session the absence of the Canadian members fro nthe Coronation, followed by the dissolution of parliament and general elections before the end of the year.

KILLS FIVE YEAR OLD SON

Special Wire to The Examiner.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., APRIL 27.—Under a delusion that somebody was trying to wreck her home, Mrs. Catherine Lutz, killed her five year boy with a razor and then shot herself dead.

Bad Fire In Buffalo To-day

Special Wire to The Examiner.

BUFFALO, APRIL 27.—Fire, accompanied by several explosions which injured several firemen, visited the heart of the business district this morning destroying the premises of the Buffalo Glass Co., East Seneca street with a loss of a quarter of a million.

"THREE SWALLOWS"
Sir John Power and Son's "Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—Famous for over a century. Of highest standard of purity. Distillers to His Majesty the King.

TWO DEAD IN A FIRE

Special to The Examiner :

PHILADELPHIA, APRIL 21. — Andrew Harigan, 55 years of age, James Johnson 42 years old, and an unknown foreigner, were burned or suffocated to death in a fire which destroyed a lodging house here to-day.

The Business World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES
Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES
Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON. - President

IS CHARGED WITH BIGAMY AND ABDUCTION OF GIRL

Special to The Examiner.

TORONTO, APRIL 27. —Charles L. Casselburg, 28, an electrician of Kerkimer, was arrested here this morning with pretty Hazel R. Britton, aged sixteen of Doldgeville, N. Y., charged with abducting the girl and committing bigamy by marrying her in Niagara Falls Ont., Rev. A. B. Kennedy, the Baptist minister of that city, performing the ceremony. The girl stoutly protested she knew that Casselburg had an other wife. They waived extradition and returned with a New York policeman this afternoon. Casselburg has a wife and family.

PICKED UP AMPUTATED ARM WALKED HOME

Special to The Examiner.

BRANTFORD, APRIL 27. — Mrs. John Smith, who has been acting strangely lately, walked out at three o'clock this morning along the Grand Trunk tracks and was struck by an engine and had her arm taken off. She picked up the amputated member and walked home, where she collapsed, and is now in the hospital in a precarious condition.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH WILL NOT BE REPRESENTED

Special to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, APRIL 27.—It is not likely that the Roman Catholic church will be represented by counsel, in the re-opening of the Heberts case next week. Canon Roy, of Archbishop Bruchesi's palace, said this morning that notwithstanding any decision that the Civil courts might give in the present proceedings; that the marriage was nullified in the eyes of the church and God and would remain so. George V. Cousins, counsel for Mrs. Herbert, admitted this morning that the money to test the case had been supplid by prominent Protestants.

SENATOR ROY GOES TO PARIS

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, ONT., APRIL 27.—Senator P. E. Roy, of Edmonton has been appointed the Canadian commissioner to Paris. Right Hon. Jas. Bryce, the British ambassador at Washington will be here next week in connection with the conference of Great Britain, the United States, Russia and Japan in regard to the seal fisheries and other same in the Arctic waters.

FIRST LINER AT QUEBEC

Special to The Examiner

QUEBEC, QUE., APRIL 27.— The Steamer Royal George, the first trans-Atlantic liner to touch Quebec this season arrived this morning amid a great celebration. She encountered an unusual amount of ice during the trip.

BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES
"My baby boy while nursing broke out with running, watery sores all over his head and behind his ears," writes Mrs. Oscar Vascott, St. Antoine, Sask. "Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered untold agony from the dreadful itching. Dr. Chase's Ointment soon made a lasting cure, and also cured an older son of eczema."

Abolish President's Veto Power

Special to The Examiner.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 27. —Victor Berger, the lone Socialist representative from Milwaukee, tried to fracture the United States constitution to-day by moving a resolution to wipe out the Senate and abolish the veto power of the President. He will be heard later.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c

FATAL AUTO MISHAP

Special Wire to The Examiner.

AMHERST, N.S., APRIL 27.—Mrs. Coulson, wife of Mr. H. S. Coulson, son of Duncan Coulson, the general manager of the Bank of Toronto, is dying as the result of an auto accident early this morning when her machine struck a pile of stone and she was catapulted with great force against the pavement.

Tonsils Are Cause Of Rheumatism

Special to The Examiner :

BALTIMORE, APRIL 27—Dr. Peterman a specialist, at an eye and throat hospital here, says the theory that rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood, is wrong, and that the tonsils are the cause in all cases. If these are removed before the patient is six years old, he says they will never have rheumatism.

BALD MEN

Should call and inspect the famous Sanitary Patent Toupees, as shown by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911.

These toupees are not only perfect in construction, but are the only Sanitary and Patented substitutes of one's hair.

800 Out Of Work

Canada Car and Foundry Co. Workshops Destroyed

Special to The Examiner.

AMHERST, N.S., APRIL 27.—Eight hundred men were thrown out of employment this morning by a fire which destroyed the workshops of the Canada Car and Foundry Co. The loss will be one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The cause is mysterious.

VINDICATED

Young Lady Wins a Novel Bobbie Skirt Wager

The bobbie skirt was vindicated yesterday by a Peterborough young lady, as the result of a novel wager. She happened to be walking in company with a young man, when the subject of conversation drifted to fashion's freakish dictates, more particularly, bobbie skirts, a typical specimen of which was being worn by the lady in question. Finally, the masculine end of the argument offered to wager that his companion could not walk up the post-office steps, three at a time. The lady was not to be bluffed, the wager was made and the feat accomplished successfully albiet with some difficulty.

GOOD-BYE TO BEAUTY
It is good bye to beauty when kidney derangements set in. The skin becomes hard and dry and the form wastes away and becomes emaciated. One cannot be too watchful and the safest way is to keep the kidneys as well as the liver and bowels, healthy and active by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. This ensures pure blood and a healthy digestive system.

The Best Used Exclusively

KRYPTOKS
Are supplied by the best Optometrists and Opticians throughout United States and Canada, and Peterboro is not slow in recognizing that it pays to pay a little more and enjoy the best possible aid to the eye. During the past few years the Optical Institute has supplied a a large number of Kryptok and Toric lenses, and the demand for these better qualities continually increases.

THE PETERBOROUGH OPTICAL INSTITUTE
In the Market Building, Peterboro, 332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1281 Machine 7
J. W. Browne, Optometrist

Conference In Regard To The Pact

Special to The Examiner :

NEW YORK, N.Y., APRIL 27. — President Taft opened the day with an earnest conference with the Republican leaders here on Canadian reciprocity. It is understood his persuasive powers were successful in the cases of several Republican Senators who had announced their intention of opposing the bill. This afternoon and to-night Taft continues his meetings, including one with prominent newspapermen on both sides of politics.

BOSS OVENS

For gas, gasoline and oil stoves. You can save one-half your gas bills by using a Boss oven on top burner of gas range. Every one guaranteed, made with patent glass doors or polished steel doors, or with oven thermometers, in various sizes, and sold as low as $1.50 up. Call and see them. The P. E. I. MacPherson Co'y Limited, 341 George street.

LEAVES FOR LOS ANGELES

Special to The Examiner

CHICAGO, ILL., APRIL 27.—Detective Wm. J. Burns accompanied by several fellow detectives as guards and two or three bags full of material as evidence, left here this morning for Los Angeles to prosecute the case against the alleged dynamitards. The railway officials smuggled them away secretly lest it is alleged an attempt be made to wreck the train. There is still trouble over the selection of lawyers to defend McNamara.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE

The Members of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. F., and visiting Brethren are requested to assemble at the Odd Fellow's Hall at 6.15 o'clock, p. m., on Sunday, April 30th, to attend Divine Worship at Knox Church. The Rebeccas will assemble in the School Room of the Church at 6.45 as usual. 3d-tfs

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all. We consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are bordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref: D. O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

MECCA OINTMENT
The great healer for all wounds and sores
25¢ at all Druggists

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 440 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.
R. H. GLOVER, Managing Director.
Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1911

MANNERS AND MORALS.

The dignified and ultra-loyal Montreal Gazette refers reverentially to the proposed laying of a corner stone of a public building in Montreal by his Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, as a "Job for Connaught." This flippant familiarity with dignities is characteristic of the levelling spirit of the age, and the decay of reverence, that is so painfully corrupting our speech and our manners. The Montreal Gazette is the leading journal of a party which objects to reciprocity because it will promote absorption of Canada by the United States. Yet it is doing its best to innoculate its readers with a disrespectful mode of mention and address of prominent personages, which is one of the worst features of United States phraseology and bearing. We have complaints too,—sadly justified—of the ill manners of Canadian children. This comes from the decay of reverence that marks the age, not only among the people generally, but among members of the press, and even occupants of the pupit. When we hear the Deity or the Redeemer referred to without any reverential qualification or prefix; when we hear the prophets and apostles referred to in the same manner, as "Matthew," "John," Paul," as a school boy would greet a chum "Bob," or "Tom" or "Dick," there is an omission of the formulæ of respect, a variant of the same spirit that leads the modern youth to refer to a venerable and respected senior of society as "old Jones," or "old Brown." Reverence is the fundamental quality of religion, which is simply a recognition of superiority of a recognized supreme being, and shows this recognition by observance of the bearing and performance of actions this admission demands. Amplify this idea and we come to the truth that morals and manners are unsparably associated. A truly good man will not have bad manners; he will refrain from assuming a bearing or committing an action that will hurt the feelings, or injure the self respect of another; or in any way be a breach of the Golden Rule. Good manners, so called, that have not behind them good feeling, are but a flimsy veneer, or amiable hypocricy. They no more indicate the true lady or gentleman than the gilding of clay makes the vessel pure gold. The bad manners of the children of the age come from a lack of religion, implied in lack of reverence and respect for elders and superiors in fact or position. As the heart is, so will the manners be. Bad manners, therefore, affect the morals. From disrespect—irreverence of persons and dignities—the step to disrespect for law, human and divine, is short, and the way smooth. The child that is not taught at home to reverence its parents, nor taught at school to reverence dignities and persons in authority, will be, with difficulty, brought to reverence divine things, divine laws or human law. The same lack of the spirit of reverence for good things that accounts for bad manners, accounts for, and leads to, bad morals. So that bad manners are indirectly responsible for the immorality that Mrs. Thornley, President of the W. C. T. U. of London, complains of among the children of the schools of the country.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

COWARDLY CONDUCT.

A man who would strike in the face, another man with his hands tied behind his back, counting upon the victim's powerlessness to hit back, would be called, and would be, a coward of the first quality. Yet that or something of parallel significance, is what a coterie of degenerate members of the Conservative Opposition at Ottawa, are guilty of doing almost every day. Sheltered behind the "privilege" of parliament, which relieves a member of parliament, from the operation of the law of libel, or of the lex talionis, they abuse, slander, villify and libel, persons outside the House, who cannot defend themselves, and can enter no legal proceedings for redress. An editor of a prominent journal, which happens to offend the sensibilities of these cultured gentlemen is abused on the floor of the House by these estimable gentlemen and he has no power to meet the slander on the ground of its utterance. A correspondent of the Globe, sent to his newspaper a true report of how half a dozen Conservative members, voted with their eyes shut, for the adoption of the reciprocity agreement, minus the schedule relating to fruit. These gentlemen, angered by their own stupidity, pounced upon the reporter, denounced him as a liar and libeller, although there was evidence, documentary and verbal, to prove that what the correspondent sent regarding the vote was true. When, in the interests of the reliability of press reports of parliamentary proceedings, and of simple fair play, an investigation was demanded, these libellers, protected by parliamentary privilege, opposed it and would not even listen to a letter of explanation and justification, but, entrenched behind their "privilege" added to the libel and vituperation. We can't expect much better from some of these men wo are akin 2 members who, having recently made gross misstatements of fact relating to government records; even when distinct disproof by the very records they pretended to quote, was presented, they refused, and still refuse, to acknowledge their error or retract their proven falsehoods.

We can't expect fair play and the conduct that marks the gentleman and man of honour, from men so constituted, any more than we can expect to get warm blood from a turnip. It is therefore no surprise to find these men or their kind, behind the proposal said to have been adopted by the Opposition caucus, on Tuesday, to continue the policy of obstruction to a vote on the reciprocity agreement.

It is difficult to conceive what the Conservative party as represented at Ottawa, hopes to gain by such a policy. They may obstruct, the business of the country, in parliament, but that will prove nothing. So can a rowdy or two, break up a public meeting and prevent the speaking. In either case, the confession is made that the facts are against the obstructionists, and the country where popular opinion is rapidly gaining strength in favour of reciprocity, will speedily see through the game, and in the interests of decency and in the interests of the country, will place condemnation upon the obstructionists and the party which they claim to, but which we are sure they do not, represent. It is a bad cause that makes such tactics the last resort.

FACT V. FICTION.

(Toronto Star)

Hansard is supposed to be the sort of a book that might be found on the shelves of a reference library. There are some parts of it, however, which are better suited for the fiction catalogue. Such a part was contributed by Mr. George Taylor, M.P., the other day, when he attempted ot show that the National Transcontinental Commissioners are wasting the country's money on champagne and other liquors. As a matter of fact, the commission has not purchased a dollar's worth or this type of liquid refreshment, yet Mr. Taylor deliberately declared that "the Prime Minister took $1,500 of the farmers' money and paid it out for champagne and other stuff for the commission." He made these statements, despite the fact that he had in his possession the Auditor-General's report giving details of the purchases which he was criticizing, and which did not include spirituous liquors.

This, however, is not the first time that Mr. Taylor has misinterpreted the Auritor General's report. In 1909 he read what purported to be an expenditure on a certain ship channel, including, he said, "Seven ladies' blouses at $13." Hansard reports him as follows:

"Mr. George Taylor—I am surprised that the right hon. Prime Minister can laugh at that. He is the trustee of the people of this country, and yet he will allow one of his ministers to put his hand in the public chest and spend money like this: One ladies' cloak, $25; eight ladies' costumes, each, $30.

"An Hon. Member—Who were the ladies?

"Mr. George Taylor—I do not know."

Enquiry elicited the astonishing fact that Mr Taylor had inserted the word "ladies" in both cases. It was not in the report, and the costumes and blouses were for the use of the sailors. The explanation which he offered the House was that in the trade these words usually referred to ladies apparel.

It is to be noted that in both cases Mr. Taylor took occasion ot sneer at the Premier personally. But his misrepresentations injure himself and his party more than they injure Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Opposition must indeed be hard up for scandal when it has to misread the Auditor-General's report in order ot give a semblance of reality to its fiction.

Ate Unwisely? Sometimes people do, and suffer, because the stomach balks.
NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS
relieve the discomfort at once, and help digest the overload. The lover of good things may feel quite safe with a box of NA-DRU-CO Dyspepsia Tablets at hand. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet send 50c. and we will mail them. 34
National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, - - - - Montreal.

Canada's Record Railway Year; Its Influence On Steel Industry

The Canadian railways within the past few days have closed up the last of their important contracts for material to be used this year, and the work let during the past month alone for Canadian products has amounted to tens of millions of dollars. If the statistics of railway construction expenditure this year were made public the man in the street would be amazed at the extent to which the present expansion of trade is done to the new railways.

The steel rail contracts of the Grand Trunk Railway, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Canadian Pacific Railway have not been made public, but the Canadian Northern Railway have just placed orders with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and the Algoma Steel Company for 105,000 tons of rails. It is said that of these orders 45,000 tons will be 60-pound rails and 60,000 tons will be 80-pound. The tonnage represented in these two orders alone will lay approximately 175 miles. At to-day's quotations on Canadian-made rails the amount of the two contracts represents an expenditure of $3,250,000.

The Dominion Iron & Steel Company received the larger order, its contract being for 60,000 tons, leaving 45,000 tons to the Algoma Steel Company. The orders call for the delivery of at least 15,000 tons per month, and all before the close of navigation. In addition, the equipment orders of the Canadian Northern Railways alone, which have been distributed among the Preston Car & Coach Co., the Canadian Car & Foundry Co., the Crossen Car Co., and the Nova Scotia Car Co., all being placed in Canada, amount to $4,500,000. The orders for fasteners, such as angle bars, spikes and bolts, generally represent about one-tenth of the rail tonnage, and this would be equal to an expenditure of an additional one half million dollars. This has gone to different steel plants throughout the country, and, in addition, there are contracts for locomotives in Toronto, Kingston and Montreal.

Of the Canadian Northern steel rail order 80,000 tons will be utilized for branch lines in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and in the main line west of Edmonton. Under these divisions 80,000 tons will be used to lay 775 miles of new line. In this Province sufficient steel will be provided to carry the line, at present under construction east of Toronto, into the city of Ottawa. There are 120 miles to be laid and 15,000 tons of rails to be used. Something like 10,000 tons will go to British Columbia for an extension of about eighty miles of the line there.

Railway men say that all the records will be broken this year if the labour marked is in even a fairly active condition. That is the great problem before the contractors now. The orders being placed for camp supplies in Toronto and Montreal indicate that contractors are expecting a fair supply of labour.

IS YOUR HAIR WORTH 50c?
Just think how much you would ask for if you were to sell it; still there are many who never realize the value of their hair until too late. They let the little dandruff germs dig into the hair roots day and night until all the life and vitality is sapped out of the hair and it becomes dry and harsh and comes out in comb fulls.
A large bottle of Sageine costs but 50c. and W. J. Kent, your druggist guarantees it to stop falling hair and itching of the scalp or money back. Get rid of the dandruff and make your hair healthy. SAGEINE will do it for you! Get a bottle to-day, make your hair just as clean and handsome as it should be. W. J. Kent, Druggist.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

Interesting Correspondence From the Examiner's Omemee Reporter

Special to The Examiner.

OMEMEE, APRIL 25.—Mr. A. E. Bryson left on Friday evening for Markdale, after having spent the vacation with his family here.

Mrs. Cunningham and daughter, Miss Mabel, returned to Peterborough on Saturday after visiting friends and relatives here.

Congratulations are in order to the Misses Nichols, McConnell and Balfour on the successful result of their examinations at the Peterborough Normal School. All these young ladies have secured schools for the Easter to midsummer term.

Mr. Wm. Smith left on Saturday for Walker's Point, to resume his duties as teacher at that place.

Mr. Cecil Mills went to Peterborough on Friday morning, where he has obtained a position in the Canadian General Electric Company's works.

We are pleased to see Mrs. Bert Sanderson home again, after having been in the hospital for some time.

Mrs. H. Shields visited in Oakwood last week.

On Friday evening Rev. H. Earle gave a very interesting lecture on "Newfoundland," illustrated with stereoptican views. Mr. Earle is thoroughly familiar with his subject and gave his hearers a very instructive address.

Mrs. Morrow and Miss Evelyn of Peterborough, were the guests of Mrs. Burns at the parsonage for a few days last week.

Miss Harmony Balfour has returned home after spending a couple of weeks with Toronto friends.

The annual thank-offering meeting of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church took place last Wednesday evening. The subject was "The Lepers of India," and several excellent readings were given, bearing on this topic. Mrs. Bryson and Mrs. Rutherford each contributed a solo, which were very much enjoyed. After the programme the ladies of the Society served refreshments, thus bringing to a close a very successful meeting.

Mr. Snider of Monford was an Easter guest of his son, Mr. H. Snider at the Junction.

Miss Sarah Lamb was in Toronto last week attending the marriage of Miss Bessie Cameron.

Mrs. Fielding and children of Cobconk, are the guests of her mother, Mrs. Evans.

Mr. Harry Balfour of Lindsay, holidayed with relatives around Omemee last week.

Mr. Sam Skuce left on Monday for Toronto, where he is engaged to work for the summer.

Thefu neral took place on Sunday afternoon of the late Miss Matilda Shaw of the Township of Ops. Rev. Mr. Woodger of Bethel Circuit, conducted the services, and the body was interred in Emily cemetery.

It is understood that several of our citizens intend taking in the coronation, among them Mrs. Clarke and Miss Hilda and Mr. Jos. Parsons.

Miss Edith Robinson entertained a few of her friends one evening last week.

Miss Muriel Morrison of Peterborough is pending some time with her mother. Miss Morrison's many friends are pleased to see her looking so well after her recent illness.

The building of the new town hall, given by Mr. J. C. Eaton to the village, has been commenced, and great interest is being manifested in the proceedings. A drainage system has been put in and we understand that Reeve Mulligan has promised a granolithic sidewalk in front of the new hall.

Mr. T. W. McLean of the Public School staff, was in Toronto last week.

Master Noel Clarke has returned to school after holidaying at his home here.

Mr. Sherin has pulled down the fence in frnot of the house occupied by Dr. Sutton, and we are informed that the fences on the two properties east of that will also be taken down. New fences will be put up after the sidewalk in front of the houses has been straightened. This will greatly improve the appearance of the street.

Charged With Rebating.

Cleveland, O., April 27.—Ten indictments on a total of 107 counts, charging four iron ore carrying roads entering Cleveland with rebating, and alleging that two of them were guilty of conspiracy to violate the Elkins law, were returned by the federal grand jury late yesterday. Several secret indictments of individuals whose names are withheld, pending their arrest, also were returned. The railroads are the Penna., the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, 37 counts; Bessemer and Lake Erie, 29 counts; and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis, six counts.

The Government's next step will be the issuance of warrants for the parties named in the secret indictments. The real sensation of the case, Attorney Day said, would come with the divulging of the names of individuals indicted.

The Veto Bill.

London, April 27.—The veto bill is making easier progress through the committee stage than had been anticipated, and it is probable that it will not be necessary for the Government to resort to strong measures to force its passage. According to The Times' lobby correspondent it will reach the second reading stage in the House of Lords before Parliament adjourns for the coronation, and although the Unionist leaders have not yet definitely decided upon the course they shall adopt there is an increasing disposition among the Unionists that the House of Lords should pass the second reading of the bill and endeavor to amend it in committee.

Attempt to Wreck Building.

Vancouver, April 27.—A powder explosion, believed by the police to be an attempt to wreck a four-storey building now in course of construction at the corner of Smythe and Seymour streets, occurred at 12.20 o'clock yesterday forenoon. No serious damage was done beyond the shattering of the floors and walls of the building and the breaking of the windows in the neighborhood.

IT IS EASY TO OWN A SINGER SEWING MACHINE
The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.
J. W. Stuart, Local Manager 347½ George St. Peterborough

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar, positively no return. Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail. References. Write for particulars.
MISS A. GRADUATE Box 269, Brampton, Ont

WORK WANTED

WORK WANTED BY THE DAY BY English woman. Apply No. 2 Benso nAve. 3d.98.4962

WANTED—BY WOMAN, LIGHT HOUSE work as general servant. No washing Apply Box 4949. 3d.96.4949

SITUATIONS VACANT

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $2 to $3 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience.—Winston, Limited, Spadina Ave. Toronto. 9d-98.4942

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1729, Lockport, N.Y. d6m128

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Heacock, B 1530, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 130

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 222 Albert St., Ottawa. d-6mos30.3694

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 592 Stewart St. 12d.89.4792

WANTED—ROOM AND BOARD BETWEEN Charlotte and Dalhousie St., by young couple. Must be first-class. Apply to Box 4946, Examiner. 3d-tts.96.4946

HELP WANTED—MALE

BOY WANTED—APPLY MADILL'S DRUG Store. 1d-98.4998

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED — BOY AT PETERBORO MATtress Co., Hunter St., East 3d.904987

WANTED — GOOD STRONG BOY FOR Driver. Apply after 7 p.m., 599 George Street. 3d-98.4984

GOOD SMART YOUTH WANTED TO learn the Barbering. Apply at No. 164 Simcoe Street. 3d97.9979

WANTED—FIRST-CLASS PAINTERS AND paper hangers. Apply W. A. Kingdon, 762 Water Street. 3d.96.4959.

WANTED—WATER BOY, WAGES $1.00 a day. Apply Clarke & Monde, Contractors, Auburn Power. 1d-98.4994

WANTED—AT ONCE, AN EXPERIENCED Hardware clerk, fine opening. Apply Peterborough Hardware Co., Peterborough. 3d97.4980

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons. $25.00 weekly, job guaranteed. $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1768, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-81.4631

WANTED—Competent men for Electrical Testing Department, must understand testing and adjusting Integrating Watt Meters; position permanent. Apply P. O. Box No. 2518, Montreal, P.Q. 2d97.4977

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.
FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-85.4701

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED — GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply 226 Brock St. 6d-98.4997

WANTED—AT ONCE, TWO FUR MAchine operators, permanent employment Apply Barrie's, Limited, George St. 3d97.4978

FIRST-CLASS TAILORESS WANTED AT once. Can make pants and vests good steady situation to right person. Apply M. J. Hickey, High-class Tailor, 434 George Street. 3d97.4974.

WANTED—SALESLADY, WRITTEN APplications will be received up to May 6th, state experience if any, also enclose copy of references. Apply Box 4996, Examiner office. 3d-96.4996

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker. Reference, state wages Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 544, Ring 3, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-98.4988

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St., Toronto Emily F. Francis. d.1m-84.4689

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A., British Canadian Industrial Company, 228 Albert St., Ottawa. d-6mos.92.4954

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER ST Apply Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr. d1f-94

TO RENT—SUITE OF ROOMS, WITH Modern Conveniences and centrally located. Rent, $18.00 per month. Apply 437 George Street d.tf-93

TO RENT FOR THE SUMMER—FURNISHed house centrally located, 469 Charlotte Street, modern improvements. Possession given first of May. Apply to G. W. Hatton, Solicitor 397½ George St. 6d-eod 92.4962

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 289 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Landy, 93 1-2 Hunter Street. d1f-76.4522

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough. d.87.

LOST

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

LOST IN TOWN ON THURSDAY EVENing, April 20th, red check blankets. Finder please. Leave at Examiner Office. 3d.97.4987

FOR SALE

PRIVATE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURNIture at 354 Water Street. 3d.98.4985

FOR SALE — BABY CARRIAGE, GOOD condition, cheap. Apply 461 Cedar St. 2d-97.4968

FOR SALE CHEAP—SMALL REFRIGERator, good condition. Apply Jas. R. Bell, 161 Hunter Street. 3d.98.4996

FOR SALE—GENT'S BICYCLE IN FIRST class condition, also three new tires. Apply 389 McFarlane Ave., East City. 3d.98.4948

FOR SALE—FACTORY SITE, 1¼ ACRE with siding of four cars on GTR Line, North end. Apply to the owner, 32 Bernardo Ave., City. 3d97.4963

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well-built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath and fitted good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 6d.98.4946

FOR SALE — MARTIN STRAIN WHITE Wyandotte and Thoroughbred Barred Rock Eggs for hatching $1 per setting. Archie Brault, 347 George St. 3d.98.4990

FOR SALE —HAPPY THOUGHT RANGE and Art Sovereign Feeder. Good Repair. Apply Mrs. Whatley, 397 Charlotte Street. 3d.98.4986

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once. —H. O. Stabler, 350 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Bethune street 4d-110 dw

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale
The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to
R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
2a-98

Chas. A. Stoneham & COMPANY
Commission Stock Brokers
23 Melinda Street - Toronto
Telephone Main 2580
Our business is strictly that of buying and selling mining securities on commission. We are not promoters and are in no way identified with new flotations. Our independence makes our advice particularly sound as we have only the interests of our clients to serve. We maintain correspondents in all camps and at all markets and are in constant touch with influential news. Our Weekly Market Letter, issued every Friday evening is a guide to market profits. Put your name on our mailing list. Private code books and market guide furnished free.
CORRESPONDENCE INVITED
Direct Private Wire to our Main Office, 54-56 Broad Street, New York 6m da5-11e

The Payton Pump Works
114 Simcoe St., Peterborough
Improved Wooden and Iron Pumps manufactured or supplied to order—Payton's Pumps have been in use for over 40 years, and are well tried and tested.
Pumps Repaired in most satisfactory manner.
Stickney Gasoline Engines, Toronto Windmills and Reliance Wire Fencing supplied to order. A call solicited
Merrell & Stephens
(Successors to late Jno. Payton)
TELEPHONES: Pumps Works 758, Residence 518

A Real Estate SNAP
Lots 37 & 38, Block 1, Buena Vista SASKATOON
$1050 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months
This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro
L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro 12d-98-4960

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip
will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust, wind and frost.
Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.
Painting, Decorating Kalsomining
Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.
Further Particulars From
J. H. VANCE
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?
If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:
Buy a Lot
and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by
J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
421 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

W. & A. KINGDON
Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.
All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch
Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials
Estimates Cheerfully Furnished
Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

A. Brown & Co.
406 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

Might & Taylor
376 Water St. Phone 99
Real Estate and Insurance
Lots on George Street South $300 each
$1350.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.
$950.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT
A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.
National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS
Including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.
Cash or Time Payments
Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. Phone 655

Summer Opening

About the tenth of May we will hold our Summer Opening when we will show hot weather ready-to-wear, and to make ready for them we are clearing out the remainder of spring suits and dresses and underskirts. Just now you can get all the latest spring suits and dresses for a fraction of their cost.

Beautiful Silk Dresses that would cost $33.00 to $40.00 to get made, will be cleared out at about..... $19.00
Cloth Dresses, beautiful styles, at about..... $10.50
The latest Suits, fine cloth, with good silk lining at from each..... $12.50

Come early while the choice is good. Third Floor.

Millinery

Our Millinery Department with wonderful rapidity has made for itself a most enviable name throughout our entire district. The beautiful artistic designs show evidence of rare skill. Like the picture of a master painter, there is not a touch lacking and not a touch is there too much.

Miss Noble never sinks her art into dollars and cents. She would sooner lose a sale than sell an unsuitable hat. She makes a careful study of faces and figures and thus you can always depend upon her hats giving a beautiful completeness to your costume, and though her hats are in a class by themselves they cost no more than the others.

Millinery Phone 354 Second Floor Miss Noble, HEAD MILLINER

Children's Headwear

Latest effects, ... 25c and up
See our new Mull Bonnet trimmed with beautiful embroidery (2ND FLOOR).... .... $1.00

Music

Everything up-to-date in music.
SPECIAL BARGAIN
Music slightly frayed 7c

Boot Sale

Ladies' Boots, none under $2.50 and up to $3.00, for $2.09

Ladies' Boots, 4 different styles, all sizes, for $1.25

Saturday only

Whitewear

Children's Drawers for ages 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, reg 25c a pair, Saturday only, 2 pairs for.... 25c

Children's Knitted Wool Bootees reg 10c to 30c a pair, Saturday only per pair. 5c

Children's Dresses in pretty American styles, full width, kimona sleeve, 2 to 5 years .. 50c
Second Floor

Hose and Underwear

Stockings

We pride ourselves upon our high class Hosiery and Underwear
See our boy's strong Hose, all sizes..... 15c
Ladies' fine thread Stockings in black and fancy shades..... 15c
Our Cashmere Hose is stronger and finer in quality than you usually see 25c-35c-50c

Underwear

Ladies' Vests with long, short or no sleeve, regular 25c for Saturday only 15c
Ladies' Knitted Combinations, regular $1.25, for Saturday only 69c
Ladies' Vests, fine thread, short sleeve..... 10c
Main Floor

New Combs, just arrived, from 5c to..... $3.00

ELLIOT'S

Try our Special $3.00 Long Corset

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. BRIGGS

(Continued from Wednesday)

He gazed at her across the room, into the two deep wells of her eyes, and again his muscles swelled, his chin stiffened. He stood there gazing and struggling with himself; his one personality gainst the other; the hair falling over his brows, the violin clasped in his arms.

Suddenly there came a knock at the door.

The Cossack gave a long sigh. He went up to Velasco slowly and took his hand, the hand with the bow.

"Great heaven!" he cried, "I am exhausted, I am limp as a rag! There is not another soul in Russia, in the world, who can play like that! You are marvellous, wonderful! All they said was too little. Monsieur—there is no further doubt in my mind. I ask your forgiveness. You are, you can be no other than he—Velasco."

The knock was repeated.

"Come in!" cried the Cossack. His voice was hoarse and he cleared his throat. "Come in!"

The door opened and General Mezkarpin strode into the room, followed by the Chief of the Third Section. The Cossacks saluted with their hands stiffly laid to their helmets; the officer stepped forward to meet them, bowing. All the assurance was gone from his manner; he was now the servant, the soldier in the presence of his superior. The General waved him aside. His face was florid and red; he was a large man, heavy with prominent features, and his sword clanked against the stone of the floor as he moved. The girl was still leaning against the wall.

When she saw him she gave a little cry and sprang forward, stretching out her hands. "Father!" she cried. "Father!" And then she stopped and clasped her hands to her breast.

"Is this the woman you meant?" said the General, turning to Boris. He spoke as if he were on the parade ground, every word sharp, caustic, staccato.

"Right, left, shoulder arms, march"—"Is this the woman?"

"It is, General."

"She was in the Duke's room?"

"She was."

"You found her in the train?"

"In the train, last night, with this man."

"You say she is an anarchist?"

"We have known it for some time, sir."

The face of the General turned purple suddenly and the rims of his eyes were red like blood. He approached the girl and stood over her, his fists clenched, as if he would have struck her, controlling himself with a difficult effort.

"You heard?" he said, still more sharply, every word rolling out apart, detached. "Is it true? Are you mixed up with this infernal Revolutionary business? My daughter! An anarchist against the Tsar? Look me in the eyes and answer. May all the curses of heaven strike you if it is true."

The girl looked him in the eyes, her blue ones veiled and dark, gazing straight into the blood-rimmed ones above her. "It is true," she said "I am an anarchist."

The purple tint spread over the face of the General, turning crimson in blotches. His limbs seemed to tremble under his weight, his fist came nearer.

"You fired the shot?" he cried. "You! Answer me, on your soul—the truth. It was you who murdered the Grand Duke Stepan? You?

The girl's face grew slowly whiter and whiter; the gold of her hair fell about her, her lips were parted and quivering. Still she looked at him and signed an assent.

"You—you shot the Grand-Duke?"

Her lips moved and she bowed her head.

The General stood paralyzed with horror. He was like one on the verge of apoplexy; his tongue stammered, his limbs refused to move. Then he drew back slowly, inch by inch, and stared at the girl with the anger and passion growing in his eyes.

"You are no daughter of mine!" he cried, stammering. "You are a murderess, a criminal! You have killed the Grand-Duke—in his own house you have killed him!"

"Father!—Father!"

He gasped and put his hand to his throat. "Be still! I am not your father. You are no child of mine. I curse you—with my last breath I curse you. Do with her as you like."

He turned to the Chief, staggering like a drunken man, panting. "Take her away—Take her out of my sight. Send her to Siberia, to the Mines—anywhere! Let her pay the uttermost penalty! Let her die! She is nothing to me! Curse her! Curse her! Curse her!"

The Chief made a sign to the Cossacks and they sprang forward, one on either side of the girl. She shrank back.

"Father!" she cried.

"Chort vozmi. I am not your father! Take her away, I tell you." With a stifled oath the General flung his hands to his head and rushed from the room.

Velasco still stood dazed, clasping his violin. He was shivering as though he had a chill, and the roughness, the brutality of the words, the slamming of the door, went through him like a knife. He dropped his violin on the litter of papers.

"By heaven!" he cried, "What a terrible thing! What brutes you all are! She is my wife—mine! No matter what she has done, she is my wife. Let go of her you savages!—Kaya! Help her, some of you—don't let them take her! They are dragging her away! Kaya! Stop them—stop them!"

He was struggling like a madman in the arms of the official, fighting with all his strength; but the muscles of the Cossack were like iron, they held him in a vice. The Chief sprang forward. They held him, and the girl was dragged from the room, brutally, roughly with blows.

She looked back over her shoulder and her eyes, with a strange, tense look, gazed deep into Velasco's. They were dark and blue, full of anguish. Her whole soul was in them; they were beseeching him, they were thanking him, they were saying goodbye. He struggled towards her. A moment—and she was gone.

The great door swung back on its hinges, the latch clicked.

A faint, low cry came back from the distance.

Velasco's arms dropped to his side and he stared fiercely from one official to the other. He tried to speak and could not. The cry came back to him, and as he heard it, his throat throbbed, his heart seemed to stop beating.

"You can go now," said the official "We know who you are, and there is nothing against you."

He whispered something to the Chief. They handed him his violin and his case, with its wrappings, and led him to the door. He followed them out, up the winding steps through the passages, out into the court, stumbling blindly.

"You can go—there is nothing against you."

He walked straight on with his head bent forward, his eyes on the ground. He clasped the violin in one hand, the case with the other. He was shivering.

The cry followed him out into the street. It rang in his ears. Her eyes were gazing into his with a strange tenseness. He could feel them. He was dumb, he was helpless.

Oh God—the cry again! It was low, it was faint, it was broken with pain. He stumbled on.

CHAPTER VIII.

"Is Monsieur Velasco in?"

"He is, sir."

"Tell him his manager, Galitsin, is here and must speak to him at once."

"Very well, Barin, but—he is composing. He has been composing for days—Monsieur knows?"

"I know," said the Manager.

He was a short, thick-set man with crisp, curly hair, a wide mouth, a blunt nose, and eyes that twinkled perpetually as though at some inward joke that he did not share with the rest of the world; they twinkled now and he snapped his fingers.

"Go ahead, Bobo, you coward. If he insists on hurling a boot at your head, why dodge it—dodge it! Or wait, stay where you are. I will announce myself."

The old servant retreated with alacrity down the hallway, stepping tightly as if on eggs with his finger on his lips, while the Manager opened the Studio door softly, without knocking, and closed it behind him.

Before the fire-place, with his back to the door, sat Velasco. His shoulders were bent, his head was in his hands; he was motionless. The Manager cleared his throat slowly with emphasis:

"Eh, Velasco, is that you?"

The young Musician leaped to his feet as if struck by a blow, and faced the intruder angrily, tossing the hair away from his brows. His face was pale, as of one who has watched instead of sleeping, and his eyes were haggard and bloodshot.

"A hundred devils take you!" he cried, "What are you doing here? I told Bobo to keep people out, the treacherous rascal! For heavens sake go and leave me in peace; I tell you Galitsin, go! Don't come near me."

The Manager laughed: "Composing Velasco?"

"Can't you see it? Of course I am composing. Go!" He waved his hand towards the door. "Don't talk."

"You must talk with me," exclaimed the Manager briskly, "Now Velasco, there's no use, you will have to listen to reason. The way you are behaving is outrageous, abominable! All your German engagements have gone to the wall. My desk is piled high with letters; the agents are furious. In Leipzig the Gewandhaus was entirely sold out a fortnight ago. In Dresden there isn't a seat left. Why the money loss is something tremendous! I had a telegram this morning; they are nearly crazy. You must keep your engagements; you will ruin your career utterly, absolutely. You will never dare show your face in Germany again. And here you sit composing—composing! Good heavens, you look like it! You look as if you had been on a bat for a week. You look drunk, Velasco drunk! I never saw such a change in a man! Come—wake up! Rouse yourself! Take the train to-night."

The Manager laid his arm on the young Musician's shoulder and patted it soothingly.

(To be continued)

You Can Cure Chest Colds

And Bronchitis by Using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine If You Get the Genuine

The mere mention of pneumonia and consumption causes a person to shudder, but a cold is such a common thing that it is too often left alone until these other ailments develop from it.

You can readily cure throat and chest colds, croup and bronchitis, by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This medicine is both thorough and far-reaching in its influence on the system. For this reason its merits are well-known and its sales enormous.

But there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. And imitations are always a little cheaper, how else would they sell. They are never sold on their own merit, but on the merit of the article they imitate.

Their likeness is in name only, and when you are in need of medicine you don't want to depend on a name or imitation. Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author. 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

REMEMBER that when you are right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are wrong you can't afford to lose it.'

"Although she had more than the ordinary womans provocation to scold, be it said to her eternal honour that she never raised her voice."

I know a woman who ought to have that for an epitaph.

And I think it would be an epitaph to be proud of.

This woman has four vigorous, healthily mischievous children, two dogs and a very nervous and quick tempered husband in her household, and yet, according to the testimony of all who have visited her, never in the course of her dealings with any of them has she been known to raise her voice to disagreeable heights.

Now does this mean that this woman is the weak, ineffectual sort of person who simply lies down and lets everybody trample upon her.

On the contrary. Her children almost always mind the first time she speaks; the two dogs, one of whom is a setter pup—and if anybody knows anything on earth more thoroughly obstreperous and habitually impervious to control than that, let him inform me; I don't—obey her as they obey no one else, and the nervous husband is more quickly calmed and rationalized by her voice than by any other influence.

The point is simply this: When the average person gets angry or excited or disturbed, or wants to emphasize something or to demand immediate obedience, he usually raises his voice and in so doing lets off steam just the way the steam engine does when it blows its whistle.

Now this woman, instead of letting off the steam by shouting, keeps all that suppressed energy right back of her even, level tones. The result is that one gets a sense of force from her low spoken words far beyond the impression that any shouting could give.

A man who can make a dog mind without raising his voice—

A mother who can make a child obey without raising her voice—

These are two people who almost always command respect from the impression of reserve force that they give.

I'm not so sure but that this would be a good test for a woman to apply to find out if she has a man or only a dress suit for a lover.

Does he ineffectually shout at the dog whom he would control, or win instant obedience by a low spoken word?

Is he a steam whistle or a steam engine?

Ruth Cameron

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

Facts About Motherhood

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at the time of child-birth, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when the strain is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, woman will persist in going blindly to the trial.

It isn't as though the experience came upon them unawares. They have ample time in which to prepare, but they, for the most part, trust to chance and pay the penalty.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes woman normal, healthy, and strong.

Any woman who would like special advice in regard to this matter is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. Her letter will be held in strict confidence.

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of
Vegetable and Flower Seeds
from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:
EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN DUTCH SETS and MULTIPLIERS
Golden Bantam Corn
Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year
Prepared Fertilizer
For LAWNS and GARDENS
Porter S. White
336 George St. Phone 208
City Agent for West End Green House

FUR STORAGE

Now is the time to have your furs looked after. We properly clean and renovate furs of all kinds, and protect them from moths and fire, during the summer months. PRICES VERY MODERATE.

Phone us and we will send for your furs. Both phones 340

BARRIE'S Limited

FURRIERS & HATTERS

Corner George and Simcoe Streets - PETERBOROUGH

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.
Agents for
Cobb & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Siding, Plasterers Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.
All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing
Including Brantford, Rubberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.
Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Ladies' Hair Store
All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.
All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.
We make a specialty of
Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment
Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.
Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Nets, Hosiery
MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1360

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.
JAY'S STORE
390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 628

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

RHEUMATINE For RHEUMATISM, LUMBAGO, SCIATICA, GOUT, NEURALGIA, and all Pain in the Muscles. 50 cts. Per Box. Prepaid. NORTHROP & LYMAN CO., LIMITED, TORONTO.

HATS

That are a Positive Pleasure to Wear

Hats that will give you fresh satisfaction each time you see their reflection in the mirror. Hats which have class and originality, artistic beauty and distinctive style. Many such here.

Not necessarily costly hats—but unusually charming ones. Hats that embody the latest style tendencies—leghorns, milans, hand-made braid hats—mostly small hats. Pierrot shapes, Napoleons, and other upturned rolling brim models—also hosts of novelties one and two of a kind.

Not a limited showing of a few popular styles, but an authoritative display of ALL the season's accepted fashions headwear.

Choose where you may give full sway to personal preference, where you will find the hat adapted to your type and coloring—EXACTLY the right hat at exactly the right price.

Not because they are reasonable in cost, though they are—but because they are charming and smart and of excellent quality do we suggest that you choose your Spring Hat from among this attractive collection of new models.

RICHARD HALL & SON

GEORGE STREET

CLEANING UP

Street Commissioner Has a Staff of Men at Work

The street commissioner and his staff of men are busily engaged these days, cleaning up the debris that has accumulated during the past winter, the memories of which have not yet passed into oblivion. Today and yesterday they directed their onslaught towards the reclamation of the market square, where they succeeded in making it look fairly presentable. The chief cause for this transformation was due to the removal of an accumulation of hay and other refuse. A great many of the house holders are also afflicted with the spring cleaning fever, as evidenced by the number of small bonfires throughout the city, while the fire department are working overtime in their endeavour to subdue them when they get beyond control.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. ROUTLEY'S Peterborough 379 George St.

New Wall Papers, New Dinner and Tea Sets, Window Shades, Brass Curtain Rods

Do not make the mistake of buying the above line of goods without getting our ideas and seeing what we have to show you.

Harmony is essential in every home. We have the Wall Paper and Dinnerware which will match your furnishings.

We keep a variety of qualities and prices to suit the poor as well as the rich.

Encouraged by our last week's selling and value giving we will go one better for you & make this week's business still greater.

Crockery Section

18 Dinner and Tea Sets, combined for $6.49, printed floral border on each piece, 97 pieces to each set, as follows:

12 Plates, 8 in.
12 " 7 in.
12 " 6 in.
12 " 5 in.
12 Cups and Saucers
12 Fruit Dishes
2 Vegetable Dishes
1 Gravy Boat
1 Cream Jug
1 Bowl
2 Platters
1 Sugar Bowl
1 Pickle
1 Fruit Bowl

$6.49

10 o. ft. Room Moulding ac ft.

10 patterns embossed gilt Wall Papers, with 18 inch borders and ceilings to match, ground color, in any desirable shade, suitable for any room or hall. Regular price 25c, price this week ... 15c

280 rolls German oatmeal effect Wall Papers, 12 to 18 rolls of a color, regular up to $1.50 per roll, clearing at ... 25c

380 rolls Ceiling Papers, assorted regular 10c to 20c, clearing per roll ... 5c

182 rolls leathers, suitable for bath rooms, dining rooms and bedrooms, regular $1.25, for per roll ... 49c

Peterborough's Building Permits Show Decrease "Construction's" Statistics

Doubling the investment of the previous month and noting an average gain of 8 per cent. over the corresponding period, the building situation, as indicated in the returns for March submitted to "Construction" reflects a development which if not proportionately as great as that noted in the early part of last year, shows a state of progress at least equal to that which has existed heretofore. An element of spectacularism as regards certain individual gains, and as consistent, steady, growth in general, both characterized the trend of operations for the month. Of the twenty-six cities reporting, eighteen steered a straight-ahead course, exceeding in some instances their former figures by a tremendously wide margin. Four of the more important places went $1,000,000 or better, seven other registered totals ranging from $100,000 up; while in a number of lesser centres, though the volume of work was not as great and the investment not quite so pronounced, the advance made was such as to give every assurance of a much more prosperous condition than existed in the previous corresponding period.

Winnipeg's heavy decrease (60 per cent.), was by far the biggest offset for the month, and this together with the set back of 38 per cent. experienced in the case of Ottawa, as well as the respective declines of 32 and 53 per cent. noted in the case of Lethbridge and London, put a big crimp in an average gain that otherwise gave every indication of being most promising. As it was, the situation throughout the country, gave the builders little or no reason to complain. Toronto's investment of $2,210,700, netting a gain of 39 per cent., reflects a state of enormous activity; but hardly is the total noted in this case of more striking dimensions than that recorded by Vancouver, where the work projected amounted to $2,147,798, as against $1,-883,136 in the same period last year. Unless a false impression prevails, both of the places are about to pass through a year of wonderful expansion, one in fact that will be well worth noting from month to month. Calgary also has designs on big things as is evidenced by her total of $1,0,2,260, which is just 143 per cent. better than her previous corresponding amount. Edmonton, which has a gain of 3 per cent., although less active, nevertheless registers a substantial amount, while Medicine Hat, in the same province, by an advance of 1,700 per cent., has the biggest proportionate increase noted in the list. Other Western gains are: Victoria, 14 per cent.; Moose Jaw, 25 per cent.; and Regina 65 per cent.; the investment in the latter place amounting to over half a million dollars.

Besides the two losses previously referred to Ontario sustained decreases in both the case of Peterborough and St. Thomas, although the falling off in either place, considering the comparative figures, really amounted to little. Aside from this the province in general witnessed a vastly improved condition. Fort William advanced 80 per cent.; Hamilton gained 21 per cent; and Kingston is ahead by 20 per cent. Gains were also made at Port Arthur and Stratford to the extent of 176 per cent. and 36 per cent. in order named, while Berlin submits a total of $29,295, which is definitely known to represent a larger volume of work than was undertaken in the same period last year.

The province of Quebec is represented by the figures of Montreal and Quebec City, and although the latter failed to furnish comparative amounts, the total registered is such as to indicate good headway. Montreal shows the same unremitting progress that has characterized her remarkable development during the past two years. Permits were issued for new work amounting to $1,101,577 as again t $676,804 in the same period last year the total noted being the third highest amount recorded for the month. East of these points, Halifax and Sydney are respectively in the arrear to the extent of 49 and 30 per cent., and St. John again fails to report. However, there are a number of towns in the maritime section, not included in the list, that are carrying out quite a representative amount of improvements.

As regards Winnipeg, it might be said that with such buildings as the Hudson Bay Company's new department store and a 14-storey structure to be built by an English syndicate in prospect, the outlook is most encouraging. In fact, a spirit of optimism prevails in general, and this in itself is a reliable indication that all sections are moving ahead under full steam and with the throttle wide open.

	Permits for March 1911	Permits for March 1910	Inc. Per Cent.	Dec. Per Cent.
Berlin, Ont.	$ 29,295
Brantford, Ont.	43,455	11,470	278.77
Calgary, Alta.	1,012,260	415,800	143.45
Edmonton, Alta.	276,825	266,585	3.84
Fort William, Ont.	166,850	92,585	80.21
Halifax, N.S.	22,000	43,800		49.77
Hamilton, Ont.	350,300	289,390	21.05
Kingston, Ont.	19,172	14,850	29.10
Lethbridge, Alta.	81,500	120,420		32.32
London, Ont.	65,638	139,700		53.02
Medicine Hat, Alta.	78,450	4,460	1700.00
Montreal, Que.	1,101,577	676,804	62.76
Moose Jaw, Sask.	74,100	58,825	25.96
Ottawa, Ont.	134,475	219,350		38.70
Peterborough, Ont.	6,655	10,327		35.56
Port Arthur, Ont.	14,810	5,365	176.06
Quebec, Que.	47,350
Regina, Sask.	545,025	329,650	65.33
Stratford, Ont.	8,580	6,210	38.16
St. Thomas, Ont.	8,650	15,500		44.20
Sydney, N. S.	12,440	17,935		30.07
Toronto, Ont.	2,210,770	1,583,165	39.64
Vancouver, B.C.	2,147,798	1,806,106	18.92
Victoria, B.C.	279,945	244,760	14.37
Windsor, Ont.	60,250	27,225	121.30
Winnipeg, Man.	1,007,400	2,543,150		60.39
	$9,805,560	$8,943,432	8.79

The Rules Of The Road Should Be Observed

The motor "fiends," after a winter of irritating hibernation, are again coming into their own. The roads about the country are rapidly improving, and as a result of the last few days' traffic, the tire-damaging humps have been worn off sufficiently to permit rides of any length the driver cares to undertake.

The "going" of course on the average road is still rather rough when the motorist is compelled to give half the thoroughfare to another. A further difficulty is that some residents of the rural districts take a peculiar delight in holding the centre of the road. Autoists, with the exception of a few irresponsibilities abide by the rules of the road. Many people of the rural districts also conduct themselves in a perfectly agreeable manner, but there are a few whose actions result in many difficulties.

There is plenty of room for all on every highway, if common courtesy is displayed by drivers of motors and horses. Every autoist on approaching a nervous horse, especially in charge of women, should slow down to a walk or if necessary draw to one side of the road and "stall" his motor. It will be found that frightened horses will invariably quiet down when spoken to reassuringly by some occupant of the machine.

On the other hand, farmers on being signalled by a motorist of his desire to pass from the rear, should draw to the right side, allowing the autoist to pass on the left side of the road. Each, of course should pass to the right when running in opposite directions.

The statutes relating to the use of highways provide a penalty for any person impeding the progress of another by refusing to give half the road, and should any person care to bring the matter into court, an example would no doubt be made as this is an offence which constables find great difficulty in securing a complainant.

These rules of the road are especially important in the early part of the season when the roads are in bad condition, and accidents may result from negligence.

South Beach Is Now Open For The Season

There can be no doubt that spring is here now. If the beautiful weather was not enough the announcement that "South Beach" the popular Clear Lake summer resort opened for the season yesterday should be sufficient guarantee that old winter's grip has been finally shaken off after a strenuous five months. The house has been placed in first class condition and Mr Brooks, the well known proprietor, is now ready to welcome his guests. "South Beach" will be favoured with the best of steamer accommodation. In addition to the services of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company and the connections with the Grand Trunk via Peterborough and Lakefield, the Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Company has arranged for a splendid service from Bobcaygeon. The steamer Lintonia will make connections with the morning C. P. R. train from Toronto at Bobcaygeon, and leaving that port at 12.20 will reach South Beach at about 4.30 each afternoon, so that guests for South Beach may leave Toronto at 9 a.m. and be at their destination before supper with the added attraction of a long sail through the most beautiful chain of lakes in Ontario. The Lintonia leaves South Beach each morning for Bobcaygeon, the resort being made the terminus of the run instead of Crowe's Landing as was the case last year. The Lintonia replaces the Maida Vale on this run.

The Results Of Senior Lower School Examinations At Collegiate Institute

Following are the results of the Senior Lower School Easter examinations at the Collegiate Institute:

Form 2A.

The following obtained pass standing (40 per cent. in each subject and 60 per cent. total):

1—L. Shearer ... per cent. 66
2—L. Scott ... 79
3—H. Greaves ... 70
4—G. Mather ... 67
5—C. Doughty ... 65
6—L. Copp ... 64
7—C. Feeney ... 62
8—V. Watt ... 62
9—A. Primeau ... 60

The following failed in one subject:

10 L. Cann ... per cent. 66
11—E. Ontram ... 63
12—F. Payne ... 62
13—M. Succee ... 60
14—W. Adams ... 60

Failed on the total and in one or more subjects:

15—B. Barry ... per cent. 56
16—E. Ingram ... 55
17—V. Hines ... 54
18—S. Shirwin ... 54
19—A. Gaskins ... 53
20—I. Mitchell ... 53
21—P. Butler ... 53
22—H. Elliott ... 52
23—M. McKim ... 52
24—H. Adams ... 51
25—L. Froom ... 51
26—R. Ferguson ... 46

Form 2B.

The following obtained pass standing (40 per cent. in each subject and 60 per cent. total):

1—C. Arnott ... per cent. 66
2—G. Duranceau ... 65
3—L. Anderson ... 65
4—F. Hooper ... 60
5—P. Curry ... 60

Passed on the total, but failed in one or more subjects:

6—L. Thorne ... per cent. 66
7—R. Kelly ... 65
8—D. Dobbin ... 63
9—M. Brooks ... 61
10—C. Giroux ... 61

Failed on the total and in one or more subjects:

11—G. Stevenson ... per cent. 58
12—I. Morphet ... 58
13—F. Scott ... 56
14—H. Davidson ... 55
15—W. Maher ... 55
16—J. McCabe ... 53
17—R. Beavis ... 52
18—J. Milloy ... 52
19—M. Kennedy ... 51
20—A. Waddell ... 47
21—E. Latimer ... 47
22—A. Horsfield ... 44
23—N. Wilson ... 43
24—J. Cressman ... 42
25—H. Gillespie ... 41
26—B. Spoffard ... 41
27—V. Armstrong ... 38

The following did not write owing to sickness:

B. Lees.
A. Logan.
N. Mather.
M. Morrison.

DON'T SCOLD HIM

Booth's Kidney Pills Will Relieve That Bladder Weakness

Mrs. J. Tait of Denmark St., Meaford, Ont., says: "Our nine years old boy has suffered severely with kidney weakness or bed wetting for over two years. Several remedies have been used to cure the trouble but none gave any relief until he used Booth's Kidney Pills. This medicine went right to the cause of the trouble, removed same and to-day the boy is practically devoid of all kidney complaint. I wish all mothers knew of this excellent curative remedy and am glad that Booth's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice."

Booth's Kidney Pills are guaranteed and sold by all druggists 50c. or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co. Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Trial box sent to any anxious mother. There's a reason for your child's weakness and we think you will find that it is due to weak kidneys. Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by Wm. Madill.

FUNERAL OF LATE SENATOR FORGET

Hon. Senator L. J. Forget, died suddenly at Nice, on April 7th. His remains were brought to Canada for interment. The funeral ceremonies took place in Montreal on April 26th. The funeral mass was celebrated in St. James' Catchdral and interment took place in the Cote de Neiges cemetery. An immense attendance testified to the respect in which the deceased senator was held. The following sketch of his life is furnished by Mr. J. A. Delisle, Nassau:

Hon. Senator Forget, was one of Canada's leading financiers and politicians. He was born in Terrebonne, March 11th, 1853, and belonged to an old Norman family, which came from France in the 17th century. He was educated at Masson College and went to Montreal in 1873 and first was engaged on La Minerve, French journal, and after in a broker's office. In 1876 he married Maria, daughter of the late G. A. Raymond, of Montreal.

His rise in the financial world was a phenomenal one and was accomplished by hard work and great financial ability. He founded the firm of L. J. Forget & Co. bankers and financiers. He did one of the largest stock brokerage businesses in the Dominion. In 1892 he was elected president of the "Compagine de Chemin de fer Urbain de Montrial" — Montreal Electric Street Railway.

In 1896 he was elected President of the "Compagine de Navigation du Richelieu"—Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co. He was elected president of the Montreal stock exchange in 1896 and re-elected in 1896. He was called to the Senate in 1896. He was director of Notre Dame hospital and governor of the General Hospital and Western Hospital and Vice-President of the Governors of Laval University and a life governor of the Antiquarian Society. He was also director of the Royal Victoria Assurance Company.

The late Senator was only 58 years of age. He leaves a widow and four children. His estate is valued at about $4,000,000.

CLEANLINESS & CONVENIENCE

The rules of the Jewish religion compel the ladies to take an active part in the preparation of food, their utensils must be sanitary, and as a result their kitchens are models of cleanliness and convenience. "Consequently," says Mr. Brown, the local "Wearever" aluminum ware man, "the big Jewish element in Montreal was the mainstay of our business there." Peterboro ladies find the motive of cleanliness sufficient without a religious mandate. ("Wearever" sample room at 374½ George street. Open Saturdays or at any other time by appointment. Call 426 Bell phone.) 14-28

A FAMOUS LECTURE

William Jennings Bryan on "The Prince of Peace"

Those who are anxious as to the effect of the "New Theology" upon the mind the public will be pleased to learn that a layman who occupies the place of leadership in one of the great political parties of the United States, Mr. Wm. Jennings Bryan, speaks with no uncertain sound on this question. In his famous lecture "The Prince of Peace." Mr Bryan says, "It is true that man, in some physical characteristics resembles the beast, but man has a mind as well as a body, and a soul as well as a mind. The mind is greater than the body and the soul is greater than the mind, and I object to having man's pedigree traced on one-third of him only and that the lowest third. Fairbairn, in his "Philosophy of Christianity" lays down a sound proposition when he says that it is not sufficient to explain man as an animal; that it is necessary to explain man in history—and the Darwinian Theory does not do this. The ape, according to this theory, is older than man and yet the ape is still an ape while man is the author of the marvelous civilization which we see about us." Mr. Byron is a silver-tongued orator 'it is true, but he is a great deal more than that. He is one of the wide-awake thinkers of the United States and all that he says is worth listening to. He will deliver his lecture in the Grand Opera House on May 18th.

AT HOME

At Mrs. Gilbert's, 270 Sherbrooke St., under the auspices of All Saint's W. A. on Friday afternoon and evening.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, begs to announce that he will be at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911, with a complete display of the newest London, Paris and New York creations. You are invited to call and inspect his goods.

NEW YORK MILLINERY

Ladies have the advantage of receiving free votes for the Library Contest with all fashionable millinery bought at Miss McGiverin's, 431 George St. Special close prices Friday and Saturday. Come. 3d6-tf

BIRTHS.

BATHGATE.—At 158 Douro street, East City, on Saturday, April 22, 1911, to Mr and Mrs. George Bathgate, a daughter.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heal the throat and lungs. ... 25 cents

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only

$1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY

163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 George Street

Mendel's Art Photos

Have something more than the ordinary in them. They attract and hold the admiration because they are artistic in every line.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

FRESH MAPLE SUGAR Guaranteed PURE

T. H. Hooper
327, 414 and 601 George Street

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

Is stocked with some prime beef —b has never been shown in rborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladies of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a sperially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG
Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a line by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

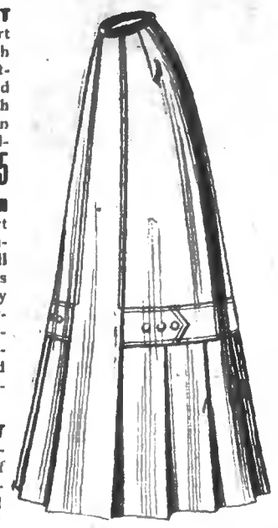
The Lendrum Studio
Ground Floor. 170 Charlotte st

Summer Time is Skirt Time

—THE SKIRT AND BLOUSE SEASON—

Three Days' Clearing Sale of Odd Skirts

In going over our large stock of Women's Skirts recently we found about two dozen odd skirts—ends of sold out lines which we deem it wise to close out now while the demand is on for separate skirts. These garments are not in the latest "hobble" or "harem" styles, yet they are good styles, nice cut and trimmed in neat staple effects—not extreme and freaky—the skirts we would like to see our mothers or lady friends dressed in. There are only one of a kind in most cases and not more than two in any line. Three days does not last long, so the sooner you make your selection after Thursday morning at 8:15, the more chance you have of securing a skirt that will fit you. All are qeually good values even to the last one. Not shop-worn or soiled, not samples or job lots. Come early Friday morning—that's to-morrow. Sale ends Saturday night.



$15 BLACK VOILE SKIRT $7.85 —A natty skirt made of black French voile trimmed with satin braiding and reversed box pleats, sides with bands of black satin edged with braid. Usually $15.00, Three Days' Sale price $7.85

PRETTY BLUE VENETIAN SKIRT $7.85—This skirt cannot be bought regularly for such a small price but for three days only we offer it at only $7.85, being an odd garment, inverted box pleated panel front with clustered self strappings and buttons. Very fine quality imported fabric.

BLACK PANAMA SKIRT $7.85—Natty $12 pleated skirt with panels of self strappings and trimmed with self covered buttons. A truly good value skirt. Three Days only.. ..... $7.85

VOILE SKIRTS FOR $7.85—A very fine range of English and French voile skirts in a variety of trims, no two alike and all worth from $12 to $15. Some braided, some self trimmed, some trimmed with satin. All on sale Thursday at only.. .... $7.85

$8 BLACK VICUNA SKIRT $4.95—Fine soft finished imported vicuna in a good fast black, skirt in nice tailored style with double stitched stropped seams, lightly trimmed with self covered buttons, two sizes only. Regularly priced at $8.00, Three Days' price $4.95

$8 FRENCH VOILE SKIRT $4.95—Very fine quality French voile in black only, plain tailored with front trimmed with silk piped button effect, high waist band, a really big value skirt at $8, Three Days' price $4.95

$8 BLUE VENETIAN SKIRT $4.95— Excellent quality venetian cloth skirt in navy blue, trimmed with graduating box pleat back and front in combination with side pleats, also silk piped folds on each side, one size only. Regular $8, Three Days' price..... $4.95

NATTY $8 VENETIAN SKIRT $4.95—A very pretty venetian skirt with satin faced strappings in graduating panel effect joining at the back, skirt is button trimmed, two sizes only. Regular $8.00, Three Days' price..... $4.95

If you have wall papering to do, do it now. Select your wall decoration and housefurnishings all at one store-Cressman's

Cressman's Department Stores

We have the latest 1911 ideas in wall papering for your benefit—Wall Paper, Carpets, Rugs, Curtains, etc., on our third floor

THE STEAMBOAT MEN ARE GETTING BUSY

Steamers Leave Winter Quarters To-day and Are Being Made Ready for the Season---Activity Around Wolfe St. Wharf and the East City Dock.

Navigation on the river is again getting in motion. It will be in full swing in the course of a week or so. Considerable changes will be made in the local navigation this season. The Water Lily and the Manita will be ready for the season's business next week, and the Monarch will be pulled out on the shore in East City, and will undergo extensive renovation, after which she will go to Bobcaygeon for the season. The Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Naivgation Co. have purchased a new boat about the size of the Monarch, back north, and it will make the trips made by the Monarch last season.

This morning, after towing the steamer Otonabee from her winter quarters over to the East City dock, and the Water Lily over to the Wolfe Street Wharf, the Monarch brought a scow loaded with the old McCallister grain store house over to Wolfe Street Wharf. The building was unloaded by Alf. Huffman, at the Wharf this morning. The P. & L. S. Navigation Co. intend putting it just inside the board fence at the Packing House, to serve as a sort of baggage room, and a small office will also be made in it.

The two old barges, which became waterlogged and sank at the Wolfe Street wharf, last autumn, were towed over to the McDonald Co's. mill last night, out of the way. The water in the river at present is quite high, considering the small quantity of rain which has fallen.

Hon. Mr. Stratton Carries Off More Blue Ribbons Two Firsts, Three Seconds

TORONTO, APRIL 27.—Interest was kept up yesterday morning, afternoon and evening, in the horse show at the armouries. The crowd at night was probably slightly smaller than at the opening, though none the less fashionable.

In Class 32, for qualified hunters. Hon. Clifford Sifton scored with his ch.g. Elmhurst, perfect in conformation, disposition and gait, and a beautiful jumper. Mayfair was a good second, and Mutineer third.

The butchers' class went to George Clayton's Golden Queen, a beautiful road mare, and possibly not so suited for delivery as A. W. Holman's Silverheels, that took second. Mr. Holman's Meadowlark was a good third.

In Class 20, harness tandems, Hon. R. Beith won with his perfectly-matched pair of bays, Hon. J. R. Stratton's chegnuts a close second, and Miss Wilks' dark brown and chestnut mares, that had style, but not the speed, third.

Ac. Jarvis' three greys won the hunters' competition without a skip, though the Sifton bay and two chestnuts went over better in line. Mr. Sifton's three bays were third.

Hon. J. R. Stratton scored easily in the runabout class with The Midget, a little b.m., that shot down the slides like a 2.30 trotter. A. E. Yeager's Hotspur and the Toronto horse Cumberland Free Trade, were bang-up second and third.

Hon. Mr. Stratton's None Nicer, ch.m., outclassed her field in combination, Class 23. She was ideal in harness and under saddle.

In the morning Halfling, bought out from England as a colt by J. E. Seagram, and owned by the Messrs. Patterson of East Toronto, won the thoroughbred stallion class. Hunters, trotters, saddle and harness horses had the tanbark in the afternoon. The following is the list of some of the day's awards:

Class 8—Appointment class, amateurs only, mare or gelding, not under 15 hands 1 inch. To be shown to a gig and driven by the exhibitor. Horses to count 50 p.c., vehicle and harness 40 p.c.—1, Lord Myrick, Ennisclare Farm, Oakville; 2, My Pride, J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; 3, Casa Loma, Matchless, Sir H. M. Pellatt, Toronto; 4, Aria, Wm. P. Kearney, LL.B., Westmount, Que.

Class 6—Pairs of mares or geldings not exceeding 15 hands 2 inches—1, Flourish and Fireworks, Hon. Robert Beith; 2, Lochryan Princess and Latest News, Hon. J. R. Stratton; 3, Eye Opener and Look Out, A. Yeager, Simcoe; 4, Hotspur and Larkspur, A. Yeager, Simcoe.

Class 20—Harness tandems, mares or geldings—1, Hon. Robert Beith, Bowmanville; 2, Hon. J. R. Stratton Peterborough; 3, Miss K. L. Wilks, Galt; reserve, Smith and Clancy, Galt.

Class 11—Runabout, horses, mare or gelding, to be shown to a runabout, horse to count 50 per cent, runabout and appointments 50 per cent. The horse must not exceed 15 hands 2 inches, should have conformation style, all round action, pace and good manners; horse must stand without being held—1, Midget, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; 2, Hotspur, A. E. Yeager, Simcoe; 3, Cumberland Free Trade, Cumberland Stables; 4, King Bee, Burns and Sheppard.

Class 23—Mare or gelding, not over 15 hands 2 inches; to be shown first in an appropriate vehicle and judged for harness purposes; the horse to be unharnessed and to be shown and judged under saddle. The horses best suited for both these purposes to be awarded prizes in order—1, None Nicer, Hon. J. R. Stratton; 2, Day Dream, A. Yeager, Simcoe; 3, Labette, Mrs. Allen Case, Toronto; 4, Joe Ann, Fisher Wilmore, Corbyville.

In Class 20, Harness Tandems, the audience did not take kindly to the decision of the judges and showed their appreciation of the Stratton horses, it being contended that Beith's entry was a pair, not a tandem.

A moth is very small but the damage it can do to fur articles is disastrous.

Let us send for your Furs and save you all of your worries from moths and fire at small expense.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter :: ::

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-NIGHT

The season's musical event, John P. Slocum's Opera Co., in the New Viennese Comic Opera

X X "The Kissing Girl" X X

From the German by Leo Stein, author of "The Merry Widow." Adapted for the English stage by Stanislaus Stange, author of "The Chocolate Soldier". Music by Harry Von Tilzer. Lyrics by Vincent Bryan with Texas Guinan and the young English Premier Dansense, Mlle. Vanity. All star cast and big beauty chorus. Prices, 25c to $1.50. Seats Now on Sale

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SAT., APRIL 29th

MATINEE AND NIGHT

The Greatest of all Farce Comedies

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

By William Gillette

An All Star English Company, with C. JAMES BANCROFT as the Rev. Robert Spaulding as played by him over 2000 times in England.

PRICES—Evening, $1.00, 75c, 50c, & 35c. Gallery 25c.

Mantinee, 50c 35c 25c Seats now on Sale

YOUR CHANCE

to get Your New Spring Suit or Coat

this season for less money than ever before is at H. Zack's Ready-To-Wear Store for ladies and men.

We offer the latest and most up-to-date lines in

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing & Furnishings, Men's Spring Suits and Coats, and Ladies' Fine Suits, Skirts, Waists & Millinery in strictly latest styles, at positively lower prices than elsewhere. You are always welcome here

H. ZACKS

Ready-To-Wear Store for Ladies and Men

522 George Street - - Phone 711

First Initiated Member Of Peterborough Lodge I.O.O.F. Is Dead In The West

A telegram received to-day announced the sudden death of Mr George H. Johnston, in Lethbridge, Alberta, last night. He was the oldest son of the late Wm. Johnston. The members of the family now left are his brother, A. J Johnston, Druggist of this city, and two sisters, Mrs T McJanet of Ottawa, and Mrs. J. H. Billington, Winnipeg. Mr. Johnston was born in Peterborough, July 15, 1849. While here he clerked for some years with the late Thos Bradburn, later going to the firm of Messrs Hall & Innis. He left Peterborough in 1882 for Stonewall, Man., where he resided for about five years, going from there to Lethbridge, where he has since resided.

While in Lethbridge he was for many years in business, taking an active part in the building up of that city. He has been a member of the School Board in Lethbridge for some years, and was Past Master of Lethbridge Lodge A. F. and A. M.

When in Peterborough Mr. Johnston was quite prominent in the Odd Fellows, having been initiated in Peterborough Lodge, July 2nd, 1873. He was the first initiated member of that Lodge and has remained in good standing ever since, having passed through all the chairs before leaving Peterborough.

When here he was quite active in musical circles, especially in the choir of St. Paul's Church. He was also connected with the work in St. Paul's Sunday School. He has been an Elder for some years in Lethbridge Presbyterian Church.

In 1884 he was married to Miss Jennie Beynon, daughter of the late Rev. Geo. Beynon of the Methodist church. He leaves one son, Fred.

Mrs. Johnston is bringing the body for burial to Peterborough, and expects to arrive Monday or Tuesday next.

The funeral will likely take place from the residence of his brother, A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun Ave. The day and hour will be announced in Monday's paper.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION

For the next Homeseekers' excursion on May 2nd ,the Grand Trunk Railway will operate a through Pullman tourist car, Toronto to Winnipeg and Edmonton via Chicago, St. Paul and G.T.P., leaving Toronto at 11 p.m. Rates, berths, etc., the same as via other route. No trouble with customs, transfer, etc. Reserve berth early from B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, 334 George street.

IMPORTANT SECTIONS OF THE FISHERY ACT

Fishery Inspector Watt wishes to call the attention of the public to the two following sections of the Ontario Game and Fishery Laws about which there seems to be some doubt in the minds of a number of Peterborough people:

Section 61, sub-section (2)—The finding of any nets, fishing devices or orther articles set or maintained in violation of this act shall be prima facie evidence of the guilt of the person or persons owning, possessing or operating the same.

Sub-section (3)—In all actions and prosecutions under this Act the possession of guns, decoys or other implements of shooting or hunting in or near any place where any game has been or is likely to be found, shall be sufficient evidence prima facie that the person or persons in possession thereof were hunting or shooting such game.

The suckers have begun to run and Inspector Watt states that it is permissible to use dip nets to capture these fish. Of course the permission to use nets will be rescinded when the game fish make their appearance.

TRANSFERRED TO PETERBOROUGH

Local students of the International Correspondence Schools will be pleased to learn of the transfer of Mr. F. J. Macdonell to this district. Mr. Macdonell has been engaged in special organization work for the I. C. S. in Eastern Ontario for the past two years, and is not a stranger to Peterborough, having made periodal visits of inspection here, where he is well and favourably known.

The management of the Canadian branch of this world-wide institution showed their keen interest in the welfare of their local students, by placing a local manager of Mr. Macdonell's experience and ability in charge of this end of the work.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

OBITUARY

MRS. THOS. BODDY.

Word has been received by friends here of the death in Streetsville, Ont., on Tuesday night, April 24th, of Mrs. Boddy, wife of Mr. Thomas Boddy, who for a number of years was ticket agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mrs. Boddy during her residence in Peterborough enjoyed the affection and esteem of a host of friends who will regret to learn of her demise. The funeral will take place to-day at Streetsville.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Open for Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 686 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

COMING

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto will be at the Oriental Hotel Peterboro FRIDAY MAY 5th with a large & varied stock of the newest Parisian, London and New York Creations

SWITCHES TRANSFORMATIONS POMPADOURS CURLS PUFFS, Etc.

Ladies with thin hair will be interested in our improved transformations. The new designs in Curls are very dainty and attractive. We invite your inspection of these goods.

Dorenwend's Sanitary Patent Toupees,

for Men Who Are Bald, are so constructed that only the wearer will know that it is not their own hair. They give the protection necessary to physical health. Adjust themselves as readily as your own hair would. Light, strong, made in any style, shade or shape.

THE ONLY SANITARY AND PATENTED TOUPEES MANUFACTURED

(Do not fail to call and see them)

DORENWEND CO. OF TORONTO, Ltd

The House of Quality Hair-Goods, 103-5 Yonge st.

KODAKS

We have a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Amateur Photographic Supplies.

Any size film developed for 10c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST

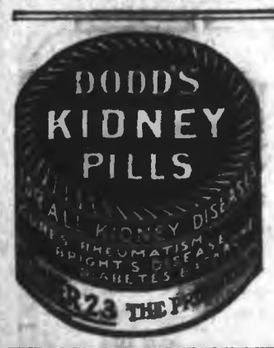
(AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH)

Advertise in the Examiner

"Grand" To-night, Texas Guinan and Company of 60 people in the Viennesse Comic Opera "The Kissing Girl" direct from Princess Theatre, Montreal



MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, L. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialties of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 429. 149 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 189 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 264 Rubidge Street. Phone—Bell 694, Mach., 694. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. M. RIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Off 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 89. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 1 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

G. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 320 Hunter street, or at residence, 328 Hunter Street. Telephone No. 23.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, REDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices . . . 379 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Offices, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, E. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, REDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, S. T. Redd, W. S. Davidson.

W. E. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

E. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 275 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetizing, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

LABOURITES ARE BEATEN

Australian Ministry Receives a Staggering Blow—Loses on Referendum—Premier Fisher Asks for Popular Vote

ADVERSE ANSWER

Melbourne, Australia, April 27—Two important constitutional questions were submitted to a referendum yesterday. The first aimed to give to the Commonwealth Parliament greatly extended powers over all matters relating to trade, commerce and industry, in fact, vesting in the Federal Parliament supreme power to the detriment of the State Legislatures, which heretofore had complete control within their own states. The second sought to give the Commonwealth legislative power to declare any industry or business a monopoly and nationalize it.

A bitter campaign had been fought out on the questions and both measures were rejected by large majorities. The two bills were passed last November by both Houses, subject to submission to a referendum, and their rejection yesterday is considered a crushing defeat for the Labor party.

The position of the Commonwealth Ministry has been shaken by the defeat of its measures by a referendum. The Premier, Andrew Fisher, is now on his way to London, where he will arrive May 19, for the coronation. It is not expected that he will resign, but the Government legislative program will be fundamentally curtailed.

A NEW HAVEN CHILD

Restored to Health by Vinol—Case Interests Many Parents

"My little daughter ever since her birth had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worriment. Several months ago I secured a bottle of Vinol and commenced to give it to her. I immediately noted an improvement in her health and appearance. I gave her three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you edaim and I want to recommend Vinol to any one who desires to build up a weakened, run-down system."—J Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers,—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol,—and the strongest evidence that Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people, and the weak, run-down and debilitated, is our willingness to return the purchase money in every case where it fails to give complete satisfaction.—McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

IN U. S. HOUSE.

Debate on Free List Goes on Among Representatives.

Washington, April 27.—The House bill to increase the House of Representatives to a membership of 433 and apportion the members throughout the States on the basis of the recent Federal census will be discussed in the House to-day.

The tariff debate yesterday covered broad lines. Mr. Norris of Nebraska attacked the combination controlling the Brazilian coffee output, and urged changes in the existing tariff laws, which permit the United States Government to break up the control now exercised by the Brazilian combination over the wholesale price and the supply of coffee in the U. S. market.

Mr. James of Kentucky delivered the most stirring Democratic speech in support of the free list measure, replying to the criticisms of the bill made Tuesday by minority leader Mann, and attacking the Republican policy of protection. Mr. Hobson of Atlanta also spoke in favor of the measure, pleading for greater consideration for the cotton growing industry, and the development at home of the trade in cotton fabrics now partially monopolized by foreign countries.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY,

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.
Must Bear Signature of
Brent Good
See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS
FOR HEADACHE,
FOR DIZZINESS,
FOR BILIOUSNESS,
FOR TORPID LIVER,
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN,
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Purely Vegetable. Brent Good

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

REFORM OF COPYRIGHT

Hon. Sidney Fisher's New Bill Was Given a First Reading in the House Yesterday—Canadian Address

FOR CORONATION

Ottawa, April 27.—It fell to the Nationalist leader in the Commons to call Parliament's attention to the position of Canada in connection with the forthcoming coronation of his Majesty George V. The Conservative Opposition is engaged otherwise. According to his official statement issued at the close of its caucus yesterday morning, it is planning a "fight to the bitter end," which will prevent Canada's representation at either the Imperial Conference or the coronation.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to a question by F. D. Monk, said it was not the intention of the Government to introduce legislation this session to regulate the allocation of water powers controlled by the Dominion.

Sir Alan Aylesworth, replying to Mr. Monk, said that the Government was not aware of any existing treaty or national agreement which would have application to the use by the Americans of the Georgian Bay Canal when it is completed.

Mr. Monk had still another question to ask informally. It had been stated, he said, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would sail for Great Britain on May 12 to attend the Imperial Conference and coronation of King George. He understood that it had been the custom in the past for Parliament to pass an address to the reigning sovereign on the eve of his coronation. He asked if such an address would be conveyed to His Majesty by the Ministers who would attend the coronation, and suggested that prompt action be taken, because not much time remained and the address would have to be engrossed. Mr. Monk asked if the matter had escaped the attention of the Prime Minister.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it had not. He was inquiring as to precedents and would give a reply at an early date.

Hon. Sidney Fisher's new copyright act, after an explanation by the Minister and some discussion of the resolutions on which the bill is based, was given a first reading. The effect of the bill, which has already been explained in a general way, is to provide for reciprocity in copyright between Canada, the Mother Country and the other dominions which make up the Empire. Mr. Fisher said the bill would follow the lines of the British bill, which has received a second reading in the Imperial House, as far as it applies to Canadian conditions and requirements. The period of copyright protection will be the same as provided at the international conference on copyright, which is for the life of the author and fifty years thereafter. The bill also provides that when copyright protection is secured in the Mother Country or another colony, it applies also to Canada, and that a Canadian copyright similarly holds good in any part of the Empire.

Hon. Frank Oliver had in hand two bills relating to Canada's Indian wards, the discussion of which introduced the old question of the right of the white people to interfere with the treaty rights of the Indian population. The main discussion occurred over a bill to amend the general Indian Act. Its purpose is to provide that the Dominion Government may at any time it is deemed expedient take an Indian reserve, the Exchequer Court to decide what compensation shall be given the Indians in the way of lands or cash.

Mr. Oliver assured the House that it was the policy of the Government to keep faith with the Indians and treat them fairly, but that the interest of the public was paramount.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was not always in the interests of the Indians to allow them to live near large towns and cities, where they could pick up the vices of the white races.

R. L. Borden protested against there being any breach of faith with the Indians in any case.

J. E. Armstrong by way of amendment moved that in all cases where lands are alienated they must be sold by auction after three months. Mr. Oliver accepted the amendment. The second bill dealt with the Songhees reserve.

LENGTH OF A DAY

Senators Disagree on Proper Hours of Labour—Senator Campbell Introduces Measure in Regard to Government Buildings

BOWELL OPPOSED

Ottawa, April 27.—The length of time a man should work a day engaged the attention of the Senate and brought out most opposite opinions yesterday. The discussion rose upon the bill, which has Government approval, and which, as an experimental measure, proposes to limit to eight hours the length of day a man can be employed on a public building under construction.

Senator Beique said he failed to see why this principle should be applied to public works and to no other labor. The matter should be given more study. If the bill was put over till next session, he would undertake to have it thoroughly studied by a commission. He therefore moved the six months' hoist.

Senator Lougheed declared the eight-hour day could not be justly applied to one class and not to another. He thought the time had not yet come for a general eight-hour day.

Senator Campbell hoped that the motion for a six months' hoist would not carry. When he introduced the bill he undertook to send it to a committee for study and report. Employers got better results and laborers more satisfaction out of an eight-hour day than from a longer day.

Senator Beique said that as Senator Campbell proposed to send this bill to committee he would withdraw his motion for the six months' hoist.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell declared that in his opinion the best relations between employers and employes would be maintained by allowing the people who sell their labor and the people who buy labor to make their own bargain, without too much legislative interference. He had grave doubts as to the constitutionality of the bill.

Senator Wm. Ross of Halifax said that in the postal and customs services of Canada men worked but six hours a day. On ships the working time was divided into four hour watches. The best results were obtained from the concentrated effort applied to work done in a short day. He thought the bill should pass.

Senator Wilson did not agree that men could not work for more than eight hours a day without injury. The pioneers who had created Canada had certainly worked hard for many more hours each day, and they and their posterity were vigorous men. He could not see why the bill should be restricted to one class of Government work. He believed that the restriction involved in this measure, if generally applied, would be bad for workmen and bad for the country generally.

Child Fatally Burned.

Brockville, April 27.—Playing around a bonfire at her home, the clothing of Isabella Jackson, aged five, ignited, and she was fatally burned.

DON'T BE BALD

Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair

We have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 93 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so certain Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid us for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. With our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, druggists.

Earngey Pleads Not Guilty.

Toronto, April 27.—Before Judge Denton in the County Criminal Court yesterday morning, W. D. Earngey, against whom five charges of forgery are laid, pleaded not guilty through his counsel, H. H. Dewart, K.C., and was remanded until Wednesday morning next.

Young Naoun, alias James Toney, pleaded not guilty to a charge of bigamy, and will wait also until Wednesday.

William Whitton did not show up, and the magistrate said if he wasn't on hand on Wednesday the case would proceed in his absence. He is charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

Phillip J. Bellinger, but a couple of months out from Germany, offended a farmer at Richmond Hill by stealing 75 cents and some food. The boy pleaded he was hungry. He was remanded for a week.

Mrs. Barbara McEwan, charged with uttering forged checks on four different occasions, pleaded guilty and received a sentence of four months in jail.

Left Them Tied to Chairs.

Chicago, April 27.—Alberti, the Milwaukee avenue jeweller, whose jewelry shop was robbed by four men yesterday, was, with his clerk left tied to chairs in a room back of the store.

The auto in which the robbers traveled, was stolen by them in a distant part of the city a short time previously.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

Do You Feel All Tired Out ?
Do You Feel Dull and Listless ?
Have You That All-Gone, No-Ambition,
Don't-Care-to-Work Feeling ?

If So You Have Spring Fever

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Is Without a Doubt

The Best Spring Medicine

It Has Been Used by Thousands Every Spring for Over Thirty Years as A SPRING MEDICINE

Lastar's Old Stand | N. SUKLOFF | 106 Simcoe St

WHERE YOU GET BETTER VALUES THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE CITY

DRY GOODS

100 ends of Factory Cotton, reg 10c for 6c

300 yds of Dress Gingham, reg. 12c for .. 7½c

10 pieces Sateen, best quality in all colors except black, reg 15c per yard for 10c

20 only Bed Spreads in honeycomb weave in white and colors, large size, reg. 2.50 for $1.48

10 only colored Spreads in the very latest designs large size, reg. $2 for 98c

12 only of single Bed Spreads, white only, reg $1.50 for 75c

LADIES' HOSE

5 doz Ladies' Mercerized Cotton Hose, reg. 20c, 2 for 25c

We Must Get the Men's Trade

THIS is the best we have ever offered and we would advise every man to take advantage of our exceptionally low prices.

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best worsted cloth, well tailored in the latest style in brown only, regular $15.00 for $7.50

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best cheviot cloth, reg. price $12.50 for $7.98

12 only Men's Tweed Suits, regular $10 for $5.00

50 pairs Men's Pants made of very best worsteds, latest patterns, reg. $2.50 to 3.00 for $1.49

3 doz Men's fine Shirts newest patterns and colors, reg 75c for 39c

5 doz Men's Working Shirts, all styles and colors, reg 75c for 49c

10 doz Men's Four-in-hand Silk Ties in all latest shades, reg 25c for 13c

5 dozen men's ready-made Ties, latest patterns, reg 35c for 19c

10 doz men's silkoline Handkerchiefs, pretty patterns, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

24 prs men's patent leather Boots, latest shape, all sizes, reg 5.00 for $3.50

24 pairs men's box calf boots, reg 5.00 .. $3.50

24 prs men's heavy working Boots made of French kip, reg 4.00 for $2.25

10 doz men's grey mixed sox, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

10 men's large hawn Handkerchiefs, each 5c

Ladies' Ready-to-wear

2 doz only Ladies' Skirts in blue, black, brown and grey, made from fine all wool cloths well made with button and strap trimmings, reg. $4.00 for .. $2.50

2 doz ladies' fine quality black Sateen Underskirts with deep flounce, shirred or made with small frills, reg. $2.00 for 98c

2 dozen Print Wrappers made of good strong washable print, sizes 34 and 36 only, reg. $1.25 for 69c

3 dozen Ladies' Lawn Waists with front of embroidery and tucks, all sizes, reg $1.00 for 49c

BOY'S CLOTHES

24 only boy's and youth's Spring Suits, three piece bloomer style, made of all wool worsteds, very latest patterns, reg $7.50 for $4.98

Fashion Craft

In Doubt?

IF we can fit you
IF the quality is O K
IF the style is correct
IF it is made well?

No Need to Doubt

with our assurance of a guarantee which means money back if not to your liking.

PRICED:

$15 to $35

To be convinced visit

Fashion-Craft

Peterborough Agency:

A. M. Laidlaw

PROP.

Up-to-Date
Cigar Store

A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::

D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capita $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,285,5[illegible]
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,560,[illegible]

Surplus $1,[illegible]

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

In The World of Sport

INTER-CATHOLIC BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE FORMED

Three Teams in Senior Division and a Junior Division is Also a Possibility---T.A.S. Athletic Society Reorganizes for the Season at an Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting held last night St. Peter's T.A.S. Athletic Club was re-organized for the season. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. Father McColl.
President—Jas. Hickey.
Vice-Pres.—George Aherne.
Secreary-Treasurer—Leo. Derocher.
Executive Committee — Fred McGrath, Herb. Callaghan, Ray Clancy, Maurice O'Heron, N. Phelan.

The meeting decided upon the establishment of an Inter-Catholic Baseball League in the city and the probabilities are that there will be three teams, one from the south end of the city, the second from the centre and the third from the north and East City. These games will be played on Saturday afternoons, although the arrangements have not been definitely completed. It is possible that the games may be played at T. A. S. Park on the Otonabee. A junior Catholic League to play in the evening is also a possibility.

Another meeting will be held on Monday night next to complete arrangements for the League.

Leaders In Three Big Leagues All Won Can't Stop The Leafs

Joe Kelly's Toronto Maple Leafs are still unbeaten in the Eastern League and lead the Barrow circuit. Yesterday they took the third consecutive game from Jersey City, making five straight wins for the Leafs. Young Cather did the twirling for Toronto yesterday and registereds his second victory by beating the Skeeters in a twelve-innings game by 4 to 2. Wee Willie Keeler, the ever green outfielder, turning the trick with a safety, with the corners all populated in the twelfth. Keeler had three hits to his credit. The Toronto infield accepted forty-three chances without a skip. Jordan having sixteen, Mullen ten, Vaughan nine, and Bradley eight. Incidentally, it was the third errorless game for the Torontos, who have only had three errors in five games. Del. Mason pitched great ball for the Peats, but Toronto's perfect defence saved the day.

Rochester keeps on winning and is only a game behind Torontos. The Hustlers' timely batting with splendid pitching by the elongated McConnell, was too much for Newark yesterday and the Indians were scalped to a 4-2 tune.

Buffalo scored their first win of the season by bunching hits on Adkins, of Baltimore, in the fourth innings, the Bisons winning by 5 to 2. Vowinkle was steady and effective for the Herd.

Montreal were again beaten by Providence after a hard-hitting game, which was finally lost by the Canadians owing to Burke's wildness. The score was 7 to 5.

In the American League the Athletics seem to have struck their stride and they are now coming strong. Yesterday the Mackmen trampled over Washington by 7 to 2. Chief Bender's steady pitching and timely batting doing the trick.

Boston beat New York in a hard-hitting but loosely played game by 11 to 9.

The Detroit Tigers made their standing 10 and 1 by heavy hitting, beating Cleveland 9 to 6.

The two leaders in the National both won yesterday, Philadelphia hammering pitchers Ryan and Knetzer of Brooklyn, for fourteen hits and winning by 10 to 3. The Cubs made it two out of three from Cincinnati, beating the Reds 11 to 8. Manager Chance sprained his ankle sliding into the plate and may be out of the game for some time, Archer going to first base.

New York won as they pleased from Boston, Raymond being very effective with men on the bases.

The Pittsburg Pirates, by the fighting rally in the ninth, defeated St. Louis by 2 to 1. Hauser of St. Louis had a homer into the left field bleachers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH GUN CLUB

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club was held last evening in Mr. C. B. Routley's store, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. President, J. D. Collins; Pres., R. Tivey; Captain, C. Lech; Sec.-Treas., C. Wood.

All arrangements were made for the coming season and shooting will be held on the grounds at the Driving Park on the first and third Thursdays of each month The first shoot to take place on Thursday next, May 4th, at 6:30 p.m. It is intended to arrange matches with other clubs of the district during the season. Membership tickets may be obtained from the secretary.

AD. WALGAST STOPPED ONE ROUND HOGAN

NEW YORK, APRIL 26.—Ad. Wolgast of Michigan stepped from the ring at Madison A. C. to-night still lightweight champion of the world. In the second round of what was to have been a ten-round bout he caught "One Round" Hogan of California, a terrific left swing to the jaw, and instantly had Hogan in distress. A moment more and Hogan's seconds threw up the sponge.

Quick to see his advantage, Wolgast followed it up relentlessly. He poured in a steady volley of right and left swings to either side of the jaw, rocking Hogan's head, beating down his guard and driving him helpless around the ring. Hogan stood swaying from side to side, his hands hanging limp against his thighs, while Wolgast pounded his bloody face, and still he could not seem to land the decisive punch. But after a little more than a minute and a half of the second round Hogan turned his back on the ring and faced his own corner and acknowledged defeat. He lifted his hand to his seconds and they signalled to the referee that they conceed the fight.

Before entering ht ring Hogan announced that if he was beaten decisively he would never fight again. In the first round it seemed as if he might prove title to his nickname of "One Round". He found little difficulty in stabbing the champion with an effective straight left, and swinging to the jaw with a heavy right hand swing had Wolgast for a moment rocking and dazed against the ropes. But Wolgast's wonderful powers of recuperation came to his rescue. He rallied, fought back again, and at the bell was smiling.

When the second round opened he was as fresh as ever. Wolgast's whole fight was at close range. He was willing to take punishment for a chance to get at close quarters, where he could rip in short, heavy smashes to the wind, and punishing close-coupled upper cuts.

Base Runners Have Even Chance To Make Successful Pilfer

"Like a catapulted figure the tense athlete, who has been counting the inches between his foot and first base, while his eyes steadily watched the right shoulder of the pitcher, and his ears strained to catch the slightest change of tone in the voice of the coacher, shoots forward toward the goal, hurls his body sideways, crooks one leg toward a sawdust-filled bag, hooks one foot over it, while his body tears a furrow in the dirt and stops. A cloud of dust hides him, the bag and the second baseman.

"'Ye're out.'

"The umpire turns wearily away as the crowd roars for his heart's blood. The baseman grins, tosses the ball back to the pitcher, spits into his glove. Another runner has perished in the effort to steal second."

What are the chances for a base runner on first to steal second? Probably you'd say about one chance in three. But Hugh Fullerton, who likes to go into the figures, says that with a crack pitcher on the mound and a star catcher behind the plate, an average runner has just about an even chance to steal second safely if the ball is perfectly handled. Great baserunners like Cobb, Collins, Speaker Evers and Fred Clarke steal safely about 70 per cent. of the bases they start for.

The reason more bases are not stolen, says Fullerton, is because the players no longer run wild on the paths. In the old days a man who reached first was practically sure to attempt to steal second. Nowadays managers do not often let their men try the play, but rely on the sacrifice and hit-and-run to advance basemen. Now for figures:

In an average season in both big leagues 89,156 players face the pitchers, but only 27,056 reach first—19,154 safe hits, 5,956 on bases on balls, 1,383 on errors and 645 by being hit by pitched balls. Of the 27,056 on first, 17,139 reach second, 12,882 third and 8,372 score. There are thus 55,986 chances to steal, but only 2,744 players steal—one out of 20 chances. Nineteen runners steal home, 774 from second to third base and 1,951 steal second.

Fullerton put the stop watch on pitchers and catchers and the throw to second to catch men stealing. The pitchers timed were White, Walsh, Three-Fingered Brown, Cole, Johnston and Gray, the catchers, Kling, Archer, Sullivan and Street. The average time from the start of the pitch to the moment the second baseman held the ball to touch the stealer was, on straight balls, 2 2-3 second, on curve balls 2 3-4 seconds, on slow balls and spitters, 3 1-3 seconds.

Then Cobb and Zeider were timed sprinting to second. Their average time was 3 7-8 seconds.

But the above figures are averages. Cobb and Zeider both beat their averages many times. The throws to second are often slower than the average. While a perfect fast throw to second will catch the fast runner nearly every time, the actual performance show the best base runners beat the throw seven out of the ten times.

Fullerton believes that drawing the catcher's throw to the base behind the runner is the best variation of the delayed steal. If the runner has a good lead when the throw is made, he can beat the relay to the next base almost every time.

When the throw is drawn from catcher to first if the runner has a lead of 34 feet, he need only sprint and slide 56 feet while the ball is travelling 91 feet to first and 87 feet to second. Drawing the throw to second has even better chances. The runner there has a 32-foot lead, while the ball must be thrown 132 feet to second and relayed 86 feet to third. The runner only has to sprint 58 feet. The runner with a 28 foot lead off third has a good chance to steal home if the catcher throws to third behind him. The ball must travel 92 feet to third and be re layed back kagain, while the runner has to cover 62 feet.

SHOOTING

Last night was the first night of target shooting at the Armouries. A number of representatives from the different companies were present, and made comparatively good shooting. Each man gets ten cartridges, the first three being to set the sight. The instrument to get the scores could not be gotten to work, so no actual scores were taken. A large number are expected to be present for target practice next Friday evening. Six practices are all that are required from each man.

EXPERIMENTS IN BASE-RUNNING

Fielders' time—120 trials; curves fast, spit balls and slow balls:

Pitchers' wind-up 3-8 seconds.

Ball's time, pitcher to catcher, 5-8 second.

Time of catch, recover and throw, 1 1-8 seconds.

Time of throw of catcher to baseman, 7-8 second.

Time of catch and touch, 3-8 second.

Total average time, 3 3-8 seconds.

Runners' time—60 trials made by Cobb, Zeider, Evers and Campbell, average 3 5-8 seconds.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops cough, cures colds, heals [illegible]

The Electric Installation Co., Limited
293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH
142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 799

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. R. READBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank corner of George and Simcoe Streets

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basewood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

BUCKLEY.
Union Made HATS Price $2.50
Every Hat Guaranteed Even Against Accident for 4 Months

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH,
388 George St., near Simcoe

• If You are Not at Your Best

don't worry about it—there's no good in worry. Get better! If your stomach is wrong, your liver and bowels inactive—your nerves are sure to be on edge and your blood impure. Be cheerful and hopeful. As they have helped in thousands of cases, will help you and will give your system the natural help it needs. A few doses will make a great difference in your feelings and your looks. They will help you all along the line—to a clear head, free from aches—to bright eyes—to healthy active organs. This sure, quick and tonic family remedy will help Nature to

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Restore Your Full Vigor

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

Promotes Social Life

NO one watches current events more closely than the farmer.

His Bell Service keeps him in touch with the outside world.

The Rural Free Delivery has helped him wonderfully.

The Bell System helps him still more.

It enables him to do business direct.

Every Bell Telephone is the center of the whole Bell System.

If not enrolled, join the great army of farmers who feel that they cannot do business without the Bell Service.

Peterborough Exchange, 1375 Subscribers including 145 on Rural Lines.

Every Farmer needs Telephone Service in his business.

Favorable Rates and a large Exchange Service make the Company's proposition attractive.

If you are interested, ask the Company's Local Manager for particulars, or write

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA,
MONTREAL.

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selections

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.
Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL
Limited

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS
Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

Big Value

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record
173 Simcoe Street Phone 669
404 Charlotte Street, Bell 578. Mach. 367

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts.
Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

COAL

That Is Coal is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.
Peterborough Ontario.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Midland, Gravenhurst	1.00 a.m.	8.55 a.m.
North Bay, Bracebridge and Toronto	2.00 p.m.	3.35 p.m.
Port Hope and principal part of Montreal and Boston	8.55 a.m.	11.0 a.m.
	3.35 p.m.	7.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west. Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.55 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	3.35 p.m.	5.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Bracebridge, Gravenhurst, Orillia & Midland	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	7.00 p.m.
Markham.	10.35 p.m.	5.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	3.35 a.m.	8.55 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford, Belleville, Kingston and points East. Montreal and East.	8.55 a.m.	5.40 a.m.
	3.35 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
Lakefield.	10.00 a.m.	5.35 a.m.
	4.35 p.m.	12.00 m.n.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Trenton	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.15 a.m.
	1.55 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Owen Sound, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.55 a.m.
	5.05 p.m.
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Myrtle, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.55 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES
TO
WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG	and return	$38.00
BRANDON	" "	34.60
MOOSE JAW	" "	37.00
EDMONTON	" "	41.00

Also to 50 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

THROUGH SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McKroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular
TOURIST ROUTE
TO MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE City Agent

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited
182 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-281
Tel. Machine 270.
184 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 269.

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite
D. L. & W. for
SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First-class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside T. H. track, Phone 68

In Doubt?

IF we can fit you
IF the quality is O K
IF the style is correct
IF it is made well?

No Need to Doubt

with our assurance of a guarantee which means money back if not to your liking.

PRICED:

$15 to $35

To be convinced visit

Fashion-Craft

Peterborough Agency:

A. M. Laidlaw

PROP.

In The World of Sport

INTER-CATHOLIC BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE FORMED

Three Teams in Senior Division and a Junior Division is Also a Possibility---T.A.S. Athletic Society Reorganizes for the Season at an Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting held last night St. Peter's T.A.S. Athletic Club was re-organized for the season. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. Father McColl.
President—Jas. Hickey.
Vice-Pres.—George Aberne.
Secreary-Treasurer—Leo. Derocher.
Executive Committee — Fred McGrath, Herb. Callaghan, Ray Clancy, Maurice O'Heron, N. Phelan.

The meeting decided upon the establishment of an Inter-Catholic Baseball League in the city and the probabilities are that there will be three teams, one from the south end of the city, the second from the centre and the third from the north and East City. These games will be played on Saturday afternoons, although the arrangements have not been definitely completed. It is possible that the games may be played at T. A. S. Park on the Otonabee. A junior Catholic League to play in the evening is also a possibility.

Another meeting will be held on Monday night next to complete arrangements for the League.

Leaders In Three Big Leagues All Won Can't Stop The Leafs

Joe Kelly's Toronto Maple Leafs are still unbeaten in the Eastern League and lead the Barrow circuit. Yesterday they took the third consecutive game from Jersey City, making five straight wins for the Leafs. Young Cather did the twirling for Toronto yesterday and registered his second victory by beating the Skeeters in a twelve-innings game by 4 to 2. Wee Willie Keeler, the ever green outfielder, turning the trick with a safety, with the corners all populated in the twelfth. Keeler had three hits to his credit. The Toronto infield accepted forty-three chances without a skip, Jordan having sixteen, Mullen ten, Vaughan nine, and Bradley eight. Incidentally, it was the third errorless game for the Torontos, who have only had three errors in five games. Del. Mason pitched great ball for the Pests, but Toronto's perfect defence saved the day.

Rochester keeps on winning and is only a game behind Torontos. The Hustlers' timely batting with splendid pitching by the elongated McConnell, was too much for Newark yesterday and the Indians were scalped to a 4-2 tune.

Buffalo scored their first win of the season by bunching hits on Adkins, of Baltimore, in the fourth innings, the Bisons winning by 5 to 2. Vowinkle was steady and effective for the Herd.

Montreal were again beaten by Providence after a hard-hitting game, which was finally lost by the Canadians owing to Burke's wildness. The score was 7 to 5.

In the American League the Athletics seem to have struck their stride and they are now coming strong. Yesterday the Mackmen trampled over Washington by 7 to 2. Chief Bender's steady pitching and timely batting doing the trick.

Boston beat New York in a hard-hitting but loosely played game by 11 to 9.

The Detroit Tigers made their standing 10 and 1 by heavy hitting, beating Cleveland 9 to 6.

The two leaders in the National both won yesterday, Philadelphia hammering pitchers Ryan and Knetzer of Brooklyn, for fourteen hits and winning by 10 to 3. The Cubs made it two out of three from Cincinnati, beating the Reds 11 to 8. Manager Chance sprained his ankle sliding into the plate and may be out of the game for some time, Archer going to first base.

New York won as they pleased from Boston, Raymond being very effective with men on the bases.

The Pittsburg Pirates, by the fighting rally in the ninth, defeated St. Louis by 2 to 1. Hauser of St. Louis had a homer into the left field bleachers.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PETERBOROUGH GUN CLUB

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club was held last evening in Mr. C. B. Routley's store, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Hon. President, J. D. Collins; Pres., R. Tivey; Captain, C. Lech; Sec.-Treas., C. Wood.

All arrangements were made for the coming season and shooting will be held on the grounds at the Driving Park on the first and third Thursdays of each month The first shoot to take place on Thursday next, May 4th, at 6.30 p.m. It is intended to arrange matches with other clubs of the district during the season. Membership tickets may be obtained from the secretary.

AD. WALGAST STOPPED ONE ROUND HOGAN

NEW YORK, APRIL 26.—Ad. Wolgast of Michigan stepped from the ring at Madison A. C. to-night still lightweight champion of the world. In the second round of what was to have been a ten-round bout he caught "One Round" Hogan of California, a terrific left swing to the jaw, and instantly had Hogan in distress. A moment more and Hogan's seconds threw up the sponge.

Quick to see his advantage, Wolgast followed it up relentlessly. He poured in a steady volley of right and left swings to either side of the jaw, rocking Hogan's head, beating down his guard and driving him helpless around the ring. Hogan stood swaying from side to side, his hands hanging limp against his thighs, while Wolgast pounded his bloody face, and still he could not seem to land the decisive punch. But after a little more than a minute and a half of the second round Hogan turned his back on the ring and faced his own corner and acknowledged defeat. He lifted his hand to his seconds and they signalled to the referee that they conceed the fight.

Before entering ht ring Hogan announced that if he was beaten decisively he would never fight again. In the first round it seemed as if he might prove title to his nickname of "One Round". He found little difficulty in stabbing the champion with an effective straight left, and swinging to the jaw with a heavy right hand swing had Wolgast for a moment rocking and dazed against the ropes. But Wolgast's wonderful powers of recuperation came to his rescue. He rallied, fought back again, and at the bell was smiling.

When the second round opened he was as fresh as ever. Wolgast's whole fight was at close range. He was willing to take punishment for a chance to get at close quarters, where he could rip in short, heavy smashes to the wind, and punishing close-coupled upper cuts.

Base Runners Have Even Chance To Make Successful Pilfer

"Like a catapulted figure the tense athlete, who has been counting the inches between his foot and first base, while his eyes steadily watched the right shoulder of the pitcher, and his ears strained to catch the slightest change of tone in the voice of the coacher, shoots forward toward the goal, hurls his body sideways, crooks one leg toward a sawdust-filled bag, hooks one foot over it, while his body tears a furrow in the dirt and stops. A cloud of dust hides him, the bag and the second baseman.

"Ye're out."

"The umpire turns wearily away as the crowd roars for his heart's blood. The baseman grins, tosses the ball back to the pitcher, spits into his glove. Another runner has perished in the effort to steal second."

What are the chances for a base runner on first to steal second? Probably you'd say about one chance in three. But Hugh Fullerton, who likes to go into the figures, says that with a crack pitcher on the mound and a star catcher behind the plate, an average runner has just about an even chance to steal second safely if the ball is perfectly handled. Great baserunners like Cobb, Collins Speaker, Evers and Fred Clarke steal safely about 70 per cent. of the bases they start for.

The reason more bases are not stolen, says Fullerton, is because the players no longer run wild on the paths. In the old days a man who reached first was practically sure to attempt to steal second. Nowadays managers do not often let their men try the play, but rely on the sacrifice and hit-and-run to advance baesmen. Now for figures:

In an average season in both big leagues 89,186 players face the pitchers, but only 27,056 reach first—19,154 safe hits, 5,356 on bases on balls, 1,-305 on errors and 646 by being hit by pitched balls. Of the 27,056 on first, 17,138 reach second, 12,862 third and 8,272 score. There are thus 56,968 chances to steal, but only 2,746 players steal—one out of 20 chances. Nineteen runners steal home, 774 from second to third base and 1,951 steal second.

Fullerton put the stop watch on pitchers and catchers and the throw to second to catch men stealing. The pitchers timed were White, Walsh, Three-Fingered Brown, Cole, Johnston and Gray, the catchers, Kling, Archer, Sullivan and Street. The average time from the start of the pitch to the moment the second baseman held the ball to touch the stealer was, on straight balls, 2 2-3 second, on curve balls 2 3-4 seconds, on slow balls and spitters, 3 1-3 seconds.

Then Cobb and Zeider were timed sprinting to second. Their average time was 3 7-8 seconds.

But the above figures are averages. Cobb and Zeider both beat their averages many times. The throws to second are often slower than the average. While a perfect fast throw to second will catch the fast runner nearly every time, the actual performance show the best base runners beat the throw seven out of the ten times.

Fullerton believes that drawing the catcher's throw to the base behind the runner is the best variation of the delayed steal. If the runner has a good lead when the throw is made, he can beat the relay to the next base almost every time.

When the throw is drawn from catcher to first if the runner has a lead of 34 feet, he need only sprint and slide 56 feet while the ball is travelling 91 feet to first and 87 feet to second. Drawing the throw to second has even better chances. The runner there has a 32-foot lead, while the ball must be thrown 132 feet to second and relayed 88 feet to third. The runner only has to sprint 58 feet. The runner with a 92 foot lead off third has a good chance to steal home if the catcher throws to third behind him. The ball must travel 92 feet to third and be re layed back kagain, while the runner has to cover 62 feet.

SHOOTING

Last night was the first night of target shooting at the Armouries. A number of representatives from the different companies were present, and made comparatively good shooting. Each man gets ten cartridges, the first three being to set the sight. The instrument to get the scores could not be gotten to work, so no actual scores were taken. A large number are expected to be present for target practice next Friday evening. Six practices are all that are required from each man.

EXPERIMENTS IN BASE-RUNNING

Fielders' time—120 trials; curves fast, spit balls and slow balls:
Pitchers' wind-up 3-8 seconds.
Ball's time, pitcher to catcher, 5-8 second.
Time of catch, recover and throw, 1 1-8 seconds.
Time of throw of catcher to baseman, 7-8 second.
Time of catch and touch, 3-8 second.
Total average time, 3 3-8 seconds.
Runners' time 60 trials made by Cobb, Zeider, Evers and Campbell, average 3 5-8 seconds.

Shiloh's Cure

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

Lots For Sale

— AND —

Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. E. SHAW BURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank corner of George and Simcoe Streets

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Up-to-Date Cigar Store

A Full Line of Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries

Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::

D. McCabe

326 George St.

NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capita $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,385,5[illegible].40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,5[illegible],[illegible]26.6
Surplus $1,[illegible]59 4 7.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW

MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

BUCKLEY.

Union Made HATS Price $2.50

Every Hat Guaranteed Even Against Accident for 4 Months

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH,

388 George St., - near Simcoe

• If You are Not at Your Best

don't worry about it—there's no good in worry. Get better! If your stomach is wrong, your liver and bowels inactive—your nerves are sure to be on edge and your blood impure. Be cheerful and hopeful. As they have helped thousands of cases, will help you and will give your system the natural help it needs. A few doses will make a great difference in your feelings and your looks. They will help you all along the line—to a clear head, free from aches—to bright eyes—to healthy active organs. This sure, quick and tonic family remedy will help Nature to

BEECHAM'S PILLS

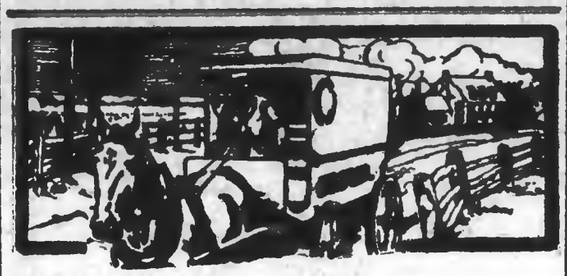
Restore Your Full Vigor

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.



Promotes Social Life

NO one watches current events more closely than the farmer.

His Bell Service keeps him in touch with the outside world.

The Rural Free Delivery has helped him wonderfully.

The Bell System helps him still more.

It enables him to do business direct.

Every Bell Telephone is the center of the whole Bell System.

If not enrolled, join the great army of farmers who feel that they cannot do business without the Bell Service.

Peterborough Exchange, 1375 Subscribers including 145 on Rural Lines.

Every Farmer needs Telephone Service in his business.

Favorable Rates and a large Exchange Service make the Company's proposition attractive.

If you are interested, ask the Company's Local Manager for particulars, or write-

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA,

MONTREAL.

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selections

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers. Corner George, King and Water Streets Both Phones Peterborough

Big Sale!

This is the time to look over your spring wash robe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 692
264 Charlotte Street. Bell 875, Mach. 367

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT CO., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 124 Robinson Street East City

Both Phones 264

COAL

That is Coal is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Edwin Elcome

TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Bracebridge, Gravenhurst	1.40 a.m.	8.55 a.m.
North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	9.50 p.m.	6.55 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.55 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
	1.55 p.m.	2.45 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west. Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.55 a.m.	11.45 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	1.55 p.m.	2.45 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Beaverville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.40 a.m.	7.10 a.m.
	1.55 p.m.
	10.10 p.m.	6.15 p.m.
Lindsay Local	6.55 a.m.	8.10 p.m.
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, King ston, Montreal and East.	8.55 a.m.	2.45 a.m.
	1.55 p.m.	1.45 p.m.
	10.10 p.m.	6.15 p.m.
Lakefield.	8.55 a.m.	2.45 a.m.
	1.55 p.m.	11.45 a.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.55 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Trenton	7.45 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	10.10 a.m.
	1.55 p.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.55 a.m.
	6.55 p.m.
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Toronto.	7.45 p.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	6.55 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES

TO

WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG	and return	$33.00
BRANDON	" " "	34.50
MOOSE JAW	" " "	37.00
EDMONTON	" " "	41.00

Also to 50 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

THROUGH SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular

TOURIST ROUTE

— TO —

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 394 George St.

B. A. ROSE City Agent

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 283.

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First-class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside T. R. track, Phone 48

TURNBULL'S Have Secured the Entire Over Make of Two Garment Manufacturers. ::

See George St. Window To-morrow for Display of Women's Suits and Coats Priced at HALF or LESS

The Warne Shoe Store

SPECIAL THIS WEEK

A line of Men's Button Patent Foxing, dull calf top, strictly high-class $5.00

A line of Men's Blucher Bal. Patent Foxing, dull calf top, welted sole..... $3.50

A good variety of heavier weights at selling prices.

Our ladies' lines in Gun Metal, Patent and Kid with an assortment of snappy styles, from $2.00 to $4.00

A special line of Misses' Patent Blucher with dull calf tops..... $2.50

A great assortment of children's wear at the

Warne Shoe Store

345 GEORGE STREET

Brass Fern

DISHES

12 large brass fern dishes polished and scratched brass finish. Regular $3 to 3.50.

On Sale Saturday only

$1.98

See Samples in Window

DIAMOND HALL

WARNE BROS.

Very Latest In Vogue

Just returned from the City, with the most up-to-date New York Novelties in :: ::

Stylish Hats and Trimmings

representing the very latest creations in Fashionable Millinery. :: :: :: :: ::

A Visit of Inspection is Cordially Invited

Miss E. M. Allan

372 George Street :: :: :: Phone 35

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies

MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F. J. R. MacPherson Co.

Limited

341 George St. : Both Phones 386

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Special Assortment of Baking

for this Week End at

COLEMAN BROS.

426 George St.

FANCIES:

Log Cake Fancy Cakes

Wine Cakes Swiss Rolls

Madeira Cakes

Cream Puffs

FRUIT CAKES:

Gems Pound

Seed Raisin, etc.

Importers of Fry's Chocolate

Special Nut Milk, 40c lb.

ICE CREAM SODAS AND SUNDAES

Prompt Attention

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

338 George St. HENRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

No Choir Practice.

There will be no practice of All Saints' choir this week.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149 Peterborough Messenger Service. 345 1-2 George street.

Pure Maple Syrup.

A new supply of Pure Maple Syrup is just in at Porter S. White's grocery. Use the 'phone, No. 208.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carton, C. J. Carroll.

Probabilities.

Southeasterly winds, fair and very mild Friday. Moderate to fresh south east to south winds, a few local showers, but generally fair with about the same temperature.

Lecture To-night.

—The public is again reminded of the lecture to-night at the Normal School by Dr. Auden of Birmingham, Eng., which promises to be highly interesting and profitable.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Police Court.

—A local man named Wm. Anthony was arrested last night on a charge of being drunk on the street. He has been drunk for more than a week, and was not in a condition to appear in Court this morning. He was remanded.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 485, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Seed Time.

Time now for planting peas and onions. Call and see our display of fresh garden, field and flower seeds. Dutch and Multipliers sets. For sale at Porter S. White's grocery, 336 George street.

Call 354.

The Bell telephone which was installed in the millinery department of Mr. T. C. Elliot's a few days ago and numbered 770, has been changed to 354. The fact that the former number was duplicated elsewhere necessitated the above change.

W. C. T. U. to Meet.

—Dr. Jessie Birnie will give an address at the regular meeting of the Peterborough branch of the W. C. T. U., to be held to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Public Library building. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of members.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19. Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Will Open Next Week.

The Rex Theatre on George street south of the Customs House owned and operated by the Peterborough Amusement Company is rapidly being completed and the grand opening will take place a week from to-night. The Rex, which will seat 1000 people, will have an orchestra of six pieces.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co. situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors Telephone No. 1163. W. Theobald, manager.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25c.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powders for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 456—161 Hunter street west.

Burn "Good" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Charles Cohen of Kinmount, is visiting in the city.

Mr. W. G. Stevens of Toronto, is a guest at the Hotel National.

Mr. Ewart Hill of Union street, and Mr. Herbert McCrae will leave on Monday for Calgary, where they will take part in Government survey work.

The following guests are at the Oriental: Mr. Thos. E. Cuffe, London, Eng., Mr. D. Vine, Barrie, Mr. J. D. Brown, Toronto; Mr. Geo. Frost, Smith's Falls; Mr. A. Collett, of the Jules Motor Car Co., Ltd., Toronto, and Mr. Andrew Miles, of St. John, N.B.

LAKEFIELD HAPPENINGS

Special to The Examiner.

LAKEFIELD, APRIL 26.—Miss Hattie Eastland, of Thornbury, Ont., is visiting friends in the village.

Mr. L. H. Grahame returned home on Wednesday last after spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. C. Young of Peterborough, spent a few days last week in the village.

Miss N. Roberts, who has been spending the Easter holidays visiting her sister, Mrs. R. N. Stuart, at Young's Point, passed through the village on Tuesday last on her return to Montreal.

Mr. Coleman Boyce left on Tuesday last for Edmonton, Alta.

Mr. Walter Brown, of Toronto, spent Easter at his home in the village.

Mr. O. A. Langley who spent Easter at Oakville, Ont., returned home on Wednesday last.

Mr. Miles Hamilton, of Fenelon Falls and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, of Auburn, were the guests of Rev. A. W. and Mrs. Mackenzie at 'The Grove' on Sunday.

Miss Ethel Hampton left last week to spend the summer with her brothers at Gavan, Sask.

Miss Law, of Toronto, is the guest of the Misses McCorkindale at the Manse.

Mrs. W. M. Graham spent a few days last week in Peterborough.

Miss Kathleen McGrath, of Lindsay, is visiting at her home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Currie and children, of Ottawa, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Sherin for a few days at Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lingwood who have been visiting Mrs. Lingwood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Atwood returned home on Thursday last to their home in East Toronto.

Mr. A. V. Hill, who has been in grocery business here for the past fifteen years, has sold out his business to Messrs. Spence and Sons who took possession on Thursday last. Mr. Hill leaves very shortly for North Battleford, Sask., where he intends making his home in future.

Mr. John Knox, of Toronto, spent a few days last week in the village.

Miss K. Simpson, who has been spending the Easter holidays at her home in the village returned to Toronto on Saturday last.

Mrs. R. H. Alford has returned home after spending the past month visiting her mother at Midland Ont.

Miss Hincks, who has spent the past winter with her sister, Mrs. B. Q Dench at 'North Douro Lodge,' returned to her home at Ingersoll, Ont., on Thursday last.

Mrs. Mackenzie spent a few days last week in Peterborough visiting her sister, Mrs. Hewitt.

Mrs. J. Maude and Miss Hazel Maude spent a few wdays last week in Peterborough.

Mr. G. Evans Atwood, of Peterborough, was in Lakefield visiting his parents on Wednesday last.

Mr. Harold Kidd, of Montreal, spent Easter at his home in the village.

Mrs. Wallace Madill of Montreal, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madill.

Mr. H. R. Moore left last week for Regina, Sask., where he intends spending a few months.

Miss F. Roberts returned to Toronto on Wednesday last after a few days visit with her sister, Mrs. Cumberland.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

Upper Lakes Service, Owen Sound to Fort William and vice versa. Commencing to-day, April 24th, Upper Lakes steamers will leave Owen Sound for Sault Ste. Marie & Fort William. Athabasca, Monday; Keewatin, Tuesday; Alberta, Wednesday; Manitoba, Thursday; Assiniboia, Saturday; at 1.30 p.m. To connect from Peterboro leave at 5:26 a.m. For tickets, berths and all information, see W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent, 343 George St. 4d-95

SPECIAL

— FOR —

Friday and Saturday

Ladies' Suits, regular $14.00, for $5.95

Ladies' Coats, regular $7.00 and $9.00, for... $6.00

Ladies' Skirts, regular $14.00, for..... $9.49

Skirts, in Voile, regular $8.00 to $12.00, for.... $4.95

Skirts, (another lot) at $1.79

Silk Waists, regular $5, for..... $2.49

MILLINERY

ALL TRIMMED HATS, Special..... $1.98

Men's Suits, Overcoats, Pants, all kinds of Men's Ready-to-Wear Clothing at REDUCED PRICES.

Housefurnishings, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, etc., at REDUCED PRICES.

Canadian Furnishing House

311 George Street

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples Grape Fruit

Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers

Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions

Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East

Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $5.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

A Cordial Invitation Don't Miss It

FORMAL OPENING OF THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE 407 George St.

C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR

EXCELLENT MUSIC will be furnished by the J. A. Halpany Orchestra during the afternoon and evening.

We have the Finest Drug Store in the City of Peterborough. COME AND SEE IT.

We will try to give you The Best Service in the City. : : TRY US

Saturday, April 29th

WE have now a much larger and more up-to-date store than at the old stand. The ground floor covers a space of 100 feet by 20½ feet. This gives us a liberal space to display the large stock which we carry.

PRESCRIPTION DEPT.

We have made a special effort to make this as complete as possible.

Don't forget We are Sole Agents for

GILBERT'S HIGH GRADE CHOCOLATES

Excellent assortment; delicate flavour; strictly pure.

80c, $1.00 and $1.25 a lb.

Opening Day Specials

Talcum in Rose, Violet, Bouquet, Carnation Regular 25c 2 for 25c

Liver Pills Regular 25c for 9c

Kando Silver Polish Great for Spring House Cleaning Regular 25c for 10c

Spooner's Carbolic Disinfecting Powder Reg. 25c for 10c

Toilet Paper Finest Satin Tissue Reg. 10c straight 3 for 25c

Try our Beef, Iron & Wine at 50c Splendid Value Good Quality

Musical Programme

At 2:30 p. m.

1. March	Valley Flowers	Mills
2. Waltz	Our Wedding Day	Tobin
3. Song	My Love
4. Reverie	Sunshine
5. Overture	Bridal Rose	Laveller
6. Dance	La Morsaria	Morse
7. Serenade	Ripples	Brewer
8. Intermezzo	Zallah	Lorraine
9. Valse	Daisies Won't Tell	Owen
10. March	A Good Ice Cream Soda for Mine, Richer

At 8:00 p. m.

1. March	Glory	Holyman
2. Intermezzo	Mayeppa	Schwartz
3. Song	My Rosary	Nevin
4. Waltz (from Faust)	Marguerite	Gounod
5. Selection	Il Trovatore	Verdi
6. Minuet	A L'Antique	Paderewski
7. Rag	Spaghetti	Lyons
8. Reverie	Blossoms	Boadlx
9. Waltz	Yachting	Klein
10. March	Loving	Klein

Opening Day Specials

Writing Paper in Boxes, reg. 25c 18c Extra fine 25c value

Talcum Powder 1-lb. Boxes regular 35c for 18c

Syrup of Figs regular 25c for 13c

Celery and Iron Pills regular 25c for 9c

Colonial Poultry Food regular 25c for 15c

Tooth Picks regular 10c for 5c

FREE VARIOUS SAMPLES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED AT 3 AND 8 P. M. FREE

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE, C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR

TWO DOORS NORTH OF THE OLD STAND

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—None Better

VOL L No. 99 | 14 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY APRIL 28 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

BIG ATTRACTION IN VAUDEVILLE

The Musical Copes

REFINED MUSICAL ACT
Introducing
Both Classical and Popular Music

Louis Charette

The Wonderful Barrel Jumper and Acrobat
Comic and Straight Work

These are two acts of high class refined vaudeville that should please everyone. Arthur and Stella Cope are two of the best musical artists seen at the Royal for a long time, while Louis Charette has the latest and greatest single act on the circuit.

Motion Pictures

Complete change of motion pictures for to-night including one of Edison Co.'s latest and most beautifully told picture plays, entitled "Monsieur." It is a lovely picture story. Also a very funny Biograph Comedy—"Father Gets Into the Game" and an interesting Educational film "Agricultural Interests in British Columbia," and other pictures.

ADMISSION:
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

PRINCESS

EXTRA EXTRA EXTRA
Special New Pictures for To-night

"Between Two Fires"

One of Edison's great War Dramas of the times in France during the Franco-Prussian War.

"Priscilla and the Umbrella"

One of the Biograph's latest and very funny Comedies.

'Il Trovatore'

PATHE'S GREAT MASTERPIECE

This magnificent production is one of the best and most popular films ever produced. Special music to fit scene for scene has been arranged from the score of Verdi's great opera and will be played as the picture is being shown. Let no one miss seeing this great Italian opera and hearing the grand music.

Remember to-night is the last chance you have of seeing the great Italian Opera.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Have You Seen It
ENSIGNETTE

the last word in photography
Goes in a vest pocket and makes Post Card size pictures

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Just Received—A New Supply of LADIES' & CHILDREN'S HATS

Every one the very latest in style. Our Trimmed Hats a specialty. Come and see the prettiest Millinery in town. You can buy your Summer Hat cheaper here than elsewhere.

SPRING SUITS AND COATS for Ladies and Gents

All made up-to-date in the present day styles.

You will need some new things for the home, now the housecleaning time is here. Come and see what you require in the way of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains, etc.

We will be pleased to show you our new stock. Come and open up an account with us. A small deposit and easy terms to suit your convenience.

432 George St. Phone 567

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption

GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst. Secy.
Bell Phone 764 George Street

IT IS NOW OR NEVER

Taft Urges Reciprocity Claims Upon United States Editors—First Address in a Series of Speeches by President

A BIG CAMPAIGN

New York, April 28.—Reciprocity with Canada must be adopted now or never, must stand or fall by its own terms. So declared President Taft in an address at the 'Waldorf-Astoria last night, at the fourth annual joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspapers Publishers' Association.

His address was the first of a series in which he plans to evoke public sentiment in support of his policies, and he appealed to the company of editors and newspaper owners, gathered from the length and the breadth of editors of the land, to impress in the public mind that reciprocity should stand alone "and ought not to be affected in any regard by other amendments to the tariff law." His recommendations were warmly cheered.

All talk of the annexation he characterised as "Bosh" and said that the United States has all it can attend to with the territory it is now governing. He praised the House of Representatives for its passage of the agreement; declared that it would not injure the farmer nor any special class, touched briefly on the matter of a general arbitration treaty with Great Britain which he said was progressing; answered in detail the objections that have been raised to reciprocity and begged for at least "a kind of test to dispel the ghosts exhibited to frighten the agricultural classes."

President Taft's speech met with rapturous applause from the assembled newspapermen and the cheering of the evening was frequent and prolonged.

Other speakers of the evening were Manuel De Zamacona, Mexican ambassador to the United States, who urged intelligent and deliberate consideration of the forces that have shaped the present insurrection; W. B. Northrup, K.C., M.P., who paid tribute to the power of the press, reminded it of its responsibilities, and analyzed Canadian sentiment with reference to reciprocity. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University and J. F. Mackay, president of the Canadian Press, Ltd.

Opened New Armories.

Guelph, April 28.—Guelph's new $220,000 armories was formally opened last night, being graced by the presence of Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia and Defence, who, in the presence of about 2,000 people, declared the building to be opened. Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., to whose efforts the building is credited, announced more fully than the Minister, that a city regiment would be organized here of eight companies, though, owing to the lack of officers, for the present it would be but a four-company regiment. It has not been decided, as yet, what the uniform will be, for though the kilties are favored, the cost is almost prohibitive. A Highland light infantry regiment or fusiliers are likely.

Disregard Armistice.

Eagle Pass, Texas, April 28.—Rebels south of here are disregarding the Mexican armistice which, they say, they never agreed to, according to the information reaching here. The Southern Pacific office has received orders to accept no freight bound into Mexico beyond Monetova, 150 miles south of Eagle Pass. No passenger tickets are to be sold beyond that point.

The Business World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES

Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES

Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE

GEO. SPOTTON, - President

FOUR WORKMEN ARE KILLED IN EXPLOSION

History Repeats Itself After a Year at Sandy Point, Ont.—Disaster Absolutely Destroyed the Bodies of Two of the Victims—Two Other Bodies Found in Ruins.

Sand Point, Ont., April 28.—As the result of an explosion in the drying house of the Dominion Explosives Co., one and a half miles west of this place, a calamity which in cause and some of its results almost exactly duplicated of a year ago in the same powder mills, four men were instantly hurled into eternity and about $700 damage was done to the property of the company.

Minic Bennet, Westport, aged 22.
William Brooks, Sand Point, aged 27.
Joseph Mills, Poplar, London, England, aged 36.
Horace McMullen, Ottawa, aged 29.

The explosion occurred at 12.10 yesterday afternoon, and is said by the officials of the company to have been due to the ignition of a quantity of gas in the building where it took place. An inquest will be opened today by Coroner Armstrong of Arnprior in an effort to fix the responsibility.

The catastrophe was one as sudden as it was terrible in its effects. Without anything that might in any way have given the unfortunate victims a warning the explosion came. The drying house was disintegrated in an instant and smashed into kindling wood, which strewed the surrounding landscape. Wm. Brooks and D... ict Benedict were inside the building, Joseph Mills and Horace McMullen standing on its platform. The bodies of Benedict and Mills were blown into atoms, no trace of them having been found last night. Those of Brooks and McMullen were recovered, that of the latter being almost impossible to identify. Almost miraculously none of the other employes were injured, though near by.

Besides the complete destruction of the drying house, the sides of the nitrate rooms were staved in, as were the ends of the ice house and a store room.

Where the drying house had been, nothing was left but a large hollow in the ground, the result of the downward action of the explosion.

ISSUES A STATEMENT MAINTAINING INNOCENCE

J. J. McNamara Calls His Arrest a Second Attempt to Crush and Discredit the Cause He Represents.

HIS FIRST STATEMENT

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—J. J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association, gave his first authorized statement as to his arrest to the Associated Press yesterday, as follows:

"To the brotherhood of organized labor in California and the United States:

"In this second attempt to crush and discredit the cause we represent, I fully realize the desperation of the enemies of labor arrayed against us, but I am of good heart, for it will fail.

"That I am innocent of any infraction of the law, in word or act, needs no emphasis from me, for the truth is mighty and will prevail right speedily, and for it I will contentedly wait.

"I send to all brothers and friends of union labor the world over my earnest and affectionate greetings, with the assurance that there is no villainy or conspiracy possible of which we are afraid.

"I am also confident that it is not asking too much of the public to suspend judgment in these matters until opportunity for a full and fair defence has been afforded.

"Signed "J. J. McNamara."

Mrs. D. H. Ingersoll of San Francisco, in whose lodging house was the man she knew as "James B. Bryce," who was charged with the actual dynamiting of The Times building here, was taken into the jail to see if she could identify James B. McNamara as "Bryce."

Mrs. Ingersoll left the jail with the district attorney, who refused to reveal the woman's decision in the matter of identity. No one was permitted by him to see Mrs. Ingersoll.

Spanish Papers Cautious.

Paris, April 28.—The Spanish press generally urges the Government to proceed with the utmost caution. Premier Canalejas and his associates in the Spanish Ministry find themselves in a difficult position. The army is not disposed to go to Morocco, and public opinion is opposed to the cost of money and lives without seeing definite advantages to be gained.

It is understood unofficially that the French Government considers that since its action is in the interest of all the powers, all will approve, including Germany. Nevertheless, the comment in some of the German newspapers, reprinted here, distrusts some Frenchmen. However, the supporters of the Government policy recall that the French and German Moroccan agreement of 1909 gives Germany what is interpreted in France to be predominant commercial interests in Morocco, while France retains a predominant political position there.

Lake Captain Dead.

Kingston, April 28.—Capt. William Ada, aged 78, one of the oldest great lakes captains, is dead. He had been in the service of the R. & O. Co., thirty-five years.

Dr. Rogers Recovering.

Kingston, April 28.—Dr. V. Rogers, Kingston's oldest lawyer, has been at death's door for several days, but yesterday the crisis in his disease was reached, and he is now improving.

Given His Liberty.

Kingston, April 28.—Edward McDermott, news dealer, arrested for shopbreaking, was given his liberty by Judge Price, the evidence not being strong enough to convict.

MIXED WITH CROWD.

And Inspector Harris Caught Many Fair Smugglers.

Brockville, April 28.—With the opening of navigation Brockville people have again started the practice of visiting Ogdensburg, N.Y., in large numbers on every trip of the Island Belle, and strong suspicions of smuggling are invariably directed to the female sex. Yesterday over fifty patronized the outing, and upon the return were treated to an unpleasant surprise by being met by two officers of the customs staff, who ushered them into headquarters to pass the inspection of Special Officer Harris of Toronto, who is working along the frontier. Duties were imposed and collected on all purchased displayed, large and small, though in the rush it is reported that several ladies who did not care to be too closely interrogated, evaded the officers and got safely away.

Inspector Harris mingled with the passengers on the trip, his identity not being known until he asserted his authority in the customs office. He came to Brockville from Prescott, where he is said to have done a land office business. Frequent complaints have been sent to the customs department at Ottawa by Brockville merchants of the smuggling operations from Ogdensburg.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Leslie Burk was committed for trial at Colborne on a charge of arson.

Several buildings of the Canada Car & Foundry Co. at Amherst, N.S., were burned.

A non-party deputation urged on Premier Asquith the creation of an Imperial Council.

Mrs. Eva Richardson, Toronto, ended her life, and her husband was arrested on a charge of being drunk.

The management committee of the Toronto Board of Education decided to abolish the public drinking cup in the schools.

The Grand Trunk will put four new trains into service in western Ontario, including an early morning newspaper train out of Toronto.

The new C.P.R. steamship, which is being built at the yards of Wigham Richardson on the Tyne for the British Columbia coast service, is to be named the Princess Alice.

C.P.R. officials state that during the next few weeks 45,000 United States farmers will leave the U. S. to settle in Western Canada. It is estimated that they will bring with them in wealth at least $20,000,000.

A grass fire at Waterville, N.B., near the Maine border, yesterday spread to the Methodist and Reformed Baptist Churches and destroyed both. Nine buildings in the village were also ablaze, but were all saved.

Oliver Cox, aged 19, of Middlemiss, near London, Ont., was arrested by High Constable Hughes for arson. He is charged with the burning of the barns, implements and live stock of Frank O'Neill, with whom he lives.

Jolted Out of the Auto.

Montreal, April 28.—Thrown heavily to the street by the collision of an auto with a pile of stones in the street, Mrs. H. S. Coulson was fatally injured early yesterday, and Jos. Rosenthal, jr., badly injured, but will recover. Mr. Coulson, son of the general manager of the Bank of Toronto, fell on his feet and was injured.

The Coulsons had guests at their home in the evening, and drove them in the auto, Rosenthal going along. A pile of stones on Park avenue, unguarded by a red light stopped them suddenly. Mrs. Coulson had her skull fractured.

Inspected Jamaican Defences.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 28.—Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, inspector-general of the overseas forces of Great Britain, yesterday completed an extensive inspection of the fortifications, regular troops, militia and police here. He sailed yesterday afternoon for Cuba, on his way to Bermuda.

LANCTOT CHARGES

Report of Committee is Debated in the Commons—Minister of Justice Says Transaction Was Quite an Open One

TABLE DISCUSSION

Ottawa, April 28.—Parliament came into its own yesterday. It rose to its best traditions in the principal portions of the all-day debate consequent upon the presentation of the majority and minority reports of the committee on privileges and elections. This forum recently dealt with the transactions at Sorel, which placed the seat of Mr. Adelard Lanctot in jeopardy. From scenes of disorder and acrimony, from the fulminations of the Lennoxes, Sproules and Lancasters, Parliament passed into a dignified, serious and edifying discussion of the gravamen and effect of this specific case, and the ethical standards which should govern Parliamentary membership and discussion, led by Sir Alan Aylesworth, Hon. C. J. Doherty and a number of others. The change was marked.

In moving the adoption of the report of the majority of the members of the privileges and elections committe, exonerating Lanctot, in connection with the charges made against him by P. E. Blondin, Nationalist member for Champlain, Wm. German, chairman of the committee, went exhaustively into the matter from the point of view of the Liberal majority of the committee.

Mr. German did not undertake to defend a system under which Government employes of the Sorel shipyard were allowed to do work for an outsider. That, he said, was another matter which did not come under the terms of the charge as made by Mr. Blondin. He declared, however, that the evidence adduced made it clear that throughout Mr. Lanctot had acted in good faith and with no intention of profiting at the expense of the Government.

Analyzing the charge that Lanctot had not paid for all the work done, Mr. German said that the member for Richelieu had paid for 217 days' labor.

Mr. Borden then asked what business Foreman Paget had to take Government material away and send it to the house of Mr. Lanctot. Mr. German replied that whether or not he should have done so was another matter. The point was that Mr. Lanctot had acted in good faith.

In conclusion Mr. German explained the view that Mr. Lanctot had not been guilty of violating the Independance of Parliament Act, and criticized Mr. Blondin for bringing such a serious charge against a fellow-member, without first making an effort to ascertain the real facts.

F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier), said it was clear from the evidence that Lanctot intended to get the work done without refunding the cost. Lanctot did not seem to have realized the special position, and with Paget, the foreman, had started in to perpetrate an odious fraud on the Government. It was public notoriety, he said, that these things were done daily in Sorel. Men had started stores there on what they had got from the Government.

Sir Alan Aylesworth said they must remember that the charges affected not only Mr. Lanctot's seat in the House, but affected his personal character and honor. He was literally on trial. Personally he regarded Mr. Lanctot with affection and held him in the highest esteem and regard, but he would not allow this to interfere with his duty.

He confessed that he was not able to find evidence of fraudulent behaviour. There was no question, he admitted, that the work was done by Government employes with Government materials, but Lanctot had paid for it. The agreement between Lanctot and the Government employe was perfectly distinct. Government supplies were used and to be replaced. Sir Alan argued that there had been no infraction of the Independence of Parliament Act by Mr. Lanctot.

C. J. Doherty, (St. Anne's, Montreal, pointed out that the whole defence was that Lanctot paid. He considered this childish. The Minister of Justice had called this borrowing, but the criminal code called it theft. There was such a crime as compounding a felony. Lanctot shares equally the guilt of the employes. The question was simply whether Lanctot had done this lawfully or unlawfully.

Mr. Doherty agreed with the Minister of Justice that there had been no violation of the text of the Independence of Parliament Act, for the very simple reason that the act dealt with contractual relations. There had been no contractual relation between Lanctot and the Government of Canada. The relation that existed, however, was the relation of the man who obtained another man's property unlawfully.

Body Found In Pool.

Brockville, April 28.—A little daughter of M. Gavin of Toledo wandered away from home during the forenoon. Her mother, busy with household duties, did not notice her absence for some time, and when she did there was no response to her calls. The lifeless body of the child was found in a pool of water at an old sidney, about three-quarters of a mile from the house.

OUR BIG 4 SATURDAY SPECIALS

25c Tooth Brush For..... 10c

3 Rolls Toilet Paper For..... 10c

Hooper's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil Only 1 bottle to each customer 20c

Regular 50c Hand Mirrors For..... 25c

Try our Oriental Hat Dye, 25c per box

McDermid & Jury
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
Corner George and Charlotte Sts.

Taken From His Engine.

Brockville, April 28.—For stealing a bicycle, which he sold for $4, Thomas Weston, hailing from Montreal, was yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Deacon to six months in the Central Prison. Weston had secured employment as locomotive fireman on the Grand Trunk and was making his trial trip, when he was arrested by the chief of police of Cornwall on his engine and brought back here for trial.

Judge Reynolds allowed James Holmes of Prescott to go on suspended sentence. The prisoner was caught in the act of sawing the padlock of a cell in the Prescott police station to liberate an acquaintance who was behind the bars. A strong petition for leniency saved Holmes from a term in the penitentiary.

Blazing Forests Give Trouble.

North Adams, Mass., April 28—Blazing forests, which also have devasted 600,000 acres of timber land in the towns of Clarksburg and Williamstown and in the outskirts of North Adams, kept more than 400 fire-fighters busy last night. While the flames showed little sign of dying out, despite three days' fight against them, actual danger to settlements was still remote. The situation was at its worst in Clarksburg, where the outlying houses were a mile and a half from the advancing fires, but the wind was light and no fear was felt for the immediate safety of the farm buildings.

Almost Unanimous Vote.

Midland, April 28.—A Hydro-Electric bylaw was voted on in Midland yesterday to authorize the council to take power from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and to expend $13,000 in extending the present plant and making necessary changes. Although the vote was light it was practically unanimous and the bylaw was carried by 339 to 15. The meeting called by Mayor Horrell and addressed by Hon. Adam Beck convinced the municipality that the scheme is a good one. Penetang votes on a similar bylaw on May 1 and there is no doubt that it will also carry.

It is hoped to have hydro power and light in use by July 1, as the Simcoe Railway & Power Co.'s plant is now about completed.

A Test Case.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, April 28.—The concessionnaire of the Rio Janeiro docks is suing the Government for damages of $700,000 because the defendant granted a concession of steel manufactures to operate their own docks.

The suit is intended to determine the legality of the recent concession, by which a local syndicate receives Government assistance in the manufacture of steel and iron.

Pirates Fired Vessel.

San Francisco, April 28.—A cable message from Shanghai yesterday says that after looting the wreck of the steamer Asia, which struck on Finger Rock, Chinese pirates set fire to the vessel, completely wrecking the ship. The officers and crew of the Asia will be brought here on the steamer Persia, due June 16.

A Big Contract.

Winnipeg, April 28.—The $1,500,000 contract at Transcona for the completion of coach shops and buildings, has been awarded to Haney, Quinlan & Robertson, the contracting firm, which is just finishing the erection of the shops at Transcona for the commission and the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Man's Sudden Collapse.

Winnipeg, April 28—R. R. Jamieson, prominent business man, ex-mayor of Calgary and formerly general superintendent of the C.P.R. at Winnipeg, has been taken to New Westminster, B.C., sanitarium in a hopeless condition. Fatal results are feared.

His decline is most sudden, for his health had been excellent.

Wanted In Brantford.

Kingston, April 28.—Albert Henderson, aged 25, was arrested on the steamer City of Hamilton as she arrived in port by Constable Bateson. He is wanted in Brantford on a charge of theft.

Wants Separation From Church.

Kingston, April 28.—Queen's University board of trustees at their annual meeting decided to once more ask the general assembly to take steps to separate the university from the Presbyterian Church in Canada. They ask the assembly to co-operate with the board of trustees in procuring the legislation to give effect to the proposed changes in the constitution of the university.

Prof. A. S. Ferguson was appointed junior professor of philosophy, to succeed Dr. S. W. Dyde.

Prof. J. Matheson was appointed professor of mathematics and head of the department, to succeed Dean Dupuis.

A number of increases in salaries were made and it was decided to establish a fellowship in history.

Narrow Escape From Drowning.

Kingston, April 28.—Engineer Reynolds and Fireman Wilbur of the steamer Sally had a very narrow escape from drowning when the steamer was upset off Point Frederick yesterday morning. The steamer was towing the steam yacht Nokomis, owned by W. H. Nichols of Howe Island. A mistake in throwing off the lines caused the steamer to topple over. The men were caught under the vessel, but were rescued in the nick of time by a tug.

Artillery Team For Britain.

Ottawa, April 28.—The officers commanding field batteries have received instructions to the effect that one man from each of the 15 highest field batteries in last year's efficiency list will be taken on the composite team which goes to England in August for the artillery competitions.

There will also be eight men from the heavy artillery and seventeen from the coast defence, making a team 40 strong.

To Neutralize Philippines.

Washington, April 28.—Representative Sabath of Illinois yesterday introduced a resolution providing for the neutralization of the Philippine Islands, which will be created by the committee on insular affairs. The resolution directs the President to take steps to secure an international guarantee whereby the islands shall be forever neutralized and placed under the protection of the powers.

River Steamer Sank.

Pensacola, Fla., April 28.—Loaded to capacity with 5,000 barrel casks of naval stores, the river steamer Bulls, from Vernon, Fla., to Pensacola, sank in a severe fifty-mile gale Wednesday in the Choctaw River, and four lives were lost.

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are bordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

...KIDNEY DISEASE
CURES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
DIABETES

"23 THE P...

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 329. 160 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 238 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 254 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 681, Mach., 233. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Old 93 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 449. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 4 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

G. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 249 Hunter street, or at residence, 249 Hunter street. Telephone No. 35.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. HENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 326 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Hennet; E. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, &c.
Offices ... 379 Water Street.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Offices, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, B. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 436 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store.

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. H. Hall, S. T. Hedd, W. S. Davidson.

W. B. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

S. S. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 373 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetizing, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE H. BRIGGS

(Continued from Thursday)

"Take the night train, Velasco. You ought to be playing, not composing! You know that as well as I do. If you go to-night, you will reach Leipzig in time. It makes a difference of thousands of roubles to me as well as to you; remember that. You musicians have no conscience. Come, Velasco—are you listening?"

The Musician stood listless, his hands in his pockets, staring down at the bricks of the chimney piece.

"What is that?" he exclaimed: "Were you speaking?—Oh, damn you Galitsin, why don't you go? I'm not a slave! I won't stir one step in Germany if I don't feel like it; I swear I won't! Cancel everything,—everything. Heavens! I couldn't play if I tried! You managers are like the old man of the mountain: you want to sit on my neck and lash me on as if I were Sinbad. All for the sake of a few dirty roubles to put in your pocket! What do I care? I won't do it, I tell you. Go and manage somebody else; get another slave. Petrokoff over there in Moscow! He will be like a little lamb and eat out of your hand. Now be off—be off! Your voice is like a bee buzzing."

Velasco threw himself back in his chair again and blinked defiantly up at the Manager through his bloodshot eyes. They were heavy and weary: he could scarcely keep them open; his fingers strummed against the arm of the chair and he began to whistle to himself softly, a quaint little Polish air like a folk-song. Galitsin shook his head frowning:

"You are a perfect child, Velasco, when this mood gets hold of you. There is no doing anything with you. Very well then, I wash my hands of the whole business. Answer your own letters and satisfy the agents, if you can. Tell them you are ill, dying, dead—anything you please."

"Bah!" said Velasco, "Don't answer them at all." He shut his eyes.

The Manager gave a hasty glance about the Studio and then he bent his head to the chair, whispering:

"You have acted badly enough before, heaven knows, but never like this. It is not the composing. Where is the score?—Not a note?" He breathed a few words in Velasco's ear and the Musician started up.

"How did you know; who told you? The devil take you, Galitsin!"

The manager smiled, running his hands through his short, crisp curls. "Everyone knows; all St. Petersburg is talking about it. When a man of your fame, Velasco, insists on befriending a Countess, and one who is the daughter of Mezkarpin, and an anarchist to boot—"

He spread out his hands: "Ah, she is beautiful, I know. I saw her at the Warlinski. She stared at you as if she were bewitched. You had every excuse; but get down on your knees, Velasco, and give thanks. It is no fault of yours that you are not tramping through the snow to Siberia now, just as she is. A lesser man, one whose career was less marked! By heaven, Velasco, what is it?—You are choking me!"

"Say it again!" cried the Musician "You know where she is? Tell me! By God, will you tell me, or not? I'll force it out of you!"

"Let go of my throat!" gasped the Manager. "Sit down, Velasco! Don't be so excitable, so violent! No wonder you play with such passion; but I am not a violin, if you please. Take your hands off my throat and sit down."

"Where is she?"

Galitsin straightened his collar and neck-tie before the mirror of the mantel-piece. "What is the matter with you, Velasco? Any one would suppose you were in love with her! Better not; she is doomed—she is practically dead."

"Dead!"

"Don't fly up like that! Sit down! I saw the Chief of Police yesterday, and he gave me some advice to hand on to you."

"Is she dead, Galitsin?"

"No, but she will be. She is sent with a gang to the Ekaterinski Zavad. They are gone already, chained together, and marching through the snow and the cold. It is thousands of miles. A Countess, who has undoubtedly never taken a step in her life without a maid—who knows! She is frail, she won't live to get there."

The room was still for a moment and suddenly a coal fell from the fire to the hearth with a thud, flaring up. Then it broke into ashes. Presently the Manager continued:

"She shot the Grand-Duke Stepan, they say. I don't know. The thing has been hushed up for the sake of Mezkarpin, poor man! The Chief told me he had had a stroke in the prison and may not recover. The girl must be a tigress! Velasco! Are you asleep? Wake up! Velasco!"

"What mines did you say, Galitsin?"

"The Ekaterinski Zavad."

"They have started already?"

"Yesterday."

"The Chief told you that?"

"The Chief himself told me."

"Did he mention the route?"

"By the old road through Tobolosk, I dare say, the usual one. Come, Velasco, don't brood over it!"

"Were they chained?"

The Musician shuddered and moved his limbs uneasily. "Chains, Galitsin? Fancy, how horrible! How they must clank! It must be maddening—jingling, rattling with every step—Ah!"

The Manager shrugged his shoulders. "When a woman undertakes to murder the Grand-Duke Stepan, what else can she expect? Mezkarpin is a friend of the Tsar, otherwise she would have been hung, or shot! Why of course! The Chief said she was utterly brazen about it. She asked over and over if he were dead, and then said she was glad. Lucky for you, Velasco, they recognized you, they didn't take you for an accomplice; you would never have touched a violin again. All the same—"

He glanced around the Studio again and his voice grew lower: "The Chief gave warning. You are to leave Russia, he said, Velasco—listen to me! He said you must leave Russia at once, to-night—do you hear?"

The Manager leaned forward and shook the Musician's shoulder angrily. "Velasco, do you hear?—If you won't go for your Art, you must go for your safety. Do you hear me? You must!"

"I hear you," said Velasco, "You needn't bellow in my ear like a bull! If I must, I suppose I must. Go and write your letters and leave me in peace."

"Shall I tell the agents you are coming?"

"Tell them anything you like. Pull me about on the wires like a little tin puppet, and set me down anywhere in Europe, just as you please. I feel like an automaton! You will be winding up my Stradivarius next with a key. Now go, or I won't stir a step!"

The Manager took up his gloves, and cane, he seemed uneasy. "You swear you will start to-night, Velasco?"

"Be off!"

"By the night train? I shall meet you at the station."

"Very well. Good-bye."

"The Night Express?"

The Musician closed his eyes, and nodded. "You cackle like an old woman, Galitsin, you would talk a cricket dumb. Send me up Bobo, if you see him, will you? Good-bye."

Galitsin took out his watch. "In three hours then," he said, "Au revoir! You have plenty of time to pack. Eleven thirty, Velasco."

The door closed behind the short, thick-set figure with the crisp, curling hair, and the Musician waited in his chair. Presently the door opened again.

"Is that you, Bobo,—eh? Come in. I sent for you. Didn't you tell me your wife was in?"

"Yes, Barin."

"You would like to go to her to-night? Well go. I shan't need you. Don't jabber, you make my head spin. Go at once and stay until morning; leave the cigarettes on the tray and the wine on the table—that is all. Just take yourself off and quietly."

After a moment or two the door closed, and the sound of footsteps, scuffling in list slippers, died slowly away in the corridor. Velasco leaned forward with his head in his hands, his bloodshot eyes staring into the coals.

"He may be one of them," he murmured, "or he may not. You can't trust people. He is better out of the way."

The haggard look had deepened on his face; then he rose suddenly from his chair and went into the next room, dropping the curtain behind him. There were sounds in the room as of the pulling out of drawers, the creaking of keys in a rusty lock, steps hurrying from one spot to another, the fall of a heavy boot. Then presently the curtain was drawn aside and he reappeared.

No, it was not Velasco; it was some one else, a gypsey in a rakish costume. The mane of black hair was clipped close to his head; he wore a scarf about his waist, a shabby jacket of velveteen on his back; his trousers were short to the knees; his boots were worn at the heel and patched. It wasn't Velasco—it was a gypsey, a tattered, beggarly ragamuffin, with dark, brooding eyes and a laugh on his lips, a laugh that was like a twist of the muscles.

He crossed the room stealthily on his tiptoes, glancing about him, and stood before the mirror examining himself. At the first glance he laughed out loud; then he clapped his hand over his mouth, listening again. But he was alone, and the form reflected in the mirror was his own, no shadow behind. He snatched up the lamp and held it close to the glass, peering at himself from the crown of his close-cropped head to the patch on his boot. He gazed at the scarf admiringly; it was red with tassels, and he patted it with his free hand.

"That is how they do it!" he cried softly, laughing. "It is perfect. I don't know myself! Ha ha! I would cheat my own shadow. If the door should open now, and Galitsin should come in—the ox! How he would stare! And Bobo, poor devil, he would take me for a thief in my own Studio.—God, what is that?—a step on the stairs! The police! They come preying like beasts and seize one at night. She told me!"

The gypsey's hand trembled and shook, and the wick of the lamp flared up. Great heaven! The step crept nearer—it was at the door—the door moved! It was opening!

He dropped the lamp with a crash: the light went out and he staggered back against the wall, clutching his scarf, straining his ears to hear in the darkness.

The door opened wider.

Some one slipped through it and closed it again, and the step came nearer, creaking on the boards. He heard the soft patter of hands feeling their way, the faint sound of a breath. It was worse than in the carriage, because the room was so large and the matches were on the table, far off. There was no way of seeing, or feeling. The step came nearer.

If it was a spy, he could grapple with him and throw him. The gypsey took a step forward towards the other step, and all of a sudden two bodies came together, grappling, wrestling. Two cries went up, the one loud, the other faint like an echo.

"Hush, it is I, Velasco! You are soft like a woman! Your hair— It is you, Kaya! It is you! I know your voice—your touch! Did you hear the lamp crash? Wait! Let me light a candle."

He stumbled over to the table feeling his way, clutching the soft thing by the arm, the shoulder.

"It is you, Kaya, tell me, it is you! Damn the match, it is damp, how it sputters! Put your face close, let me see it. Kaya! Is it you, yourself?"

The two faces stared at one another in the flickering light, almost touching; then the other sprang back with a cry of dismay.

"You are a gypsey, you are not Velasco! The voice is his,—Dieu! And the eyes—they are his and the brows! Let me go! Don't laugh—let me go!"

"No—no, Kaya, come back! It is I. They told me you were chained with a gang; and were walking through the snow and the cold to the mines. How did you escape; how could you escape?"

"Yes—it is you," said the girl, "I see now. It was the costume, and your hair is all cut. I thought you had gone in the train to Germany." She shuddered and clung to his hand. "Why do you wear that? Why are you not gone? The Studio was vacant, I thought—deserted, or I should not have come!"

(To be continued)

BE WARNED BY HEADACHE

It Tells of Serious Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You can stop a headache with powerful drugs. But it is not generally wise to do so.

A headache almost always warns you of derangements of the digestive system, the liver, kidneys or bowels.

Awaken the liver to healthful action by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you not only free yourself of headache, but remove the cause which will soon lead to more dangerous results than headache.

Invigorate the action of the kidneys by this treatment and you take away the dangers of Bright's disease as well as free yourself of headache.

Pains are the result of poison in the system and whether you have headache, backache or aching limbs, you can be almost sure of relief and cure when you cleanse and regulate the vital organs by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They are wonderfully prompt, as well as definite and thorough in action. You can depend upon them, no matter how long-standing or complicated your case, so long as the cause is the sluggish, torpid condition of the liver and kidneys.

If you don't feel like risking 25 cents for a box, write for a free sample. A trial will convince you of their merits. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

NO HOSPITAL FOR MR. LAWLER

HE TOOK GIN PILLS

If you ever hear anyone say that Rheumatism can't be cured, ask them if they have ever tried GIN PILLS. Or ask them to write us for proof that GIN PILLS have cured hundreds and hundreds of cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back and other troubles caused by weak Kidneys or Bladder.

Rheumatism can be cured—is being cured every day—by GIN PILLS. Here is the best kind of proof.

ODDEN, N.S.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and told me to go to the hospital but all to no good until a friend told me to try GIN PILLS. I did so and after taking a few boxes, I am perfectly well." D. J. LAWLER.

Take GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee that they will cure you or money refunded. 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Order from us if your dealer cannot supply them. Sample box free if you write us. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto. 29

NEWSY ITEMS FROM EAST CITY CAPITAL

Special to The Examiner:

NORWOOD, APRIL 26.—Rev. W. H. Adams of Penetang a former pastor of the Methodist church here, was in town last week, renewing acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Keefer spent Easter in Brantford visiting the former's brother, Rev. Robert Keefer.

Mr. Harold Chandler of Toronto, was home for Easter Sunday.

Miss B. Scott, B.A., is spending the vacation at her home in Toronto.

Rev. W. B. Tucker was in Belleville last week.

Miss Flossie Nicol of Toronto spent Easter at her home here.

Miss M. E. MacLachlan, Mrs. John Weir and Masters Armor and Alex. Weir were in Peterborough on Saturday.

Misses M. Kirkpatrick and E. Waters spent Easter in Toronto.

Mr. Alex. Calder of Toronto, spent Sunday at his home here.

Misses Grace and Florence Foster spent a few days in Toronto, the guests of their aunt, Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. S. P. Ford and Miss Hugill spent Easter in Kalamazoo, Mich.

Miss Maude Scales of Toronto, was a guest of Miss Lillie Carroll for a few days.

Mr. Clow of Kingston, was in town over Sunday.

Mrs. A. B. Richardson, Miss Grace Richardson and Master Alex., of Tilsonburg, spent Easter in town visiting relatives.

Miss Katie Baskin of Toronto, is visiting at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pace of Cordova were in town on Thursday.

Mrs. Dancey of Picton, Misses May and Edna Foster of Bracebridge, were guests of the Misses MacLachlan for Easter.

Mr. John Weir was in Madoc on Friday.

Miss E. Cuffe, of Toronto, spent Easter with her sister, Miss V. Cuffe.

Miss Lillie McCleary of Toronto, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. McCleary.

Mrs. R. Lees and Miss May Lees of Peterborough, spent Easter at the home of the former's father, Mr. R. W. Waters.

Miss Jennie Buck of Selwyn is spending her holidays at her home here.

Mrs. F. H. Birt spent Easter in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moore of Peterborough, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Searight.

Miss C. Calder of Campbellford, was home over Sunday.

Miss Montgomery of Kingston, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. Juniac.

Miss Elsie Knox spent her vacation in Toronto and Peterborough.

Mrs. T. Howson and Miss Fleda Howson are visiting in Toronto.

Miss Maggie Calder spent a few days in Tweed this week.

Mr. C. Scott of Newmarket, was a guest of his mother, Mrs. J. Finley, this week.

Mr. Egbert Kelly is in Peterborough visiting his mother.

Mrs. H. Dafoe and son of Toronto, visited this week at the home of Mrs. W. Dafoe.

Mr Murray of Tweed, visited his aunt, Mrs. Douglas, recently.

Mr. Ashton Lillie spent Good Friday in Peterborough.

Mrs. E. C. Squire and Miss Reba who have been visiting in Toronto for a couple of weeks, have returned home.

Miss Mabel Williams of Campbellford, is a guest of Miss Mabel Andrews.

Mr. G. Andrews, who was home for Easter, returned to Albert College, on Tuesday.

Mrs. W. B. Tucker and Master Albert are visiting her parents, Mr and Mrs. Huff, near Belleville.

Miss Edith Stewart of Toronto, is a guest at the home of her aunt, Miss J. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tucker were in Toronto during Easter.

Misses Jessie and Vida MacNaughton spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Miss Pearl Chandler of Athens, visited her parents during the vacation.

Mr. E. C. MacLeod, Cookstown, spent Easter with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Young visited their daughter, Mrs. Christie, in Peterborough this week.

Mr. Bruce Puffer spent the week end in Warkworth.

Misses Beatrice and Lila Finlay of Toronto, are visiting their mother, Mrs. W. Finlay.

Miss Jennie Clysdale of Toronto, is visiting at her home here.

Miss Theresa Robson of Toronto, spent Easter with her mother.

Mr. Fred Haskill of Peterborough, visited friends in town over Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. E. Mills was in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Trenouth are spending the Easter vacation in Bowmanville and Toronto.

Miss Mary Anderson was in Peterborough on Thursday.

Miss Madge Patterson was in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. Arthur Duffield spent a few days with friends in Toronto.

Mrs. G. A. Brethen was in Toronto last week.

Mr. W. T. Carbray returned from the West last week.

Mr. John McNeely and family are moving into Mr. Albert Scriven's house on Spring street.

The moving picture show, under the auspices of the Norwood Brass Band, on Monday evening, was fairly well attended. The proceeds amounted to $55, twenty-five per cent. of which goes to the Band.

Mrs. Walter Fowles of Hastings, was a guest of Mrs. Roxburgh on Thursday.

Mr. Geo. A. Howson of Carleton Place spent Sunday at his home here.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

C/C

à la Grâce CORSETS

"Doesn't she carry it well!" is often said of women whose gowns are fitted and worn over an a la Grace Corset. Get the model that's made for YOU.

No. 729. The popular, new bust-front model. Sets off the new styles just right for slight or average figures, medium bust. Sizes 18 to 25.

Ask for them by name in the best stores. Write for style book to Crompton Corset Company, Limited, Toronto 293

Library Voting Contest

Two Handsome Libraries of 80 Volumes Each with Oak Sectional Book Cases Will be Given Away in a Library Voting Contest

Below will be found the names of some of the progressive merchants of Peterborough who make this most popular and liberal offer. One library of 80 volumes and handsome sectional bookcases will be given by votes to the lodge, church, society, school or other organization in the City of Peterborough, and one library of 80 volumes to the schools, lodge, society, church or organization in the County of Peterborough, outside of the City of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes in the following manner. The business men listed below will give with each

5 Cent Purchase 5 Votes

The contest begins Saturday, April 1st, 1911, and ends Saturday, Sept. and at 7 o'clock p.m. A ballot box has been placed in the E.L. Payne Drug Store, where the votes are to be deposited.

At the close of the contest the lodge, church, school, society, or organization, in the City of Peterborough, and the County of Peterborough outside of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes will be awarded the libraries.

Current Accounts when promptly paid will be entitled to votes REMEMBER votes can only be obtained by trading with the Merchants listed below. Each week The Examiner will announce the standing of the contestants. The libraries and cases are on exhibition in E. B. Clegg & Co's show window. The following is a list of the merchants where votes can be secured:

Peterborough Hardware Co.
Hardware and Tools
368 George Street

E. B. Clegg & Co.
Fine Furniture
427 George Street

J. T. Stenson & Sons
Boots and Shoes
364 George Street

Young & Vandewater
Dealers in McCormick Agricultural Implements, High class Vehicles, Harness, etc.
388 Water Street

Robert Cox
Fresh Meats
461 George Street

R. Farthing - Photographer
Successor to Richmond Studio
147 Hunter Street

Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store
Picture Framing, Picture and Art Goods
345 George Street

STYLE STORE FOR MEN
H. LeBrun & Co.
High Class Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Men's Furnishings
386 George Street

Brock Street Roller Rink

Model Dairy Co.
Cream Milk and Buttermilk delivered in the City
281 George Street

Central Milling Co.
All Bags of Flour contain Library Votes according to value

Peterborough Lunch and Restaurant
330 George Street
WE NEVER CLOSE

T. H. Adams
Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Garments and Furnishings
Adams' Store for Women

Otonabee Boat House
H. B. Rye Prop.
Canoes and Boats for hire—Gasoline Launch Supplies

The Peterboro Examiner
Job Work and Advertising

F. C. Cubitt
Books, Stationery, Souvenirs and Fancy Goods
370 George Street

J. M. Greene Music Co.
Green's Music Bldg. Charlotte St.
New Scale Williams Pianos
Heintzman & Co's Pianos

C. B. Roulley & Co.
Wall Paper and Chinaware
379 George Street

E. L. Payne
Chemist and Druggist
Corner George and Simcoe

HICKEY
High Class Tailor
434 George Street

A. W. Clysdale & Co.
Successor to W. K. Talbot
Wholesale & Retail Tobacconists
Importers of fine Cigars, Tobaccos and Pipes. 382 George St

W. E. Lech
Hats, Caps and Furs
366 George St. near Simcoe

Peterborough Candy Works
Fine Confectionery & Ice Cream
JAS. HAGGIS
382 George Street

Porter S. White
Grocer, Seeds, etc.
336 George Street

Wesley Bros.
The Clothes Doctors
Corner George and Brock Sts.

Miss E. Smith
Manicurist and Hairdresser
523 George Street

Peterboro Bowling Club
Shooting Gallery and Billiards
324 George Street

A. E. Micks
Stoves and Tinware
212 Hunter Street

F. S. Schneider & Co.
The Watchmaker and Jeweler
Issuer of Marriage Licenses
391 George Street

J. W. Boorman
Bread and Cake Bakery
55 Hunter Street

Robert Gibbs
Hacks and Livery
421 Water Street

Geo. Ruth & Company
Real Estate
395 Water Street

A. McGiverin
City Millinery Parlours
431 George Street

OXO Cubes

give the magic touch of deliciousness to all meat dishes, soups and chafing dish cookery.

4 Cubes, 10c.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA "Best for Breakfast."

A day started on Cowan's Cocoa is a day with a clear head and a steady nerve—a day full of snap and life. Cocoa nourishes the body. It is rich in food value and easy to digest.

DO YOU USE COWAN'S COCOA?

When the system gets "all run down" build it up with

O'Keefe's Special Extra Mild ALE

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,955,5[illegible]4.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,366,0[illegible]6.6
Surplus $1,789.4[illegible]7.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR
Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-261
Tel. Machine 270.
194 Aylmer Street. Tel. (Bell) 263.

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

NEWS BREVITIES FROM OLD LAND

The King's Early Hours are Being Followed in the Leading Hotels—Snow Blindness

Mr. Robert Crichton, of Caterham, Surrey, who celebrated his hundredth birthday, was one of the early settlers in Australia.

Road-Making with Tar

An experiment is to be made by the Islington Corporation with a soluble tar for road-making, which is extensively used in Germany.

Garter for Bavarian Prince

Prince Arthur of Connaught arrived in Munich on a mission from King George to invest the Prince Regent of Bavaria with the insignia of the Order of the Garter.

Blinded by Snow Glare

So fierce is the glare of the sun on the snow in the Tyrolese Alps that a tourist who lost his snow-spectacles while climbing was blinded, and is not expected to recover his sight.

Australia's New Destroyer

Taken out from England in sections, and put together at Sydney, the Commonwealth torpedo-boat destroyer Warrego was launched by Mrs. Pearce, wife of the Commonwealth Minister of Defence.

Manuel's Abandoned Clothes

The remainder of the jewels, clothing, and dresses left at the Necessidades Palace by Queen Amelia and King Manuel in their hurried flight have now been despatched to the Royal couple at Richmond by the Portuguese Minister of Finance.

The King's Early Hours

The King and Queen have set the fashion in early hours since their accession, and their influence is already being felt. Dinner, which used to be served in leading hotels as late as 8.30 p.m., is now more often begun at 7.30.

Cardinal and Beggar-Woman

Several broken teeth and cuts in the face were the injuries received by Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Mechlin, in a motor accident near the historic battlefield of Waterloo. To avoid running over a beggar-woman the driver of the car dashed into a tree.

Otter on the Underground

Workmen engaged in drainage operations at Acton Town Station, on the District Railway, found in a manhole an otter 3 feet 6 inches in length from head to tail. They brought it to the surface, but the otter died shortly afterwards, probably as the result of an electric shock.

Lent by the King

Glasgow's Historical Exhibition will include the following articles loaned by the King: Portrait of Lord Darnley with his brother, a portrait of King James V., a flintlock pistol, two carved dirks, a targe with pierced bosses, and three swords with basket hilts of silver.

Raising Crops by Electricity

The assistance of crops by electricity has been the subject of experiments by Miss E. C. Dudgeon at Dumfries. By the use of a mercury vapor lamp, which gives a bluish light, she produced increased and more robust growth and greater depth of color in plants subjected to these rays.

Compulsory Civil Marriages

Mr. A. C. Morton, M.P., is about to introduce a Bill making civil marriages compulsory. At the last London Diocesan Conference the Bishop of London said that such a course would become necessary to stop the "bullying and threatening to which some of his faithful priests had been subjected."

Vicissitudes of a Stowaway

After oscillating between Australia and England for the greater part of his life, H. J. Maclement Cotcher has found a home for three months in Bristol Jail as a result of emigration frauds. He went to Australia as a stowaway when a boy of fifteen, and took part in the gold rush to Coolgardie. Later he took the Queen's shilling.

CENSUS-TAKING

Not Always So Easy a Task as in This Country

Taking a census is not everywhere the comparatively simple affair it is in this country.

In India, for instance, where it has already taken place, considerable difficulty was experienced by the enumerators, principally on account of caste prejudices.

In some cases the census forms had to be left outside the houses, stuck in cleft sticks. In others they were returned to the enumerators by "arrow post," the head of the household shooting towards the enumerator an arrow, round which the filled-in form had been wound. This was to avoid the risk of a person who might be of lower caste than the occupier even so much as approaching too near the latter's compound.

The people of the wild Shan States who can neither read nor write, made their returns by chalking single strokes on bits of tin, tiles, or pots, a long stroke for each man, and shorter ones for women and children.

The savage tribes of the Nicobar Islands delivered notched sticks, indicating the strength of their fighting men only, none of the others, in their estimation, being worth accounting for.

A difficulty of precisely the opposite kind has been encountered by the Australian enumerators, who have been trying to count the hordes of native "blackfellows" who are still found roaming aimlessly over the vast northern territory, an immense unexplored region which only came under the jurisdiction of the Commonwealth Government at the beginning of this year. A small sum was paid to every native who presented himself to be counted, but many, it was discovered too late, presented themselves several times over.

Spring Tired?

Are You Weary and Run Down? Are You Sick and Discouraged? Is Your Blood Thin and Poor?

Do you take cold easily? Do you feel shivery? Utterly fatigued out after a little exertion? Is your complexion bad? Do you feel that life is not worth living? Nearly every one has some of these symptoms in spring; for winter, while apparently bracing, is all the time sapping your strength. By spring every one is in a more or less played-out condition—just right to catch any disease. Not always sick; but tired, tired, tired. To carry you through the changeable, trying, disease-breeding weather of spring you need is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It overcomes all weakening, wasting and run-down conditions of the body, brain and muscle, giving the system power to throw off and resist coughs, colds, asthma, grip, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles; it is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, malaria and low fevers, if taken as directed. Prescribed by physicians and recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Be sure you get the genuine; substitutes and imitations are injurious. Medical booklet, containing rare common-sense rules for health, and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to any one who writes The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rond...

F. R. J. Mitchell, George St., Agent.

RITES AND CEREMONIES

Many Chief Actors in Edward's Coronation Have Passed Away

As far as the rites and ceremonies of the Coronation are concerned, the precedent of 1902 will be strictly followed. In that particular respect the duties of the Earl Marshal and the Lord Chamberlain have proved much lighter than they were eight years ago. The greatest changes that will be noted in the pageant that attends the Coronation of King George and Queen Mary will be in the dramatic personae. Of the chief actors in the last great historic event of the crowning of a great historic event of the crowning of a British King and then Primate and the then Archbishop of York are no more. Lord Salisbury and the Duke of Devonshire have been gathered to their fathers, and among others who figured largely in the brilliant spectacle of eight years ago, and who have gone over to the majority, are the late Lord Derby and the late Earl Spencer—two of the four Knights of the Garter who held the canopy for the King's anointing. Many others who played a prominent part in the public life of a decade ago will next June be found absent, and the exigencies of political life will have forced many others into the background.

KING GEORGE V.

PRISON REFORM IN OPERATION

By Winston Churchill's Scheme About 100 Convicts Will Be Released, But Under Surveillance

The new scheme for the treatment of convicts inaugurated by Mr. Winston Churchill has come into operation. About a hundred convicts will be released. Some of them may not want assistance on leaving prison, but they will all be handed over to the care of the newly-formed Central Association, whose surveillance will take the place of the old system of ticket of leave. Under the old method of working a convict could earn from ten to thirty dollars during his term of imprisonment. On his release half of this was generally used for his benefit through the agency of a prisoner's aid society or similar body. But now the new central body will appropriate the whole of the money earned by the prisoner. If the association's efforts do benefit him, he will certainly get his money's worth. But if these efforts fail his money will have been swallowed up.

The assistant secretary to the Prison Commissioners, in the absence of Mr. Basil Thompson, the secretary, has seen fit to discuss the new scheme.

"The convict," he said, "has never had any legal claim to this money, which has hitherto been paid on the condition that half was administered through the aid society for the particular prison from which the man was discharged.

"But it was understood that he had a sort of moral right to it. Now the moral right will disappear, and the gratuities will go to the central body, which will use these sums, of course, for the man's benefit.

"These gratuities, with the grant of $25,000 which the Government is making, will probably pay all the expenses involved in the setting up of the new body, so that no fresh burden will be cast on the existing societies, whose work should be assisted by the centralisation and co-ordination of their efforts.

"Of course, there will still remain the obstacle of the natural reluctance of employers to engage ex-convicts. It has been difficult hitherto to find other than laboring work for these men, as people hesitate to give them positions of trust."

The assistant secretary of the Central Committee of Discharged Prisoners' Aid Societies said that there were about one hundred societies engaged in the work of befriending ex-prisoners. Many of them, however, dealt with both ex-convicts and men released after short sentences.

He also stated that the Home Office had under consideration a scheme to set up a new authority—similar to the one which begins work with ex-convicts to-day—to deal with the short-sentence men. This body will probably be drawn largely from the central council, strengthened by Home Office representatives.

"But as to a new career of hope for convicts," he said, "to my mind that could only be achieved by planting them on a Pacific island—giving them capital, if need be, for a start—setting a gunboat to look after them and see they did not escape, and leaving them to work out their own salvation. It would be cheaper in the end."

CANCER RESEARCH

What Inoculation With Healthy Human Tissues Has Done

The most striking contribution to the International Conference on Cancer Research held in Paris last year, the report of which has just been published, was the description given of the disappearance or reduction in size of true cancers in man after inoculation with healthy human tissues. Dr. E. H. Bashford, the general superintendent of research and director of the laboratory of the Imperial Cancer Research Fund, who was the British delegate to the conference, records the claims of one of the speakers, that certain of the means which have been shown to prevent the transfer of cancer from one animal to another and to hinder its growth when so transferred, were also efficacious to cure cancer in man. To the work of Dr. Bashford and his colleagues we are indebted for the fact that a susceptible animal, such as a mouse, when previously inoculated with normal blood from a healthy mouse of its own species, is rendered immune against artificial cancer. Experimental work on man along the same lines has hitherto given no positive results. The fact that the blood-serum of animals, thus treated, possesses curative properties similar to anti-diphtheriaic serum, another speaker stated, is contrary to the experience of British cancer research workers. Dr. Bashford mentions as a contribution of high value, a paper dealing with tumors in beets. While no causative parasites can be detected, these tumors, like animal cancers, can be grafted on to other beets. In the vegetable kingdom they apparently hold a position analogous to that occupied by cancer in the animal kingdom.

CREMATION IS AUTHORIZED

After years of agitation the Prussian government has introduced a bill authorizing cremation as a substitute for earth burial. Catholic Germany is up in arms against the measure. Cremation, it declares, is un-Christian, for the rule of the Church has always been that the dead are to rest in their graves till the Day of Judgment.

GERMANY AND FRANCE

Hard upon the heels of the German denunciations of the French Foreign Legion, which has always been a thorn in the flesh of Germany, came a similar outbreak in France protesting against including the city of Berlin in the route of the great international aerial race from Paris to Berlin, Brussels, London and back to Paris, which had been arranged by prominent English and French newspapers.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak" the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is entirely free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on its outside wrapper.

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

NEW VICTOR RECORDS FOR MAY

(Now on Sale) (Now on Sale)

A Selection From a Most Interesting List

Double-sided Records
10-inch—Price 90c.

10644. Through the Hole in the Fence, Comic Specialty ..... Murry K. Hill
Come, Josephine, in My Flying Machine ..... (Bryan-Fisher) ..... Ada Jones and American Quartet

Purple Label Series
THE MUSICAL NOVELTY OF THE YEAR.

The Victor Secures
The Famous Imperial Russian Balalaika Orchestra
10-inch—Price 90c.

69035. Remembrance of Gatchina Volse ..... Andreeff
69036. On the Wings of Song ..... Mendelssohn

Hear His Majesty's Coldstream Guards Band play these selections
Size 10-inch—Price 90c.

100908. Regimental Marches of the Brigade of Guards.
100911. Imperial Alliance ..... Douglas
The Piper and Drummer of H. M. Scots Guards, London.
100912. March Past of Cameron Highlanders and Gordon Highlanders.
100913. March Past of Royal Scots
THE BLACK DIAMONDS MILITARY BAND, LONDON
100914. Baden-Powell's Boy Scouts' March ..... Cleve
100915. Selection of National Airs .....
100916. Irish Melodies Selection ..... Moore
100917. Army and Navy March .....

New Red Seal Records

The "Naughty Marietta" Love Ballad by McCormack ..... John McCormack, Tenor 10-inch, with Orchestra—$1.25. In English.
63174. I'm Falling in Love with Someone. (From "Naughty Marietta.") .. McCormack

You are invited to come and hear these and many more interesting records

Hear these records at the nearest dealer's. Write for free catalogue of our 3,000 records.

Berliner Gram-o-phone Company, Limited - - Montreal
SOLD IN U.S.A. BY VICTOR TALKING MACHINE CO.

The J. M. Greene Music Company, Limited

CHARLOTTE STREET PETERBOROUGH

Are Sole Agents For

Victor gram-o-phones and Berliner Gram-o-phones Company Supplies and Goods.

Anti-Chinese Outbreak

A serious disturbance occurred in Chinatown, Birkenhead. Incensed by alleged insults to white women, a crowd of two or three thousand men invaded the Chinese quarter and a fierce battle ensued. Finally the invaders were dispersed by a baton charge of fifty police. Two of the attackers were sent to jail for their part in the affair.

Exhibition of the Ugly.

Amsterdam has just opened its fifth annual exhibition of the ugly. It is organised by a group which devotes itself to educating the art tastes of the people. Anything that modern art or manufacture produces which is an offence to the eye and good taste is collected, grouped, and labelled under different classifications as "faulty material," "faulty construction," "faulty and bad decoration."

Your Danger From Kidney Troubles

BEGINS WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES.

Backache is the first and the sure sign of kidney disease.

When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Next to the heart, the kidneys are, perhaps the most important organs in the body. It is no wonder then that if the kidneys are affected the whole system must be.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural."

Mr. E. J. Saulnier, Lake Annis, N.S., writes:—"I take a great deal of pleasure in telling you the benefit I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for several years; my back was weak, I had terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and fit again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering direct specify "Doan's."

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selections

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

VINDICATION OF THE MALIGNED WELSH RAREBIT.

IT'S Not Indigestible. Says the Department of Agriculture, and, Furthermore, Cheese Is More Nutritious Than Eggs or Fish

Improved Respiration Calorimeter in the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Showing Air Copper Chamber in Which Men Were Locked and Fed on Cheese

(Copyright, 1911, by the New York Herald Co. All rights reserved.)

GRAVE and immediate danger threatens the United States Department of Agriculture. When the professional funny men of the newspapers and magazines read what is here set forth it will be surprising indeed if they do not descend en masse on Congress and President Taft and demand the abolition of that department forthwith. What may happen is a serious thing to contemplate, for the funny men's wrath is much feared by public men, and a Presidential election is less than two years off.

The great Welsh rarebit hoax has been exposed mercilessly by that department. The long suffering public is informed that all the "funny" stories and pictures of the Rarebit Fiend, that traditional standby of the jokesmiths, are based on a fallacy; that this delectable midnight viand is not indigestible, does not create physiological disturbances in the human body and, therefore, is not responsible for the visits of red devils and green eyed monsters to those who have been reckless enough to disregard warnings born of pure superstition.

Professional funny men who have placed their chief reliance in the Rarebit Fiend will have to resort to coercion to have the Department of Agriculture abolished as a menace to the prosperity of the working men of the country and its ukase reversed by legislation or Executive order, or they will have to turn to writing up funerals for the city editors. Those who have used the rarebit fiend as a friend to whom to turn only in time of a scarcity of better material will have to join in the movement, or make up their minds to lose their minds trying to find the more elusive material for joke making.

There is only one chance for the Department. The subject is not being officially discussed by Mr. James Wilson, the Secretary of Agriculture, but he is counting on this chance. It is that the public will be so overjoyed at the prospect of relief from impositions of the funny men that they will organize a movement of such great extent and importance as to completely swallow up the feeble efforts of their oppressors. In that event, of course, the funny men are doomed.

The scientists of the government are seldom humorists; therefore they may not see the point of the facts as here laid down. Their investigation of the Welsh rarebit is a very serious affair. It has involved the use of apparatuses with names as long as a Senatorial speech and as intricate as the problem of existence on a five-dollar-a-week income. They have locked men up for several days in an airtight copper box and fed them raw and cooked cheese through a hole. What they don't know about cheese isn't worth knowing.

This is a part of the great work of the department to improve the food supply of the country, as it appears on the dinner table, to tell the people what to eat and how to prepare it, and then explain the effect it has on the human system. "Cheese it" will have a new meaning after this information is spread broadcast over the land. It is one of Uncle Sam's mottoes for a long and healthy life.

Mr. C. F. Doane, assistant dairyman of the Bureau of Animal Industry, who has made a special study of cheese, both foreign and domestic, says:—

"No kind of meat excepting dried beef contains such a large percentage of protein as cheese, and as dried beef contains a much greater percentage of water the other food constituents, aside from protein, are much less than are found in cheese. Fresh beef as purchased has, weight for weight, little more than half the food value of cheese either in protein or fat, and the same is true of practically all other fresh meats, which have in many cases such a large percentage of refuse and in all cases such a large percentage of water that they are noticeably inferior to cheese in food value.

Dr. A. C. True

"Bacon or fat pork are exceptions, but their food value is mostly in fat, which can be, and is, replaced to a great extent by the carbohydrates of vegetables at a much less cost and sometimes, perhaps, at a benefit to the health of the consumer. Fish and pork have a notably large percentage of refuse, while eggs have a high percentage of water.

"To sum the matter up, a pound of cheese has nearly the same food value as two pounds of fresh beef or any other fresh meat; it is worth as much as or more than a pound of ham and is more digestible, and it is equal to two pounds of eggs or three pounds of fish In price good cheese made from skim milk costs about a third more than round steak and twice as much as the cheaper boiling beef, while it costs practically the same a pound as smoked ham and bacon. It costs usually a third more than fresh fish.

Cheese Coming Into Its Own.

"Cheese can no longer be discriminated against because of a suspicion that it is not a healthful food The absolute lack of any disturbance in the general health of the subjects used in the experiments reported by the department is proof that cheese can be eaten in large quantities without danger to health. The Swiss cheesemakers, also many of the Swiss farmers of South Wisconsin, eat unusually large quantities of cheese and they are noted for athletic attainments and physical endurance. They brought the custom of cheese eating from their native country, where cheese is a very important item in the diet.

"The consuming public, especially that part of it which needs to practise economy in buying food, would do well to turn its attention a little more toward cheese, since greater quantities can be used at a saving to the consumer."

The cheese experiments were begun several years ago at the government experiment station at Middletown, Conn., and were completed in Washington. At Middletown the subjects were mostly students of Wesleyan University between the ages of nineteen and thirty-two years. A total of 184 experiments were made and a total of 15 human subjects were employed. The young men were not confined to a cheese diet, although that was the principal article fed to them. Many enjoyed it and were willing to eat free cheese over a period of two weeks. They ate bread, bananas and oranges. Green cheese and cheese in all stages of ripening was used and no appreciable difference was found in its digestibility. The perfectly green curd was evidently as digestible and so far as nutritive value was concerned was as good a food as the same cheese at any stage of ripening. The difference was largely in the matter of palatability, the riper cheese being more relished by the patients in most cases.

In these cheese experiments and others which have been a part of the nutrition investigations the human body is treated exactly as if it were a steam engine or some other sort of mechanical device for generating power. Dr. C. F. Langworthy, expert in nutrition, will drum this into the head of any person who wants to know about the work. He says:—

"An engine cannot run a machine or draw a train unless it has fuel, which is converted into energy or, as we say, which is used to generate power. In the same way the body must have fuel for the work of all sorts which it performs; for instance, for the work expended by the mason in laying stone, or by a carpenter in sawing or driving nails, by a woman who sweeps or does her housework, or by a child who runs and plays; and the body must have fuel for the work that goes on inside it, such as the beating of the heart, or the movement of the chest when we breathe—a sort of work which is less often thought about and so less familiar to most of us."

Again he says:—"With an engine it is immaterial whether the fuel be wood, coal or anything else which is convenient, provided the quality is satisfactory and the engineer knows how to use it. With the human machine it is something the same. All ordinary foods are useful when rightly combined, and each country will naturally make use of the food supply which may be most easily and economically produced."

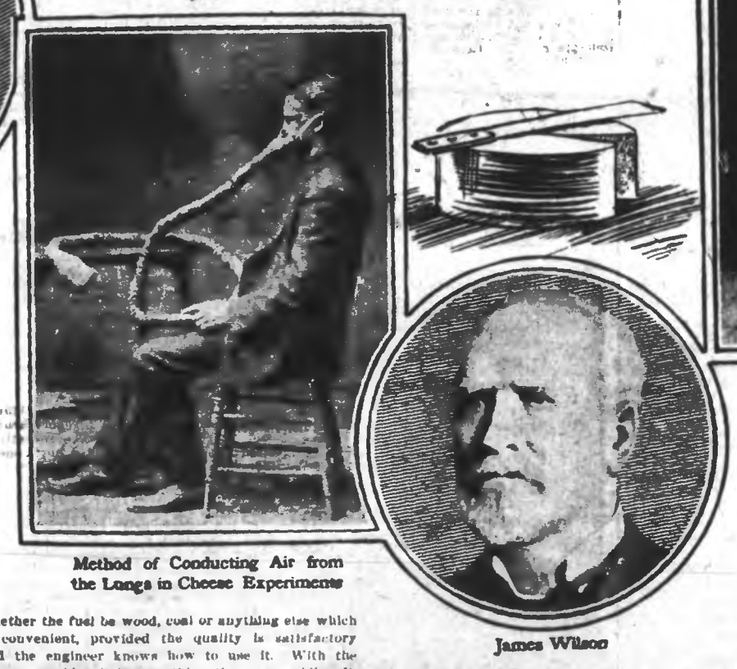
Professor A. C. True, Director of the Office of Experiment Stations, a few days ago said:—"Most families use cheese to a greater or less extent, but in the United States it is the custom to use it rather in small quantities and more as a condiment than as a staple article of diet, perhaps owing to a belief that cheese in quantity disturbs digestion. This question has for some time constituted an important feature of the nutrition investigations and it has been found that cheese is thoroughly digested when eaten in quantity as a chief source of protein and fat in the diet and that it does not produce physiological disturbances. To round out this work information is needed regarding the ease of digestion of cheese as compared with other staple foods, and this question is being studied with the respiration calorimeter."

There you have it. The wonderful machine that has been used and is still being used to study cheese, cooked and raw, is the respiration calorimeter, and it is a wonderful machine in appearance and in its accomplishments. By means of it the discovery has been made that the human engine produces power in the ratio of five to one as compared with the food values of the food eaten. This means that it is slightly more efficient than the most perfect steam engines, but slightly less efficient than the most perfect gas engines.

Here is the way it is figured out:—The power or energy value of the various foods is measured in calories. Food of say 500 calories of energy value is fed to a man under the right sort of conditions and he is put to work. Everything is measured, even down to the chemical substances that are in the air he breathes, and the result is that it is discovered that he is able to do 100 calories of work on that amount of food. The other 400 calories are used up in the human machine. In an engine made by man this would be counted as lost; in the body it is not, because it keeps the heart beating and the chest heaving—or, in other words, gives life and intellectual power.

Engineers know to an exactitude the fuel value of the coal they use. It is ascertained by simple tests. The same thing is now being done with the food that is eaten every day by the American people. This, of course, is theoretical. It is done by means of what is called a "bomb calorimeter" because of its resemblance to a bomb. The food is placed inside of this steel made apparatus and is then burned electrically at high pressure while the bomb is immersed in water. The heat and consequently the fuel value is determined by the rise in the temperature of the water.

It is for the practical test of the food in the body that the respiration calorimeter is employed. This consists of an airtight copper box, large enough for a man to live in comfortably for several days. A ventilating current of air is pumped through the chamber at such a rate that the subject is always supplied with a sufficiency of pure air. The chamber contains a folding bed, chair, table, &c., and is provided with means for the introduction of food and drink and the removal of dishes and other things without letting in outside air. The "bad air" is purified by means of oxygen injected into the ventilating current.



Method of Conducting Air from the Lungs in Cheese Experiments

James Wilson

Just as in the case of coal, the energy value of food is measured by the quantity of heat produced. A study of the heat given off by the human body on various diets and different conditions of work and rest is therefore of the greatest value in determining the nutritive value of food. A current of water is run through the chamber in pipes. By an ingenious device this is used to keep the temperature at a comfortable point and also to measure the heat given off by the human body. It is simple enough to take the temperature of the water before it goes in and after it comes out.

During the period of deep sleep and on an ordinary diet the subject usually gives off heat from his body at the rate of 60 to 75 calories an hour, or enough to raise the temperature of from 1.3 to 1.7 pounds of water from freezing to boiling. When he rises and sits quietly the hourly rate increases to 100 or 115 calories. When he works on a stationary bicycle, called an ergometer, and especially constructed with an electrical device for measuring the amount of power exerted by a break operated from the outside, it reaches 300, 450 and even 600 calories. In this connection it may be stated that a calorie as the heat measuring unit is an amount of heat that would raise the temperature of one pound of water 4 degrees Fahrenheit.

The slightest movement of the subject is detected by the increase in the heat given off by his body. If he turns over in bed while sleeping it is registered in calories. When he gets up and stretches it is clearly indicated by the rise of the temperature of the water coming from the chamber. In order that the test may be absolutely accurate during the digestion of certain foods the subject is fitted with a tube into which he breathes and the waste matter that is cast off through the lungs is measured. The labor involved in conducting a complete experiment can be judged approximately when it is stated that it requires the entire time of sixteen men.

The following table shows the average normal output of heat from the body, as shown by the respiration calorimeter:—

	Calories.
Man at rest, sleeping	65
Man at rest, awake and sitting up	100
Man at light muscular exercise	170
Man at moderately active muscular exercise	290
Man at severe muscular exercise	450
Man at very severe muscular exercise	600

The exact figures on the subject of cheese have not yet been made public and will not be for several weeks. The department has thousands of calls every month for bulletins giving this sort of information, but it would be useless to send for this one now. It must first appear in the form of an article in the Year Book before it can be published separately for distribution under the rules of Secretary Wilson. Enough is known, however, to make it certain that cheese, especially in the cooked form, is perfectly digestible and is recommended to the American housewife and restaurant keeper and to the man and woman who is a crank on the subject of dietetics to be eaten in large quantities like bread and meat.

In bulletins that will be issued the nutritive value of the different kinds of cheese will be compared and there will be all sorts of information for the cheese lover and for others who are looking for the "real thing" in the food question. The main object of the department in making these interesting experiments is to improve the meal that is set before the average American citizen, whether it be in his home or in a public place. The publications of the department are made text books in many universities where home economics are taught, and they are sent to anybody who writes for them.

One evidence of the value which the people place upon the work being done by Dr. Langworthy is that eight million copies of the various nutrition bulletins have been mailed to individuals on request since the work began. It may also be news to millions of housewives that Dr. Langworthy or somebody in his office will undertake to straighten out any knotty table question for her if she will just write to the Office of Experiment Stations, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Ergometer for Measuring the Power of the Human Engine and the Full Value of Foods

THE WAVES OF THE AIR.

We hear much from the airmen of "air waves," but the subject is of interest aside from aviation. As a matter of fact, we have all our being submerged in "waves" to which the greatest waves of the ocean are mere ripples in point of size.

When a current of air blows across a water surface water waves are produced, and when a current of air blows across a surface of quiet air, or air having a different motion from the first current, then air waves will be produced.

These atmospheric waves have all of the phenomena of water waves—troughs, crests, foaming, breaking and spraying—but since the qualities of air and water are so different, the air waves have dimensions over twenty-five hundred times those of the corresponding water waves.

Thus, the greatest ocean waves of, perhaps, twenty-five feet, would have atmospheric counterparts extending upward a distance of ten or twelve miles above the earth's surface. The passage of these huge air waves would be felt by us, since they would cause a stirring up of the air at the earth's surface somewhat similar to that produced by the passage of water waves over shoal places.

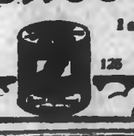
The undulating movement of such air waves would account in part for the intermittent gusts of wind that we notice so frequently in storms.

The presence of these waves is also indicated by the existence of certain kinds of regularly formed cloud groups, in which each cloud marks the crest of an air wave.

THE FAVORITE IN A MILLION HOMES

Seal Brand Coffee

Packed in cans



1 and 2 pound only.

125

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Bala, Sparrowboro	1.40 a.m.	8.35 a.m
North Bay, Cobalt, Cochrane and Toronto	9.00 p.m.	4.00 p.m
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.35 a.m. 8.35 p.m.	11.05 a.m 9.05 p.m
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.35 a.m.	11.05 a.m
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	8.35 p.m.	9.05 p.m
Toronto, Lindsay, Stouffville, Uxbridge & Markham.	11.05 a.m. 9.05 p.m. 10.15 p.m	7.10 a.m 4.75 p.m 9.15 p.m
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.15 p.m
Hastings, Campbellford Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Montreal and East.	8.15 a.m. 8.35 p.m.	8.35 a.m 1.40 p.m
Lakefield.	10.20 a.m. 8.15 p.m.	8.35 a.m 12.35 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.36 a.m
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Trenton	7.40 p.m
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.16 a.m 1.01 a.m
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.35 a.m 6.01 a.m
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Toronto.	7.45 a.m
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES

TO

WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG and return	"	$33.00
BRANDON "	"	34.00
MOOSE JAW "	"	37.00
EDMONTON "	"	41.00

Also to 50 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

THROUGH SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular

TOURIST ROUTE

TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.

B. A. ROSE City Agent

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.

Corner George, King and Water Streets.

Both Phones Peterborough

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite

D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alor guide T. R. track. Phone 40

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 126 Robinson Street East City

Both Phones 264

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order

J. A. ASH

142 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BP

House Phone No. 799

COAL

That Is Coal

is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

Lots For Sale

—AND—

Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank Corner of George and Simcoe Streets

Dry Valet

This is the time to look over your spring ward robe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

175 Simcoe Street Phone 669

504 Charlotte Street, Bell 578, Mach. 387

NOT PRINCIPLE BUT TACTICS

Socialists Propose to Make a Change in Their Methods of Attaining Greater Strength

The Socialists of England have decided to change their political tactics during the coming year. At the annual conference of the Social-Democratic party to be held at Coventry, the executive committee will lay before the delegates three resolutions indicating the policy to be followed by the party in the nearest future. Realising that as long as the present radical government is, to a certain extent, fighting the battles of labor against the ultra-conservative Tories and the House of Lords, the executive committee has decided to propose a resolution that the use of the vote is not a matter of principle, but a question of tactics, and as it is of more importance to defeat a conservative candidate than to make a show of the growing socialistic vote, no socialistic candidate will in the future be put up against a radical except in election districts where a socialistic victory is absolutely certain. In every case hereafter socialist voters will receive instructions from headquarters how to cast their votes at the poll. Another resolution deals with the question of the organization of trade unions. The preamble states that it is desirable that every opportunity should be seized of decreasing working hours and increasing wages, and urges that an amalgamation should be brought about of all existing trade unions in each industry. On the question of government insurance against invalidity and unemployment, Mr. Ben Tillett is to move a resolution opposing the government measure, which interferes with the voluntary principle of trade union administration. As Socialists, they called on the government to include all grades of labor affected by seasonal, irregular or casual work in any measure promoted ostensibly to aid the unemployed.

THE DUCHESS OF WESTMINSTER

One of England's most beautiful peeresses, whose priceless jewels, next in value to those of the Royal gems themselves, have been lent for exhibition to a Bond Street jeweller, who will turn over the proceeds of the show to the Duchess and the little coterie of titled ladies who have temporarily parted with their gems, for distribution to charity. The principal ornament of the Duchess's exhibit was a large crown, several inches in height, and profusely decorated with immense brilliants, whose shimmering reflections quite outdid the other jewels on exhibition, magnificent as they were.

SHOW OF JEWELS

Great Display of the Tiaras of the Peeresses of England

The most wonderful show of jewels ever seen in London has just been held in a Bond Street jewellery store, to which nearly all the peeresses of England sent their Coronation tiaras and other jewels for exhibition, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to charity. Of all these tiaras, that belonging to the Duchess of Westminster, a very high crown with immense brilliant drops, was probably the most beautiful from an artistic viewpoint, if not the most valuable. One of the most remarkable was Lady Aberdeen's Eastern crown of pearls and cabochon emeralds, set in gold, and with a flat ornament of diamonds. Lady Clementine Waring's tiara was very striking. It is in the shape of a Marie Stuart cap of brilliants, with a heart and true lovers' knot in diamonds above the point in the cap.

Young Girl's Sad Death

How Annie Churchill, a seventeen-year-old lace hand, came by her death was described at a Beeston inquest. She was drowned through her sweetheart walking into a canal and accidentally pulling her in.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops dropping in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Used in Canada for over half a century—used in every corner of the world where people suffer from Constipation and its resulting troubles—stand higher in public estimation than any others, and their ever-increasing sales prove their merit. Physicians prescribe them.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills,

25c. a box.

ETIQUETTE FOR MEN

Some Things it is Not Good Form for Men to Do

Etiquette may be described as the oil that greases the machinery of social life, says John Bull. It is the passport to good society. Its assiduous practice conduces not only to the comfort of one's friends, relatives, and acquaintances, but, what is far more important, also gives rise to a pleasant glow of self-satisfaction.

In no circumstances is the practice of etiquette more essential than when at table. Many people who are perfectly polite at lunch and dinner, have at breakfast manners of a savage. This should not be. For example, it is very bad form to sniff loudly and suspiciously at one's egg. It is disturbing to other people. It arouses in them feelings of apprehension which may be quite groundless. If there is anything wrong with your egg, drop it under the table when no one is looking.

Marmalade should never be spread with the fingers. You might be called upon to shake hands with the rate-collector or some other caller during the morning, and many fastidious people have a rooted objection to shaking a hand "that sticketh closer than a brother."

Drinking from the saucer is not only a mark of ill-breeding, but also an indication of great thirst, an early-morning malady best concealed.

Make as little noise as possible whilst eating. It is inconsiderate to drown the conversation. If you are breakfasting alone—which is to be recommended—you may, of course, make a noise like a sausage-machine if you are so disposed.

Never speak with your mouth full. Arguments punctuated by flying crumbs are not always convincing. Besides, it is wicked to waste good food.

Endeavor not to laugh when you are drinking. Tea and cofee stains are not easily removed.

Never say "What's this?" when you know perfectly well what it is. If you don't like it, give it to the cat. If you have no cat, throw it out of the window.

When lunching in public, avoid looking intently at your neighbor's plate. He has to eat what's on it; not you. Keep your eyes fixed on your own plate, or the waiter may think you have finished, and snatch it away.

Never unbutton your waistcoat when half-way through a meal. It is best to let out the strap at the back before entering the room.

Never haggle about the bill. If it is more than you can pay, wait until you can speak to the manager alone. If you are undercharged, pay, and leave the restaurant as quickly as possible.

A careful study of these little points will not only make the path of life more smooth, but will also raise you in the estimation of your friends and relatives.

BOYS AFTER REDSKINS

They run Away from New York for Canada.

The Hudson Bay Company might have been alarmed by a report sent out by the New York police recently that two small boys started north one afternoon with the intention of wiping out every redskin in Canada, all thoughtless of the danger that may be done to the fur trade. The leader of the expedition is Leon R. Saden, eight years old, the son of Capt. W. R. Saden, whose business is sailing yachts. Leon's companion is Maurice Gotlieb, ten years old.

Capt. Saden says that when Leon went he took with him $70 from the captain's bureau drawer. The captain also says that Leon's thirst for Indian blood was inspired by the writings of a popular juvenile author whose works Leon received at Christmas.

Captain Saden talked with Leon's school teacher, who questioned some of the boys at Public School 37 and learned that before Leon went away he had told some of his plans and tried to secure a larger following by buying ice cream for recruits. Many at the cream, but only Maurice Gotlieb kept the contract when it came time to march.

CARVINGS OF AN ANCIENT RACE

Mr. Clement Wragge paid a visit lately to what are known as the "tattooed rocks," on the coast near Raglan, New Zealand, and as a result he is distinctly of opinion that they are the work of neither Tamil nor Maori, but are the inscriptions of a very ancient race of sun worship people, antedating the advent of the Maori by untold centuries. The spinal circle ovals, crosses, and squares, he says, are most significant, and confirm his opinion that New Zealand has been inhabited by early man. He considers the inscriptions are probably connected with those at Easter Island and Central and South America, and are Atlantean or Lemurian in origin; further, that the Maori copied the spiral from the relics of these ancient people, and did not institute it.

MOST EXCELLENT THING IN WOMAN

Of Sixty Virtues Mentioned Goodness and Orderliness Have the Lead in the Vote

"What is the most excellent thing in woman?" a paper with the scarlet name of Excelsior is asking its readers. Several thousand replies have already been received, and the voting is still going on. The results of the poll already furnish subjects for dozens of sermons and essays in moral philosophy. Sixty virtues have up till now been named. The seven first have always held all the top of the poll since the beginning of the ballot, in the following order: Goodness, orderliness, devotion, thrift, gentleness, intelligence and amiability. What a tribute to the French people is the fact that it asks first of all for goodness, and secondly for orderliness, in its women! The former virtue has scored 19,268 votes, and the latter 18,470. The fact that devotion comes third, with 17,804, would tend to show that many of the voters are men. On the other hand, faithfulness, patience and modesty, come only eighth, ninth and tenth. Hitherto patience has been in front of faithfulness, but at the latest count faithfulness forged ahead. However, willpower comes only twenty-fourth, with three thousand odd votes, hardly more than one-sixth of those polled for devotion; and this seems to be a sign of masculine opinion. It will startle some hasty judges of French character to find that only 2,336 voters mentioned elegance as one of the ten most excellent things in women, which takes only the thirty-first place on the list. It will indeed surprise everybody to learn that pride is asked for in women by only 628 voters, and that its place is fifty-second on the list. But perhaps the most instructive point of all is the name of the sixtieth and last virtue, meekness, for which only ninety-six overbearing men voted. This is a consoling thing to French women.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE

In Ten Years the Central Alps Claimed 886 Victims

The Austrian and German Alpine clubs have just published statistics showing that between the years 1901 and 1910 inclusive 886 Alpinists lost their lives in the Central Alps of Europe, an average of nearly a hundred deaths a year. In 1909, however, there were 144 climbers killed, and in 1910 a hundred, not including twenty-eight persons who met their death while picking edelweiss. Of this total of 128 fatalities, forty-two were Germans, twenty-four Austrians, nineteen Swiss, and four English, while the remainder, including eight guides, were of other nationalities. The largest number of fatal accidents in the Alps took place in the month of August. It is estimated that the army of Alpinists now numbers 100,000.

TO SPEND $10,000,000

Estimated Cost of the Proposed Improvements to London Port

The first instalment of the great scheme for the improvement of the Port of London is about to be taken in hand. The scheme which has been adopted in principle is for the construction of the South Albert Dock and it is for the purpose of this project that the Port of London is making an issue of $10,000,000 stock. The proposed new dock, the cost of which is estimated at nearly $12,000,000, will be designed to accommodate the largest ships afloat or projected. The entrance lock will have a maximum length of 1,000 feet, a width of 110 feet, and a depth of water over the sill of 42 feet. The entrance will be 850 feet long, but will be capable of being extended by a caisson. The water area of the dock will be 65 acres, affording a quayage of 9,200 lineal feet, with a depth of 44½ feet. There will be a new dry dock 1,000 feet long, 110 feet wide, and 38 feet deep on the blocks, corresponding practically in accommodation to the entrance lock. It is expected that the accommodation in this dock will rapidly be taken up, as one-third of that provided was actually being negotiated for by a great shipping line at the time the improvement scheme was published.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL

Some Big Fees he Has Received as Retainers

It is doubtful if any lawyer of our times, not even excepting Sir Edward Carson, has derived a bigger income from the legal profession than Sir Rufus Isaacs, Attorney-General. Some idea of the value placed upon his services may be gathered from the fact that in a case in which he was leading counsel three years ago, which lasted twenty-one days, Sir Rufus received a retaining fee of $12,000 and a refresher of $1,000 a day. In accepting the office of Attorney-General Sir Rufus made a big sacrifice. A salary of $35,000 is attached to the office, which, together with fees, totals somewhere about $50,000. It is estimated that Sir Rufus's private legal practice was bringing him in over $150,000 a year.

HOUSEFLIES AND DISEASE

Mr. Walter E. Collinge, in the column of "Knowledge" devoted to economic biology, gives a list of the diseases which have been proved by experiment to be disseminated by houseflies. He also deplores the fact that there are a great many people who do not appreciate the danger that exists, and makes the confident statement that before long, thanks to the excellent work that is being carried on, the public will demand that steps shall be taken to control the pests and minimize the risks that are run.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

It is True Economy

to use the highest grade of sugar like

St. Lawrence Sugar

It is brilliantly white and sparkling—looks dainty and tempting on the table—and goes further because it is absolutely pure sugar of the finest quality. Make the test yourself. Compare "ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED" with any other.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited

MONTREAL. 33

THE BANK OF OTTAWA

ESTABLISHED 1874.

Deposits	30 November 1910		$62,418,445
Assets	30 November 1910		$68,864,838

Every banking facility offered to

FARMERS

SALE NOTES DISCOUNTED CHEESE CHEQUES CASHED.

Peterboro Branch, GeorgeSt., C. G Wainright, Manager

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of

Vegetable and Flower Seeds

from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:

EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN DUTCH SETS and MULTIPLIERS

Golden Bantam Corn

Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year

Prepared Fertilizer

For LAWNS and GARDENS

Porter S. White

336 George St. Phone 208

City Agent for West End Green Houses

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for

Cobt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Fleurettes Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing

including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore

General Roofing Contractors

Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Special Assortment of Baking

for this Week End at

COLEMAN BROS.

426 George St.

FANCIES:

Log Cakes Fancy Cakes
Wine Cakes Swiss Rolls
Madeira Cakes Cream Puffs

FRUIT CAKES:

Gems Pound
Seed Raisin, etc.

Importers of Fry's Chocolate
Special Nut Milk, 40c lb.

ICE CREAM SODAS AND SUNDAES

Prompt Attention

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

352 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, April 27.—Favoring rains in Germany, France and the Argentine, as well as in the U. S. to-day worked in the direction of lower prices for wheat. The close left the market 1/2c to 5/8c under last night. In corn Usera with a net decline of 1/2c to 3/4c to 7/8c, and in oats a loss of 1/2c to 1/8c to 3/8c. At the final gong hog products varied from last night's level to 17½c to 20c below.

The Liverpool market closed to-day unchanged to 1/4d higher than yesterday, on wheat, and 1/4d to 3/4d higher on corn. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat; Berlin 1/2c higher, Buda Pest 3/4d higher, Paris 3/4d to 1d higher.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	95½	95½	97½	95½	96½
July	85½	85½	86½	85	85
Oats—
May	35½	35½	35½	35½	35½
July	35½	35½	35½	35½	35½

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, fruited	0 99	to 0 99
Wheat, spring, basket	0 98	....
Rye, basket	0 70	....
Barley, basket	0 60	....
Oats, basket	0 41	....
Buckwheat, basket	0 65	0 65
Peas, basket	0 78	0 78

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 27	0 29
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 30	0 32
Butter, creamery, solids	0 29	0 30
Eggs, new-laid	0 17	0 18
Cheese, lb.	0 20½	0 21
Honeycomb, dozen	2 00	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, April 27.—Closing—Wheat—spot, dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock; futures steady; May, 6s 9½d; July, 6s 9½d; Oct., 6s 9½d; flour winter patents, quiet, 27s 6d; hops in London, Pacific coast, firm, 4 to 5 lbs. Beef, extra India mess, easy, 82s 6d. Pork, prime mess, western, dull, 82s 3d. Hams, short-cut, 14 to 16 pounds, steady, 62s. Bacon, Cumberland cut, 26 to 30 pounds, quiet, 61s; short ribs, 16 to 24 pounds, quiet, 58s; clear bellies, 14 to 16 pounds, steady, 58s; long clear middles, light, 28 to 34 pounds, weak, 57s 6d; long clear middles, heavy, 25 to 30 pounds, weak, 55s; short clear backs, 16 to 20 pounds, dull, 52s; shoulders, square, 11 to 13 pounds, quiet, 48s 6d. Lard, prime western, in tierces, strong, 49s 6d; American refined, in pails, strong, 49s 3d. Cheese, Canadian finest white and colored, new, firm, 65s. Butter, finest, nominal, 90s; good do., firm, 88s.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, April 27.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable is dull, there being no demand. Cables on oats were stronger at an advance of 1½d per quarter, but even with this improvement bids were out of line with prices here. The local demand was good also; sales at 138,000 bushels of No. 2 Canadian western were made at 39c to 39½c and 39¾c per bushel ex-store, which practically cleans up the bulk of the stock in first hands here. Flour is quiet and steady. Mill feed firm under a good demand.

Oats—Canadian western No. 2, 40½c to 40¾c; car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 39½c to 40c; No. 1 C.W., 39½c to 39¾c; No. 2 local white, 39½c to 39½c; No. 3 local white, 37½c to 38c; No. 4 local white, 36½c to 37c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.90; strong bakers', $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10; in bags, $1.90 to $2.

Dressed hogs (abattoir), $9.50 to $9.75 per 100 lbs.

Beef—Plate, half barrels, 100 lbs., $12.50; barrels, 200 lbs., $7; tierces, 320 lbs., $25.

Lard—Compound-tierces, 250 lbs., 9½c; boxes, 50 lbs. net (parchment lined), 9¾c; tubs, 60 lbs., net, grained, two handles, 10c; pails, wood, 20 lbs. net, 10½c; tin pails, 20 lbs. gross, 10½c.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess, barrels, 25 to 45 pieces, $32.50; half-barrels, $17.50. Canada short cut and back pork, 45 to 65 pieces, barrels, $28; Canada clear pork, barrels, 39 to 45 pieces, $30; bean pork, small pieces, bbl 2nd, barrels, $20.50.

Eggs—Fresh, 17c to 18c.

Cheese—Westerns, 11½c to 11¾c.

Butter—Choicest, 26½c to 27c; seconds, 26c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, April 27.—The railways reported 69 carloads of live stock at the City Yards, consisting of 2225 cattle, 1975 hogs, 357 sheep and lambs and 77 calves.

Butchers.

One prime picked lot of two animals sold at $6.90; there may have been more, but we did not hear of them; loads of choice, of which there were few, sold at $6.75 to $6.85; loads of good, $6.45 to $6.70; medium, $6.15 to $6.40; common, $4.80 to $5.10; choice cows, $5 to $5.25; good cows, $4 to $4.75; common cows, $3 to $3.75; bulls, $4.25 to $5.25.

Stockers and Feeders.

There was an easier feeling for stockers and feeders in sympathy with fat cattle. Feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, $5.25 to $5.50; steers, 800 to 900 lbs., $5 to $5.30; stockers, $4.50 to $5.

Milkers and Springers.

Receipts of milkers and springers have been liberal all week and prices have ruled fairly strong for the good to choice cows. Prices ranged from $34 to $50 each, but only one cow was reported at the latter prices. The bulk sold from $45 to $70 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts have been large. Wesley Dunn quotes prices at $5.50 to $6.50 per cwt., or an average of $6.35 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Three hundred and fifty-seven sheep and lambs were on sale, 200 of which were American yearling lambs, minus their wool. These lambs sold at 8c to 8½c per cwt. higher than our Canadian lambs with their wool on their backs.

SPECIAL

— FOR —

Friday and Saturday

Ladies' Suits, regular $14.00, for	$5.95
Ladies' Coats, regular $7.00 and $9.00, for	$6.00
Ladies' Skirts, regular $14.00, for	$9.49
Skirts, in Voile, regular $8.00 to $12.00, for	$4.95
Skirts, (another lot) at	$1.79
Silk Waists, regular $5, for	$2.49

MILLINERY

ALL TRIMMED HATS, Special | $1.98

Men's Suits, Overcoats, Pants, all kinds of Men's Ready-to-Wear Clothing at REDUCED PRICES.

Housefurnishings, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, etc., at REDUCED PRICES.

Canadian Furnishing House

311 George Street

Silver Star

As sung in KLAW & ERLANGER'S production)

"THE SILVER STAR"

with

ADELINE GENEE

Words by HARRY B. SMITH — Music by ALBERT GUMBLE

Right for Canada secured ‖ Copyright, MCMXI, by JEROME H. REMICK & Co., Detroit-New York ‖ Performing rights reserved. Used by permission, MURRAY MUSIC CO., New York

Silver Star. No. 2761.

Very Latest In Vogue

Just returned from the City, with the most up-to-date New York Novelties in

Stylish Hats and Trimmings

representing the very latest creations in Fashionable Millinery.

A Visit of Inspection is Cordially Invited

Miss E. M. Allan

372 George Street Phone 35

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies

MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F. J. R. MacPherson Co.

Limited

341 George St. Both Phones 386

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Mendel's Art Photos

Have something more than the ordinary in them. They attract and hold the admiration because they are artistic in every line.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladie's of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specialty fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG

Phone 1267. 458 George St.

FRESH

MAPLE SUGAR

Guaranteed PURE

T. H. Hooper

327, 414 and 601 George Street

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY

163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon

Butcher Market Arcade

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East

Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mixed Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.00 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mount ed artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Bears, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

692 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario.

14 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 14

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY APRIL 28 1911

"Grand" To-morrow (Saturday) C. JAMES BANCROFT and a Selected English Company in the Greatest Comedy Ever Written "THE PRIVATE SECRETARY." Special Matinee at 2:30 O'clock, 25c, 35c and 50c

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Much Anxiety Among the Europeans and Americans in China—Anarchists Have Been Busy Among the Soldiers

APPEAL TO CONSULS

Special Wire to the Examiner.

HONG KONG, APRIL 28.—Despatches filtering through from Canton and other provinces of China, indicate a serious situation, and one that is causing much anxiety among the Europeans and Americans there. It seems that the Anarchists have been very busy lately, sowing seeds of dissatisfaction among the soldiers, and already there have been many murders and assassinations, resulting in considerable bloodshed at various military points. The Consuls have asked for protection.

HONG-KONG.—(Later.)—The mutinous soldiers, assisted by rebels, have burned the Viceroy's house in Canton and fought a pitched battle with Admiral Lee and a strong force of marine landed from the river gunboats. The losses were heavy on both sides. The foreign shipping has been warned not to proceed up the river.

STUDY OF GREAT LAKES

Special to The Examiner.

CHICAGO, ILL., APRIL 28.—Sir John Murray, the distinguished English oceanographer, has offered ten thousand dollars towards an international commission for scientific and geological study of the great lakes.

FELL FROM TRAIN WAS KILLED

Special wire to The Examiner:

SARNIA, ONT., APRIL 28.—An incoming train, at daylight this morning, found the mangled remains of Harry Dobbs, aged 24, son of John Dobbs, baggage-master at Parkhill. He had evidently fallen off a freight train.

Eczema For Nine Years

Zam-Buk Works Another Great Cure

Another wonderful cure of the dread scourge, eczema, by the great herbal balm, Zam-Buk, is reported from Montreal by Mr. Tho. Amesse, of 600 St. Timothee St. He says:

"For about nine years my son, Emile, was a great sufferer from eczema. The disease broke out on his face and arms, which were covered with sores. These would scale over for a time, but would then break open again and cause him terrible agony.

At other times they would itch and burn, and it was impossible for him to refrain from scratching.

"We tried salves, and soaps, and preparations of all kinds, but it seemed that we could get nothing to benefit him. The state of affairs went on during nine long years, and you can well imagine the agony he suffered!

"Zam-Buk was recommended to us, but we feared it would prove like all other remedies had proved—useless. We got a supply, however, and it was not long before we found out its virtues. It eased the pain and removed the irritation. Then it began to heal the sores, until bit by bit the patch got less and less. The skin which was cracked and sore became soft and smooth and in the end every trace of the disease was banished."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, blood poisoning, bad leg, varicose ulcers, itch, salt rheum, scalp sores, children's rashes and piles, Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap constitute a certain cure. The soap is fine for baby's bath. It cures pimples, rashes and eases those chafed, inflamed patches. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box and Soap at 25c. a tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

WILL PROCEED WITH DISCUSSION

WASHINGTON, APRIL 28.—At last the United States Senate has arranged its committees and so on, and it is expected that it will proceed with the discussion of Canadian reciprocity treaty within a few days. The debate will last a week or more.

A NEW INDUSTRY IS LIKELY FOR PETERBORO'

Jules Motor Company of Toronto Will in All Probability Establish a Factory Here for the Manufacture of Their Cars—Local Manufacturer Has Been Interested in the Company—Nominal Amount of Stock Will Be Sold Here

Peterborough stands an excellent chance of landing a splendid industry that gives every promise of great development and expansion. There is every possibility of the Jules Motor Company of Toronto, manufacturers of automobiles, establishing their factory here and manufacturing their products in this city. Representatives of the company have been in the city for the past two days looking over the field and the prospects of landing this important industry are very bright.

The Jules Motor Company has a capital of $200,000, of which fifty per cent has been taken up by outside capitalists in Toronto and Detroit.

The directorate consists of the following: Chas. Collett, president of the Collett Carriage Works, Toronto, president.

Geo. A. Graham, proprietor of the Iroquois hotel, Toronto, vice-president.

Norman Collett, of the Collett Carriage Works, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

C. M. Parker, capitalist of Detroit.

A prominent local manufacturer has become financially identified with the company and has been asked to take a seat on the directorate. The matter is now receiving his favourable consideration. The company has on its books orders for 200 cars which will be approximately their capacity for 1911. It is the intention for the first year to have their different parts manufactured for them; ultimately they intend to put in a plant to produce every article needed in their automobile.

Owing to the season being so far advanced the company would not be able to fill their orders for this year were they to instal the machinery necessary to manufacture every part of the car.

An Examiner reporter has ridden in one of the company's cars and has been much impressed with its easy riding qualities and its simplicity of operation. The car is a popular priced one and an exceptional feature is the small number of parts, there being only 500 parts in contrast to 1700 in the average car of the same size and power.

As has been said, representatives of the company are here to get a nominal amount of stock subscribed in Peterborough. From the nature of the proposition and the conservative lines of the organization no difficulty is anticipated in their getting the assistance they seek. The proposition has been investigated by some of Peterborough's most prominent business men and is receiving very favourable consideration. The company asks no assistance from the city in locating here—the only condition on their coming to Peterborough is in the sale of stock.

WELL KNOWN AUTHORITY DISCUSSES SCHOOL HYGIENE AT NORMAL LAST NIGHT

Dr. Auden, of Birmingham, England, Gave an Interesting Address—Outlining the Present Day Evil—Lantern Slide Views Were Also Shown.

A very interesting and instructive address was given by Dr. Auden, of Birmingham, Eng., on "School Hygiene," last night in the Normal school. Quite a large number of people availed themselves of the excellent opportunity to obtain first hand information on this important subject.

Dr. Auden, who has occupied prominent positions in educational circles in Birmingham, England, is a gentleman of pleasing personality, whose sound logic, carries with it that force of conviction that is so pleasing and reassuring to an audience. His professional quality is clearly indicated in that clear, forceful and expressive manner which the Doctor possesses. this pleasing feature being further supplemented by an unlimited theoretical and practical experience.

"School hygiene is coming more and more into prominence," said Dr. Auden in his opening remarks. The child of to-day will be the parent of the next generation, and it is up to us to do our best to influence the child physically and morally, so that it may go out into the world fully equipped for the battle of life mentally and bodily. It is clear that where the body is in ill-health the intellect is also affected, therefore, we should devote our attention to the promotion of good health. People are leaving England in large numbers to seek elsewhere a purer life and a wider sphere. It is, therefore necessary that we educate our teachers along hygenic principals in order that they may be ready to meet the present and future demands which will be made upon them. Plenty of good wholesome food, rest and fresh air were three essential features in connection with the cultivation of hygiene.

Ten days ago I visited the Mimico Asylum, Toronto, and there saw the practical application of the hygienic rules which I have just outlined. I also visited the prison farm at Guelph and there saw the same system adopted. One of the main objects in view, is to establish a higher plane of health for the delinquents who are confined there.

In England we are overcrowded; the slums are an ever present evil. Sooner or later the difficulties that are in force in England to-day will be yours. Fifty or even thirty years ago the greatest influx into our English towns and cities was derived from the good blood of the country. Now, much of that is coming to Canada, thereby leaving us the poorer

The teacher and the father are the two most important servants of the state. The teacher stands midway between the parent and the state. Another great evil that is ever present in our Public schools is the neglect of the teeth. 96 per cent. of the pupils examined by me showed defective teeth. In England ask a class of sixty how many used a tooth brush, and probably four or five would answer in the affirmative. In Japan ask a class the same question and they would stand aghast. They all use tooth brushes there. Eye trouble is another prevalent trouble among school children and one that should be given more attention. Adenoids is another common evil. All of these complaints have a strong tendency to reduce the efficiency of the pupils.

The speaker then showed a large number of lantern slide views, exhibiting various methods of open air treatment for pupils afflicted with tuberculosis. The principles of these methods were fresh air and good food.

WILL TELL OF LIFE AMONG THE SAVAGES

The public are again reminded of the special visit to be paid our city by Senor Ray of Bolivia. Mr. Ray has a story to tell of savage life in South America that is both educative and thrilling.

Mr. Ray was unable to be present at the Missionary Institute held in our city, under the auspices of the young people's societies, but will be at the Park Street Baptist Church next Sunday, April 30.

As an explorer Mr. Ray has been so successful as to merit the F. R. G. S. from old London, as a recognition of his work. Mr. Ray will preach at 11 a. m., give a missionary address at 3 p.m., and speak again in the evening at 7 p.m.

The public are all most cordially invited to these meetings.

On Monday he will deliver the best missionary lecture, illustrated by fine life-size views of the real life of South America, and tell the real facts of the life, and custom of the people. Everybody invited.

A WOMAN MADE HAPPY

"I could scarcely get about the house to attend to my work and felt miserable nearly all the time," writes Mrs. Alex. Buchanan, Island Brook, Que. "After using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food my system is wonderfully built up. There is no further trouble from dizzy spells and stomach weakness, and with health and strength restored, life has a new pleasure for me."

Burn "Scoe" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

RUN OVER BY WAGON

Seven Year Old Johnnie Buck, of Havelock, Fatally Injured—Died Two Hours After the Accident

FELL BETWEEN WHEELS

Special to The Examiner.

HAVELOCK, APRIL 28.—Johnnie Buck, son of Mr. John Buck, of town, died this afternoon (Thursday) at 2.30, from injuries received at noon. The little fellow, aged 7 years, was with many other children out playing and caught on to a waggon, which was going by. In his attempt to jump off he fell between the wheels, one of which passed over his chest. He was carried to his home and medical aid summoned to attend to his injuries, but they were of such a serious nature that he passed away about two hours later. The funeral arrangements are not yet made known.

DETERMINED ON REVENGE

France Has Thirty Thousand Soldiers in Field Against Morocco Rebels

Special to The Examiner

PARIS, APRIL 28.—With thirty thousand French soldiers already in the field and reinforcements of double that number waiting orders to march, France is ready to take revenge on the Moroccan rebels, who, it is reported, wiped out two detachments of French troops sent to relieve Fez. Ominous conferences are going on between the war office and the foreign office to-day. There are stories of fearful massacre of Europeans in that city.

FORMER LOCAL MAN KILLED IN BUFFALO

Mr. Hubert Barry, Nephew of Mr. P. Barry, East City, Meets Death by Falling From a Scaffold

Mr. P. Barry, watchman at the McCallister Mill on Hunter street, East City, is mourning the death of his nephew, Mr. Herbert Barry, who was killed by falling from a scaffold in Buffalo on Wednesday last. The deceased was the son of Mr. John Barry, and was aged 22. The deceased was born in Peterborough, but he and his parents moved to Buffalo about 20 years ago. The sad death is mourned by three sisters, and father and mother. Mr. Barry was a structural iron builder by trade, and it is thought that he was killed while in pursuance of his work. Mr. P. Barry did not get any particulars about the death of his nephew, other than is herein stated. The funeral is being held in Buffalo to-day.

CREW WAS RESCUED

Special to The Examiner.

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., APRIL 28.—During recent severe storms on the Grand Banks, the French fishing barque "Guillaume" went down and the crew was rescued after great bravery by other fishing vessels. Several smaller craft are mising, but it is thought are safe in unfrequented coves.

PLAYED IN ORCHESTRA

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, APRIL 28.—An old tutor of Queen Alexandra, has given it out that when she was Princess of Wales Her Majesty frequently played in orchestras on the guitar as Countess Gage.

On February 13, 1907, Miss Frances Flint of 12 Galley Ave., enrolled with us. After 28 days' study she secures in open competition, and holds, a position at $45, monthly, with the Hydro Electrical Commission, Continental Life Building. Miss Flint knew nothing of stenography when she first came to Moon College.

THEFT CHARGE WAS DISMISSED BY COURT

Robert Anderson and Dennis Sullivan Found Not Guilty of Breaking Into J. C. Sullivan's Store on April 7th and Stealing a Quantity of Whiskey—Considerable Evidence Was Heard by the Magistrate This Morning.

Robt. L. Anderson and Dennis Sullivan were allowed to go this morning off the charge of breaking into the shop of J. C. Sullivan, and stealing whiskey. The evidence was not strong enough to make a conviction. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defence of Anderson, and G. N. Gordon appeared for Sullivan. Mr. Fred Sullivan, son of J. C. Sullivan, was put in the box. He stated that he looked after the liquor department for his father. A bottle was produced in Court, and the witness was asked if that had been one of his bottles. He stated that it was, and proved the same by drawing the Court's attention to his private mark.

He said that it was a $1.25 bottle, and that there had been one on each side of the show window like it. He said that they did not sell much of that brand, and only kept a dozen bottles on hand. Some months, he stated, they sold perhaps ten bottles of this 'Olde Irish Whiskey,' and other month they would only sell two. He stated that Mahaffey had never been in his store to his knowledge, but that he had seen Anderson in there from time to time. He submitted that Anderson might possibly have purchased a bottle of "Driscoll's Olde Irish Whiskey," but he was not aware of the fact.

All this discussion of the nature and shape of the bottles came about from the fact that the Chief and Detective Newhall had driven out to Anderson's place and found the bottle which had been identified by Mr. Sullivan, as being one of their bottles.

The Chief's evidence was in part as follows: "On the 9th of April, Newhall and I went out to Anderson's, and after I had arrested Anderson on another charge, this bottle was found in his room (referring to the one in court). I questioned Robert where it came from and he said that an Englishman named Seldon, who had worked for him, had brought it there.

Some time previous, the Englishman had left there. Anderson made a statement that Dennis Sullivan had brought some bottles there also, but he was quite positive that he himself had not brought it there. When Sullivan was arrested, he made a similar statement, saying that he had not brought the bottle there. Sullivan denied being in the city the Thursday night before the 8th of April. Anderson also denied being in the city that night, and stated tha he and Dennis went to bed at his place, between 8 and 9 o'clock. It was Anderson's sister that brought the bottle down from his room."

H. Wheeler was put in the box. He gave evidence to the effect that he had seen Anderson driving into the city that night, between 8 and 9 o'clock. He said that there were three in the buggy, and he only knew Anderson. His attention was drawn to them by the fact that they galloped the horse across the canal bridge. He said that it was not safe to drive on the road where Anderson was, as he always was galloping the horse, or driving so fast that he would run over a person if they did not get out of the way.

Richard Sheldon, the Englishman, in question, was put in the box. He admitted that he had brought three flasks and a bottle to Anderson's place at different times, while working there. He said he paid $1.00 for the bottle, and after he had finished its contents, he had thrown it over the garden fence. He admitted that the bottle presented might have been it, but he would not swear to it, as he had an impression that the one he had, had a larger label. He said that he had purchased it in Sullivan's. (Mr. Sullivan had previously stated that that one presented in Court bore the largest labels they had)

Mr. Kerr, speaking on behalf of his client, stated that the evidence showed that Mr. Seldon had purchased whiskey in Sullivan's and that the bottle was evidently about the same as that found at Anderson's also that it was purchased at Sullivan's it would have the private mark in question.

His Worship, Magistrate Dumble said that as far as Dennis Sullivan was concerned, there was no evidence against him. The only evidence against Anderson was that he was in the city that night and that the whole thing was only a matter of suspicion, so he allowed both to go free.

James Hayes, a vagrant, was sent to the county gaol for one month. He is a local man, and capable of earning $2.00 or $3.00 per day, but has been lying around drunk for the last few weeks, so His Worship sent him to gaol to sober up. His Worship threatened that if he ever came up again after getting out, that he would send him to the Central Prison

GOOD PROGRESS IN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Good progress is being made in the campaign for increasing the membership of the Peterborough Horticultural Society. The arrangement, whereby persons desiring to join the Society may do so at convenient places is being taken advantage of, and already several of these places report having received a number of new members. I will be able in a day or two to report more definitely regarding the number of membership tickets issued, from these different points.

Some information has recently come to hand regarding the method employed by the St. Catharines Horticultural Society for the securing of new members. This Society, although in a city smaller than Peterborough, is one of the largest in the Province, being exceeded only by the Societies in Toronto and Ottawa. The President of the St. Catharines Society states that the remarkable success attending their efforts to increase the membership is due largely to the excellent work done by the Directors and individual members of the Society who lose no opportunity to interest their friends and acquaintances in becoming members.

Every member of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, no doubt, knows of two or three persons with whom they are intimately acquainted who would readily become members if their attention were called to the matter and mention made of the benefits of membership in such an organization and the excellent premiums which are given to each member which, in themselves, are worth more than the $1.00 membership fee. There are hundreds of people who are ready to become members if the matter is mentioned to them. Why not speak to your neighbour about it and mention some of the places where membership tickets may be secured. It is planned, early in May, to make a distribution of premiums and it is accordingly desirous that as many as possible join before this is done.—Frank Wise, Secretary.

Used Her Own Flesh As Bait For Fish To Save Lives Of Children

Special to The Examiner.

VANCOUVER, APRIL 28.—On an island seventy miles out from here, an Indian squaw and children were stranded alone for two weeks by ice. The woman daily stripped the flesh from her arm to use as a bait for fish to keep her little ones from starving. She is in the hospital in a very critical condition.

MADE ANNUAL INSPECTION

The members of the Board of Works made their annual tour of inspection yesterday for the purpose of inspecting sewers, sidewalks etc. They found everything in a fairly satisfactory condition. Several minor defects were noted which could be improved upon. These will be remedied in the near future.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Seven Year Old Boy Accidentally Shot by Companion—Were Examining a Loaded Shot Gun

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Port Perry Star: Last Sunday Gordon Schell, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schell of Scugog, went over to visit his chum, the young son, of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Stevenson. The two little fellows went out to the barn to play and before long they found Mr. Stevenson's gun. It had been left in the barn where it had been used to shoot barn rats. Mr. Stevenson had intended to take it to the house, but forgot. The gun was loaded and somehow while the boys were examining the weapon it went off, the shot entering the smaller boy's head and killing him almost instantly.

Gordon Schell was the only boy and both families feel terribly about the tragic affair.

The sad accident brings home again with pathetic emphasis the great need for care in matters like this. It is so easy to forget and the price paid is so great that it seems out of all proportion to the fault which is the first cause of the fatality.

Everybody sympathizes with the bereaved family and with the family at whose home the tragedy occurred.

Embroidery Sale 10c yard on Saturday. S. H. Knox & Co. 1d-99

CHARGES DISMISSED

House of Commons Sat Until 4.45 This Morning

Special to The Examiner

OTTAWA, ONT., APRIL 28—An idea of the strenuous sessions coming is given by the fact that the Commons sat till four forty-five this morning, then divided on a majority report of the Privileges committee, clearing Mr. Lanctot of Sorel charges by 98 to 56.

CLEANED UP THE FARMERS

Smooth Young Man Gets Away With Valuable Silver and Cash

Special to The Examiner.

SMITH'S FALLS, ONT., APRIL 28—A fine talking and appearing young man, claiming to be a government surveying official, stopped over night at a number of well-to-do farmers in the vicinity, leaving in the morning almost invariably with valuable silver or cash if there was any about. The police think they will get him.

CANADA'S FUTURE

Special to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, APRIL 28.—W. Lord Palmer, of the London Financial News, says Canada is on the eve of the biggest financial and commercial development ever seen on this continent and there is a general desire on the part of the British investor to transfer the money from the United States to Canada. It is estimated that there is more than two billions, one hundred millions of British capital here.

GREAT SPEECHES

LONDON, APRIL 28.—Prime Minister Asquith and Mr. Balfour, the leaders of the Opposition, made great speeches to-day in favour of a resolution passed by the citizens of London at the Lord Mayor's meeting this afternoon in the Guild Hall, pledging the great metropolis to support a movement for perpetual peace between the United States and Great Britain. The leaders of both political parties while welcoming a treaty, said that it would mean an alliance between two countries for defensive purposes. Balfour took care to state his opinion that the treaty would not mean an immediate reduction of armament. Lord Aberdeen, the Archbishop of Canterbury and others also spoke.

Granite and Broom Sale Saturday. S. H. KNOX & CO. 1d-99

14 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 14

PETERBOROUGH FRIDAY APRIL 28 1911

"Grand" To-morrow (Saturday) C. JAMES BANCROFT and a Selected English Company in the Greatest Comedy Ever Written "THE PRIVATE SECRETARY." Special Matinee at 2:30 O'clock, 25c, 35c and 50c

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Much Anxiety Among the Europeans and Americans in China—Anarchists Have Been Busy Among the Soldiers

APPEAL TO CONSULS

Special Wire to the Examiner.

HONG KONG, APRIL 28.—Despatches filtering through from Canton and other provinces of China, indicate a serious situation, and one that is causing much anxiety among the Europeans and Americans there. It seems that the Anarchists have been very busy lately, sowing seeds of dissatisfaction among the soldiers, and already there have been many murders and assassinations, resulting in considerable bloodshed at various military points. The Consuls have asked for protection.

HONG-KONG.—(Later.)—The mutinous soldiers, assisted by rebels, have burned the Viceroy's house in Canton and fought a pitched battle with Admiral Lee and a strong force of marine landed from the river gunboats. The losses were heavy on both sides. The foreign shipping has been warned not to proceed up the river.

STUDY OF GREAT LAKES

Special to The Examiner.

CHICAGO, ILL., APRIL 28.—Sir John Murray, the distinguished English oceanographer, has offered ten thousand dollars towards an international commission for scientific and geological study of the great lakes.

FELL FROM TRAIN WAS KILLED

Special wire to The Examiner:

SARNIA, ONT., APRIL 28.—An incoming train, at daylight this morning, found the mangled remains of Harry Dobbs, aged 24, son of John Dobbs, baggage-master at Parkhill. He had evidently fallen off a freight train.

Eczema For Nine Years

Zam-Buk Works Another Great Cure

Another wonderful cure of the dread scourge, eczema, by the great herbal balm, Zam-Buk, is reported from Montreal by Mr. Theo. Amesse, of 609 St. Timothee St. He says:

"For about nine years my son, Emile, was a great sufferer from eczema. The disease broke out on his face and arms, which were covered with sores. These would scale over for a time, but would then break open again and cause him terrible agony.

At other times they would itch and burn, and it was impossible for him to refrain from scratching.

"We tried salves, and soaps, and preparations of all kinds, but it seemed that we could get nothing to benefit him. The state of affairs went on during nine long years, and you can well imagine the agony he suffered!

"Zam-Buk was recommended to us, but we feared it would prove like all other remedies had proved—useless. We got a supply, however, and it was not long before we found out its virtues. It eased the pain and removed the irritation. Then it began to heal the sores, until bit by bit the patch got less and less. The skin which was cracked and sore became soft and smooth and in the end every trace of the disease was banished."

Not only for eczema, but for ulcers, blood poisoning, bad leg, varicose ulcers, itch, salt rheum, scalp sores, children's rashes and piles, Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap constitute a certain cure. The soap is fine for baby's bath! It cures pimples, rashes and eases those chafed, inflamed patches. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box and Soap at 25c. a tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

WILL PROCEED WITH DISCUSSION

WASHINGTON, APRIL 28.—At last the United States Senate has arranged its committees and so on, and it is expected that it will proceed with the discussion of Canadian reciprocity treaty within a few days. The debate will last a week or more.

A NEW INDUSTRY IS LIKELY FOR PETERBORO'

Jules Motor Company of Toronto Will in All Probability Establish a Factory Here for the Manufacture of Their Cars—Local Manufacturer Has Been Interested in the Company—Nominal Amount of Stock Will Be Sold Here

Peterborough stands an excellent chance of landing a splendid industry that gives every promise of great development and expansion. There is every possibility of the Jules Motor Company of Toronto, manufacturers of automobiles, establishing their factory here and manufacturing their products in this city. Representatives of the company have been in the city for the past two days looking over the field and the prospects of landing this important industry are very bright.

The Jules Motor Company has a capital of $250,000, of which fifty per cent has been taken up by outside capitalists in Toronto and Detroit.

The directorate consists of the following: Chas. Collett, president of the Collett Carriage Works, Toronto, president.

Geo. A. Graham, proprietor of the Iroquois hotel, Toronto, vice-president.

Norman Collett, of the Collett Carriage Works, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

C. M. Parker, capitalist of Detroit.

A prominent local manufacturer has become financially identified with the company and has been asked to take a seat on the directorate. The matter is now receiving his favourable consideration. The company has on its books orders for 200 cars which will be approximately their capacity for 1911. It is the intention for the first year to have their different parts manufactured for them; ultimately they intend to put in a plant to produce every article needed in their automobile.

Owing to the season being so far advanced the company would not be able to fill their orders for this year were they to instal the machinery necessary to manufacture every part of the car.

An Examiner reporter has ridden in one of the company's cars and has been much impressed with its easy riding qualities and its simplicity of operation. The car is a popular priced one and an exceptional feature is the small number of parts, there being only 500 parts in contrast to 1700 in the average car of the same size and power.

As has been said, representatives of the company are here to get a nominal amount of stock subscribed in Peterborough. From the nature of the proposition and the conservative lines of the organization no difficulty is anticipated in their getting the assistance they seek. The proposition has been investigated by some of Peterborough's most prominent business men and is receiving very favourable consideration. The company asks no assistance from the city in locating here—the only condition on their coming to Peterborough is in the sale of stock.

WELL KNOWN AUTHORITY DISCUSSES SCHOOL HYGIENE AT NORMAL LAST NIGHT

Dr. Auden, of Birmingham, England, Gave an Interesting Address—Outlining the Present Day Evil—Lantern Slide Views Were Also Shown.

A very interesting and instructive address was given by Dr. Auden, of Birmingham, Eng., on "School Hygiene," last night in the Normal school. Quite a large number of people availed themselves of the excellent opportunity to obtain first hand information on this important subject.

Dr. Auden, who has occupied prominent positions in educational circles in Birmingham, England, is a gentleman of pleasing personality, whose sound logic, carries with it that force of conviction that is so pleasing and reassuring to an audience. His professional quality is clearly indicated in that clear, forceful and expressive manner which the Doctor possesses. this pleasing feature being further supplemented by an unlimited theoretical and practical experience.

"School hygiene is coming more and more into prominence," said Dr. Auden in his opening remarks. The child of to-day will be the parent of the next generation, and it is up to us to do our best to influence the child physically and morally, so that it may go out into the world fully equipped for the battle of life mentally and bodily. It is clear that where the body is in ill-health the intellect is also affected ,therefore, we should devote our attention to the promotion of good health. People are leaving England in large numbers to seek elsewhere a purer life and a wider sphere. It is, therefore necessary that we educate our teachers along hygenic principals in order that they may be ready to meet the present and future demands which will be made upon them. Plenty of good wholesome food, rest and fresh air were three essential features in connection with the cultivation of hygiene.

Ten days ago I visited the Mimico Asylum, Toronto, and there saw the practical application of the hygienic rules which I have just outlined. I also visited the prison farm at Guelph and there saw the same system adopted. One of the main objects in view, is to establish a higher plane of health for the delinquents who are confined there.

In England we are overcrowded; the slums are an ever present evil. Sooner or later the difficulties that are in force in England to-day will be yours. Fifty or even thirty years ago the greatest influx into our English towns and cities was derived from the good blood of the country. Now, much of that is coming to Canada, thereby leaving us the poorer

The teacher and the mother are the two most important servants of the state. The teacher stands midway between the mother and the state. Another great evil that is ever present in our Public schools is the neglect of the teeth. 98 per cent. of the pupils examined by me showed defective teeth. In England ask a class of sixty how many used a tooth brush, and probably four or five would answer in the affirmative. In Japan ask a class the same question and they would stand aghast. They all use tooth brushes there. Eye trouble is another prevalent trouble among school children and one that should be given more attention. Adenoids is another common evil. All of these complaints have a strong tendency to reduce the efficiency of the pupils.

The speaker then showed a large numbef of lantern slide views, exhibiting various methods of open air treatment for pupils afflicted with tuberculosis. The principles of these methods were fresh air and good food.

WILL TELL OF LIFE AMONG THE SAVAGES

The public are again reminded of the special visit to be paid our city by Senor Ray of Bolivia. Mr. Ray has a story to tell of savage life in South America that is both educative and thrilling.

Mr. Ray was unable to be present at the Missionary Institute held in our city, under the auspices of the young people's societies, but will be at the Park Street Baptist Church next Sunday, April 30.

As an explorer Mr. Ray has been so successful as to merit the F. R. G. S. from old London, as a recognition of his work. Mr. Ray will preach at 11 a. m., give a missionary address at 3 p.m., and speak again in the evening at 7 p.m.

The public are all most cordially invited to these meetings.

On Monday he will deliver the best missionary lecture, illustrated by fine life-size views of the real life of South America, and tell the real facts of the life, and custom of the people. Everybody invited.

A WOMAN MADE HAPPY

"I could scarcely get about the house to attend to my work and felt miserable nearly all the time," writes Mrs. Alex. Buchanan, Island Brook, Que. "After using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food my system is wonderfully built up. There is no further trouble from dizzy spells and stomach weakness, and with health and strength restored, life has a new pleasure for me."

Burn "Scoe" Scranton Coal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Coal Co. Limited.

RUN OVER BY WAGON

Seven Year Old Johnnie Buck, of Havelock, Fatally Injured—Died Two Hours After the Accident

FELL BETWEEN WHEELS

Special to The Examiner.

HAVELOCK, APRIL 28.—Johnnie Buck, son of Mr. John Buck, of town, died this afternoon (Thursday) at 2.30. From injuries received at noon. The little fellow, aged 7 years, was with many other children out playing and caught on to a waggon, which was going by. In his attempt to jump off he fell between the wheels, one of which passed over his chest. He was carried to his home and medical aid summoned to attend to his injuries, but they were of such a serious nature that he passed away about two hours later. The funeral arrangements are not yet made known.

DETERMINED ON REVENGE

France Has Thirty Thousand Soldiers in Field Against Morocco Rebels

Special to The Examiner

PARIS, APRIL 28.—With thirty thousand French soldiers already in the field and reinforcements of double that number waiting orders to march, France is ready to take revenge on the Moroccan rebels, who, it is reported, wiped out two detachments of French troops sent to relieve Fez. Ominous conferences are going on between the war office and the foreign office to-day. There are stories of fearful massacre of Europeans in that city.

FORMER LOCAL MAN KILLED IN BUFFALO

Mr. Hubert Barry, Nephew of Mr. P. Barry, East City, Meets Death by Falling From a Scaffold

Mr. P. Barry, watchman at the McCalliater Mill on Hunter street, East City, is mourning the death of his nephew, Mr. Herbert Barry, who was killed by falling from a scaffold in Buffalo on Wednesday last. The deceased was the son of Mr. John Barry, and was aged 22. The deceased was born in Peterborough, but he and his parents moved to Buffalo about 20 years ago. The sad death is mourned by three sisters, and father and mother. Mr. Barry was a structural iron builder by trade, and it is thought that he was killed while in pursuance of his work. Mr. P. Barry did not get any particulars about the death of his nephew, other than is herein stated. The funeral is being held in Buffalo to-day.

CREW WAS RESCUED

Special to The Examiner.

ST. JOHN'S, NFLD., APRIL 28.—During recent severe storms on the Grand Banks, the French fishing barque "Guillaume" went down and the crew was rescued after great bravery by other fishing vessels. Several smaller craft are missing, but it is thought are safe in unfrequented coves.

PLAYED IN ORCHESTRA

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, APRIL 28.—An old tutor of Queen Alexandra, has given it out that when she was Princess of Wales Her Majesty frequently played in orchestras on the guitar as Countess Gage.

On February 13, 1911, Miss Frances Flint of 12 Galley Ave., enrolled with us. After 28 days' study she secures in open competition, and holds, a position at $45, monthly, with the Hydro Electrical Commission, Continental Life Building. Miss Flint knew nothing of stenography when she first came to Moog College.

THEFT CHARGE WAS DISMISSED BY COURT

Robert Anderson and Dennis Sullivan Found Not Guilty of Breaking Into J. C. Sullivan's Store on April 7th and Stealing a Quantity of Whiskey—Considerable Evidence Was Heard by the Magistrate This Morning.

Robt. L. Anderson and Dennis Sullivan were allowed to go this morning off the charge of breaking into the shop of J. C. Sullivan, and stealing whiskey. The evidence was not strong enough to make a conviction. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defence of Anderson, and G. N. Gordon appeared for Sullivan. Mr. Fred Sullivan, son of J. C. Sullivan, was put in the box. He stated that he looked after the liquor department for his father. A bottle was produced in Court, and the witness was asked if that had been one of his bottles. He stated that it was, and proved the same by drawing the Court's attention to his private mark.

He said that it was a $1.25 bottle, and that there had been one on each side of the show window like it. He said that they did not sell much of that brand, and only kept a dozen bottles on hand. Some months, he stated, they sold perhaps ten bottles of this 'Olde Irish Whiskey," and other months they would only sell two. He stated that Mahaffey had never been in his store to his knowledge, but that he had seen Anderson in there from time to time. He admitted that Anderson might possibly have purchased a bottle of "Driscoll's Olde Irish Whiskey," but he was not aware of the fact.

All this discussion of the nature and shape of the bottles came about from the fact that the Chief and Detective Newhall had driven out to Anderson's place and found the bottle which had been identified by Mr. Sullivan, as being one of their bottles.

The Chief's evidence was in part as follows: "On the 9th of April, Newhall and I went out to Anderson's, and after I had arrested Anderson on another charge, this bottle was found in his room (referring to the one in court). I questioned Robert where it came from and he said that an Englishman named Seldon, who had worked for him, had brought it there.

Some time previous, the Englishman had left there. Anderson made a statement that Dennis Sullivan had brought some bottles there also, but he was quite positive that he himself had not brought it there. When Sullivan was arrested, he made a similar statement, saying that he had not brought the bottle there. Sullivan denied being in the city the Thursday night before the 8th of April. Anderson also denied being in the city that night, and stated that he and Dennis went to bed at his place, between 9 and 10 o'clock. It was Anderson's sister that brought the bottle down from his room."

H. Wheeler was put in the box. He gave evidence to the effect that he had seen Anderson driving into the city that night, between 8 and 9 o'clock. He said that there were three in the buggy, and he only knew Anderson. His attention was drawn to them by the fact that they galloped the horse across the canal bridge. He said that it was not safe to drive on the road where Anderson was, as he always was galloping the horse, or driving so fast that he would run over a person if they did not get out of the way.

Richard Sheldon, the Englishman, in question, was put in the box. He admitted that he had brought three flasks and a bottle to Anderson's place at different times, while working there. He said he paid $1.00 for the bottle, and after he had finished its contents, he had thrown it over the garden fence. He admitted that the bottle presented might have been it, but he would not swear to it, as he had an impression that the one he had, had a larger label. He said that he had purchased it in Sullivan's. (Mr. Sullivan had previously stated that that one presented in Court bore the largest labels they had.)

Mr. Kerr, speaking on behalf of his client, stated that the evidence showed that Mr. Seldon had purchased whiskey in Sullivan's and that the bottle was evidently about the same as that found at Anderson's, also that as it was purchased at Sullivan's it would have the private mark a question.

His Worship, Magistrate Dumble said that as far as Dennis Sullivan was concerned, there was no evidence against him. The only evidence against Anderson was that he was in the city that night and that the whole thing was only a matter of suspicion, so he allowed both to go free.

James Hayes, a vagrant, was sent to the county gaol for one month. He is a local man, and capable of earning $2.00 or $3.00 per day, but has been lying around drunk for the last few weeks, so His Worship sent him to gaol to sober up. His Worship threatened that if he ever came up again after getting out, that he would send him to the Central Prison

GOOD PROGRESS IN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Good progress is being made in the campaign for increasing the membership of the Peterborough Horticulturs' Society. The arrangement, whereby persons desiring to join the Society may do so at convenient places is being taken advantage of, and already several of these places report having received a number of new members. I will be able in a day or two to report more definitely regarding the number of membership tickets issued, from these different points.

Some information has recently come to hand regarding the method employed by the St. Catharines Horticultural Society for the securing of new members. This Society, although in a city smaller than Peterborough, is one of the largest in the Province, being exceeded only by the Societies in Toronto and Ottawa. The President of the St. Catharines Society states that the remarkable success attending their efforts to increase the membership is due largely to the excellent work done by the Directors and individual members of the Society, who lose no opportunity to interest their friends and acquaintances in becoming members.

Every member of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, no doubt, knows of two or three persons with whom they are intimately acquainted who would readily become members if their attention were called to the matter and mention made of the benefits of membership in such an organization and the excellent premiums which are given to each member which, in themselves, are worth more than the $1.00 membership fee. There are hundreds of people who are ready to become members if the matter is mentioned to them. Why not speak to your neighbour about it and mention some of the places where membership tickets may be secured. It is planned, early in May, to make a distribution of premiums and it is accordingly desirous that as many as possible join before this is done.—Frank Wise, Secretary.

Used Her Own Flesh As Bait For Fish To Save Lives Of Children

Special to The Examiner.

VANCOUVER, APRIL 28.—On an island seventy miles out from here, an Indian squaw and children were stranded alone for two weeks by ice. The woman daily stripped the flesh from her arm to use as a bait for fish to keep her little ones from starving. She is in the hospital in a very critical condition.

MADE ANNUAL INSPECTION

The members of the Board of Works made their annual tour of inspection yesterday for the purpose of inspecting sewers, sidewalks, etc. They found everything in a fairly satisfactory condition. Several minor defects were noted which could be improved upon. These will be remedied in the near future.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Seven Year Old Boy Accidentally Shot by Companion—Were Examining a Loaded Shot Gun

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Port Perry Star: Last Sunday Gordon Schell, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schell of Scugog, went over to visit his chum, the young son, of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Stevenson. The two little fellows went out to the barn to play and before long they found Mr. Stevenson's gun. It had been left at the barn where it had been used to shoot barn rats. Mr. Stevenson had intended to take it to the house, but forgot. The gun was loaded and somehow while the boys were examining the weapon it went off, the shot entering the smaller boy's head and killing him almost instantly.

Gordon Schell was the only boy and both families feel terribly about the tragic affair.

The sad accident brings home again with pathetic emphasis the great need for care in matters like this. It is so easy to forget and the price paid is so great that it seems out of all proportion to the fault which is the first cause of the fatality.

Everybody sympathizes with the bereaved family and with the family at whose home the tragedy occurred.

Embroidery Sale 10c yard on Saturday. S. H. Knox & Co. 1d-gp

CHARGES DISMISSED

House of Commons Sat Until 4.45 This Morning

Special to The Examiner

OTTAWA, ONT., APRIL 28—An idea of the strenuous sessions coming is given by the fact that the Commons sat till four forty-five this morning, then divided on a majority report of the Privileges committee, clearing Mr. Lanctot of Sorel charges by 98 to 86.

CLEANED UP THE FARMERS

Smooth Young Man Gets Away With Valuable Silver and Cash

Special to The Examiner.

SMITH'S FALLS, ONT., APRIL 28—A fine talking and appearing young man, claiming to be a government surveying official, stopped over night at a number of well-to-do farmers in the vicinity, leaving in the morning almost invariably with valuable silver or cash if there was any about. The police think they will get him.

CANADA'S FUTURE

Special to The Examiner:

MONTREAL, APRIL 28.—W. Lord Palmer, of the London Financial News, says Canada is on the eve of the biggest financial and commercial development ever seen on this continent and there is a general desire on the part of the British investor to transfer the money from the United States to Canada. It is estimated that there is more than two billions, one hundred millions of British capital here.

GREAT SPEECHES

LONDON, APRIL 28.—Prime Minister Asquith and Mr. Balfour, the leaders of the Opposition, made great speeches to-day in favour of a resolution passed by the citizens of London at the Lord Mayor's meeting this afternoon in the Guild Hall, pledging the great metropolis to support a movement for perpetual peace between the United States and Great Britain. The leaders of both political parties while welcoming a treaty, said that it would mean an alliance between two countries for defensive purposes. Balfour took care to state his opinion that the treaty would not mean an immediate reduction or armaments. Lord Aberdeen, the Archbishop of Canterbury and others also spoke.

Granite and Broom Sale Saturday. S. H. KNOX & CO. 1d-gp

"Mecca" Salve!
the great healer for all wounds and sores. 3f

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every week evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Editor, 380 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.50.
E. H. CLOUSE, Managing Director.
Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1911

GIFTS TO CHILDREN'S WORK.

The friends of Children's Aid work have been greatly encouraged recently by the legacy of $9,000 left to the Children's Aid Society of Chatham by the late Francis Moore for a Children's Shelter, and an additional gift of $5,000 given to the Society of Brantford by the late Charles Champion.

Fortunately Peterborough does not need money for the erection of a Shelter; but the need will be perennial for funds, to maintain our excellent Shelter in its best condition of effectiveness and to carry on the work of rescue. Peterborough has done well, heretofore, in contributing the necessary money. Tag-day placed the funds of the local society in a condition of comparative ease, for the time being. It gave the opportunity for generally distributed liberality which might well be again presented when the time comes. The Children's Aid fund account, like a merchant's bank account, must be kept to the point, equal to the demands, for there are heavy drafts upon it and these will continue so long as human depravity and heartlessness, provide helpless, neglected and illtreated children as the object of the interest of the practical altruist.

In this connection it might be pointed out that many persons do not know much about the Children's Protection Act of Ontario, and as a result children are allowed to grow up in vice and ignorance, who might with timely intervention, have been saved to a happy and useful career. Under this Act there is a Children's Aid Society organized in each city, and committees or correspondents in many towns and villages. The aim is to cover the entire province with a network of societies that will effectively safeguard the interests of every child The sympathetic interest of teachers, clergy, officials, etc., is sought ,and information will be furnished on aplication to the Superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children, Toronto. Homeless, neglected or delinquent children should be promptly reported so that the necessary improvement can be brought about. All should feel it a privilege to help the children, and by united effort a splendid work can be accomplished. The movement stands for social uplift, sanitary houses for the poor, playgrounds, regular school attendance, homes for the homeless, restoration and encouragement for the offender, friendly co-operation between rich and poor, the abolition of poverty and human wretchedness.

ASSUMING GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY.

The Conservative Opposition at Ottawa in formally and deliberately deciding upon a policy of obstruction to the reciprocity agreement are assuming a grave responsibility, and by their action, justifying a charge that they are more influenced by a desire to gain a party advantage, than by any concern for the interest of the country. The announced determination of the Conservative Opposition, to obstruct the voting of further supplies, bring the business of the country to a standstill, and by every means in their power prevent a vote upon the ratification of the reciprocity agreement, is met by the Liberals of the House, the majority in parliament ,with an equally direct declaration of determination, not to allow the minority to dictate the policy of the government, charged by the people with the responsibility of administering the affairs of the country in the country's interest.

There is naturally no question of compromise on the reciprocity issue so far as the Government is concerned. The Liberal members say they can stand an endurance test just as well as the Opposition members can, and they believe further that the great majority of the electors are behind them and will resent a policy of factious obstruction on the reciprocity issue. If the business of the country is held up indefinitely and no supplies are voted to carry on the administration after June next, the only recourse will be an appeal to the country. If the Conservative Opposition wish to take the responsibility of this, thereby depriving perhaps two million electors of their proper representation in the next Parliament, through forestalling the coming redistribution after the census the onus will be with the obstructionists and the Government will be willing to accept the verdict of the people under the circumstances.

The Conservatives seem to base justification of their policy upon the claim that the reciprocity agreement should be submitted to the people. This claim is weakened by the fact that in the constitutional course, a general election will be held within a year or so, and the people can decide the reciprocity question in the light of the year's experience with its operation. If at that time the people pronounce against it they will do so on the grounds of knowing from actual test, the merits and demerits of the agreement. If the election is deferred as in the regular course it would be, the census will have been taken, a redistribution of seats made, and the full voting power of the country will be exercised. If the Opposition force dissolution they will be responsible for depriving; possibly, two millions of electors of proper representation in a new Parliament. If the government, as the Opposition contends, has no mandate from the people to pass the reciprocity agreement, the Conservatives are illogical in seeking to precipitate an election, bringing about a vote on the subject on voters' lists that do not represent the full voting power of the people. If the Conservatives really believe that the reciprocity agreement is an evil thing, their better and more natural policy would be to let it pass and reap the results of a condemnation of it by the people, which they assert is sure to come. There is no hurry; for the Conservatives are not likely to come to power between now and a general election. They should wait the regular course of events. They say the people are fiercely opposed to reciprocity, and their triumph will be all the greater if they wait till after census and redistribution, and thus permit a million or two more electors to vote deunciation of reciprocity.

One could come a little nearer understanding the motive that is behind the determination of the Conservatives in parliament, to resort to a policy of obstruction, if they were moved by patriotismm and a desire to promote the welfare of the country. But it is evident that there is more influence of partyism than of patriotism in their attitude.

It is pretty evident that these are three main motives impelling the Conservative Opposition to take extreme measures and force an election: In the first place a more generous campaign fund from the anti-reciprocity "interests" can be secured now than a year hence after the agreement has gone through. In the second place, it is believed that a year's working out of reciprocity would justify the Government's policy and nullify all the argument now being advanced against it. In the third place it is believed that the Government would stand to gain by redistribution, since the score or so of new seats in the West would almost certainly return representatives in favour of reciprocity. It may be further noted that if an election is forced now a good many of the Opposition members who are doubtful of renomination by their party next year would, under the present circumstances, be able to secure nomination in the event of an election in the near future.

WHY CANADA DRAWS.

It is no wonder that the stream of immigration into the Canadian North West from south of the boundary is pouring in like a human tidal wave. The Boston News Bureau thus paints the allurements of the Canadian West. It says:

"The soil of Alberta and Saskatchewan is as rich as that of Ohio and Indiana before overcropping, neglect and under-cultivation had done their worst. The climate of Alberta and Saskatchewan is superior to that of any state in the Mississippi valley for growth of wheat, barley, oats, hay and vegetables. Alberta and Saskatchewan are in the same latitude and have a similar climate to Normandy, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, and Germany, whose beef, pork, poultry, eggs, butter, milk and cheese are famous....No such vegetable gardens, meadows and grain fields as theirs exist either in southern Europe or the United States. * * * Calgary has a milder winter climate than Boston or Kansas City, just as have Brussels and Berlin. The Saskatchewan valley, extending from Hudson Bay to British Columbia and Montana, has the most extensive area of fertile black loam soil in the world. Sometimes for 200 imiles you cannot discover a rock or a gravel bed, and this immense area is watered with ten thousand streams and rivulets. . . . British Columbia is another empire, for it is co-extensive with Great Britain, Ireland and Germany. Its coast line is equal to that of all nations bordering the Mediterranean. Its fisheries and its mineral wealth excel the world. It boasts 3,000 miles of lake and river transportation. The energy of 25,000,000 horses can be harnessed in its rivers. The Columbia and the Fraser spread out in the interior into chains of lakes that have no parallel for beauty or grandeur. In twenty years the Canadian Northwest will be growing more wheat, and raising more hogs and cattle, than either the United States or Russia, and Canada will be a nation of 20,000,000."

The News Bureou, becoming specific, quotes the case of a certain agriculturist who lived for twenty years in Kansas. Five years ago he bought 160 acres of land at Pincher Creek. Two years ago he grew 6,000 bushels of wheat, off 200 acres, and sold it for $9,600. Last year he raised 12,000 bushels off 250 acres and sold it, for $10,000, or 85 cents a bushel. His profits from 250 acres of wheat in Alberta last year were greater than all his profits from farming during twenty years in Kansas. This is the tale of every American settler in Canada sends back. He is certain of a crop of winter wheat in Alberta of 40 to 60 bushels an acre, while in Kansas he was lucky if he harvested 12 to 14 Thirty bushels an acre in Alberta is a very poor crop; 45 is average.

With such testimonials to the high quality of Canadian soil and crop possibilities, we can not be surprised at the influx of United States farmers. But we can be surprised that the politicians of Canada, of the Little Canadian stamp, paint Canadian farmers with the marrow melting in their bones in dread of the competition of United States farm products in case reciprocity in cabbages, etc., is brought to pass. Canada's productiveness is undoubted. We can grow the greatest crops of, perhaps, any country in the world; all we want is a good market, and in addition to the home market, the British market and the markets of the world at large, we shall have, with reciprocity, the barriers removed that shut Canadian farmers and all producers of soil stuff from a new market of ninety millions.

Headache

is quickly cured by FIG PILLS. The Headache disappears after one or two doses. They tone up the STOMACH and cure CONSTIPATION. At all dealers, 25 cents per box, or The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

Bible The Source And Inspiration Of British Love For Liberty And Law

(Montreal Witness.)

The extent to which the English Bible in the homes of the people has been the leaven of liberty was ably dwelt on at the great Bible celebration in New York, by Mr. Bryce, the notable British ambassador at Washington. He showed how, through the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, the Bible was the chief reading of the people and wrought in them that combined love of liberty and of law which has made the English people great on either side of the sea and the givers of constitutional rule to the rest of the world. There is a reverse side to this picture. For those two centuries the Bible may be truly said to have been the staple mental food of the more solid elements of the English race. It was the Puritans who lived upon the Bible, and it was the Puritans who have liberty with law to the two nations, including with England, Scotland and Ireland, where the Puritan element was strongest. The great men whose lives dated from the earlier part of the last century were also largely soaked in the Scriptures. Has this dominance of the Bible continued? Or is it notorious that the flood that to-day pours from the printing press, like the flood that poured from the mouth of the apocalyptic dragon, has drowned it? Even in the schools the Bible has been largely lost. Certain people who got leave to examine the best finished product of the schools and colleges of various parts of the United States with questions on the allusions in literature to Scripture, balanced against similar allusions to the classics and to other general knowledge, found that the greatest classic of our own language was less known to the average scholar than the classics of Greece and Rome—that indeed these scholars were so much at fault in the commonplaces of scripture that almost any child of eight of an earlier generation could have tripped them up.

The exclusion of Holy Scripture from the schools has largely been due to a strong, if illogical and unreasoning prejudice against it by those who were not imbued with its holy principles, and so the people have become more and more estranged from those upbuilding principles of mutual respect and love, and have become the victims of a variety of despotisms. There are many who have prophesied a like ending of the educational feud between churchmen and dissenters in England. The demand of the dissenters has been for common schools supported by common taxes in which the Scripture and common morals would be taught. The demand of the church has been for parish schools supported by local taxation, in which the church catechism would be taught. The contest grew so sharp that many came to the conclusion that the only logical outcome would be to have schools with no religion at all and no Bible at all. If what the King and Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryce and all the great men are saying to-day be true, then this would be a sad result of the liberty the Bible has brought us.

GREAT INTEREST BEING TAKEN

From Farm and Dairy.

So great is the interest taken in alfalfa in Halton Co., Ont., in the more progressive districts that it is said that the women folk there are in the habit of discussing the wonderful merits of the crop at their afternoon teas. It is certain that the farmers themselves must have been discussing alfalfa for some time past, as in some of the townships several acres of alfalfa are found on almost every farm, and where proper methods have been pursued the farmers without exception enthusiastically proclaim the wonderful feed producing qualities of the crop.

Mr. J. Lynn, of Nassagaweya township, informed one of the editors of Farm and Dairy recently that three years ago his father put in 20 acres of alfalfa. Ten acres was on low, wet ground and was not a big success. The other 10 acres on higher land did well. The following year after taking the first cutting the field afforded splendid pasture for the rest of the season. Equally good results were obtained the second year and in neither case did the alfalfa seem to be injured by pasturing. Most of the alfalfa was fed to the horses, and Mr. Lynn states that alfalfa is a particularly satisfactory horse feed.

ALFALFA WITHOUT A NURSE CROP

"I never missed a catch of alfalfa in my life," said Mr. W. O. Morse of the same township. "I start early in the spring and work over the soil every week or 10 days until the end of June in order to give all weed seeds a chance to germinate and then cultivation exterminates the young weeds. If my land were clean I would sow the seed alone without a nurse crop as soon as the soil is in fit condition in the spring, and in this way I get a good cutting the first year, and have sufficient growth of the second crop to protect the alfalfa through the winter."

Particular stress was laid by Mr. Morse on the value of alfalfa as a weed exterminator. "It is the only thing," said he, "I know of that will exterminate blue weed, with which my farm is infested. The thorough preparation of the soil for the crop will kill a great many of the seeds, and as we cut the alfalfa two or three times the seed never gets an opportunity to ripen. Blue weed is a biennial and it will disappear in a couple of years." Mr. Morse has grown alfalfa for 10 years and is becoming more enthusiastic each year over the crop, and by next spring plans to have the greater portion of his small farm seeded to alfalfa. The soil on this farm is of a light gravel that will not produce other crops satisfactorily.

WILL NOT PASTURE ALFALFA

One point in which Mr. Morse most decidedly differs from his neighbor, Mr. Lynn, is in the matter of pasturning the alfalfa. Speaking with Farm and Dairy's representative on this point he said, "If you examine an alfalfa field you will notice that the crowns of the plants come up higher above the surface than do those of red clover, or the grasses. Close pasturing, particularly by horses, injures these crowns causing the death of the plant. If pastured at all alfalfa must be pastured very cautiously, and it is my opinion that no pasturing is better yet.

Mr. Chas. Twiss will put in seven acres of alfalfa this spring. He has had a small acreage seeded to the crop and is well satisfied with results. His neighbor, Mr. Albert Hull is also putting in seven acres. Part of the soil on Mr. Twiss's farm is a light sand, full of twitch grass, and experience has taught him that alfalfa will kill this weed. Mr. Twiss informed our representative that he had gotten his first enthusiasm for alfalfa from his uncle, Mr. Robt. Twiss, of Wentworth county, who regards alfalfa as an Al feed for both milch cows and hogs. This gentleman feeds his cows on corn ailage without meal with splendid results. For pig feed Mr. Twiss steams the alfalfa in a large vat and mixes with it meal and whey. He keeps 200 hogs Very little meal is put into this alfalfa ration until the hogs are to be finished for market, when the proportion of meal is increased.

FLIES GERM CARRIERS

From Farm and Dairy.

House flies are now recognized as most serious carriers of the germs of certain diseases such as typhoid fever, tuberculosis, infantile diarrhoea, etc. They infect themselves in filth and decaying substances, and by carrying the germs on their legs and bodies they pollute food, especially milk, with the germs of these and other diseases and of decay. No fly is free from germs. The best method is to prevent their breeding.

House flies breed in decaying or decomposing vegetable and animal matter and excrement. They breed chiefly in stable refuse. In cities this should be stored in dark fly-proof chambers or receptacles, and it should be regularly removed within six days in the summer. Farmyard manure should be regularly removed within the same time and either spread on the fields or stored at a distance of not less than a quarter of a mile, the further the better, from a house or dwelling.

House flies breed in such decaying and fermenting matter as kitchen refuse and garbage. Garbage receptacles should be kept tightly covered. All such refuse should be burnt or buried within a few days, but at once if possible. No refuse should be left exposed. If it cannot be disposed of at once it should be sprinkled with chloride of lime.

FLIES IN HOUSES

Windows and doors should be properly screened, especially those of the dining-room and kitchen. Milk and other food should be screened in the summer by covering it with muslin; fruit should be covered also. Where they are used, especially in public places as hotels, etc., spittoons should be kept clean, as there is very great danger of flies carrying the germs of consumption from unclean spittoons. Flies should not be allowed to have access to the sick room, especially in the case of infectious disease.

The face of babies should be carefully screened with muslin.

Flies may be killed by means of a weak solution offormalin or formaldehyde exposed in saucers in the rooms. This is made by adding a tablespoonful of formaldehyde to a pint of water. The burning of pyrethrum in a room is also effective.

House flies indicate the presence of filth in the neighborhood or insanitary conditions.—Entomological Division, C. E. F., Ottawa.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

From Farm and Dairy.

TO KEEP THREAD FROM KINKING

Always thread a needle before breaking thread from spool and the thread will not tangle. This is essential in making point lace.

PROTECTION FOR THE FINGER

A piece of court plaster on the end of the forefinger of the left hand will protect it from needle pricks when sewing.

TO MAKE BUTTONS STAY ON

Use a new corset string to fasten buttons to children's clothes. Take a small piece, run through two holes of the button and sew ends firmly to garment. This allows plenty of "play" and prevents buttons from being ironed off.

A USE FOR TWEEZERS

Why not keep a pair of tweezers in the work basket? You have no idea how useful they are to pull out stubborn ends of basting cotton, particularly when the machine stitching has run over the bastings. Such accidents are very frequent, no matter how careful the seamstress may be, and the tweezers will really prove of great assistance.

BUTTONHOLES IN THIN GOODS

Whip them over before cutting, leaving a thread in the middle to cut by. In using materials that are very thin, make them before you cut them, and the goods will not pull out with the thread.

FOR UNFINISHED GARMENTS

A convenience for the sewing-room is to tack a strip of cloth three inches wide across one side of the wall on which pin unfinished garments and patterns often in use.

FOR A REFRACTORY MACHINE

Our sewing machine had become so hard to work as to be almost useless. After repeated oiling, which brought no improvement, I removed the head, plunged it into boiling water for a few minutes, dried and oiled, and it has been running like a new machine ever since.

IT IS EASY TO OWN A
SINGER SEWING MACHINE
The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.
J. W. Stumpf, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED — BOY AT PETERBORO MATtress Co., Hunter St., East 3d-29097

WANTED — GOOD STRONG BOY FOR Driver. Apply after 7 p.m., 499 George Street. 3d-97-4984

GOOD SMART YOUTH WANTED TO learn the Barbering. Apply at No. 164 Simcoe Street. 3d97-4979

WANTED—AT ONCE, AN EXPERIENCED Hardware clerk, fine opening. Apply Peterborough Hardware Co., Peterborough. 3d97-4980

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons. $30.00 weekly, job guaranteed, $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1703, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-31-4981

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.
FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-98-4761

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED — GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply 226 Brock St. 6d-98-4997

WANTED—AT ONCE, TWO FUR MAchine operators, permanent employment Apply Harris, Limited, George St. 2-297-4978

FIRST-CLASS TAILORESS WANTED AT once. Can make pants and vests good steady situation to right person Apply M. J. Hickey, High-class Tailor, 434 George Street. 3d97-4974

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker References, state wages. Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 544, Ring 4, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-98-4980

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now, The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Granville St., Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-94-4697

WOMEN WANTED TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A., British Canadian Industrial Company, 220 Albert St., Ottawa d-4mon-91-4954

WORK WANTED

WORK WANTED BY THE DAY BY RESPonsible woman. Apply No. 1 Bonner Ave. 3d-98-4982

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 402 Stewart St. 12d-89-4792

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 132 Albert St., Ottawa. d-4mon-88-4504

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, P 1732, Lockport, N.Y. d6m-139

STONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, B 1630, Lockport, N.Y. d6m-138

LOST

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

LOST IN TOWN ON THURSDAY EVENing, April 20th, red check blanket. Finder please. Leave at Examiner Office. 3d-97-4967

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Donaldson, Peck & Kerr. d6f-94

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED ROOMS. Apply Box 4961 Examiner Office. 3dw-tu, 97-4961

TO RENT—A SMALL HOUSE IN GOOD locality, city water and electric light. For particulars apply to 185 Antrim St., City. d6f-99-4985

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 320 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 95 1-2 Hunter Street. d6f-76-4625

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough d-87

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—GOOD DRIVING HORSE CITY broken. Apply 283 Reid Street 3d-99-5001

PRIVATE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURNIture at 264 Water Street. 3d-98-4983

FOR SALE CHEAP—SMALL REFRIGERator, good condition. Apply Jas. S. Bell, 161 Hunter Street. 3d-98-4995

FOR SALE—FACTORY SITE, 1½ ACRE with siding of four cars on GTR Line, North end. Apply to the owner, 32 Bardo Ave., City 5d97-4952

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well-built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 194 Romaine St. 6d-98-4949

FOR SALE — MARTIN STRAIN WHITE Wyandotte and Thoroughbred Barred Rock Eggs for hatching $1 per setting. Archie Brandt, 307 George St. 3d-98-4990

FOR SALE —HAPPY THOUGHT RANGE and Art Sovereign Feeder. Good Repair. Apply Mrs. Whatley, 257 Charlotte Street 3d-98-4986

FOR SALE—A LIGHT SINGLE DELIvery Wagon; in use less than a year; a snap for quick sale. Also five 32-barrel Puncheons, suitable for cistern or cheese factory. Apply Calcutt's Brewery. 1md-sod-fw-17-4919

FOR SALE EN BLOC REAL ESTATE—Brokers who want to make big money honestly and quickly should secure the balance of my sub-division. 125 lots, best low price lots obtainable, more than 50 sold. Apply T. Hurley, 332 Hunter Street. 3d fow-99-5000

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $12 per foot if bought at once.—H. C. Stabler, 350 Water Street.

FOR SALE—4 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Rubidge street 4wf-119-4w

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.
Satisfaction Guaranteed
Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to
R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

A Real Estate SNAP

Lots 37 & 38, block 1, Buena Vista
SASKATOON
$1650 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months
This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro
L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 16 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro 12d-95-4989

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust and wind.
Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.
Painting Decorating Kalsomining
Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.
J. H. VANCE
Further Particulars From
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1295

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?
If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:
Buy a Lot
and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by
J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
434 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

W. & A. KINGDON
Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.
All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Despatch
Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials
Estimates Cheerfully Furnished
Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

A. Brown & Co.
408 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourist's both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
2m-98

Might & Taylor
376 Water St. Phone 99
Real Estate and Insurance
Lots on George Street South $600 each
$1250.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.
$2200.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT
A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $900,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.
National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS
including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.
Cash or Time Payments
Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Summer Opening

About the tenth of May we will hold our Summer Opening when we will show hot weather ready-to-wear, and to make ready for them we are clearing out the remainder of spring suits and dresses and underskirts. Just now you can get all the latest spring suits and dresses for a fraction of their cost.

Beautiful Silk Dresses that would cost $35.00 to $40.00 to get made, will be cleared out at about..... $19.00
Cloth Dresses, beautiful styles, at about..... $10.00
The latest Suits, fine cloth, with good silk lining at from..... each..... $12.50

Come early while the choice is good. Third Floor.

Millinery

Our Millinery Department with wonderful rapidity has made for itself a most enviable name throughout our entire district. The beautiful artistic designs show evidence of rare skill. Like the picture of a master painter, there is not a touch lacking and not a touch is there too much.

Miss Noble never sinks her art into dollars and cents. She would sooner lose a sale than sell an unsuitable hat. She makes a careful study of faces and figures and thus you can always depend upon her hats giving a beautiful completeness to your costume, and though her hats are in a class by themselves they cost no more than the others.

Millinery Phone 354 Second Floor Miss Noble, HEAD MILLINER

Children's Headwear

Latest effects, ... 25c and up
See our new Mull Bonnet trimmed with beautiful embroidery (2ND FLOOR).... .... $1.00

Music

Everything up-to-date in music.
SPECIAL BARGAIN
Music slightly frayed 7c

Boot Sale

Ladies' Boots, none under $2.50 and up to $3.00, for $2.09

Ladies' Boots, 4 different styles, all sizes, for $1.25

Saturday only

Whitewear

Children's Drawers for ages 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, reg 25c a pair, Saturday only, 2 pairs for.... .... 25c

Children's Knitted Wool Bootees reg 10c to 30c a pair, Saturday only per pair. 5c

Children's Dresses in pretty American styles, full width, kimona sleeve, 2 to 5 years .. 50c
Second Floor

Hose and Underwear

Stockings

We pride ourselves upon our high class Hosiery and Underwear
See our boy's strong Hose, all sizes..... 15c
Ladies' fine thread Stockings in black and fancy shades..... 15c
Our Cashmere Hose is stronger and finer in quality than you usually see 25c-35c-50c

Underwear

Ladies' Vests with long, short or no sleeve, regular 25c for Saturday only 15c
Ladies' Knitted Combinations, regular $1.25, for Saturday only 69c
Ladies' Vests, fine thread, short sleeve..... 10c

Main Floor

New Combs, just arrived, from 5c to..... $3.00

ELLIOT'S

Try our Special $3.00 Long Corset

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"THE trouble with that woman is that she just makes it too hard work of living."

So the lady-who-always-knows-somehow cleverly characterized a woman whose truly marvelous ability to find flaws in the most alluring flawless project, and obstacles in the most apparently unobstructed path, and to create difficulties and alarms and worries out of thin air at any time, we had been discussing.

Don't you like the lady's characterization?

Dont you think it is a very clever description of that large class of people whom we all know who are forever spoiling not only other people's but also their own happiness by this insistence upon thinking up disagreeable contingencies and possible difficulties at all times and under all conditions?

A spring holiday is close at hand. You—a member of a family whose happiness is lessened by one of these hard living persons—suggest that it would be a fine lark for the whole family to shut up the house and go out into the country to L—'s for dinner. Everyone is delighted with this scheme except, of course, the hard liver. While everyone else is enthusing she is silent, and inquiry soon brings out the fact that she does not thing the house ought to be shut up because some weeks ago Aunt Maria said she might be in town on that day and what would she think if she came out and found nobody at home? She will stay and keep the house open. (This class of person is always eager to sacrifice herself for her whims, but the end usually is that the comfort and happiness of the rest of the company are the real sacrifice.) In vain you argue that Aunt Maria never visits you without sending some more definite word. The hard lived person hugs her obstacle to her bosom and the result is, that rather than leave her home alone, the excursion is given up. Needless to say Aunt Maria does not come.

Again this same overworked person comes home from a calling tour quite down in the dumps. The So-and-So's across the street are going to move and she is quite sure that some horrid people will get in there and spoil the neighbourhood. Needless to say the new neighbours turn out delightful people.

On another occasion you find her all worked up because she is so afraid Mrs. M. will misconstrue what she said about Mrs. R. and make trouble and perhaps even make her husband lose his position. Needless to say Mrs. M. never thinks about the matter a second time.

If you go about in a simple, natural way, optimistic way, living is quite an easy business.

But if you really are bent upon doing so, you can make mighty hard work of living.

But please don't.

Truly it doesn't pay.

"The world is all dark or the world is all bright,
Just as we chose to make it;
Our burden is heavy; our burden is light,
Just as we happen to take it;
And people who grumble and people who groan
At the world and at every proposal,
Would grumble and groan if the world were their own
With the sun, moon and stars at disposal."

—Harriet L. Hunting Swift.

Ruth Cameron

YOUR CHANCE

to get Your New Spring Suit or Coat

this season for less money than ever before is at H. Zack's Ready-To-Wear Store for ladies and men.

We offer the latest and most up-to-date lines in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing & Furnishings, Men's Spring Suits and Coats, and Ladies' Fine Suits, Skirts, Waists & Millinery in strictly latest styles, at positively lower prices than elsewhere. You are always welcome here

H. ZACKS

Ready-To-Wear Store for Ladies and Men
522 George Street - - Phone 711

A TYPICAL VOYAGE
A NEW COMER GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS OF CANADA

Story of a Journey From Southampton to Peterborough as Seen by English Eyes---Voyage Was Not Without Its Exciting Features, Including a Narrow Escape From Fouling an Iceberg.

Almost every day, at this period of the year Peterborough is invaded by newcomers from the British Isles, who come to carve out a career for themselves in Canada. The Examiner has asked one of them to give a description of the voyage and his first impressions of Canada. His case is typical of the majority of immigrants and here is what he has to say for himself:

The Allan Line Royal Mail steamer "Victorian" sailed on Good Friday at 5 p.m. from Liverpool, and of the journey from Southampton thereto by train, little need be recorded. Indeed, to say that part of the journey was the most undesirable would not be an extravagance, as it necessitated travelling all night, starting from Southampton West 8.2 arriving at Waterloo at 10, crossing London to St. Pancras Station, where the train did not depart until 12.15. Liverpool was reached at 6.30. The weather and sea on the first evening of the voyage, April 14th, were all that could be desired, but on the second, the 15th, about noon, began the laughable, but lamentable malady—seasickness.

The 16th brought a beautiful morning, which, however, deteriorated until it became very rough with wind and rain. The decks were flooded with spray.

The 17th found an improvement in the weather conditions and this brought some of the passengers back to the deck, where some of the younger of them sang quartettes. In the evening the ship was met by a storm and the huge waves swayed the boat hither and thither. However, the storm abated about 10 p.m., when a number of young fellows met on deck and sang themselves hoarse.

The 18th was a very fine day, an enjoyable evening was spent in the music room, where songs and instrumental solos were given. On the 19th—a very cold day, a magnificent specimen of an iceberg, which was of brilliant colour and scintillated in the sun, was passed about 3 p. m. About midnight the engines had to be stopped, owing to thick fog, and on re-starting the ship had to be steered about 150 miles south, owing to the danger of icebergs in the vicinity. April 20th, brought the Victorian a blinding blizzard, owing to which the day passed somewhat monotonously.

On the 21st the boat was stationary all day, owing to intense fog, but the night proved an eventful one. The ship, steaming slowly along, was suddenly stopped, the bugle sounded all hands on deck, and the waterproof doors of the lower part of the vessel were closed. It transpired that the ship had almost fouled an iceberg, which, however, could not be located satisfactorily on account of the fog.

April 22nd found the Victorian still waiting for the fog, as also was the White Star Liner, Megantic, which could be discerned about a mile away, and the Lake Manitoba of the C. P. R. line. Later in the day the ship was re-started and Halifax was reached about 8 p.m., when the mails were put out. On the 22nd a visit was paid to Halifax, but owing, jointly to the day having been a Sunday, and that the roads were still in a bad state, owing to half-thawed snow, the first footing in Canada did not strike a favourable impression on the passengers, but on steaming up the Bay to St. John, on the 23rd, it was remarked by several that never was such a sky seen in England.

About 7.30 a rush was made for the deck, where the passengers craned their necks and strained their eyes to catch a sight of the place of their disembarkation. Here, steaming steadily round the coast, a cruiser hove in sight. The passengers landed at St. John about 8 o'clock. No opinion of St. John can be formed as the passengers were naturally hustled a little to catch the train onwards.

The voyage, altogether, was an enjoyable one. The ship was full of immigrants to overflowing. Instead of two and four berth cabins, they were four and six, respectively.

Though the ultimate destinations of this flock cover a large area, the major portion of them travelled west, while a goodly number found their respective ways to Toronto and district.

Having now completed the water journey let us follow the train from St. John to Peterborough:

The real journey was commenced about 2 a.m. on the 24th and dawn showed the pines, for which Canada is so famous, flitting past on either side.

The snow in New Brunswick lay in places from half to a foot deep, but was thawing rapidly under the rays of a glorious sun. The rivers, too, had still a thin coating of ice and snow. This, however, became scarcer as the train made its way farther inland. It was also particularly noticed that the land became more and more and yet more cultivated farther inland.

Montreal was reached about 8, where, having lost the train connection, the night was passed, and of this night, it may be remarked, that it was a most satisfactory one. The people were found to be very kind and obliging and in short, everything that could be desired.

The train for Peterborough started at 7.45 on the next morning, the atmosphere of which made a young heart throb with life and hope, and though at all times a long train journey is more or less monotonous, the scenery of Ontario, new and beautiful to the immigrant, was sufficient to interest him to the full. Peterborough was reached about 5, when the first thing met by the observant eye was the magnificent lift lock. On traversing the roads of the City of Peterborough, the spirit of the young immigrant was yet more elevated, and on meeting the residents of this picturesque, clear, and really desirable city, he feels that there is a welcome there which tends to compensate him for the chagrin he very naturally feels on leaving his homeland friends. Nothing better than this can be felt or said, and it instils into the mind of one that there is, with perseverance, a reward in Canada for any young person who is industrious.

HAVELOCK PARAGRAPHS OF INTEREST LOCALLY

Special to The Examiner

HAPELOCK, APRIL 26. — Master Johnny McGill is visiting with his sister, Mrs. Fran kQuinn, Brockville.

Mr. Harry Dowling returned to Toronto Wednesday after a short vacation in town, the guest of Gilbert Herrington.

Mr. W. J. Rose spent Friday last at Toronto.

Miss Barr spent the holidays at her home in Lindsay.

Misses Della and Grace Maidens and Mr. aErle Maidens of Belleville, are the guest of their sister, Mrs. Will Wrigt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Welsh and Miss Lillian of Toronto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cross last week.

Mrs. F. Horusby, of Gravenhurst, is the guest of her brother, Mr. Reg. Brennan.

Mr. R. J. Graham, of Toronto, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Sam McGill last week.

Mrs. P. J. Wright and Miss Aileen spent Wednesday last at Peterborough.

Miss Hutchison, of Toronto, spent the holidays at her home Trent River.

Miss Helena McDonnel left last week for her home at Trenton, having resigned her position on the public school staff.

Miss Clara Dorricott, of Toronto, spent last Monday and Tuesday in town, the guests of Miss Anna Bryans.

Mr. Wesley Hart spent a few days last week with friends in town.

Dr. and Mrs. Kindred were with friends at Toronto last week.

Mrs. Browning has returned from Peterborough, after spending a week, the guest of Mrs. Harry Soanes.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler spent Wednesday at Peterborough.

Mr. Clarence Holdcroft, of Lindsay, spent last week with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Holdcroft.

Master Charlie Thompson spent the holdays with friends at Toronto.

Mr. Herb Barrie, of Toronto, spent Monday last in town, the guest of Mr. W. J. Holdcombe.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E Pace spent last week at Toronto

Mrs. Butler, of Peterborough, spent last week in town the guest of friends.

Mr. P. G. Cromar and children, of North Bay, are the guests of her mother, Mrs. McIntyre.

Misses Floss Jewell and Mary Parks of Toronto, were the guests of Mrs. Stanley Barlow last week.

Mr. D. D. McCombe, manager of the Union Bank, Grimsby, was the guest of his uncle, Mr. J. Brown last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Coon, of Peterborough, spent the holidays in town with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ritchie

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hicks and Miss Essie Hicks, of Toronto, spent the Easter vacation the guests of their sister, Mrs. J. Browne.

Mr. H. Andrews was in Toronto last week attending the jubilee anniversary of the Ontario Teachers' Association.

Mr. Frank Curtis left last week for Lindsay to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Nickle and children, Miss Kathleen and Master Leslie, of Madoc and Miss Gertrude Spurr, of West Virginia, attended the funeral of the late Charles Byron Ghent on Thursday, April 13th.

F. T. P. Lancaster was elected vice-president of the Ontario Association Football League at Toronto on Easter Monday.

Mr. Isaac Barlow and son Reggie attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Buskard at Belleville on Saturday, April 15th. Deceased was a sister of Mr. Barlow.

Mr. and Mrs. eCo. Ackerman and family left last week for Rosamore, Prince Edwards county, where Mr. Ackerman has purchased a farm. Their many friends in town regret their departure, but join in wishing them every success and prosperity.

The License Commissioners for East Peterborough held their annual meeting here on Saturday last.

The Havelock and C. P. R. Amateur Athletic Association will hold a big field day of sports in the park on Victoria day.

Rev. C. W. oHldsworth commenced on Sunday last to hold services at Rush Point school house for the summer months.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Sexsmith in the loss of their little son, Richard H. on Sunday April 16th from an attack of appendicitis. The funeral took place on Tuesday to Pine Grove cemetery.

Contributions have been received for the 'Queen's Maries' from Mrs. Mary Maria Patterson, Miss Dorothy Patterson and Miss Mary Ellen Menzies

Mr. Mofiet, of Peterborough, organiser for the I.O.F., was in town last week on business.

The voting on the by-law to raise $9,000 to construct cement walks throughout the village resulted in a victory for the by-lay on Tuesday by a majority of 93, 106 for and 13 against

Mr. Harry Morrison, of Norwood, was in town on Thursday last.

Among the out of town guests who attended the 'Big 8' At Home were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webb and Miss Lillian Webb, Miss Clara Dorricott, Mr. Alex. Milne, Mr. McGregor and Mr. Wesley Hart, of Toronto; Messrs. Canniff and McLennan of Peterborough, Miss Fry and Mr. oJe Kelly of Norwood, Messrs. White, Gever and Richmond, of South Falls. Miss Florence McWilliams of Marmora and many others.

Miss Adah Holcombe spent Thursday last in Peterborough.

Mr. Wilde, of Toronto, is holidaying at his home in town.

Miss Lynch returned home to Toronto Wednesday after a week's vacation in town.

Mr. Meekle, of Kingston, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. West, Trent Bridge.

Mr. Moore of Peterborough, was the guest of friends at Trent Bridge last week.

Messrs. Wm. and Thos. Falkner spent last week with friends at Peterborough.

Mrs. (Dr.) McLean returned home Friday to her home in Trenton after a week's vacation in town, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Alex. Matheson. Miss Bessie Rose accompanied her home and will spend a few weeks as her guest.

Mr. T. E. Dineen attended the Bankers' dance in Peterborough on Thursday night last.

Mrs. T. E. Pac, of Cordova, was in town Friday.

Miss Gertrude Squires of Norwood, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Squire on Friday last.

Mrs. Alex Matheson, jr., spent Friday at Peterborough.

Miss Josie Hawkey of Peterborough was in town on Friday.

Miss Laura Foley spent the week end in Peterborough wit hher sister, Mrs. Hendry.

A meeting of the Sunday school teachers and officers of St. John's church was held in the Sunday school room on Thursday night last.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Superintendent—Mr. Alex Rexsmith.
Assistant—Mr. C. Ward Butcher.
Treasurer—Garnet Barlow.
Librarian—Mr. Geo. Black.

Miss Day returned home Saturday after spending the week in town, the guest of Miss Mary Seeney.

Mrs. Knox and children returned to their home at Picton Saturday after spending the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Mackie, Trent River.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders and children, who have been the guests of the latter's sister, Mrs. aJs. Black, returned to their home in Kingston on Saturday.

Miss Emily Walton was the guest of friends in Toronto last week.

ECZEMA NOT A BLOOD DISEASE

Eczema is a disease of the skin and not of the blood. For this reason internal medicines have never been a success in curing eczema. Whatever the cause local application is necessary to heal the sores and restore the skin to a healthful, natural condition. For this reason Dr. Chase's Ointment has a world wide reputation as being without a rival for the cure of Eczema.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION

For the next Homeseekers' excursion on May 2nd the Grand Trunk Railway will operate a through Pullman tourist car, Toronto to Winnipeg and Edmonton via Chicago, St. Paul and G T P., leaving Toronto at 11 p.m. Rates, berths, etc., the same as via other route. No trouble with customs, transfer, etc. Reserve berth early from B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, 394 George street.

The Otonabee Council Holds Busy Meeting

The Otonabee Council met on 17th April, all the members present, including the newly elected Deputy-reeve, John Miller and E. Deyell, councillor, who took declaration of office. Four tenders were received for making cement culvers, R. J. Brown's tender being the lowest. He was awarded the contract. Dr. Russell, of Centreville, applied for leave to erect a telep hone line on the highway from Wallace Point to Thomas Thorn's farm gate. Permission was granted, on condition that the poles do not interfere with the grading of the road. The following sheep valuators were appointed, whose duty will be to inspect the injury done to sheep by dogs in cases where the owner of the dogs cannot be found; R. W. Esson, ward No. 1, Andrew Bowie, ward 2, Gilbert Howson ward 3, Albert Carpenter ward 4, F. Driscoll ward 5. The following by-laws were passed, one authorizing the reeve and treasurer to give notes to the Toronto bank as security for money borrowed for current expenses, one appointing the sheep valuators. The following accounts were passed: Walter Dickson, salary for assessing, $75; Dr. McClelland, attendance on J. A. Trotter when in hospital $15; Jas. Bowie, meat for J. A. Trotter, $6.50; Arch. Bryce, milk for J. A. Trotter, $5.00; W. T. Mather, repairing account, $9.25. The treasurer received a cheque for $160.44 Otonabee portion of Provincial railway tax.

It is reported to the Council that John Lang, ex-M.P., one of the public spirited citizens of Keene is going to have built this season, at his own expense, about 500 feet of cement sidewalk in the village. A number of public-spirited citizens of the village some years since decided to organize a Street Improvement Association, concursions and by commuting the village. The association was organized and has been so successfully carried on that by voluntary contributions of money and labour, by concerts and excursions and by commuting the village statute labour a fund was created to carry the work. The result is that the old obsolete plank sidewalks are a thing of the past, having been replaced by neat cement walks, the unsightly ditches on the side of the streets being replaced with drains, one of the streets being laid with twelve inch cement tile, giving the citzens a good outlet for their cellar drains. The streets are properly graded and gravelled and the sides sown to grass, the property owners taking a pride in keeping the sides trim with their own lawn mowers.

Arbour day is devoted to cleaning up the streets and planting trees. The lady property owners contribute money to the good cause to vie with the condition of the streets, the citizens take a pride in keeping their yards and lawns trim and their fences and buildings repaired and painted. The fame of the association has gone abroad, other villages enquiring through the secretary how the association is conducted.

Council adjourned to 25th May to meet as Court of Revision and Council.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

NEATHERLEA.

I dreamt I lay where flowers were springing,
By playmates, round me, danced with glee,
With hearts of joy and full of singing,
'Mongst the woods of Neatherlea.

My trembling eye bedims with tears,
When childhood days come back to me,
And the happy scenes of by-gone years,
'Mongst the woods of Neatherlea.

As I gaze across the distant prairie,
And thoughts fly o'er the wide, wide sea;
Comes the longing little sweetheart to be near you,
And the woods of Neatherlea.

Could I but hear the mavis singing,
Could I but see the flowery 'len,
Could I but hear the church bells ringing
As of yore, in Neatherlea.

Ere I cross that great and unknown river,
Where from pain and sorrow man is free,
One last long look and then for ever
Farewell, farewell, dear Neatherlea.

A Scot in Peterborough

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE

The Members of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O O. F., and visiting Brethren are requested to assemble at the Odd Fellow's Hall at 6.15 o'clock, p. m., on Sunday, April 30th, to attend Divine Worship at Knox Church. The Rebeccas will assemble in the School Room of the Church at 6.45 as usual. 3d-tfs

Extra Specials for Saturday

April 29th

Ready-to-Wear

A visit to our Ready-to-Wear Section on Saturday will convince you of the superior values offered in this department.

SUITS

Very stylish suits made of all wool suiting, coat in semi-fitted style with collar and cuffs of corded silk, skirt made in gored style with fancy band across back holding inverted pleat in place, trimmed with buttons. Colours navy and tan Extra Special Saturday, each.. $25.00

CHILDREN'S COATS

Made of black and white shepherd's check, box style, patch pockets, black silk collar, ¾ length. Extra Special Saturday, each $5.00

WAISTS

Dainty waists of Dresden silk with brown satin stripe, made in kimona style with bands of silk around sleeve and collar, also silk bands with fancy buttons form trimming for yoke Also white lace blouse in kimona style veiled with black chiffon with white yoke and touches of gold trimming. Extra Special Saturday, each... ..... $6.75

SKIRTS

Women's skirts of all wool Panama, gored style, pleated at side gores from knee down, trimmed with buttons. Extra Special Saturday, each $5.50

Dress Goods and Silks

Some exceptionally good items are quoted for Saturday's selling. In keeping with the policy of the store nothing but the most dependable qualities are offered.

BLACK PAILLETTE-DE-CHENE

All pure silk, for waists, dresses and coats, 20 inches wide, will not cut, worth 75c per yard. Extra Special Saturday, yard 49c

BLK. & WHITE CHECK DRESS GOODS

For a useful dress for ladies or children, in 3 sizes of checks, 42 ins. wide. Extra Special Saturday, yard 28c

BLACK FRENCH VOILE

An extra wide width and very even, fine thread, good wearing quality, all pure wool. Worth $1.50 per yard. Extra Special Saturday, yard 98c

40-INCH PAILLETTE-DE-CHENE

In dress lengths & in such colours as navy blue, tan, brown, Copenhagen blue and cream. All pure silk, and a very rich finish, for an afternoon or summer gown. Worth $1.75 yd. Extra Special Saturday, yd..... $1.38

BLACK STRIPE VOILE

Extra fine even weave, with silk stripe, a good fast black, for a skirt or dress for all occasions. Extra Special Saturday, yard 75c

Exceptional Rug Values

Why not have a new rug for your dining-room, parlour or bedroom? The wonderful low prices we are offering will enable you to buy rugs of the best qualities and patterns at a tremendous saving.

TAPESTRY RUGS

Nowhere can you get such values in English Tapestry Rugs as we are now offering. Extra Special Saturday, note the sizes and prices—

9 ft. x 6 ft. 9 in.....	$3.98	9 ft. x 9 ft.....	$5.25
10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft ...	6.38	12 ft. x 9 ft.	7.58
10 ft. 6 in. x 10 ft. 6 in.	7.58	12 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in...	10.25
12 ft. x 12 ft.....		....	11.38

INGRAIN RUGS

Heavy quality of Ingrain Rugs, suitable for any room. Note the sizes. Extra Special Saturday prices—

7 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft.....	$2.69	9 ft. x 9 ft.....	$3.19
10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft	3.89	12 ft. x 9 ft.	4.59
12 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in....	4.99	13 ft. 6 in. x 12 ft. ..	5.89

BIG RUG SNAP

10 only Scotch Axminster and Canadian Wilton Rugs, patterns that we are clearing out as they are designs that are being dropped by the manufacturers Regular value up to $40, two sizes only, 12 ft. x 9 ft. and 10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft. Extra Special Saturday, each $25.00

WILTON RUGS

Fine English Wilton Rugs, in small allover designs, others with plain centres and persian borders. The very latest in styles. Extra Special Saturday—

12 ft. x 9 ft.....$30.00 10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft....$25.00

AXMINSTER RUGS

In our Scotch Axminster Seamless Rugs we are showing an immense assortment of beautiful Louis XV. & XVI designs and rich Persian and Oriental designs, some really handsome rugs. Extra Special Saturday—

12 ft. x 9 ft. $40 and $45 10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft. $35 to $45

TOURIST FRILLING

Fine hemstitched tourist frilling, 2¼ yards to box. White only. Extra Special Saturday, box 18c

BEADED FRILLING

In colours of coral, steel and pearl, frill lengths Extra Special Saturday, frill 25c

BELTS

Stripe patent leather belts, narrow & wide widths, in colours of black, green, navy, tan & red, finished with pretty buckles. Extra Special Saturday each..... 25c

BOYS' HOSE

Good quality boys' tan and black cotton hose, "Wearwell" brand, seamless feet, fast colour, all sizes. Extra Special Saturday, pair.... 12½c to 25c

SUMMER VESTS

Made of fine quality cotton, short sleeves and sleeveless, finished at the top with draw, Extra Special Saturday, each... .. .. 10c

KNIT DRAWERS

Fine quality knit cotton drawers, open and closed style, all sizes, trimmed with lace. Extra Special Saturday, pair..... 23c

CORSET SHIELDS

Sewn inside of corset, protects the steels. They are rust-proof steels, and the ends are protected by metal caps. Extra Special Saturday, pair 23c

SCARFS

Made of mercerized mull, 2½ yards long, with hemstitched ends, in colours of ecru, mauve, grey, sky and pink. Extra Special Saturday, each 49c

KID GLOVES

Good quality Kid Glove, in colours of green, navy, grey, black and tan, wrist length with two domes. (See Window). Extra Special Saturday, pair..... 79c

CASHMERE HOSE

Fine all wool cashmere hose with seamless feet, sizes 8½, 9, 9½, 10. Extra Special Saturday, pair..... 25c

Oilcloths and Linoleums

Contribute their share of exceptionally low priced offerings. The best Canadian and Scotch makes are represented in the newest and best patterns and colourings.

HEAVY QUALITY

Canadian Oilcloth, 2 yards wide, in a big range of patterns and colourings. Extra Special Saturday, yd. 24c

SCOTCH OILCLOTH

Very highly finished, in a splendid range of new artistic designs suitable for any room. Extra Special Saturday, square yard 33c

CANADIAN AND SCOTCH LINOLEUM

4 yards wide, in a big range of good designs and colourings all perfectly finished & thoroughly seasoned, three qualities. Extra Special Saturday, sq. yd..... 50c, 59c and 62c

INLAID LINOLEUM RUGS

Suitable for sitting rooms and smoking rooms, splendid oriental patterns and colouring, size 6 ft. 7 ins. x 10 ft. Extra Special Saturday, each $10.00

SCOTCH LINOLEUM

2 yards wide, for bedrooms and bathrooms. There are some very artistic de igns in this lot in colours of blue, green, rose and chintz effects. Extra Special Saturday, square yard 60c

Staple Department Offerings

Splendid qualities at sharply reduced prices will prove a big inducement to thrifty housekeepers to supply their wants on Saturday.

ENGLISH GALATEA

Good heavy quality of English Galatea, in colours of plain blue and blue and white stripes, a splendid wearing material, suitable for boys' wear. 36 inches wide. Extra Special Saturday, yard..... ..... 21c

TOWELS

Pure linen huck bedroom towels, hemmed, with damask border, very absorbent quality Extra Special Saturday, pair..... .. .. 35c

WHITE COTTON

Extra good value in full bleached cotton, suitable for general household use, 36 inches wide. Extra Special Saturday, yard 7c

GLASS TOWELLING

All linen glass towelling, excellent drying quality, red and blue check. Extra Special Saturday, yard..... .... 5½c

APRON LAWN

With tucks and hemmed, fine even weave, 36 inches wide Extra Special Saturday, yard..... 15c

NOW is the Time to have a House Demonstration

RICHARD HALL & SON

of the King Edward Vacuum Cleaner

SPLENDID CONCERT AT BRIDGENORTH WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Conservatory orchestra and a number of other artists from the Conservatory of Music, gave an enjoyable concert at Bridgenorth under the auspices of the C. O. F. last night. There was a very large attendance. The programme was as follows:

March—Rapax Band .. .. Sweeley
Barn Dance ..... Kerry Mills
Vocal—Isle of Dreams .... S. Adams
Mr. Gordon Wright.
Piano Duet—Il Trovatore ....Verdi
Misses McGill and Hawley
Reverie—Sicilian Chimes ..... Kerry
Conservatory Orchestra
Reading—Miss Katie Leary.
Vocal—Mr. Asa Huycke.
Piano Solo—Miss McGill.
Scotch Selection—Thistle .... Langy
Conservatory Orchestra
Vocal—Down the Vale ..... Meir
Mr. Gordon Wright
Violin—Mr. Wm. Wilson.
Reading—Miss Katie Leary.
Vocal—Mr. Asa Huycke.
Cornet Solo—Walter Hughes.
March—Under the Double Eagle ..
Orchestra

POST CARD COLUMN

CANADIAN PECULIARITIES.

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—Are Canadians a loose-living people? Is the matrimonial state an exception? Is it singular for parents to both bear the same surname? I am moved to these enquiries by the insistent way in which when the doings of any of the younger set in what is evidently your "high society" are chronicled, the full names of both parents are given. Thus, in the case of a wedding, for instance, we are informed by the society reporters that on such and such a date such and such a church was crowded by a most fashionable gathering to witness the nuptials of Miss Ethelinda, daughter of Mr. J. de Tomkyns Smith and of Mrs. de Tomkyns Smythe, etc., the natural inference from which is that there would not have been anything unusual had Miss Ethelinda been the daughter of Mr. Tomkyns Smythe and Mrs. Johnson de Buggins, or some other lady whose name was not that of the paternal parent.

It is a curious thing, too, that you don't seem to have any "homes." I don't mean orphans' homes or old men's homes, or that sort of thing, but family homes, where father, mother and children live together, like we have in the Old Country, don't ye know. Your children, judging from the announcements in the columns under the head of "Society," when they go away to school in other places, lose their homes altogether as, when they come back for holidays at Christmas, or Easter, some such announcement as this appears: Miss Belinda de Snooks, who is attending school in Toronto, is spending a few days in town "the guest" of her parents, Mr. H. de Snooks and Mrs. de Snooks (note the care taken here also to make it clear that the maternal parent's name is the same as that of the father). And when the announcement of the arrival of a baby is made in the press great care is taken to give the mother a share of credit in the event by the statement that a boy or girl, as the case may be, was born on such a date to Mr. and Mrs. De Kydd. Really some of your Canadian customs are awf'ly funny. What!—DESPISED ENGLISHMAN.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

Editor Post Card Column.

Sir,—There appeared an editorial in the Examiner of April 26, pointing out the unfairness of Peterborough people trading with mail order houses and large merchants of other cities, but the good Editor did not touch upon the cause of it; but, like the breakfast-food man, I believe 'there's a reason.' During my eighteen months' residence in Peterborough I have seen more incivility on the part of clerks and managers of stores here than I ever saw anywhere, and I have traded with merchants in several different States in New England. As an example I will cite one or two cases where this incivility has, to my mind, gone to extremes: Some months ago I purchased some screen doors and windows of a local hardware house, and two days after the time promised for delivery, called the firm up on the 'phone, asking why the doors had not been delivered and was answered that if I did not like the way they used me I could come and get my money! Needless to say, I cancelled the order and bought elsewhere. But my last, and worst experience happened this week when, after purchasing house furnishings of a well-known George-Street merchant, and phoning him when I found they were not likely to be delivered, I was told that they would be delivered that afternoon, but as they did not arrive I called him again the next morning, and was told that they had gone astray; so I went to the store that a.m., and, to my surprise, saw the very article I purchased in the store, and when I enquired as to the reason for not delivering the goods the head of the department never made a reply, but turned away from me. I then saw the merchant himself and told him that Mr. —— would not give me any satisfaction, but was told by him that Mr. Blank had entire charge of buying and selling in that department. Now, while advertising an article at a price that you do not intend to sell it at, may be "business," to my mind it is very small business, and will eventually prove a boomerang to the man that employs such tactics. The man who buys and pays for what he does buy is under no obligation to the seller, and the merchant who considers it a favour to sell to you is bound to "get his" from the mail order houses sooner or later. I fail to see why it is that the clerks here consider themselves above the workman and mechanic any more than they do in the 'big' stores in Boston and New York. But, perhaps some of the native Post Card Column writers can give us some light on that point, for again I think "there's a reason."

Now, I trust the readers of the Examiner will not think that I have come to Peterborough to find fault with Canadian customs and things generally, for such is not the case. There are many things here that excel, by far, those in New England cities, as a rule, the most prominent being the beautiful sidewalks, straight laid out streets, and bright and well-kept stores. But in regard to civility amongst the clerks I must say it is a rarity. And in the future I will be inclined to take a chance with the "rat-crowned" girls' selection and at least be spared the humiliation of being insulted for daring (?) to give a Peterborough clerk the trouble of selling me an article.

Sincerely yours,
A RAMBLER.

It Grows Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store, The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

FIRE AT LAKEFIELD

The home of Mr Frederick Amys, night operator for the Bell Telephone Co., Lakefield, had a narrow escape from being burned Wednesday night as the result of a fire breaking out in an old icehouse from a pile of grass and leaves which was being burned near the building. The total damage would not exceed $300. Mr. Amys had set fire to the pile of rubbish and had gone away and left it, thinking that it would be all right, and when he came back a short while afterwards, he found a fence and the ice house in flames. An alarm was sent in to the Lakefield Fire Brigade, and this was responded to after a great deal of trouble, as the home of Mr. Amys is outside the corporation of Lakefield. There were a number of old sheds and outbuildings around the spot and these were burned. By the heroic efforts of the Fire Brigade the house and barn were saved. The house was on fire several times at the back, but was not damaged to any great extent.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

A Word to Housekeepers About

Wall Papers

For Bed rooms, dainty patterns in a great variety of designs from 10c per roll up.

For Dining Rooms, splendid assortment of the much wanted brown and green colourings, figured, striped and plain effects.

For Halls, plain and embossed effects, also novelties in leather effects.

For Parlors and Libraries, our range is very comprehensive, delicate combinations or chintz, elaborate floral designs, white and gold effects, with pretty backgrounds.

It's a pleasure to show you for one room or a large house

The

Peterborough Bookstore

Trebilcock Bros., 419 George Street, Phone 285

"Ad"

It's the Goods Behind the That Makes Satisfaction

It's the satisfied customers who come back again and again that make our business good. Every Suit, Overcoat, Hat and every item in Men's Furnishings we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction or we "make good." We hope to get your business and Keep It by progressive business methods, sheer force of dependable merchandise and fair, We hope to get your business and Keep It by Don't let anything detain you from getting your new Spring clothes now.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING THAT MEN AND BOYS WEAR

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons

364 George Street

SATURDAY BUYING MEANS BIG SAVINGS. WATCH FOR THE LABELLED SNAPS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT—ON EVERY FLOOR

Money Saved Is Money Made

WATCH FOR THE GREEN PRICE CARDS

Saturday Snaps

Wall Papers in New Ideas

News Items from the Shoe Section

$2.50 Low Shoes 1.87—Pretty dongola blucher oxfords, dainty ankle strap patent pumps and smart patent blucher oxfords—three new spring lines; worth $2.50 pair. All on sale for one day only; Saturday 1.87

New $3.50 and 4.00 Low shoes 2.87—A fine selection of stylish footwear for women, in patent and dull calf, two straps and tie oxfords, also a line of cravenette pumps—an assortment that will satisfy any demand; all sizes; regularly $3.50 and $4. Saturday Snap 2.87
(SHOE SECTION—SECOND FLOOR)

New Summer Underwear and Hosiery at "Snap" Prices

2 Undervests for 25c—25 dozen of exceptional value in women's Summer Undervests; pure bleached, fine close ribbed garments, trimmed at neck and with or without sleeves. Saturday Snap..... 2 for 25c

Embroidery Lisle Hose 29c—New embroidered Lisle Hose in colours, including: mauve, pink, grey and champagne also black; good quality German Lisle, Louis Hermsdorf dye; sizes 8½ to 10. Saturday Snap, pair..... 29c
(MAIN FLOOR LEFT)

Buy Ready-to-Wear Garments Saturday & Save

Saturday must be a record selling day in our Garment Section. It will be; Newness and Price attractions will make it so. Everything is displayed for easy seeing.

See our Display of Dresses

PRETTY SUMMER DRESSES—Some of the prettiest, daintiest of dresses that we have ever had the pleasure of showing our patrons—all the latest shadings and trims in lingerie, silk and the heavier fabrics, prices moderately low, some very low

$1.00 and 79c WAISTS FOR 59c—This lot of waists is a clean-up of several lines which formerly sold at 79c, 85c and $1.00, some even higher; almost every size is here. Saturday Snap Price..... 59c

Special Sale of Women's Skirts

We advertised Wednesday that we were going to offer a number of high grade cloth skirts at a much reduced price for the three days only—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. These skirts are practically the cream of our stock as they were our best selling lines which have been sold out but one or two. They must be sold this week hence the extremely low price—Sale ends Saturday night. $8.00 skirts in venetian, voile, panama and vicuna for only $4.95 $12.00 to $15.00 skirts in chiffon panamas, venetians and voiles, etc., for only..... 7.85

Sensational Suit Sale Saturday---$30, $27, and $25 Suits for $13.95

We have had a remarkable suit selling season and stocks are getting some what broken. We have decided to sell 25 high priced suits Saturday at a fraction of their real value. Every colour is represented and almost every size. Every suit is high grade, but as a special inducement to clear these out completely Saturday, we will do alterations free at this ridiculously low price—See these suits early Saturday. Extra Special for one day only..... $13.95
(SECOND FLOOR)

Interesting Snaps for Saturday Buyers

Dollar Colored Quilts 79c—A quilt that is used extensively by summer cottages and campers, also used for ordinary bed wear—a large double bed size with fringed borders, colour combinations of blue and white, and pink and white. Very special dollar value. Saturday Snap..... 79c

20c Art Cretonnes 14c—A table of Art Cretonnes for curtains and upholstery purposes; 32 and 34 inches wide, mostly odd lines, but all in good color combinations; regular stock prices 18 and 20c. Saturday Snap, per yard..... 14c

Toweling Remnants—a Snap—Remnants in lengths from 2 to 5 yards in crash and tea towelling; all mill lengths bought direct and marked by the end at specially low prices for quick clearance as a..... Saturday Snap
MAIN FLOOR RIGHT

Fast Colour Prints 9c—14 pieces of our special fast colour prints in light and dark grounds, stripe, spot and figured patterns, 31 and 32 inches wide. Saturday Snap, yard..... 9c
MAIN FLOOR RIGHT

40c Foulards 29c—New designs and the best shades. This fashionable cool and dressy cloth will wear and wash well in summer dresses or waists. Comes in very stylish patterns and new shades, regularly 40c. Saturday Snap..... 29c
MAIN FLOOR REAR

A Few Extraordinary Specials in Dress Goods

75c Panamas 59c—We have full selling control of the Lawrus Panamas for this city. They are guaranteed absolutely fast dyes, beautiful rich shades and permanent finish. They include all the latest and most fashionable shades, such as: king blue, Paris tan, brown, navy, green, cream and black. The best 75c quality will go on sale Saturday in our daylight dress goods department at, per yard..... 59c

French Wool Voiles 50c and 75c—Two lines of French Wool Voiles, something you will want for the hot summer days. They make a dress that will be durable cool and stylish. Never before have we had so representative a showing as we have now; rose, shell pink, Paris tan, brown, champagne, fawn, grey, king and navy blue, cream and black, 44 inch width for 75c; 40 inch width; just a little lighter weight at, per yard..... 50c

Saturday Snaps in the Stationery Section

Pound Package Writing Paper 21c—100 pound-packages of "Cressman's" Imperial Linen Note Paper—5 quires in a package; the biggest snap our department has ever offered; the usual price is 10c per quire. Saturday Snap, per package 21c

Three Two-Hour Specials Saturday Morning 8:15-10:15

Early Riser No. 1

79c to $1.00 ALLOVER EMBROIDERIES 49c—About 230 yards of 24 and 27 in. fine Swiss allover embroideries, the fabric in big demand this season for kimona blouses, dresses or blouse frontings, all extra fine quality goods that were priced at 79c to $1.00 yard. Positively for two hours only, Saturday morning 8:15-10:15 no phone orders, per yard..... 49c
See Window

Early Riser No. 2

40 INCH 15c VICTORIA LAWN 6½c—25 pieces of 40 inch English victoria lawn in an extra good quality—a material that is especially useful at this season of the year for dresses, undergarments, waists, etc., very smooth round thread without blemishes in the weave. Regular 10c value, for two hours only Saturday morning, 8:15 to 10:15 at per yard (no phone orders)..... 6½c
Limit of 15 yards to a customer

Early Riser No. 3

$1.39 UNDERSKIRTS FOR 89c—For two hours only Saturday morning we are going to give our early customers a chance to buy underskirts at a ridiculously low price. We have taken 6 doz (72) new mascot sateen underskirts. This is a very soft brilliant finished cloth, never sold under $1.39 to $1.50 and will offer them for two hours only Sat. morning 8:15 to 10:15 at only 89c
Limit—No more than 3 to a customer. See window

Imperial Linen Envelopes 7c
Envelopes to match the above line of note paper, worth 10c package. Saturday Snap..... 7c
MAIN FLOOR CENTRE

DEPARTMENT STORES
Cressman's
385 387 389 George Street

Lang Items Of Interest

Special to The Examiner.

Lang, April 26, 1911.—Mr. Robert Wood visited his neighbor, Mr. A. Keitel on Thursday last.

Miss Maggie Eason spent a couple of days last week at the home of Mr. William Fife.

Miss Jennie Davidson was the guest of Miss Janet Steitel on Thursday.

Mrs. S. Armstrong made a short call to the village on Thursday.

Miss Jennie Carey, Peterborough, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. George Carey.

Miss E. Armstrong has returned to the city after spending a month with her mother.

Miss Lina Eason has returned to Toronto after spending the Easter holidays at her home.

Mr. A. Keitel has about completed Mr. A. Bowie's driving shed.

Mrs. John Dimsdale, Jr., spent Saturday in the city.

Mr. Andrew Brown, Peterborough, passed through the village on Sunday with his auto.

Mr. G. Gaul and Miss J. Lang passed through the village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Keitel Sunday.

Miss Annie Spiegs has returned to Orillia after spending two weeks with friends in vicinity.

School has commenced again after Easter Holidays with Miss McKenzie of Prince Edward Island as teacher.

Miss J. Eason was the guest of Mrs. R. A. Eason, Monday.

Miss Maggie Shearer and Willis Whitbeck were the guests of Mrs. M. Shearer on Sunday.

BIGGEST EGG OF ALL

The East City boasted through an enthusiast speaking yesterday, that that district of Peterborough produces the prettiest girls and the biggest eggs. While the first claim is disputed in some quarters, the second claim establishes itself by the production of the egg. Mr. Roland Tivey, 137 Stanley avenue, E. C., has two hens of the Black Minorca strain, which are addicted to laying eggs that can appropriately be called of the White Majorca strain. One of these eggs, left with the Examiner, is an egg that, so far, in the matter of measurement and weight, tops the list. It measures in diameter transverse and conjugate respectively, 6 3-4 and 8 3-4 inches, and its weight is four and a half ounces.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

No farce comedy ever produced in the English language ever had the vogue accorded to "The Private Secretary." Americans took the play with the same joy as the Britishers, for five years it was the craze of both countries, but of the generation of that period, two decades ago, every body had seen it. It has now been revived again in London, and, though old, is a new sensation. Mr. D. A. Bonta has secured the American rights, and with a company composed mostly of Londoners, who have appeared in the play, will give a perfect presentation of the wonderful comedy at the 'Grand' to-morrow, matinee and evening.

"THE MAN ON THE BOX"

"The Man On The Box," to be presented at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday next, is one of the most delightful plays of the present day. Bubbling over with high-class comedy, at times bordering on melo-drama, then with a touch of pathos, to be followed with a scene of exceptional strength, is a brief outline of this most enjoyable play.

The plot of the play revolves around Lieut. Robert Worburton, a young army officer, who, returning from a trip abroad, falls in love at first sight with the daughter of Col. Annesley, who, unknowingly to him, is his sister Nancy's dearest friend. To play a practical joke on his sister, he shaves his beard, borrows a livery, bribes the coachman, and supposedly takes his place on the box of his sister's carriage, thinking to drive her home from a ball at the British Embassy, and at the end of the drive frighten her by jumping down from the box, and giving her a good, sound, brotherly kiss. He makes a mistake in the carriage number, however, and instead of driving his sister home, drives the carriage containing Miss Annesley, who, in the end, receives the kiss intended for Nancy. Not knowing him, disguised as a coachman, and without his beard, she has him arrested, and the first act opens in the police court, where he is on trial. It is there Miss Annesley first recognises Worburton as the man with whom she crossed on the steamer, but as he has given a fictitious name, that of "James Osbourne," she does not know that he is Nancy's brother. However, to punish him, and place him in a more embarassing position, she pays his fine, and engages him as her groom.

While numerous funny incidents are arising continually as the result, a more serious aspect runs through the play, and that is the bankruptcy of Colonel Annesley, who has resolved to sell secret plans of his country's (America's) fortifications to Count Karloff, a Russian, who had advanced $20,000, in order to retrieve his losses. The Count wishes to gain the hand of the Colonel's daughter, and offers to return the plans if the Colonel gives his consent to the alliance, otherwise he will expose him to his own War Minister. At the critical moment the groom 'James' snatches the plans from the Count's hands and saves the situation. The Count forecloses his mortgage which is promptly taken up by 'James,' whose identity with Lieutenant Worburton is then discovered by the Colonel's daughter. Explanations and declarations of love ensue and the curtain ultimately rings down upon a happy young couple and everything ends well.

"The Very Best" Hardwood, Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Coal Co., Limited

FUR STORAGE

We would strongly advise you to let us send for your Furs for insurance against Moths and Fire.

Our Charges are Moderate. Phone 726

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter
366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, SAT., APRIL 29th
MATINEE AND NIGHT
The Greatest of of all Farce Comedies
"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"
By William Gillette
An All Star English Company, with C. JAMES BANCROFT as the Rev. Robert Spaulding as played by him over 2000 times in England.
PRICES—Evening, $1.00, 75c, 50c, & 25c. Gallery 25c.
Matinee, 50c 35c 25c Seats now on Sale

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd
Meade Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN
—IN—
The Best of American Comedies
THE MAN ON THE BOX
From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Special Cast and Production
Prices—25-35-50-75 & $1.00 Seats on Sale Monday

¶ In homely, hard-hitting English we print and give a guarantee certificate with every Semi-ready suit. And that guarantee means every word it says just as you understand it.

¶ There's no excuse for the man who says: "That suit did not give satisfaction." It's his own fault. We can and will make every Semi-ready suit give satisfaction.

It's in the pocket.

Too frequently we meet men who say they bought a Semi-ready suit, and careful enquiry shows they bought a counterfeit. Look for the label always. Get the habit of looking, no matter whether you buy here or elsewhere. Make sure and certain.

Suits and Overcoats at $15, $20, $25, and at $18, $22.50 and $30.

Semi-ready Tailoring
Cressman's

KODAKS

We have a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Amateur Photographic Supplies.
Any size film developed for 10c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST
(AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH)

THE GOLDEN KEY

A Short Story

"I suppose no one is ever satisfied in this world. Heigh, ho!" sighing. "I certainly am not." and Estrella Bonham lay back with a peevish movement of her little dark head, amongst the luxurious cushions of her hammock. "Nothing pleases me. I'm irritable and contentsome. Why do you not hate me, Lena?"

"Because—" Lena looked up, smiling, from her work,—"I have many good reasons for doing the contrary. You exaggerate your faults, dear. But you do want occupation and interest, Estrella. Why don't you sit up and do something useful?"

The hammock swung backwards and forwards in the breeze, its swinging increased by Estrella's impatient movements.

"I hate useful work," she cried petulantly, her eyes flashing. "What's the good of being rich if one has to go on doing useful work?"

Lena smiled, but her sweet face flushed slightly.

"I'd rather work my fingers to the bone," she said quickly, "than wear my heart out with boredom and the ennui of idleness. In your place, Estrella Bonham, I'd be ashamed of myself."

Estrella sprang up, and slipped out of the hammock.

"No, you wouldn't." She ran over to Lena and sat down on the grass by her side. "If you were me, you'd just do as I do. No," raising her head quickly, "don't interrupt me. 'Tis true—for I—I have no spirit," clenching her fists, "nor courage—I'm—weak and worthless."

"Estrella!"

"Call me Polly, Lena. That was my name long ago. 'Tis only a fancy of Mother's, since riches came our way, to call me Estrella. She once read a novel, poor dear, in which the heroine, of that name married a duke. But I," sighing heavily, "like Polly best. It reminds me of happier days."

"You're an odd girl, Estrell—Polly. Most people would say that you had everything in the world to make you happy. You possess the golden key."

Estrella clasped her hands round her knees, and murmured low.

"If one should give me a heart to keep,
With love for the golden key—"

She paused abruptly, her soft, young face grew hard; the corners of her pretty mouth drooped sadly.

"No, Lena," she whispered, "I lost the golden key to happiness when my father found that he had made a fortune. For wealth, as I have proved, is not the key to bliss, but love. And I," flinging her arms above her head, "had the key in my possession once—and recklessly threw it away. Listen; Lena, and I will tell you all about it. That is"—her colour deepening—"if you care to hear."

"My dear, yes. If"—softly—"it will not hurt you to tell it?"

"Hurt me? Oh! no"—sighing—"it will be a relief. You are sympathetic, Lena. So here is my little tale. In the days gone by, we led an easy-going life—without ambition. We were neither rich nor poor—and we were happy. Next door to our home, Dover Villa, in Norwood, lived a family of our own standing. We were all friends. But the eldest son" —a wave of crimson swept over her sweet face—"and I—most of all. Frank was tall. No, I won't describe him—'tis enough to say, that he was very dear to me. My happiest hours were spent in his company. A visit to the Crystal Palace—a walk through the fields with him was joy. Some day—nothing definite had been said—but we knew that our dream"—softly—"was to live and die together. Then, if you will, I possessed the golden key. But all suddenly changed. Father grew rich—mother ambitious, and I—fell in with her plans and for a time quite lost my head. I was cold and horrid to Frank—made him feel my superiority—showed him I was not for him. Sore and sick at heart, he left me. We met no more, and I came here, to this fine place, to begin a new life, and look for happiness in luxury, dissipation, and excitement. At first I told myself that I had all that I required. But of late, nothing satisfies me. After you came, dear thing, I was better. Now, even you cannot comfort me. To-day, I am miserable, cast down, wretched. All my thoughts are full of Frank—my soul is torn with remorse, and I feel that I would willingly, and without a pang, give up all I possess and become poor—very poor even, if I might see him and hear him speak to me, as in the days gone by. But now, instead of Frank, Lord Wilton comes and my father and mother urge me to marry him. That is, if he should ask me to do so, for I must tell you, Lena, that, on the rare occasions on which I have met his lordship, he has been polite, no more. But he has accepted an invitation to stay here, and is to arrive in time for dinner to-night. They say that if I am agreeable all will be well—that he admires—likes me—and yet, Lena, what shall I do? Frank is lost to me. Shall I throw all thoughts of love and happiness to the winds and—?"

Lena caught the girl's hands in her own, and pressed them warmly.

"Be true to your heart, Estrella," she cried, "Frank may one day come back."

"Never—never. And if he did my parents would not allow us to marry."

"Then don't marry at all."

Estrella's eyes grew dim and her lips trembled.

"I am not brave and strong, Lena. And, perhaps you hardly understand us all. You have suffered I know. But your life has been the reverse to ours. From wealth you have fallen into poverty. After enjoying ease and comfort in your beautiful home, you have been obliged to leave it, and earn your bread as a companion. But oh! dear, in spite of all that, you have not suffered as I have done."

Lena crimsoned to her hair, and her eyes fell.

"In the old days, Polly—there was one whom I— But—" her voice broke—"I cannot speak of it. Circumstances separated us. He is gone—knows not where I am. And so—but nothing on earth would ever induce me to marry anyone else."

"Yet a good marriage is your only chance of escaping from poverty and hard work."

"A chance that I will never avail myself of. Polly, believe me, 'tis better far to be free, mistress of one's own heart and thoughts than married to one man—loving another."

"You are right, darling. I'll be as cold as ice to Lord Wilton, and beg father and mother not to press me to marry him. And after all they love me and will surely leave me free. But alas! alas!"—with a sob—"that will not bring Frank back to me. Oh! how horrid I have been. How I have fallen away from all the grand ideals I used to cherish—all the noble thoughts I used to think, when I longed to win Frank's love. He believes I am changed—and so I was, for a while, carried away by the pride of wealth and its imaginary joys, that I fancied, fool that I was, would satisfy me. Now, alas! too late, I know better. Ah!" starting up, "here comes mother. I do not wish her to see that I have been crying, so I must run away. And she slipped off behind a clump of rhododendrons, and disappeared, as Mrs. Bonham stepped out of the fine old mansion and came slowly across the lawn.

"I thought Estrella was with you Miss Carter," she said sharply. "Where has she gone to?"

Lena rose up, politely.

"I do not know, Mrs. Bonham. She went away a moment or so ago. Is there anything to be done, that I can do?"

"No, not at present. But I wish you to dine with us to-night, Miss Carter. One of our visitors is unable to leave town till to-morrow, so I wish you to fill the place at the table."

Lena bowed frigidly.

"I shall do as you wish, Mrs. Bonham."

"I am aware," that lady replied, "that it is unusual for a paid companion to dine with the guests in a country house. But this is an exceptional occasion. An empty place is an eyesore—an odd number puts things out. And I want everything to go particularly well, to-night. It may be a great epoch in my pretty Estrella's life. And since you are lady-like and of good family, our friends will overlook your real position in the house."

Lena's heart throbbed painfully. With great difficulty she controlled herself. The woman's insolent vulgarity was almost more than she could bear.

"I must not anger her, and so lose my place," she thought, clenching her fists. "For mother's sake, I must keep it, for alas! my salary is all important to her, just now."

"I trust," Mrs. Bonham continued, "that you have a pretty simple dress, not too remarkable, that will look well at the table?"

"Yes, I have a dress," with a slight curl of her pretty lips, "quiet and unobtrusive."

"That's right. And after dinner, you need not stay in the drawing-room long, but just slip away before the gentlemen come in through the conservatory. And now that that is settled, I must find Estrella. I am so anxious that she should look her best. Well Jones," turning to the butler, who white and terrified, came hurrying towards her. "What is wrong? Have you seen a ghost?"

"No, madam, but," he stammered, "there's been a haccident. The 'oss bolted and Mr. Bonham is—"

"Not killed?" she gasped. "Oh! I trust—pray—my poor husband is not dead."

"No, madam—not that. But hurt—"

"That is terrible. Where is Miss Estrella?"

"Gone to her pa. Flown like a bird to the scene of the accident."

"I must go too,—Miss Carter—Lena—" putting her hand to her head—"for God's sake help me."

"Yes, dear Mrs. Bonham," the girl answered sweetly, and putting her arm around her. "But don't be alarmed. It may not be—so bad. Come," and very kindly and gently she led the trembling woman across the lawn.

II.

At the first word of Mr. Bonham's accident, Estrella sped away down the drive. All recollection of herself, her lost love, and her unhappiness was forgotten. She thought only of her father, whom she loved with a deep and tender affection. As she ran along, with flying feet, her dark hair tossed and blown about by the breeze, her sweet little face, now red, now pale, her eyes dim with tears, her heart, heavy as lead, a tall young man approached her quickly from the entrance gate.

"Polly," he cried: and the sound of his voice fell upon the girl's ear like music. "Polly—I have come to say—You need not be alarmed."

"Frank! You?" blushing and confused. "Oh! Frank! But father is hurt. I—"

"Your father is all right—a little startled and shaken. I hurried on to re-assure you all."

He caught her hands suddenly and held them tightly within his own. "Just the same as ever, sweet Polly. Oh! what a joy to look at you—though you're not for me—my darling. I'm not rich—nor a swell, Polly, but I love you with all my soul."

"Frank—but I"—crimson to her hair — "have been horrid—and — I don't want you to be rich, or a swell, but just only Frank, for I love you—and—"

"Polly," his face shining, "if I dare hope."

"You must—you must," smiling radiantly. "Father will do everything I wish, and so will mother when she understands. We were all a little mad for a time. But we're better, and care no more for swells. Ah! here comes father. Oh! he is hurt. My poor dad, how pale he is." And she ran forward to meet her father, who was walking slowly up the drive leaning on the arms of a couple of labourers.

Mr. Bonham greeted his daughter cheerfully and sitting down on a grassy bank, bade his escorts go on to the house and get a drink.

As they disappeared, the old man looked from Estrella to her companion.

"So you're glad to meet again, you two?" he asked, his eyes twinkling. "Ah! Polly, there are no friends like the old ones. And Frank Stirling has just saved my life."

"Father—Frank!" the girl's eyes were running over with tears, as she gazed first at her father, and then at her lover.

"Yes," Mr. Bonham cried excitedly. "Brave fellow that he is. He flung himself upon the horses and pulled them up at the risk of being severely hurt. So here I am, thanks to him, a little shaken, but otherwise, all right. So thank him, child—thank him for all he has done."

Polly turned and her glance met Frank's fixed in adoring and passionate love upon her face. Her eyes fell, and her lips quivered, as she laid her little hand silently in his.

"Polly—I did—nothing," he stammered, pressing her hand rapturously. "But oh! what a joy that I was there at the right moment."

"Yes. How came you," with wondering eyes to be just at our gates?"

"I came hoping to catch a sight of you, Polly, for," a shadow darkened his handsome face, "I sail for America next week."

"America? Oh! Frank," Polly grew white, "Not now. Father," imploringly, "don't let him go. Tell him he must not."

Mr. Bonham held out his hand to the young man.

"You hear what she says, Frank? Polly's will is my law. Her happiness is the object of my life. And you? Would you go against her—oppose her wishes?"

"Never. But you see—oh! Mr. Bonham, I love Polly. But I am no husband for her—and I am poor—struggling. She is rich."

"If riches don't help us to get what we want in this world, what's the good of 'em?" Mr. Bonham cried. "Come now Frank, don't be an ass—don't leave my darling to break her little heart for a quixotic idea like that."

"Mr. Bonham," Frank's face lit up with a great happiness, "you know I—would work hard and wait—if only—I dared hope to marry Polly some day."

"Hope and wait?" the old man laughed. "Polly, must he wait?"

"Not long, father dear," Polly whispered demurely, her eyes upon the ground, her sweet face suffused with blushes.

"And you'd rather marry Frank Stirling than some rich lord."

"Oh! father, yes! And what's more," with a merry twinkle, "I'll marry Frank—or no one."

"Bravely spoken. Come Frank, put your hand in her, And now. God bless you both. May you be happy. But here comes my wife. So off you go. I'd better break the news of your engagement to her myself."

"Oh! father," gasped Estrella, her hand in Frank's, "mother won't be pleased."

"Not at first," he said gaily. "But she'll come round. I know her better than you do."

III.

That evening, Mrs. Bonham, was not herself. Her husband's escape was something to be grateful for and had helped to soften her disappointment on hearing of Estrella's engagement to Frank Stirling. Such an engagement was the last thing she desired. Not that she disliked Frank—far from it. But she had made up her mind that her daughter should marry Lord Wilton and now, all her bright hopes were shattered. Frank was a nobody. The girl might have married him had they never grown rich, never soared higher than the Villa at Norwood.

"It's annoying beyond words," she murmured, sweeping into the drawing-room that evening, in a red and gold brocade, priceless diamonds in her hair and round her neck. "Just as things looked so promising. But the old man and Estrella don't see it that way. They're full of sentiment and nonsense."

"Oh! Miss Carter," as Lena in soft black net, a bunch of blush roses in front of her dress, glided in, "You look,"—condescendingly, "very nice. You know Mr Lester? He will take you into dinner."

"Yes. I have met Mr. Lester, Mrs. Bonham," the girl answered, and withdrew to a distant corner of the room.

"The child is late," Mr. Bonham whispered in his wife's ear as their guests came pouring in. Stirling lingered longer than he intended. He cannot now get back from the house where he is staying, in time for dinner, but will look in later. Have you told Miss Carter the great news?"

"Certainly not. I am in no hurry to announce such a foolish engagement. But what keeps Lord Wilton? He is shockingly late."

The door opened, and Estrella, a vision of loveliness in pale pink chiffon, smiling and radiant, tripped in, followed by a tall, handsome man.

"I never saw her look so pretty or so happy," thought Lena in her corner. "Has Lord Wilton her fancy after all? But," with a sudden start, and quick change of colour, "am I dreaming! Or can that be—yes it is Stephen Courtney! I never heard he was coming."

Estrella passed on, and Mrs. Bonham stepped forward to greet the young man, who had entered with her.

"I am glad to see you, Lord Wilton," she said sweetly. "I began to be afraid you had forgotten your promise to get here for dinner."

"I am very sorry, but my train was late, Mrs. Bonham," he replied, glancing round the room, "I was delighted to meet Miss Bonham in the hall, as I feared I should be quite the last arrival. But pray tell me," his colour rising, his heart throbbing with sudden joy, "who is that girl in black, Mrs. Bonham?"

"My daughter's companion, Miss Lena Carter, Lord Wilton."

"Pray excuse me," he cried, and before she could speak he was gone, and was shaking hands with the most insignificant person present, the girl in the unobtrusive black dress.

"Lena—at last," he was saying, his heart in his eyes. "Where have you been? What can have happened?"

"Many—many things," Lena whispered. "Oh! Stephen, I am glad to see you."

"Dinner is served, madam," Jones said, throwing open the door.

"Go now, Stephen. You must," Lena cried, with a catch in her voice, her eyes shining. "After dinner you—"

"Your arm, Lord Wilton," Mrs. Bonham said, at his elbow, "I am waiting for you."

"I—I beg your pardon. But I have just met an old friend."

Then, with a lingering glance at Lena, he gave his arm to his hostess and led her away to the dining-room.

Her mind in a whirl, her heart throbbing tumultuously, Lena was a dull companion at dinner. She could not talk. She did not dare to look in Lord Wilton's direction, and kept her eyes resolutely turned away, hoping that he would forget her for the time being, and devote himself to Mrs. Bonham.

"To think that he should be the Lord Wilton whom Estrella was talking about," she thought with a sudden pang. "Ah! well—he and I were only friends after all, and now he is—far above me. Still—I'm glad—very glad to have seen him once again. And oh! indeed, I hope—trust he may be happy."

Dinner was over, and the girl was relieved when the time came to leave the table.

In the drawing room, she sat in a distant corner, hardly noticed by the other ladies, who chattered together

At the sound of voices in the hall, she rose up, and as the door opened to admit the gentlemen, she slipped away into the conservatory. Here she paused a moment, her sweet face full of a great longing.

"I would give worlds for a word with Stephen," she murmured, "but alas! I must go."

"Lena," a warm, strong hand grasped hers, a pair of loving eyes looked at her imploringly. "My beloved! Oh! Lena, stay. My darling, I want you. All these months since I heard of your troubles, I longed to tell you how I loved you, and wanted you to be my wife."

"Stephen!" she gasped, "I—Remember I am nobody and you—"

"A nobody? You? Why, Lena, you are fit to be a queen. Look up, darling, and say you love me."

She laughed softly and hid her face in her hands.

"I love you, Stephen. Have loved you—long."

"And I, sweetheart, loved you the first moment I saw you, but I was poor, and did not dare ask you to share my poverty. Now all is changed. Twelve months ago a cousin was killed in a railway accident, and I unexpectedly became Lord Wilton. At last in a position to ask you to be my wife, I hurried back from Australia—only to find you gone—I knew not where. I was heart-broken. But now, oh! my Lena, we shall be happy indeed."

"Very, Oh! Stephen, it must be a dream, I fear I shall wake and find you gone."

He bent and kissed her softly on the lips.

Then footsteps were heard approaching, and blushing, Lena turned quickly away.

"Oh! You truant," Estrella's voice said gaily, "here you are. Lena allow me to introduce to you Frank Stirling—my Frank now."

Lena held out her hand with a little cry of pleasure.

"I am glad. You are happy I can see."

"I am most blissfully content. And you," with a glance at Lord Wilton, "are happy too?"

"Yes," answered Lena in a sweet, shy voice, "I am happy. Polly, for I too have found the Golden Key."

A Cordial Invitation — Don't Miss It

FORMAL OPENING OF THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE 407 George St.

C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR

Saturday, April 29th

WE have now a much larger and more up-to-date store than at the old stand. The ground floor covers a space of 100 feet by 20¾ feet. This gives us a liberal space to display the large stock which we carry.

PRESCRIPTION DEPT.

We have made a special effort to make this as complete as possible.

Don't forget We are Sole Agents for

GILBERT'S HIGH GRADE CHOCOLATES

Excellent assortment; delicate flavour; strictly pure.

30c, $1.00 and $1.25 a lb.

EXCELLENT MUSIC will be furnished by the J. A. Halpany Orchestra during the afternoon and evening. We have the Finest Drug Store in the City of Peterborough. COME AND SEE IT. We will try to give you The Best Service in the City. TRY US.

Opening Day Specials

Talcum in Rose, Violet, Bouquet, Carnation. Regular 25c. 2 for 25c

Liver Pills. Regular 25c for 9c

Kando Silver Polish. Great for Spring House Cleaning. Regular 25c for 10c

Spooner's Carbolic Disinfecting Powder. Reg. 25c for 10c

Toilet Paper. Finest Satin Tissue. Reg. 10c straight 3 for 25c

Try our Beef, Iron & Wine at 50c. Splendid Value. Good Quality

Musical Programme

At 2:30 p. m.

1. March ..... Valley Flowers ..... Mills
2. Waltz ..... Our Wedding Day ..... Tobin
3. Song ..... My Love .....
4. Reverie ..... Sunshine .....
5. Overture ..... Bridal Rose ..... Laveller
6. Dance ..... La Mascarin ..... Morse
7. Serenade ..... Ripples ..... Prower
8. Intermezzo ..... Zaliah ..... Loraine
9. Valse ..... Daisies Won't Tell ..... Owen
10. March A Good Ice Cream Soda for Miss, Richer

At 8:00 p. m.

1. March ..... Glory ..... Holyman
2. Intermezzo ..... Mapeppa ..... Schwartz
3. Song ..... My Rosary ..... Nevin
4. Waltz (from Faust) ..... Marguerite ..... Gounod
5. Selection ..... Il Trovatore ..... Verdi
6. Minuet ..... A L'Antique ..... Paderewski
7. Rag ..... Spaghetti ..... Lyons
8. Reverie ..... Blossoms ..... Boadlx
9. Waltz ..... Yachting ..... Klein
10. March ..... Loving ..... Klein

Opening Day Specials

Writing Paper in Boxes, reg. 25c 18c. Extra fine 25c value

Talcum Powder 1-lb. Boxes regular 35c for 18c

Syrup of Figs regular 25c for 13c

Celery and Iron Pills regular 25c for 9c

Colonial Poultry Food regular 25c for 15c

Tooth Picks regular 10c for 5c

FREE VARIOUS SAMPLES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED AT 3 AND 8 P. M. FREE

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE, C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR TWO DOORS NORTH OF THE OLD STAND

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the menstrative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

COLLEGIATE ANNUAL CONCERT

In assembly Hall Friday Evening, April 28th. An excellent program by the pupils assisted by Mr. Owen A. Smiley, entertainer, Toronto, who will present an entirely new list of numbers. 4d-15-22-26 28

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Maida Irene Fairburn, who died on Tuesday, April 12, 1911:

Stealthily the black robed Angel
In the shadow hovered nigh,
And our baby's soul has vanished
To its home beyond the sky
Now, the tender bud transplanted
Blooms in Heaven's pure air
But our tears still spring unbidden,
O'er the little vacant chair.

Go to thy rest, fair child,
Go to thy dreamless bed,
Gentle and meek and mild.
With blessings on thy head;
Fresh roses in thy hand,
Buds on thy pillow laid,
Haste from this blighting land
Where flowers so quickly fade.

—A Friend.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

A meeting of the Board of Trade, will be held in the Council Chamber, at eight o'clock this evening, to meet the representatives of the Jules Motor Co. of Toronto and to investigate the merits of the proposition, which they are here to lay before the citizens of Peterborough The members of the city council are especially invited to attend, as well as the general public. It is to be hoped that there will be a large turnout, as the matter under discussion may mean an automobile factory in Peterborough.

T. Q. QUARTERMAINE, Sec'y
1d-99 Board of Trade

Lastar's Old Stand | N. SUKLOFF | 166 Simcoe St

WHERE YOU GET BETTER VALUES THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE CITY

DRY GOODS

100 ends of Factory Cotton, reg 10c for 6c

300 yds of Dress Gingham, reg. 12c for .. 7½c

10 pieces Sateen, best quality in all colors except black, reg 15c per yard for 10c

20 only Bed Spreads in honeycomb weave in white and colors, large size, reg. 2.50 for $1.49

10 only colored Spreads in the very latest designs large size, reg. $2 for 98c

12 only of single Bed Spreads, white only, reg $1.50 for 75c

LADIES' HOSE

5 doz Ladies' Mercerized Cotton Hose, reg. 20c, 2 for 25c

We Must Get the Men's Trade

THIS is the best we have ever offered and we would advise every man to take advantage of our exceptionally low prices.

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best worsted cloth, well tailored in the latest style in brown only, regular $15.00 for $7.50

12 only Men's Suits made of the very best cheviot cloth, reg. price $12.50 for $7.98

12 only Men's Tweed Suits, regular $10 for $5.00

50 pairs Men's Pants made of very best worsteds, latest patterns, reg. $2.50 to 3.00 for $1.49

3 doz Men's fine Shirts newest patterns and colors, reg 75c for 38c

5 doz Men's Working Shirts, all styles and colors, reg 75c for 49c

10 doz Men's Four-in-hand Silk Ties in all latest shades, reg 25c for 13c

5 dozen men's ready-made Ties, latest patterns, reg 35c for 19c

10 doz men's silkoline Handkerchiefs, pretty patterns, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

24 prs men's patent leather Boots, latest shape, all sizes, reg 5.00 for $3.50

24 pairs men's box calf boots, reg 5.00 .. $3.98

24 prs men's heavy working Boots made of French kip, reg 4.00 for $2.25

10 doz men's grey mixed sox, reg 25c, 2 for 25c

10 men's large lawn Handkerchiefs, eac 5c

Ladies' Ready-to-wear

2 doz only Ladies' Skirts in blue, black, brown and grey, made from fine all wool cloth, well made with button and strap trimmings, reg. $4.00 for $2.50

2 doz ladies' fine quality black Sateen Underskirts with deep flounce, shirred or made with small frills, reg. $2.00 for 98c

2 dozen Print Wrappers made of good strong washable print, sizes 34 and 36 only, reg. $1.25 for 68c

3 dozen Ladies' Lawn Waists with front of embroidery and tucks, all sizes, reg $1.00 for 49c

BOY'S CLOTHES

24 only boy's and youth's Spring Suits, three piece bloomer style, made of all wool worsteds, very latest patterns, reg $7.50 for $4.98

Organized vs. Individual Tailoring Methods

Twenty years or more ago, when a man went to buy a suit, the custom tailor showed him samples of cloth pasted on a card, from which he was expected to select a suitable pattern. The customer made his choice, picked his style from the stock plates and trusted to faith and hope and the tailor.

This system, with but few minor changes, is in vogue to-day.

At the same time, the ready-to-wear habit has been developed to a high point of systematized efficiency.

With a complete tailoring organization like ours, we are enab'ed to buy cloth from the mills in immense quantities, whereas the custom tailor buys from the jobber in suit lengths—a very extravagant method, but unavoidable in limited buying.

Visit the Sanford dealer in your town for an inspection of the Spring and Summer styles

W.E.SANFORD MANUFACTURING CO., Limited, HAMILTON

In The World of Sport

Toronto's Timely Taps Turned Trick, Trimming The Skeeters Skilfully

Toronto made it four straight from Jersey City yesterday, walloping the Skeeters 4 to 1 and cleaning up the whole series. The Leafs did not need to work for yesterday's victory, the Pests handing them the decision on several juicy misplays. Killian, the "kithogue" twirler, erstwhile of Detroit, registered his second victory for the Torontos, holding the Skeeters to seven bingles. Five double plays featured the game, three of them were started by old Jake Gettman, the Jersey City centre gardener. Vaughn figured in the two Toronto double killings. To-day the Leafs start a four-game series with Providence, who hold third place in the League race.

A pinch hitter enabled Baltimore to beat Buffalo in the ninth by 2 to 1. And his name was Sadowsky too. The Bisons were in front 1 to 0 and Baltimore had the bases loaded, with two out when the timely swat of the newcomer put an end to the proceedings. Pitcher Stroud, whom Buffalo got from Detroit, was hit on the head by a pitched ball and was badly injured.

It took Rochester twelve innings to beat Newark, but they finally nosed out the Sailors. Alperman's batting was the feature. Newark used Gleary, Flater and Lee in an effort to stop the Hustlers. The score was 6 to 5.

Burke, the left hander, whose wildness cost Montreal the game on Wednesday, unloaded a bunch of the "come-back" stuff yesterday and had the Clam-diggers eating from his hand, blanking them 3 to 0. Providence only gathered five hits.

In the National, the Phillies kept up their good work by beating Brooklyn 4 to 2 despite the fact that Nap Rucker, the Dodgers' crack marksman, was on the slab.

The Giants made it three straight from Boston, beating the Bean-eaters 12 to 5 in easy fashion. The only feature was Bonehead Merkle's long home run over the left field fence, the first since 1909.

Cincinnati broke even on the series with Chicago, by trimming the Cubs 4 to 2, bunching hits with charities for four runs in the second. Kaiaser, Chicago's recruit outfielder, broke a finger and had to retire, the second Cub to be placed on the hospital list in two days.

The Athletics are climbing, Connie Mack's world's champions moving up another notch yesterday by taking the third game from Washington by 9 to 6. They scored eight runs in the seventh innings.

Chicago White Sox made eighteen hits off Pitchers Powell and Pfeffer of St. Louis and won by 14 to 4.

Detroit continues unbeatable, trimming Cleveland 6 to 3 yesterday. Cobb's home run was the feature.

Russell Ford's brilliant pitching allowed the New York team to beat Boston by 4 to 3. The Speedy Boys had only four hits.

The School League Is Organized For Season

Last night a meeting of the teachers was held for the purpose of organizing a Public school Baseball League. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Mr. W. H. Hill.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—Mr. A. Mowatt.
President—Mr. Downey.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. F. E. Kerr.
Executive Committee—The above nam officers and the following: Messrs Par. Richarsdon, Stacey, Roszel and Neil.

It was decided to have a junior and senior league. Any player is eligible to the senior league, but for the junior league, players must be under 14 years of age on May the first.

It was also decided that representatives of the school interested in any games should look after the matter of selecting an umpire. The schedule will be announced later.

Church Soccer League Will Open To-morrow Good Games Scheduled

The opening league match between Park Street Athletic and St. James' club promises to be of first-class calibre All players are in good shape and a well-balanced game is looked for. The game will be played opposite Park Street Church, on the Athletics' ground ,and all interested in the game are requested to attend. Kick-off at 3 o'clock. The line-up for the Athletic team is as follows:

Goal, Rensure; backs, Foster; and Cole, half-backs, Pitcher, (Capt.), Marks, Biddle; forwards, Follis, Toohey Collett, Thorne, E. Dawson, reserves, Mullouney, Briscour, T. Foster Referee, Mr. F. Roberts.

The Y. M. C. A. vs. All Saints clubs play their first league game to-morrow (Saturday) at 2.30, on the Agricultural grounds. As both teams claim to be strong, a good fast game is looked for.

All Saints will line up as follows: Goal, Morairty; backs, Rew and Robinson; half-backs, Hooper, Jones and Dawson; forwards, Curtis, Willis, Abbots, Downes and Hildreth. Spares, Edwards and Bell. Mr. A. Lingard will referee the match.

St. James' line-up against Park St. in a Church League game to-morrow will be as follows:

Leader, goal; Gribb, Brawn; Sandiford, Bleakley, Yates, Curtis, Gash, Turner, Newton, Hotston; reserves, Sparrow, Lee. The team will meet at the C. G. E. at 2.30, prompt, kick-off at 3.

BUCKLEY'S
Union Made HATS Price $2.50
Made in an English Factory and from American Styles

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH,
366 George St., near Simcoe

FOOTBALL

What should prove a very interesting game is the match between St. John's and Knox church to-morrow afternoon on the grounds of the latter on Patterson street. Both teams have been doing good work lately and both are confident of victory. This is the first league match of the church league this season and is sure to be exciting. The teams will be selected from the following:

St. John's —G. Horrell, Edwards, Renshaw, Daves, Simmonitte, Hancock, Smith. Shannon, Copsom, W. Brown, Stewart, Gaskell, H. Lowe.

Knox Church—Calladine, Kellrick, Lewis, A Watson, Plummer, McPherson, Cornwall, Alex. Watson, Sutherland, Cooke, Dixon, Lorimer.

Kick off at 3 o'clock sharp.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Y.M.C.A. will open the out door season on Riverside park on Monday night. The boys open up on Tuesday afternoon. The boys will have the use of the field every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. ' you baseball!

The Y. M. C. A. football team will make their debut in the city church league to-morrow when they meet the fast All Saints team on Riverside park at 2.30 p.m. The following Y.M.C.A. players are requested to be at Riverside park at 2.00 p.m. sharp: Bouness, Flowers, Kerr, Canniff, Richardson, McPherson, Miller, Moore, Tarte, Fitzgerald, Fleming, Loomis, Turner.

STEAMER OTONABEE

now open for excursions. Special rates to Sunday Schools and Societies. Dates are being taken rapidly. Apply at the office of the Peterboro & Lake Simcoe Navigation Co. Ltd, 332 George St. R. PINCHIN, Sect. & Man.

fsmws

MORE PRIZES FOR MR. STRATTON'S HORSES

TORONTO, APRIL 28.—The attendance at the Horse Show last night was by far the largest since the opening of the Show, and it is estimated that over 4,500 people witnessed the different contests. The seating capacity of the Armouries was almost taxed to the utmost and the crowd stayed until the last award was made, which was shortly after midnight. There was more interest and enthusiasm manifested than on either of the former nights, due partly to the occurrence of a runaway and two nasty throws from the saddle, at which points the excitement became intense.

Among the winners were:

Class No. 10.—Amateurs only; pairs of mares or geldings, any height; to be shown to a victoria or brogham; horses to count 50 per cent., and to be practically sound, and with good manners; carriage, 25 per cent., harness 15 per cent., servants' liveries, etc., 10 per cent.; the entire exhibit to be the bona fide property of the exhibitor at the time of entry, and to have been in use by the exhibitor and his family for the purposes intended —1, My Pride and Premier, J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; 2, Conqueror and Conquest, Henry A. Taylor, Toronto.

Class No. 4.—Mare or gelding, over 15 hands one inch, and not exceeding 15 hands 3 inches—1, Earl Grey, A. Yeager, Simcoe; 2, My Pride, J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; 3, Bonnie Doon, Crew & Murray, Toronto; 4, Evangeline, Miss K. L. Wilks, of Galt.

IS FLOURISHING

Duke of Manchester L. O. L. Initiates New Candidates

Duke of Manchester L. O. L. No. 50 held a very successful meeting in the Orange Hall, Simcoe street, last evening, with Wor. Brother Barrie presiding. Three candidates were duly initiated and there were several applications for membership. The Duke of Manchester Lodge is in a very flourishing condition and despite the fact that members have left the city to make their homes elsewhere, new applications that have been received, makes it easy to keep the membership in good shape.

Insanity The Charge

High County Constable Cochrane Makes an Arrest in Smith Township

High County Constable Cochrane arrested a resident of Smith yesterday on a charge of insanity and brought him into the county gaol here. The prisoner, it is alleged, has been acting in such a manner as to be considered dangerous, and it was thought advisable to have him placed in custody. He will appear before County Magistrate Edmison to-morrow morning.

ALFALFA POPULAR

From Farm and Dairy.

The popularity of the alfalfa crop has increased in Ontario this spring as never before. Aggressive farmers in almost any locality one may name have during the past few years grown the crop experimentally. Now they have assured themselves that alfalfa is all that even enthusiasts claim for it. Hundreds of these farmers will greatly increase their acreage of alfalfa this year. Neighbors to these progressive men who have grown alfalfa and to whom "seeing is believing" recognize in alfalfa a money making fodder, and they are going to seed a fair acreage to the crop.

Go where they will the editors of Farm and Dairy have yet to meet a man who has once grown alfalfa in the light of present day information and according to approved cultural methods but has made a success of alfalfa growing. We have interviewed men who have claimed alfalfa to be as good as bran; some say it is better. Most everyone claims it to be much superior to red clover for feeding purposes. The best argument of all in favor of alfalfa is that leading farmers everywhere are growing it.

Many interesting experiences with this crop have been related to our editors in recent weeks. A goodly number of satisfied and enthusiastic growers state that had they not persevered with alfalfa they would today condemn the crop. They encountered some difficulty in getting satisfactory stands until their soils become inoculated with the bacteria necessary for alfalfa, but now they claim it to be as easy—some say it is easier—to secure a good catch of alfalfa as of red clover.

The belief is being expressed that ere many years we all will grow alfalfa as we now grow red clover, and that soon alfalfa will be grown regularly in rotation with other crops, and as it is given the place red clover now occupies the rotation now practised will be lengthened by one, two, or more years as is needed to meet the requirements of varying conditions.

Quite a number of farmers inform us that they are planning to sow alfalfa another year; that in the meantime they will prepare their land for alfalfa. These men on enquiry tell us they make no special preparation for seeding red clover; they simply go ahead and sow it. While it is not advisable to sow expensive alfalfa seed on land ill-prepared we cannot get away from the fact that in thus putting off the growing of alfalfa we are but putting off for a year the increased returns that alfalfa will give. Prepare land for next year's seeding if you will, but sow some alfalfa this spring. If the land be not in suitable shape, prepare it early in the season and sow it later without a nurse crop. Success with the crop will then be more sure than if sown with a nurse crop and a yield may be secured this season.

SHIPPING POULTRY

From Farm and Dairy.

Geo. Marsh, Peterboro Co., Ont.

Hundreds of carloads of both live and dead poultry, as well as thousands of cases of eggs, are sent annually from the western states to the great markets in the east. Many people are at a loss to account for this commodity being shipped at a profit such long distances. The secret of it is, cheap production in the western states by means of alfalfa. The poultrymen in the east are waking up to the importance of alfalfa as a poultry feed, and all the large progressive poultry plants depend upon alfalfa, either in the form of meal or shredded alfalfa for the production of eggs.

In Elmira, a city of 40,000 population, there were four or five carloads of alfalfa meal brought in last year simply for the use of the poultry men. On a large and noted poultry establishment there, the proprietor says that he could not keep his fowls healthy and have them produce fertile eggs in the confined quarters in which they are kept unless alfalfa was the chief ingredient of their feed. Last year he bought over 150 tons of alfalfa hay to grind into meal, and then mix with his patent chicken feed, one of the chief virtues of which is that it has a considerable proportion of alfalfa meal in it.

CHICKENS REMOVE ALFALFA

In the course of my work last season I called on a farmer at Lewis, N. Y., who had several acres of good alfalfa about two feet high, save on a space of about two or three rods wide, near his buildings, that was cut down almost as if a mower had gone over it. A large flock of hens kept on this farm had worked this devastation. I asked the farmer if it were not rather hard on the alfalfa to have the hens running on it. He admitted that it was, but said that it was good for the egg basket, and that was what he was keeping the hens for, and because of that he was growing the alfalfa.

Experiments and practical experience have shown that when hens are fed on an unlimited quantity of alfalfa during the winter and early spring, that a greater number of the eggs than usual are fertile, and the per cent. of eggs which hatch are more than double that under the ordinary method of feeding.

One of the best ways of feeding alfalfa to poultry is to have it cut either in quarter inch lengths or have it shredded, then use it as a litter on the floor of the hen house, when the hens will be happy and busy all day long and reward their owner by laying regularly. A more economical way is to feed it from a rack of wire poultry netting tacked on to the side of the wall.

HOW SOME FOR YOUR POULTRY

All Farm and Dairy readers interested in poultry, will find it to their advantage to sow a sufficient amount of alfalfa as a pasture for their hens in summer, and also enough to provide alfalfa hay for them through the winter. Care should be taken to keep the hens off the alfalfa field until the roots have become well established, since some of the mysterious failures of the alfalfa crop, after it has made a good start, has been due to the fact that the hens found it out, and knew a good thing when they saw it, the result being that the hens would take the whole plant, with root and top, at a mouthful; the ordinary farm flock of 50 or 100 hens will soon clean up a one acre field of newly seeded alfalfa.

We Are in Close Connection With The Best Hatters Everywhere, and The Best Hats Anywhere

—We Specialize—
If You Want The Best
—GET—

BARRIE'S HATS

THEY WEAR BETTER AND LOOK BETTER

Smart shapes for town or country, the city st. or rural lane, for business or for sport.

See our new style Stiff and Soft Hats

1.00 / 1.50 Good
2.00 / 2.50 Better
3.00 / 4.00 Best

MEN'S TOGGERY
OF ALL KINDS
The very newest styles. The very best qualities.
Come in and have a look at the latest ideas in Men's Furnishings Goods

BARRIE'S
LIMITED
PETERBORO - and - REGINA

NEW RULES FOR SECTION MEN ON THE C. P. R.

Since the recent increase of pay affecting section men went into force a new innovation has been adopted whereby each section foreman will have eight miles of track to look after instead of six as formerly. This new innovation will result in the elimination of four sections between Havelock and Toronto. One extra man will also be added on to each section.

The above rules will apply to the main line only; on branch lines, section foremen will be assigned ten miles of track. "Penny wise and pound foolish" was the way an old section foreman expressed his approval of the new rule, to an Examiner representative this morning.

THE HASTINGS FIRE BRIGADE GIVES CONCERT

Hastings, April 26.—Sunday last being the anniversary of the W.M.S. in connection with the Methodist Church the children of the Mission Band contributed the music at the morning service which was very much appreciated by the parents and friends. In the evening the male choir was present and rendered several numbers in a very acceptable manner. Rev. C. W. Barrett delivered two excellent discourses in the interest of the mission work and the collections at both services went into the treasury of the local auxiliary.

The members of the Fire Brigade gave a concert in the Town Hall on Friday evening which was well attended. The program, which took the form of a "Mock Council," etc., was well rendered by the boys, who have spent considerable time at the practises. An interesting feature of the evening was the address given by Chief Howard of Peterborough, on fire protection, which, we consider, will be of great benefit to the local brigade. Proceeds in aid of the promoters of the Concert.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donohue, who have resided in Hastings for some years, have moved their effects to Percy where Mr. O'Donohue has secured a position with Mr. Conrey.

Mrs. Andrew Fleming spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. Fleming, prior to her departure for Western Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Buchanan spent a few days in town last week.

Mrs. Parsons and son, of Peterborough, have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parsons, town.

Miss Dora Howson, of Toronto, has been visiting at her home here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Carter, and little daughter, spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. J. Carter.

M J. Henderson of Peterborough, gave us a call during the past week.

Mr. J. Walsh is holidaying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh. Jack has been absent for a number of years in the United States and Western Canada.

The Fire Brigade, under the direction of Chief Howard, turned out for practice on Friday afternoon and received a number of practical hints.

Master Stanley Stevenson, spent a few days in Dartford, at the home of his uncle.

Mrs. McMillan and child, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carter.

Miss Jean O'Neil of Lindsay, has been visiting under the parental roof.

Miss Evelyn Beavis of Asphodel, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. J. Stevenson, town.

Mr. Wm. Tate and daughter, Edna, have been spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. D. Fife and daughters, Jean and Lexa, have returned from Peterborough where they were visiting with friends.

Mr. H. Murray, of Tweed, has been a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. Murray.

Miss Grace Douglas of Norwood, spent a few days during the week with friends here.

Miss Mahoney has been visiting at her home in Warsaw.

Mr. Hunter of Winnipeg, is spending a few months with J. H. Hess, V.S., town.

The maple sugar season has closed, a fairly good season being reported.

Up-to-Date
Cigar Store

A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from

D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Bodies and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Hats, Hosiery

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
434 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1530

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio
Ground Floor. 170 Charlotte St

FROMI.—Moderate southeast to south winds, fair and warm to-day, a few local showers during the night, becoming more general on Saturday.

ROBERT FAIR & COMPANY, Limited

SATURDAY BARGAINS

FOR APRIL 29th

Pure Silk Foulard Dress Silks, 27 inches wide, regular value $1.00 the yard. Half Price Saturday 50c

Coloured Shantung Dress Silks, 27 inches wide, all new spring shades, regular values 75c the yard, Saturday 48c

Pure Silk Pongee, natural color, 32 inches wide regular price 75c yard, Saturday 48c

GREAT KID GLOVE SALE FOR SATURDAY ONLY

250 pairs PERRIN'S GUARANTEED 2 clasp KID GLOVES in light, medium and dark tans only, sizes 5¾, 6, 6¼, 6½, 6¾, 7 and 7¼, the regular $1.35 quality for $1.00

Linenette Dress Linings at 5c a yard

600 yards of Linenette Dress Lining in cream, brown and slate, the 12½c and 15c quality, Saturday yard 5c

2000 yards Valenciennes, Cluny and Torchon Lace Edgings and Insertions, regular price up to 12½c yard Saturday 3c

Women's Superb Exclusive Spring Suits for $10.00

A Treat Awaits Those Who Visit Our Suit Dept. Saturday
Recent keen buying enables us to offer Ladies' Strictly Man Tailored Suits made from serges cheviots and tweeds, beautifully fashioned garments, styles absolutely correct, 15.00 to 18.00 value, Saturday $10.00

Ladies' Silk Foulard Dresses, Smart Spring Models for $10.00

If you have given a thought to the purchase of a New Silk Frock and had set about 10.00 as your limit, we urge you to see these handsome dresses to be sold to-morrow, Saturday at $10.00

They are 15.00 and 18.00 values

Robert Fair & Co'y
383 George Street LIMITED

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Court of Revision.

The Otonabee Court of Revision will be held in Council room, Keene on Thursday the 25th May at 10 a.m.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149. Peterborough Messenger Service. 345 1-2 George street.

Pure Maple Syrup.

—A few supply of Pure Maple Syrup in just in at Porter S. White's grocery. Use the 'phone, No. 205.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 5 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 50 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carten, C. J. Carroll.

Fire Chief Called Away.

—Chief Howard received a call to Toronto from the Chief of the Underwriters. He left on the 7.42 train via C.P.R. this morning.

Probabilities.

—Moderate, south-east to south winds, fair and warm to-day; a few local showers during the night, becoming more general on Saturday.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Asling wish to thank the friends who showed them so much kindness in connection with their recent bereavement in the death of their young son, Norman Routley.

Painting Lock.

—A staff of men have been busy during the past few days painting the woodwork of Lock No. 6. This is one of the many indications of the long looked for opening of the navigation season.

Auction Sale.

—Auction Sale on Market Square on Saturday—Two Top Buggies, Furniture, Cooking and other stoves; Sewing Machine, Furniture, Crockery etc.—J. Heggart ,Auctioneer.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 215. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 485, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Seed Time.

Time now for planting peas and onions. Call and see our display of fresh garden, field and flower seeds. Dutch and Multiphers sets. For sale at Porter S. White's grocery, 336 George street.

Sale of Home Made Cooking.

The Ladies' Aid of Knox church will hold a sale of home made cooking in the building formerly occupied by the Bank of Nova Scotia, at the corner of Charlotte and George tomorrow afternoon.

Boy Scouts, Notice!

No. 1 Troop, Boy Scouts, will meet at the Armouries at 10.30 a.m. Saturday for outdoor scouting. Examinations will take place for second class scouts, who will meet for drill and instruction at 7.30 in the evening. T. F. Hughes. Scoutmaster.

Classes This Week.

The Georges of Peterborough are reminded that the King George Coronation Fund will be brought to a close. All intending contributors should send in their donations at once. The Georges of the city are not making as good a showing as they should under the circumstances.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19. Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

No. 3 Troop, Boy Scouts.

—The members of No. 3 Troop, Peterborough Boy Scouts, are requested to meet at the corner of Charlotte St. and the Boundary on Saturday morning for a day's scouting to return at 4 p.m. The weekly meeting will be held on Saturday night at 7.30 o'clock sharp in the armouries. A full attendance is requested.—W. J. Miller, Scout Master.

The Base Oven.

For gas, gasoline and oil stoves. You can save one-half your gas bills by using a Base oven on top burner of gas range. Every one guaranteed, made with patent glass doors or polished steel doors, or with oven thermometers, in various sizes, and sold as low as $1.50 up. Call and see them. The F. E. J. MacPherson Co'y Limited, 341 George street.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall case, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1183. W. Theobald, manager.

Open For Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 698 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

Coming to the Y.W.C.A.

Miss Caroline A. Macdonald, Japanese Y.W.C.A. secretary, will be in the city next week and will speak at the annual meeting of the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday evening in the gymnasium Hall. Miss Macdonald is an exceptionally able and pleasing speaker and will give a most interesting sketch of life and work in the flowery kingdom. The public are cordially invited to this meeting.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c. for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 485—141 Hunter street west.

Brass Fern DISHES

12 large brass fern dishes polished and scratched brass finish. Regular $3 to 3.50. On Sale Saturday only

$1.98

See Samples in Window

DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. L. Maynard of London, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. J. Sangster of Quebec, is registered at the Munro House.

Mr. S. K. Boulter of Niagara Falls, is registered at the Oriental.

Mr. Chas. W. Alton of Wingham, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mr. A. C. Matheson of Havelock, is staying at the Munro House.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Shortly and son Douglas arrived home yesterday from a two weeks visit with relatives and friends in New York, Montreal and Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hettenhausen and children, Mrs. Coolidge and Miss Coolidge of Antrim street, left on Tuesday for Fort William, where they will make their home.

Mr. Stewart Lang, 490 Cedar street, is home for the holidays. He is attending Queen's University, Kingston, and has been scucessful in passing all his examinations in second year Science.

WEDDING BELLS

The wedding took place at the home of Mr. Jos. Preston, 216 Reid street Wednesday, when Miss Lillian Montgomery, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Montgomery of Buckborn, was united in marriage to Mr. Evans Blewett, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Blewett. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. H. J. Keith. The young couple who were unattended, will live in Smith.

WEIR—GRAHAM.

The marriage was solemnized in Toronto on April 17th, 1911, of Mr. Sidney B. Weir, formerly of Peterborough and Miss Bertha Graham, of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Weir will reside in Guelph and will be at home after May 15th at 229 Woolwich avenue, Guelph.

ALLEN—MANN.

A very pretty wedding took place this morning at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Mann, 588 Water street, when their daughter, Miss Minnie was united in marriage to Mr. John Allen of this city. The bride looked charming in a pale blue silk gown and carried bridal roses. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. The wedding march was played by Miss G. Moren, Toronto.

The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the beautifully decorated parlour, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Pogue under a bank of lilies and palms. The presents were both costly and numerous, showing the popularity of the young couple, one being a beautiful silver tea service from the employees of Grafton & Co., where the groom is employed. The happy couple left for points east and on their return will reside on Water street, 588.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE KISSING GIRL."

"The Kissing Girl," the new Stange-Bryan-Von Tilzer comic opera, under John P. Slocum management, at the Grand last night, served to introduce to Peterborough play-goers two old favourites in Texas Guinane of "Gay Musician" fame and Harry Hermsen, formerly of the "Royal Chef," a liberal quantity of bright, sparkling music, well rendered by principals and chorus alike, an amg plot and funny situations, a y and well drilled "girl section"—in fact all the elements of a thoroughly enjoyable and meritorious production. Unfortunately the audience was small in numbers, but they made up for this by the enthusiastic reception they accorded the company, the encores being frequent throughout. Miss Guinane is as charming and vivacious as ever and her part in the title role in the new production fits her like the proverbial glove. Hermsen has not such a fat comedy role as the 'Royal Chef' provided him, but he is decidedly funny and makes the most of his part. Tom Whiffen as Fritz, was an agreeable and clever comedian, whose methods were thoroughly pleasing, his topical song in the second act, "A Hair of the Dog that Bit You" being one of the big hits. Louis London, the possessor of a big pure voice won repeated recalls for his singing of the rousing drinking song "Good Old German Beer." Other good song numbers were "Soldier Boy," "On the Boulevard" and "When Love is Like a Rose," Mlle. Vanity contributed some very clever dancing incidental to the Boulevard number, while a feature that was a decided novelty and a thoroughly pleasing addition to the enjoyment of the presentation was the violin obligato provided by the Misses Faber and Devere in the "Love is Like a Rose" song. Both are accomplished musicians and the playing of the latter in particular was remarkable for its finish and mastery of technique. The scenic investiture was up to the standard and the costuming superb. All in all, "The Kissing Girl" is a most enjoyable production.

PROGRESSIVE ST. JOHN.

The citizens of St. John, N.B., have declared emphatically in favour of what they consider the application of business principles and methods to city government. A plebiscite was taken last week, and by a vote of more than two to one it was decided to adopt the elective commission plan, with a mayor and four commissioners, each the responsible head of a department and subject to the double election, the initiative, the referendum and recall. The change will not take effect until April 1912, as a new charter must be framed to replace the present one, which is over 125 years old. At present the city has a mayor and seventeen aldermen, thirteen elected to represent wards and four at large. The aldermen get $200 each and devote but a portion of their time to civic affairs. It has been impossible to get a full ticket of strong men to offer, and there has always been a weak Council with a cumberstone system and no direct responsibility. The Advertising committee of the Board of Trade set the heather on fire. It is the "Booster Club" of St. John. It began the agitation and converted the whole Board to its views. The Board passed it on to a general committee of citizens. Ample funds were contributed, a great educational campaign was carried on, authority to take a plebiscite was secured, and the result was a victory so great as to amaze even the "boosters." Vancouver was the first Canadian city to adopt the commission plan ,and St. John is the second. It was a somewhat difficult campaign, for there was clever and determined opposition; but the young business men threw themselves into the fight with great ardour, and brought out the largest vote ever polled at a civic election in St. John. One or two persons were reported for violating the speed law with their automobiles, getting voters to the polls, but no bones—only the law — were broken. The result of the vote is another striking proof of the new spirit of enterprise and energy that has shaken up the "City of the Loyalists."

Warne's Extraordinary SATURDAY BARGAINS

TALCOLETTA Flesh and White — Regular 35c for 25c

Violet de Lorme Toilet Soap — Reg. 25c per box of 3 cakes, for 15c

BEEF, IRON AND WINE ..... 45c — Tonic and Builder

COURT PLASTER — Regular 5c per package — For 1c

PONSO — Blood Purifier and Tonic — 45c

MACALIN DISINFECTANT — Regular 25c a tin — For 6c

THE WARNE DRUG CO'Y, LIMITED

Choose Your Baby Carriage from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $20.00.

Benj. Shortly
Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

BASEBALL

Baseball will get its first real start in Peterborough to-morrow when the Peterborough Midland League team will have its first workout at Riverside Park at 3 o'clock. All players intending to get into the game this season are asked to be out in uniform.

Sensational Prices on Women's New Spring Suits To-morrow

$2.50 Parasols 1.79

Women's Black Parasols with splendid silk and wool top, 23 inch frame and bulb runner. Good range of new long carved handles and also horn, gilt and natural wood. Special, each 1.79

35c Embroideries 26½c

Corset cover embroideries on fine cambric materials, open designs with beading and a good edge that will laundry well, a dozen designs, a yard 26½c

15c Dress Muslin 9½c

New Muslins for summer dresses in spot, floral, stripe and dresden on white, sky, pink and mauve grounds, dainty effects worth regularly 15c, a yard .. 9½c
SEE WINDOW

12 1-2c Towellings 9 1-2c

1250 yards kitchen Towelling, a clearance of discarded lines of a wholesaler's stock, 18 inch widths and every thread linen, fine, coarse bleached or unbleached in the lot. Regular 12½c a yard, for 9½c

White Lisle Vests at 39c

Women's Vests in fine white lisle thread, neck and shoulders neatly trimmed with torchon lace beading and ribbon. Low neck and sleeveless style only. 50c qualities for 39c

Special Petticoats at 98c

Fine cambric Underskirts with choice of 3 different flounces. One has a 12 inch flounce with 3 rows torchon insertion and 1 of edging. Another has a deep embroidery flounce & the third has a 9 inch tucked and hemstitched flounce. 1.50 values for 98c

Cotton Sheets 48c

White sheets 2 yards wide and 2½ long, made of good quality bleached cotton finished with hemmed ends, for, each 48c

75c Corsets 59c

Women's Corsets of good quality white coutil, in new long model, with four hose supporters. Sizes 18 to 26. 75c values 59c

Prices--Half Regular and Less, the Purchase of Manufacturer's Overmakes

Women's New Spring Suits marked at Half Price and in some cases less, and right at the beginning of the Season! The grandest showing of new costumes we've ever had. The latest and best the season has produced and at prices never before so ridiculously low, and the reason is this;—As everyone well knows the season has been unusually backward and no one has been more affected by this than the Garment Manufacturers who in anticipation of a big and early spring trade made up heavy assortments.

We made arrangements with two suit manufacturers who were in this predicament so that by taking their entire over-makes we secured discounts that enables us to quote the sensational prices given below.

See George St. Window for Display of These Suits

The assortment consists of the newest and most popular spring models made from fine Worsteds, French Serges, Panamas and Sharkskin weaves in a big range of greys, greens, browns, navys and the favourite black and white effects. Every coat in the lot, excepting a few at $10.95, are silk lined. For easy selling they have been divided into three lots as below :—

I.—$18 50 to $22.00 Suits..... $10.95
II.—$25.00 to $30.00 Suits..... $14.95
III.—$35.00 to $40.00 Suits..... $19.90

ON SALE TO-MORROW MORNING AT 9:20

Alterations If Necessary, Will Be Charged For

White Enamel and Brass Bed

One of our better lines, well constructed and has heavy brass trimmings of brass rod and spindles across head & foot with 1 1/16 inch posts, finished with large brass knobs and caps, complete with 6 inch mattress of seagrass and wool and heavy reinforced bed spring. Regular $11.50, only 7.95

American Reversible Art Scrims

In cream grounds woven of heavy scrim thread with interwoven heavy cross bar and printed in bright floral and conventional patterns with double borders, 36 inches wide. A yard 19c

$1.00 Brussels Stair Carpet 69c

English Brussels Stair Carpet 27 inches wide, worsted wool top that will stand the hardest wear finished with neat woven borders on each edge. Fawn, green and crimson. Best A 1 qualities .. 69c

Brussels Carpet Samples 70c—1½ yards long with selvedge edges and ends. All classes of patterns and colours to choose from. Qualities worth from $1.00 to $1.50 per yard. Fringes to match. An end..... 70c

Bobbinette Curtains and Pole 89c

White Bobbinette Curtains made of fine quality washing Brussels net trimmed with 3 inch frill and finished with enamel pole with white silver ends 89c

Window Shades only 25c

Linen opaque window shapes 37 x 70 inches in cream or light and dark greens, mounted on rollers & brackets, only 25c

Brass Extension Rods 2 for 15c

Brass Extension Rods suitable for any ordinary size window, can be adjusted to 54 inches. Complete with white silver ends and brass brackets. Only 2 for 15c

Fancy Wool Mattress

All wool filling and fancy art ticking in colours of blue, brown or green. Edges well sewn and evenly tufted making a very light soft mattress that is very comfortable, all sizes. Reg. 7.50 4.98

AN EXPERT CORSETIERE AT YOUR SERVICE

Women who have difficulty in securing the long graceful figure lines which are the feature of this season's fashions should take advantage of the presence of an expert corset demonstrator in our Corset Department all next week. : : : :

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

THE SEASON'S DRESSIEST MILLINERY IS HERE

Another week end finds the Millinery Section replenished with a showing, more extensive than ever, of attractive Dress Hats and smart Ready-to-Wears, the season's best selections at prices that are right, await you to-morrow. : : : :

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Losts-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th... gladly. Be sensible. ROSE LEAF 10c Cigar—Many Prefer

VOL L No. 100 | 16 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY APRIL 29 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 8 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Last Chance To-night to See
The Musical Copes
REFINED MUSICAL ACT
Introducing
Both Classical and Popular Music
Louis Charette
The Wonderful Barrel Jumper and Acrobat
Comic and Straight Work

These are two acts of high class refined vaudeville that should please everyone. Arthur and Stella Cope are two of the best musical artists seen at the Royal for a long time, while Louis Charette has the latest and greatest single act on the circuit.

Motion Pictures

Another change of motion pictures for to-nights' big picture show, comedies, dramas and educational films. Special feature picture for to-night is one of Pathe Freres latest great soldier love stories entitled "The Lieutenant's Love" and four other pictures.

Special for Monday

The Royal has secured at extra expense a big vaudeville act for Monday the W. T. Goodwin Company, who will put on a comedy sketch "Who is He" They will be at the Royal for three days only.

ADMISSION :
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

PRINCESS

Special New Pictures for To-night

"Father's Birthday Ring"
One of Lubin Co's. latest and best comedy dramas.

"Woman's Curiosity"
One of the funniest comedies ever seen on a picture curtain.

"Between Two Fires"
One of Edison's great War Dramas of the times in France during the Franco-Prussian War.

"Priscilla and the Umbrella"
One of the Biograph's latest and very funny Comedies.

To-night will be comedy night at the Princess, three comedies, 3,000 ft. of laughs, one hours wholesome, innocent fun. If you don't like to laugh don't go to the Princess to-night.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Now is the Time to Bring Them To Us

Before the summer sun gets in its work. Remember every child will be reproduced in the "Christmas Examiner."

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
Always get Roy's famous souvenir post cards

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Just Received—A New Supply of LADIES' & CHILDREN'S HATS

Every one the very latest in style. Our Trimmed Hats a specialty. Come and see the prettiest Millinery in town. You can buy your Summer Hat cheaper here than elsewhere.

SPRING SUITS AND COATS for Ladies and Gents
All made up-to-date in the present day styles.

You will need some new things for the home, now the housecleaning time is here. Come and see what you require in the way of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains, etc.

We will be pleased to show you our new stock. Come and open up an account with us. A small deposit and easy terms to suit your convenience.

432 George St. Phone 567

The Business World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES
Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES
Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON, - President

Accident Department

The Travelers Insurance Company

No. 44358 Hartford, Conn., MARCH 3, 1911.

Pay to the order of MARION DE LA CARRERE

ONE HUNDRED SIXTEEN THOUSAND ---------- $116000 Dollars

To The Metropolitan Bank, Fourth Ave. and 23rd St. New York.

$116000.00

PAID 1911 METROPOLITAN BANK NEW YORK

H P Conklin

The above is a facsimile of check paid on the life of Mr. John M. Carrere

John M. Carrere, a prominent New York architect, was injured February 12th while riding in a taxicab and died on March 1. Two Days Later, March 3

THE TRAVELERS' INSURANCE COMPANY

paid to his beneficiary THE LARGEST ACCIDENT INSURANCE CLAIM EVER PAID

$116,000.00

$50,000 Principal Sum.
$50,000 additional because accident occurred while riding in a public conveyance.
$15,000 accumulation.
$1,000 Hospital and surgical expense.

The Cost is Small
The Benefits Large

THIS IS A SPECIAL CONTRACT EXCLUSIVELY FOR BUSINESS MEN

Do YOU realize that YOU may be the next to meet with an accident—to-morrow, the next day or some time soon? You may be ill. Have you insured yourself against this contingency—your earning power, your ability to work? To get the BEST Accident and Sickness Policy with no ambiguous clauses, clear cut and easily understood, write or 'phone

H. C. HILL, 366 Water St.

Opposite the Bank of Montreal - - - Phone 562

From London, Ont., To Toronto By Motor Car Over Winter Roads

Interesting Description of Severe Testing Given the Harding Car Last Winter---Peterborough Auto Agency Are the Local Agents of the Company---Published Through Kindness of "Canadian Automobile."

The Examiner is indebted to the "Canadian Automobile" for the following interesting description of an automobile trip in mid-winter from London to Toronto. The Peterborough agency, 160 Charlotte street, are the local representatives for the Harding Motor Co.:

The Harding Motor Car Co., of London, Ontario, of which Mr. E. C Harding is president, is now one of the very important factors in the Canadian automobile industry. The Harding "20" which sells for $750, is the product of this company and the first car placed on the market made a hit which is decidedly of a national character. At the automobile show, the Harding "20" created a great deal of interest, for it was a machine which earned every bit of interest shown in it, not only on account of its clever and substantial construction, but it came down to the Toronto Automobile Show from London, Ont., under its own power and driven by Mr. Harding, president of the company, which produced it. The trip was an endurance test of a severe kind, but the machine came through without mishap in spite of the extremely adverse conditions of weather and roads.

Mr. Harding left the factory in London, accompanied by Mr. E. G. Howey, at 10 o'clock on the morning of February 23, and arrived at the Armouries at 6 p.m., February 24, after having covered a distance of 142 miles. Only fourteen hours were spent on the road. The stops were made at all points along the line, including an all night stay at Paris, Ont. The conditions of the road varied from mud and slush deep to snowdrifts ten feet high, and the illustrations accompanying this article show better than words can tell the manner in which the Harding "20" plowed its way from London to Toronto. When the car reached Toronto it was literally covered with a mixture of ice, mud and snow, which conveyed the suggestion of an Arctic expedition rather than a trip to an automobile show, where it came to be exhibited among men and women in full dress.

Between Woodstock and Eastwood.

Between Brantford and Hamilton.

Four Miles West of Paris.

Between Hamilton and Toronto.

Between Brantford and Paris.

Friends of the Harding Motor Co. are now urging Mr. Harding to drive the car to various distant points, including Montreal and San Francisco.

Considering the aggressive business policy shown by this company it would not be surprising if such extreme endurance tests were soon attempted. The accompanying illustrations are from camera photographs taken en route by Mr. E. G. Howey of the Harding Motor Car Co.

The Harding 20, shown by the Harding Motor Car Company of London, Ont., attracted attention not only through its general serviceableness as a low-priced car, but on account of its run through heavy mud, drifts and snow storms on February 25th last from London to Toronto. The 142 miles were made in 14 hours, during which five stops were made. Mr. Harding accompanied by Mr. Howey ran the car on the difficult trip.

THINGS IN GENERAL

The firm of Swedish engineers who have the contract for installing the machinery at the new Electric Power House, paid some twelve hundred dollars duty to the local Customs Office recently, says the Scranton Courier. This simple evidence of the value of the new plant, will serve to remind us again of the really large amounts of money being spent by the Electric Power Company in the vicinity of Trenton. The new power house when completed should be a beauty.

The Port Perry Star says: The steamer Cora brought up her first tow of logs on Friday, April 21st. Last year the first tow came about the 3rd of April, the ice being out of the lakes very much sooner.

The Weddell Drill Scow passed through the swing bridge on Friday and proceeded to the mouth of the Trent Canal to continue the blasting of rock at the bottom of the river.—Trenton Courier.

The Picton Board of Trade will cooperate with a movement begun by the Farmers Institute to boom Prince Edward County by an advertising campaign.

License Commissioners Jos. Rose of Warsaw, Joshua Smithson of Greystock, and Walter Wilde of town, held their annual meeting in License Inspector Williams' office here on Saturday last, and granted licenses to the Burleigh Falls and Mt. Julian hotels.

The new bascule bridge over the Scugog River was informally accepted by the Government yesterday in the presence of Superintendent Engineer A. Grant, of Peterborough, Mr. S. Clegg, Overseer, also of Peterborough and Mr. McGill, representing the Hamilton Bridge Works. There was no ceremony attached to the event, except the looking over of everything and seeing that the bridge worked satisfactorily. Lindsay can now claim the honour of having the first bascule trunnion bridge in Canada..

It is understood the Government intends erecting a similar structure over the Canal at Campbellford.

The ice went out of Balsam Lake on Friday. On Wednesday morning Mr. Henry Merriam crossed Cameron Lake in a canoe on his way to Rice Lake, although the bulk of the ice was still there. It went out that night, however, and the lake is now clear.—Fenelon Falls Gazette.

Speaking of the business of the Lakefield Canoe Company the Lakefield News says: A special canoe is now being built for Mr. George Douglas and party, to be used on an exploring expedition to the Arctic regions. It is interesting to note that the father of Mr. Douglas, Dr. Douglas, a former resident of Lakefield, was the only man that ever crossed the English channel in a canoe.

MOTHER'S DAY.

The Examiner has been requested to print the following:

A movement which has proved a very popular one is that of observing the second Sunday in May as "Mothers' Day," by wearing a white carnation. Although only started last year already it has spread widely. In Canada the sponsor for the movement is W. G. Rook of Toronto, President of the Canadian Home Journal. He is receiving cordial assistance from the press and the pulpit.

In the May issue of Canadian Home Journal there is a strong appeal for the observance:

"The small boy with his cut finger, the tiny girl with her torn frock, make an immediate chase for 'Mother'—sure of a wisdom that will repair the injury even if some wholesome advice be thrown in about 'Not doing it again.' Then come the impatient half-grown years when the exclamation 'Mother is so old-fashioned,' and 'Mother doesn't understand that things are different now,' are constantly heard. But the years, those unhalting years, march steadily by, and we hear the man and the woman, with their own stern problems to solve, admitting regretfully: 'I believe Mother was right,' and 'I wish I'd done as Mother advised me.'

So, on the breath of a white carnation, on the second Sunday of May, will come back the old-time memories with their childish joy and pain. It may bring the keenest sorrow in remembering happier things' or it may be but a badge in honour of the living mother."

A very touching little episode occurred last May in a well-known and prominent Toronto family. On the Tuesday morning after Mothers' Day the postman brought a letter from a member of the family who had been a wanderer and rather a black sheep for many years, addressed to the mother of the group. As that dear old person had been with the angels for some time, the letter was opened by a daughter, who read as follows: "Dear old Mother.—The nurse in the hospital where I am has been telling me about Mothers' Sunday, and I have made up my mind to write to you. I am not long for this life, being far gone in illness, but if you are still alive, I want you to know I am thinking of you on Mothers' Day. I enclose the white flower nurse pinned on me this morning. Good-bye, dear old mother."

There is an interesting account of "Mothering Day," an observance of fifty years ago, when it was customary to visit parents, especially mothers, on the mid Sunday in Lent, taking some small gift. Herrick writes:

"Tis to thee a simnel bring
Gainst thou go a mothering;
So that, when she blesses thee,
Half that blessing thou'lt give me."

The Best Used Exclusively

KRYPTOKS

Are supplied by the best Optometrists and Opticians throughout United States and Canada, and Peterboro is not slow in recognizing that it pays to pay a little more and enjoy the best possible aid to the eye. During the past few years the Optical Institute has supplied a a large number of Kryptok and Toric lenses, and the demand for these better qualities continually increases.

THE PETERBOROUGH OPTICAL INSTITUTE
In the Hickey Building, Peterboro, 242 George Street
Phones: Bell 1253 Machine 7
J. W. Sherwood, Optometrist

NERVOUS DISEASES IN THE SPRING

Can be Removed by Toning Up the Blood, Thus Strengthening the Nerves

Nervous diseases are more common and more serious in the spring than at any other time of the year. This is the opinion of the best medical authorities after long observation. Vital changes in the system after long winter months may cause much more than "spring weakness," and the familiar weariness and lethargy. Official reports show that in April and May neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy and various forms of nerve disturbances are at their worst, especially among those who have not reached middle age.

The antiquated custom of taking purgatives in the spring is useless, for the system really needs strengthening while purgatives make you weaker. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a special action on the blood and nerves, for they give strength and have cured not only many forms of nervous disorders, but also other spring troubles, such as headaches, weakness in the limbs, loss of appetite, trembling of the hands, as well as unsightly pimples and skin troubles. They do this because they actually make new, rich, red blood, which means a return to perfect health.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the suffering produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are bordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. P. O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
With NUGENT DRUG CO.

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required, Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 782 George Street

EVERY GENERAL STORE-KEEPER NEEDS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

INKERMAN, ONT. Sept. 23rd, 1910.

"I am in the General Store business and have been a resident of Inkerman for thirty-seven years. Since I started this store four years ago, I have sold your remedy "Fruit-a-tives" the most satisfactory one I have sold. Many of my customers have used "Fruit-a-tives" with the most beneficial results and I know of two cases that have been completely cured of Dyspepsia.

I recommend "Fruit-a-tives" on every possible occasion and would say that if every general store keeper, who stocks medicine, would keep "Fruit-a-tives" prominently displayed, he would increase his business many fold"

ALEX. LAMUR.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy in the world made of fruit and the only remedy that will positively cure Constipation, Indigestion, Pain in the Back, Headaches, Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited Ottawa.

Pleasing Gifts

There's always something suitable and appropriate in silver. In buying, look for the trade mark

1847 ROGERS BROS.

The same covers a line of knives, forks, spoons, etc. famous for beauty and wear. "Silver Plate that Wears" Best tea sets, dishes, waiters, etc., are stamped MERIDEN BRITA CO. SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 799

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order

J. A. ASH

143 George Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 799

1 yr.-34-1103

COAL

That Is Coal

is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 111

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc, Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 622

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. MIRES

(Continued from Friday)

Velasco gazed at her, chafing the cold, soft fingers between his own. "Oh God, how I have suffered! I tried to reach you, I did everything, and then I shut myself up here waiting—I was nearly mad! Kaya—you escaped from the fortress alone, by yourself? Did they hurt you? You cried out; it rings in my ears—that cry! It has never left me! I shut myself up and paced the floor. Did they hurt you?"

The girl looked over her shoulder: "It was horrible, alone," she breathed, "Some of the guards, the sentinels, belong to us. Hush—no one knows; it must never be guessed. To-night, after dark, someone whistled—one was waiting for me in the corridor with the keys; the others were drugged. They handed me on to someone outside; I was dropped like a pebble over the wall. Then I ran—straight here I ran."

She put her hand to her breast. "Why aren't you gone? Go now, to-night. Leave me here. As soon as it is light I shall be missed, and then" —. She shuddered and her hand trembled in his, like a bird that is caught, soft and quivering.

Velasco looked at her again and then he looked away at the candle: "I won't leave you," he said, "and the railroad is useless. They would track us at once. When I put this on—" He began smoothing the scarf. "I meant to follow you through the snow and the cold to the mines, like a beggar musician."

He laughed: "You didn't know me yourself, you see? I was safe."

"Monsieur Velasco, you were coming to me? Ah, but they told you a lie! I—" She breathed a few words to him softly.

"They would be e—"

She nodded.

"When?"

"To-morrow at daybreak."

"In spite of Meskarpin?"

She broke down and buried her face in her hands.

Velasco began to pace the room slowly. "If you had a costume like mine," he said, "If your hair were cut—" Then he brightened suddenly and ran forward to the girl, snatching her hands from her eyes, dragging her to her feet.

"What a fool I was!" he cried. "What an idiot! Quick, Kaya! My chum is an artist; he is off now in Sicily, painting the rocks, and the sea, and the peasants; but his things are all there in his room next to mine, just duds for his models you know. Go—go! Put on one like mine. You shall be a boy. We will be boys together, gypsies, and play for our living. We will walk to the frontier. Boys! Comrades!"

The two stared at one another for a moment. He was pushing her gently towards the curtain. "Quick!" he whispered, "Be quick!" They both listened for a moment.

Then he pushed her inside and dragged down the curtain: "Now, I must pack," he cried, "Now I must prepare to meet Galitsin, the round-eyed ox! Ha! ha!— He will wait until he is stiff, and then he will fly back here in a rage. Good God, we must hurry!" He began opening and shutting the drawers, taking out money and jewels from one, articles of apparel from another.

"No collars, no neck-ties!" he said to himself, "How simple to be a gypsy! A knapsack will hold all for her and for me—Kaya!—Bozhe moi!"

The curtain was drawn back and in the doorway stood a boy.

CHAPTER IX.

The two gypsies gazed at one another in silence.

The small, picturesque figure in the doorway wore velveteen trousers of green old and faded, a black jacket rusty, with the sleeves patched, and a scarlet sash tied loosely about the waist. On the back of her cropped yellow curls was a velveteen cap, rakishly tipped, and she stood debonair beneath the folds of the curtain with a laugh on her lips.

"Mon Dieu!" she cried, "How you stare, Monsieur! Will I do? What sort of a boy do I make; all right? Are you satisfied, sir?"

She made a little rush forward, eluding Velasco, and stopped before the mirror with her hands boyishly deep in her pockets, glancing back over her shoulder and pirouetting slowly backwards and forwards.

"The hair looks a little rough!" she exclaimed, "I cut it with a pair of shears, or perhaps it was a razor. Who knows! Ma foi! It is not like a girl's at all, so short! What my maid would say! You would never take me for a Countess now, would you—would you?" She patted her curls and pulled down her jacket in front, turning first to one side, then to the other. "What a nice pair of gypsies we make, sir, eh?' Come and look at yourself. You are taller than I, and bigger, and you have such shoulders, heavens! Mine are not half the size. You mustn't bully me, you know, not if I am a boy. You took the best jacket, the biggest, and look what I have—such a little one, only patches and rags! And see what boots!"

She held out one slim, small foot in a peasant' boot and inspected it, pointing to the sole with little exclamations of horror. "I took the only ones I could find, and see—" Then she looked at him, coaxingly, with her eyes half veiled by her lashes, sideways, as if afraid of his gaze.

"Do I make a nice boy, Monsieur, tell me? Am I just like a gypsy, the real ones? Is it right, do you think?" She faltered.

Velasco took a step forward and looked down at the reflection in the mirror, the profile averted, the flush on her cheek, the curls on her brow, the boyish swagger and the hands in the pockets, the cap on the back of the tilted head, the laughing eyes, half veiled. He towered above her, gazing. And presently her eyes crept up to his under the lashes and they met in the mirror. She drew slowly away.

'H'ow little you are!" he cried, "You never seemed so little before; in a cloak, in a veil, you were tall. And now, stand still, let me measure. Your cap just reaches my shoulder. Kaya—"

She gave a gay little laugh and held her back against his. "How you cheat!" she cried, "No—your heels on the floor, sir—there, now! Back to back, can you see in the mirror? Where do I come?

The two stood motionless for a moment, their shoulders touching, peering eagerly sideways into the glass.

"Kaya, you are standing on tip-toe!"

"No—it is you."

"Kaya! You rogue!"

She gave a little cry, laughing out like a child caught in mischief, springing away. "I must practise being a boy," she exclaimed, "What is it you do? It is so different from being a Countess. One feels so free. No heels, no train, no veil! When one is used to the boots it must be heaven. If my cap would only stay on!"

She began to roam over the room, taking boyish strides, puckering her lips in a whistle; her thumbs in her vest and her head thrown back. "There, now, that is it; I feel better already, quite like a man. It is charming, Monsieur; a little more practice—"

Velasco was following her about with the cap in his hands. "Step softly, Kaya, step softly," he said; "Stand still. Let me put it on for you."

"No—no, toss it over,"

With a little spring the girl swung herself on the edge of the table, balancing and swinging her feet; looking up at him from under her lashes and laughing.

"Shall I make a good comrade, Monsieur Velasco? What do you think?"

He leaned over the table towards her. His eyes were bright and eager, searching hr face, the dimples that came and went in her cheeks, her soft, white throat, bare under the collarless jacket; the lips parted, and red, and arched; the rings of her hair shining like gold.

"Kaya," he whispered hoarsely, "I never saw you like this before. My little comrade, my friend, my— We will tramp together, you and I—all the way to the frontier. They will never suspect us, never! The Stradivarius shall earn our bread, and if you are ill, or weary, I will carry you in my arms. In the market places I will play for the peasants to dance, and you—you, Kaya—ah, what will you do?"

He laughed softly to himself and began teasing her, half gayly, half tenderly, with his face close to hers, the sleeve of his jacket brushing her arm.

"What will you do, Kaya? Look at me! Your cheek is red like a rose; your eyes are like stars. Don't turn them away. Lift the fringe of those lashes and look at me, Kaya. Will you pass the cap for the pennies?—You will have to doff it because you are a boy; and you must do something because you are a gypsey. Will you pass the cap for the peasants to pay?"

He held the velveteen cap in his hands, playing with it, caressing it, watching her. "Look at me, Kaya!"

She flushed and drew back, her heart beating in little throbs under the vest. Suddenly she turned and looked at him squarely. It was strange, however their eyes met, like a thrill, a shock, an ecstasy; and then a slow returning to consciousness as after a blow.

All at once, she dropped her lashes and began to trill, softly, faintly, like a bird, the tones clear, and sweet, and high; and as she sang, she glanced at him under her lashes, with her head on one side. The voice so with a voice alive in your throat, swelling out; then she softened it quickly with a look over her shoulder half fearfully, and again it soared to a high note, trilling, lingering and dropping at last.

Her mouth scarcely opened. The sound seemed to come through the arch of her lips, every note pure, and sweet, and soft like a breath. Velasco bent over entranced.

"How you sing!" he cried, "Like some beautiful bird! In Italy, on the shores of the lakes, I have heard the nightingales sing like that; but never a woman. The timbre is crystal and pure, like clear, running water. When you soar to the heights, it is like a lark flying; and when you drop into alt, it is a tone that forces the tears to one's eyes, so pathetic and strange. Who taught you to sing like that? Or were you born so wtih a voice alive in your throat, you had only to open it and let it come out?"

She shook her head, swinging her feet, trying to laugh.

"It is so small," she said wistfully. "You are a musician, Monsieur Velasco, and I—I know nothing of music. I will pass the cap for pennies. Give it to me. It is getting late, we must go!"

She took the cap and put it on her head, on the back of her curls, avoiding his eyes. "Will that do for a gypsey? Is it straight—Velasco?" She said the name quite low and breathed hurriedly, with a flush on her cheeks.

He was still staring at her, but he said nothing; he made no motion and she drew away from him a little frightened.

"You are like a violin," he murmured, "I told you you were like a violin. You are all music, as I am music. Sing for me again, just open your lips and breathe—once more! Let me hear you trill!"

"I can't," said the girl, "I am faint, Velasco. When I look at you now there is a mist before my eyes. The room sways." She put out her hands suddenly, as if to steady herself.

Velasco started back: "Good heavens, Kaya, what is the matter? The colour has gone from your cheeks: there are shadows under your eyes, deep and heavy as though they were painted. Don't faint, will you? Don't I shouldn't know what under heaven to do!"

The girl slipped down from the table and, staggering a little, threw herself into the chair by the fireplace. "Get me some food, Velasco: some bread, some wine. In a moment it will pass!" She began laughing again, immediately. "Don't be frightened. It is you who are pale, not I. Just a morsel to eat—Velasco. Since last night I have eaten nothing. You forget how hungry a boy can be! Is there time?"

Velasco had snatched the red wine from the table and was pouring it out in a glass, holding it to her lips.

"Drink, Kaya, drink—and here are biscuits, shall I break them for you? Don't speak. Shut your eyes, and drink, and eat. I will feed you."

He hovered over her with little exclamations of pity and self-reproach.

"Why didn't I see at once you were starving! Poor child, poor little one! You seemed so gay, dancing about; your cheeks were so red and now—Ah no, it is better—the colour is coming back slowly. The wine brings a flush."

The girl lay back with her eyes closed, sipping the wine from the glass as he held it. "Is there plenty of time, Velasco?" she said, faintly.

He looked at the hands of the malachite clock on the mantel. They pointed to ten and presently it began to strike.

"Yes—yes," he whispered, "Lie still. Let me feed you. We will go presently."

"What was that on the staircase?" she said, "Was it a noise?—I heard something."

(To be continued)

"THREE SWALLOWS"

Sir John Power and Son's

"Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—

Famous for over a century.

Of highest standard of purity.

Distillers to His Majesty the King.

LITTLE HELPS

From Farm and Dairy.

A small scrubbing brush is the finest thing for washing vegetables you ever tried.

When canned food is emptied from a can, if the inside of a can is corroded the contents should be thrown away.

When mashing potatoes always use hot milk or cream, never cold. They will taste better, keep hotter, and will beat up lighter.

People who cook should never leave pins or needles on the front of their waists, as they are liable to fall in the mixture and cause trouble. Quite recently, in a case of appendicitis, a pin was found in the appendix.

Remember that the plants in your window need moisture and fresh air more than heat. Cover them with a light cloth when sweeping. On mild, rainy days set them out of doors for a bath. 'Tis an easy way to wash them. An even temperature is worth more than sunshine to plant shut-ins.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Silverton, Me. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —MRS. DEMA BETHUNE, Silverton, Me.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

Never put a deep border on a low ceiling room. It is really better not to have any at all. A flowered or trellis effect will do much to give height. If two small rooms are together it is better to paper and carpet alike, giving the effect of one room.

CANADIAN CHEESE

From Farm and Dairy.

Fulton & Weir, Glasgow, Scotland

The quality of Canadian cheese last season showed an improvement over the past, and we attribute this to the improved methods of curing and ranges of temperature lower and better controlled than previously. On several occasions the cheese were shipped in too new a condition and consequently were not sufficiently matured on arrival on this side. At the same time we do not press this point as the improvement in this respect from former years was so marked that a note of encouragement for the future seems to us better than "damning with faint praise" the past.

We noticed that from some of the districts, such as Ingersoll, the cheese were still rather firm, being in our opinion too hard pressed for this market. The West of Scotland traders prefer a close, meaty cheese to one that is inclined to break in the cutting, even although it be to a small extent at the expense of flavor.

We, however, congratulate you on the better arrangements you now have for shipment. We on our part have done what we can in the bettering of the storage after the arrival here, both of these being important factors in bringing about the desired result, and we are pleased to note that the shippers on your side are wakening up to the fact that cheese carried in refrigerating trucks, especially in hot weather, are in a much more satisfactory condition than would otherwise be the case.

We still think that the process of coating the cheese with paraffin wax has not been a marked success, and we are under the impression that in its present state this process interferes with the fermentation of the cheese that develops the flavor. As the process of coating the cheese is not of a very scientific nature there is no reason why improvement could not be made that would improve the cheese to a considerable extent.

We note from our Government returns that the import of Canadian cheese in 1910 was 1,049,335 cwts., as compared with 1,029,957 cwts. the previous year, and 1,009,022 cwts. for '08. The total imports of cheese into this country from all sources was in 1910 1,756,162 cwts., made up as follows: Canada, 1,049,335 cwts.; New Zealand, 415,267 cwts.; Holland, 168,690 cwts.; Italy, 65,336 cwts.; United States, 26,943 cwts.; Australia, 3,682 cwts.

Regarding the prospects for 1911, we are of opinion, after weighing up all factors of supply and demand, that the supply this year will be in excess of the demand, and that both butter and cheese will fall in value, and average lower prices from those ruling last year. We anticipate that the fall in butter will be greater than that in cheese.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

Baby's Own Tablets is the one medicine that can be given little ones with the firm knowledge that nothing but good will result. The Tablets are sold under the guarantee of a government analyst to contain no opiate or any other drug which will harm the youngest child—they cannot possibly do harm; they always do good, and once a mother has used them she will never again give her little ones castor oil or the "soothing" stuffs which simply drug baby into temporary relief and in the end do harm. Mrs. Philas Paradis, Frampton, Que., writes: "Send me two more boxes of Baby's Own Tablets. I have used them for constipation and have always found them very good. My baby is certainly progressing under the Tablets." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE LEADER

From Farm and Dairy.

W. C. Palmer, North Dakota Extension Bureau

Alfalfa is the king among hay crops, the queen among soil improvers, the prince among drought-resistant plants. It comes nearer to giving something for nothing than anything else on the farm. It will produce more hay per acre, and hay of a higher feeding value than timothy, broom grass or western rye grass. While giving that valuable crop of hay it will at the same time leave the soil richer in nitrogen and humus every year that it occupies the land, and supplies the very things that the grain crops take out the fastest and leave the soil in the greatest need of.

Still the whole story is not told, as weeds cannot grow readily after alfalfa gets a good stand and if they should grow a little the alfalfa is cut before the weeds are ripe so they cannot go to seed. The roots go deep and so open up the soil better than the subsoiler.

While alfalfa will adapt itself to almost all varieties of soil it is better to give it every chance the first time it is sown on a farm. Take 10 acres of a good dry field that you intend sowing to oats or barley, work it up well, but do not worry if there is some grass or weeds left. A little grass will not hurt the alfalfa and will make good hay when mixed with the alfalfa, and weeds have no chance in a good crop of alfalfa.—Geo. W. Marsh.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Wandering Yankee

as Mr. Anson A. Gard, the well known Litterateur of Ottawa Ont. is called, says in an unsolicited testimonial

For Zutoo Tablets

"Zutoo Tablets stop my headaches so completely that I do not mind having them any more."

Do you still suffer from your headaches, or do you do like Mr. Gard—take Zutoo?

A Wholesome Food For Growing Children

A regular, plentiful diet of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes makes children strong and healthy—capable and willing for study and play. Serve it to your children at meal time and after school.

Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes is an ideal food that builds up the body without burdening the digestive organs.

Look for the name on the package. 24

Kellogg's 10c per pkg.

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

COMING

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto will be at the Oriental Hotel Peterboro FRIDAY MAY 5th with a large & varied stock of the newest York Creations

Parisian, London and New

SWITCHES
TRANSFORMATIONS
POMPADOURS
OURLS
PUFFS, Etc.

Ladies with thin hair will be interested in our improved transformations. The new designs in Curls are very dainty and attractive. We invite your inspection of these goods.

Dorenwend's Sanitary Patent Toupees,

for Men Who Are Bald, are so constructed that only the wearer will know that it is not their own hair. They give the protection necessary to physical health. Adjust themselves as readily as your own hair would. Light, strong, made in any style, shade or shape.

THE ONLY SANITARY AND PATENTED TOUPEES MANUFACTURED

(Do not fail to call and see them)

DORENWEND CO. OF TORONTO, Ltd

The House of Quality Hair Goods, 103-5 Yonge st.

What Do You Think of This?

How often we hear men say, "Yes, I'd insure my life if I was only sure I could keep it up. I could pay it alright, as long as I had my health, but if sickness or accident laid me low I would have to give it up and lose the protection just at the time I needed it most." Now, the issues a policy just to suit such a case. Under this policy, should the assured become totally and permanently disabled from any cause, the policy is kept in force during such disability, without any lien or charge against it. Or, in lieu of this, the Company will commence forthwith to pay to the assured one twentieth of the policy each year for twenty years. Should the assured die before the twenty annual payments have been paid, the remaining instalments will be paid to such beneficiary as the assured may designate.

SUN LIFE

Assurance Company of Canada

Is not this the Climax of Liberality? The Sun Life live up to its motto of "Prosperous and Progressive." Investigate this proposition before insuring.

W. H. HILL

OFFICE—159 HUNTER ST., PETERBORO, Ont.

TELEPHONE 14, BELL OR MACHINE

We have a large stock of

Cookson's Antimony

for immediate delivery. Prices right.

The CANADA METAL CO., Limited

31 William St. - - Toronto, Ont.

MEDICAL.

DR. MACNAMARA, L. R. C. S., Edinburgh, L. R. C. P., London, L. M., London. Specialties of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Private 'phone 318. 120 Charlotte Street. Hours—8-9 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 387 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L. R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special Attention to Diseases of Chest. 264 Bridge Street. Phone—Bell 151, Mech., 181. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. HEDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Office: 91 Hunter St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ADA C. STRAMBLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Rooms over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street Entrance. Bell 'Phone 349. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 1 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLHOUSE.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms, 181 Hunter street, or at residence, 289 Hunter street. Telephone No. 35.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 371 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George N. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices: 370 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, B.A.
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. R. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 426 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, corner Hunter and George streets; entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—S. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis L. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, HEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, S. T. Hedd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

E. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 373 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetizing, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Caloutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 96

W.C.T.U. ITEMS OF INTEREST

The matter in this Department is supplied by the Peterborough Branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which has arranged for its publication.

WHITE RIBBON RALLY SONG
Fanny B. Tenson

From the home-land to the far-land, from the captive to the throng,
Wheresoever we are needed to uplift
a soul from wrong,
'Tis our country and our kindred, altogether we belong,
Reach out the helping hand.

CHORUS:
Wind the ribbon round the nations,
Wind the ribbon round the nations,
Wind the ribbon round the nations,
The nations of our God.

While the homes of earth are darkened and the strong men fall as prey,
While the women toil in anguish and the little children stray,
There's a Voice—who has not heard it calling to us night and day?
Reach out the helping hand.

FRANCE MUST FIGHT ALCOHOL

The returning tourist who tells of wineshops in French cities on every hand and not the remotest sign of evil effects from them will have to take in a reef. The Government of France is at its wits' end in regard to the increase of the liquor traffic, and has at last recognized that France, once among the soberest of nations, is becoming a slave to alcohol. And when a French statesman speaks of alcohol he does not mean wine, beer, cider, or other beverages classed as "hygienic" drinks; he means brandy, absinthe, whisky, and liquors of that sort. For generations the French people were wine drinkers, and drunkenness in the sense in which the word is understood among Anglo-Saxons was rare. As the demand for liquors of greater alcoholic content increased the wineshops began to stock up with them and more wineshops were opened. Now France has almost 500,000 taverns, or about one for every eighty people. In Paris alone there are 39,000 taverns, and in certain quarters of the city there is a cabaret for every three inhabited houses. Prof. Gide, the eminent economist of the Sorbonne, says that there is a direct relation between the increase of drunkenness in France and the increase in the number of cabarets.

A new liquor license bill now before the Chamber of Deputies proposes a number of sweeping reforms looking to the raising of the standard of licensed premises. One of the chief clauses forbids the retailing of alcoholic drinks to be carried on in common with some other form of commerce in the same establishment. In Paris and in provincial cities and towns, too, it is no rare thing for coal merchants, grocers, greengrocers and other tradesmen to have a bar for the use of their customers fitted up in a corner of their shop. Women enter to make necessary household purchases, they linger to gossip, and, worst feature of all, to drink. Another provision is that there shall be but one cabaret for the sale of alcoholic liquors for each two hundred of population, but this comes into force only as existing rights expire. The bill is described as a well-meaning but wholly ineffectual attempt to remedy a terrible social evil. How ineffectual it must be is indicated by the fact that on the basis of population set by the bill—were it carried into effect—France would still have over six times as many licenses proportionately as Ontario.—Globe.

SOME FACTS FROM KANSAS

During the past year forty-eight of the 105 Kansas counties with a population of 430,274 did not send a single prisoner to the state penitentiary.

Fifty-seven out of the 105 counties had not a single pauper.

Eighty-seven of the 105 counties did not send a single insane patient to an institution.

Kansas' death-rate is the lowest in the world, seven and one-half in one thousand persons.

The state still boasts of the lowest percentage of illiteracy.

Kansas bank deposits have increased from $70,000,000 to $100,000,000.

All of this has happened under ten years of prohibition.

Not being compelled to use their money for taxes to support prisons, poorhouses, and insane asylums, which are largely filled by victims of liquor, the people of Kansas are able to put their money in the banks or to buy automobiles, and to use their taxes in building schoolhouses and improving health conditions.

Prohibition has been a success in Kansas because that state has elected officials who enforce the law.—Omaha News.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH SPEAKS

"It is difficult to find any solid argument for the existence of the saloon which can appeal to any Christian man."—Diocese of Chicago.

"We regret that in the great wave of successful antagonism to the saloon which has swept over America, churchmen have not taken a more conspicuous part in co-operation with their Christian brethren of other names."

"We urge on the clergy as moral leaders and on the laity as soldiers of righteousness to take a strong stand against whatever makes drunkards out of God's children."—Diocese of Massachusetts.

THE MUSICIAN

I love the smooth piano keys,
They're pleasant, too, to play.
It's fun to go now up, now down,
And hear the things they say.
The basement notes are very stern
And call out "Don't you dare!"
The attic notes are scared to death—
The front door notes don't care.
And when I'm tired of doing that,
I play a real duet.
It's Peter, Peter Something—what
The rest is I forget.
It's very hard and only played
Upon the darky keys.
I'm glad I'm musical and know
So many things to please.
Harper's Magazine.

Three hundred convicts in the penitentiary of Alabama were asked by its chaplain how many of them owed their convict stripes to the use of liquor, and 281 rose to their feet.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

APRIL 30, 1911.
(Copyright, 1910, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

God's Pity for the Heathen. (Foreign Missionary Lesson.) Jonah iii., 1; iv., 11.

Golden Text—Go ye therefore, and teach all nations. Matt. xxviii., 19.

1. Verses 1-2—When did the Lord command Jonah the first time to go to Nineveh, and why did he not go?
2. What method did God adopt in speaking to Jonah?
3. What method does God adopt to-day in giving special instructions to individual men?
4. Verses 3-4—Where was Nineveh situated?
5. How long would it probably take Jonah to traverse the principal streets of Nineveh and deliver his message?
6. Is it probable that Jonah gave the message just as the Lord had given it to him?
7. Verses 5-9—What steps did the king and the people of Nineveh take to prevent their doom?
8. What effect does repentance, fasting and prayer have in these days in preventing the legitimate and natural consequences of sin?
9. Are God's rewards and penalties ever absolute, or are they always conditional, and why?
10. How would you distinguish between the natural and moral penalty incurred by sin?
11. Think of our national sins and their penalty, and say what would be the effect upon the latter, if the nation should repent and fast and pray as Nineveh did?
12. Verse 10—How do you explain this verse which credits God with changing His mind?
13. What if any evidence is there that nature, so to speak, changes her intentions to inflict penalty, when men change their conduct?
14. Chapter iv., 1-2—Why was Jonah angry because God did not destroy Nineveh, as He had threatened?
15. Why, or why not, should a true Christian who is a physician, depending upon his practice for a living, never be sorry because the people are all well?
16. Why should those of us who teach the eternity of punishment for confirmed sinners be either glad or sorry if in the future we learn that we have been mistaken?
17. Verse 3—What weight can you place upon a man's truth, or goodness, because he is willing to die in defence of his views?
18. Verse 4—Name some of the most mysterious circumstances, and say whether there are any in life, or in death, that would warrant a man in being angry with God? Give your reasons.
19. Verses 5-6—What if any reason is there to think that Jonah still hoped Nineveh would be destroyed?
20. Seeing that Jonah was angry with the Lord, why did God protect and not destroy him?
21. Verses 7-11—Why is it sometimes necessary for God to cause us to suffer in order to teach us lessons of love and mercy?
22. Does God ever punish for the sake of vengeance alone? (Give your reasons. (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Lessons for Sunday May 7th, 1911—Uzziah, King of Judah. Humbled. Chron. xxvi.

A LONG VENDETTA

Indiana Man Fight Over Event of 14 Years Ago.

Nicholas Kiefner was arrested in Brazil, Ind., on a charge of assault for whipping James Tucker. The arrest revealed a vendetta of fourteen years' standing, which was sworn to by Kiefner when he was a boy of eleven years.

Fourteen years ago Tucker was teaching school. He whipped Kiefner for some youthful prank and Kiefner did not return to school. He vowed to repay the whipping in kind.

When the pair met for the first time in all those years, Kiefner recalled the incident and informed Tucker that he intended to make good. He did.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

IS THE BEST

SPRING MEDICINE

It will cleanse the blood of all the poisonous waste matter accumulated in the system during the long winter months.

IT HAS BEEN USED BY THOUSANDS EVERY SPRING FOR OVER THIRTY YEARS and has never failed to give SATISFACTION

Burdock Blood Bitters

O'Keefe's

Lager, Ales and Stout are all put up in Crown stoppered bottles—which do away with the necessity of cork-screws and prevent anyone tampering with the contents.

No cork to get in the beer—no danger of breaking the neck of the bottle and cutting one's hand.

Leading Hotels, Cafes and Dealers generally have O'Keefe's Lager, Ales and Stout.

THE O'KEEFE BREWERY CO., LIMITED, - - TORONTO. 226

ARTIFICIAL LEGS

For half a century we have been making Artificial Limbs and have succeeded in perfecting these appliances until they almost equal nature.

Authors & Cox
Manufacturers of Trusses and Deformity Appliances
135 CHURCH ST., TORONTO

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION
Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Eddo for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.
W. SCOTT Co., Limited
Office corner George and Hunter Sts.
Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

WANTED
OFFERINGS OF UNLISTED and INACTIVE STOCKS and BONDS
WE HAVE A GOOD MARKET FOR STOCKS, SUCH AS
Dominion Permanent, Trusts and Guarantee, Canadian Blickbeck 6% Standard Loan Stock and Debentures, Hamilton Steel and Iron, Dominion Power Transmission, United Empire Bank, Home Bank, Sterling Bank, Northern Crown Bank, Continental Life 20% Paid and many others.
List of bids and offerings sent weekly on request.
FISHER & WATT
Members of Standard Stock Exchange
2103 Traders Bank Building,
Toronto. Phone Main 7424-25

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.
See our line of new and re-built wheels
Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent
APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

GAY SEASON BEGINS • A DICKEN'S CLASH • UNSIGHTLY LONDON

LIGHT SCHEME FOR THE CORONATION

Splendour of Illuminations in London Will Depend on Private Purses.

SOCIETY TO COME FIRST

No Fires Will Be Kindled on the Great Buildings Where There Is an Element of Danger.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

DETAILS of the main scheme for the illumination having been settled by the Executive Committee at St. James' Palace, it now becomes evident that the splendour of illuminated London on coronation night, will depend on private enterprise. Government buildings will be conspicuous chiefly by their gloom. The Office of Works has made no plans for illuminating public buildings.

The case of the National Gallery deticiates for the safety of the art treasures housed in that big building has been unfortunate, and it is likely that no more will be attempted than a modest device in the way of an illuminated crown shining over the entrance porch. Even this, it is said, has its element of danger, and nothing is to be done in Trafalgar Square which will for a moment imperil the nation's splendid heritage of pictures.

Fear of the risk of fire is not the excuse, however, for leaving the greater part of Whitehall in comparative darkness on coronation night. A parsimonious policy of "keeping down the gas bill" appears to coincide with His Majesty's Office of Works, and, acting on a Treasury instruction to "save the light," that authority has so far prepared no scheme of coronation illumination.

As for Pall Mall, outlining Buckingham Palace in electric lights and trimming public offices and Cabinet Ministers' residences with decorative flames, the Government authorities will leave them severely alone, or merely adorn them with the usual flood.

In this matter, therefore, contrast, therefore, and the opposite, now being adopted for other than Government buildings. The Bank of England, for instance, means to spend a small fortune on making a merry blaze in the city. Four miles of electric cable and more than five thousand electric lamps are to be used. The porch of the bank buildings will be surmounted by a huge electric crown eight hundred feet high, formed of rose, shamrock and thistle, enclosing the letters "G. R." and supporting the imperial crown. The royal monogram will similarly endorse the corners of the building, and the windows will be picked out in white and ruby lights.

After prolonged discussion between Sir William Carleton and Mr. Arthur Collins, a charming scheme has been evolved for the decoration of Drury Lane Theatre on the occasion of the command performance of Bulwer Lytton's comedy "Money" before the King and Queen and the German Emperor and Empress on May 17.

The interior of the playhouse will be transformed into an idyll of Dresden china. The whole of the floor space will be occupied by fauteuils in ivory white and gold upon a field of deep lavender, that being the tone selected for the carpet. The back of each seat will bear a posy of flowers, the view of the parterre approximating in effect to a vast garden of flowers. The dominant note of the decoration will be a delicate cornflower blue upon a ground of ivory white, the emphatic note being afforded by magnificent groups of deep rich colored tulips, forming the point d'appui for wreaths of foliage garlanded by the tulip red of soft silk ribbon.

A delicate bloom of moonlight green will be struck by the pale tone of the tulip leaves. The horizontal lines of the there will be broken by a central canopy over the seats of the royal and imperial party, and from either side will fall great pendant draperies of royal ermine, showing between their folds the glint of deep red satin on the reverse side of the canopy hangings. The ceiling will be completely hidden by a dexterous arrangement of pendant foliages disposed between wreathed electric lights. The ensemble of the decorative effect will be found to be that of a vast flower set with innumerable radiant lights.

MAKING PORTRAITS OF KING GEORGE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

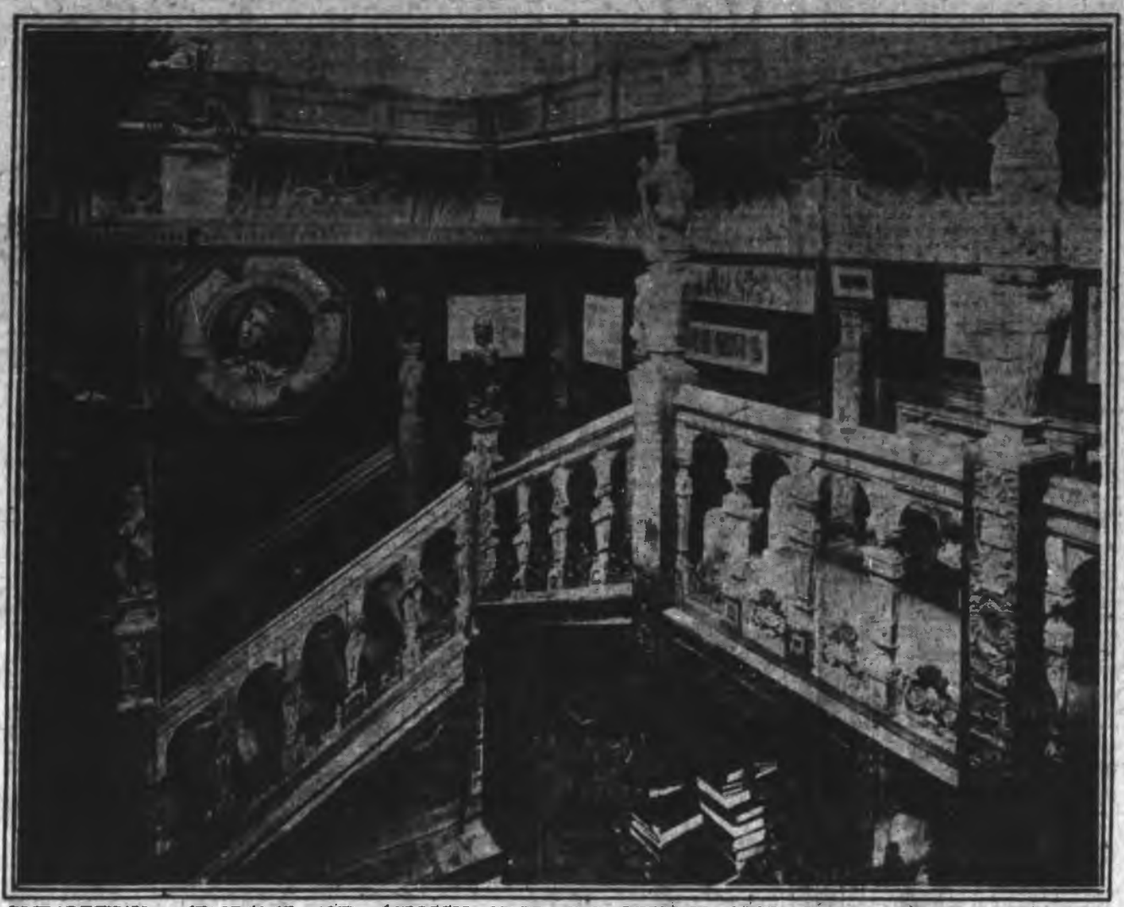
THE equestrian portrait of King George, which will have its crown placed at the Paris Salon, originated in a rather unusual way. Mons. Georges Scott, the French artist with the eminently North Sudan patronymic, was in England at King Edward's funeral in the interests of a Paris newspaper. He made a sketch of King George as he appeared on that occasion, for the first time in a field marshal's uniform. This sketch attracted some influential notice, and Mons. Scott was, in consequence, "commanded" to the Palace. Eventually he got the commission which has made him famous.

The announcement that Sir Luke Fildes has been commanded to paint the State portrait of King George has caused little surprise, as Sir Luke has had a good deal of experience with this kind of work. Almost exactly ten years ago he was commissioned to paint a portrait of King Edward.

From his brush also came the portraits of the present King and Queen at the time of their marriage, and he painted also the beautiful State portrait of Queen Alexandra. It was Sir Luke also who made the drawing of the late King after death.

Queen Alexandra, according to every artist and photographer to whom she has given sittings is an excellent subject. Queen Mary, on the other hand, is a "difficult" sitter, and seldom gets justice done to her good looks owing, perhaps, to the fact that she finds sittings irksome and gather a frown of line.

Historic Elizabethan Staircase Built for William Cecil In 1564 To Be Sold at Auction at Theobalds Park



ELIZABETHAN STAIRCASE AND GALLERY MADE FOR WILLIAM CECIL IN 1564, TO WHOM THEOBALDS THEN BELONGED

Vicissitudes of This Royal Relic Form a Story of Very Wide Interest.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.]
London, Saturday.

THOUGH the historic estate of Theobalds Park itself will not come under the hammer yet, having been devised by Lady Meux to Captain Hedworth Lambton, while old Temple Bar also will remain in its present position, still the eight days sale of the valuable contents of the mansion by Messrs. Wastings, which starts on May 15, should draw collectors and amateurs from every part.

The clou of the whole sale undoubtedly will be the historic Elizabethan staircase in Theobalds, of magnificently carved oak, which is unique as regards decoration and preservation.

The history of the vicissitudes of this royal relic is distinctly interesting. It was made for William Cecil in 1564 for his Palace of Theobalds, which he afterward exchanged with James I. for Hatfield.

When Cromwell practically destroyed Theobalds the staircase was rescued entire and transferred to the old manor house in the grounds of the property. There it remained for two centuries forgotten by all save a few archæological enthusiasts. About 1870 the manor house was let to a captain in the army, who, shortly after taking possession, was asked by an artist for leave to take drawings of this staircase. This gentleman informed his host—who up till then had scarcely noticed the staircase, except to admire it generally—that he was housing an angel unawares and that his staircase was unique.

Within a month Sir Henry Meux wrote and offered his tenant £500, and later £1,000 ($5,000), if he would allow him to remove the staircase to Theobalds. Not being in want of money the offer was refused. Three years later, however, the captain applied for leave to sublet or sell his lease; then Sir Henry had his chance. He offered to cancel the lease, which offer was, of course, accepted, and this was how the staircase once more returned to its original home, the manor house having to be almost pulled to pieces to get it out.

The staircase consists of sixteen very broad steps, a landing and gallery twenty feet long, and eight elaborately carved newels, and is almost in its original condition.

Besides this architectural gem there are no less than ten thousand ounces of plate, mostly of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, besides some splendid specimens of old Sheffield plate, and, of course, Lady Meux's well known collection of very early Egyptian mummies and other antiquities, including the mummified remains of Ankheru, a high priest who officiated 2,000 years before Christ.

The silver, aptly enough for a brewer's collection, includes a dozen seventeenth century tankards, an almost unprecedented number for one collection; several fine porringers and monteths of the same period and twenty-one seal top and Apostle spoons—which nowadays run into hundreds of pounds apiece if of the right date and pattern. The present lot contains five Elizabethan, five James I., four Charles I. and two Commonwealth specimens. In addition to these items there are no fewer than twenty-eight Charles II. silver dinner plates dated 1683 and a similar number of Scotch make dated 1722. There are also numerous baluster goblets, jugs, salvers and caddies, nearly all of the seventeenth century or earlier, besides a valuable collection of miscellaneous bric-a-brac of every description, for Lady Meux was a wealthy and wide collector.

In the Home of Lady Meux, with Many Other Collections of Worth.

CHARLES DICKENS CAUSE OF A CLASH

The Great Author Himself Forbade Any Public Testimonial to His Memory.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE opposition to the Dickens testimonial has lately been rather bitter, and a large number of letters have been sent to the press maintaining that such a testimonial is against the expressed wishes of the great novelist. The battle-ground on which the controversy has raged is the proviso Dickens inserted in his will forbidding any public testimonial to his memory or the erection of any statue of himself.

The question is whether this proviso was intended to hold good a century after it was written, and even in the face of the need of some of the author's descendants.

The British Dickens Centenary Committee is a marvellous body of distinguished men, and they think the proviso should not now hold good. The method by which the committee, at the head of which is Lord Rosebery, hope to create the testimonial fund for the benefit of Dickens' descendants, who are badly off, is by the sale of the Dickens stamps, which they expect every Dickens lover to place in the copies of Dickens' books which he possesses. It is reckoned that there are 45,000,000 copies of the author's works extant in Great Britain and America, and if the Dickens penny stamp is put in a quarter of these the committee will have accomplished what they desire.

To ascertain whether the attacks by those who believe that the promoters of the scheme are running counter to Dickens' wishes have produced any effect upon the committee a correspondent called upon Mr. Beckles Willson, the secretary, who expressed the belief that the testimonial movement will outlive all opposition.

"Dickens," he said, "literally wore himself out in order to make provision for those he loved, and we are doing this for his descendants because, through undeserved misfortune, they have not retained the position in which Dickens believed he had placed them.

"Lord Rosebery," he added, "has bought 12,000 Dickens stamps, and he writes, 'It would be terrible if my books were found without stamps in them.'"

Stamps have been placed in the King's books at Windsor Castle and Buckingham Palace, and Queen Alexandra has placed six stamps in her books.

COMPARING WAGES HERE AND ABROAD

Interesting Statistics Concerning the Workingmen in England and the United States.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE money earnings of the workingmen in the United States are rather more than two and a quarter times as great as of those in England and Wales, and since there is no proof that employment is more intermittent in the United States than in Great Britain a much greater margin is available, even when allowance has been made for the increased expenditure in food and rent.

So it is stated in the introductory memorandum of the report of an inquiry by the Board of Trade into working class rents, housing and rental prices, together with the rates of wages in certain occupations in the principal industrial towns of the United States. The inquiry was the fifth of a series undertaken by the Board in the more industrial towns of various countries.

It began in February, 1909, and the whole of the statistical data were collected from investigations in twenty-eight towns, these being scattered over an area nine times as great as that of the United Kingdom, and were perhaps for a few of the oldest and most thickly populated States they illustrate, says Mr. G. B. Askwith, in a prefatory note, a stage of urban development and urban concentration less advanced than has been reached in the United Kingdom.

In spite of increased industrialisation the United States is still primarily a great agricultural community. The percentage of the occupied population in the United States engaged in agriculture, under a less intensive system, is nearly three times as high as in the United Kingdom, and alike on account both of its agricultural and its mineral resources the United States, adds Mr. Askwith, is still economically one of the most self-contained countries in the world.

As before, the comparison of wages has been restricted to occupations common to all towns, namely, those of the building, engineering and printing trades, which show, in general, no marked divergences, and the differences are not greater than those shown to exist as between the towns of England and Wales.

As regards rent, the American workman pays, on the whole, a little more than twice as much as the English workman for the same amount of house accommodation, and another peculiarity shows in the comparatively small consumption of bakers' bread in the average American working class family, the consumption being eight pounds weekly a family, as against twenty-two pounds in the United Kingdom.

London's Brilliant Season Of 1911 Just Beginning

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE Easter holidays over, the much anticipated season of 1911 may now be said to be beginning, and to say that every one will be weary beyond expression by the time that Cowes and Goodwood come is to put it rather mildly. For the remainder of April there are race meetings every day; there are also weddings at the rate of about twenty a day. For the opera season at Covent Garden all the boxes have been booked up in anticipation of a brilliant season, and although the King and Queen are not so fond of opera as their predecessors, their appearance in the royal box together will probably be more frequent.

The two great omnibus boxes, into the right hand one of which the late King Edward was wont to slip so often unnoticed, have been subscribed to, as usual, among others, by the Marquis de Soveral, Lord Farquhar, Count Mensdorff, Count Benckendorff, the Duc Muriella brothers and Mr. Pandeli Ralli. The Princess Royal again has the box adjoining the smaller royal one, while Lady Charles Beresford, with Mme. Vagliano and Baroness de Meyer on alternate nights, has the box adjoining the omnibus box.

The King and Queen, who have been spending their Easter at Windsor Castle, are expected to be often in residence with the Court there during the holidays of the present reign, as it is their intention to use it as their chief country home. Easter at Windsor is one of the innovations of the new reign. King Edward was almost invariably on the Continent at this time of year during the latter years of his reign, and even when in England did not go to Windsor for Easter, while Queen Victoria liked to spend most of the holidays at Osborne.

Preparations for the four courts which the King and Queen are holding next month are now in progress, and West End dressmakers and tailors and themselves severely taxed to complete the heavy orders which have been put upon them.

The Court on May 9 will be entirely official and diplomatic. The royal circle will not be a very large one, as both Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria will be absent, but as it is the first Court of the new reign it is sure to be a very brilliant function. The Duchess of Devonshire will make her appearance as the new mistress of the robes, in succession to the Duchess of Buccleuch, who for thirty years has been a prominent figure in the Queen of England's entourage, and Lady Shaftesbury, Lady Ampthill, Lady Desborough, Lady Minto, and Queen Mary's maids of honour—Miss Lloyd Brodrick, Miss Clyde, Miss Venetia Baring and Miss Katherine Villiers, all of whom are newly appointed—will be in attendance.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid will make the presentations for America, and the Russian, Spanish and Italian Ambassadresses will act in the same capacity for their respective countries. The duty of making the wives of distinguished foreign guests to the King and Queen usually falls to the wife of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, but as Sir Edward Grey is a widower it probably will devolve upon Lady Crewe to make the presentations. Interesting new representatives of the Powers to appear at the Court of St. James for the first time, on May 9, are the Chinese Minister and Mme. Lui Yu Lin; the Envoy of the Argentine Republic, the Chilian Minister, Señor Edwards, and his beautiful young wife, and the Minister of the new Republic of Portugal, who has just been appointed to succeed the Marquis de Soveral.

The list of débutantes and brides for presentation at the courts on May 10, 16 and 23, is the longest ever dealt with at the Lord Chamberlain's office, the reason for this being that the courts which were to have been held last May and June had to be cancelled.

The Princess Royal's two daughters, Princess Alexandra and Princess Maud, who make their formal début this season, are expected to accompany their parents to the balls at Devonshire House and Derby House on May 16 and June 27, while there is every likelihood that the young Princesses will be seen at Stafford House when the Duchess of Sutherland gives a ball there for the début of her daughter, Lady Rosemary Meyseon-Gower. She has chosen the day after the coronation—Friday, June 23—and it is expected that the King and Queen, as well as the foreign royalties then in London, will honor the occasion with their presence.

Apart from a girl who died before she was three years old, Lady Rosemary, who will be eighteen in August, is the only daughter of the marriage. She is the first débutante of this ducal house for nearly forty years. The last was Lady Florence, the daughter of the late sister of the present, or fourth, Duke. She married Mr. Henry Chaplin in 1870, and died in 1881, leaving a son and a daughter, the latter of whom is now Lady Castlereagh.

Not since the Dowager Duchess of Devonshire gave her famous "historic ball" at Devonshire House some years ago, which the late King Edward attended with Queen Alexandra, has society taken such interest in a dance as is now being evinced over the Shakespearian ball that is to be held in the Royal Albert Hall on coronation week. Practically every one in society will be present on this occasion in the garb of one or other of Shakespeare's characters. One of the most interesting quadrilles will be that which is being organised by Lady Tree. She will be Mr. F. E. Smith, K. C., will represent Romeo, and Mrs. Smith, Juliet; Mr. Henry Ainley being Hamlet and Miss Marie Löhr Ophelia; Lord Winterton will appear as Benedick and Miss Kitty Shannon as Beatrice. There is hope that the King and Queen will grace the ball with their presence, but this is a matter upon which decision has not as yet been arrived.

London Unsightly at Present Time

Much Work Is Being Done in the Way of Preparation for the Coronation.

BUILDING THE STANDS

What It Will Cost Americans to Attend the Event and What the English Will Pay.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE approach of the coronation is not improving the appearance of London just at present, for it is necessary, the numbers of carpenters in the country being, after all, limited, to make a start with the erection of grand stands to view the royal processions in coronation week. On every vacant piece of ground along the processional routes the stand builders are now at work, for stands put up close to the time of the coronation will be exceedingly costly, owing to the way the wages of carpenters will soar as the multitude of orders come along for the minor stands in shop and house windows. As at the last coronation, prices may also be had for stands on such precarious coigns of vantage as the housetops.

Some statistician has ventured to guess that 5,000 miles of planking will be needed for the stands used on coronation day and on the day of the royal progress through seven and a half miles of London's streets. To the inhabitants of the streets in South London who have long tenancies of houses the decision of the King and Queen to include South London in the progress has brought joy, but many of the weekly tenants, who are very numerous about that part of the route, are in a state of perturbation. They dread that they will be given notice to quit, in order that the windows of their dwellings may be let to wealthier people who desire to view the procession on June 22.

In order to accommodate the rush of Americans who can spare only a few days for the trip the Cunard company is arranging for one of its Goliaths to make a dash across the Atlantic, it being reckoned that there are enough wealthy persons in the United States to whom time is more precious than money to justify the venture.

This implies that "attending the coronation" for four days in England will cost several hundred persons anything from £50 to £2,500 each—this last figure representing the outlay of a person who engages the "royal suite" each way across the Atlantic and engages a set of rooms at one of the best hotels, with four windows overlooking the route of the coronation procession.

On the other hand, people living anywhere within two hundred miles of London will be able to see the great coronation procession for a dollar or two. The railway companies feeding London are all arranging wonderful programmes of special trains and excursions at very cheap rates in some cases. Visitors will get a day in London and four hundred miles of express travel for about $2.50.

Between these two extremes one may spend practically any intermediate sum. Some people of course—peers and peeresses, for example—have of necessity to incur certain definite expenses. The humblest individual who has the honor to be summoned to attend the King and Queen at the Abbey—the Mayor of some small borough or the junior official living on his salary—will have to present himself in full dress, namely, court dress or full uniform or robe, while his wife, if she be summoned, will have to find from $100 to $500 for her court dress.

A carriage of some sort, with two servants, is obligatory, and this will mean from $25 for an ordinary liveried brougham hired for the day from stables in South London to $175 for a pair horse landau hired in Knightsbridge. Most peers and peeresses already have their robes and coronets, owing to the short time which has elapsed since the last coronation.

If they have not, they can pay from $40 for an electro-gilt baron's coronet at one of the large stores to $175 for a heavy water-gilt earl's coronet at a famous Bond street establishment, or $125 for the same in Regent street or the Haymarket.

A very interesting coronation gift is now on its way to England from the women of St. Vincent. The idea originated with Lady Sadler, wife of the Governor of the Windward Islands, and the Hon. Mrs. Murray, wife of the administrator of St. Vincent, and the humblest inhabitants of the island eagerly availed themselves of the privilege of subscribing. The gift is a parasol, is made of fleecy embroidered muslin worked in the colors of the most prominent women of the colony.

DORCHESTER HOUSE A SOCIETY PIVOT

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

DORCHESTER HOUSE with the return of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid again has become the pivot round which Anglo-American society, both resident and migratory, revolves. As soon as mourning is over at the Court a succession of brilliant entertainments will signalise what probably will prove the last of Mr. Whitelaw Reid's as American Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Among the many presentations which Mrs. Whitelaw Reid will make of American women and débutantes at the courts one which will engage personal interest is that of her daughter-in-law (née Rogers), and who with her husband will arrive in London shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Reid will take up their residence for a time at Dorchester House, but will after the coronation season return to their permanent home in America. On the other hand, the Ambassador's daughter, Mrs. John Ward, and her husband have at last settled upon a London house of their own, and as soon as arrangements can be made will go to No. 6 St. James' Square, where they have the Duchess of Buckingham for a neighbor. They have taken the house on a lease from its owner, the Marquis of Bristol. The necessary alterations and decorations have already all been carried out.

WHITE SATIN FOR TRAIN BEARERS

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

QUEEN MARY has chosen white satin as the material for the gowns of her six train bearers at the coronation. The dresses will be made after the elegantly simple fashion of the day, and are sure to look extremely effective against the gold and purple of the Queen's robes.

They are to have short trains and pearl trimmings, and each trainbearer will be herself crowned by a white rose wreath from which will depend a long tulle veil.

In Queen Victoria's diary there is quite a long description of the dresses worn by her coronation maids of honor, and it is said they interested the girl Queen more than did her own stately robes. They also were of white satin, but were much more elaborately trimmed than those of Queen Alexandra trainbearers, and jewelled bands were worn with them instead of the rose wreaths and tulle veils.

LORD LONSDALE IN DEED OF CHARITY

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

LORD LONSDALE "killed two birds with one stone" this week, for in presenting Frank Thomson, an old hearthstone dealer who had fallen on hard times, with a new donkey and barrow he did a charitable act which gave the International Horse Show, of which he is the president, a splendid advertisement.

In handing over the "new lot" to Thomson and his wife he wished them both good luck and said, "Mind you, behave well on your honeymoon," as he shook them warmly by the hand, the while he chuckled genially at the mild joke of his last phrase.

Arrangements are now well in hand for the big International Horse Show. The prizes to be offered approximate in value close upon £13,000, a record sum for any horse show. The King, who has become a patron of the show, has offered a £100 (£2,500) gold cup for jumping. The cup will be known as the King George V. Gold Cup, while in addition the King Edward VII. £250 Gold Cup is again offered for competition by teams of officers of any nationality.

THE SCALA THEATRE TRIES A NEW IDEA

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The Scala Theatre is the most beautiful in London, but it is located in Soho, and a beautiful theatre is about as appropriate to Soho as pajamas to a pig. The result is that for several years the Scala Theatre has been closed most of the time.

The other night, however, it opened under new auspices and with a unique entertainment that may make this charming playhouse a popular rendezvous for persons who do not live in Soho and have ideas of an evening's entertainment more ambitious than a sixpenny music hall.

Mr. Charles Urban has taken over the theatre and will make it the home for the production of his famous colored moving pictures. The bill consists mainly of some very interesting examples of this wonderful new art, which he calls "Kinemacolor." Among other things he showed us in lifelike colors on the screen were battles between insects and various flowers, changing from buds to blooms, the change which nature takes a day to accomplish being done in a second.

GAY SEASON BEGINS • A DICKEN'S CLASH • UNSIGHTLY LONDON

LIGHT SCHEME FOR THE CORONATION

Illuminations in London Will Depend on Private Purses.

SAFETY TO COME FIRST

Buildings Will Be Kindled on the Lines Where There Is no Element of Danger.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

Details of the main scheme for the illumination having been settled by the Executive Committee at St. James' Palace, it now becomes evident that the splendour of illuminated London on coronation night, will depend on private enterprise. Government buildings will be disappointingly chilly by their gloom. The Government has made no plans for illuminating public buildings.

The case of the National Gallery dutifully for the safety of the art treasures housed in that big building has been upheld, and it is likely that no more will be attempted than a modest device in the form of an illuminated crown shining over the entrance porch. Even this, it is said, has the element of danger, and nothing is to be done in Trafalgar Square which will for a moment imperil the nation's splendid house of pictures.

Fear of the risk of fire is not the excuse, however, for leaving the greater part of Whitehall in comparative darkness on coronation night. A parsimonious policy of "keeping down the gas bill" appears to prevail with His Majesty's Office of Works, and helped by a Treasury instruction to "save the light," that authority has so far produced no scheme of coronation illuminations.

Similarly Buckingham Palace is to be left to its own devices in lighting and trimming public offices, while Cabinet Ministers transact the business of the country with decorative flames, and Foreign Embassies will leave them severely alone, or merely adorn them with coloured electricity.

In striking contrast, therefore, will the treatment now being adopted for the Paris Government buildings. The Ministry of Finance, for instance, means to spend a small fortune on making a merry blaze in the city. Four miles of electric cable and more than five thousand electric lamps are to be used. The porch of the main buildings will be surmounted by a monstrous lamp sixty feet high, formed of many suns, chamrock and thistle, enclosing the letters "G. R." and supporting the Imperial crown. The royal monogram will similarly adorn the corners of the buildings, and the windows will be picked out in white and ruby lights.

After prolonged discussion between Sir William Carleton and Mr. Arthur Collins, a charming scheme has been evolved for the decoration of Drury Lane Theatre on the occasion of the command performance of Bulwer Lytton's comedy "Money" before the King and Queen and the German Emperor and Empress on May 17.

The interior of the playhouse will be transformed into an idyll of Dresden china. The whole of the floor space will be occupied by fauteuils in ivory white and gold upon a bed of deep lavender, that being the tone selected for the carpet. The back of each seat will bear a posy of flowers, the view of the parterre approximating in effect to a vast garden of flowers. The dominant note of the decoration will be a delicate cornflower blue upon a ground of ivory white, the emphatic note being afforded by magnificent groups of deep rich coloured tulips, forming the point d'appui for wreaths of foliage garlanded by the tulip red of soft silk ribbon.

A delicate bloom of moonlight green will be given by the pale tone of the tulip leaves. The horizontal lines of the theatre will be broken by a central canopy over the seats of the royal and imperial party, and from either side will fall great pendent draperies of royal ermine, showing between their folds the glint of deep red satin on the reversed sides of the canopy hangings. The ceiling will be completely hidden by a dexterous arrangement of pendant foliage disposed between wreathed electric lights. The ensemble of the decorative effect will be found to be that of a vast flower set with innumerable radiant lights.

MAKING PORTRAITS OF KING GEORGE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE equestrian portrait of King George, which will have its crown around it at the Paris Salon, originated in a rather unusual way. Mons. Georges Scott, the French artist with the eminently North British patronymic, was in England at King Edward's funeral in the interests of a Paris newspaper. He made a sketch of King George as he appeared on that occasion, for the first time in a field marshal's uniform. This sketch attracted some influential notice, and Mons. Scott was, in consequence, "commanded" to the Palace. Eventually he got the commission which has made him famous.

The announcement that Sir Luke Fildes has been commanded to paint the State portrait of King George has caused little surprise, as Sir Luke has had a good deal of experience with this kind of work. Almost exactly ten years ago he was commissioned to paint a portrait of King Edward.

From his brush also came the portraits of the present King and Queen at the time of their marriage, and he painted also the beautiful State portrait of Queen Alexandra. It was Sir Luke also who made the drawing of the late King after death. Queen Alexandra, according to every artist and photographer to whom she has given sittings is, an excellent subject. Queen Mary, on the other hand, is a "difficult" sitter, and seldom gets justice done to her good looks, owing, perhaps, to the fact that she finds sittings irksome and regards a waste of time.

Historic Elizabethan Staircase Built for William Cecil In 1564 To Be Sold at Auction at Theobalds Park

ELIZABETHAN STAIRCASE AND GALLERY MADE FOR WILLIAM CECIL IN 1564, TO WHOM THEOBALDS THEN BELONGED

Vicissitudes of This Royal Relic Form a Story of Very Wide Interest.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.]
London, Saturday.

THOUGH the historic estate of Theobalds Park itself will not come under the hammer yet, having been devised by Lady Meux to Captain Hedworth Lambton, while old Temple Bar also will remain in its present position, still the eight days sale of the valuable contents of the mansion by Messrs. Wartage, which starts on May 15, should draw collectors and amateurs from every part.

The glou of the whole sale undoubtedly will be the historic Elizabethan staircase in Theobalds, of magnificently carved oak, which is unique as regards decoration and preservation.

The history of the vicissitudes of this royal relic is distinctly interesting. It was made for William Cecil in 1564 for his Palace of Theobalds, which he afterward exchanged with James I. for Hatfield.

When Cromwell practically destroyed Theobalds the staircase was rescued entire and transferred to the old manor house in the grounds of the property. There it remained for two centuries forgotten by all save a few archaeological enthusiasts. About 1670 the manor house was let to a captain in the army, who, shortly after taking possession, was asked by an artist for leave to take drawings of this staircase. This gentleman informed his host—who up till then had scarcely noticed the staircase, except to admire it generally—that he was housing an angel unawares and that his staircase was unique.

Within a month Sir Henry Meux wrote and offered his tenant £500, and later £1,000 ($5,000), if he would allow him to remove the staircase to Theobalds. Not being in want of money the offer was refused. Three years later, however, the captain applied for leave to sublet or sell his lease; then Sir Henry had his chance. He offered to cancel the lease, which offer was, of course, accepted, and this was how the staircase once more returned to its original home, the manor house having to be almost pulled to pieces to get it out.

The staircase consists of sixteen very broad steps, a landing and gallery twenty feet long, and eight elaborately carved newels, and is almost in its original condition.

Besides this architectural gem there are no less than ten thousand ounces of plate, mostly of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, besides some splendid specimens of old Sheffield plate, and, of course, Lady Meux's well known collection of very early Egyptian mummies and other antiquities, including the mummified remains of Ankeru, a high priest who officiated 2,600 years before Christ."

The silver, aptly enough for a brewer's collection, includes a dozen seventeenth century tankards, an almost unprecedented number for one collection; several fine porringers and monteths of the same period and twenty-one seal top and Apostle spoons—which nowadays run into hundreds of pounds apiece if of the right date and pattern. The present lot contains five Elizabethan, five James I., four Charles I. and two Commonwealth specimens. In addition to these items there are no fewer than twenty-eight Charles II. silver dinner plates dated 1685 and a similar number of Scotch make dated 1782. There are also numerous baluster goblets, jugs, salvers and caddies, nearly all of the seventeenth century or earlier, besides a valuable collection of miscellaneous bric-a-brac of every description, for Lady Meux was a wealthy and wide collector.

In the Home of Lady Meux, with Many Other Collections of Worth.

CHARLES DICKENS CAUSE OF A CLASH

The Great Author Himself Forbade Any Public Testimonial to His Memory.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE opposition to the Dickens testimonial has lately been rather vicious, and a large number of letters have been sent to the press maintaining that such a testimonial is against the expressed wishes of the great novelist. The battle-ground on which the controversy has raged is the proviso Dickens inserted in his will forbidding any public testimonial to his memory or the erection of any statue of himself.

The question is whether this proviso was intended to hold good a century after it was written, and even in the face of the need of some of the author's descendants.

The British Dickens Centenary Committee is a marvellous body of distinguished men, and they think the proviso should not now hold good. The method by which the committee, at the head of which is Lord Rosebery, hope to create the testimonial fund for the benefit of Dickens' descendants, who are badly off, is by the sale of the Dickens stamps, which they expect every Dickens lover to place in the copies of Dickens' books which he possesses. It is reckoned that there are 40,000,000 copies of the author's works extant in Great Britain and America, and if the Dickens penny stamp is put in a quarter of these the committee will have accomplished what they desire.

To ascertain whether the attacks by those who believe that the promoters of the scheme are running counter to Dickens' wishes have produced any effect upon the committee a correspondent called upon Mr. Beckles Willson, the secretary, who expressed the belief that the testimonial movement will outlive all opposition.

"Dickens," he said, "literally wore himself out in order to make provision for those he loved, and we are doing this for his descendants because, through undeserved misfortune, they have not retained the position in which Dickens believed he had placed them.

"Lord Rosebery," he added, "has bought 12,000 Dickens stamps, and he writes, 'It would be terrible if my books were found without stamps in them.'"

Stamps have been placed in the King's books at Windsor Castle and Buckingham Palace, and Queen Alexandra has placed 250 stamps in her books.

COMPARING WAGES HERE AND ABROAD

Interesting Statistics Concerning the Workingmen in England and the United States.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE latest census of the workingmen in the United States are rather more than two and a quarter times as great as of those in England and Wales, and since there is no proof that employment is more intermittent in the United States than in Great Britain a much greater margin is available, even when allowance has been made for the increased expenditure in food and rent.

So it is stated in the introductory memorandum of the report of an inquiry by the Board of Trade into working class rents, housing and rental prices, together with the rates of wages in certain occupations in the principal industrial towns of the United States. The inquiry was the fifth of a series undertaken by the Board in the more industrial towns of various countries.

It began in February, 1909, and the whole of the statistical data were collected from investigations in twenty-eight towns, these being scattered over an area nine times as great as that of the United Kingdom, and save perhaps for a few of the oldest and most thickly populated States they illustrate, says Mr. G. B. Ashwith, in a prefatory note, a stage of urban development and urban concentration long advanced than has been reached in the United Kingdom.

In spite of increased industrialisation the United States is still primarily a great agricultural community. The percentage of the occupied population in the United States engaged in agriculture, under a less intensive system, is nearly three times as high as in the United Kingdom, and alike on account both of its agricultural and its mineral resources the United States, adds Mr. Ashwith, is still economically one of the most self-contained countries in the world.

As before, the comparison of wages has been restricted to occupations common to all towns, namely, those of the building, engineering and printing trades, which show, in general, no marked divergences, and the differences are not greater than those shown to exist as between the towns of England and Wales.

As regards rent, the American workman pays, on the whole, a little more than twice as much as the English workman for the same amount of house accommodation, and another peculiarity shown in the comparatively small consumption of bakers' bread in the average American working class family, the consumption being eight pounds weekly a family, as against twenty-two pounds in the United Kingdom.

London Unsightly at Present Time

Much Work Is Being Done in the Way of Preparation for the Coronation.

BUILDING THE STANDS

What It Will Cost Americans to Attend the Event and What the English Will Pay.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE approach of the coronation is not improving the appearance of London just at present, for it is necessary, the numbers of carpenters in the country being, after all, limited, to make a start with the erection of grand stands to view the royal processions in coronation week. On every vacant piece of ground along the processional routes the stand builders are now at work, for stands put up close to the time of the coronation will be exceedingly costly, owing to the way the wages of carpenters will soar as the multitude of orders come along for the minor stands in shop and house windows. As at the last coronation, prices may also be had for stands on such precarious edifices of vantage as the housetops.

Some statistician has ventured to guess that 5,000 miles of planking will be needed for the stands used on coronation day and on the day of the royal progress through seven and a half miles of London's streets. To the inhabitants of the streets in South London who have long tenancies of houses the decision of the King and Queen to include South London in their progress has brought joy; but many of the weekly tenants, who are very numerous about that part of the route, are in a state of perturbation. They dread that they will be given notice to quit, in order that the windows of their dwellings may be let to wealthier people who desire to view the procession on June 22.

In order to accommodate the rush of Americans who can spare only a few days for the trip the Cunard company is arranging for one of its Goliaths to make a dash across the Atlantic, it being reckoned that there are enough wealthy persons in the United States to whom time is more precious than money to justify the venture.

This implies that "attending the coronation" for four days in England will cost several hundred persons anything from £50 to £12,500 each—this last figure representing the outlay of a person who engages the "royal suite" each way across the Atlantic and engages a set of rooms at one of the best hotels, with four windows overlooking the route of the coronation procession.

On the other hand, people living anywhere within two hundred miles of London will be able to see the great coronation procession for a dollar or two. The railway companies feeding London are all arranging wonderful programmes of special trains and excursions at very cheap rates in some cases. Visitors will get a day in London and four hundred miles of express travel for about $2.50.

Between these two extremes one may spend practically any intermediate sum. Some people of course—peers and peeresses, for example—have of necessity to incur certain definite expenses. The humblest individual who has the honor to be summoned to attend the King and Queen at the Abbey—the Mayor of some small borough or the junior official living on his salary—will have to present himself in full dress, namely, court dress or full uniform or robe, while his wife, if she be summoned, will have to find from $700 to $800 for her court dress.

A carriage of some sort, with two servants, is obligatory, and this will mean from $25 for an ordinary liveried brougham hired for the day from stables in South London to $175 for a pair horse landau hired in Knightsbridge. Most peers and peeresses already have their robes and coronets, owing to the short time which has elapsed since the last coronation.

If they have not, they can pay from $40 for an electro-gilt marquis's coronet at one of the large stores to $175 for a heavy water-gilt earl's coronet at a famous Bond street establishment; or $125 for the same in Regent street or the Haymarket.

A very interesting coronation gift is now on its way to England from the women of St. Vincent. The idea originated with Lady Sadler, wife of the Governor of the Windward Islands, and the Hon. Mrs. Murray, wife of the administrator of St. Vincent, and the humblest inhabitants of the island eagerly availed themselves of the privilege of subscribing. The gift, a parasol, is made of finely embroidered muslin worked by the poorest of the most prominent woman of the colony.

DORCHESTER HOUSE A SOCIETY PIVOT

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

DORCHESTER HOUSE with the return of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid again has become the pivot round which Anglo-American society, both resident and migratory, revolves. As soon as spurning is over at the Court a succession of brilliant entertainments will signalise what probably will prove the last of Mr. Whitelaw Reid's as American Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

Among the many presentations which Mrs. Whitelaw Reid will make of American women and debutantes at the courts one which will engage personal interest is that of her daughter-in-law (née Rogers), and who with her husband will arrive in London shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Reid will take up their residence for a time at Dorchester House, but will after the coronation season return to their permanent home in America. On the other hand, the Ambassador's daughter, Mrs. John Ward, and her husband have at last settled upon a London house of their own, and as soon as arrangements can be made will go to No. 6 St. James' Square, where they have the Duchess of Buckingham for a neighbor. They have taken the house on a lease from its owner, the Marquis of Bristol. The necessary alterations and decorations have already all been carried out.

WHITE SATIN FOR TRAIN BEARERS

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

QUEEN MARY has chosen white satin as the material for the gowns of her six train bearers at the coronation. The dresses will be made after the elegantly simple fashion of the day, and are sure to look extremely effective against the gold and purple of the Queen's robes.

They are to have short trains and pearl trimmings, and each trainbearer will be herself crowned by a white rose wreath from which will depend a long tulle veil.

In Queen Victoria's diary there is quite a long description of the dresses worn by her coronation maids of honor, and it is said they interested the girl Queen more than did her own stately robes. They also were of white satin, but were much more elaborately trimmed than those of Queen Mary's train-bearers, and jewelled bands were worn with long instead of the wreaths and tulle veils.

LORD LONSDALE IN DEED OF CHARITY

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

LORD LONSDALE "killed two birds with one stone" this week, for in presenting Frank Thomson, an old hearthstone dealer who had fallen on hard times, with a new donkey and barrow he did a charitable act which gave the International Horse Show, of which he is the president, a splendid advertisement.

In handing over the "new lot" to Thomson and his wife he wished them both good luck and said, "Mind you, behave well on your honeymoon," as he shook them warmly by the hand, the while he chuckled genially at the mild joke of his last phrase.

Arrangements are now well in hand for the Big International Horse Show. The prizes to be offered approximate in value close upon £12,000, a record sum for any horse show. The King, who has become a patron of the show, has offered a cup (£2,100) gold cup for jumping. The cup will be known as the King George V. Gold Cup, while in addition the King Edward VII. £200 Gold Cup is again offered for competition by teams of officers of any nationality.

THE SCALA THEATRE TRIES A NEW IDEA

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The Scala Theatre is the most beautiful in London, but it is located in Soho, and a beautiful theatre is about as appropriate to Soho as pajamas to a pig. The result is that for several years the Scala Theatre has been closed most of the time.

The other night, however, it opened under new auspices and with a unique entertainment that may make this charming playhouse a popular rendezvous for persons who do not live in Soho and have ideas of an evening's entertainment more ambitious than a sixpenny music hall.

Mr. Charles Urban has taken over the theatre and will make it the home for the production of his famous colored moving pictures. The bill consists mainly of some very interesting examples of this wonderful new art, which he calls "Kinemacolor." Among other things he showed us in lifelike colors on the screen were battles between insects and various flowers changing from buds to blooms, the change which nature takes a day to accomplish being done in a second.

London's Brilliant Season Of 1911 Just Beginning

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE Easter holidays over, the much anticipated season of 1911 may now be said to be beginning, and to say that every one will be weary beyond expression by the time that Cowes and Goodwood come is to put it rather mildly. For the remainder of April there are race meetings every day, there are also weddings at the rate of about twenty a day. For the opera season at Covent Garden all the boxes have been booked up in anticipation of a brilliant season, and although the King and Queen are not so fond of opera as their predecessors, their appearance in the royal box together will probably be more frequent.

The two great omnibus boxes, into the right hand one of which the late King Edward was wont to slip so often unnoticed, have been subscribed to, as usual, among others, by the Marquis de Soveral, Lord Farquhar, Count Mensdorff, Count Benckendorff, the De Murietta brothers and Mr. Pandeli Ralli. The Princess Royal again has the box adjoining the smaller royal one, while Lady Charles Beresford, with Mme. Vagliano and Baroness de Meyer on alternate nights, has the box adjoining the omnibus box.

The King and Queen, who have been spending their Easter at Windsor Castle, are expected to be often in residence with the Court there during the holidays of the present reign, as it is their intention to use it as their chief country home. Easter at Windsor is one of the innovations of the new reign. King Edward was almost invariably on the Continent at this time of year during the latter years of his reign, and even when in England did not go to Windsor for Easter, while Queen Victoria liked to spend most of the holidays at Osborne.

Preparations for the four courts which the King and Queen are holding next month are now in progress, and West End dressmakers and tailors find themselves severely taxed to complete the heavy orders which have been put upon them.

The Court on May 9 will be entirely official and diplomatic. The royal circle will be a very large one, as both Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria will be present, but as it is the first Court of the new reign it is sure to be a very brilliant function. The Duchess of Devonshire will make her appearance as the new mistress of the robes, in succession to the Duchess of Buccleuch, who for thirty years has been a prominent figure in the Queen of England's entourage, and Lady Shaftesbury, Lady Ampthill, Lady Desborough, Lady Minto, and Queen Mary's maids of honour—Miss Hayl Broderick, Miss Lyd, Miss Venetia Baring and Miss Katherine Villiers, all of whom are newly appointed will be in attendance.

Mrs. Whitelaw Reid will make the presentations for America, and the Russian, Spanish and Italian Ambassadresses will act in the same capacity for their respective countries. The duty of acting the wives of distinguished foreign guests to the King and Queen usually falls to the wife of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, but as Sir Edward Grey is a widower it probably will devolve upon Lady Grey to make the presentations. Interesting new representatives of the Powers to appear at the Court of St. James for the first time, on May 9, are the Chinese Minister and Mme. Lui Yu Lin; the Envoy of the Argentine Republic, the Chilian Minister, Señor Edwards, and his beautiful young wife, and the Minister of the new Republic of Portugal, who has just been appointed to succeed the Marquis de Soveral.

The list of débutantes and brides for presentation at the courts on May 10, 16 and 18, is the longest ever dealt with at the Lord Chamberlain's office, the reason for this being that the courts which were to have been held last May and June had to be cancelled.

The Princess Royal's two daughters, Princess Alexandra and Princess Maud, who make their formal début this season, are expected to accompany their parents to the balls at Devonshire House and Derby House on May 11 and June 27, while there is every likelihood that the young Princesses will be seen at Stafford House when the Duchess of Sutherland gives a ball there for the début of her daughter, Lady Rosemary Mevsen-Gower. She has chosen the day after the coronation—Friday, June 23—and it is expected that the King and Queen, as well as the foreign royalties then in London, will honor the occasion with their presence.

Apart from a girl who died before she was three years old, Lady Rosemary, who will be eighteen in August, is the only daughter of the marriage. She is the first débutante of this ducal house for nearly forty years. The last was Lady Florence, the daughter of the late sister of the present, or fourth, Duke. She married Mr. Henry Chaplin in 1870, and died in 1891, leaving a son and a daughter, the latter of whom is now Lady Castlereagh.

Not since the Dowager Duchess of Devonshire gave her famous "historic ball" at Devonshire House some years ago, which the late King Edward attended with Queen Alexandra, has society taken such interest in a dance as is now being evinced over the Shakespearian ball that is to be held in the Royal Albert Hall in coronation week. Practically every one in society will be present on this occasion in the garb of one or other of Shakespeare's characters. One of the most interesting quadrilles will be that which is being organised by Lady Tree. In this Mr. F. E. Smith, K. C., will represent Romeo, and Mrs. Smith, Juliet; Mr. Henry Ainley being Hamlet and Miss Marie Lohr Ophelia; Lord Winterton will appear as Benedick and Miss Kitty Shannon as Beatrice. There is hope that the King and Queen will grace the ball with their presence, but this is a matter upon which decision can not be arrived.

FASHION-CRAFT CLOTHES

have lasting virtues and shape-retaining powers. Price range $15 up.

Hundreds of patterns to select from—each chosen for more than looks.

Style of the latest—workmanship of the best—fit second to none.

What more do you want? Anything?

If so it's there.

Peterborough Agency:

A. M. LAIDLAW

Is There Danger In Your School?

If your school is ceiled with plaster your children—and many others—dwell under a menace. For plaster ceilings may crash down and kill or maim at any moment. Cover old plaster ceilings with PRESTON Steel Ceilings—light, strong, beautiful, sanitary (because washable) and fireproof. Do this without removing the old plaster—we will tell you how. The cost is NOT high; yet these ceilings will outlast the building itself. Have SAFE ceilings. Send for the illustrated book. Write this very day to

METAL SHINGLE & SIDING CO., Limited
PRESTON, ONTARIO

Branch Offices and Factory, Montreal, Quebec

Preston Ceilings
Steel

Choirleaders and Soloists

Are particularly invited to call and try over these New Sacred Selection a

$1.00 10 Sacred Solos in Sheet Music $1.00

These solos are all of easy range and delightful melody and rare value at the above price

Peterborough Music Co.

404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

TWO OF A TRADE

A Short Story

"Fares please!"

The omnibus conductor stood in front of a lady, young, and not ill looking, and waited. As he waited he flicked his packet of tickets with the forefinger of his right hand. The lady addressed seemed to experience some difficulty in finding the sum required. Her fob in a bag which was hanging at her waist. The operation to the accompaniment of a running fire of apparently pleased (or were they?) remarks from her fellow passengers; and the bus was full; indeed, her manoeuvres were the cause of some inconvenience to her immediate neighbors. At last she delivered herself of a piece of information.

"I've lost my purse!"

The conductor eyed her stolidly. He was not as young as he had been. Possibly a long experience of bus conducting had brought him into intimate relations with ladies who did lose things; so that his sympathies were dulled.

"Lost your purse?"

He echoed her words as if the matter was not of the slightest interest to him.

"Yes; that is, I had it when I came into the bus—I'm afraid it has been stolen."

"Stolen?" echoed the conductor—still with an air of complete indifference.

"Yes," said an old man, who was on the seat opposite, at the end farthest from the door; "and that man sitting by you is the man as took it."

Since Bruce Palliser was the only man sitting by her the allusion could only be to him. He turned on the speaker in surprise.

"Are you suggesting, sir, that I have stolen the lady's purse?"

"That's it; that's what I'm suggesting. Only it's more than a suggestion. I seen you fumbling with the lady's skirt. I wondered what you was up to. Now I know."

A woman sitting on the other side of the purseless lady interposed.

"Here's a penny, if that's any good—or, for the matter of that, here's twopence. It's not nice for any of us to be crowded in the same bus with parties who say they've had their purses stolen."

"I'm afraid it isn't," admitted the sufferer. "I'm very sorry, but—all my money was in my purse. If you would let me have a penny I should be very much obliged."

The penny was forthcoming.

"Do you make any charge?" inquired the conductor, as he handed over the ticket in exchange.

"No," rejoined the lady. "I do not."

"He's got it on him now," asserted the old gentleman in the corner. "If you'll hand him over to a policeman you'll find he has."

"I trust," exclaimed Mr. Palliser, "that you'll afford me an oportunity to prove that what this person says is absolutely false."

The young lady stood up.

"Please stop the bus. I'm going to get out."

"You call a policeman," persisted the old gentleman. "You'll soon find where your purse is."

"But madam!" cried Mr. Palliser. The bus stopped. The young lady began to move towards the door. Bruce Palliser following, appealing to her as he did so. "Madam, if you will give me your attention for a single instant!"

The young lady alighted. Mr. Palliser alighted also. The bus went on.

"I see him take it," announced the old gentleman in the corner. "Put it in his pocket, I believe he did."

Bruce Palliser, standing in the roadway, tried to induce the young lady to give him a chance to establish his innocence.

"If you will permit me to explain who I am, I will make it quite clear to you—"

She cut him short.

"Have the kindness not to address me."

She climbed into a passing hansom. He had to spring to one side to avoid being cut down by a furniture van. By the time the van had gone the cab had gone also.

Later in the day he rushed into the station with just time enough to enable him to catch the train which was to take him home. He had already entered a compartment before he realised that a seat near the door was occupied by the young lady of the omnibus. The recognition was obviously mutual. Something in her attitude made him conscious of a ridiculous sense of discomfort. He felt that if he did not leave the carriage she would—although the train was about to start. Scrambling back on to the platform he was hustled into another compartment by an expostulating guard. When the train stopped at Market Hinton, and he got out, he observed that the young lady of the omnibus was emerging from the compartment from which he had retreated with so small a show of dignity. Apparently she also had reached her journey's end. He thought he knew most of the people who lived thereabouts, at least by sight. He had certainly never seen her before. Who could she be?

Stupidly enough he hung about the station, allowing himself to be button-holed by an old countryman who was full of his sufferings from rheumatism—one of that large tribe with which every doctor is familiar, the members of which never lose a chance of obtaining medical advice for nothing. He was not in the best of tempers by the time that he reached home. Nor was his temper improved by the greeting which he received from Jack Griffiths, who had acted as his locum tenens during his enforced absence from London.

"You're not looking any better for your change," declared Jack, who had an unfortunate—and exasperating—knack of seeing the pessimistic side of things. "You're looking all mops and brooms."

"I'm not feeling all mops and brooms—whatever state of feeling that may be. On the contrary, I'm feeling as fit as I ever felt in the whole of my life."

"Then you're not looking it; which is a pity. Because it's my opinion that you'll want all the health you can lay your hands on if you're to continue to hold your own in Market Hinton."

"What might you happen to mean, you old croaker?"

"It's easy to call me a croaker, sir; but facts are facts; and I tell you that that new doctor's making things hum—cutting the grass from under your very feet."

"What new doctor?"

"The new doctor. I wasn't aware that there was more than one. If there is then you're in greater luck even than I thought you were."

"Are you alluding to that female creature?"

"I am. I am alluding to Dr. Constance Hughes, M.D., London. Mrs. Vickers is of opinion that she's a first-rate doctor."

"Mrs. Vickers!—why she's one of my oldest patients."

"Precisely—which is perhaps one reason why she feels disposed to try a change. Anyhow she called Dr. Constance Hughes in one day, when that medical lady happened to be passing; and I'm inclined to think that, if she could only see her way, she'd like to call her in again."

"Pretty unprofessional conduct! What does the woman mean by it?"

"Which woman? Dr. Constance Hughes? She's nothing to do with it. She had to go in when she stepped her on the high road; but, from what I understand, when she learnt that Mrs. Vickers was your patient, she declined to call again. Than her conduct nothing could have been more professional. But it isn't only Mrs. Vickers. I hear golden opinions of her on every side. And she drives some of the finest horses I ever saw."

"So I've been told. Thank goodness, so far I've seen neither the woman nor her horses; but if half they say is true, she knows more of horse flesh than of medicine."

"Then, in that case, she must be a dabster. Heaps of money, I'm informed;—taken up the profession simply for the sake of something to do, and because she loves it.—Bruce, Dr. Constance Hughes is going to be a dangerous rival!"

Such, ere long, was to be Bruce Palliser's own opinion.

When, the following afternoon, he returned from his rounds, he learned that an urgent summons had come for him, earlier in the day, from Mrs. Daubeny, one of his most influential patients. He hurried round to her. On his arrival at the house the maid who opened the door informed him that the other doctor was upstairs. As he had not come, and Mrs. Daubeny was in such pain, they had sent for other assistance. While she was speaking, the maid conducted him upstairs. Opening a door, she ushered him in,—announcing his appearance.

"Dr. Palliser."

He found himself in a bedroom; with someone lying in the bed and two women standing on either side of it. One of the women he recognized as Foster, Mrs. Daubeny's housekeeper, and the other—as the lady of the omnibus. He stared at her in blank amazement. Although she had her hat on, her sleeves were turned up, and she was holding in her hand what he perceived to be a clinical thermometer. Foster went—awkwardly enough—through a form of introduction.

"Oh, Dr. Palliser, I'm so glad you've come!—This is Miss Hughes,—I mean Dr. Hughes. Mrs. Daubeny has been so bad that if she hadn't come I don't know what we should have done."

Mr. Palliser bowed;—so stiffly that the inclination of his head only just amounted to a movement. The lady was as stiff. Although she looked him full in the face there was that in the quality of her glance which almost hinted that she did not notice he was there. She explained the position;—in a tone of voice which could hardly have been more frigid.

"Mrs. Daubeny has had an attack of acute laryngitis; rather a severe one. Fortunately, however, the worst is over;—unless, that is, it should recur."

"I am obliged to you. I have had the honour to treat Mrs. Daubeny on former occasions. I will see that all is done that is necessary."

The lady returned her thermometer to its case. She turned down her sleeves. She donned a sable jacket which Mr. Palliser could not but feel was not unbecoming. With the curtest possible nod to the newcomer she quitted the room.

At his solitary meal that night, the more Bruce Palliser turned matters over in his mind the less he liked them.

"This is a nice kettle of fish!—To think of her being Dr. Constance Hughes! For all I know she may actually be of opinion that it was I who stole her purse!—as that lying old scoundrel asserted. I should like to wring his neck! She wouldn't condescend to even give me a hearing;—the vixen! She has a first-rate tale to tell against me, anyhow. Why, if she chooses to tell everyone that someone stole her purse, and that there was a man in the omnibus who declared he saw me take it, I shan't even be able to bring an action for slander;—the thing is true enough. I ought to have dragged that old ruffian out by the hair of his head, and made him own them and there that he lied. I've half a mind to write to her and [illegible] on her giving me an opportunity [illegible]. But she wouldn't do [illegible] that kind of a woman. I know [illegible] exactly the way she treated [illegible] acquaintance that she means to get [illegible] into me;—and well in, too. [illegible] made rival enough [illegible]. I've [illegible] plaintiffs of [illegible]—but a female! I may as well announce my intention for sale while there's any of it left to sell. That woman won't leave a stone unturned to ruin me."

During the next few days he was destined to hear more of Dr. Constance Hughes than he cared for. She seemed to have impressed other people a good deal more favourably than she had him. Market Hinton is in the centre of a hunting country. The fact that she had quite a string of first-rate horses; and that she could handle the "ribbons" as well as any coachman, and had an excellent seat in a saddle, appealed to the local imagination in an especial degree. To be a "good sportsman" meant much at Market Hinton;—of anyone who reached that high standard they could think no evil. Bruce Palliser found that, because Dr. Constance Hughes had hunters who, with her on them, could hold their own in any country, and in any company, people were taking it for granted that her medical qualifications must necessarily be unimpeccable.

Old Rawlins, of "The King's Head" put the case in a nutshell.

"She drives a mare that would win a prize at any show in England;—and it does you good to see the way she drives her. That mare wants some driving! I say that a woman who can handle a horse like she can handle that mare ought to be able to handle anything. She shall have the handling of Mrs. Rawlins the next time she's ill;—I'll have her sent for."

Bruce Palliser was to make the close acquaintance of the mare in question before very long; and in a fashion which did not tend to give him such a high opinion of the creature as Mr. Rawlins possessed.

Just as he was preparing for dinner a call came to a patient who lived the other side of the town. His stable only contained one horse; and that had already done a good day's work. Taking out his bicycle he proceeded to the patient's house on that. He was not detained long. Glancing at his watch as he was about to return he perceived that if he made haste he would not be so very late for dinner after all, and would have a chance of getting something to eat before everything was spoiled. So he bowled along at a pace which was considerably above the legal limit. It was bright moonlight. Until he reached Woodcroft, the residence of Dr. Constance Hughes, he had the road practically all to himself.

Woodcroft was a corner house. As he neared it he became suddenly conscious that a vehicle was coming along the road which bounded it on one side. As he came to the corner the vehicle swept round it. He had just time to see that is was a high dog-cart, and that Dr. Constance Hughes was driving. For some reason the discovery caused him to lose his head. Forgetting that he was riding a free wheel, instead of jamming on the brakes he tried to back pedal. Before he had realised his mistake he was under the horse's hoofs, and the dog-cart had passed right over him.

Mr. Palliser was conscious that the startled animal first reared, then bolted;—or, rather, tried to. Fortunately her master sat behind in the shape of her mistress. Not only was she brought to a standstill; but in less than a minute, Dr. Constance Hughes had descended from the dog-cart, and was kneeling at Mr. Palliser's side.

Her first remark was scarcely sympathetic.

"You ought to have rung your bell," she said.

"I hadn't a bell to ring," he retorted.

"Then you never ought to come out without one; as you're very well aware—What's wrong?"

"Nothing's wrong."

He proved that there was nothing wrong by quietly fainting in the middle of the road.

"What's up?" was the first remark which he made when he returned to consciousness. "What's happened?—Where am I?—What on earth—?"

He stopped,—to groan with pain;—and to recognise the futility of an attempt to sit upright. He lay still; looking about him with wide open eyes. He was in bed,—not his own, but someone else's. And in someone else's room;—one, moreover, which was strange to him. On one side stood Dr. Constance Hughes; behind her was that very general practitioner — and ancient rival—Joseph

Continued on Page 6.

Shiloh's Cure

Quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

Makes Home Baking Easy

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

NO ALUM, NO LIME, NO PHOSPHATE

BRANDRAM-HENDERSON, LIMITED

ENGLISH

—The Paint With The Guarantee

The White base consists of

70% Brandram's B. B. Genuine Govt. Standard White Lead

30% Pure White Zinc

And the guarantee—signed by the Company—goes on the can.

50 shades, in addition to black and white.

The Kingan Hardware Co. Limited

PETERBORO.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

CURE DISEASES OF MEN

PATIENTS TREATED THROUGHOUT CANADA FOR 20 YEARS

DR. KENNEDY, MEDICAL DIRECTOR OF DRS. K. & K.

Drs. K. & K. are favorably known throughout Canada where they have done business for over 20 years. Thousands of patients have been cured and many more are under treatment. Through our system of co-operation of specialists, we have the most Modern Treatments. When you [illegible] them you know you are dealing with responsible physicians as they own and occupy their own office building in Detroit, valued at $100,000. When they decide your case is curable, all your worry is removed for you know they will not deceive you. They guarantee to cure all curable cases. No matter how many doctors have failed to benefit you; no matter how much money you have spent in vain; no matter how discouraged you may be, don't give up in despair until you get a free opinion from these master specialists. If you are as poisoned within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your [illegible]; if you are suffering as the result of a misspent life—Drs. K. & K. are your friends. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.

YOU CAN PAY WHEN CURED

CONSULTATION FREE. Books Free on Diseases of Men. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for HOME TREATMENT

We Treat and Cure VARICOSE VEINS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD and URINARY COMPLAINTS, KIDNEY and BLADDER Diseases and all Diseases Peculiar to Men.

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows: DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.

Write for our private address.

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT

PLATE GLASS - BOILER

INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies

Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y

433 George Street. Limited

Asaya-Neurall

THE NEW REMEDY FOR

Nervous Exhaustion

The depression experienced by women during convalescence from childbirth is never forgotten. The sense of utter nerve fatigue blots out interest in everything. "ASAYA-NEURALL," is invaluable at such times. It feeds the nerves, induces sleep, quickens the appetite, aids digestion, and soon buoyancy of spirits and the sense of nervous vitality returns. $1.50 a bottle. Obtain from the local agent.

McDERMID & JURY.

Library Voting Contest

Two Handsome Libraries of 80 Volumes Each with Oak Sectional Book Cases Will be Given Away in a Library Voting Contest

Below will be found the names of some of the progressive merchants of Peterborough who make this most popular and liberal offer. One library of 80 volumes and handsome sectional bookcases will be given by votes to the lodge, church, society, school or other organization in the City of Peterborough, and one library of 80 volumes to the schools, lodge, society, church or organization in the County of Peterborough, outside of the City of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes in the following manner. The business men listed below will give with each

5 Cent Purchase 5 Votes

The contest begins Saturday, April 1st, 1911, and ends Saturday, Sept. 2nd at 7 o'clock p.m. A ballot box has been placed in the E.L. Payne Drug Store, where the votes are to be deposited.

At the close of the contest the lodge, church, school, society, or organization, in the City of Peterborough, and the County of Peterborough outside of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes will be awarded the libraries.

Current Accounts when promptly paid will be entitled to votes

REMEMBER votes can only be obtained by trading with the Merchants listed below. Each week The Examiner will announce the standing of the contestants. The libraries and cases are on exhibition in E. B. Clegg & Co's show window. The following is a list of the merchants where votes can be secured:

Peterborough Hardware Co.
Hardware and Tools
368 George Street

E. B. Clegg & Co.
Fine Furniture
427 George Street

J. T. Stenson & Sons
Boots and Shoes
364 George Street

Young & Vandewater
Dealers in McCormick Agricultural Implements, High class Vehicles, Harness, etc.
388 Water Street

Robert Cox
Fresh Meats
461 George Street

R. Farthing - Photographer
Successor to Richmond Studio
147 Hunter Street

Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store
Picture Framing, Picture and Art Goods
345 George Street

STYLE STORE FOR MEN
H. LeBrun & Co.
High Class Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Men's Furnishings
386 George Street

Brock Street Roller Rink

Model Dairy Co.
Cream Milk and Buttermilk delivered in the City
281 George Street

Central Milling Co.
All Bags of Flour contain Library Votes according to value

Peterborough Lunch and Restaurant
330 George Street
WE NEVER CLOSE

T. H. Adams
Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Garments and Furnishings
Adams' Store for Women

Otonabee Boat House
H. B. Rye Prop.
Canoes and Boats for hire—Gasoline Launch Supplies

The Peterboro Examiner
Job Work and Advertising

F. C. Cubitt
Books, Stationery, Souvenirs and Fancy Goods
370 George Street

J. M. Greene Music Co.
Green's Music Bldg. Charlotte St.
New Scale Williams Pianos
Heintzman & Co's Pianos

C. B. Routley & Co.
Wall Paper and Chinaware
379 George Street

E. L. Payne
Chemist and Druggist
Corner George and Simcoe

HICKEY
High Class Tailor
434 George Street

A. W. Clysdale & Co.
Successor to W. E. Talbot
Wholesale & Retail Tobacconists
Importers of fine Cigars, Tobaccos and Pipes. 382 George St

W. E. Lech
Hats, Caps and Furs
366 George St. near Simcoe

Peterborough Candy Works
Fine Confectionery & Ice Cream
JAS. HAGGIS
382 George Street

Porter S. White
Grocer, Seeds, etc.
336 George Street

Wesley Bros.
The Clothes Doctors
Corner George and Brock Sts.

Miss E. Smith
Manicurist and Hairdresser
523 George Street

Peterboro Bowling Club
Shooting Gallery and Billiards
332½ George Street

A. E. Micks
Stoves and Tinware
212 Hunter Street

F. S. Schneider & Co.
The Watchmaker and Jeweler
Issuer of Marriage Licenses
391 George Street

J. W. Boorman
Bread and Cake Bakery
55 Hunter Street

Robert Gibbs
Hacks and Livery
421 Water Street

Geo. Ruth & Company
Real Estate
395 Water Street

A. McGiverin
City Millinery Parlours
431 George Street

TWO OF A TRADE

Continued from Page 5.

Harford. It was the lady who replied.

"As to where you are,—you're in my house. And you've come back to your senses just in time to let us know if you would like your leg cut off."

"My leg?"

"I said your leg. At present, it's a question of that only. It may be necessary to proceed further later on."

"What do you mean?"

Bruce Palliser was conscious that his right leg was subjecting him to so much agony that beads of sweat stood on his brow.

"Compound fracture. Tibia and peroneal both broken. Mr. Harford is of opinoin that the only thing is to amputate at once."

"Is he? I'm much obliged."

"I say no."

"Do you?"

"I do! I say they can be set, being of opinion that it's worth while risking something on the off chance of being able to save your leg;—since it's better to go about with two than one."

Mr. Harford shook his head.

"I've had my say; having done so I wash my hands of all responsibility. If we amputate at once your life will not be endangered. If there is any postponment we may not be able to operate at all;—you may lose your life and your leg."

"That is your opinion?"

"It is,—emphatically."

"Then I'll keep my leg.—Set it."

He closed his eyes,—he had to, the pain just then was so exquisite. Presently he opened them again to address the lady,—pointedly. "You set it."

"I intend to. Would you like an anaesthetic? It won't be pleasant."

"No."

"Then grit your teeth. I'll be as quick as I can; but I'm afraid you'll have a pretty bad time."

He gritted his teeth; and he had a pretty bad time. But through it all he recognised that the work was being done by a workman; with skill and judgment; with as much delicacy also as the thing permitted. He had not thought that such a slip of a girl could have had such strength—or courage. When the task was over she gave what sounded like a gratified sigh.

"That's done. You've behaved like a man."

"And you're a surgeon born."

That was all he could mutter. Then he swooned; unconsciousness supervened; he had come to the end of his tether.

The bad time continued longer than he cared to count. The days slipped by, and still he lay in that bed. One morning he asked her.

"How's it going?"

"As well as can be expected; better perhaps. But this is not going to be a five minutes' job;—you know better than that."

"I ought to have let old Harford cut it off;—I should have made a quicker recovery."

"Nonsense. In that case you would never—in the real sense of the word—have recovered at all. Now there's every probability of your being as sound as ever. You only want time. There's no inflammation;—the wound keeps perfectly aseptic. You've a fine physique;—you're doing cleanly. I counted upon these things when I took the chances."

Two days afterwards he broached another matter.

"You will stay where you are. I'm putting you to tremendous expense, and no end of inconvenience. The idea's monstrous. I'm ashamed of myself for having stopped so long. You must have me put into the ambulance at once, and carted home."

"You will stay where you are. I'm in charge of this case. I decline to allow you to be moved."

"But!—"

"But me no buts. As your medical adviser I refuse to permit any interference. In such a matter you, of all persons, ought to set a good example."

He was silent. Not only was he helpless, and too weak for argument; but there was in her manner an air of peremptory authority before which he positively quailed. Yet, the next day, he returned to the attack.

"I don't want there to be any misunderstanding between us; so please realise that I'm quite aware that the accident was entirely my fault; that you were in no way to blame; and that therefore you are not in any sense responsible for my present position."

"I knew that as well as you do. You ought to have had a bell; no bicyclist ought to be without a bell, especially at night. I did not hear you coming, but you heard me—yet you ran right into me, although you heard."

"I lost my head."

"You lost something."

"Therefore I wish to emphasize the fact that I have not the slightest right to encroach upon your hospitality, or your time, or your services."

"Does that mean that you would rather dispense with the latter? Or are you merely again trying to display a refractory spirit?"

"I'm not doing anything of the kind. I simply don't wish to take advantage of your—your generosity."

"Generosity? My good sir, you are mistaken. Yours is an interesting case. I flatter myself that not everybody could have saved that leg of yours. You know how seldom one gets an interesting case at Market Hinton; I mean to make the best of this one now I've got it. You'll regard this as a hospital. And you'll stay in it—as patiently as your nature permits—until, in due course, you receive your discharge."

There was silence. He watched her while she adjusted fresh bandages. He thought that he had never seen work of the kind more deftly done. As she bent over him he noticed what a dainty profile she had; and what beautiful hands. Presently he spoke again.

"Miss Hughes,—"

"Dr. Hughes, if you please. I didn't proceed to my M.D. degree for nothing."

"I beg your pardon—Dr. Hughes, what has become of my patients while I've been lying here?"

"I've been taking them. Do you object?"

"Object? Indeed, no; only—I'm afraid—" He stopped.

"Yes—what are you afraid of?"

"Nothing; that is—I hardly know how you'll take it."

"What are you afraid of?"

"Only that, when they've once tried you they won't care to return to me."

"That's it, is it? I thought so. Do you take me to be that kind of person? I'm extremely obliged."

"You're quite mistaken. I didn't mean it in that way at all, as you know. I meant it for a clumsy compliment."

"It's a kind of clumsy compliment I don't care about—thank you very much."

"But, professionally, you are infinitely cleverer than I am."

"Professionally, I am nothing of the kind. It's not fair of you to laugh at me. Wherever I go people tell me how skilful you are, especially those who know. Besides, you need have no fear of illegitimate competition. It is not likely that I shall remain in Market Hinton."

He started.

"You are not going away?"

"I am—most probably. I only came here as an experiment; from my point of view it is an experiment which has failed."

He was still—to speak again after another interval. A new terrible note was in his speech.

"Dr. Huges, when that man in the omnibus said I had stolen your purse, did you believe him?"

"I did not."

"Not for an instant?"

"Not for an instant. And that for the best of reasons—my purse had not been stolen. I could have bitten my tongue off directly I had allowed myself to hint that it might have been; because it instantly occurred to me that it was well within the range of possibility that I had left it behind me at a shop at which I had been making some purchases. I drove straight back to the shop—and there it was."

"There was nothing for you to explain?"

"Tere was nothing for you to explain. As a matter of fact the explanation would have had to come from me; and I was in too bad a temper for that. Women have a reputation for making spectacles of themselves in that particular fashion. It didn't please me to think that I'd fallen in line with my sisters." She added, after a pause: "You've no notion what a vile temper I have."

"I doubt if it's such a very bad one."

"You doubt? You don't! You, of all people, ought to know what kind of temper I've got."

He smiled—enigmatically.

"I do."

It was sometime afterwards, when he had advanced to the dignity of an easy chair and a leg-rest, that some of the points of that conversation were touched on again. It was he who began.

"Dr. Hughes."

"Doctor Palliser."

The emphasis which she laid upon the "doctor" was most pronounced.

"Pardon me. I am not a Doctor; I am a Licentiate R.C.S."

"Is it necessary that you should always 'Doctor' me?"

Continued on Page 7.

AT WORK IN 3 WEEKS

$4 Worth of Father Morrisey's "No. 7" Cured Her of Inflammatory Rheumatism.

Mrs. Agnes Edgar, of Grand Falls, N.B., had a terrible time with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Anyone who has had this most painful disease will understand her suffering—and her joy when she found Father Morrisey's "No. 7" had cured her. She says:

"I took Father Morrisey's Prescription for Inflammatory Rheumatism. I had suffered everything with it, but in three weeks after starting Father Morrisey's Prescription I was able to do my work, and after taking four dollars worth of medicine I was well. I highly recommend it any sufferer with Rheumatism."

Rheumatism comes from bad kidneys. The poisonous Uric Acid which they should remove stays in the blood, becomes lodged in joints and muscles, and causes agony. Father Morrisey's "No. 7" puts the kidneys right, removes the Uric Acid from the blood and the whole system, and cures the Rheumatism. 50c. a box at your dealer's, or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co. Ltd., Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

KLENZINE

YOUR MAID WILL JOIN THIS HAPPY THRONG after you have bought her one packet of

MOODY'S KLENZINE

The most wonderful washing compound on the market. It makes housework a pleasure by reducing it by one half. For washing dishes, pots or pans and cleaning windows, floors or the bathroom it is unequalled.

KLENZINE is ideal for laundry use as it makes the clothes snowy white, and will not injure the most delicate fabric.

Large packet 10 cents

Sold by all first class grocers
Do not accept substitutes

THE ALPHA CHEMICAL CO., LIMITED
BERLIN - CANADA
For Sale by all Wholesale Grocers

Use the GILLETTE With the Angle Stroke

Jack-knife—draw-knife—plane—scythe—lawn-mower—all edge tools cut cleanest and easiest with the angle stroke.

The angle stroke was the only thing that made the old open-blade razor possible—except as an instrument of torture.

Yet many men use the GILLETTE like a hoe and expect it to cut clean and easy. The superb quality of its cutting edge is proved by the fact that even when used in this way the GILLETTE gives a good shave.

But to get the real satisfaction which the GILLETTE is capable of giving you, you naturally must use the angle stroke. Then you will know and appreciate the genuine luxury of the clean, cool, comfortable, easy three-minute GILLETTE shave.

Buy a GILLETTE and enjoy it—if you haven't one already. If you have one now, use it right and enjoy it to the full.

Standard Sets $5.00 — Pocket Editions $5.00 to $6.00,
At your druggist's, jeweller's or hardware dealer's.

The Gillette Safety Razor Co. of Canada, Limited
Office and Factory, - 63 St. Alexander Street, Montreal

Offices in New York (Times Bldg.), Chicago (Stock Exchange Bldg.), London, Eng., and Shanghai, China.
Factories in Montreal, Boston, Leicester, Berlin and Paris.

The Value of Telephone Service is in the Number of People you can reach, and the Number who can reach you on the whole System.

BELL SERVICE IS UNIVERSAL.

1375 Subscribers to the Peterboro Exchange.
165,000 Stations in Ontario and Quebec.

Present rate of increase greater than ever before.

You cannot afford to be without a Bell Telephone Connection.

The Modern System of Intercommunication and Expert Distribution of Telephone Business.

"I had been given up to die by three of our best doctors,

I could not stand it to be on my feet and I was so swelled in the abdomen I could hardly breathe.

But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine I am able to be about the streets, a walking advertisement of the curative qualities of your remedies, although I am 70 years old."

JOHN R. COCHRAN,
Lewistown, Ill.

Better than any statement we could make regarding the value of

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

are these words of Mr. Cochran. He speaks from experience, the highest possible source of knowledge. If you have any of the signs of a weak heart, such as pain in the left shoulder or arm, fainting and hungry spells, shortness of breath, smothering spells, fluttering or palpitation of the heart, you need which for over twenty years has been recognized as the best preperation of its kind to be had.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

Sold under a guarantee assuring the return of the price of the first bottle if it fails to benefit. AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka Lakes, North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	1.40 a.m.	2.10 a.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	4.45 a.m. 2.15 p.m.	12.40 a.m. 2.45 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and West, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	2.15 a.m.	12.40 a.m.
Quebec, Montreal and East	1.35 p.m.	2.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Bracebridge, Huntsville, Uxbridge & Scarboro	11.40 a.m. 5.00 p.m.	7.10 a.m.
Markham	10.15 p.m.	6.20 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Stirling, Campbellford Madoc, Tweed, Kingston, Montreal and East	8.15 a.m. 6.35 p.m.	8.20 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield	10.50 a.m. 8.15 p.m.	6.35 a.m. 12.50 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.30 a.m. 1.01 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago	4.35 a.m. 6.55 a.m.
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	7.40 a.m. 4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES

TO

WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG and return	"	$33.00
BRANDON	" "	34.60
MOOSE JAW	" "	37.00
EDMONTON	" "	41.00

Also to 80 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

TOURIST SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular

TOURIST ROUTE

TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 384 George St.

B. A. ROSE City Agent

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

FROM MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Empress of Ireland	May 6th
Steamship to London direct	May 6th
Lake Champlain	May 11th
Empress of Britain	May 13th
Lake Manitoba	May 20th
Empress of Ireland	June 2nd
Lake Champlain	June 8th

Special sleeping car to the ship's side Leaving Toronto at 10.30 the evening before, for "Empress" sailings.

I. S. Snokling, General Agent for Ontario, 16 King St. E., Toronto.

Apply to any Ry. or S. S. Agent or to W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent Peterborough.

TWO OF A TRADE

Continued from Page 6.

"Pardon me again. I remember an occasion when you went a little out of your way to make it plain to me that you had not proceeded to your M.D. degree for nothing."

"You needn't always flaunt that in my face."

"I won't, since you appear to have changed your mind—until you change it again." She looked at him, with a gleam in her eyes which was half laughter, half something else. He went on. "At the same time, since what I have to say to you is strictly professional, I don't think that, on this occasion the 'Doctor' Hughes will be out of place. You once said to me that you had some vague intention of not remaining in Market Hinton."

"It wasn't a vague intention then; it is less vague now. I am going."

"That is a pity."

"Why? It will be all the better for you—one competitor less."

"I am afraid I don't see it altogether in that light. You see, I was thinking of taking a partner."

"A partner?"

"Exactly—a partner. The practice was getting a little beyond me. When I am able to move about again, as I soon shall be, thanks to you, it may get beyond me again. Now, what would you say to taking a partner?"

"I? What? Bring another woman here?"

"No, I was not thinking of that. Indeed, I was not thinking of a woman at all. I was thinking of a man."

"A man?"

"I was thinking of myself."

"You! Mr. Palliser!"

"Why shouldn't we—you and I—be partners? Miss Hughes—Dr. Constance"—suddenly, as he went on, she looked down—"don't you think that it is possible that—we might work together? That an arrangement might be made which—would be agreeable to us both?"

"Of course—there is always a possibility."

"Don't you think that, in this instance, there's a probability?"

"There might be."

"Don't you feel that such an arrangement would be—from all possible points of view—a desirable one? I do; I feel it strongly."

"Do you?"

"Don't you?" She was silent; so he continued. "I'd give all I have in the world—all I hope to have—to hear you say that you'd like us to be partners."

She looked up at him.

"I'd like to have you for a partner," she said.

IT'S WORRY THAT KILLS

Nothing so wastes the vital nerve force as worry. Nothing so certainly retards restoration to health. Get out into the sunshine, be cheerful, use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild the wasted nervous system, and you will be surprised how quickly there will be a change for the better. This advice will be better than gold to you if you will but follow it.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

It is a fact which mathematics cannot explain, that the more affection we leave at home the more we carry with us.

• • •

Never let a grievance stand over night; better sacrifice your pride than your peace of mind.

• • •

A happy home does not result from a large income. A large amount of love, plenty of good sense and a very little money will make a happy Home Circle.

• • •

Never think you can afford to be dowdy at home. Cleanliness, hair well dressed, and a smile will make calico look like silk in the eyes of a father or brother.

• • •

Love is the great homemaker, that makes even the drudgery of housekeeping a pleasure, and home life a foretaste of the bliss of heaven. One cannot get too much love into one's homemaking, but easily too little.

• • •

It seems to be difficult in this world for men and women to keep a middle course. For one it is all saving and working, for another all spending and shirking. And neither is happy. Idleness has as many miseries as overwork. It is only those lives in which labor and leisure are united that are truly happy. The middle course is the right course.

• • •

Man can build the house and roof it in, a resistance against the storms and elements: but the man with all his genius and artisan science cannot make the home; that ever has and ever will be the task of women. It is she alone that can bring to it warmth and beauty. Here she reigns supreme.

• • •

The children who are accustomed to seeing their mother with her hair becomingly arranged and in a pretty gown, and who are themselves compelled while young to pay attention to little details of cleanliness and dress, will never grow up into slatternly men and women.

• • •

Success in life does not always mean wealth, fame or position. You may be poor in all of these, but you can be rich in mind and character. The world within you must be developed before you can enjoy the world without you. If you have wealth put some of it into brain power and you can never lose. If you are poor you cannot afford to be poor in both mind and pocket. You can have the wealth of a trained mind and a noble character.

• • •

Condemn your children only when they are really wrong, and then as gently as possible, but be sure to condemn them when they do right. A little praise with a child goes a long way. A child may be very provoking, but not wilfully bad. Attributing bad motives to a thoughtless child has ruined many a little life. Just blame less and praise more, and we shall have better children. Especially as most of their faults are copied from their parents, we should exercise the strictest charity, for verily "Charity doth cover a multitude of sins."

• • •

There is no earthly tie so strong or so sacred as that of motherhood. Society is held together by social ties. Civic societies are bound by money and oaths. These obligations are like girths of steel, yet none hold like the marriage bond when inviolated and unpolluted by vile theories.

• • •

"It's only mother; anything will do for her!" If the words are not often actually expressed, the thought is too often acted upon. And yet if we stop to think, common decency tells us that only the best is good enough for mother—that her devotion, which surpasses all other love, is deserving of the deepest respect and affection, and that to forget her is the blackest and basest crime that man can commit.

• • •

Tired mothers! Always anxious, scheming, planning and economizing how they can manage their detail of domestic life with least expense; for children are such a drain upon the resources of one's time, heart and pocket. The mothers doing double work, triple work themselves, to save for this or that, until the nerves are strained and shattered to a degree unbearable to themselves, and particularly offensive to others.

• • •

If you have any doubt in your mind as to the good that can come to you by living in the sunshine way, we ask you to try for one day and prove by personal experience whether or not it is worth your while to scatter sunshine. Begin at once by trying to make those about you in your home happier. Keep a sharp lookout for little opportunities of helpfulness. Be courteous and kind whenever you speak or are spoken to. Be pleasant to everyone everywhere. Be willing to sacrifice your own personal enjoyment if by doing so you can make another person happier. Do all this and see when night comes if your own heart is not full to overflowing with peace and joy unspeakable.

• • •

There is very little difference between a prisoner and an automobile owner—both are known by their number instead of by their names, and are always an object of suspicion among the police.

• • •

No town can have too much street illumination, at least no town ever has too much. Sufficient street lighting is a preserver of morals and does effective police duty. We would urge our town authorities to consider the question of more adequate street lighting. We need it for mutual welfare.

Dolly's New Home.

Let's make Dolly a new set of furniture. All we need are some small match boxes, some pins, some fine cord and a few corks. As Dolly is the very smallest kind of a doll lady she may have all of her furniture in a small board house made of two or three boxes for the different rooms. First, let's make the parlour furniture. Use a round slice of cork for the seat of achair and four pins for the legs with the heads of the pins to rest on the floor. Stick three pins upright for the chair back. Wind cord in and out of these to make the back stronger and to look more finished. Cut an oblong piece of cork lengthwise for the bottom of the sofa. Put pin legs on it and a pin back woven with cord. For a piano use a small match box. Take out the inside and cut both outside and inside of the box. Now put this half of the inside of the box back into half of the outside of the box, let it project a little way outside to form the keyboard of a piano. Use the other half of the outside of the box for the base of the piano. Make a three legged piano stool with a circular piece of cork and three pins. Dolly's bed may be made by using the inside of a small match box and four small pins for the posts of the bed. Make a bureau by cutting the match box across in thirds. Use the two outside thirds one placed on top of the other to form bureau drawers. Use small tacks as knobs for the drawers. In the dining room use the top of a small pill box for a table and make pin legs to the table. If you wish to make a little stove use half a small oblong pill box or a very small square pill box if you have one. Four small pins serve for stove legs and a match dipped in ink will make a good stove pipe if you stick it upright into the top of the tiny stove. You may arrange your doll house like a flat, having all the rooms on one floor. Cut the doorways and windows in the boxes and use smaller boxes for porches.

BRAVE BOY SCOUTS

George Jackson, Dunnville, who was given a "Boy Scout" medal, had gone to the rescue of two brothers who were drowning in a rivery and after saving one boy, returned in a fatigued condition to rescue the other lad, but was unsuccessful. A silver medal was merited by Charles Richardson, of Peterboro, who put to shame a number of men one day last summer by plunging into a river and rescuing a drowning man after a desperate tussle. A scroll of honor was given to Scout Thomas Hobbs, of Toronto, for assisting in the rescue of a drowning man from the Don River.

ORIENTAL ADVERTISING

Some Japanese advertisements possess a wealth of imagery unknown to the western advertiser. A Tokio draper announced that "Our goods are sent to customers' houses with the speed of a shot from a rifle."

A large store displayed a poster inscribed:—"Why not visit our shops? We can satisfy every possible want of yours. Every one of our assistants is as complaisant and obliging as a father who seeks to disposed of a doverless daughter. You will be as welcome as a ray of sunshine coming after a day of ceaseless rain."

BIG MILLING MERGER

The International Milling and the Canadian Cereal and Milling companies have consolidated. This results in an all-Canadian organization, the Canadian Cereal and Milling Company, obtaining through the International a large connection in Western Canada, while in turn the International will secure the advantages of the connection of the Cereal Company in Ontario and Eastern Canada.

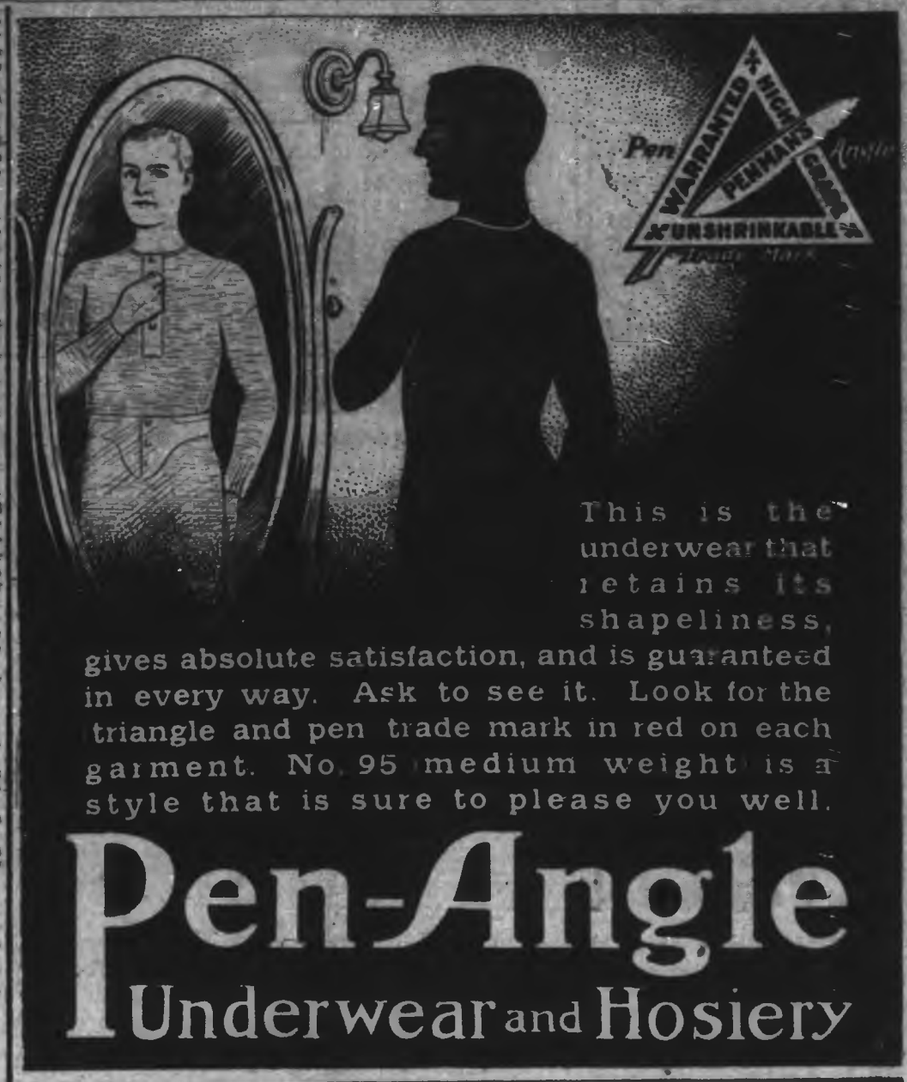
Eczema on Leg for 25 Years

I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, "try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good." At this time my leg was pulled from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought. I have many grandchildren and they are frequent users of Cuticura and I always recommend it most highly as a sure and economical cure for skin troubles.

(Signed) Mme. J. B. RENAUD,
377, Mentana St., Montreal.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment

Assist the most distressing skin and scalp troubles, when all else fails, by allaying irritation, soothing inflammation, and healing the affected parts. A single set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, often sufficient, is all that is required. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Send for free 32-page Cuticura Book on treatment of skin diseases.



This is the underwear that retains its shapeliness, gives absolute satisfaction, and is guaranteed in every way. Ask to see it. Look for the triangle and pen trade mark in red on each garment. No. 95 medium weight is a style that is sure to please you well.

Pen-Angle
Underwear and Hosiery

Is YOUR Baby STURDY, or just FAT?

Some foods merely puff out a child with fat, without leaving any solid good behind. A baby at five or six months may be a triumph of the following powers of food—and yet, at two years, may be thin and suffering from rickets.

NEAVE'S FOOD FOR INFANTS

is perfectly balanced. It not only produces a fine baby—it also insures that baby growing into a healthy adult, because Neave's Food contains all the materials for flesh and bone.

"Our eldest boy, Maurice, is five years old. We put him on Neave's Food when he was one week old and he never tasted anything else until his first birthday. He is very bright and intelligent, strong and sturdy, has never had an illness and is one of the bonniest boys I have ever seen. We owe it all to the good foundation laid by Neave's Food." Mrs. J. W. Paterson, 34 Harriet St., Toronto.

Sold in 1 lb. air-tight tins by all Druggists in Canada.

FREE TO MOTHERS—write to-day for free tin of Neave's Food and book "Hints About Baby." Address to

Canadian Agent: ROBIN WYLEY, 23 14 Front St. E., TORONTO

Sole Wholesale by: Lymans Ltd., MONTREAL. The National Drug and Chemical Co., The Drug Trading Co., Lymans Bros. & Co., E. S. Watt & Co., TORONTO. The Bole Drug Co., The T. Eaton Co., Martin Bole & Wynne Co., WINNIPEG. J. A. Temperton & Co., VANCOUVER.

Mfrs. J. R. NEAVE & CO., ENGLAND.

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-281
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 269.

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $[illegible]
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,000,000.0[illegible]
Surplus $[illegible] 7.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Office:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

YOU can't buy a stale Neilson Chocolate—and crushed or broken pieces are unknown in a box of these "crème de la crème" of chocolates in the package de Luxe.

33 different packages — each containing the most delicious chocolates you ever tasted.

If your dealer does not handle Neilson's send 80c. for pound box of these chocolates that are different.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED,
16 TORONTO.

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates that are Different

Sold in Peterboro by Warne Drug Co., W. Heath

Big Value

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 600
804 Charlotte Street. Bell 878, Mach. 887

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar positively no return.) Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterborough. Satisfaction where others fail References. Write for particulars.

MISS A. GRADUATE
Box 289, Brampton, Ont.

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE EVENING EXAMINER

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Flat Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

"I had been given up to die by three of our best doctors,

I could not stand it to be on my feet and I was so swelled in the abdomen I could hardly breathe.

But thanks to Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine I am able to be about the streets, a walking advertisement of the curative qualities of your remedies, although I am 70 years old."

JOHN R. COCHRAN,
Lewistown, Ill.

Better than any statement we could make regarding the value of

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

are these words of Mr. Cochran. He speaks from experience, the highest possible source of knowledge. If you have any of the signs of a weak heart, such as pain in the left shoulder or arm, fainting and hungry spells, shortness of breath, smothering spells, fluttering or palpitation of the heart, you need which for over twenty years has been recognized as the best preparation of its kind to be had.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

Sold under a guarantee assuring the return of the price of the first bottle if it fails to benefit. AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Mus. Bracebridge, Parry Sd., Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	1.40 a.m.	2.15 a.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	1.55 a.m. 1.55 p.m.	11.40 a.m. 2.15 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and all points West. Niag ara Falls, Buffalo	1.55 a.m.	11.40 a.m.
Cobourg, Montreal and East.	1.55 p.m.	2.15 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Omemee, Uxbridge & Scarboro.	11.40 a.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.10 a.m. 6.10 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.10 a.m.	9.10 p.m.
Havelock, Campbellford Belleville, Trenton, Kingston and Montreal	8.15 a.m. 6.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 1.40 p.m.
Lakefield.	10.40 a.m. 8.15 p.m.	2.15 a.m. 12.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Tweed	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.01 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	6.55 a.m. 6.55 p.m.
Burlington, Hamilton, Hyrtle, Toronto, Chicago.	5.40 a.m.
Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

LOW ROUND TRIP RATES

TO

WESTERN CANADA

WINNIPEG and return	"	"	$33.00
BRANDON	"	"	34.60
MOOSE JAW	"	"	37.00
EDMONTON	"	"	41.00

Also to 50 Other Points

TUESDAY, MAY 16th

TORONTO SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE

No change of cars, customs or transfer troubles en route

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular TOURIST ROUTE

TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 394 George St.

D. A. ROSE City Agent

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

FROM MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Empress of Ireland	May 5th
Montreal to London direct	May 6th
Lake Champlain	May 11th
Empress of Britain	May 19th
Lake Manitoba	May 25th
Empress of Ireland	June 2nd
Lake Champlain	June 8th

Special sleeping car to the ship's side Leaving Toronto at 10.30 the evening before, for "Empress" sailings.

L. E. Sanckling, General Agent for Ontario, 16 King St. E., Toronto.

Apply to any Ry. or S. S. Agent or to W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent Peterborough.

TWO OF A TRADE

Continued from Page 6.

"Pardon me again. I remember an occasion when you went a little out of your way to make it plain to me that you had not proceeded to your M.D. degree for nothing."

"You needn't always flaunt that in my face."

"I won't, since you appear to have changed your mind—until you change it again." She looked at him, with a gleam in her eyes which was half laughter, half something else. He went on. "At the same time, since what I have to say to you is strictly professional, I don't think that, on this occasion the 'Doctor' Hughes will be out of place. You once said to me that you had some vague intention of not remaining in Market Hinton."

"It wasn't a vague intention then; it is less vague now. I am going."

"That is a pity."

"Why? It will be all the better for you—one competitor less."

"I am afraid I don't see it altogether in that light. You see, I was thinking of taking a partner."

"A partner?"

"Exactly—a partner. The practice was getting a little beyond me. When I am able to move about again, as I soon shall be, thanks to you, it may get beyond me again. Now, what would you say to taking a partner?"

"I? What? Bring another woman here?"

"No, I was not thinking of that. Indeed, I was not thinking of a woman at all. I was thinking of a man."

"A man?"

"I was thinking of myself."

"You! Mr. Palliser?"

"Why shouldn't we—you and I—be partners? Miss Hughes—Dr. Constance"—suddenly, as he went on, she looked down—"don't you think that it is possible that—we might work together? That an arrangement might be made which—would be agreeable to us both?"

"Of course there is always a possibility."

"Don't you think that, in this instance, there's a probability?"

"There might be."

"Don't you feel that such an arrangement would be—from all possible points of view—a desirable one? I do; I feel it strongly."

"Do you?"

"Don't you?" She was silent; so he continued. "I'd give all I have in the world—all I hope to have—to hear you say that you'd like us to be partners."

She looked up at him.

"I'd like to have you for a partner," she said.

ITS WORRY THAT KILLS

Nothing so wastes the vital nerve forces as worry. Nothing so certainly retards restoration to health. Get out into the sunshine, be cheerful, use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild the wasted nervous system, and you will be surprised how quickly there will be a change for the better. This advice will be better than gold to you if you will but follow it.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

It is a fact which mathematics cannot explain, that the more affection we leave at home the more we carry with us.

* * *

Never let a grievance stand over night; better sacrifice your pride than your peace of mind.

* * *

A happy home does not result from a large income. A large amount of love, plenty of good sense and a very little money will make a happy Home Circle.

* * *

Never think you can afford to be dowdy at home. Cleanliness, hair well dressed, and a smile will make calico look like silk in the eyes of a father or brother.

* * *

Love is the great homemaker, that makes even the drudgery of housekeeping a pleasure, and home life a foretaste of the bliss of heaven. One cannot get too much love into one's homemaking, but easily too little.

* * *

It seems to be difficult in this world for men and women to keep a middle course. For one it is all saving and working, for another all spending and shirking. And neither is happy. Idleness has as many miseries as overwork. It is only those lives in which labor and leisure are united that are truly happy. The middle course is the right course.

* * *

Man can build the house and roof it in, a resistance against the storms and elements; but the man with all his genius and artisan science cannot make the home; that ever has and ever will be the task of woman. It is she alone that can bring to it warmth and beauty. Here she reigns supreme.

* * *

The children who are accustomed to seeing their mother with her hair becomingly arranged and in a pretty gown, and who are themselves compelled while young to pay attention to little details of cleanliness and dress, will never grow up into slatternly men and women.

* * *

Success in life does not always mean wealth, fame or position. You may be poor in all of these, but you can be rich in mind and character. The world within you must be developed before you can enjoy the world without you. If you have wealth put some of it into brain power and you can never lose. If you are poor you cannot afford to be poor in both mind and pocket. You can have the wealth of a trained mind and a noble character.

* * *

Condemn your children only when they are really wrong, and then as gently as possible, but be sure to condemn them when they do right. A little praise with a child goes a long way. A child may be very provoking, but not wilfully bad. Attributing bad motives to a thoughtless child has ruined many a little life. Just blame less and praise more, and we shall have better children. Especially as most of their faults are copied from their parents, we should exercise the strictest charity, for verily "Charity doth cover a multitude of sins."

* * *

There is no earthly tie so strong or so sacred as that of motherhood. Society is held together by social ties. Civic societies are bound by money and oaths. These obligations are like girths of steel, yet none hold like the marriage bond when inviolated and unpolluted by vile theories.

* * *

"It's only mother; anything will do for her!" If the words are not often actually expressed, the thought is too often acted upon. And yet if we stop to think, common decency tells us that only the best is good enough for mother—that her devotion, which surpasses all other love, is deserving of the deepest respect and affection, and that to forget her is the blackest and basest crime that man can commit.

* * *

Tired mothers! Always anxious, scheming, planning and economizing how they can manage their detail of domestic life with least expense; for children are such a drain upon the resources of one's time, heart and pocket. The mothers doing double work, triple work themselves, to save for this or that, until the nerves are strained and shattered to a degree unbearable to themselves, and particularly offensive to others.

* * *

If you have any doubt in your mind as to the good that can come to you by living in the sunshine way, we ask you to try for one day and prove by personal experience whether or not it is worth your while to scatter sunshine. Begin at once by trying to make those about you in your home happier. Keep a sharp lookout for little opportunities of helpfulness. Be courteous and kind whenever you speak or are spoken to. Be pleasant to everyone everywhere. Be willing to sacrifice your own personal enjoyment if by doing so you can make another person happier. Do all this and see when night comes if your own heart is not full to overflowing with peace and joy unspeakable.

* * *

There is very little difference between a prisoner and an automobile owner—both are known by their number instead of by their names, and are always an object of suspicion among the police.

* * *

No town can have too much street illumination, at least no town ever has too much. Sufficient street lighting is a preserver of morals and does effective police duty. We would urge our town authorities to consider the question of more adequate street lighting. We need it for mutual welfare.

Eczema on Leg for 25 Years

I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first. He said, "try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good." At this time my leg was pulled from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought. I have many grandchildren and they are frequent users of Cuticura and I always recommend it most highly as a sure and economical cure for skin troubles.

(Signed) MRS. J. B. RENAUD,
277, Mentana St., Montreal.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment

Afford the quickest and most economical treatment for eczema of the skin and scalp. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston. Send for free 32-page Cuticura Book on treatment of skin diseases.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

A Germ Disease Which is Baffling the Doctors and Alarming the People Generally

It may be said that doctors are only agreed on two points regarding this much dreaded disease.

First, that it is a germ disease, and, second, like all germ diseases can only be fought with pure, rich blood.

Prevention is always the better way and that is why we are always talking about the wisdom of keeping the blood pure and rich and the nerves healthy and strong by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rich, red blood is a deadly foe to disease germs whether they are germs of infantile paralysis, of colds, of consumption or any other disease.

Don't let the blood get thin and watery. Don't let the nerves get exhausted. The risk is too great. Every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich blood. For this reason you are certain to benefit by this treatment.

You need not wait until you have some form of paralysis before testing this great medicine. Be warned by headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, failing memory and power of concentrating the mind. Restore the system while still you have something to build on.

Get new energy and vigour into the system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food: 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DOLLY'S NEW HOME.

Let's make Dolly a new set of furniture. All we need are some small match boxes, some pins, some fine cord and a few corks. As Dolly is the very smallest kind of a doll lady she may have all of her furniture in a small board house made of two or three boxes for the different rooms. First, let's make the parlour furniture. Use a round slice of cork for the seat of achair and four pins for the legs with the heads of the pins to rest on the floor. Stick three pins upright for the chair back. Wind cord in and out of these to make the back stronger and to look more finished. Cut an oblong piece of cork lengthwise for the bottom of the sofa. Put pin legs on it and a pin back woven with cord. For a piano use a small match box. Take out the inside and cut both outside and inside of the box. Now put this half of the inside of the box back into half of the outside of the box, let it project a little way outside to form the keyboard of a piano. Use the other half of the outside of the box for the base of the piano. Make a three legged piano stool with a circular piece of cork and three pins. Dolly's bed may be made by using the inside of a small match box and four small pins for the posts of the bed. Make a bureau by cutting the match box across in thirds. Use the two outside thirds one placed on top of the other to form bureau drawers. Use small tacks as knobs for the drawers. In the dining room use the top of a small pill box for a table and make pin legs to the table. If you wish to make a little stove use half a small oblong pill box or a very small square pill box if you have one. Four small pins serve for stove legs and a match dipped in ink will make a good stove pipe if you stick it upright into the top of the tiny stove. You may arrange your doll house like a flat, having all the rooms on one floor. Cut the doorways and windows in the boxes and use smaller boxes for porches.

BRAVE BOY SCOUTS

George Jackson, Dunnville, who was given a "Boy Scout" medal, had gone to the rescue of two brothers who were drowning in a rivery and after saving one boy, returned in a fatigued condition to rescue the other lad, but was unsuccessful. A silver medal was merited by Charles Richardson, of Peterboro, who put to shame a number of men one day last summer by plunging into a river and rescuing a drowning man after a desperate tussle. A scroll of honor was given to Scout Thomas Hobbs, of Toronto, for assisting in the rescue of a drowning man from the Don River.

ORIENTAL ADVERTISING

Some Japanese advertisements possess a wealth of imagery unknown to the western advertiser. A Tokio draper announced that "Our goods are sent to customers' houses with the speed of a shot from a rifle."

A large store displayed a poster inscribed:—"Why not visit our shops? We can satisfy every possible want of yours. Every one of our assistants is as complaisant and obliging as a father who seeks to disposed of a dowerless daughter. You will be as welcome as a ray of sunshine coming after a day of ceaseless rain."

BIG MILLING MERGER

The International Milling and the Canadian Cereal and Milling companies have consolidated. This results in an all-Canadian organization, the Canadian Cereal and Milling Company, obtaining through the International a large connection in Western Canada, while in turn the International will secure the advantages of the connection of the Cereal Company in Ontario and Eastern Canada.

YOU can't buy a stale Neilson Chocolate—and crushed or broken pieces are unknown in a box of these "crème de la crème" of chocolates in the package de Luxe.

33 different packages—each containing the most delicious chocolates you ever tasted.

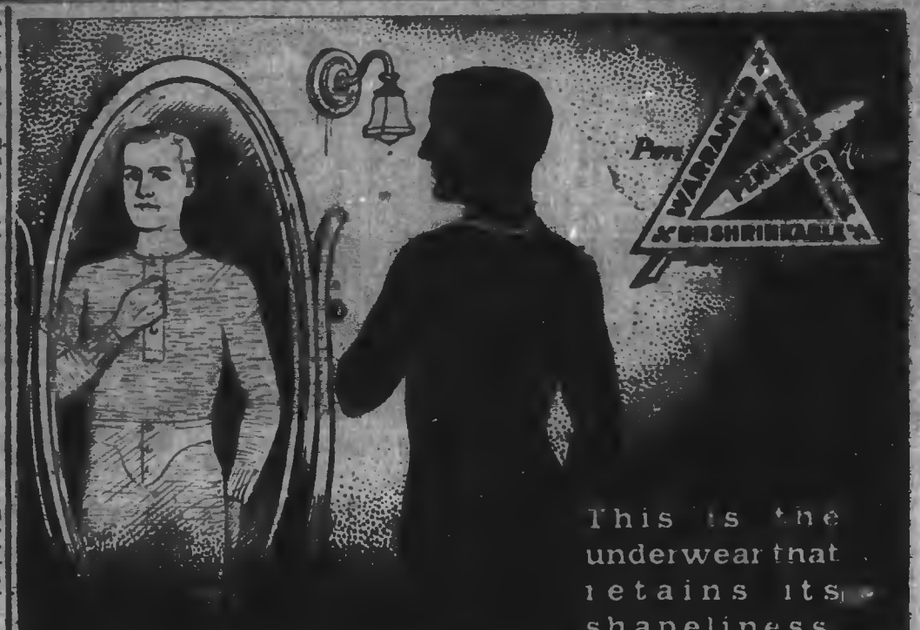
If your dealer does not handle Neilson's send 80c. for pound box of these chocolates that are different.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED,
14 TORONTO,

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates that are Different

Sold in Peterboro by Warne Drug Co., W. Hamill



This is the underwear that retains its shapeliness gives absolute satisfaction, and is guaranteed in every way. Ask to see it. Look for the triangle and pen trade mark in red on each garment. No. 95 medium weight is a style that is sure to please you well.

Pen-Angle Underwear and Hosiery

Is YOUR Baby STURDY, or just FAT?

Some foods merely puff out a child with fat, without leaving any solid good behind. A baby at five or six months may be a triumph of the following powers of food—and yet, at two years, may be thin and suffering from rickets.

NEAVE'S FOOD FOR INFANTS

is perfectly balanced. It not only produces a fine baby—it also insures that baby growing into a healthy adult, because Neave's Food contains all the essentials for flesh and bone.

"Our eldest boy, Maurice, is five years old. We put him on Neave's Food when he was one week old and he never tasted anything else until his first birthday. He is very bright and intelligent, strong and sturdy, has never had an illness and is one of the handsomest boys I have ever seen. We owe it all to the good foundation laid by Neave's Food." Mrs. J. W. Fateman, 34 Harriet St., Toronto.

Sold in 1 lb. air-tight tins by all Druggists in Canada.

FREE TO MOTHERS—write today for free tin of Neave's Food and book "Hints About Baby." Address to

Canadian Agent: EDWIN UTLEY, 28 St. Peter St., TORONTO

Mrs. J. R. NEAVE & CO., FORDINGBRIDGE, ENGLAND.

Sold Wholesale by: Lymans Ltd., MONTREAL. The National Drug and Chemical Co., The Drug Trading Co., Lymans Bros. & Co., E. G. West & Co., TORONTO. The Bole Drug Co., The T. Eaton Co., Martin Bole & Wynne Co., WINNIPEG. J. A. Tregonning & Co., VANCOUVER.

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

192 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-691
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 268.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910	$4,376,[illegible]4.40
Total Liabilities to the Public	$[illegible]
Surplus	$1,[illegible]7,71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
427 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

Big Sale

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 649
1046 Charlotte Street. Bell 870, Mark. 547

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

Moles, Birthmarks, removed permanently by Electrolysis, without pain or scar positively no return. Established Toronto, Hamilton & Guelph. Days in Peterboro & S. Satisfaction where others fail References. Write for particulars.

MISS A. GRADUATE
Box 200, Brampton, Ont.

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE EVENING EXAMINER

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds, Shingles, Scantlings, Joist and Mill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of Finish. Rosewood Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE
Point St. Charles Mills

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of

Vegetable and Flower Seeds

from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:

EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN DUTCH SETS and MULTIPLIERS

Golden Bantam Corn

Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year

Prepared Fertilizer

For LAWNS and GARDENS

Porter S. White

336 George St. Phone 208

City Agent for West End Grain House

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for

Cole & Eastlake Excel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Siding, Fleasers, Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing

including Brantford, Rubberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore

General Roofing Contractors

Phone 775. 264 Water St.

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by

WM. MADILL

Oak Hall Drug Store

Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Special Assortment of Baking

for this Week End at

COLEMAN BROS.

426 George St.

FANCIES:

Log Cakes Fancy Cakes
Wine Cakes Swiss Rolls
Madeira Cakes
Cream Puffs

FRUIT CAKES:

Gems Pound
Seed Raisin, etc.

Importers of Fry's Chocolate
Special Nut Milk, 40c lb.

ICE CREAM SODAS AND SUNDAES

Prompt Attention

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

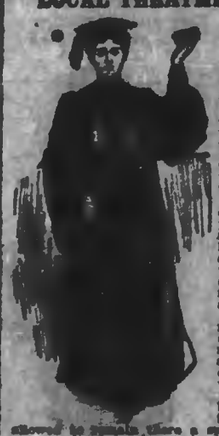
358 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS



The health we enjoy depends very largely upon how the blood circulates in our bodies, in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This constant wearing out and expelling of the dead matter and the renewing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that portion of the body becomes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves.

This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter contained in the secretions, which should have been carried off, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membranes, and oppresses the nerve centres. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain, there is danger of blood poisoning. It will result and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming abscess, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of immediate relief, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present to a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be amazing.

The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Cossley—I am thankful to Mrs. F. E. Currah, your Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy, I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 2 years ago. Then I had a doctor, who told me I had a tumor, and could live no more than a year. If I went through an operation I would not live through it. A year later I sent for him again, and he gave me up to die. My husband then sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and it did me much good. I doctored with him 3 or 4 months, but became so bad again that I thought I could live no longer, and I began to long to die. One day my husband came home and threw a slip of paper to me with Mrs. Currah's address and told me a lady had advised him to write to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift a teacup without hurting me. Then the first doctor told me I was worse than ever. However, my husband sent for ORANGE LILY, and the third treatment brought away one tumor. Others followed, until 7 tumors had been expelled, two large ones and 4 small ones. I know if it had not been for ORANGE LILY I would have died, for I could not live much longer. I would have thought it cheap at one hundred dollars for a month's treatment, instead of one dollar. It is worth its weight in gold.—MRS. GEO. LEWIS, Harrisville, Ont.

The above letter is published with Mrs. Lewis' permission. All letters received are treated as being sacredly confidential, but occasionally some patient feels so grateful for being cured that she is willing to make the matter known for the benefit and encouragement of her suffering sisters.

ORANGE LILY is a positive, scientific remedy for all disorders of the female functions. As explained above these troubles are of local origin, and require local treatment. It is just as sensible to take medicine internally for female troubles as it would be to take medicine internally for a bruise, a boil or an ulcerated tooth. In all these cases some dead matter is being retained, and the cure is effected by employing local methods for expelling the dead matter. ORANGE LILY has antiseptic, soothing and healing properties, and also tones up and invigorates blood vessels and nerves. I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without cost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the following

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her address, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. In many cases this trial treatment is all that is necessary to effect a complete cure, and in every instance it will give very noticeable relief. If you are a sufferer, you owe it to yourself, to your family and to your friends to take advantage of this offer and get cured in the privacy of your home, without doctors' bills or expense of any kind. Address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

IN THE FAR NORTH

How the Queen of Holland Helped a Missionary

Rev. E. W. Greenshields, of Cumberland Sound, sailed for Moosonee diocese, a barren isolated region, in a boat commanded by a Dutch crew. One night while off the coast of Labrador their boat was sunk by an iceberg, and until daybreak the crew, in a lifeboat, faced death in an awful form. Rev. Mr. Greenshields was the only one in the party who knew the coast, and he was able to guide them to an island, where they were fed and cared for by the Eskimos. News of the outer world penetrates this region but once a year, but sufficient particulars reached Holland regarding the heroism of the Anglican missionaries in the far north of Canada to enlist the sympathy of Holland's Queen in the work. The good Queen knighted Mr. Greenshields.

PROSPERITY FOR THE WEST

The Grand Trunk Pacific to Spend $17,000,000 this Year

Seventeen million dollars will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific during 1911 in constructing new lines and erecting station buildings throughout the West. There will be 819 miles of work undertaken on the branch lines and completed during the present season. This will include the Calgary branch, Battleford branch, Melville-Regina branch, Alberta Coal branch, Regina-Boundary branch, Moose Jaw branch, Prince Albert branch, and Biggar to Calgary. There will also be 245 miles of main line track laid, as well as 200 miles further grading on the branch lines. Arrangements are also being made for the erection of 140 station buildings. This is the largest and most expensive year's work that the Grand Trunk Pacific has undertaken. The majority of new branch lines to be constructed will be laid in districts hitherto totally untouched by railroad development. Rapid strides have already been made towards completing the main line between Edmonton and the Coast, and up to the present 365 miles of steel has been laid. From Edmonton, going west, the line is completed as far as Prairie Creek, which is the entrance to the first hills of the Rockies, and from the Coast, working towards the Rockies, 105 miles of track has already been laid. This year the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and from Prairie Creek fully another 165 miles will be completed, while from the west end 100 miles are to be constructed. The Alberta Coal branch will tap an entirely new country by running a line from Bickerdike on the main line through the Pacific Pass coal fields, as well as those of the Yellowhead, and provision has been made for 69 miles of it to be constructed this year. Another entirely new branch will be constructed between Regina and Moose Jaw, a distance of 49 miles. Besides all this construction work a vast mileage of grading is to be accounted for, and this will be carried on to the extent of two hundred miles on the Regina boundary Branch branch and those others which will not be completed. In addition to the above, the Company is erecting some of the largest bridges in the West. Over the Red Deer River on the Tofield-Calgary branch an enormous bridge, 200 feet high, is now under construction. Another huge bridge has just been completed at Prairie Creek on the main line. A third is to be constructed farther west over the Athabasca River, which is to be the largest on the Transcontinental.

SPECIAL

— FOR —

Friday and Saturday

Ladies' Suits, regular $14.00, for $5.95

Ladies' Coats, regular $7.00 and $9.00, for... $6.00

Ladies' Skirts, regular $14.00, for..... $9.49

Skirts, in Voile, regular $8.00 to $12.00, for.... $4.95

Skirts, (another lot) at $1.79

Silk Waists, regular $5, for..... $2.49

MILLINERY

ALL TRIMMED HATS, Special..... $1.98

Men's Suits, Overcoats, Pants, all kinds of Men's Ready-to-Wear Clothing at REDUCED PRICES.

Housefurnishings, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains, etc., at REDUCED PRICES.

Canadian Furnishing House

311 George Street

MISTY MORN

A Canadian-bred beauty, owned by Mr. Æmilius Jarvis.

The Woman Alive

to her own best interests,—as soon as there is need, will help her whole system with the tonic action of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

All women should read the special directions with every box.

Sold Everywhere. In boxes 25c.

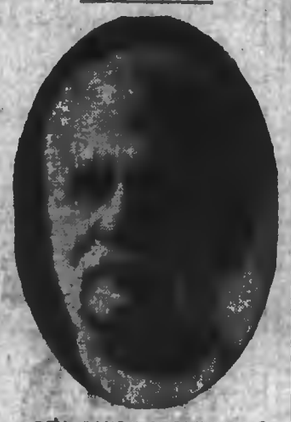
CANADIAN CURRENCY

Prof. Shortt Gives a History of Our Coinage

In a lecture on "The History of Canadian Metallic Currency," Professor Adam Shortt said that copper coinage was very meagre in Canada in 1836, and even brass buttons were recognized as tender. In fact so many scraps of value were used as coppers that it became an intolerable nuisance, and in 1830 a number of Canadian banks issued copper bank tokens. About this time $10,000 of American five and ten-cent pieces were brought into Canada, and this no doubt helped to popularize the American specie.

In 1836 and 1837 the United States introduced the gold dollar, and issued shin-plasters at 25, 20 and 10 cents, and even as low as 2 cents.

In Lower Canada at this time French money was most commonly used, while in Upper Canada English currency predominated. No Canadian silver money had been issued, and money from all parts of the world was freely circulated throughout the Dominion, so that now Canada is recognized as the richest collection ground in the world for old coins. This mixture of the money of so many different countries became objectionable, and an agitation was started for the use of one kind. At last, through the efforts of Sir Francis Hincks, one of the leading Canadian statesmen of the day, the British Government became convinced that the decimal system would be suitable for Canada. January 4, 1858, marks the day when Canada received her first consignment of decimal coinage from the British mint. It consisted of $100,000 in twenty-cent pieces, $75,000 in ten-cent pieces, and $50,000 in one-cent pieces. Some surprise was expressed that no twenty-five-cent coin was issued, but the British shilling was intended to take its place, and this required the shilling to be somewhat overrated. The making of the Canadian coins became very profitable to the British mint, and Canada was given a share in the profits. At last, however, the Canadian Government came to the conclusion that it would pay Canada to have a mint of her own, and a mint at Ottawa was established. It was owing to the great profits in making her own silver money that Canada went to such an expense to rid the country of American silver in 1870.



REV. CANON BROUGHALL

Who on Sunday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his rectorship of St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Toronto.

SIMPLER SPELLING

Professor Hume Says That Modifications are Necessary

Dr. J. G. Hume, Toronto University, who is president of the Society for the Improvement of Spelling, says the increase of volapuk and esperanto prove the need of a universal mode of communication. "Is it practicable to make English such universal medium?" he asks. "In its favor there is the enormous advantage of the world-wide commerce of two of the greatest trading nations of the world. In the second place English has the simplest grammar of any important language. Thirdly, it is the treasure house of the largest and finest literature in the world and it has extraordinary power of assimilating from other languages. On the other hand, its very richness making it capable of expressing the same thought in so many ways, it makes it difficult for foreigners to understand the spoken language. And its inconsistent and irrational spelling makes it so difficult for foreigners to write and read, that it has been declared the hardest language to learn. The regularity of German and Spanish spelling makes these languages most formidable rivals of English as languages of commerce. It is in order to ameliorate the latter difficulty that the simplified spelling societies have been organized.

"The measures they propose are moderate and must commend themselves to every one who can divest himself of prejudice long enough to consider them, beginning with the elimination of irregularities that cannot be defended on any ground.

"In the interests of the children, it is not impracticable to begin reading in a reasonably phonetic representation of words and subsequently making a transition to the conventional literature. The gain to literature and civilization and the best that the Anglo-Saxon stands for, makes the simplification of English spelling a matter of incalculable importance."

RICH, BUT NOT IDLE

Mr. John R. Booth, the millionaire lumberman of Ottawa, is in his eighty-sixth year a few days ago. He celebrated his last birthday by going out for a hard day's work at an hour when most younger men were still in bed. Friends who sought to congratulate him found him employed and attired like any of his workmen. Mr. Booth was born at Waterloo, Que., on April 5, 1826. He went to Ottawa fifty years ago, and started out with a small shingle mill at the Chaudiere.

BUFFALO FOR BANFF

Two herds of buffalo will be transferred from Montana to the Canadian National Park at Banff.

"NO USE FOR BREEZE"

We Only Thing That Escapes U. S. Steel Corporation.

The United States Steel Corporation is willing to pay a million dollars to the man who will discover a method which will enable the company to profitably dispose of a by-product which is called "breeze."

The Steel Corporation uses all its waste product save "breeze." Gas escaping from the blast furnaces is converted into power by producer gas engines. Dust escaping from the cement works at Kalamazoo in tons is now captured and converted into a saleable product, but "breeze" so far is a waste. It is nothing but coke dust.

All coke product is sifted, and anything which screens less than three-eighths of an inch is "breeze," so rich in carbon that it has many times the heat power of coal. No furnaces can be constructed with grates fine enough to burn it. Fifteen thousand tons a month of "breeze" accumulated at the coke ovens in Gary. So far the only use for it is for briquettes in the zinc smelting, but it is costly. Experiments where "breeze" is mixed with sawdust for fireproof tile manufacturing have also been tried.

FINDS AN ANCIENT OWL

Connecticut Man Makes Odd Discovery in Tree Trunk.

Frogs that are found alive in the hearts of trees hundreds of years old must take a back jump. Fire Warden George W. Mills, of Broad River, Conn., cut down a great oak, and says he found in its interior a live owl, which had apparently been there for years, living on the grubs.

Mills has the owl, alive, to back up his statement. Bird fanciers say the bird is of an unknown species, which opinion Mills cites to uphold his contention that the hooter is of an extremely ancient species. The owl is grayish white in color and his eyelids are immovable, the result of his being continuously in the dark and never having to close them. Light seems to cause him actual pain.

STAGE FOR THE NORTH

Service by Teams into the Peace River Country Has Been Started

A stage line into the Peace River Country from Edson, Alberta, has been started. Twenty teams are operating five stages between Edson and Big Smokey, which is opposite Grande Prairie. From this point provision has been made for carrying passengers by team into the Peace River district.

Mr. Taft, who has charge of the service, was formerly government guide in the north, and was among the first to recognize the necessity of a stage line into the Peace River district. He has been over the road several times, establishing stopping places where his passengers can stop over night and secure meals. He has also cached horse feed along the route, out of Edson. The hay that he has cached has cost him $100 a ton. On one of his trips last winter, when he had a foot frozen and his cached feed was stolen, he had to pay five cents per pound for hay and $2 a bushel for oats. These prices still obtain, but when the weather moderates there will be an abundance of feed on meadows along the road. At present most of the settlers are leaving their effects in Edson. There is a scarcity of feed also on the route from Lesser Slave Lake to Sturgeon Lake. The present road is 235 miles in length, but the government has five gangs of men working on a short cut that will reduce the distance to 200 miles.

DAY FOR KILLING GOPHERS

The Prize-Winner Killed 514 of These Animals

Days are set apart in various places for a great variety of objects, and certainly one of the most unusual days is one set apart for killing gophers. Kelso, Alberta, held its second annual gopher day. Owing probably to there still being several inches of snow on the ground, the gophers killed this time were fewer in number than those slaughtered a year ago. However, enough were destroyed to give this season's crop a better chance for growth. The supper and entertainment following upon the day of killing were well enjoyed, and it is said that there will be no difficulty in celebrating gopher day every year—if the gophers can stand it. The man who won the prize for the greatest destruction killed five hundred and fourteen gophers, and the winners of second and third prizes accounted for two hundred and one hundred and fifty-five, respectively. The winners seem to be in the same class as several royal hunters in Europe who are noted for getting great bags in their vast hunting

AGAINST IMPERTINENCE

In a wholesale fur house in Quebec, known from one end of Canada to the other, more people have been discharged for returning an impertinent or querulous reply over the telephone or counter than from any other cause. From the time an employee in the service until he reaches the highest post, the mandate is urbanity.—Canadian Century.

Common Sense Exterminator KILLS RATS AND MICE

We guarantee that you can kill your premises completely, regardless of how by the proper use of Common Sense Exterminator. For 15 years we have sold it on "money back if not satisfied". A single cracker will kill a rat, they have every food for it, no odor. It dries up the carcass. Made and guaranteed by us, recommended for a mix. one will kill 30 rats. Also put up for use here and sold large, economical size. Sold by dealers everywhere. If not at yours we will supply you, write—

COMMON SENSE MFG. CO.

10 St. Queen St. W., Toronto.

POLO SHOE POLISH

Needs just a daub, a rub, and you have a lasting and easily revived shine. Polo comes in the BIG box. At all grocers and shoe stores.

"Good for Leather—Stands the Weather"

10c.

Very Latest In Vogue

Just returned from the City, with the most up-to-date New York Novelties in

Stylish Hats and Trimmings

representing the very latest creations in Fashionable Millinery.

A Visit of Inspection is Cordially Invited

Miss E. M. Allan

372 George Street Phone 35

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies

MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F. J. R. MacPherson Co.

Limited

341 George St. Both Phones 386

Mendel's Art Photos

Have something more than the ordinary in them. They attract and hold the admiration because they are artistic in every line.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladies of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG

Phone 1267. 452 George St.

FRESH

MAPLE SUGAR

Guaranteed PURE

T. H. Hooper

327, 414 and 601 George Street

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coating Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY

163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon

Butcher Market Arcade

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

East City

Coal and Wood Yard

MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East

Phone 96

All sizes of Best Mixed Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $5.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN

Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

Edwin Elcome TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.

Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.

662 Harvey St.

Peterborough Ontario.

16 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 9 to 16

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY APRIL 29 1911

JULES MOTOR CAR COMPANY PROPOSITION WAS LAID BEFORE THE BOARD OF TRADE

Members and Other Representative Citizens Heard the Details Last Night — Company Wants $20,000 Stock Subscribed in Peterborough.

WILL THEY LOCATE HERE?

The details of the Jules Motor Company, Limited, proposition, by which the Company will establish their factory in Peterborough, if $20,000 worth of stock is subscribed, were laid before the Board of Trade at a special meeting in the Council Chamber last night, at which there was a representative attendance of Board members, as well as a large number of other citizens. President Geo. A. Gillespie was in the chair and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. As a result of the conference between the Company's representatives and the Board a committee was appointed to investigate the proposition more fully, and they will make public their report on Monday for the guidance of the citizens of Peterborough.

Industrial Commissioner Duggan introduced the company's representatives, Messrs. L. H. Piercy and Geo. B. Frost. In doing so, he stated that the Jules Company, as the result of a long period of experimenting and trying out, had turned out a car with only five hundred parts, as compared with about 1,700 in other cars, and that was, at the same time, capable of doing the work of a high-priced machine. The gentlemen associated with the company were men of known standing. They wanted to come to Peterborough to locate their industry h ere,on the condition that they secured financial assistance, in the shape of the subscription of $20,000 worth of stock here. The Company had a capitalization of $250,000, of which approximately $85,000 had been subscribed. Mr. Duggan referred to the necessity of giving assistance to manufacturers intending to locate. Other cities were bidding actively and with more success in getting bonus by-laws passed than Peterborough had experience.

Mr. L. H. Piercy of the Jules Motor Company, then addressed the meeting, giving the details of the inception of the concern. He stated that the President of the Company was Mr. Chas. Collett, of the Collett Carriage Company, Toronto, a very successful manufacturer of carriages and waggons; the Vice-President was Mr. George A. Graham, of the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto, and the Secretary-Treasurer was Mr. Norman Collett, a son of the President. He stated that the men who were responsible for the formation of the Company had come to the conclusion that they could build a car that was different from the rest and carried their idea to men who had come to their assistance financially, and had subscribed. These men ,who had taken the initial risk had been given stock in the ratio of 2 to 1, and over $25,000 had been spent in the work. In addition, $30,000 worth of stock had been sold elsewhere and in all $85,000 had been subscribed. The Company had been advised to locate in Peterborough by former residents of this city, and while they had plans for a factory in Toronto, they preferred to establish their plant here on account of the substantial class of labour available, and because of the power that was obtainable here. It was desired to have a citizen of Peterborough as President, and to have another on the directorate.

Mr. Piercy pointed out the field there was for such an industry. He quoted figures to show the immense profits that had been made by Henry Ford, Chalmers, Buick, and other well-known United States manufacturers in the manufacture of automobiles, and instanced Flint, Mich., and Detroit, as samples of cities that had been revolutionized by the automobile industry.

His Company already had orders for 200 cars, and for the first year it was proposed to have the parts manufactured outside and assembled here. If the stock was subscribed they would be prepared to start in with their work in thirty or forty days, and would employ at the very outset 50 men or more, probably 75. They felt that their proposition was a sound one; they were enthusiastic about it, and were bound to succeed. He anticipated that the profits on the first year's operations would be $300 per car, or a total of $60,000.

Mr. Geo. B. Frost, the other representative present, dealt with the technical feature of the Company's car, which had been built with the idea of getting something different from the other fellows. Mr. Frost went into the details of the Jules car thoroughly. A feature was the small number of parts, as compared with those in other machines. The car was simple in construction and easy in its lines, and contained features found in no other cars. He instanced the left-hand worm and worm wheel used for steering, as a strong point. They felt that their car was right. It had been tested by

(Continued on page 12.)

Scene From "The Man on the Box," the Clever Comedy Drama which comes to the Grand next Wednesday, May 3. Seat Sale opens Monday

CANADA'S TRADE FOR YEAR EXCEEDS $759,000,000

OTTAWA APRIL 29.—Final figures of the trade of Canada during the past fiscal year show an increase of $81,962,200 in the total volume of imports and exports as compared with the preceding year. The aggregate for the year was $759,694,389, or nearly double the trade of ten years ago, and over three times the trade of fifteen years ago, when the present government assumed power.

Imports for the year totalled $461,808,094, an increase of $86,114,364. Exports of both domestic and foreign products totalled $297,196,365. Exports of domestic products totalled $274,816,553, a decrease of $4,894,994, owing largely to the demands of the home market keeping pace with the increasing production, and also to the falling off in the quantity of western grain for exports last fall. Exports of foreign products totalled $22,807,812, an increase of about two and one-half millions. The exports of coin and bullion last year totalled $7,196,155, as compared with $2,594,538 for 1909-10. The exports, according to the principal products, were as follows:—Exports of the mine $42,787,591, an increase of $2,709,000. Exports of agriculture, $89,601,284, a decrease of nearly eight millions. Exports of the forest, $45,489,057, a decrease of a little over two millions. Exports of manufactures, $35,983,118, an increase of nearly four millions. Exports of fisheries, $15,675,544, or practically the same as the preceding year. Exports of animals and their products, $53,344,174, a decrease of a million and a half.

The Customs revenue for this year was $73,207,525, an increase of $12,287,033, or over twenty per cent.

ADMIRAL LI IS REPORTED ASSASSINATED BY MARINES

Special to The Examiner:

HONG KONG, APRIL 29. —Word has been received here that Admiral Li, who yesterday repulsed an attack of Canton rebels with heavy loss, has been assassinated by some of his own marines. The fact that the navy, too, is mutinous is a fresh blow to China. Foreign consuls here are receiving continuous demands for protection. Two British torpedo boat destroyers have been sent up the river.

THE FORMAL OPENING OF SPLENDID NEW DRUG STORE

The formal opening of the J. D. Tully Drug Store, 407 George street, is taking place this afternoon, and Mr. C. M. Moncur, Phm. B., the proprietor, and his staff have not lacked visitors at any period. There are many attractions, including the presence of Mr. J. A. Halpany's orchestra, which contributed a special programme this afternoon, and will be heard in a new list of numbers tonight. Mr. Moncur claims that he has the finest drug store in the city, and its appointments and stock have been warmly complimented by visitors to the store. Opening-day Specials are a strong feature to-day. The bargains include two tins of talcum powder for 25c., silver polish, regular price 25c, for 10c.; carbolic disinfecting powder, regular 25c for 10c.; and other attractive offers of the same calibre. The new store covers a space of 100 feet by 20½, and is more commodious and more modern than the old stand. The people of Peterborough are cordially invited to attend the opening to-night, inspect the store, listen to the fine playing of the orchestra—in fact, to make themselves thoroughly at home.

CHILD'S LIFE CRUSHED OUT BY FLOWER POT

Special to The Examiner:

TORONTO, APRIL 28.—Little Jennie Ray, the bright five-year-old child of Mr. Karl P. Ray, of 144 Kenilworth avenue, was playing in front of the home of the latter at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when a large iron flower pot on the verandah toppled over, crushing the little maid beneath its weight. It struck the child on the breast, pinioning her to the ground. Jennie's father was an eye-witness of the tragic scene and he quickly went to the assistance of his daughter. The sadly maimed little girl was carried to her home and Dr. Wm. D. Young was summoned, who, by means of morphine, alleviated the sufferer's pain, to which death put a period about 2.30 p.m.

Arm Was Fractured

On Wednesday last, Mrs. H. Crnikshanks, aged lady, a resident of Fraserville, had the misfortune to fall down stairs, sustaining a bad fracture of the left arm. Dr. Turner who was immediately summoned, set the injured member. The patient is doing as well as can be expected.

THE WEATHER

For about a week the temperature has been gradually rising, a degree or so each day, and yesterday the thermometer reached the respectable figure of 78 deg. in the shade. It is apparent that Spring has actually arrived at last, and that straw hats and linen dusters will soon once more be in vogue.

PARTY ARRIVES

Thirty-Seven Immigrants, Personally Conducted by Mr. Collings, Reach Their Destination Here Safely

ALL ARE PLACED

A big party of immigrants expected by the local Emigration Agent, Mr. Howson, arrived last evening on the G. T. R., about 9 o'clock. There were 37 altogether, including a married couple. Mr. P. H. Collings, of Collings & Co., Shipping and General Agents, Rosemont Parade, North Finchley, N. and 11 Queen St., Wrexham, escorted the party from London to this city, and will remain here until Monday. All of the new arrivals, except four, went out last night, the balance being placed this morning. Mr. Howson stated to the Examiner to-day that they were a fine class of emigrants. He said that there was a rush of farmers last night about 9 o'clock to secure help. The party came over on the steamer "Royal George," and all were pleased with their trip.

Mr. Collings stated to-day that he was delighted with the country and that the atmosphere was a treat. He said that in England, when he left, it was raining one day and snowing the next, and the people were thankful if there was sunshine one day a week. None of the emigrants, which arrived here last night, were placed with farmers further away from the city than 15 miles.

Mr. Howson stated that he had written to the Emigration Agents at London some time ago, stating the kind of men that were wanted in this section of the country, and he was pleased to say that they had taken great pains in securing the kind required, and filled the order in a very satisfactory manner. Mr. Collings will leave the city on Monday, but will not go back to England direct, as he has some business in Toronto and Montreal. Mr. Howson expects another party about the latter part of May. There will be about 40 in the party.

From April 4o October, 1911, we received 714 calls for stenographers, more than we were able to fill. So far this month we have received 32 calls of which only 21 have been filled. During the summer months we positively guarantee positions to all graduates. Thirty days' faithful study qualifies. Moon College, 283-286 Yonge St., Toronto.

Two Steamers Are Wrecked

Special to The Examiner

LONDON, APRIL 29. — Lloyd's agents have reported the loss of two steamers in the Bay of Biscay, including the Gismpa a coaling ship bought for Genoa. The probable loss of life is not known.

BIG GATHERING OF ATHLETES

Special to The Examiner.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., APRIL 29.—The University of Pennsylvania sports this afternoon brought together one of the greatest aggregations of college athletes in its history. Nearly two thousand will take part, representing 350 institutions of learning. There is a huge attendance.

A BIG WEDDING

Special Wire to the Examiner.

NEW YORK, N.Y., APRIL 29.—The third wedding in the George Gould family in a year, took place today, when Jay, the second son, married Miss Annie Douglas Graham, daughter of a prominent and wealthy family. The bride's mother, before her marriage, was Princess Kaikilani of Hawaii.

ANNUAL CHURCH PARADE

The Members of Otonabee Lodge No. 13 and Peterborough Lodge No. 111, I. O. O. F., and visiting Brethren are requested to assemble at the Odd Fellow's Hall at 6.15 o'clock, p. m., on Sunday, April 30th, to attend Divine Worship at Knox Church. The Rebeccas will assemble in the School Room of the Church at 6.45 as usual. 3d-tfs

THE TONE OF PEOPLE'S CHIMES IS "BEAUTIFUL AND MUSICAL"

The Chimes Completed, the Thirteen Bells Tuned; and Will be Shipped for Peterborough May 1st and Publicly Inaugurated Coronation Day, May 22nd—Welcome News for the Numerous Subscribers to the Fund

This morning Rev. Canon Davidson received from Messrs. John Taylor & Co., bell founders, Loughborough, Eng., the firm that is casting the bells for the Peoples' Chimes, a letter, in which it is said that the chimes are completed, and this statement is made:

"The tuning of the thirteen bells is now quite completed, and the chime, we assure you, is very beautiful and musical; and we feel certain that it will give you entire satisfaction."

The letter further states that "the fitting up of the bells and fixing them in their framework is being pressed forward, as quickly as possible, consistently, with the exercise of great care and thoroughness." It is expected, the letter adds, that the bells will be shipped for transmission to Peterborough, at the end of the present month or the beginning of May. It will therefore be easily possible to have the bells installed, and ready for public inauguration on Coronation Day, June 22nd.

The communication also contains a paragraph that shows the Peoples Chimes will not only posses a future historical interest, as a tangible expression of a notable and harmonious cooperation of citizens, without distinction of station, class or creed, in an enterprise that will for all times concretely and harmoniously symbolize the oneness of fellowship and spirit that gave them existence, but also a historical interest, associated with the past. The chimes will be associated with a name imperishable in the literature of the English language. The chimes will have a historical setting, both in material and relation. The oak of which the frame for the bells is made, came from Rothley estate, Loughborough. It was at Rothley Temple, the Hall of the estate where Lord Macaulay, of Essays fame, was born.

It may be added that, the most unique, in the way of association, of the outside contributions to the Peoples' Chimes Fund, is that of Mr. W. H. Reed, governor of Cobourg jail. Mrs. Reed's mother, was, in her virgin days, Miss Eliza Boat, and her marriage was the first that was solemnized in St. John's church. Mrs. Boat's father gave the ground on which was built St. James' Anglican church, Emily, long, and still, known as Boat's church. A nephew of Mrs. Boat, is Mr. John Brownlee, 293 Stewart street.

MORE NEW INSTRUMENTS FOR THE SALVATION ARMY BAND

The Salvation Army Band has this week received two splendid silver-plated instruments—a solo baritone and a solo tenor horn. These are splendid instruments and will greatly help to strengthen the organization. They will be presented to the Band on Sunday afternoon, when the Band will give a musical meeting in the Temple. It will be interesting to many of the patrons of the band, that these instruments, with the new drum just recently received, are the outcome of the Christmas serenading. There is another pleasing feature about it, and that is that the oldest member of the Band will receive one of the new instruments, Bro. Payton, who plays a solo horn, has been playing for over 20 years, and has held the position of Bandmaster, also Band Secretary. He is a faithful and hard working bandsman. Secretary Gendry will receive the other instrument.

REX THEATRE TO OPEN THURSDAY NIGHT NEXT

Within a week, Peterborough's latest amusement place, the "Rex" theatre, on George street, south of the Customs House, will have opened its doors to the public, and it is safe to prophesy that a genuine surprise is in store for the people of this city. A completely equipped theatre in a tent is a decided novelty, and the "Rex" is complete in every sense of the word, with a commodious stage, 20 by 30 feet, seating accommodation for over 1,100 people, roomy, comfortable dressing rooms, and lights galore. The effect when one steps beneath the canvas roof is amazing: the visitor forgets that he is between the walls of a tent and gets the impression of being in a theatre, as indeed he is. The floor is sloping, the elevation of the seats giving the audience a clean view of the stag from any portion of the house.

The stage itself is roomy and will be amply large enough for any of the acts that will be seen here. It will be completely furnished with scenery, curtain, etc., and comes up to the standard vaudeville house in these particulars.

The bills for the Rex will be booked through the United Booking Office of America, (Keith and Proctor), and Peterborough people will be given the same splendid line of attractions as are provided at Shea's Theatre in Toronto. Mr. J. K. Bourke, of New York, a representative of the United Booking Office is in the city to-day making the final arrangements with the Peterborough Amusement Company for the opening programme. The vaudeville offered at the Rex will be the best that can be secured by the celebrated booking agents, and will be a test of whether Peterborough really wants, or can, support high-class vaudeville. The acts will speak for themselves.

The Rex will have a splendid six-piece orchestra, consisting of A. Greig, violinist and leader; Mrs. Evans, piano; E. Crook, baritone; Fred Miller, clarionet; J. Minisolo, cornet, and J. Hooper, trap-drummer, the last four being members of the 57th Band.

The Rex will be formally opened on Thursday night of next week. The work is being rapidly completed now, a staff of men being engaged to-day in constructing the handsome beaver board front, which, when painted and decorated, will have a splendid effect. In addition to a big illuminated sign, hundreds of incandescent lights will be used on the exterior and interior of the theatre and the front will be a blaze of light at night.

LITTLE GIRL IS CUT IN TWO BY STREET CAR

Special Wire to the Examiner.

MONTREAL, APRIL 29. — Death, swift and terrible, overtook little Edith Pearl Dauphinee last night at seven o'clock, when running across St. James street in the west end of the city in pursuit of one of her playmates, she was struck by a car and virtually cut in two by the wheels.

The only surviving daughter of Mrs. John W. Dauphinee, a widow, who keeps a rooming house at 1043 St. James street, little Pearl, who was two and a half years of age, had gone out on to the street to play with one of her chums, Rita Gardner, who lives next door.

The two were skipping together with a rope, and getting into a frolic, Rita ran across the street, closely followed by Pearl who, presumably not seeing the approaching car, was almost out of harm's way when the fender caught her up, carried her for a few yards and then tossed the little tot underneath to be torn and mutilated by the front wheels. The car, one of the Amherst line, and said to be number 730 was empty and being driven to the sheds for the night, and eye-witnesses state that it was travelling at a high rate of speed. It is also said that, owing to the delay in getting jacking apparatus from the construction sheds to lift the car, the mangled body of the victim lay between the wheels for nearly twenty minutes.

There was active indignation amongst the by-standers over the behaviour of sensation-seekers who crowded into the empty car in their eagerness to see the body lifted from the blood-smeared tracks. The police who had foregathered, did their best to restore order; and the women who lined the streets wept and wailed when the nearly severed body of the pretty little girl was finally brought out.

Mrs. Dauphinee was in her house at the time, and when news of the tragedy was carried to her she became hysterical, pleading to have the body left with her instead of being taken to the morgue. This morning, however, in the Coroner's Court at the morgue Mrs. Dauphinee was quite collected and answered the questions put to her by the Coroner with perfect calmness.

KILLED BY ELEPHANT

Trainer is Crushed into a Shapeless Mass by Big Brute—Tusks Were Driven Through His Body

ANIMAL WAS SHOT

Special to The Examiner.

DIXON, MISSOURI, APRIL 29. — In view of hundreds of spectators an infuriated elephant, which was being put into a car, dug its tusks into its trainer James Hildebrande, tossed him in the air and then crushed him into a shapeless mass with his great feet. He was finally shot and killed after endangering the lives of several other people.

MONSTER BATTLESHIP LAUNCHED

Special to The Examiner.

BARROW IN FURNESS, ENG., APRIL 29.—The Princess Royal, the largest cruiser battleship ever launched for the British navy, was christened to-day by Princes Louise. The displacement is twenty-six thousand tons. The engines seventy thousand horse power. She carries eight thirteen inch guns and smaller weapons.

One of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co, steamers will leave Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train from Peterboro on Tuesday, May 2nd for the Lakes. ed-tsco

TRYING TO PROVE ALIBI

Examiner Special:

ROCHESTER, N.Y., APRIL 29. — Local labour men have discovered the name of John J. McNamara on a hotel register of Sept. 25th and they hope to prove an alibi for the accused secretary.

INDOOR GARDEN PARTY

Charlotte Street lecture hall, Friday evening, May 5th. Something unique in entertainments. No admission fee. 1d

KINGSTON HEADQUARTERS

Special to The Examiner

OTTAWA, APRIL 29—Militia orders to-day announce Kingston as the headquarters of the newly organized third militia division, to include all Eastern Ontario, including Ottawa and Peterborough districts.

STEAMER OTONABEE

now open for excursions. Special rates to Sunday Schools and Societies. Dates are being taken rapidly. Apply at the office of the Peterboro & Lake Simcoe Navigation Co. Ltd., 352 George St. R. PINCHIN, Manager Sec't. & Man.

THE RAT SEASON CLOSES TO-DAY

To-day was a harvest day for the Indians, as was evidenced by the smiling countenances of the many who paid the city a visit to-day. The main object of their visit here was to dispose of their season's catch of rats. Thos. Barrie purchased about 18,000, at prices ranging from 25c. to 40c. while the Wm. Lech and Sons, purchased a large quantity. The average price ranges in the neighbourhood of 30c., which is about one third of the price that was paid last year for them. The catch has been a fairly good one. This was the last day for bringing them in.

A PLACE IN THE FAMILY

"If you and your family were obliged to depend on one medicine, what would you choose? It is not difficult to guess what medicine Mrs. James Gray, Bathurst, N.B., would choose, for she writes:—"For five years my husband and I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills for kidney troubles, biliousness and constipation and find them indispensable as a family medicine.

Soothing Healing Pain-relieving MECCA OINTMENT

Daily Examiner

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every week-day evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 420 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

E. H. CLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1911

CANADA PRESSING FORWARD

Which nobody can deny—that as Sir Wilfrid Laurier said, the Twentieth Century, with a capital T. and C., belongs to Canada, the proudest child of the proud mother that has about 2,000 million dollars invested in Canada, to help its phenomenal growth. This growth is indicated by the figures of total trade, which have reached this year the big figure of nearly $760,000,000—$7,50,000,000. Our total trade has doubled in the past ten years, and trebled since fifteen years ago, when the present Liberal Govrnment took charge of the helm.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Spring is the season when all nature puts on new garments of adornment. The wild flowers push their slender stems through the brown leaves and wave their bright petals in the soft, spring air. A brighter iris gathers on the burnished dove, the pine has a fringe of brighter green, the bare boughs break into a leafy canopy, and everywhere there are renovation and the genesis of regeneration of beauty. It is quite in harmony with all this that the Horticultural Society is seeking to add elasticity to the spring that gives the impulse to the adornment of home and home surroundings through the aid of flowers, shrubs, etc.

The object is to make the city beautiful through the increase and extension of popular interest. The general effect will depend upon the general character of the movement. Every new member added to the Society means one more little beauty spot in some part of the city, and the more members the more new beauty spots, and with the greatest success in adding to the membership these points of beauty will become close enough to touch and cover the whole city.

Does the citizen, who is not a member of the Society, know what he will gain by joining the Society, besides the consciousness of being a benefactor to his kind? Does he consider what the dollar that represents his membership represents besides? If he does not know, he is told that he will get a choice of three sets of plants—a dozen bedding plants, or a dozen window box plants, or one large Boston fern. That is the spring distribution. The autumn distribution is additional, and consists of a dozen first-rate bulbs for flowering; and that is not all. He gets, besides, a year's subscription, free, to the Canadian Horticulturist, one of the best papers of its class published anywhere.

Altogether, the membership fee of one dollar represents a value of $1.70. That is, the plants and bulbs that are given as membership premiums, would cost at the ordinary retail prices, $1.10, and the subscription price of the Horticulturist is 60 cents. The member not only gets his dollar back in plant value and literary value, but gets value to the amount of 70 cents, beyond the dollar he paid in. This should appeal to the commercial side of any man who loves a bargain, and it is a wonder that the ladies are not crowding each other in the rush for tickets, for no merchant's bargain day gives bargains at the rate of $1.70 for one dollar.

The new member, besides, belongs to an army of public-spirited citizens who are waging a campaign to overcome and destroy dirt, untidiness, uglings, and disorder, and plant in their place beauty of home and street, and confer an added value to every piece of property so transformed. Take away the smooth, green lawns, the glowing flower plots, graceful shrubs, stately shade trees, and trim boulevards that cost at most a few dollars, and you rob a three or four thousand dollar house of hundreds of dollars of its value.

It has often been said that unity of action, as between citizens themselves, and the public (as differentiated from citizens who promote public improvements) and the corporation authorities is essential to the production of the best results—general harmony of result in the matter of civic beautification. And this co-operation has, at present, an encouraging look, as shown by the activity in increasing the membership of the Horticultural Society, and the increased interest of the city authorities.

This year the Board of Works has done better, in this regard, than ever before. It has inaugurated a campaign of street tidying that does it, or the Street Commissioner, or whoever is responsible, the greatest credit. The leaves, impacted in the gutters by the winter's snow, and other refuse, are raked into heaps, and either burned or carted away. The city authorities, themselves, must be astonished at the improvement this little inexpensive action has produced. The streets, in the matter of tidiness, look a hundred per cent. better than before the improvement was made. They are now, in this respect, a credit, instead of a disgrace, to the city. And the work has doubly paid for itself—in the vastly improved appearance and condition of the streets—tidiness for slovenliness, and better drainage. It has paid for itself in another way. The rubbish collected and carted away is used to fill city property, adding to its value by making it available for use for building or other purposes.

There is another way by which the city can extend its work of cooperation in improvement of appearance of our city. And that is by helping citizens provide boulevards. On some streets the line of boulevard is broken by rough stone-strewn stretches here and there, destroying the line of beauty of continuous boulevard. This is not private property, but it is often dealt with and improved by the citizen, from public spirit, from self respect and regard for appearances. It is plainly the duty of the corporation to do the work of constructing boulevards. The work is in a public place and is done, or to be done, in the public interest.

The city authorities might well dispose of the street scrapings, suitable for the purpose, by building up boulevards where they are lacking. Other cities not only build the boulevards, but provide lines of curbing to protect them. Our city fathers might well supply the earth necessary. Heretofore a citizen, except some one specially favoured, has had to beg, plead, pray, over and over again, for a load or two of street scrapings, as if he were asking a tremendous favour, and to overcome the attitude that he was stealing something, or asking for what he had no right. He did not ask for the boulevard for himself only, but he was asking for assistance to do the work in the public interest, to beautify a public street for the benefit of every passer-by. The city has made so good a beginning in cleaning the streets, that one is encouraged to hope that they will extend their good work by helping in the matter of making boulevards.

While the city has done well in removing the bulk of the filth from the streets, there is still some left that can be collected by closer raking. The owners of abutting property would do this willingly if the city would provide for the removal of the heaps. By providing for this removal the city would be inserting the thin end of the wedge of a garbage removal system. We must not only have a comely city, but a clean city. We must make the inside, as well as the outside, of the cup and platter clean. Private premises should have all garbage removed; it is not only dangerous to health by the stenches that decay and decomposition create, but it is an ideal breeding ground for house flies, the greatest carriers of disease germs known to science. The benefit of killing one fly early in the season, is shown by the statement of Dr. Hastings, Medical Health Officer of Toronto, who declares that the progeny of one wintered-over fly will reach before the end of the season, the inconceivable number of about fifteen million millions. The question of relation of garbage removal and flies, and the distribution of disease germs, is practically one and the same thing. A garbage removal system—but that, as Kipling would say, "is another story," and will do for another time.

TAFT AND ANNEXATION.

President Taft, speaking at the banquet of the Press Association in New York, declared that the talk of annexation in connection with reciprocity was "bosh" and thus sustained his assertion:

"I am not an anti-imperialist, but I have had considerable experience in the countries over which we have assumed temporary control. I do not know when that control will end, but I do know that, in respect to those countries, we have taken over heavy duties and obligations, the weight of which ought to destroy any temptation to further acquisition of territory.

"The talk of annexation is bosh. Every one who knows anything about it realizes that it is bosh. Canada is a great, strong youth, anxious to test his muscles, rejoicing in the race he is ready to run. The United States has all it can attend to with the territory it is now governing, and to make the possibility o fthe annexation of Canada to the United States a basis for objection to any steps toward their greater economic and commercial union, should be treated as one of the jokes of the platform and should not enter into the consideration of serious men engaged in solving a serious problem.

"Why should not we have a closer union with Canada? Think of the absurdity of separating Manitoba and Minneapolis by as great a distance as Manitoba and Liverpool when certainly Providence intended that their separation, socially and commercially, should only be that of their geographical distance. Canadians have furnished us a great number of our best citizens. We are giving them a large number of the pick o four young farmers. Let us open the gateways between us. Let us give to both countries the profit of the trade that God intended between us. Let the political governpick of our young farmers. Let us abolish arbitrary and artificial obstructions to our association with our friends upon the north and derive the mutual profit that it will certainly bring.

THE IMPERIAL CLOSURES.

The "kangaroo" closure, which was enforced in the British House Tuesday, is the latest device known to Parliament of cutting the talk short and getting the business on remarks, the Manchester Guardian. The need for some sort of closure has been evident of late in the Canadian Parliament, and the Guardian's description is, therefore, of interest. The closure in any form is a modern machine, it says. It always stirs the passions of the Parliamentary man, who slips into metaphor whenever he talks about it, calling one form of the process the guillotine, because it is like a knife which falls suddenly and stops the struggle, and another form the kangaroo, perhaps because you cannot forecast the length of its jump and all forms, "gag."

The closure has probably given the Strangers' Gallery many a shock. A speech is taking a very ordinary course and no one seems to be marking what is said, when suddenly there is a loud and unusual shout. The observer may have failed to note that some Minister of the Crown has half risen from his place and muttered a few apparently unimportant words. But the House itself knows what has occurred. He has moved the closure—"I beg to move that the question be now put."

The orator in possession drops like a bird that has been shot in full flight. The Speaker or the Chairman may ignore the motion, in which case the Minister looks annoyed, and the orator triumphantly goes on. But if it be accepted the Speaker rises and says: "The question is that the question be now put," and there follow two divisions—the first to determine whether the House shall now decide and the second how it shall decide.

"Closure by compartments," or "the guillotine," was a later device. It cannot, like the simple closure, be moved haphazard, but requires a long preliminary resolution, on which there is generally an angry debate. By this resolution certain periods of time are allotted to various portions and stages of a bill. At the expiration of each period discussion closes automatically, and on the amendments to the allotted portion of the bill there are divisions, but no discussions. Generally, the guillotine is timed to fall at ten o'clock on the given night, and it is often followed, if the spirit of the Opposition is high, by repeated divisions—solvitur ambulando in the literal sense.

The five minutes before the fall of the knife are often a period of tense excitement. Sometimes a prominent member of the Opposition will rise, in the hope that the decapitation of eminence may stir the imagination of people outside. At other times a smaller man keeps it up, with one eye on the clock. At the first stroke the Speaker takes his black silk scarlet off his knees, rises in his place, and the Opposition attack the first bar of a chorus to which the words are "Gag, gag, gag."

A MARTYR TO HEADACHE?

HA-DRU-CO HEADACHE WAFERS

10c. a Box at your druggist's.

will make life comfortable for you again.

They relieve the worst headache in 20 minutes or less. 31

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. - - - - Montreal.

A. T. COLE — COLE & SMITH — W. S. SMITH

MEMBERS DOMINION STOCK EXCHANGE

402 LUMSDEN BLDG., TORONTO

Stocks and Bonds bought and sold on all Leading Exchanges

Special attention given to Development of the New Gold Fields of Porcupine. Cobalt Stocks

Relation Of Free Trade To Britain's Industrial And Trade Supremacy

(Manitoba Free Press)

During the past fortnight Manitoba audiences have listened to elaborate speeches against the proposed reciprocity agreement, the speaker in each case being a Conservative member of the House of Commons. The speeches made were much the same. They contained the same arguments and the arguments were presented in much the same way. A frank avowal of protection was made by each of the speakers, and each made the assertion that all the great countries of the world had been built up by protective tariffs. Singular as it may seem, the United Kingdom was not excepted. Arthur Meighen, speaking at Portage la Prairie on April 21, for instance, elaborated the contention that protection was the foundation of the industrial greatness of the Unied Kingdom. He maintained that that foundation was laid during the era of protective duties, that during that era British ships sailed upon every sea, that her trade was great and prosperous and that the United Kingdom turned to free trade only when her raw materials became exhausted.

The abolition of the tariff of the United Kingdom took place during three distant periods. Of these the first was covered by the years 1824-1827. Immediately prior to this period the duties on both raw materials and manufacturers were so high as now to appear almost incredible. Sydney Smith said with perfect truth that the people were taxed from the cradle to the grave. So far from British industry being prosperous at this time, it was retrograding. The impetus given to it by the Napoleonic wars, when production on the continent was paralyzed, was over or, at any rate, declining. Many of the duties were on articles which could not possibly be produced at home, and, while in all cases they checked consumption, thereby indirectly depressing exports, they gave rise to the manufacture of inferior substitutes. There was one industry, however, which was greatly promoted by the protective duties in force prior to 1824, viz., the industry of smuggling. In the industry of smuggling there were employed at that time in the United Kingdom no less than 40,000 persons. Among the duties removed or lowered during this period, were notably those on silk and its manufactures. Speaking generally, the changes made in this period were preparatory to those which came later. The great bulk of restrictive regulations continued in force. Does Mr. Meighen contend that at this period British industry had been established on its present foundations?

Covering the second period of custom abolition in the United Kingdom were the years 1841-1846. In this period the names of Sir Robert Peel and Sir Henry Parnell stand out prominently, as does that of William Huskisson during the first period. The practical removal of the duty on wheat was, of course, the principal feature of this second period. Besides this the duties on raw materials were for the most part abolished, semi-manufactures were admitted on payment of moderate duties and the duties on manufactured goods were lowered from figures, in many cases prohibitive, of about 30 per cent. ad valorem. Among the principal raw materials on which the duties were either abolished or lowered, were timber, silk, hemp, cotton, hides, indigo and turpentine. It would be interesting if Mr. Meighen would tell us when these raw materials were ever produced to any extent in the United Kingdom.

The third period of tariff abolition in the United Kingdom was that of 1853-1860. It was left to Mr. Gladstone to apply the new principle of free trade in its fullest extent. "There will be," said Mr. Gladstone, "a sweep—summary, entire and absolute—of what are known as manufactured goods from the face of the "British tariff." As the result of Mr. Gladstone's budgets the duties on semi-manufactured and wholly-manufactured articles were entirely abolished. It will be noted that in the tariff changes of this third and last period raw materials do not figure at all. The duties on practically all raw materials had been removed years previously. If, as Mr. Meighen contends, only the exhaustion of the raw materials of the United Kingdom led to protective duties being abolished why were the duties on semi-manufactured goods and wholly-manufactured goods removed at this later date? Why, in fact, were they removed at all?

Of course Mr. Meighen's statement that the foundations of British industry were laid in protective days and that only the exhaustion of raw materials led to free trade are gross and grotesque distortions of the facts. Will he tell us at what time in the history of England ripening cotton plants whitened the country-side? It may possibly be news to Mr. Meighen to know that the Lancashire cotton industry is the greatest single industry in the world. It has been frequently stated that ten millions of people in the old country are directly and indirectly dependent on that industry. The Lancashire cotton trade, like many others in the old country, has been built up and sustained by free trade. From the start it has depended for its raw material on the United States, on Egypt and on India.

After the third period of tariff abolition in the United Kingdom British industry entered upon a new and marvellous expansion, as different from anything that had previously existed as a modern locomotive from an old stag coach. Industries that the England of the first half of the nineteenth century never knew have sprung up and bid defiance to all the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The destruction of a fire-proof apartment house in Montreal, is a proof that fire-proof buildings are not always fire-proof.

There were no criminal cases at the Spring sittings of the High Court of Justice at Ottawa. And to call that a court of justice with 200 odd members of parliament within its jurisdiction, and white gloves for the Judge.

The Roman Catholic school commissioners are sending three of their number to Europe to study the teaching of good manners in that part of the world. They might save themselves the trouble of so long a quest by engaging the services of two or three members of the Opposition at Ottawa, whose courtliness and chivalresque demeanor would form excellent models.

IT IS EASY TO OWN A SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.

J. W. Stuart, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

WORK WANTED

WORK WANTED BY THE DAY BY ENG. lish woman. Apply No. 2 Bolsc...nAve. 2d-52-4923

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 692 Stewart St. 12d-49-4792

WANTED—ROOM AND BOARD BETWEEN Charlotte and Dalhousie St., by young couple. Must be first-class. Apply to Box 4946, Examiner. 2d-tue-52-4946

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 128 Albert St., Ottawa. 4-tues-52-4954

SITUATIONS VACANT

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $2 to $5 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience.—Winston, Limited, Spadina Ave. Toronto. 2d-52-4942

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, P 1720, Lockport, N.Y. d6m139

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, B 1630, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 139

HELP WANTED—MALE

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED — BOY AT PETERBORO MATtress Co., Hunter St., East 3d-52-4937

WANTED — GOOD STRONG BOY FOR Driver. Apply after 7 p.m., 699 George Street. 3d-52-4934

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons $25.00 weekly. Job guaranteed. $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1768, Rochester, N.Y. 1md-51-4921

FOREMEN OF FACTORIES, MILLS, Shops and camps, do you want to double your income without risking your present position in any way? Without cash outlay. Nothing but a little use of your brains. No fake scheme, but something that many are doing well at. Write, stating position, number working in factory and average monthly pay-roll. P. O. Box 1107, Edmonton, Alta. 2d15-52-29-4788

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.

FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice. —People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-50-4901

HELP WANTED—Female

GIRLS WANTED FOR LAMP DEPARTment of C.G.E. Apply Gate House. 2d-52-4919

WANTED—CAPABLE ELDERLY WOMAN only as general servant. Small family. Apply to Miss Sherry, 106 McDonnel Street. 4d100-5027

GIRLS WANTED—A GIRL FOR UPSTAIR work, and one for washing dishes, at the Hotel National. 6d-52-4952

WANTED—SALESLADY. WRITTEN APplications will be received up to May 5th, state experience if any, also enclose copy of references. Apply C. B. Routley, 379 George Street. 2d-52-4776

WANTED—WOMAN OR GIRL FOR LIGHT House keeping in mornings. Apply Mornings or in the evenings between 7 and 8 p.m., to 233 Stewart St. 2d-52-4953

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker. Reference, state wages. Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 544, Ring 3, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-52-4908

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now, The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-52-4899

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A., British Canadian Industrial Company, 220 Albert St., Ottawa. 2d-mon-52-4954

LOST

LOST—ON STREET UP TOWN PARCEL from Lalley's. Finder please leave at Examiner Office. 1d-52-4934

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

LOST—SUNDAY EVENING BETWEEN St. John's Church and Corner George and Hunter Streets, Gold Brooch, set with Pearls. Please leave at Examiner Office. Reward. 1d-52-4913

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET. Apply Donaldson, Peck & Kerr. 4d-52

TO LET—NICELY FURNISHED ROOMS. Apply Box 4941 Examiner Office. 2d-tu-52-4941

TO RENT—A SMALL HOUSE IN GOOD locality, city water and electric light. For particulars apply to 126 Antrim St., City. 4d-52-4933

TO RENT FOR THE SUMMER—FURNISHed house centrally located, 439 Charlotte Street, modern improvements. Possession given first of May. Apply to G. W. Hatton, Solicitor 207½ George St. 6d-wed-52-4932

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 220 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 813 Hunter Street. 4d-52-4935

FOR RENT OR SALE—BRICK RESIDENCE 665 Weller St., 4 bedrooms, attic, bathroom and conveniences. Sewer, gas and electric connections. At rear of deep lot a lawn tennis court. Good basement with laundry stove connections. Splendid locality. You'll like it. Apply to W. O. Austin, opposite or Geo. J. Sherry, High Court Office. 6d-52-4930

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator car. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough 4d-W

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—GOOD DRIVING HORSE CITY broken. Apply 223 Reid Street. 3d-52-4931

PRIVATE SALE OF HOUSEHOLD FURNIture at 264 Water Street. 2d-52-4923

FOR SALE—SIDEBOARD AND TABLE IN use for a month. Must be sold as owner is leaving City. Same may be seen at Bellegham's Furniture Store 2d-52-4936

FOR SALE 50,000 SENATOR DUNLOP strawberry plants best variety grown, $4 per 1000, $5 per 100. Apply A. Stenson Box 749 Peterboro. 3d-s&t-9w-16-47tf

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well-built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 6d-52-4940

FOR SALE — MARTIN STRAIN WHITE Wyandotte and Thoroughbred Barred Rock Eggs for hatching. $1 per setting. Archie Brault, 347 George St. 2d-52-4939

FOR SALE —HAPPY THOUGHT RANGE and Art Sovereign Feeder. Good Repair. Apply Mrs. Whatley, 207 Charlotte Street. 2d-52-4926

GROCERY FOR QUICK SALE—Doing good cash business, dwelling over store, two acres of land, part fruit. This is a first-class opportunity to get in business for yourself. Owner going West. Apply M. Guerin, 468 Rogers St. 6d-52-4934

FOR SALE—A LIGHT SINGLE DELIvery Wagon; in use less than a year; a snap for quick sale. Also Two 25 barrel Puncheons, suitable for cistern or cheese factory. Apply Calcutt's Brewery. 12md-sat-5w-17-4919

FOR SALE OR BLOC REAL ESTATE— Brokers who want to make big money honestly and quickly should secure the balance of my sub-division. 125 lots, best low price lots obtainable, more than 50 sold. Apply T. Hurley, 225 Hunter Street. 3d-5sw-52-4933

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once. —H. C. Stabler, 230 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired, cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Bethune street. 3d-52-4928

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.

206 Charlotte Street

Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,

On the Premises

NOTICE

The first sitting of the Court of Revision, of the Municipality of the Township of Otonabee, under His Lordship Judge Huycke, will be held in the Town Hall, Keene, commencing on Thursday, the 25th of May, 1911 at 10 o'clock, a.m. All interested are asked to attend.

J. H. DRUMMOND, Township Clerk 1d-18-5w-19-4939

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—

762 Water Street

PHONE 1140

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust and wind.

Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

J. H. VANCE

Further Particulars From

773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?

If you would stop the rent fruitlessness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent, and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:

Buy a Lot

and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by

J. T. O'Connell & Co.

136 Hunter St. Phone 376

Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO

Real Estate Brokers

434 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.

Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

A Real Estate SNAP

Lots 37 & 38, block 1, Buena Vista

SASKATOON

$1050 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months

This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro

L. A. Russell

REAL ESTATE OPERATOR

Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro

12d-52-4950

A. Brown & Co.

408 GEORGE STREET

Headquarters for all kinds of

Real Estate

WINDSOR HOUSE

BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.

Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to

N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE

2m-50

Might & Taylor

376 Water St. Phone 99

Real Estate and Insurance

Lots on George Street South $350 each

$1250.00 will buy trams House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.

$650.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $600,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited

Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS

including:

Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines

10% off Duplicating Machines

Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments

Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen

Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.

Cash or Time Payments

Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company

159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Summer Opening

About the tenth of May we will hold our Summer Opening when we will show hot weather ready-to-wear, and to make ready for them we are clearing out the remainder of spring suits and dresses and underskirts. Just now you can get all the latest spring suits and dresses for a fraction of their cost.

Beautiful Silk Dresses that would cost $35.00 to $40.00 to get made, will be cleared out at about..... $19.00
Cloth Dresses, beautiful styles, at about..... $10.50
The latest Suits, fine cloth, with good silk lining at from..... each..... $12.50

Come early while the choice is good. Third Floor.

Millinery

Our Millinery Department with wonderful rapidity has made for itself a most enviable name throughout our entire district. The beautiful artistic designs show evidence of rare skill. Like the picture of a master painter, there is not a touch lacking and not a touch is there too much.

Miss Noble never sinks her art into dollars and cents. She would sooner lose a sale than sell an unsuitable hat. She makes a careful study of faces and figures and thus you can always depend upon her hats giving a beautiful completeness to your costume, and though her hats are in a class by themselves they cost no more than the others.

Millinery Phone 354 Second Floor Miss Noble, HEAD MILLINER

Children's Headwear

Latest effects, ... 25c and up
See our new Mull Bonnet trimmed with beautiful embroidery (2ND FLOOR).... .... $1.00

Music

Everything up-to-date in music.
SPECIAL BARGAIN
Music slightly frayed 7c

Boot Sale

Ladies' Boots, none under $2.50 and up to $3.00, for $2.09

Ladies' Boots, 4 different styles, all sizes, for $1.25

Saturday only

Whitewear

Children's Drawers for ages 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, reg 25c a pair, Saturday only, 2 pairs for..... 25c

Children's Knitted Wool Bootees reg 10c to 30c a pair, Saturday only per pair. 9c

Children's Dresses in pretty American styles, full width, kimona sleeve, 2 to 5 years .. 50c
Second Floor

Hose and Underwear

Stockings

We pride ourselves upon our high class Hosiery and Underwear
See our boy's strong Hose, all sizes..... 15c
Ladies' fine thread Stockings in black and fancy shades..... 15c
Our Cashmere Hose is stronger and finer in quality than you usually see 25c-35c-50c

Underwear

Ladies' Vests with long, short or no sleeve, regular 25c for Saturday only 15c
Ladies' Knitted Combinations, regular $1.25, for Saturday only 69c
Ladies' Vests, fine thread, short sleeve..... 10c

Main Floor

New Combs, just arrived, from 5c to..... $3.00

ELLIOT'S

Try our Special $3.00 Long Corset

SERMON FROM SHAKESPEARE

(Copr. 1909, by Bradley-Garretson Co., Ltd.)

We are born to do benefits.

Timon of Athens, Act I., Sc. II.

In a previous study it was pointed out that two questions suggest themselves to the sojourner in this world: Why am I here? Whither am I going? To these should be added a third: Whence have I come? There are immortal longings in every soul. Even the grossest materialist at times turns even inward and wonders whence came that godlike principle in his being, that is himself, yet is able to stand apart and analyse his motives, that abides in the material, but is not of it. In the same way the principle in man capable of conceiving the infinite is itself a source of questioning. It is not of the nerves, the muscles, the bone and the blood. The solution of its nature and destiny has created schools of philosophy, but its nature and destiny still puzzle the will. The most important question, Why am I here? Shakespeare has solved. Man was born to do benefits, to make the earth better for his sojourn on it, to make human society nobler for his presence.

There are those who foolishly believe that man has no higher destiny than eating and drinking, than sensuous pleasure is the be-all and end-all of existence. There are those on the other hand who imagine that man was born to glorify the Infinite, to spend his life in prayer and praise. Both have mistaken views. The pleasure-seeker finds no soul's satisfaction in his plan of life; the ascetic worshipper is possessed of an other-worldliness, to use George Eliot's phrase, that tends to make him overlook the duty at hand. It is not the man who shouts "Lord, Lord," but the one who does the will of the Father who is properly realising himself—and the will of the Father is to do benefits, to give food and drink to the hungry and thirsty.

Wealth gives no true satisfaction to the soul. Unless a man has the desire to do benefits with his wealth it will bring him no happiness, rather pain. It is the same with power. The man who can command his fellows, force them to obey, finds his highest happiness in tempering his rule with mercy, in doing benefits to his subjects.

The student of Christianity cannot but be impressed by the practical character of the teachings of its founder. It is a religion of doing, not of saying. Mankind was instructed to do good even to their enemies, to do unto others benefits such as they expected to be done unto themselves. In Christ's teaching the doing element is ever kept in the foreground. For every grain of precept He sowed, He scattered abroad a bushel of example. While on earth he was continually doing benefits,—feeding the hungry, healing the sick, bidding the lame walk, restoring sight to the blind. Even those who doubt the miraculous nature of the benefits he bestowed on the weak and unfortunate, believe that the highest life is attained by doing with the means at hand the work he is reputed to have done in his wanderings from Nazareth to Jerusalem.

The most divine of human institutions is the family. It is so because it is established on the basis of mutual benefit. Parents find their highest happiness in sacrificing themselves for their children, children in thoughtful consideration of the desires of their parents. Brother is never so happy as when aiding a brother to bear his burdens. The family is the model for the nation, the ideal of humanity. The doing of benefits is the bond that binds families together; it is the leaven that pervades a people, giving them a national spirit. What is loyalty but a readiness to make sacrifices for the sovereign by whom one is governed or the laws of the nation that every citizen has sworn to obey! What is patriotism but a willingness, at personal loss, to do benefits to the nation of which a man forms a part.

That the truth of Shakespeare's words, "We are born to do benefits," is gripping society is evident from the fraternal institutions, the brotherhoods that have sprung up in modern times. The higher the state of civilisation, the greater the tendency to organise well-doing. In these brotherhoods is the hope of the world. They know no national boundaries; they are cosmopolitan in their nature, not local: they are humanitarian in their teaching, not narrowly patriotic. The consistent member of a family or brotherhood cannot but make an excellent citizen of the world.

Every man can do benefits but there are some who have chosen callings that give them a wide sphere of usefulness. The preacher and the teacher, for example, stand pre-eminent among the benefactors of mankind. They are of the profession that Christ took upon himself; they are evolving mates of Confucius, and Plato, and St. Paul, of Calvin and Luther. Their teaching is in vain unless like the poor parson in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" they follow their own teaching, showing by their good works the truth of their words. But all men are, in a greater or lesser degree, "born to do benefits." Their opportunities and talents are a sacred trust; properly used they bring to the doer of benefits happiness infinitely greater than any experienced from benefits received.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops cough, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—It is really marvellous how mighty liberal some of our preachers are getting with the people's Bible. They are not only willing to give away whole books, such as Genesis, Daniel, Esther, Jonah, etc. They are not only willing that the gospels and epistles of the New Testament should most of them be discredited, but wonderful to state, some of our preachers have become so large hearted and broad minded, that they are now willing that we should part with all those parts of our English Bible that Bob Ingersoll objected to. And be it noted that Ingersoll had little or no use for any part of God's Book. On one occasion Ingersoll stood up before an audience and declared, "I can write a better book than the Bible myself." An old auntie in the audience shouted out, "Go in on it, Bob; there's money in it." To-day Bob's "bones are dust and his sword is rust," and the Old Book still abides. The most amusing part of this wholesale parting with the word of God by the critics is this: The more they can assail and discredit the Bible, the small-er they can make it appear to one another, and to the people, the larger the old book grows. Their love for the "dear old book" as they style it, grows in the same proportion as they are able to show that it is not inspired. These men have surely lost all sense of humour. Let me illustrate. A number of surgeons lay a friend," a larger and diviner man; on the operating table. They scalp him, they take out his two eyes, cut off his two ears and nose; they amputate his arms and legs and then they present him to his family and friends saying, "Here is your father and friend," a larger and diviner man; see how he has grown."

In like manner do these false teachers, after mutilating the book beyond recognition, look down on their people with countenance serene, and calm as a midsummer morning and say, "It appears as though we had taken away your Bible from you, but see how much larger a book it is now that we have operated upon it. These teachers, no doubt, will go on getting worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived, until the Lord descends with his "winged squadrons of the skies" and gathers the tares from the wheat. In the meantime, God's people should be warned not to help sow the tares. Hence these letters. If we help to propagate, disseminate and perpetuate the theology of the successors of Paine, Bradlaugh and Ingersoll, who have crept in unawares into the professing church, we are bidding them God speed ,and are "partakers of their evil deeds."

There is just as much chance of a few school boys demolishing Gibraltar with their air guns, as there is of these self styled "intellectual emancipators from the learned arena" destroying the impregnable rock of holy scriptures. Yes, we do believe that the word o fthe Lord liveth and abideth forever, but we also do believe and contend that these destroyers of the faith should not live and abide forever in the Christian church and that their teachings should be suppressed, and that they themselves should forthwith, be requested to get out of the church and go to their own company. And if this is not done very soon, one need not be a prophet to predict with the certainty of a prophesy that judgments swift and sudden will be visited on Christendom for this great transgression.

JOHN CARLISLE.

Dear Sir,—

I would like to register through your paper a great big kick, in the way the City Fathers treat the people that live on Charlotte Street between Park St., and the boundary. This part of the street is very seldom watered, and never oiled and consequently the dust on this part of the street is something awful, and it would be out of reason to keep your door or window open, if you did, your house would be full of dust.

Now there are a great many Tax Payers on this particular part of the street, and they are entitled to some consideration,—the same treatment as accorded to the Tax Payers between George and Park Street. Charlotte Street has been thoroughly oiled over this section, and why the oil man or water man should stop short at Park St., and allow the rest of the people to suffer on the other side of Park Street, is what I want to know.

I would like to know if the oil or water man has orders from the council to stop at Park St., and if he has I would like to know why. And there are a great many other Tax Payers that also want to know. There is a great deal of travel on this road, and consequently, a great deal of dust raised. I hope however, that the City Fathers will look into this matter, at their first meeting and remedy the evil.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I remain.

ONE OF THE SUFFERERS

BALD MEN

Should call and inspect the famous Sanitary Patent Toupees, as shown by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911.

These toupees are not only perfect in construction, but are the only Sanitary and Patented substitutes of one's hair.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE
For Alcoholic and Drug Addictions. 1253 DUNDAS ST. TORONTO

FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF LOCAL HOSPITALS GOVERNMENT REPORTS

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL.

Movements of Patients.

Number under treatment 1st October, 1909	33
Admitted	592
Births in Hospital	19
Total number under treatment	634
Discharged	579
Died	20
Under Treatment 30th September, 1910	35
	634

Sex.

Male	302
Female	332
	634

Revenue.

From the Province of Ontario	$ 1,501 49
From patients themselves for maintenance and treatment	7,246 77
From property belonging to Hospital endowments, etc.	10,322 08
From subscriptions, donations, and bequests from private individuals
From other sources
Total	$19,071 35

Expenditures.

Butchers' meat	$1,206 25
Butter and eggs	648 90
Flour, bread and meal	480 97
Milk	308 85
Tea and coffee	95 90
Potatoes and other vegetables	788 85
Groceries and provisions not enumerated	771 76
Drugs and medicines	1,558 75
Surgical instruments and appliances	1,146 44
Beer, wine and spirits	165 05
Bedding, napery and general house furnishings	1,573 42
Brooms, brushes, mops, soap and cleaning appliances	49 75
Fuel	1,952 48
Light, gas, oil and candles	225 16
Water supply	196 25
Clothing for patients	10 20
Ice	260 00
Salaries and wages	5,514 00
Taxes and insurance	152 50
Hay and straw	36 15
Contingencies	514 12
Repairs, ordinary	1,030 51
Total	$18,565 56
Government grant for 1910	$1,635 24

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

Movements of Patients.

Number under treatment 1st October	18
Admitted	460
Births in Hospital	20
Total number under treatment	498
Discharged	460
Died	18
Under treatment 30th September, 1910	20
	498

Sex.

Male	249
Female	249
	498

Revenue.

From the Province	$1,091 03
From patients themselves for maintenance and treatment	4,749 99
From subscriptions, donations and bequests from private individuals	705 00
From all other sources	335 00
Total	$6,791 01

Expenditures.

Butchers' meat	$ 746 61
Butter and eggs	388 95
Flour, bread and meal	330 75
Milk	200 00
Tea and coffee	126 30
Potatoes and other vegetables	296 73
Groceries and provisions not enumerated	301 86
Drugs and medicines	295 00
Medical and surgical appliances	381 40
Beer, wine and spirits	21 00
Bedding, napery and general house furnishings	498 11
Brooms, brushes, mops, soap and cleaning apliances	55 40
Fuel	220 00
Light; gas, oil and candles	295 00
Water supply	73 00
Hay and straw	38 40
Clothing for sisters	157 64
Ice	39 50
Salaries and wages	1,169 00
Taxes and insurance
Contingencies	92 34
Repairs, ordinary	505 95
Total	$6,792 01
Government grant for 1910	$ 897 40

THE STANDING OF THE LIBRARY CONTEST VOTE

Following is the standing of the Library contest up to last night:

Knights of Pythias	163,415
Protestant Home	29,036
Y. M. C. A.	15,126
Oddfellows	7,740
Public Library	2,430
Mark Street Church	145
Y. W. C. A.	4,520
T. A. S.	156,255
Curling Club	700
Boy Scouts	420
Knox Church S. S.	3,790
Collegiate Institute	120
St. James S. S.	945
George St. Methodist Church	1,085
West End A. C.	53,450
St. Luke's	515
Belmont Club	810
St. Joseph's Hospital	560
Sacred Heart Church	2,380
House of Providence	725
St. Paul's Church	530
Children's Shelter	560
Park Street Church	1,205
Normal School	25
St. Peter's S. S.	500
All Saints	8,695
Knights of Columbus	2,695
Charlotte St. Church and S. S.	770
C. O. C. F.	125
Sons of Scotland	435
Diamond Lodge	490
Woodmen of the World	175
A. O. U. W.	100
Macabees	240
Bugle Band	17,280
Searchlight Lodge	220
Court Chemong	710
Salvation Army	3,125
S. O. E.	235
St. John's	705
St. Andrew's	440

Country.

Keene Methodist church	45
Springville Pres. Church	65
Young's Point Foresters	200
Ennismore High School	17,605
Ballieboro Meth. Church	45
Smith Baptist Church	10
Salem Methodist Church	260
Selwyn Church	420
Zion Foresters	40
Centreville church	2,135
Union Hall, Stewart's	1,070
Indian Village	120
St. Joseph's, Douro	45
Fairmount Methodist church	90
Villiers, S. S.	4,295
Bethel M. C.	105

ANNUAL P. C. I. CONCERT WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Excellent Programme Was Provided by Local and Outside Talent, including Mr. Owen Smily, of Toronto.

ATTENDANCE LARGE

The annual concert of the Peterborough Collegiate Philomathean Society was held last night in the Assembly Hall of the Institute. The program was of a very entertaining character, and reflected great credit upon those who took part. The local entertainers showed unusual skill and talent, and every number given by them, was appreciated greatly by the audience, the appreciation of the latter being shown in a manner which gave no cause for doubt. The leading entertainer of the evening was of course, Mr. Owen A. Smiley, the well known elocutionist of Toronto. His contributions to the programme were of such a pleasing nature that they evoked enthusiastic applause. A number of his contributions were of a classic nature, but the majority were of a comic aspect, which kept the audience in a happy mood. His work is so well known and so much appreciated in Peterborough that any more extended reference is unnecessary. Miss Bernice Gireoux acted as accompanist for his song numbers most skilfully.

Mr. M. Wilson, who contributed a number of pleasing violin solos, is also worthy of special mention, for his artistic playing proving himself a very promising violinist.

Miss Julia Choate very acceptably played the piano accompaniments.

The opening choruses, and the closing chorus, also the drill by the Collegiate Glee Club were rendered in a manner worthy of special praise.

A very large crowd featured the event, and added to its success. Everything in connection with the programme went through according to plan arranged by the Society, and a more successful evening could not be wished. The programme was as follows:—

Programme.

Chorus (a) "Hail! Smiling Morn" Spofforth
(b) "The Village Choristers" Muscholes
Collegiate Glee Club
Mr. Owen A. Smiley ...
Violin Solo "Mazurka" ... Wieniawski
M. Wilson
Mr. Owen A. Smiley ...
Tennis Drill ...
Piano Duet "Tannhauser Overture" ...
Misses B. Gilmour and K. O'Brien
Mr. Owen A. Smiley ...
Violin Solo "Gaensmutterchen" Lauge
M. Wilson
Mr. Owen A. Smiley ...
Chorus "The Old Brigade" ... Barri
Collegiate Glee Club
"God Save the King"

FOR SKIN IRRITATION

We Guarantee Relief. Your Money Back If Not Satisfied

We have an ointment possessing extraordinary power to permanently relieve all forms of eczema, skin eruptions, pimples, blotches, ringworm, acne, itter, scaly scalp, hives, all forms of itching and irritation caused by insect bites. Its power to soothe ulcers, sores and wounds is very pronounced.

We are so positive that Rexall Eczema Ointment is unexcelled for over coming these ailments that we will sell it with out personal promise that it will not cost the user anything unless it in every way gives satisfaction. We exact no promises and in no way obligate the purchaser. You must admit that we could not afford to make such a broad liberal guarantee, except we are certain we could substantiate our claim.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is a greyish-white, pleasant smelling, antiseptic, cooling, healing salve that is strongly germicidal.

It destroys the germs that penetrate the skin and cause eczema and other tormenting skin ailments. A remedy must do that to be effective, for in no other way can such disease be overcome.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is ideal for the treatment of skin irritations peculiar to children, for barber's itch, and for sore itching feet.

It is positively the best remedy we know of ,and we urge you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00.—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

TO-NIGHT

FREE PHONOGRAPH RECITAL

by new Artists, playing and singing the latest Songs and Instrumental Hits on the Edison Amberola.

THE J. M. GREENE MUSIC CO., Charlotte St. - Limited

SCHOOL REPORT

S. S. No. 11, Smith, for April:

V Class—Lucy Stiles (absent.)

IV Class (200 marks given) Elizabeth Carter 163, Herb Sage 156, Albert Ball 136, Lorne Northey 136, Albert Oliver 109, (C. Heard and A. Stoneboro absent).

Sr. III (150 marks given) — Ila Heard 126, Carman Windram 111, Roger Treanum 106, Elsie Kennedy 99.

Jr. II (100 marks given)—Reginald Coburn 79, Maurietta Heard 45, Eva Elliott 42.

Pt. II—Laura Heard, Greville Donaldson.

Sr. Pt. I—Orr Sage, Allen Oliver.

Primer Class—Jessie Heard, Everett Coburn, George Heard, Isene Boyce, Stanley Boyce.

Those who attended every day — Laura Heard, Ella Heard, Ila Heard, Orr Sage, Bruce Roseborough, Gordon Treanum, Roger Treanum.

Average attendance 21.

MINO E. THORP, Teacher.

Following is the report of S. S. No. 2, Smith, for April. The percentage taken by each pupil on the total number of marks received during the month is given:

Class Sr. IV — Harry Young 81, Bruce Darling 63, Alex McGregor 59, Reuben Maitland 56.

Class Jr. IV—Mary Graham 69, Helen Moore 66.

Class Sr. III—Jennie Paul 90.

Jr. III Class—Irene Maitland 95, Wilhelmine Archer 88, Smithson Nurse 75.

Class Sr. II—Stanley Mahood 89, Gertie Lanning 67, Ray Bell 58.

Class Jr. II—Wallace Darling 45.

Class Sr. II—Madeline Degall 89, Lockhart Wright 88, Gordon McGregor 73, Mildred Archer 70, Lawrence Archer 66.

Class Sr. I—Beatrice Nurse, Harry Ferguson.

Class Jr. I—Gilmour Paul.

Class A—Carl Campbell.

E. M. DeWART, Teacher.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought
Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

The New Silk, Moriette and Silk Moriette Petticoats for Summer Wear Have Arrived

The display presents a scene of unusual beauty, included in the assemblage are Petticoats of the prettiest silks and exquisite Moriette and Silk Moriette materials in the staple colorings and in black and there is also a very creditable display of Black Sateen Petticoats.

These charming underskirts are fashioned of tucks and ruffles and pluits and hems and piping, in fact they're made to fascinate the feminine eyes. There's another alluring feature embodied in these garments---they're priced reasonably.

The showing is sufficiently enticing to turn lookers into buyers and seekers of the best petticoat values confess that they are here. That will be your verdict too after viewing this rich display.

Watch for Ready-to Wear Announcement Monday

RICHARD HALL & SON

Our Home-Furnishing Dept. is the Busiest Spot in the City. These Days.

HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Mrs. Maria Lloyd, Aurora, was the Centre of a Great Celebration

A unique birthday party was celebrated in Aurora. Mrs. Maria Lloyd was the centre of the fun, for she was 100 years old that day. Strong, vigorous, cheerful, she proved the life of the party, with a mind as bright and a memory as fresh as that of a young girl. One hundred years ago Mrs. Lloyd's name was Walker, though she was a very wee member of the family, being born on April 15, 1811, in the good old County of Tyrone, Ireland. In 1833 the family said farewell to Erin and emigrated to the woods of Canada. The voyage took the ship over nine weeks. They settled first near Ingersoll, then up in King Township, near Lloydtown, north of Maddy York, and she remembers the old pioneer days of upper Yonge Street perfectly. In 1831 she married Mr. William Lloyd, a York County pioneer farmer. During the rebellion of 1837 she became a personal friend of William Lyon Mackenzie, and her house was looted by the loyalists in search of arms. All they got, however, on that occasion was provisions.

In 1878 occurred the death of her husband, since when Mrs. Lloyd has resided at Aurora with her daughter, Mrs. James Playter, where the party was held on Good Friday. At the supper table that evening were seated with her six persons whose combined ages with Mrs. Lloyd's, amounted to 600 years! There are ten of Mrs. Lloyd's children still living, and in children and fourteen great-grandchildren serve to perpetuate the traditions of Lloydtown and her memories of the hardy days of the North York pioneers.

LORD GREY.

An imported horse, owned and ridden by Mr. Æmilius Jarvis and exhibited at the Toronto Horse Show.

PROTECT THE HOMES

Strong and Healthy Children the Bulwark of the Country

Mrs. Asa Gordon, editor of the White Ribbon Bulletin, Ottawa, says that to produce a strong nation we must produce strong and healthy children, but the evils that threaten the homes were apparent to everyone. Among the more common evils that must be combatted, Mrs. Gordon enumerated the following: Cigarette smoking, cheap novels, cards, drink, and the social evils, including the white slave traffic and impurity in the schools. The great responsibility rested on the home, and the W.C.T.U. was therefore the greatest organization of women in Canada. Mrs. Gordon contended, since it stood first and foremost for reform in the home. Women's missionary societies and patriotic organizations have but a second place in moral reform, she said. Women alone should make the laws that govern them and their children, according to Mrs. Gordon's views. "I don't believe it was ever intended for men to make laws for women or children," she said. "Men have schemes continent-wide, such as engineering feats and all the great works of industry and enterprise, but they cannot come down to legislate for women and children. For instance, no woman would ever sign a law to commit a child to jail. Children are never criminals—they are delinquents. Nor would any woman sanction a law permitting the marriage of a girl twelve years of age, as was formerly the law of Manitoba, and is to-day legal in the Province of Quebec."

COURTESY IN THE OFFICE

The head of a typewriter factory sales staff observed the other day, that, with few exceptions, it was easier—much easier—to secure an audience with a millionaire director or a high-salaried executive head when you really had business with him than it was to consult the ledger keeper or chief office clerk; comparatively less difficult to interview a cabinet minister than a chief messenger. Men who have risen from the ranks are often more courteous and approachable than the understrapper who holds down a fifteen-dollar-a-week stool.—Canadian Century.

ENTERPRISING GOLD THIEVES

An enterprising gang of thieves have got away with quantities of gold ore from the Hungarian State goldmine at Veresvir. Having gained access to the mine by a disused shaft and armed themselves with dynamite bombs, the robbers hid themselves until work had ceased for the night; then they surprised the night watchmen, whom they kept penned in a gallery with a bomb-armed robber on guard. The others meanwhile opened iron doors with skeleton keys and helped themselves to nuggets of gold ore. After loading the ore in buckets and so hauling it to the surface, the robbers made good their escape in a cart. Not until next day when the unfortunate watchmen were released, was the robbery discovered. There is no trace of the robbers or their plunder.

FIGHT THE ROAD HOG

What an English Writer Says of the Tyranny of Some Motorists

Apparently the people in the Old Country, as well as in Canada, have fears of the careless motorist. Here is what John Lloyd says in an English paper:—

"I think it is time that something should be done to protect the general public against the encroachments of the motorist. The public are very long-suffering, but things have now reached such a pass that there is no longer any safety for the pedestrian either in the streets of the towns or in th country roads. If a pedestrian is walking across a street and a motor-car or motor-bus is approaching, the driver seems to think that all he has to do is to 'toot' his horn, and there his duty ends. The pedestrian ought then, he considers, to scurry out of the way or get killed. He seems to think that the pedestrian is little more than a trespasser on the highway, and that if he does get run down he is guilty of contributory negligence for being on the road at all. As often as not, when a motor runs into a pedestrian or a horse vehicle, it is the chauffeur who adopts the attitude of an aggrieved person, not the man he has run down. The public themselves are absolutely powerless. One sees this in the streets every day. It is impossible to stand up and argue with a machine rushing towards you at anything from twelve to over twenty miles an hour; your life depends on your agility in getting out of the way.

"A chauffeur becomes utterly indifferent to all the amenities of the road if he wants to get round some horsed vehicle. He thinks nothing of terrifying a horse or two, and considers they may regard themselves as lucky if they escape physical damage. This is bad enough in towns but in some country districts it has become almost impossible for lads with children to go driving, as they used to do. I want it to be distinctly understood, of course, that I have no any objection to motor traffic properly conducted. What I object to is the callousness and the lack of consideration displayed by the average man in the motor towards everybody else. I think it is time these people should realize that others besides themselves have an equal right to the roadway."

WORRY AND HURRY

are the two greatest foes to digestion—and very few people reach the age of forty without falling a victim to indigestion in some form or other.

Undigested food is a serious menace to health and is the cause of headaches, sleeplessness, flatulence, gas and distress in the stomach, despondency, nervousness, bad breath and impure blood.

In such cases Vinol has a marked beneficial result. It seems to go directly to the seat of trouble, strengthens and tones up the tired, weakened nerves of the stomach, enabling one to digest with ease the very foods that once caused distress.

A case has just come to our attention in Barre, Vt. Mr. Samuel Wheeler suffered for years and had taken all kinds of medicines without relief, and at last found a cure in Vinol. He says Vinol was worth five dollars a bottle to him. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine).

If you suffer from any form of stomach trouble, try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

IRREGULAR VOTING

Principles Which the Judge Said Has Been Violated

The local option by-law in Bastard and Burgess, Leeds County, was quashed by Judge Sutherland on the ground that the principles of the law had been violated in the following way:—

That voters were interfered with;

That the voting was not secret;

That canvassing was permitted in the polling booths;

That one booth was formed with horse blankets in a harness shop, where the proprietor, not an official, was allowed to sit;

That two of the booths were halls in which as many as fifteen persons were present at a time;

That a woman voter was allowed to address the crowd, saying: "For God's sake and for your children's sake, vote it (the drink traffic) down to-day";

That one voter marked the ballot openly on the deputy returning officer's table;

That two voters were in one voting compartment at one time;

That throughout the whole of the voting on one sub-division no control was exercised over any person who desired to enter the hall and to speak to voters as they came in;

That two voters, elderly people, marked their ballots out in the yard while sitting in their cutters, the ballots having been sent out by the deputy returning officer.

IS YOUR SKIN ON FIRE?

Does it seem to you that you can't stand another minute of that awful burning itch?

That it MUST be cooled?

That you MUST have relief?

Get a mixture of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other soothing ingredients as compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription.

The very first drops STOP that awful burning instantly!

The first drops soothe and heal!

The first drops give you a feeling of comfort that you have not enjoyed for months, or perhaps years.

Take our word on it.

Get a $1.00 or a trial bottle to-day.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P.E., 40 Colborne St., Toronto.

McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

It's the Goods Behind the "Ad." That Makes Satisfaction

It's the satisfied customers who come back again and again that make our business good. Every Suit, Overcoat, Hat and every item in Men's Furnishings we sell is guaranteed to give satisfaction or we "make good." We hope to keep your business and keep it by sheer force of unimpeachable merchandise and fair, progressive business methods. Don't let anything detain you from getting your new Spring clothes now.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING THAT MEN AND BOYS WEAR

H. LeBRUN & CO.

SIR J. A. SIMON

An Amusing Incident in One of His Early Cases

Sir J. A. Simon, Solicitor-General, England, is often termed "Silent Simon" by his friends. It is a description which only partly fits. When the use of the tongue is necessary, Sir John Simon can use it with wonderful effect, but when talking is not necessary he does not talk. A story is told of one of Sir John's earliest briefs. He was counsel for the defence in a case which turned upon the identification of the prisoner. On the day before the trial Sir John entered a small shop and asked for a packet of pins. "We don't sell them," said the tradesman; "go to So-and-so's." The next day the tradesman appeared as a witness and swore to the identity of the prisoner. "Do you always remember faces?" asked Sir John. "Always," said the witness, stoutly. "Have you ever seen me before?" "Never," said the witness. "Would it surprise you to learn," said Sir John, "that I entered your shop yesterday and asked for a packet of pins?" The witness collapsed, and the case was won.

MILKING MACHINERY

Not Sufficient Data Yet to Prove Its Success

Milking by machinery has gained much ground of late, and about 150 machines, mostly of the pressure and suction type, are in use. At the same time, it cannot be said that this question has yet found a satisfactory solution. Experiments have lately been in progress at a well-known Danish dairy farm, with a view of comparing the relative values of hand milking and milking by machinery. The experiments were made on cows and heifers, a certain number of each being respectively hand milked and machine milked. In the concluding stages of the experiments, a trial was given to the new milking cup, "Thule koppen," by means of which all the milk is drawn from the cows, and subsequent milking by hand obviated. For comparative purposes, a course of hand and machine milking was conducted, extending over three to four months, with the ultimate result that nearly the same amount of milk was obtained by both systems. In the case of full-grown cows, a rather larger quantity of milk appears to have been obtained by hand milking, whereas heifers gave a larger yield when milked by the machine. The chemical composition of the milk does not appear to have been affected by the different methods of milking, nor was there any difficulty in the application of the machine, whereas it was observed that the animals behaved somewhat differently when milked by hand. A machine fitted with two double sets of apparatus performs about the same work as three hand milkers, being able to milk 50 to 60 cows in two to two and a half hours. There are perhaps not yet sufficient data to prove whether, in the long run, machine milking will give better or less satisfactory results than hand-milking, or even such good results as are obtained by the latter method, but undoubtedly it will be easier to form an opinion when the cows are more accustomed to being milked by machinery.

LAST SPIKE DRIVEN

The last spike completing the Copper River and Northwestern Railway between Cordova, on tidewater, and Kennecott, where the Bonanza copper mountain is situated, has been driven. Work on the railway, which is 197 miles long, and cost $20,000,000, was begun Nov. 15, 1907. The construction of the road was one of the most remarkable engineering feats of modern times.

GOLD AT KENORA

Excitement is running high at Kenora over the results of the development work in the Ophir Gold Mine. At 100 feet depth, the vein is twelve feet high with an enormously rich streak three feet wide. Visible gold is found in the All Party vein and the streak is producing specimens showing nuggets, leaves and wires of solid gold ever seen in this or any other district.

The Payton Pump Works

84 Simcoe St., Peterborough

Improved Wooden and Iron Pumps manufactured or supplied to order—Payton's Pumps have been in use for over 40 years, and are well tried and tested.

Pumps Repaired in most satisfactory manner

Stickney Gasoline Engines
Toronto Windmills and Reliance Wire Fencing supplied to order. A call solicited.

Merrell & Stephens
(Successors to late Jas. Payton)

TELEPHONES:
Pumps Works 765. Residence 548

Chas. A. Stoneham & COMPANY
Commission Stock Brokers
23 Melinda Street - Toronto
Telephone Main 2580

Our business is strictly that of buying and selling listed securities on commission. We are not speculators, and are in no way identified with new flotations. Our independence makes our advice partial-ly sound as we have only the interests of our clients to serve. We maintain correspondents in all camps and at all markets and are in constant touch with influential news. Our Weekly Market Letter, issued every Friday evening to a guide to market profits. Put your name on our mailing list. Private code books and market guide furnished free.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

Direct Private Wire to our Main Office, 54-56 Broad Street, New York

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Nets, Hosiery.

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 George Street

JULES MOTOR CAR COMPANY PROPOSITION

(Continued from page 7.)

running over 6,000 miles, over all kinds of roads and had come through with flying colours.

Mr. W. H. Denham stated that he had seen and inspected the Jules car and had found it compact, simple, and serviceable. He had gone into the proposition with the Company, and it impressed him as a sound one, with the result that he had subscribed for an amount of the stock. He had done this on the condition that the Company's factory be established here and he expected to make some money out of his share.

Mr. Clarke a friend of Mr. Denham, from Fremont, was introduced and stated that a similar proposition had been promoted in his town with every prospect of success. Mr. Clarke pointed out the beneficial effect the automobile industry had upon Flint, Mich., and expressed surprise that there were so very few automobile manufactories in Canada. It seemed to him that Canada stood in the same position as regards the industry as the United States had occupied five or six years ago and that there was every prospect for great development.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was of the opinion that the Board should not show undue haste in endorsing a proposition without some further investigation and thought that a committee should be appointed to look into the mater.

Mr. W. H. Moore concurred in this opinion.

Mr. W. S. Dodd said that Peterborough should not waste any time in going after industries and he moved that a committee of five be appointed to investigate and report back to the Board.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay seconded the motion.

There was a short discussion concerning when the report should be submitted. Mr. Piercy said that they had propositions with other towns and his company would like to have the report from the committee on Monday night.

On the suggestion of the chairmen, it was decided to increase the membership of the committee to seven and President Gillespie named the following, which was decided on: Messrs. G. Walter Green, W. C. Ackerman, J. C. Shook, R. C. Braund, Thos Brightman, E. R. Wilson and G. A. Gillespie.

Miller's Worm Powders for restlessness and peevishness. Wm. Madill.

MOTOR ACROSS SAHARA

Denver Woman Plans Strange Trip in Specially Constructed Auto.

Herman A. Black, of Everett, Mass., is to be the chauffeur on an automobile trip through the Sahara desert, and has gone to New York to take the steamer for Africa. The trip will consume about six months.

The trip will be made in a specially constructed automobile built by Mrs. Julian Kebler, of Denver, Col., a ranch owner, and she will be accompanied by a young woman companion from New York city, Mrs. Louise C. Hale. Guides have been engaged in Algiers, and the trip through the desert will commence as soon as the party lands.

THE KING'S SECRETARY

Sir Arthur Bigge Saw Service in the Zulu War

Sir Arthur Bigge, one of King George's private secretaries, is a soldier by profession, and saw active service during the Zulu War. He became Groom-in-Waiting and assistant private secretary to Queen Victoria in 1886, but at first was rather diffident about taking any appointment at Court when it was offered to him. In his difficulty he consulted a very well-known soldier and asked his advice. "Well, it all depends," replied the latter; "if you have the sense I credit you with, you will accept the offer and thank your lucky stars that it has come your way. If, on the other hand, you are a fool, you will stay in the Army." "I had to take the post," Sir Arthur Bigge remarked, when relating this incident, "in order to vindicate my intelligence."

DIRECT EVIDENCE FROM NOVA SCOTIA

Numerous Cases of Kidney Disease Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. Stillman Perry adds his experience to the many that have given rise to the general statement, "There is no case of Kidney Disease Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot cure."

Cape Negro Island, Shelburne Co., N. S., April 28.—(Special.) — That Dodd's Kidney Pills are continuing to do grand work in Nova Scotia is evidenced on every side, and Cape Negro Island can provide direct testimony that there is no case of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure. Among those who are talking in this strain is Mr. Stillman Perry. "Yes," Mr. Perry states, "I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. My son had trouble with his kidneys. I sent for some Dodd's Kidney Pills and since taking them he has had no return of his trouble. They certainly did him good."

It is tales of this kind, heard on every side that make for public faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills. People suffering from Kidney Disease have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and been cured. That's why from one end of Canada to the other it has become almost a national saying, "There is no case of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot cure."

Toronto 262-4 Queen W. ROUTLEY'S Peterborough 379 George St.

New Wall Papers, New Dinner and Tea Sets, Window Shades, Brass Curtain Rods

Do not make the mistake of buying the above line of goods without getting our ideas and seeing what we have to show you.

Harmony is essential in every home. We have the Wall Paper and Dinnerware which will match your furnishings.

We keep a variety of qualities and prices to suit the poor as well as the rich.

Encouraged by our last week's selling and value giving we will go one better for you & make this week's business still greater.

Crockery Section

38 Dinner and Tea Sets, combined for $6.49, printed floral border on each piece, 97 pieces to each set, as follows:

12 Plates, 6 in.
12 " 7 in.
12 " 8 in.
12 " 9 in.
12 Cups and Saucers
12 Fruit Dishes
2 Vegetable Dishes
1 Gravy Boat
1 Cream Jug
1 Bowl
2 Platters
1 Sugar Bowl
1 Pickle
1 Fruit Bowl

$6.49

1000 ft. Room Moulding 2c ft.

10 patterns embossed gilt Wall Papers, with 18 inch borders and ceilings to match, ground color, in any desirable shade, suitable for any room or hall. Regular price 25c, price this week .. 18c

240 rolls German oatmeal effect Wall Papers, 18 in to 18 rolls of a color, regular 45c to $1.50 per roll, clearing at 25c

300 rolls Ceiling Papers, assorted, regular 10c to 25c, clearing per roll 6c

192 rolls leathers, suitable for bath rooms, dining rooms and hall dados, regular $1.25, for per roll 45c

GOING A HUNTING For Wall Papers?

IF YOU ARE, you will find as good a hunting ground in our third floor department as the heart of man or woman could dare to wish for—the finest stock, the newest and most practical ideas ever offered in this city.

There is a great deal of satisfaction to offer our patrons the triple advantage of being able to buy your wall papers, your carpets and rugs and your window and interior drapes, all on one commodious, well lighted floor, away from the noisy main floors. Buying together gives more pleasure in making selection and minimizes worry. CALL ON US TO-NIGHT.

Creamans

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ENDORSES PROPOSITION

Board of Trade Committee Express Confidence That the Jules Motor Car Company Would be a Profitable Investment if Their Plans Are Carried Out as Outlined

The Special Committee appointed at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night to go into and investigate the proposition of the Jules Motor Car Company to establish a factory here in the event of $20,000 worth of stock being subscribed, met the representatives of the Company at a meeting this morning, and after a thorough discussion of the various features in connection with the scheme, unanimously passed the following resolution and report:

Peterborough, April 29, 1911.

Whereas, a proposition from The Jules Motor Company, Limited, has been presented to the Board of Trade of Peterborough. That is to establish a factory in Peterborough on condition that they are able to place twenty thousand (20,000) dollars worth of stock in Peterborough, and have expressed their willingness that two Directors be appointed from local subscribers.

This committee beg leave to report that we believe that there is ample room for the establishment of an automobile factory in Peterborough, and believe that with proper management, a good profit can be made and that the proposition, as presented by the representatives of The Jules Motor Company, Limited, if carried out, as outlined in their prospectus, would prove to be a profitable investment.

The members of the committee were Messrs. Geo. A. Gillespie, president of the Board of Trade; G. Walter Green, Thos. Brightman, R. C. Braund, J. C. Shook, W. C. Ackermaff and E. R. Wilson.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents.

WEDDING BELLS

HUFFMAN—PRITCHARD.

At the East Avenue Episcopal church, Wednesday, April 26th, Shelton H. Huffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huffman, Peterborough, to Miss Hilda Maria Pritchard, of 5 Liebersold street, Rochester.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION

For the next Homeseekers' excursion on May 2nd, the Grand Trunk Railway will operate a through Pullman tourist car, Toronto to Winnipeg and Edmonton via Chicago, St. Paul and G.T.P., leaving Toronto at 11 p.m. Rates, berths, etc., the same as via other route. No trouble with customs, transfer, etc. Reserve berth early from B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, 334 George street.

FRAGMENTS OF LETTERS.

They Are Cause of Arrest of Philadelphia Detective.

Philadelphia, April 29.—Evidence tending to show that Charles Franklin, manager of the Philadelphia branch of the Perkins Detective Agency, was writer of the Black Hand letters sent Charles H. Strong, the Erie millionaire, was offered a hearing yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Craig.

Strong, the first witness called, described how on Feb. 9 he had found the mausoleum of his father-in-law, W. L. Scott, torn open and desecrated. The Perkins' Agency was employed to find the culprits, and on Feb. 15, Strong received a Black Hand letter in which a threat was made that if $50,000 was not at Thirty-First and Penn avenue, Erie, the mausoleum would be blown up.

"I handed the letters over to Mr. Perkins, sr., who said that if the man who sent the letter was found, he would have in possession pieces torn from the letters."

Jas. M. Wolfe, a postal inspector from Parkersburg, W. Va., testified that after he had arrested Gilbert Perkins in Indianapolis on April 12, he had searched him and found in his pocket a piece of torn paper that fitted perfectly into the ragged edges of the first Black Hand letter.

WORKMEN ESCAPE.

Sugar Refinery Employes Have Close Call.

New York, April 29.—Two hundred men escaped by elevators from the big Arbuckle Sugar Refining Co.'s plant in Brooklyn last night, during a fire, which rapidly spread throughout the upper half of the main ten-storey building and caused a loss of from $300,000 to $500,000.

The fire started on the ninth floor on the explosion of some boiling sugar. The night shift of coopers and beggers had barely got to their work on the upper floors of the building when the alarm of fire sent them rushing for the elevators. There were no fire-escapes on the building, but the lifts were big ones, and it took but a few trips to empty the building.

The refinery is located on the Brooklyn waterfront, and bounded on the other sides by John, Jay and Pearl streets. Four alarms brought practically all the available apparatus in Brooklyn, and the assistance of two New York fireboats was asked. Notwithstanding, the upper six floors were completely burned out and the lower portion of the building practically ruined.

Big Brewery Combine.

St. John, N.B., April 29.—A merger of the principal breweries in the Maritime Provinces with the syndicate known as the National Breweries, Ltd., comprising all the breweries in the Province of Quebec, except one, is the scheme which is being promoted by R. Max McCarty, broker, and which, if carried into effect, will be one of the biggest mergers effected in Canada in years. In Halifax all the breweries, about six in number, are amalgamated except one, and it is Mr. McCarty's plan to have this one, the Nova Scotia Brewery, join the syndicate, and then have the combined breweries merge with Ready's and Jones' breweries in the city and have the whole absorbed by the National Breweries, Ltd.

Eight Perished In Fire.

Roanoke, Va., April 29.—Mrs. J. H. Nunn, a widow, and seven children, ranging in age from adults to an infant, were burned to death in a fire that destroyed their home in southwest Roanoke early yesterday.

Three children escaped by leaping from windows.

Alleged Embezzlement.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 29.—Charged with embezzling $890, the funds of a small township in the district of Sudbury, J. Labarge, township treasurer, was arrested Thursday night. He disappeared last November.

DEFLECTING LINE?

Canadian Northern Causes Excitement Near Brockville.

Brockville, April 29.—It is reported that the C.N.R. will not be built by way of Chaffey's Locks, owing to several engineering difficulties, and that the engineers are now at Verona endeavoring to secure a line via either Newboro or Westport. Several farmers in the vicinity of Crosby and Forfar have cleared the right of way through their farms, and one farmer cut down a very valuable sugar bush over half a mile in length. At the time the agreements were signed it was expected that the land would be purchased before May 1, and as there is no money in sight yet these inconsiderable excitement along the line from Ogdensburg to Portland. The location of this particular portion of the C.N.R. route has been the cause of several deputations waiting on the Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa, and it looks as if the end is not yet.

Discussed Mixed Marriages.

Montreal, April 29.—The semi-annual meeting of the Congregational Association of Quebec was brought to a close by a public ordination in the Zion Congregational Church. At one of the meetings the mixed marriage question was under discussion, and resolutions were passed by the association urging action on the part of the congregational union of Canada.

The association strongly recommended the union to have the laws thoroughly tested in the highest law courts in the event of the prevailing paris-prudence in the Province of Quebec being sustained, to adopt such measures as will modify the laws and abolish disabilities and guarantee the citizens the rights and liberties enjoyed under the British constitution.

Our Missionaries Safe.

Toronto, April 29.—"Safe—MacKay." This brief cablegram was received by Rev. Dr. R. P. MacKay, secretary of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, yesterday. While the message is not very explicit it is thought to be from Rev. J. H. MacKay, Shanghai, China, his wife, and Miss Dr. Mackay-Oliver, who were on their way home, and it is thought they were on the steamer Asia which was wrecked off the coast of Japan.

Rev. Mr. Mackay and his wife are from Oxford County, Ontario, while Mrs. Dr. Oliver's home is in Belleville.

Dr. MacKay is awaiting for details.

Action Is Approved.

Brockville, April 29.—At a joint meeting of the Prescott Town Council and Board of Trade, a resolution was passed heartily approving of the action taken by the Hydro-Electric Commission to procure and transmit cheap power for the people of Eastern Canada, "and it is further understood," the motion continued, "that we request the said commission to send an officer to examine our present lighting system and furnish us with a report of the estimated cost of the necessary changes to adapt it to the requirements of the Hydro-electric system."

Conservative Elected.

London, April 29.—At a bye-election held here yesterday for the Cheltenham seat won in the last election by Richard Mathias (Liberal), who was unseated for alleged illegal practices on the part of his agents during the campaign, J. T. Agg-Gardner (Conservative) was returned by a majority of 4. Mr. Agg-Gardner represented the district in 1902 and 1908.

Knocked Off Wagon.

Humber Bay, April 29.—While backing his team into the driving shed of the Humber Bay Hotel yesterday afternoon at 1.30, W. Chater, a driver for Neilson's Ice Cream Co., was knocked off his wagon by striking one of the beams in the barn.

He was thrown to the ground and when picked up was unconscious. He was taken to the Western Hospital, Toronto. His condition is considered very serious.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Bull leaders gave an appearance of strength to the wheat market to-day by timely purchases whenever there was a sign of the appearance of weakness. Forecasts of a material decrease in the world's shipments proved to be something of a help against the bears. Closing figures were at a net advance of 1c to 2c. Corn finished ½c to 1c up, after the same as last night to a gain of ½c, and hog products irregular, ranging cut over a range of 10c, divided ends equally above and below the level of 24 hours before.

The Liverpool market closed to-day unchanged to ¼d lower on wheat, and ¼d to ½d lower on corn, compared with yesterday. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat, Budapest ½c lower, and Berlin ½c lower.

Winnipeg Options.

	Close.	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.
Wheat—
May	99½	99½	99½	98½	98½
July	91	91½	92½	91	91½
Oats—
May	39½	34½	35½	35½	35½
July	33½	33½	33½	33½	33

Toronto Grain Market.

Wheat, bushel	0 93	to 0 93
Wheat, spring, bushel	0 93	....
Rye, bushel	0 70	....
Barley, bushel	0 50	....
Oats, bushel	0 34	....
Buckwheat, bushel	0 45	0 45
Peas, bushel	0 75	0 75

Toronto Dairy Market.

Butter, store lots	0 27	0 30
Butter, separator, dairy, lb.	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, lb. rolls	0 28	0 28
Butter, creamery, solids	0 26	0 28
Eggs, new-laid	0 27	0 28
Cheese, lb.	0 20½	0 21
Honeycombs, dozen	0 25	....
Honey, extracted, lb.	0 10	0 11

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, April 29.—Closing—Wheat—Spot dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock. Futures quiet; May 6s 9¾d, July 6s 9¼d, October 6s 5d.

Flour—Winter patents quiet, 32s 6d.

Hops—In London (Pacific Coast), firm, £4 10s to £5 10s.

Montreal Grain and Produce

MONTREAL, April 29.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable continues dull, but there is a good foreign demand for oats, and sales of 150,000 bushels were made. The demand on spot is also good, and quite an active business was done, including a sale of 50,000 bushels of extra No. 1 feed at 37½c per bushel, afloat, May. Sales of American No. 2 yellow were made at 55½c, afloat, May. Ontario malting barley is higher at 70c to 75c per bushel, ex-store. There was an increased foreign demand for spring wheat flour, and sales of 10,000 sacks were made at an advance of 5d per sack in some cases. Rolled oats have advanced 10c per barrel.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 40¼c to 40½c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed 39½c to 40c; No. 2 C.W., 39½c to 39½c; No. 3 local white, 38½c to 39c; No. 2 local white, 38½c to 39c; No. 3 local white, 38½c to 38c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.50; strong bakers', $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10; in bags, $1.90 to $2.00.

Rolled oats—Per barrels, $4.25; bag of 90 lbs., $2.05.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, 69c to 69½c.

Millfeed—Bran, Ontario, $23 to $24; Manitoba, $22 to $23; middlings, Ontario, $25; shorts, Manitoba, $24 to $25; moullie, $28 to $30.

Dressed hogs—Abattoir, $9.50 to $9.75 per 100 lbs.

Beef—Plate, half-barrels, 100 lbs., $6.75; barrels, 200 lbs., $12; tierces, 336 lbs., $25.

Lard—Compound tierces, 375 lbs., 9½c; boxes, 50 lbs. net (parchment lined), 9½c; tubs, 50 lbs. net, grained, two handles, 10c; pails, wood, 20 lbs. net, 10½c; tin pails, 20 lbs. gross, 9½c.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess barrels, 45 to 55 pieces, $23.50; half-barrels, 22 to 27 pieces, $12.25; Canada short cut lean back pork, 45 to 55 pieces, barrels, $23; Canada clear pork, barrels, 30 to 35 pieces, $20; bean pork, small pieces, hot fat, barrels, $18.50.

Eggs—Fresh, 27c to 28c.

Cheese—Westerns, 11½c to 11¾c.

Butter—Choicest, 25½c to 26c; seconds, 25c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Beeves—Receipts, 2940 head; steers, slow, barely steady; bulls, unchanged; cows, slow to 10c lower; steers, $4.90 to $6.25; bulls, $3.75 to $5.40; cows, $2 to $4.80.

Calves—Receipts, 719 head; market, about steady; veals, $4.50 to $8.25; culls, $4.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 2300 head; sheep, steady; lambs, firm; unshorn sheep, $5.50 to $6.65; clipped sheep, $5 to $6.25; unshorn lambs, $8.50 to $8.60; clipped, $6.75 to $8.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 2500 head; market firm, at $8.35 to $8.70.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 1500; market, steady; beeves, $5.10 to $6.45; Texas steers, $4.60 to $5.90; west-

FUR STORAGE

We would strongly advise you to let us send for your Furs for insurance against Moths and Fire.

Our Charges are Moderate. Phone 725

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-NIGHT

The Greatest of all Farce Comedies

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

By William Gillette

An All Star English Company, with C. JAMES BANCROFT as the Rev. Robert Spaulding as played by him over 1000 times in England.

PRICES—$1.00, 75c, 50c, & 25c. Gallery 25c.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd

Monte Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN

—IN—

The Best of American Comedies

THE MAN ON THE BOX

From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Special Cast and Production

Prices—25-50-75 & $1.00 Seats on Sale Monday

A Severe Alternative.

Cornwall, April 29.—A year in gaol for default of a fine of $5 and costs was the rather peculiar judgment handed out by a Roxborough J. P. named Robinson to Charles Papineau of Maxville, whom he found guilty of receiving stolen goods. This was last September. Papineau was given four months in which to pay up, but nearly seven months elapsed before he was sent to the county jail to serve out his sentence. An effort is being made to have him released, as it is said the magistrate had no power to impose a fine for such an offence.

Queen's Alumnae Organized.

Kingston, April 29.—Women graduates and alumnae of Queen's University organized the Queen's University Alumnae Association. The following officers were elected: President, Miss S. Harty, Ottawa; first vice-president, Mrs. J. McGillivray, Kingston; second vice-president, Miss Redden, Kingston; third vice-president, Miss Mowat, Kingston; secretary, Miss M. MacDonnell, Kingston; treasurer, Miss T. Goodwin, Kingston.

Recommend Toronto Man.

London, April 29.—Deputy Engineer G. W. Wright, who has been acting city engineer since the resignation of Head Engineer Vancleeve, that went into effect on March 1, was last night recommended as city engineer of London at $6,000 per year, at the special engineers' commission of the City Council. Wright, who is one of the former assistant engineers of the City of Toronto, will be on probation for six months.

In the Good Old Times.

The brand of "S" figures in an extraordinary act passed by our Parliament in 1547, says a London paper. Any able-bodied man or woman found loitering and not seeking work for the space of three days could be seized and brought before two justices of the peace, who, upon confession or on the proof of two witnesses, "shall immediately cause the said laborer to be marked with a hot iron in the breast the mark 'V' and adjudge the said person living so idly to his presentor, to be his slave for two years. The said slave shall be made to work by beating, chaining, or otherwise." If convicted of running away during this period, the justices could cause him to be branded on the forehead or the cheek with the letter "S" and then adjudged to his master as a slave forever. For running away a second time the penalty was death.

Birds Are Early.

Rev. Mr. Philp, of Essex, referring to the large variety of spring birds already seen, says, "This is the earliest coming that I have ever known and I have kept track of their migration for many years."

Henry III. Introduced Grain.

The grain, as a unit of measurement, was introduced by Henry III., who ordered a grain of wheat gathered from the middle of the ear to be the standard of weight.

He's Surely One.

"Pop!"

"Yes, my boy."

"What is an ultimate consumer?"

"Why, you are, my son. You're always the last one to leave the table."

An Unfailing Sign.

"I'm afraid Maud's second marriage is a failure."

"Did she say so?"

"No, but she's beginning to speak well of her first husband."

"THE SARN MAJOR."

About the "Crowned" King of the Lower Ranks.

"Sergeant-Majors are unpopular," said ex-Sergeant-Major Robert Edmondson in a recent famous law suit. And he was about right.

In the days of Queen Elizabeth the sergeant-major could afford to ignore this; for he ranked as a sort of brigadier on the staff, with pay at $5 a day—just double the colonel's rate!

But, alas! he fell on evil days, for by 1800 that princely salary had been reduced to 49 1-2 cents per day.

He gets three times as much to-day, and in his way he approximates to what Tommy Atkins calls "a tin god." But his evil genius is still at work.

All the officers who want unpleasant duties done, fly to the sergeant-major. If rubbish has to be cleared away, or a trench dug, or baggage loaded, or extra sentries mounted, or mail carried, the sergeant-major has to "find" the men.

His chief duty is to see that everybody else does theirs. He cannot, then, expect popularity any more than a hangman.

There is that terrible "Sergeant-major's parade," generally in the early morning, and consisting mostly of rapid evolutions that mean torture to the older, non-commissioned officer burdened with "avoirdupois."

But there is no escaping him. If you plead a blister on one foot, he may send you down to the gymnasium for hopping exercises on the other foot. If you plead inability to do fatigue work because of injured hands, he may have you harnessed to the heavy roller on the officers' cricket-pitch.

One bold Tommy pleaded exemption from church parade on the ground that he was an agnostic.

The sergeant-major assumed an expression of innocent interest.

"Don't you believe in the Ten Commandments?" he mildly asked the bold free-thinker.

"Not one, sir," was the reply.

"What! Not the rule about keeping the Sabbath?"

"No, sir."

"Ah! Well, you're the very man I've been looking for to scrub out the canteen!"

The sergeant-major wears a gold crown on the arm, of course—which is the envy of all the non-commissioned ranks. He must always be addressed as "Sir"; and, if other staff-sergeants share his privileges of gold lace and slung sword, the sergeant-major is the only man who ever unsheaths that sword.

Yet, with all these privileges, the sergeant-major cannot escape his evil genius. He is responsible for seeing that the canteen and sergeants' mess are cleared out at night; he has to remove the caps of prisoners before marching them in for their "interview" with the colonel, and their stripes as well, if they be reduced. But he has the goodly compensation of marching at the head of the regiment, next behind the colonel.

The S.-M. is generally credited with the ability to drill a squad on a three-penny-bit. And if, during the process known as marking-time, a lack of harmony mars a squad consisting of only two recruits, the sergeant-major is the only possible human being who could solve the puzzle as to which recruit is out of step!

If sergeant-majors be doomed to unpopularity, there is obviously unlimited popularity in store for the soldier who can take them "down a peg."

Private Murphy was being treated right royally in the regimental canteen, and his comrade Jones watched the proceedings with a jealous eye. He inquired the reason.

"Why, Murphy's the regimental hero!" was the reply. "There was a company cricket-match this afternoon, and Murphy was one of the bowlers. He's a great bowler, is Murphy!"

"Oh! he got 'em out quick; did the trick—eh?"

"No, he didn't; he never hit the wicket once."

"Thought you said he was a great bowler!"

"So he is. Why, man alive, he knocked out four the sergeant-major's teeth first ball. The bounder won't be able to shout, 'Bhurr! As-you-were!' until he gets a new set!"

A Cordial Invitation — Don't Miss It

FORMAL OPENING OF THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE 407 George St.

C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR

Saturday, April 29th

WE have now a much larger and more up-to-date store than at the old stand. The ground floor covers a space of 100 feet by 20½ feet. This gives us a liberal space to display the large stock which we carry.

PRESCRIPTION DEPT.

We have made a special effort to make this as complete as possible.

Don't forget We are Sole Agents for

GILBERT'S HIGH GRADE CHOCOLATES

Excellent assortment; delicate flavour; strictly pure.

30c, $1.00 and $1.25 a lb.

EXCELLENT MUSIC will be furnished by the J. A. Halpany Orchestra during the afternoon and evening. We have the Finest Drug Store in the City of Peterborough. COME AND SEE IT. We will try to give you The Best Service in the City. : : TRY US

Opening Day Specials

Talcum in Rose, Violet, Bouquet, Carnation. Regular 25c. 2 for 25c

Liver Pills. Regular 25c for 9c

Kando Silver Polish. Great for Spring House Cleaning. Regular 25c for 10c

Spooner's Carbolic Disinfecting Powder. Reg. 25c for 10c

Toilet Paper. Finest Satin Tissue. Reg. 10c straight. 3 for 25c

Try our Beef, Iron & Wine at 50c. Splendid Value. Good Quality

Musical Programme

At 2:30 p. m.

1. March	Valley Flowers	Mills
2. Waltz	Our Wedding Day	Tobin
3. Song	My Love
4. Reverie	Sunshine
5. Overture	Bridal Rose	Lavelley
6. Dance	La Morsaria	Morse
7. Serenade	Ripples	Brewer
8. Intermezzo	Zallah	Loraine
9. Valse	Daisies Won't Tell	Owen
10. March	A Good Ice Cream Soda for Miss, Richer

At 8:00 p. m.

1. March	Glory	Holzman
2. Intermezzo	Mayeppa	Schwartz
3. Song	My Rosary	Nevin
4. Waltz (from Faust)	Marguerite	Gounod
5. Selection	Il Trovatore	Verdi
6. Minuet	A L'Antique	Paderewski
7. Rag	Spaghetti	Lyons
8. Reverie	Blossoms	Boellx
9. Waltz	Yachting	Klein
10. March	Loving	Klein

Opening Day Specials

Writing Paper in Boxes, reg. 25c. 18c. Extra fine 25c value

Talcum Powder. 1-lb. Boxes. regular 35c for 18c

Syrup of Figs. regular 25c for 13c

Celery and Iron Pills. regular 25c for 9c

Colonial Poultry Food. regular 25c for 15c

Tooth Picks. regular 10c for 5c

FREE VARIOUS SAMPLES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED AT 3 AND 8 P. M. FREE

THE J. D. TULLY DRUG STORE, C. M. MONCUR, PHM. B., PROPRIETOR TWO DOORS NORTH OF THE OLD STAND

So strong, so rich, so flavorful—a little of

Shirriff's True Vanilla

Goes further—and the delicacy in its exquisite aroma and tempting fragrance is wondrous. You will find real economy in Shirriff's. Ask the groceryman.

Caution:—A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are:
Lemon, Almond, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry, Ratafia, and ninety more.

The Mexican Vanilla
14 Bean Gatherer

A 10 to 1 Shot—The chances are 10 to 1 that you will die before your house will burn. Then, your life is 10 times more important than your house, or should be. Is your life as well insured as your house? If not, get particulars from The MANUFACTURERS' Life Insurance Co.

THOMAS MARK
General Agent, Bank of Commerce Bldg
Peterborough Ont.

COAL! COAL!

The Standard Anthracite
D. L. & W. for

SCRANTON COAL

$7.50 Per Ton

Builders' Supplies, British Columbia Shingles, etc.

Hardwood $6.00 per cord. First class Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. Cutting and Splitting extra.

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside T. R. track. Phone 48

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Uxbridge, Ontario," will be received at this office until 4 p.m., on Monday, May 8, 1911, for the erection of a Public Building at Uxbridge.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department, on application to Mr. Thos. A. Hastings, clerk of works, postal station F, Yonge street, Toronto, Ont., and at the post office at Uxbridge.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
E. G. DESBOCHERS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 25, 1911.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio
Ground Floor. 170 Charlotte St

China Painting
Mrs. Langley McCarthy
Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

PREMIER TO STAY

Mr. Borden Makes Three Propositions But Sir Wilfrid Refuses to be Dictated to by the Opposition

RESPONSIBILITY FIXED

Ottawa, April 28.—The decks were cleared in the Commons yesterday afternoon for the impending endurance test between the majority and minority in Parliament. The terms of warfare were laid down, and the issue was clear-cut as to where would lie the responsibility for preventing the attendance of the Prime Minister at the Imperial Conference and the coronation, and the holding up of the reciprocity agreement and the general business of the country, failing acceptance of the Opposition's dictation as to what course the Government should pursue.

The Premier intimated that he would stay at home this summer.

"There are three courses which would permit the Prime Minister to attend the Imperial Conference if the present session of Parliament should not have come to a conclusion at the time when it will be necessary for him to leave. He could proceed to the conference, leaving his colleagues in charge of the business of the House.

"In the second place he can bring the session to an end, leaving some of these very important matters unfinished and letting them stand over to another session. It has already been intimated to us that the Bank Act will not be pressed at the present session. If that is to stand over to another session there must be no particular reason why the proposals for closer trade relations with the U. S. should not also stand over until another session.

"Then in the third place he can adjourn this session of Parliament for two or three months, or whatever length of time may be necessary. After the coronation and after the conference the session can be resumed.

"I desire to say now that for the purpose of facilitating public business we would be prepared to give an interim supply to such an extent as the public interest would demand in case the Prime Minister should see fit to follow that course.

"So far as reciprocity is concerned, I have already stated that we do not see eye to eye across the floor of the House. Our own attitude in regard to that is one of uncompromising opposition."

Mr. Borden asked the Prime Minister what his intentions were.

"I may say," replied the Premier, "that I deem it my duty to attend the conference, not only because I have been invited, but because in the last conference in 1907 the permanency of imperial conferences was assured. It was decided that it should meet every four years, and be attended by the Prime Minister of Great Britain, the Colonial Secretary, the Prime Ministers of the self-governing Dominions, and such members of the Cabinets as should be selected. It is now over six weeks since I took my passage on the Virginian to sail on the 12th of May, and it is my intention to sail on that vessel, unless prevented by public business. My first duty is to Canada, but I still hope that nothing will prevent my sailing on the 12th of May."

Mr. Borden said he concurred in the hope that the Premier might be able to attend the Imperial Conference. It was perfectly obvious that the presence of the Prime Minister of Canada was entirely necessary at the conference.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that if it was not possible for him to attend the conference the fault would not be his. Mr. Borden had been kind enough, he said, "to make several suggestions which would allow me to go to the conference. He offered me three alternatives. The one thing that separates us, apparently, is the trade agreement with the United States. I may tell him that on this side we offer uncompromising support of the tariff agreement. What I have in mind which may leave me not to go on with my present plan of attending the conference is that I stated more than six weeks ago, when I obtained my passage, it never occurred to me at the time that there would be any possibility of my not going; but, sir, since that time rumors have come to us which have been afloat about the corridors of this House that the Opposition will not allow this measure to go through.

"By the rules which prevail in this House it is in the power of the Opposition to block legislation almost indefinitely."

After noting that Mr. Northrup had stated in New York that the Opposition would not allow the agreement to go through, the Premier concluded:

"If such be the temper of the Opposition, I think it will probably make it necessary for me to revise my decision to go to England and to remain in Canada."

Mr. Borden in reply said:

"The Prime Minister has alluded to the fact that he took his passage some six weeks ago and he intimated some surprise that the conditions to-day are not what he expected at that time would be. At least that was the impression I took from his remarks, and I do not desire to misquote him. If, in making that statement, he alludes to the debate which has been proceeding for some time on the proposed trade agreement with the U. S., then I would like to inform him that gentlemen on the other side of the House have been taking their turn on the debate, and have had their fair share in it. I venture the statement that as much time has been taken by Government supporters as by gentlemen on this side."

"It would seem to me that the question which must present itself to the Prime Minister is whether or not our trade and other relations with the United States are more important in his mind than our trade and other relations with this Empire of which we form a part. I have made an offer to him which is as reasonable an offer, I think, as could be made by any man standing in my place under the circumstances as they exist to-day, and I have made to him a proposal under which he can attend the Imperial Conference and go on with his determination, if he persists in it, to force these reciprocity proposals through this House.

"Under these circumstances, Mr. Speaker, I trust the Prime Minister will reconsider the intimation which he gave in the concluding portion of his remarks, and that Canada, at the approaching Imperial Conference and at the coronation as well, will be represented, as it should, by the Prime Minister."

ENGINEERS USE IT to clean boilers and prevent crust. One can a week is enough for the average boiler. LARGE CAN 10c AT GROCER'S Valuable Premiums Free for Wrappers from Lye Cans.

KILLS THE DANDRUFF GERM

Stops Falling Hair—Others Imitate and Make Similar Claims, but the Genuine and Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer is Newbro's Herpicide

The discovery of the dandruff germ as the cause of all hair troubles is not a recent event. Prof. Unna gave the germ theory to the world in 1887 and two years later Sabouraud by his experiments with a rabbit proved beyond a doubt the actual existence of this germ.

On the heels of this establishment of the germ theory came the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide. This was the first and only remedy for the destruction of the dandruff germ.

There have been other preparations allaged to kill this germ, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp. But Newbro's Herpicide really does these things. For this reason it has long been known as the original remedy and the only one that is genuine.

Don't be fooled by preparations which are trading upon the marvelous success of Herpicide. Remember you take no chances with Newbro's Herpicide. It is absolutely guaranteed.

For sale by all druggists.

Applications at good barber shops.

The Herpicide Company, of Detroit, Mich., Dept. B., will send a sample bottle and booklet upon receipt of 10c. in postage.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

A serious rising took place in Canton, China.

A million-dollar fund has been started by the National Sanitarium Association.

Mrs. H. F. Coulson died in Montreal from injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Many bar-rooms throughout the province close to-day as a result of local option voting last January.

Mr. John Donogh was elected president of the Canadian Fraternal Association at their meeting in Toronto.

The total foreign trade of the Dominion for the fiscal year just closed amounted to $759,094,389, nearly double that of ten years ago.

It is stated in Montreal that Senator R. Dandurand and Mark Workman will be the two new directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation.

Fred. W. Wright, a prominent Conservative of St. Thomas, has announced his determination to run as an Independent in West Elgin against Mr. Macdiarmid, M.P.P.

A young man named John Krankish of Sintaluta, Sask., was suffocated by gas in a well in which he was boring. He was down 50 feet, when something broke in the boring outfit.

Fire starting in Cuthbert's livery barn in Keewatin, spread to his residence, H. Billodeau's house, S. C. Sweet's house, S. H. Hunter's and R. W. Neilson's store building caught fire. The fire was extinguished before serious damage was done.

The first drowning accident of the lobster fishing season occurred at Murray Harbor North, P.E.I., the victim being John Terrell. He and Benjamin Richards got in contact with an iceberg, and, after getting clear, their boat capsized and sank in seven fathoms of water.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is especially popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful and extensive grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its fame is far reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls.

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

TO SCARE CANADA

Enemy of Reciprocity Raises the Annexation Cry—Debate Takes Place on the Free List

"TAX ON NECESSITIES"

Washington, April 29.—Another declaration that annexation is the desired end of the Democrats in pushing reciprocity; an attack on the Postoffice Department as the "greatest political organization of this or any other land," and a speech by a new member of the House revealing rumors of a tariff fight in Congress, featured yesterday's debate on the free list bill now pending before the House. Other subjects than the pending bill were discussed under the latitude of debate.

Mr. Prince of Illinois, Republican, attacking the Canadian reciprocity bill, sounded the annexation note. President Taft's speech in New York Thursday furnished his text. He said that the gearing of Americans into the Canadian Northwest and the attitude of the controlling forces of the Democratic party, could mean nothing else than annexation, reciprocity and partial free trade with Canada being the first step toward that end. "Hasty to our neighbors on the north, be not deceived," said Mr. Prince. "Whether we take it separately, and let Canada have it, or we take it. It is only a question of time when we should take it if we want it, and you might as well understand it. The Speaker has so said; the party back of him has so said, and it does not deny that that is its desire."

Mr. Prince declared that the reciprocity bill was the worst bargain ever driven by one nation with another and that the Democratic farmers' free list bill ought to be labelled the "farmers' fake bill."

The real climax of the session came when Representative Kent of California, a new Republican member who succeeded Duncan McKinley in the House, delivered a semi-humorous speech on the general tariff question, arraigning a "revenue tariff upon necessities."

"I am a Republican, or what used to be a Republican," Mr. Kent observed, "because I believe in the protection of infant industries that stand some eventual chance of becoming self-supporting. But many industries, having outgrown the cradle, have got been required to hustle for their livelihood, but have been carried bodily to a ward in the hospital where our stand-pat friends advocate keeping them during all eternity, to be doctored, nursed and nourished at the public expense."

Mr. Kent said that a protective tariff was an attempt to "tax ourselves rich." "The nation can acquire wealth, if not greatly," he said, "by unanimously consenting to the reciprocal picking of pockets by all the people."

To show tariff inequalities, Mr. Kent said that "Mr. Rockefeller probably pays less Government revenue upon the food he consumes than does the average bed carrier. He would doubtless like to pay as much, but he can't without eating as much."

21,000 Signed Petitions.

St. John, N.B., April 28.—About 600 people attended the anti-reciprocity meeting in St. Andrew's Rink last evening. Dr. J. W. Daniel, M.P., presided and the speakers were H. B. Ames, M.P. for St. Antoine division, Montreal, and Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill University.

Mr. Ames said that as a business man he wished to point out how his interest would be injured by the reciprocity pact. In the section of Montreal he represented petitions circulated for and against reciprocity resulted in 21,000 signing the one against, while only 3,000 were in favor.

Speaking of the national plots he said that nearly all of the $13,000,000 trade through St. John last year originated or was destined for Western Ontario and the west. Under the new agreement the channels of trade would be diverted from their course. The wheat, live stock, dairy products and lumber would go south with disastrous effect.

Four Workmen Under Debris.

Hamilton, April 29.—The new grand stand which is being constructed at the Britannia baseball grounds here, collapsed yesterday afternoon burying four workmen.

One is believed to be fatally injured. He is Robert Duncan, a carpenter. Charles Culham had a leg broken.

Two others were hurried to the hospital, and are said to be badly injured.

Cornwall Canal Open Monday.

Cornwall, April 29.—The Cornwall Canal will be ready for navigation on Monday, in fact the water was let into the long level yesterday. The new wall on the north side of the canal will be fully completed by Monday, and will be a decided convenience to vesselmen in entering the lock.

Presented With Purse of Gold.

Stratford, April 29.—A purse of gold was presented to Rev. J. P. Gerrie by the members and adherents of the Congregational Church last night, at the farewell banquet to the departing pastor. Rev. Mr. Gerrie goes to Leamington to become editor of The News of that place.

Geologist's Good Luck.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 29.—John Bresser, of the Dominion Government Geological Survey, has been engaged by the Lake Superior Corporation to explore its northern Ontario mineral lands. He will get $7,000 a year, or nearly triple what the Government paid.

Shiloh's Cure
prompt, sure, safe. Cures coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, hoarseness, sore throat, and all throat and lung troubles. 25 cents.

MONEY MADE EASY

UNIVERSITY Subdivision

The Rosedale of Calgary

THE BEAUTIFUL WEST END RESIDENTIAL ANNEX

Everybody knows what Calgary is. The St. Paul of Canada. The City of Golden Opportunities.

Population four years ago 17,000, to-day 60,000, and will be 100,000 in less than two years. "Nuff said." Is it any wonder fortunes are being made in Real Estate there.

Horace Greely says: "Young man, go West," and it seems to be nature's tendency. Men go west and cities grow west. University is a western subdivision. Every lot is high, dry and level, or money refunded on application. We have reserved one block of 96 Lots for the investors of Peterborough, and the first to apply gets the pick of location. Calgary Builders bought in tens and twenties. Toronto investors who have seen the property, bought in blocks. Seeing is believing. They saw.

LISTEN { Prices to-day—$125 to $150 per Lot. Terms—$10 cash and $10 per month. Interest—6% or 5% discount for cash.

THINK { What this will mean to you when this triples in value, when the Electric Line begins to operate past this in a few months.

BUY { Tuesday, for on Wednesday, May 3rd, the prices advance, as the property has sold so rapidly.

PROSPER { By holding these a few months and selling them. We want you make money and become permanent customers.

Government Deeds given to all this property.
References---Standard Bank, Calgary.
Payments made at your own Bank.

Our Manager, Mr. G. E. Buck, will be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, May 2nd, for one day only. Call upon him. He lives in Calgary and can tell you.

You need this investment. You need to share in this great Western prosperity, so get in early and buy.

THE B. & R. CO., Limited

71 and 72 McDougall Block, Calgary.

Toronto Office---106 Dominion Exchange Building - - 14 King St. East

HE WILL TELL ALL

McManigal Gives the Police Some Startling Details—Three Persons Are Involved in His Statement About the Case

LATEST DEVELOPMENTS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 28.—It is announced that, during a three hours' session with the district attorney-general, McManigal gave many additional admissions as to explosions within the past year.

This followed a declaration by O. M. Hilton, of counsel for the defence, that McManigal just before his "quis" by the police, made a positive statement, in the presence of other attorneys, and two union men, denying his alleged Chicago confession. The denial was secured for the purpose of using it against him at the trial and proving to the jury that he is of Harry Orchard type, so that his testimony will be discredited.

In his new confession McManigal, it is declared, gave details of an astounding conspiracy, of which he says John McNamara was head, and in which he (McManigal) and John Bryce McNamara destroyed, or attempted to destroy, 60 structures, causing the death of 112 men. He named three Californians as having countenanced the Los Angeles dynamite plots. Two reside in Southern California and one in San Francisco. The names are withheld until arrests are made.

McManigal says that John McNamara planned the conspiracy and paid the dynamiters.

He made no attempt to justify his own action and did not express sorrow for his crimes. He only said he would be the Harry Orchard at the coming trial and would then tell to all the world the plots and plans which seem almost too stupendous for belief or for comprehension.

Ortie E. McManigal refused absolutely yesterday to consult with any attorneys connected with the defence of the alleged dynamiters, according to a statement made by Job. P. Harriman, one of the lawyers representing the accused men.

Steamer Sharples Raised.

Kingston, April 29.—The steamer John Sharples, raised off Gallocps Islands, where she went down last fall, was towed here by the Reid Wrecking Co., discharging the balance of her cargo of 25,000 bushels of corn at Richardson's elevator. The damage is estimated at $35,000. She will undergo repairs at Ogdensburg.

Sustained the Call.

Kingston, April 29.—Kingston presbytery sustained the call given to Rev. R. Drinnan of North Bay presbytery by the Sudbury congregation.

One Fourth of All the Motor Cars Built in America in 1911 Will Be

FORD Model T's.

It has been estimated by Motor Car Manufacturers that 150,000 automobiles will be built in 1911. Out of this immense quantity 37,500 will be Ford Model T's built by the Ford Motor Co.

There is a reason for this exceptionally large number of Fords and Ford popularity.

The demand for a Ford design and Ford quality has been so great that a yearly output of over 30,000 Model T's has been required to supply the demand of buyers.

Ford design and construction, Ford quality in material, strength, durability and service, Economy in Up-keep are features that have caused Ford to manufacture this season One Fourth of all the cars built in America. Call and See Them.

JOS. J. DUFFUS

DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE

309 George St., : Peterborough : Phone 255

Hurled Half a Mile.

Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, April 29.—The smouldering fire that has nearly destroyed the French steamer Marcoot and her cargo caused another explosion Thursday, when a cylinder iron tube six feet in length and six inches in diameter was torn from the engine-room and hurled at a great height into the town. Falling through the roof of a building on Nassau street more than half a mile distant from the harbor, several persons narrowly escaped injury.

Anti-Mormon Meetings.

London, April 29.—Under the presidency of Bishop Weldon, a mass meeting was held last night at which resolutions were passed calling upon the Government to take steps to stop the activities of Mormon missionaries in England. It was announced during the meeting that the Mormons have 62 churches with 30,000 members and 300 missionaries. It is said also that last year there were 9,000 converts to Mormonism, of which 800 went to Utah.

The WONDERFUL Overland CARS

OVERLAND MODEL 58
WITH REAR DOORS

Read and Compare Values With All Others

Model 62 $2,275.00 — 5 Passenger, 40 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 118-inch wheel base, Bosch Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 61 $1,775.00 — 5 Passenger, 30 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 110-inch wheel base, Remy new model Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 60 $1,450.00 — 5 Passenger, 25 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 102-inch wheel base, Remy Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 58 $1,275.00 — 4 Passenger, 25 H. P., Family Car that is reliable under all conditions. Fully equipped.

Model 46 $1,175.00 — 2 Passenger Torpedo Roadster, 25 H. P., fully equipped, handsome, powerful, durable and simple to operate.

Model 45 $1,000.00 — Business Men's or Professional Men's Runabout, two Passenger, 25 H. P. The most substantial article in the market. Fully equipped.

Also fifteen other models, particulars of which will be furnished on application.

Demonstrations will be given by appointment from 8 o'clock a.m. to 8 o'clock p m. any week day.

Don't delay. If you contemplate buying get your order in and avoid losing the best of the driving season, as only cars ordered now will get prompt delivery.

Shaw-Overland Sales Co.

53 to 59 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Canada.

Live Agents Wanted.

In The World of Sport

Exasperating Errors Suddenly Stopped Successful Streak

The Leafs Lose At Last

Torontos lost their first game of the season yesterday, being defeated by Providence in an eleven innings' battle by 9 runs to 8. Errors by Vaughn and Mullen, in the final chapter offset some fierce batting by the Leafs in the early stages, and the Clamdiggers finally secured the decision. Torontos batted like demons, getting sixteen hits, but on the other hand, had seven mis-plays, most of them costly. Buckman, McGinley and Lush did the twirling for the Torontos.

The Skeeters broke their losing streak by beating Montreal 2 to 0. Rube Kissinger outpitching Carroll.

As Rochester got bumped, too, Torontos still lead. The Hustlers were massacred at Baltimore, the Birds falling upon three Broneho pitchers for a total of nineteen hits and the Orioles won 19 to 4.

Buffalo defeated Newark in an 11 innings' game by 10 to 7. The Sailors had 3 errors.

In the American, Detroit won again the wildness of Krapp for Cleveland giving the Tigers a 5-3 win.

Walter Johnston's good pitching stopped Philadelphia's spurt, the Senators beating the Mackmen 2 to 1. A shut-out was prevented by Baker's home run. Cooms did the Athletic throwing. Boston beat New York Americans in a fast and clever exhibition by 2 to 1, winning on Wolters' tripple, and a clean single by Daniels. In the National the Cubs were bumped by Brooklyn, in an exciting game, by 4 to 3. Kling had a homer in the ninth, putting his team in front, but the Pirates came back with two in their half. Brooklyn checked the Philadelphia Nationals winning streak by shutting the Dooin bunch out 5 to 0. Bell held the Phillies to 4 safeties.

The Giants were beaten 9 to 3 by Boston. Dickie Rudolph, the ex-Toronto pitcher finished out the game after Drucke had been driven off the slab.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A. TENNIS CLUB ORGANIZES

St. John's A. Y. P. A. Tennis Club had a general meeting last night in the Guild Room at 8 p. m., Rev. Charles Carpenter presiding. The trustees of Nicholls Oval were heartily thanked for privileges as to playing on the Oval and Mr. F. Roberts instructed to make application for a similar favour this season.

There was a good attendance, and everything points to a banner year for the club.

Mr. William Colclough was elected to represent St. John's on the City Lawn Tennis Association.

BASEBALL YESTERDAY.

Eastern League Standing.

Clubs	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Toronto	6	1	.857
Providence	5	3	.714
Rochester	5	3	.714
Baltimore	4	3	.571
Montreal	3	4	.429
Buffalo	3	4	.429
Newark	2	5	.286
Jersey City	1	6	.143

Friday's scores: Providence 9, Toronto 8; Baltimore 12, Rochester 4; Jersey City 8, Montreal 6; Buffalo 10, Newark 7.

Saturday's games: Toronto at Providence, Rochester at Baltimore, Buffalo at Newark, Montreal at Jersey City.

National League Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Philadelphia	10	3	.769
Chicago	9	4	.692
Pittsburg	7	4	.636
New York	7	5	.583
Cincinnati	6	6	.500
Boston	5	8	.385
Brooklyn	4	9	.308
St. Louis	3	9	.250

Friday scores: Pittsburg 4, Chicago 3; Boston 9, New York 3; Brooklyn 5, Philadelphia 0; Cincinnati-St. Louis, wet grounds.

Saturday games—Boston at Philadelphia, New York at Brooklyn; Chicago at Pittsburg; Cincinnati at St. Louis.

American League Standing.

Clubs—	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Detroit	12	1	.923
New York	7	4	.636
Boston	6	6	.500
Chicago	6	6	.500
Washington	6	7	.462
Philadelphia	6	7	.462
Cleveland	5	8	.385
St. Louis	3	10	.231

Friday's scores: New York 2, Boston 1; Detroit 5, Cleveland 3; Washington 2, Philadelphia 1; Chicago-St. Louis, wet grounds.

Saturday's games—St. Louis at Chicago, Washington at Boston, Philadelphia at New York, Detroit at Cleveland.

CUSTOM HOUSE FLAGS.

Having No Legal Existence, They Are Not Protected by Law.

Tradition is responsible for the flying of the revenue flag over the custom houses of the country, according to a high ranking member of that department.

The flag which floats from the roof of the custom house has not only no legal existence, but is not protected by law from popular use on land and sea nor from advertising, as is the national flag.

The revenue cutter service was established under authority of an act of congress of Aug. 4, 1790, as an armed force. It soon became evident that the vessels of the service should have some distinguishing flag or mark to indicate their employment and authority, and under an act of congress of March 21, 1799, the marker was provided for. This act set forth that "the cutters and boats employed in the service of the revenue shall be distinguished from other vessels by an ensign and pendant, with such marks thereon as shall be prescribed by the president."

As is apparent from the act of congress mentioned and various revisions of later date, the revenue ensign was intended especially for the cutters and boats of the service, but it has long been displayed over custom houses.—Baltimore Sun.

A Get Beautiful Quick Scheme.

"If you have a hurry call to be beautiful without the time to work up to the permanent affair," said Mildred Holland, "here's your chance. First wash your face with warm water and almond meal. Make a sort of paste of these things and wash off with warm water and dry lightly. Then apply your skin food lest there be any reaction from the drastic treatment to follow. Now take a piece of lemon and rub it over the face till the skin smarts. Rinse again, this time with water that is gradually brought down from cool to cold. You are then ready for the final ceremony. Hold a good sized piece of ice in a towel and iron your face with it. Then look in the glass. This has been found an absolutely reliable recipe before asking for the coveted new bonnet."—New York World.

Canvasbacks on the Wing.

If you have any doubt as to the swiftness of the canvasback on the wing where business calls just fire at the leader in a string some time when you have the chance. Duck shot when propelled by the proper quantity of powder travels pretty quickly itself, but if your charge brings down any member of that string of ducks at all it will be the fifth or sixth bird back of the leader, and I'll bet a farm on it.

"If you would have a chance of dropping the leader you will have to aim not less than ten feet ahead of him. Then he will more than likely run plump against your shot. When he drops it will be a quarter of a mile or so farther on, for he can't stop short of that distance even after he is dead."—New York Sun.

His Striking Feature.

He was butler at the British embassy, and he was very English. He was at the telephone, and the society editor of a Washington newspaper was asking him about a distinguished Englishman who had just arrived as a guest at the embassy.

"Tell me," said the editor, "what he looks like. Give me some striking feature by which I may recognize him."

"Well," replied the butler in awe and admiration, "'e 'as a most hintelligent face."—New York Tribune.

One Suggestion.

"Any suggestions as to the music for the dinner tonight?"

"Well, play something loud with the soup course. You understand?"—Washington Herald.

Golf Versus Motoring.

The difference between learning golf and motoring is that in golf at first you hit nothing, but in motoring everything.—Puck.

Intellect annuls fate. So far as a man thinks, he is free.—Emerson.

WOOD PULP PAPER.

Forced Into Use by the Scarcity of Rag Stock.

In the early days of printing it was hardly possible to employ anything but first class paper in making books, for the reason that wood fiber and wood pulp paper had not then come into use. At that time good cotton and linen rags were turned into fine, firm, pure white paper, well able to withstand indefinitely the yellowing and disintegrating effects of time.

As the increase in the demand for printing paper grew apace it was soon found that there were not enough rags to go round. Then wool pulp came into use.

All vegetable fiber is suitable for paper making, whether it be obtained from rags, wood, esparto grass, straw or other substances. When these fibers are torn apart they are clogged with gum, a substance that must be thoroughly dissolved and washed away by chemicals if the best results are to be obtained.

Wood pulp paper is made of finely ground wood, usually spruce, the grinding being done with a beating engine, run at high speed, and huge stones between which the wood is reduced to a kind of pulp. That done, it is made up into paper without any preliminary removal of the gum or other deleterious ingredients.—Harper's Weekly.

ELECTRIC FOGHORNS.

Which May Be Blown Without Effort by Pressing a Push Button.

The time honored foghorn and still the one in most common use on skiffs of smaller boats is of the sort that you raise to your lips and blow. Tolerably hard work blowing a foghorn.

Bigger foghorns for larger boats are set in a box, the box containing a bellows by which the horn is blown. Attached to the bellows is an outside lever by means of which the bellows is operated by hand. A lot of noise this foghorn makes to be heard for a considerable distance.

There are now made, used on many power boats and yachts, electric foghorns the operating of which calls for the exercise of neither lung nor hand power. In these horns there is attached, inclosed at the smaller end, a metallic diaphragm to which is connected an electric coil which when electricity is turned into it vibrates the diaphragm and sounds the horn. Electricity is supplied from a storage battery or from current generated on the boat if it is electrically equipped. To blow an electric foghorn you simply press a button.—New York Sun.

"Robbing Peter to Pay Paul."

That proverb "robbing Peter to pay Paul" arose from the way in which the dean of Westminster was treated at the time of the reformation. As abbot he had been an independent dignitary, but as dean he was placed under the authority of a specially created bishop of Westminster. This diocese after existing for ten years was merged in the see of London, and many of the domains of St. Peter's abbey passed into the hands of the chapter of St. Paul's cathedral, thus giving rise to the now familiar saying. "It was by a hard struggle," writes Dean Stanley, "that the abbey was saved in those tempestuous times. Its dependency of the priory of St. Martin's le Grand was torn to pieces, and its outlying domains to the east of Westminster were, it is said, sacrificed to the Protector Somerset to induce him to forbear from pulling down the abbey itself."—London Chronicle.

Familiar Sayings.

"I don't like your weigh," remarked the customer to the dishonest grocer.

"I hope I make myself clear," said the water as it passed through the filter.

"Reading makes the full man, but writing doesn't," complained the half starved poet.

"My resources are all tied up," said the tramp as he placed his bundle on a stick.

"The rest is silence," quoted the musician, explaining the meaning of that term to his pupil.

"This is a complete give away," remarked Papa Santa Claus as he finished stripping the Christmas tree.

"I call that treating a friend in a rather distant manner," said the doctor as he hung up the receiver after prescribing over the telephone.—Boston Transcript.

Cheap by the Hour.

"I must say you've got a pretty lot of citizens to allow themselves to be charged at the rate of 5 cents a mile from here down to the Junction on a miserable one horse branch road," said the shoe drummer bitingly.

"I'd like ter call yer attention ter one fact before you go on doin' any more such language," answered the ticket agent calmly, "and that is that, while it may be 5 cents a mile, it's only 25 cents an hour."—Metropolitan Magazine.

Impartial.

"What did the captain of the vessel do when he found the men were not disposed to do their full duty?"

"He gave up the voyage and docked the vessel."

"What then?"

"Then he docked the crew."—Baltimore American.

Between Friends.

Bess—He said my face was a perfect poem. Jess—It is—like one of Browning's. Bess—What do you mean? Jess—Some of the lines are so deep.—Toledo Blade.

How blessings brighten as they take their flight!—Young.

Hopeless Case.

"Is he a has-been?"

"Worse than that."

"A never-was?"

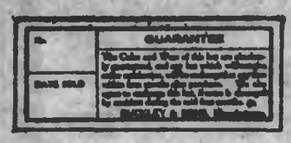
"Even worse."

"I know. He's a never-will-be."

There's a Buckley for every type of countenance---and in every Buckley Hat there is a guarantee.

On the score of style alone, the Buckley might well claim your choice in hats—not an-another hat made includes so wide a range of becoming styles in men's headgear.

Produced from American blocks, in a modern English factory, and made by Union workmen, the Buckley has a style and distinction all its own.



As for quality—wear-resistance—well, can you remain in doubt after reading the wide-open Buckley guarantee? Read it again—do you think a manufacturer would dare issue such a sweeping guarantee if he didn't thoroughly believe in his product—if he didn't know his hats would stand the most careless use and the roughest weather?

And, by way of proving that there's to be no quibbling or red tape about the exchange—to convince you that the guarantee ensures a new hat without embarassing question-asking from the hat merchant—there's that 'accident clause' which says:

"We agree to exchange this hat, if same is damaged by accident during the said four months."

The Buckley is on sale at the best hat shops. Price, $2.50.

BUCKLEY. HATS

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH 366 George St., Near Simcoe.

HUNT CAME TO GRIEF.

And It Happened Just the Day the Prince of Wales Came.

Some years ago His late Majesty King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, honored with his presence a meet of the Old Berkshire Hounds, which took place close to George Reeve's farm, near Reading.

It can be easily imagined that in anticipation of so great an event as a Royal Hunt breakfast at the Master's, and a meet on the lawn, the whole country side made holiday and drew an enormous crowd; and my old friend George Reeves, being at that time one of the most influential horse dealers in the county, was naturally desirous of making such an equine demonstration, as in the words of Mr. Kruger, would stagger humanity. To this end he not only requisitioned the services of every male servant in his employ, but invited indiscriminately any of the neighboring tradesmen, butchers, bakers, or candlestick-makers, who said they could ride, to accept a mount on one of his horses and join his cavalcade, which, in all, numbered at starting about sixty, and a more grotesque and extraordinary regiment of cavalry perhaps was never seen.

Before starting, an impromptu meeting was held in the riding school, when George Reeves exhorted his brigade to be sure and not over ride hounds, and to remember that such an opportunity for personal distinction in the royal presence might never occur again. In conclusion, he begged them that if by chance any very big fence should have to be negotiated, to go straight at it, shut their eyes, close their legs tight, and trust in Providence, for his horses could never fail or make mistakes.

Well, away they went. The crowd was enormous, and a fox was soon started at a rattling pace. The Harley brigade, wild with enthusiasm for individual glory, made a mad rush for the front, ignoring all sporting etiquette, and equally regardless of the valuable lives they were scattering in all directions.

It so happened that the first fence was a "rasper," and called into requisition all poor George Reeve's advice. The brigade charged almost simultaneously, with the result that in less than two minutes about forty riderless horses were careering all over the country, and the staff at the county hospital, which was fortunately close at hand, found liberal occupation for the rest of this memorable day.—English Illustrated Magazine.

Loses Color Sense.

That the human eye, though trained to distinguish colors, may by want of use forget how to make such distinction was proved by the unique experience of Dr. Hartley, a fellow of the Royal Society in England. In his case it was shown that color can be forgotten as well as learned by human sight.

The doctor in order to save the sight of one, perhaps of both eyes, when one was injured, voluntarily immured himself in a room made totally dark for nine months.

The fortitude which enabled him to adopt this course and the ingenuity by which he preserved his health and faculties in this the most mentally and physically depressing of all forms of imprisonment are sufficiently remarkable. But the doctor also kept an accurate record of his impressions when he at last looked again upon the light after the supreme moment at which he satisfied himself that he was not blind.

He found that in the nine months' darkness his eyes had lost all sense of color. The world was black, white and gray. They had also lost the sense of distance. His brain interpreted the picture wrongly. His hand did not touch the object meant to be grasped. Practice soon remedied the last induced defect of sight. Experiment with skeins of various colored wool in the presence of one who had normal color vision restored the first.

When Baronets Were Sold.

The title of baronets is exactly 300 years old.

It was in the reign of Good King James that baronets first came into existence. To-day, you could hardly tell a baronet from a banker. But in the year 1611, when James I. needed ready money, and created two hundred "little barons" to supply him with cash, they swaggered about in the baldrics and sashes, and behaved in the courtliest of fashions.

Each baronet, in order to justify his title, had to maintain a small army of thirty soldiers for three years. In this way the crafty king not only increased his revenue, but actually lightened his expenses!

It is not generally known that the title of "baronetess" has twice been bestowed on women. One of these was the mother of a Dutch general. The other was a Nottingham lady named Dame Maria Bolles, who won her way into the good graces of Charles I., and received the title from his hands.

Solid Gasoline.

A Birmingham chemist has invented a way to convert gasoline or petrol into a stiff white jelly. It is done by adding 1 3-4 per cent of stearate and alcohol. An economy of 30 per cent. is claimed for the solid form.

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples, Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes, Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Up-to-Date Cigar Store

A Full Line of Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries

Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::

D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

BICYCLES
BICYCLE SUNDRIES
BICYCLE REPAIRS
50 Cut Prices. 340 Yonge St.
Send for Cut Price Catalogue. TORONTO

Christening Ships.

The ceremony of breaking a bottle of wine over a ship's bows before launching—as with the Thunderer, the other day—has its origin in the ancient heathen belief that before starting out on any new enterprise it was necessary to offer sacrifices to propitiate the gods.

Wine has been used for christening ships of the royal navy for centuries, but occasionally there are departures from the custom. In 1909, when the Hibernia was launched at Devonport, a bottle of Irish whisky was broken over her bows as a compliment to her name.

SIMPLE, RELIABLE, EFFICIENT

Ferro Motors Will Satisfy YOUR Needs

Ferro Engine simplicity means much to motor-boat users. Only three moving parts—no valves, no cams, no springs—assures freedom from trouble and ease of operation, even for those unfamiliar with machinery.

Over 24,000 Ferro Engines are driving craft the world over—canoes, dories, dinghys, cruisers, heavy commercial boats, record-breaking speed marvels like the famous Vipers, of Canada—the fastest of their size ever built.

Ferro is The World's Standard Two-Cycle Motor.

Write for our handsome Free Catalogue and Helpful Information Blank that entitles you to free advice from experts who will tell you just which motor will best suit your needs. Write now—you will be free of any obligation to buy because you do write. Address The Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., 57 Hamont St., Cleveland, Ohio, U.S.A.

FERRO

OVER 24,000 IN USE THE WORLD OVER

THE ENGINE THAT MASTERED NIAGARA

A. R. Williams Machinery Co. Canadian Distributors for the Ferro Engine Toronto, Ont. Engines in stock for prompt delivery.

BICYCLES

Tires and Repair Parts at Cut Prices.

Send for our Free Catalogue.

T. W. BOYD & SON,
27 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal.

The WONDERFUL Overland CARS

OVERLAND MODEL 58
WITH PANEL BODIES

Read and Compare Values With All Others

Model 62 $2,275.00 — 5 Passenger, 40 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 118-inch wheel base, Bosch Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 61 $1,775.00 — 5 Passenger, 30 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 110-inch wheel base, Remy new model Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 60 $1,450.00 — 5 Passenger, 25 H. P., fore-door "Touring Car," 102-inch wheel base, Remy Magneto, fully equipped, delivered in Toronto.

Model 58 $1,275.00 — 4 Passenger, 25 H. P., Family Car that is reliable under all conditions. Fully equipped.

Model 40 $1,175.00 — 2 Passenger Torpedo Roadster, 25 H. P., fully equipped, handsome, powerful, durable and simple to operate.

Model 45 $1,050.00 — Business Men's or Professional Men's Runabout, two Passenger. 25 H. P. The most substantial article in the market. Fully equipped.

Also fifteen other models, particulars of which will be furnished on application.

Demonstrations will be given by appointment from 8 o'clock a.m. to 8 o'clock p m. any week day.

Don't delay. If you contemplate buying get your order in and avoid losing the best of the driving season, as only cars ordered now will get prompt delivery.

Shaw-Overland Sales Co.

53 to 59 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Canada.

Live Agents Wanted.

In The World of Sport

Exasperating Errors Suddenly Stopped Successful Streak
The Leafs Lose At Last

Toronto lost their first game of the season yesterday, being defeated by Providence in an eleven innings' battle by 9 runs to 8. Errors by Vaughn and Mullen, in the final chapter offset some fierce batting by the Leafs in the early stages, and the Clamdiggers finally secured the decision. Torontos batted like demons, getting sixteen hits, but on the other hand had seven mis-plays, most of them costly. Backman, McGinley and Lush did the twirling for the Torontos.

The Skeeters broke their losing streak by beating Montreal 2 to 0. Rube Kissinger outpitching Carroll.

As Rochester got bumped, too, Torontos still lead. The Hustlers were massacred at Baltimore, the Birds falling upon three Broncho pitchers for a total of nineteen hits and the Orioles won 12 to 4.

Buffalo defeated Newark in an 11 innings' game by 10 to 7. The Sailors had 3 errors.

In the American, Detroit won again the wildness of Krapp for Cleveland giving the Tigers a 6-3 win.

Walter Johnston's good pitching stopped Philadelphia's spurt, the Senators beating the Mackmen 2 to 1. A shut-out was prevented by Baker's home run. Cooms did the Athletic throwing. Boston beat New York Americans in a fast and clever exhibition by 2 to 1, winning on Wolters' tripple, and a clean single by Daniels. In the National the Cubs were bumped by Brooklyn, in an exciting game, by 4 to 3. Kling had a homer in the ninth, putting his team in front, but the Pirates came back with two in their half. Brooklyn checked the Philadelphia Nationals winning streak by shutting the Dooin bunch out 5 to 0. Bell held the Phillies to 4 safeties.

The Giants were beaten 9 to 3 by Boston. Dickie Rudolph, the ex-Toronto pitcher finished out the game after Drucke had been driven off the slab.

ST. JOHN'S A.Y.P.A. TENNIS CLUB ORGANIZES

St. John's A. Y. P. A. Tennis Club had a general meeting last night in the Guild Room at 8 p. m., Rev. Charles Carpenter presiding. The trustees of Nicholls Oval were heartily thanked for privileges as to playing on the Oval and Mr. F. Roberts instructed to make application for a similar favour this season.

There was a good attendance, and everything points to a banner year for the club.

Mr. William Coleman was elected to represent St. John's on the City Lawn Tennis Association.

BASEBALL YESTERDAY.

Eastern League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Toronto	5	1	.833
Providence	5	2	.714
Rochester	4	3	.571
Baltimore	4	3	.571
Montreal	3	4	.429
Buffalo	3	5	.375
Newark	3	5	.375
Jersey City	1	6	.143

Friday's scores: Providence 9, Toronto 8; Baltimore 12, Rochester 4; Jersey City 2, Montreal 0; Buffalo 10, Newark 7.

Saturday's games: Toronto at Providence, Rochester at Baltimore, Buffalo at Newark, Montreal at Jersey City.

National League Standing.

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Philadelphia	10	1	.909
Chicago	8	3	.727
Pittsburg	7	4	.636
New York	6	5	.545
Cincinnati	6	5	.545
Boston	5	6	.455
Brooklyn	4	7	.364
St. Louis	3	8	.273

Friday scores: Pittsburg 4, Chicago 3; Boston 9, New York 3; Brooklyn 5, Philadelphia 0; Cincinnati-St. Louis, wet grounds.

Saturday games—Boston at Philadelphia, New York at Brooklyn; Chicago at Pittsburg; Cincinnati at St. Louis.

American League Standing.

Clubs—	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Detroit	11	1	.916
New York	7	4	.636
Boston	6	4	.600
Chicago	6	5	.545
Washington	5	5	.500
Philadelphia	5	7	.417
Cleveland	3	7	.300
St. Louis	2	9	.182

Friday's scores: New York 2, Boston 1; Detroit 5, Cleveland 3; Washington 2, Philadelphia 1; Chicago-St. Louis, wet grounds.

Saturday's games—St. Louis at Chicago, Washington at Boston, Philadelphia at New York, Detroit at Cleveland.

CUSTOM HOUSE FLAGS.

Having No Legal Existence, They Are Not Protected by Law.

Tradition is responsible for the flying of the revenue flag over the custom houses of the country, according to a high ranking member of that department.

The flag which floats from the roof of the custom house has not only no legal existence, but is not protected by law from popular use on land and sea nor from advertising, as is the national flag.

The revenue cutter service was established under authority of an act of congress of Aug. 4, 1790, as an armed force. It soon became evident that the vessels of the service should have some distinguishing flag or mark to indicate their employment and authority, and under an act of congress of March 21, 1799, the marker was provided for. This act set forth that "the cutters and boats employed in the service of the revenue shall be distinguished from other vessels by an ensign and pendant, with such marks thereon as shall be prescribed by the president."

As is apparent from the act of congress mentioned and various revisions of later date, the revenue ensign was intended especially for the cutters and boats in the service, but it has long been displayed over custom houses.—Baltimore Sun.

A Get Beautiful Quick Scheme.

"If you have a hurry call to be beautiful without the time to work up to the permanent affair," said Mildred Holland, "here's your chance. First wash your face with warm water and almond meal. Make a sort of paste of these things and wash off with warm water and dry lightly. Then apply your skin food lest there be any reaction from the drastic treatment to follow. Now take a piece of lemon and rub it over the face till the skin smarts. Rinse again, this time with water that is gradually brought down from cool to cold. You are then ready for the final ceremony. Hold a good sized piece of ice in a towel and iron your face with it. Then look in the glass. This has been found an absolutely reliable recipe before asking for the coveted new bonnet."—New York World.

Canvasbacks on the Wing.

If you have any doubt as to the swiftness of the canvasback on the wing where business calls just fire at the leader in a string some time when you have the chance. Duck shot when propelled by the proper quantity of powder travels pretty quickly itself, but if your charge brings down any member of that string of ducks at all it will be the fifth or sixth bird back of the leader, and I'll bet a farm on it.

"If you would have a chance of dropping the leader you will have to aim not less than ten feet ahead of him. Then he will more than likely run plump against your shot. When he drops it will be a quarter of a mile or so farther on, for he can't stop short of that distance even after he is dead."—New York Sun.

His Striking Feature.

He was butler at the British embassy, and he was very English. He was at the telephone, and the society editor of a Washington newspaper was asking him about a distinguished Englishman who had just arrived as a guest at the embassy.

"Tell me," said the editor, "what he looks like. Give me some striking feature by which I may recognize him."

"Well," replied the butler in awe and admiration, "'e 'as a most hintelligent face."—New York Tribune.

One Suggestion.

"Any suggestions as to the music for the dinner tonight?"

"Well, play something loud with the soup course. You understand?"—Washington Herald.

Golf Versus Motoring.

The difference between learning golf and motoring is that in golf at first you hit nothing, but in motoring everything.—Punch.

Intellect annuls fate. So far as a man thinks, he is free.—Emerson.

WOOD PULP PAPER.

Forced Into Use by the Scarcity of Rag Stock.

In the early days of printing it was hardly possible to employ anything but first class paper in making books, for the reason that wood fiber and wood pulp paper had not then come into use. At that time good cotton and linen rags were turned into fine, firm, pure white paper, well able to withstand indefinitely the yellowing and disintegrating effects of time.

As the increase in the demand for printing paper grew apace it was soon found that there were not enough rags to go round. Then wood pulp came into use.

All vegetable fiber is suitable for paper making, whether it be obtained from rags, wood, esparto grass, straw or other substances. When these fibers are torn apart they are clogged with gum, a substance that must be thoroughly dissolved and washed away by chemicals if the best results are to be obtained.

Wood pulp paper is made of finely ground wood, usually spruce, the grinding being done with a bunting engine, run at high speed, and huge stones between which the wood is reduced to a kind of pulp. That done, it is made up into paper without any preliminary removal of the gum or other deleterious ingredients.—Harper's Weekly.

ELECTRIC FOGHORNS.

Which May Be Blown Without Effort by Pressing a Push Button.

The time honored foghorn and still the one in most common use on skyriads of smaller boats is of the sort that you raise to your lips and blow. Tolerably hard work blowing a foghorn.

Bigger foghorns for larger boats are set in a box, the box containing a bellows by which the horn is blown. Attached to the bellows is an outside lever by means of which the bellows is operated by hand. A lot of noise this foghorn makes, to be heard for a considerable distance.

There are now made, used on many power boats and yachts, electric foghorns the operating of which calls for the exercise of neither lung nor hand power. In these horns there is attached, inclosed at the smaller end, a metallic diaphragm to which is connected an electric coil which when electricity is turned into it vibrates the diaphragm and sounds the horn. Electricity is supplied from a storage battery or from current generated on the boat if it is electrically equipped. To blow an electric foghorn you simply press a button.—New York Sun.

"Robbing Peter to Pay Paul."

That proverb "robbing Peter to pay Paul" arose from the way in which the dean of Westminster was treated at the time of the reformation. As abbot he had been an independent dignitary, but as dean he was placed under the authority of a specially created bishop of Westminster. This diocese after existing for ten years was merged in the see of London, and many of the domains of St. Peter's abbey passed into the hands of the chapter of St. Paul's cathedral, thus giving rise to the now familiar saying. "It was by a hard struggle," writes Dean Stanley, "that the abbey was saved in those tempestuous times. Its dependency of the priory of St. Martin's le Grand was torn to pieces, and its outlying domains to the east of Westminster were, it is said, sacrificed to the Protector Somerset to induce him to forbear from pulling down the abbey itself."—London Chronicle.

Familiar Sayings.

"I don't like your weigh," remarked the customer to the dishonest grocer.

"I hope I make myself clear," said the water as it passed through the filter.

"Reading makes the full man, but writing doesn't," complained the half starved poet.

"My resources are all tied up," said the tramp as he placed his bundle on a stick.

"The rest is silence," quoted the musician, explaining the meaning of that term to his pupil.

"This is a complete give away," remarked Papa Santa Claus as he finished stripping the Christmas tree.

"I call that treating a friend in a rather distant manner," said the doctor as he hung up the receiver after prescribing over the telephone.—Boston Transcript.

Cheap by the Hour.

"I must say you've got a pretty lot of cliiiness to allow themselves to be charged at the rate of 5 cents a mile from here down to the Junction on a miserable one horse branch road," said the shoe drummer bitingly.

"I'd like ter call yer attention ter one fact before you go on sayin' any more such language," answered the ticket agent calmly, "and that is that, while it may be 5 cents a mile, it's only 25 cents an hour."—Metropolitan Magazine.

Impartial.

"What did the captain of the vessel do when he found the men were not disposed to do their full duty?"

"He gave up the voyage and docked the vessel."

"What then?"

"Then he docked the crew."—Baltimore American.

Between Friends.

Bess—He said my face was a perfect poem. Jess—It is—like one of Browning's. Bess—What do you mean? Jess—Some of the lines are so deep.—Toledo Blade.

How blessings brighten as they take their flight.—Young.

Hopeless Case.

"Is he a has-been?"

"Worse than that."

"A never-was?"

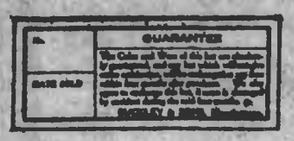
"Even worse."

"I know. He's a never-will-be."

There's a Buckley for every type of countenance---and in every Buckley Hat there is a guarantee.

On the score of style alone, the Buckley might well claim your choice in hats—not an-another hat made includes so wide a range of becoming styles in men's headgear.

Produced from American blocks, in a modern English factory, and made by Union workmen, the Buckley has a style and distinction all its own.



As for quality—wear-resistance—well, can you remain in doubt after reading the wide-open Buckley guarantee? Read it again—do you think a manufacturer would dare issue such a sweeping guarantee if he didn't thoroughly believe in his product—if he didn't know his hats would stand the most careless use and the roughest weather?

And, by way of proving that there's to be no quibbling or red tape about the exchange—to convince you that the guarantee ensures a new hat without embarassing question-asking from the hat merchant—there's that 'accident clause' which says:

"We agree to exchange this hat, if same is damaged by accident during the said four months."

The Buckley is on sale at the best hat shops. Price, $2.50.

BUCKLEY. HATS

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH 366 George St., Near Simcoe.

HUNT CAME TO GRIEF.

And It Happened Just the Day the Prince of Wales Came.

Some years ago His late Majesty King Edward VII., then Prince of Wales, honored with his presence a meet of the Old Berkshire Hounds, which took place close to George Reeve's farm, near Reading.

It can be easily imagined that in anticipation of so great an event as a Royal Hunt breakfast at the Master's, and a meet on the lawn, the whole country side made holiday and drew an enormous crowd; and my old friend George Reeves, being at that time one of the most influential horse dealers in the county, was naturally desirous of making such an equine demonstration, as in the words of Mr. Kruger, would stagger humanity. To this end he not only requisitioned the services of every male servant in his employ, but invited indiscriminately any of the neighboring tradesmen, butchers, bakers, or candlestick-makers, who said they could ride, to accept a mount on one of his horses and join his cavalcade, which, in all, numbered at starting about sixty, and a more grotesque and extraordinary regiment of cavalry perhaps was never seen.

Before starting, an impromptu meeting was held in the riding school, when George Reeves exhorted his brigade to be sure and not over ride hounds, and to remember that such an opportunity for personal distinction in the royal presence might never occur again. In conclusion, he begged them that if by chance any very big fence should have to be negotiated, to go straight at it, shut their eyes, close their legs tight, and trust in Providence, for his horses could never fall or make mistakes.

Well, away they went. The crowd was enormous, and a fox was soon started at a rattling pace. The Earley brigade, wild with enthusiasm for individual glory, made a mad rush for the front, ignoring all sporting etiquette, and equally regardless of the valuable lives they were scattering in all directions.

It so happened that the first fence was a "rasper," and called into requisition all poor George Reeve's advice. The brigade charged almost simultaneously, with the result that in less than two minutes about forty riderless horses were careering all over the country, and the staff at the county hospital, which was fortunately close at hand, found liberal occupation for the rest of this memorable day.—English Illustrated Magazine.

Loses Color Sense.

That the human eye, though trained to distinguish colors, may by want of use forget how to make such distinction was proved by the unique experience of Dr. Hartley, a fellow of the Royal Society in England. In his case it was shown that color can be forgotten as well as learned by human sight.

The doctor in order to save the sight of one, perhaps of both eyes, when one was injured, voluntarily immured himself in a room made totally dark for nine months.

The fortitude which enabled him to adopt this course and the ingenuity by which he preserved his health and faculties in this the most mentally and physically depressing of all forms of imprisonment are sufficiently remarkable. But the doctor also kept an accurate record of his impressions when he at last looked again upon the light after the supreme moment at which he satisfied himself that he was not blind.

He found that in the nine months' darkness his eyes had lost all sense of color. The world was black, white and gray. They had also lost the sense of distance. His brain interpreted the picture wrongly. His hand did not touch the object meant to be grasped. Practice soon remedied the last induced defect of sight. Experiment with skeins of various colored wool in the presence of one who had normal color vision restored the first.

When Baronets Were Sold.

The title of baronets is exactly 300 years old.

It was in the reign of Good King James that baronets first came into existence. To-day, you could hardly tell a baronet from a banker. But in the year 1611, when James I. needed ready money, and created two hundred "little barons" to supply him with cash, they swaggered about in the baldrics and sashes, and behaved in the courtliest of fashions.

Each baronet, in order to justify his title, had to maintain a small army of thirty soldiers for three years. In this way the crafty king not only increased his revenue, but actually lightened his expenses!

It is not generally known that the title of "baronetess" has twice been bestowed on women. One of these was the mother of a Dutch general. The other was a Nottingham lady named Dame Maria Bolles, who won her way into the good graces of Charles I., and received the title from his hands.

Solid Gasoline.

A Birmingham chemist has invented a way to convert gasoline or petrol into a stiff white jelly. It is done by adding 1 3-4 per cent of stearite and alcohol. An economy of 30 per cent. is claimed for the solid form.

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples — Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes — Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Up-to-Date
Cigar Store

A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::
D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

BICYCLES

BICYCLE SUNDRIES
BICYCLE REPAIRS
at Cut Prices. 100 Yonge St. Send for Cut Price Catalogue. TORONTO

SIMPLE, RELIABLE, EFFICIENT
Ferro Motors Will Satisfy YOUR Needs

Ferro Engine simplicity means much to motor-boat users. Only three moving parts—no valves, no cams, no springs—assures freedom from trouble and ease of operation, even for those unfamiliar with machinery.

Over 24,000 Ferro Engines are driving craft the world over—canoes, dories, dinghys, cruisers, heavy commercial boats, record-breaking speed marvels like the famous Vipers, of Canada—the fastest of their size ever built.

Ferro is The World's Standard Two-Cycle Motor.

Write for our handsome Free Catalogue and Helpful Information Blank that entitles you to free advice from experts who will tell you just which motor will best suit your needs. Write now—you will be free of any obligation to buy because you do write. Address The Ferro Machine & Foundry Co., 57 Bidwell St., Cleveland, Ohio, U.S.A.

FERRO

OVER 24,000 IN USE THE WORLD OVER

THE ENGINE THAT MASTERED NIAGARA

A. R. Williams Machinery Co. Canadian Distributors for the Ferro Engine Toronto, Ont. Engines in stock for prompt delivery.

BICYCLES

Tires and Repair Parts at Cut Prices.
Send for our Free Catalogue.
T. W. BOYD & SON,
27 Notre Dame St. West, Montreal.

Christening Ships.

The ceremony of breaking a bottle of wine over a ship's bows before launching—as with the Thunderer, the other day—has its origin in the ancient heathen belief that before starting out on any new enterprise it was necessary to offer sacrifices to propitiate the gods.

Wine has been used for christening ships of the royal navy for centuries, but occasionally there are departures from the custom. In 1905, when the Hibernia was launched at Davenport, a bottle of Irish whisky was broken over her bows as a compliment to her name.

Phone—Goods delivery to any part of city. Motor delivery anywhere and on Sunday.

Robt. Fair & Co.
Limited

Special Sale of Beautiful Lace Curtains
Fancy Curtain Nets
Scrims, Madras Muslins

The prices on these lines have been cut to such an extent, owing to the late Spring, that it is like giving money a new purchasing value. It is making every dollar worth a dollar and a third or a dollar and a half. Can't afford to miss it.

Bungalow Nets
In ivory and ecru, 42 inches wide. Regular price 50c, for 35c

Casement Nets
In white and Arab, 44 inches wide. Regular value 75c yard, for 60c

French Two Tone Casement Nets
48 inches wide. Regular value 95c yard, for 65c

Heavy French Curtain Scrim
With drawn work insertion in ecru, 44 inches wide. Regular value 90c, for 75c

Georgian Cloths
The new fancy fabric for curtains and drapes, 36 inches wide. Per yard 25c

Fancy Art Scrims
With plain centres and 9 inch fancy coloured border 35c

Coloured Scotch Madras
In artistic design and colour. 48 inches wide. Regular price 60c yard, for 43c

Madras Curtain Material
Plain cream figured, 44 inches wide. Regular price 35c, for 23c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in small neat designs. Regular value 75c pair, for 58c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in fancy scrim designs. Regular value $1.25, for 89c

French Net Curtains
Perfect copy of Battenberg design. Regular value $5 00 the pair, for $3.75

Notice to Creditors

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JOHN SCOLLARD, late of the Township of Esquesing, in the County of Peterborough, Farmer, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 38 Chapter 129, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario and Amending Acts, that all persons having any Claims against the Estate of the said John Scollard, who died on or about the 16th day of February, 1911, at the Township of Esquesing, in the County of Peterborough, are required to be sent by registered post prepaid or delivered to O'Connell & Gordon, at 134½ Hunter Street, Peterborough, Ontario, Solicitors for the Executors of the said Estate, on or before the first day of June 1911, their full names and addresses with full particulars of their claims in writing, and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them duly verified by Statutory Declaration.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE, that after the said first day of June, 1911, the Executors will proceed to distribute the said Estate among the parties entitled thereto, with regard only to the claims of those of which they shall then have received notice, and the Executors will not be liable for the assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claims notice shall not have been received by them or their solicitors at the time of such distribution.

Dated at Peterborough this 21st day of April, 1911.

O'CONNELL & GORDON,
Solicitors for the Executors.

64.22.29.6.13.20.27.4924

Notice to Creditors

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF RICHARD ANGLESEY, late of the City of Peterborough, in the County of Peterborough, Gentleman, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 38, Chapter 129, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario and amending Acts, that any Persons having any Claims against the Estate of the said Richard Anglesey, who died on or about the 9th day of March, 1911, are required to be sent by registered post prepaid or delivered to O'Connell & Gordon, 134½ Hunter Street, Peterborough, Ontario Solicitors for the Administratrix of the said Estate, on or before the first day of June, 1911 their names and addresses with full particulars of their claims in writing, and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them duly verified by Statutory Declaration.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE, That after the first day of June, 1911, the Administratrix will proceed to distribute the Estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of those of which she shall then have received notice and the Administratrix will not be liable for the assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received by her or her solicitors at the time of such distribution.

Dated at Peterborough this 21st day of April, 1911.

O'CONNELL & GORDON,
Solicitors for the Administratrix,
Margaret Anglesey.

64.22.29.6.13.20.27.4924

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Probabilities.

South-easterly to southerly winds, showery to-night and on Sunday.

Drunk Arrested.

Alfred Cooney was arrested to-day at noon for being drunk and disorderly.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149. Peterborough Messenger Service. 345 1-2 George street.

Steamers Here.

The Monarch arrived from Rice Lake this morning and will depart at 4 o'clock. The Rainbow is also an arrival of this morning.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carton, C. J. Carroll.

Auction Sale.

—Auction Sale on Market Square on Saturday—Two Top Buggies, Furniture, Cooking and other stoves; Sewing Machine, Furniture, Crockery etc.—J. Haggart ,Auctioneer.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 495, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE, Bell 'phone 87 and 19. Machine telephone 48. 340 George street.

Applying For Letters.

"The Trusts & Guarantee Company, Limited, Toronto, are applying for letters of administration in the Estate of K. A. McNiel, of the town of Napanee, in the Province of Ontario.

This Estate consists of cash in bank, stocks, mortgages and real estate."

Something That Lasts.

"Purity" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

The Rose Oven.

For gas, gasoline and oil stoves. You can save one-half your gas bills by using a Rose oven on top burner of gas range. Every one guaranteed, made with patent glass doors or polished steel doors, or with oven thermometers, in various sizes, and sold as low as $1.50 up. Call and see them. The F. B. J. MacPherson Co'y Limited, 341 George street.

Large Shipment of Oil.

Seven carloads of oil arrived in the city yesterday. This will be distributed on the city thoroughfares for the purpose of keeping down the dust. This is considered to be the best and least offensive smelling grade of oil that has been used here yet.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 703 Water street, manufactured all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases, store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, hash cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British plate glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Open For Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 666 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lament, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c. for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25.; 3 cans of Lambard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 466—161 Hunter street west.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

Prof. Dorenwend, of Toronto, begs to announce that he will be at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911, with a complete display of the newest London, Paris and New York creations. You are invited to call and inspect his goods.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. John Duncan, of Toronto, is at the Munro House.

Mr. John Connor, of Walkerton, is registered at the Oriental.

Mr. H. D. Armstrong, of Port Hope, is staying at the Oriental.

Mr. C. Bancroft, of London, England, is a guest at the Oriental.

Mr. R. S. Duncan of Port Hope, is registered at the Hotel National.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall returned last night from a delightful three weeks' sojourn in the Bermudas.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

"The Very Best" Hardwood. Cut and Split to Order. The Ontario Seal Co., Limited

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND

A hearty invitation is extended to men and youths over 18 to attend a short series of addresses on the History of the Church of England, by the Rev. Charles Carpenter in the upper vestry of St. John's church on Sunday afternoons at 3 p.m., commencing to-morrow, April 30th.

Try

Red Rose Tea and you will find the same fine flavor and tempered strength that has kept it the tea of quality since 1894. It's mellow richness will show you why

RED ROSE TEA

Your Grocer Will Recommend It

INTERESTING LOCAL HISTORY

"Canadian Pamphlets" published in the year 1857, gives a most interesting history of the town of Peterborough down to that date. It says:

The town of Peterborough is situated at the north-east corner of the township of Monaghan. As already stated it was first located in the year 1818, and the survey was completed in 1825, so that it may be said to be but little over a quarter of a century old. It is built on a beautiful spot, the ground gently sloping from the west to the Otonabee river. Near the centre of the town stands the knoll, upon which is erected the Court House. In front of the building is a reservation of six acres which is appropriated as a public park for the use of the town. The river Otonabee bounds the town on the east, and is crossed by a substantial bridge, erected by the Government in 1846. The river is very broad in front of the town and is picturesquely studded with islets covered with beautiful trees. Immediately above the bridge are numerous dams and timber slides, erected for the mills on each side of the river; and the scenic effects of these artificial waterfalls is very fine. Below the town the river winds, and forms what is called "Little Lake," upon a corner of the main land opposite the town, jutting into which, stands the Little Lake cemetery.

In the year 1852, when the last census was taken, the town of Peterborough had a population of only 1800. This has steadily increased since, until by a special census taken this year the population is found to be 3,500. This, however, gives an inadequate idea of the actual population of the place. The limits of the town are unfortunately very circumscribed, and a large portion of the population of what to the stranger would be regarded as the town of Peterborough, resides without its limits, and are, therefore, not reckoned in the census. Taking in the mills belonging to Messrs. Hurst & Denny to the north, the park lots to the west and south, and the "Scotch Village" to the east, all of which it is expected will before long be included within the limits of the town, the population cannot be much under 5,000.

The Town's Future.

The great feature about Peterborough, that upon which the hopes of its inhabitants for its future prosperity depend, is the immense water power furnished by the Otonabee river. From the town up the river for about ten miles, there is a fall of not less than 200 feet, furnishing upwards of 84,000 horse power. A statement in detail of the mills and their capacity, will be found elsewhere. In the immediate vicinity of the town there are saw mills capable of cutting 325,000 feet of lumber a day. There are four excellent flour mills, capable of manufacturing 370 barrels of flour a day. Two extensive axe and tool factories. Two large foundries and machine shops, and a number of smaller ones. A large waggon shop, fitted up with all the labour saving appliances and a number of lesser ones. Shingle factories, planing mills, cabinet shops, sash, blind and door factories — in a word all the requisites of a larger manufacturing town.

The general spearance of Peterborough is highly attractive. During the last few years a number of very fine buildings have been erected, and a number are now in course of erection. Among them is a school house, estimated to cost when completed $30,000, a new brick Presbyterian church, to cost $14,000. The Montreal bank have just completed, upon their property on Water street, facing the market square, a very handsome brick building, for an agency, at a cost of $12,000. A new town hall is to be erected, estimated to cost $60,000, the by-law authorizing the erection having been passed by the Council last fall. A large first-class hotel, erected by E. Burnham, Esq., is in course of completion, and is expected to be opened this autumn. There are six churches in the town, belonging to the Episcopal, the church of Scotland, the Wesleyan, the Baptist, the Bible Christian, and the Roman Catholic denominations. The Episcopal and Roman Catholic churches are very substantial stone buildings, the first erected upon the knoll before alluded to, near the Court House, and commanding a beautiful view of the Otonabee River, and the latter upon the rising ground in rear of the town.

What it Possesses.

Altogether Peterborough possesses all the elements of an important manufacturing town. The immense water power supplied by the Otonabee river, and the large timber districts in the rear of the town, offer facilities for manufacturing such as are possessed by few communities in the Province. With the railway facilities now possessed by the town, the cost method of ingress and egress, with the improvements which are going on in the interior country in the rear of us, the rapid settlement of the hitherto unsurveyed and almost unexplored country, and the improvements lately made in the navigation of the back waters — the prospects of the town are flattering in the extreme.

Scrofula cured by Miller's Compound Iron Pills. Wm. Madill.

Have "Good" Scranton Seal, "The Very Best". The Ontario Seal Co. Limited.

W.C.T.U. MEETING

An interesting meeting of the W. C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon in the old library building. Dr. Burnham gave a very lucid and educative address, relative to the training of school children, to a higher moral standing.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Rexall Drug Co., S. Cochrane, Mgr.

Grant Is Made To Salvation Army Band

The City Finance Committee met last night, with the following members present: Ald. Anderson, Mayor Morrow, Ald. Metheral, and Ald. Duncan.

A letter was received from Mr. F. Adams, City Treasurer, asking the Committee to approve of the sale of debentures to the City Trust. It was moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by Ald. Meteral, that the sales of the Peterborough City Trust be approved and the offer accepted, and that the balance be disposed of by the Chairman and City Treasurer, at the best price obtainable.

It was moved by Mayor Morrow, and seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the Tax Collector be instructed to have the roll for 1910 returned by May 15th.

A letter was received from Ensign Merritt, of the Salvation Army, asking for a grant of $280 to the Salvation Army Band. Ald. Metheral moved, seconded by Mayor Morrow, that the usual grant of $150 be granted under the usual terms.

LOOK HERE! LOOK HERE!

Read! Read! Read!

Come and get your share of the great price reductions Saturday or Monday at the Home Furnishing Co.'s store, 208 Charlotte street, next Curling Rink. Read these few sample prices. Don't miss the bargains.

20 doz. Summer Blouses in silk chiffon, mull and lawn, at half price.
Handsome Silk Waists at ..... 1.98.
Fine Lawn Waists at ..... 39c.
Mull Waists, great sellers, at 49c.
Ladies' Summer Suits $11.98, worth $18.50.
Iron beds, brass trimmed, with bed springs and mattress for ..... $9.00.
Splendid Couches, $5.50 worth $8.00.
Splendid Couches $8.00, wirth $12.50
Handsome Davenports, $19.75, worth $30.00.
Refrigerators from $7.00 up.
Go-Carts, from $3.15 up.
Reed Baby Carriages, $16.50 up.
Everything in the store is brand new and we are offering at specially reduced prices for Saturday and Monday. Cash or credit.
THE HOME FURNISHING CO.
208 Charlotte St. Next Curling Rink.

NEW FIRM OF STOCK BROKERS

A new firm of stock brokers will open up in the course of a few days, doing business through Head & Co., Bankers and Brokers, of Toronto, and members of the New York and Boston Stock Exchange. It is almost two years since a wire has been in operation in Peterborough, and those at the back of the new firm feel that a reliable office should receive considerable business from the investing public in Peterborough.

Brass Fern DISHES

12 large brass fern dishes polished and scratched brass finish. Regular $3 to 3.50.

On Sale Saturday only

$1.98

See Samples in Window

DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

Warne's Extraordinary SATURDAY BARGAINS

TALCOLETTA
Flesh and White
Regular 35c for 25c

Violet de Lorme Toilet Soap
Reg. 25c per box of 3 cakes, for 15c

BEEF, IRON AND WINE 45c
Tonic and Builder

COURT PLASTER
Regular 5c per package
For 1c

PONSO
Blood Purifier and Tonic
45c

MACALIN DISINFECTANT
Regular 25c a tin
For 6c

THE WARNE DRUG CO'Y, LIMITED

Choose Your Baby Carriage
from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $30.00.

Benj. Shortly
Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

TO-DAY'S MARKET

To-day's market was well attended and prices were moderate. The principal products on the inside market were eggs and butter. The prices of the different products, were as follows:

Inside Market.

Butter—25c.
Eggs—17c.
Turkey (20 lbs.)—$3.50.
Chickens—20c.

Outside Market.

Piglets (6 weeks old)—$8 and $8.50.
Potatoes—$1.00.
Onions—$1.00 per bag.
Live hogs (market weak)—$6.00.
Farmers' hides—$7.00.
Butchers' hides—$7.50.
Baled hay—$14.00.
No loose hay was put on the market.
Pork—11c. and 12c.

Scarcely any beef was on the market and what was on was not selling very fast.

Maple Syrup—80c. per quart.

The Churches.

ANGLICAN.

St. John's Church.
REV. J. C. DAVIDSON, Rector
REV. CHARLES CARPENTER, Assistant.

Second Sunday after Easter.
Holy Communion, 8:30 a.m.
Matins and Sermon, 11 a.m.
Processional 627, "The Head that once was Crowned with Thorns."
Venite 7, Jubilate 16, 14, Benedictus 68, Office Hymn 622, "Thou are the Way."
Before Sermon 351, "Eternal Father."
Anthem, "King of Kings." Elmper.
Recessional 238, "Fling out the Banner."
Sunday School and Bible Classes, 3 p.m.
Class for Men and Youths in Upper Vestry at 3 p.m. Rev. Chas. Carpenter will give addresses on the "History of the Church of England."
Evensong and Sermon, 7 p.m.
Processional 469, "Angel Voices."
Responses, Tallis. Psalm sung to chants 63, 118, 2.
Magnificat 174, Nunc Dimittis 76.
Office Hymn 607, "To the Name of Our Salvation."
Before Sermon 364, "Jesus, My Saviour."
Anthem "O Death, Where is thy Sting."
Recessional 291, "King of Saints, We Offer."

St. Luke's Church.

Sunday, April 23rd.
Morning service—11 o'clock—The Ven. Archdeacon Warren.
Sunday School and Bible Class, 3 o'clock afternoon.
Evening Service, 7 o'clock—The Ven. Archdeacon Warren.

All Saints Church
REV. H. R. TRUMPOUR, M.A., B.D., Rector.

1st Sunday after Easter.
9.30—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon—
1—Sunday School.
3—Rector's Men's Bible Class
3—Mr. Simon's Ladies' Bible Class.
4.30—Holy Baptism.
7—Evening Prayer and Sermon.

ROMAN CATHOLIC

St. Peter's Cathedral.

There will be three masses celebrated: At 6 a.m., Low Mass; at 9.15 a.m., Children's Mass; at 10.30 a.m., High Mass; at 7 p.m., Vespers, with sermon

METHODIST.

Charlotte Street Methodist.
REV. G. W. HENDERSON, PASTOR

10 a.m.—The Class Meeting.
11 a.m.—Preacher, Rev. C. B. Coon.
2.30 p.m.—The Sunday School and the Men's Bible Class.
7 p.m.—The Pastor.
Monday 8 p.m.—Interesting Session of the Epworth League.
Wednesday, 3 p.m.—Prayer, Praise, Bible Study. 7 p.m.—S. School Lesson Preparation.

George Street Methodist.
REV. ISAAC COUCH, M.A., B.D., PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Class Meetings.
11 a.m.—The Pastor will preach.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—The Minister will Preach.
Monday Evening, 8 o'clock Epworth League.

Mark Street Methodist
REV. C. N. COON, PASTOR.

10 a.m.—Class Meetings.
11 a.m.—Morning Service.
2.45—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Subject: "The Golden Rule, or The Law of Christian Ethics."

St. James Methodist.

11 a.m.—Class Meetings.
11 a.m.—Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and reception of members.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
7 p.m.—Evening Worship.
Monday, 8 p.m.—Epworth League.
Wednesday, 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Knox Church
REV. H. J. KEITH, B.D., M.A., PASTOR.

Congregational Prayer Meeting at 10.30 a.m. in Brotherhood Room.
11 a.m.—Morning Service. Subject of Sermon—"The Kingdom of Heaven."
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School in the Brotherhood Room.
3 p.m.—Sabbath School and Bible Classes in the Lecture Hall.
At 7 p.m.—The morning will be attended by the Independent Order of Oddfellows. The congregation will meet at 6.30 p.m. Those who have not sent in their interest assessment to the Treasurer, Mr. W. J. Byers are urged to do so at once, or not later than to-morrow. Envelopes will be placed in the pews for this purpose.

St. Paul's Church.
REV. ROBERT POGUE, PASTOR.

10.30 a.m.—Congregational Prayer Meeting.
11 a.m.—Morning Worship. Continuation of studies in the Epistle of the Philippians.
2.30 p.m.—Sabbath School.
7.00 p.m.—Evening Worship.
Rev. Duncan Sillars of Edinburgh is expected to address a mass meeting for the young, and others, in our day School. It is hoped also, that he will take charge of the evening service. As Mr. Sillars' boat only arrives this afternoon in Montreal, definite announcement cannot be made until the morning service.

St. Andrew's Church.
REV. JAS. ROLLINS, B.A., MINISTER

11 a.m.—Divine Service. The Minister will Preach.
2 p.m.—Sunday School. Young Men's Bible Class, Mr. Nicholson, teacher. Young Women's Bible Class, Mr. Kerr, teacher.
7 p.m.—Divine Service. The Minister will preach. Subject: "An old Testament Heroine." Seats free. Strangers welcome.

BAPTIST

Murray Street Baptist Church
REV. J. R. WEBB, PASTOR.

11 a.m.—Pastor Preaching Subject:—"The Believer's Resurrection."
2 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Pastor Preaching: "The Influence of the Resurrection thought."

PARK STREET BAPTIST CHURCH
REV. W. C. RIDDIFORD, PASTOR

Special Missionary Address by Senor Ray, P.E.G.S., of Bolivia.
Services at 11 a.m.; 3 p.m.; and 7 p.m.
Missionary Address with limelight views on Monday.
Admission 10c and 15c.
Wednesday, Prayer Meeting.

Gospel Hall.

11 a.m.—The Lord's Supper.
3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Class.
4.45 p.m.—Open-air Song Service.
7 p.m.—Gospel Service. Subject: "There is Wrath Now to Come."
Hosier's Meeting for Prayer, Thursday Afternoon, 3 o'clock.
Regular Prayer Meeting, Wednesday Night.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST
276 Aylmer Street.

Services as follows: Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.; Sunday School, 12.15 p.m.
Reading Room, same address, open Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, from 3 to 5 p.m., free to the public. All welcome.
Subject for Sunday, April 30th, "Everlasting Punishment."

Salvation Army Temple

7 a.m., Early morning prayer service.
9.45 a.m., Bible Class.
11 a.m., Holiness address.
3 p.m., Sunday School.
3 p.m., Public Song and Praise Service.
7 p.m. Public Salvation Meeting.
The band will be in attendance at the morning afternoon and evening services, and will render special music.
Invitation is extended to everyone. Bring your friends.
Wednesday evening at 8 p.m., private soldiers' meeting.

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost—10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept it as gospel, the verdict—
ROSE LEAF
10c. Cigar—Other Brands

VOL L No. 101 PETERBOROUGH MONDAY MAY 1 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

PROBS—Winds increasing to strong northerly to northwesterly, showery; much colder Tuesday.

Robt. Fair & Co.
Limited

Special Sale of Beautiful Lace Curtains Fancy Curtain Nets Scrims, Madras Muslins

The prices on these lines have been cut to such an extent, owing to the late Spring, that it is like giving money a new purchasing value. It is making every dollar worth a dollar and a third or a dollar and a half. Can't afford to miss it.

Bungalow Nets
In ivory and ecru, 42 inches wide. Regular price 50c, for 35c

Casement Nets
In white and Arab, 44 inches wide. Regular value 75c yard, for 60c

French Two Tone Casement Nets
48 inches wide. Regular value 95c yard, for 65c

Heavy French Curtain Scrim
With drawn work insertion in ecru, 44 inches wide. Regular value 90c, for 75c

Georgian Cloths
The new fancy fabric for curtains and drapes, 36 inches wide. Per yard 25c

Fancy Art Scrims
With plain centres and 9 inch fancy coloured border 35c

Coloured Scotch Madras
In artistic design and colour. 48 inches wide. Regular price 60c yard, for 43c

Madras Curtain Material
Plain cream figured, 44 inches wide. Regular price 35c, for 23c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in small neat designs. Regular value 75c pair, for 59c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in fancy scrim designs. Regular value $1.25, for 89c

French Net Curtains
Perfect copy of Battenberg design. Regular value $5 00 the pair, for $3.75

THE BEST ADVERTISEMENT This Store Ever Had Has Been The Goods We Have Sold

WE HAVE always believed that small profits would make a big business. Our new Spring Merchandise exhibits in a marked degree what values can be offered when the dealer is looking to his future, and considers, first of all, the customer's satisfaction.

Our new Spring Shower and Waterproof Coats will win your trade if you see them, and hold your trade if you wear them. We show these in all the new weaves and colourings at $5.00 to $15.00. Be prepared for a rainy day, perhaps you need only an Umbrella. We show plain and spring-opening Umbrellas at 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50. Drop in and see if you don't think you can do better here than anywhere else.

H. LeBrun & Co.
The Style Store for Men and Boys

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

ROYAL
Two Special Vaudeville Acts

T. W. COGSWIN & CO.
in A Comedy Sketch—
"Who Is He?"

Dorothy Weaver
Singing Comedienne and Wooden Shoe Dancer

These two Acts come to the Royal direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, and should prove pleasing to all lovers of good, clean, refined amusement.

Motion Pictures
Complete change of Motion Pictures for to-night, including one of the Biograph's latest and best Dramatic films, "The Broken Cross," a most beautifully told picture story. Also one of Edison's latest and funniest Comedies, "The Resurrection of John," and three other pictures.

Remember, the Royal is the coolest place to go to in the evenings. There are six big electric ceiling fans and one large suction fan going at all times when needed.

ADMISSION :
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

Princess

Special New Pictures To-day

"Caught With the Goods"
One of Essanay's latest and best Comedies, showing the hero going to jail for 30 days, making his wife think he is in Mexico, and then his return. It is some fun.

"Zululand"
One of Selig's great Dramas of Central Africa, showing scenes of hair breadth escapes from wild animals.

"Father's Birthday Ring"
One of Lubin Co's. latest and best comedy dramas.

"Woman's Curiosity"
One of the funniest comedies ever seen on a picture curtain.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Now is the Time to Bring Them To Us
Before the summer sun gets in its work. Remember every child will be reproduced in the "Christmas Examiner."

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
Always get Roy's famous souvenir post cards

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store

Just Received—A New Supply of LADIES' & CHILDREN'S HATS

Every one the very latest in style. Our Trimmed Hats a specialty. Come and see the prettiest Millinery in town. You can buy your Summer Hat cheaper here than elsewhere.

SPRING SUITS AND COATS for Ladies and Gents
All made up-to-date in the present day styles.

You will need some new things for the home, now the housecleaning time is here. Come and see what you require in the way of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains, etc.

We will be pleased to show you our new stock. Come and open up an account with us. A small deposit and easy terms to suit your convenience.

432 George St. Phone 567

The Business World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES
Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES
Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON, - President

THE FIRST DROWNING OF THE SEASON
LITTLE EDDIE TAYLOR LOSES HIS LIFE

Nine Year Old Boy Loses His Footing While Crossing Locks Dam —Falls Into the River and is Carried Away by the Turbulent Waters.

BODY NOT RECOVERED

The first drowning accident of the season occurred on Saturday evening when little Eddie Taylor, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Weir street, fell from the locks dam and lost his life in the swiftly flowing water of the Otonabee.

The river is at its height now, and is rushing over the locks dam in a manner that would give the strongest swimmer very little chance to escape, and although the accident was witnessed by several people, they were unable to do anything to help the unfortunate little fellow, who was swept away and disappeared in the turbulent waters below the dam.

Eddie and his two brothers Fred and Oliver, who are a few years older, had been fishing for suckers at the locks. They had been operating at the east side of the river, but shortly after seven, Fred and Oliver started for the west side and Eddie followed them, carrying a bag over his shoulder containing about twenty fish. He was seen to stumble and before the spectators of the accident could realize what had happened, he toppled and fell from the dam into the water. He was carried away with lightning rapidity and disappeared before any plan for rescue could be formulated.

So far the body has not been recovered although search parties have been at work all day yesterday and today. The swiftness of the current makes the work difficult and it may be some time before the body can be located.

The sympathy of the community will be extended to the bereaved family, who seem to be particularly unfortunate. A few years ago, one of the [illegible] taken off, and the father has been ill for some time. The little fellow is survived by his parents and six brothers, Willie, Alfred, Ben, Fred, Phillip and Oliver, all living at home.

BUT THEY WON'T KEEP QUIET.
and as long as those Moon College graduates keep on telling their friends so long we must expect 30-day Shorthand to invade our camp.

SENOR RAY AT PARK ST. CHURCH

All those who were privileged to listen to the thrilling missionary addresses yesterday, given by Senor Ray of Bolivia, at Park street Baptist church, must have been deeply impressed by the great need of the simple gospel of Jesus Christ in South America. Mr. Ray depicted this need in very realistic terms.

This evening he will give a missionary exhibit and also a grand lantern lecture on South America. One should come and hear him. This is one of the finest lectures of its kind in America. The lecture relates facts and not fancies, of life among the savages. Don't forget to come to-night.

One of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co. steamers will leave Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train from Peterboro on Tuesday, May 2nd for the Lakes. 2d-100

TWO BURNED TO DEATH IN THE BANGOR FIRE

Thousands of Homeless People Spent the Night on the Streets Sheltered Only by Blankets, But the Incoming Trains To-day Are Bringing Tents and Food for the Sufferers.

Special to The Examiner

BANGOR, MAINE, MAY 1.—It is assured now that the only casualities in the six million dollar fire which wiped out a third of the city last night were, two burned to death while asleep and a dozen or more firemen and citizens slightly hurt by falling timbers. Thousands of homeless people spent the night on streets, sheltered only by blankets and sheets. The incoming trains this morning are bringing food and tents for the sufferers.

FEDERATION OF LABOUR WILL UNDERTAKE DEFENCE

Special to The Examiner.

INDIANAPOLIS, INT., MAY 1. — Samuel Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labour held a secret conference this morning with forty leading labour presidents, when it was decided that the executive of the Federation would take charge of the McNamara defence funds to be raised by contributions from the various Unions of the United States and Canada.

CONSERVATIVE CRITICIZES OPPOSITION TACTICS

Ottawa, April 30.—The threatened extreme obstructive tactics of the Opposition with regard to reciprocity do not appeal to that stalwart Halifield, who is at present in Ottawa. Mr. Brockfield was one of Mr. Borden's nominators at the last general election and his status in the party is not questioned.

"I am unable to understand the Opposition," he said on Saturday. "If reciprocity is such a bad thing and so unpopular in the country as they allege, why do they not allow the Government to go ahead and hang itself? The general elections are only a little more than a year off at any event, and if what the Conservatives declare is true the Government would be defeated on the issue. It and not the Opposition must accept the responsibility. Personally I think the [illegible] Nova Scotia and the country generally.

"I think it most regrettable that by reason of the fight of reciprocity still being kept up here Sir Wilfrid Laurier is likely to be kept from the Imperial Conference. His attendance there is indispensable."

Mr. Brockfield expresses an opinion that is widely held by many prominent Conservatives like imself, who have privately expressed their dissent from the policy now embarked on by the Opposition.

Cars Were Derailed
Accident On The G.T.R.

At 5 o'clock this morning an east bound G.T.R. freight with a load of grain, five miles west of Peterborough encountered a broken rail. This did not affect the engine but eight or nine of the hindermost cars were thrown off the line.

On account of this the flyer and the 8.30 train were forced to travel via Millbrook on the old track.

The auxiliaries are now busy replacing the cars.

Trainmaster McMillan arrived at Peterborough at 2.10, having cleared the track.

200 Boy Scouts May Be Sent To Coronation

OTTAWA, APRIL 29.—To consider a proposal to send 200 representative Canadian boy scouts over to England in time for the coronation was the object of a meeting of the Dominion council of the movement, which took place at government house to-day.

The original plan, and that proposed by the British organization, was that the colonial boys should arrive just in time for a monster scout rally to take place in London on July 4. The Dominion authorities, however, are of the opinion that Canadians will give more support if the boys are going to be present at the coronation ceremony.

Must See Sight.

"The parents of the boys who are to go insist that they should be given an opportunity to see the coronation," said Mr. H. E. Hammond, provincial secretary of the movement. "It is possible that they could go over before June 22, and remain in London until the rally," he added.

Speaking on the progress of the movement generally in Canada, Mr. Hammond said the chief difficulty was for the authorities to keep track of its growth and the new hands being organized in different places.

WILL MAKE STATEMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, MAY 1.— The name of Hon. Frank Oliver having already been mentioned in the Toronto World as the man referred to in the graft charges in Toronto Telegram, it is stated in some circles that he will make a statement on the subject in the house this afternoon. After a long caucus this morning, twelve announced that there would be no let up on the part of the Liberals in the reciprocity fight. Opposition forces here are now strengthened by Hon. W. J. Bowair, of British Columbia and Hon. Robert Rogers, Manitoba.

FIGHT A BITTER ONE

Examiner Special:

OTTAWA, ONT. MAY 1.—There is no indication of any ending of the parliamentary dead lock over reciprocity. Indeed, the members who have been away for the week end have come back this morning are full of fight as when they went away and it is asserted on both sides that there will be no surrender, but that the fight will be kept on to the bitter [illegible]

THINKING OF A Kodak Camera?

If you are, just stop and think where you can get the best for your money.

McDermid & Jury carry a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Cameras and it is this year as in the past, Eastman's are head and shoulders above their competitors. If you get an Eastman you get the best possible.

We carry the largest stock of amateur goods in the city. Our films and papers are always fresh.

If you would like any information or want any developing or printing done, consult the head of the department.

Any size roll developed for 10c

McDermid & Jury
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
Corner George and Charlotte Sts.

KNEW NOTHING OF MURDERS

Woman Prisoner Among the Camorrists Testifies

Special to The Examiner.

VIERBO, ITALY, BAY 1. — Maria Steneardo, the lone woman prisoner among the Camorrists on trial for murder, was a witness to-day when the court resumed after two weeks' interruption, owing to the illness of juryman. Stenearde is one of the most beautiful Italian women. She told of her adventurous life and sundry conferences, socially, in her house, but declared she knew and heard nothing of murders.

REVOLUTION SPREADING

Special to The Examiner.

HONG KONG, MAY 1. — Advices from Canton this morning indicate that the revolution is spreading and the loyal troops are unable to cope with it. The rebels have captured several towns and there is much pillaging and murder going on.

Tiger cleans soiled hands instantly.

$10,000 FOR 12 GAMES

Special to The Examiner :

VANCOUVER, B.C., MAY 1.—Tommy Burns, formerly heavyweight champion pugilist of the world has signed his contract with Con Jones to play at least twelve games with the Vancouver lacrosse team this season for ten thousand dollars.

HEALING POWER A MARVEL

So remarkable is the healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment that the results of a single application are often a marvel to persons who witness them for the first time. Mrs. O. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., tells how her son was cured of blood poisoning which got started in a wound received at a threshing. Relief was prompt and cure effected by three boxes.

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by those particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are tordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurasis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Grad. D. O. Toronto — Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

In three out of ten, prompt relief and quick, often lasting follow the use of

Mecca Ointment

For cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, sores, boils, abscess, scrofulous, ringworm, it is always used by those who have once tried it. 25c. All Druggists.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 380 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

E. H. CLEVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

MONDAY, MAY 1, 1911

WHERE THE BEST IS DEMANDED

The matter of building and food inspection is one in which the requirements for Caesar's wife should rule—be "above suspicion." Other elements than strict, unbending and incorruptible integrity, and first-rate efficiency may, without such terrible results, enter into the appointment and character of other inspectors. If, through influence, favour, or other consideration we appoint an inefficient and dishonest street inspector, the chief results are bad streets and waste of money, which do not involve loss of life. Hamilton has a sewer scandal. A contractor laid a sewer that lets sand in at the joints—a la our own Romaine street sewer—and, it is said, that two controllers instructed the City Engineer to be "easy on the contractor." This is simply waste of money—a premium on scamping work, with no peril, except perhaps remotely to health or life. But a building inspector, or plumbing inspector should be chosen by merit. The recent disaster in Montreal, in which defective inspection led to evasion of building regulations and this to imminent loss of life, is a case in point. In buildings where work is covered, defective construction, defective plumbing and defective sanitary provision can easily be performed unless subject to progressive and vigilant inspection. Where risk of health and danger of health are incurred, there cannot be too rigid inspection. A civic body assumes a terrible responsibility if in appointing inspectors, it yields to any other consideration than competency, honesty, thoroughness and incorruptibility in the appointee. These qualities should be the one determining factor, the only recommendation.

THE DUTY OF THE TIME.

The Globe in the following article, puts its finger upon a tender spot in our national life, present and future:

The twofold problem of Canada to-day, from the point of view of citizenship, is the maintenance of its moral standards and the assimilation of its new people. Of all the mental diseases that afflict a young nation none is more dangerous in its consequences than the craze for population. It seems to be as contagious as smallpox or scarlet fever. One city raises the slogan, "So many people in 1915." and immediately all other aspiring cities take up the cry. But in the last analysis the craze for numbers is a mere delusion. A mass of unassimilated, uneducated, unmoralized people, exploited by a few masterful captains of industry, do not make a nation. However democratic the form of such a people's government may be, in reality it is a government by interests. Government can never be democratic in reality until the people have arrived at self-consciousness through education and social assimilation, and the chief problem of Canada to-day, from the point of view of citizenship, is not to fill up its vacant places, but to assimilate and educate its ever-increasing army of immigrants.

Among the voluntary agencies for this work of education and assimilation none is more interesting than the Reading Camp Association, whose tenth annual report has just come to hand. Naturally the two points where the poor, uncultivated foreigner comes most into contact with our civilization is in the slums of the larger cities, and in the mining, lumber and railway construction camps on the frontier. In the cities the public school reaches the children of the foreigner, and through the child assimilates to a greater or less degree the parents. But no such agency exists on the frontier. The adult there must be dealt with directly or not be reached at all. There are approximately 350,000 men, mostly foreigners, working in the frontier camps of Canada, and the State makes no effort whatsoever to teach these men our language, our history, our political ideals, or the working of our institutions. For various reasons, denominational and otherwise, the churches can do little for them. Until recent years no one seemed to care much either for the body or soul of the frontiersman. His labour-power was exploited to the uttermost by the contractor, he was preyed on by the liquor seller, he was duped by those who sold him supplies, but no effort was made to instruct him or make him a sober, decent, intelligent citizen.

The reading Camp Association in an attempt to meet the needs of this class of men. It has been in operation for ten years and every year its workers feel increasing confidence in the worth and practicability of its mission. It supplies reading tents or camps or cars, according to circumstances; furnishes these as tastefully as possible; provides papers, magazines, gramophones, games, etc.; places a student from some one of our universities in charge of each camp; teaches the foreigner to speak, read and write our language—in a word, tries to surround the frontiersman with a few of the advantages of civilized life and fill his empty hours with wholesome entertainment and useful elementary instruction. The success of the work so far justifies the insight and judgment of its founder, Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, and should commend the work to every public spirited citizen of Canada.

The above article indicates only a very small part of the problem. We have a far more numerous and important work of civilization and assimilation to do in our great northwest. This region is rapidly filling with a population cosmopolitan in character. A large proportion of this new population is a stranger to the conditions and requirements of civilization as we know it is Canada; and far more in need of enlightenment, instruction and uplift than many of the class with which the foregoing article deals.

Unattended to, neglected and allowed to develop and transplant among our population the undesirable characteristics in which it was reared in its home land, this element of our new population—it cannot be called citizenship—is an element of danger, too evident to require demonstration. To meet this menace two things are needed. We must have education, to give knowledge of the conditions, duties and requirements of civilized citizenship; and we must have religion to create and excite the sense of responsibility in respect of the fulfilment of these duties. One need, education, meet this menace two things are needfalls within the province of the church. In Canada we have no organic connection between church and state, but a very decided moral connection and interrelation. We may educate our new people, but without the compementary element, the moral element, we have only supplied the smaller part of the need. The Layman's missionary movement bulks largely in the field of moral enterprise, and constitutes a tremendous moral force. But it is open to question whether this force, in Canada, is directed in the direction that Canadian conditions urgently demand. Foreign missions, are a duty that cannot be neglected, but Home Missions in Canada have the first call. The command to preach the gospel to the heathen, literally interpreted, in a splendid abstraction, but to us in this country there is concrete quality in the process—"beginning in Jerusalem." Our Jerusalem is at our doors, and it seems that our first responsibility is to our home missions. These are needed to implant in our new population the principles of Christianity, upon which the highest, and only real and enduring civilization is based. So shall our new citizens become and be a benign, and not corrupting, element in our population.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The Ontario Educationalists," says the Brantford Expositor, "placed themselves on record to the effect that the formation of a good manners circle in each class in school would be of great advantage." It would be, if the teacher were the centre of the "circle" in the way of both precept and example.

The Windsor Record says: "Enlighten the child at a proper age. If parents will not do it, the school is the right place. Banish false modesty." This is sensible. Why should the origin of human life be made such a forbidden mystery. Even the natural curiosity of very small children might be satisfied by a diplomatic version of the truth and not be put off by fables and monstrously absurd falsehoods, to be dispelled in after years by possibly depraved and corrupt enlighteners.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops dropping in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co. Toronto.

How Professional Economists Differ In Matter Of Reciprocity

(London Advertiser)

On the reciprocity question even the doctors disagree, as on most other questions indeed. Professor Leacock, of McGill, is the academic champion of the Anti-Reciprocity League. Professor Skelton, of Queen's, calmly gives deliberate judgment in favour of this agreement. There are doctors and doctors. Professor Leacock, quite as much a humorist as an economist, in close touch with the small coterie of Montreal capitalists, who vie with Toronto in frenzied antagonism to the agreement, finds an excellent opportunity, not so much for seinsig and stating the economic truth of the matter as for taking up a sensational position, challenging public wonder, performing a more or less motley action for the grandstand. Every university of any magnitude boasts such professors as this, a refined opera bouffe variety which blends laughter and bravado, lights up a measure of comic truth with stage fire, and mingles all without a plan.

Professor Skelton, on the other hand, is an equally indispensable member of a fully-equipped faculty, the man of solid judgment and sober utterance, who seeks not to present a corner of the truth in red lights, but scientifically to set forth whole matter viewed from all angles.

In the current number of the Queen's Quarterly, Professor Skelton surveys dispassionately the reciprocity discussion of the last three months. He sees it steadily and sees it whole. What sort of reply, fit to present to a serious university class, can Professor Leacock make to this thorough and massive analysis of the question and its answers?

"If there is one aim in which there is unanimity among the world's nations. . . . it is the ceaseless endeavour to find new outlets for their products. . . . If, again, there is one market which Canada has persistently sought to enter, it is the market of the United States, as the history of nearly a dozen negotiations testifies." Professor Skelton then goes on to note the extreme reaction on the part of the opponents of the pact to a refusal of the American market altogether. The opponents of reciprocity are the men who hold most strongly the exports should exceed imports, but now refuse to allow our balance of trade with the United States to be redressed.

The Canadian producer is sure to gain. "Compared with the gains," says Professor Skelton, "the losses are of little magnitude". The consumer also stands to gain: "where a manufacturing stage intervenes between primary producer and consumer, and where the manufacturer, whether miller or pork-packer, was already charging the highest price the tariff on his finished product would permit, it is possible that both producer and consumer will gain at the expense of the not over-small profit of the middleman. The consumer, too, may hope to gain by the lengthening of the season. Commerce is a game in which one's gain is not necessarily any other's loss."

As to the conservative plea, the eminent writer points out that "to forego present markets for reproducible products of farm or forest or sea now going to ecenonomic waste, is not conversation, but imbecility."

The annexation bogey is convincingly disposed of. "If some blatant southern Democrat declares to-day that reciprocity will lead to annexation, sixty years ago wiser southern Democrats voted for reciprocity to prevent annexation and the addition of a tier of anti-slavery states to the union. If trade intercourse involves political union, how is it that the twenty years in which our imports from the United States have doubled each decade are precisely the twenty years which national and imperial sentiment has been mounting highest?" "Queen Anne is dead and the war of 1776 over." "Two events in the republic to the south have revealed sharply the weaknesses of its constitutions. The first is the holding of the extra session of Congress, displaying the conflicting powers of President, the two Houses, and the people. The second is the declaration by the court of appeals of New York that the Workmen's Compensation Act recently passed by that state is unconstitutional." Will Canadians have anything to do with such a political system?

Some other points are tersely and vigorously made, and the whole situation viewed with a masterly eye. The article is in strong contrast to the hysterics and heroics of Professor Leacock.

USEFUL THINGS AS CORONATION SOUVENIRS

Coronation souvenirs of all sorts are being shown in London. Some already have made their way to this country, and others undoubtedly will follow. Coronation colours are with us already. Coronation jewelry, spoons, laces, etc. are novelties we may look for.

Queen Mary, with her simple housewifely tastes, is a difficult person to exploit as an originator of fads. Some of the manufacturers have solved the problem by adopting china. Queen Mary being very fond of it and much interested in those handsome collections in Windsor castle which Queen Victoria assembled during her long life. Coronation china appears in every grade of china and in all sorts of pieces from cups and saucers to serviceable bedroom sets. The British lion or the arms of Great Britain appear on some, while the interlaced monograms of the King and Queen adorn others. One bedroom set is decorated with gold lions rampant on a white background, shamrocks for good luck forming a scattered decoration.

In jewellery there are pins, brooches, hat pins, bracelets and pendants of various different styles. One enterprising London firm has produced a new "Empire" brooch or pendant with an original design registered by themselves. The enamelled centre, which is reversible shows the two hemispheres, with the colonies tinted red. Surrounding this is a garter bearing the words: "Survey the Empire, 1911." and outside is a pretty design introducing the rose, thistle and shamrock, while at the top is the King's coronet, and at the sides the letters G. R. This may be had in plain gold or beautifully enamelled and set in diamonds. Another somewhat similar style, but not so expensive, is beautifully finished in green and yellow gold, but without the reversible centre.

Other effective and appropriate yet inexpensive novelties are little pincushions which are an exact model of the King's crown in sterling silver gilt with the red velvet forming the pincushion. The same design is used for other souvenirs, notably for hatpins.

The anointing spoon is copied in every size and may be had in gold or silver, as saltspoons, brooches, watch-charms, etc., and at all prices, from one shilling up.

Many pretty designs in brooches show the King's initials, G.R., while the date is also frequently used, as well as the royal motto and coat of arms.

If your hands could talk, they would ask for Tiger Hand Cleaner.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION

For the next Homeseekers' excursion on May 2nd, the Grand Trunk Railway will operate a through Pullman tourist car, Toronto to Winnipeg and Edmonton via Chicago, St. Paul and G.T.P., leaving Toronto at 11 p.m. Rates, berths, etc., the same as via other route. No trouble with customs, transfer, etc. Reserve berth early from B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, 334 George street.

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE.

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Ross, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $4,355,514.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,635,036.65
Surplus $1,719,477.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro, March 17th, 1911.

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 623

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-291
Tel. Machine 270.
124 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 283.

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio
Ground Floor. 170 Charlotte st

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Peterborough.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JOHN CHESNEY, late of the Township of Harvey, in the County of Peterborough, Farmer, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN Pursuant to R.S.O. 1897, Chapter 129, Section 38, that all Persons having Claims against the Estate of the late JOHN CHESNEY, who died on or about the 15th day of March, 1911, are required to send by post prepaid or to deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for the Administrator on or before the 25th day of May, 1911, their names, addresses and descriptions and a full statement and particulars of their claims and the nature of the security (if any) held by them duly verified and after the said date the assets of the said Estate will be distributed among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which the said Administrator shall then have notice.

Dated this 21st day of April, A.D. 1911.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
116 Hunter Street, Peterborough
Solicitors for the Administrator
4d-mon-95-4916

IT IS EASY TO OWN A

SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.

J. W. Stewart, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 672 Stewart St. 12d-99-679

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to 'Travellers' Dept. 228 Albert St. Ottawa. d-6mos-93-3494

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—NIGHT PORTER, APPLY NATIONAL. 3d-101-5034

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED—FIRST CLASS PAINTER, BEST wages. Apply W. J. Koster, 574 Charlotte. 1d-5037

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons, $25.00 weekly, job guaranteed $15 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1703, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-81-4623

WANTED AT ONCE A LIVE REPRESENTATIVE for Peterboro and district. A permanent position with liberal inducements for the right party. Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto. 6d-101-5w-18-5043

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help. FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 321 George Street. 1md-8-4701

HELP WANTED—Female

GIRLS WANTED FOR LAMP DEPARTment of C.G.E. Apply Gate House. 3d-103-5019

WANTED—CAPABLE MIDDLE AGED WOman as general servant. Small family. Apply to Miss Sherry, 105 McDonnel St. 4d-103-5027

GIRLS WANTED—A GIRL FOR UPSTAIR work, and one for washing dishes, at the Hotel National. 6d-103-5032

WANTED—GOOD EXPERIENCED SALES lady for Dry Goods Store, one with some knowledge of Millinery preferred. Apply to 166 Simcoe St. d1f-101-5042

WANTED—WOMAN OR GIRL FOR LIGHT House keeping in mornings. Apply Mornings or in the evenings between 7 and 9 p.m., to 333 Stewart St. 1d-103-5023

WANTED—SALESLADY. WRITTEN APplications will be received up to May 6th, state experience if any, also enclose copy of references. Apply C. B. Routley, 379 George Street. 5d-103-4996

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker. References, state wages. Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 544, Ring 3, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-98-4988

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St., Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-94-4469

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A. British Canadian Industrial Company, 238 Albert St., Ottawa. 6d-mos-92-4884

LOST

LOST—CHILDS' BRACELET SUNDAY April 16th. Initials M. H. Reward at Examiner. 6d-103-5044

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

WORK WANTED

WOMAN DESIRES SITUATION AS HOUSEkeeper or general servant in small family. Apply 235 Bethune Street 3d-103-5029

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $480 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, P 1723, Lockport, N.Y. d6m13

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Manocek, B. 1638, Lockport, N.Y. d6m 13

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Dunnettown, Peak & Kerr. d4d-94

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT — BELL Phone 949. 2d-103-5030

MODERN HOUSE TO RENT, 126 PARK Street. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1321. d4f-101-5041

TO RENT—A SMALL HOUSE IN GOOD locality, city water and electric light. For particulars apply to 125 Antrim St., City. d4f-99-5035

TO RENT—SUMMER COTTAGE BY month or season. Apply to Box 2045 Examiner Office. 3d-101-5045

OFFICE ROOMS AND LIVING ROOMS to rent, centrally situated on George St. Apply at 341 George St. 6d-101-5045

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 239 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 261-2 Hunter Street. d4f-76-4825

FOR RENT OR SALE-BRICK RESIDENCE 555 Weller St., 4 bedrooms, attic, bathroom and conveniences. Sewer, water gas and electric connections. All rear of this deep lot is a lawn tennis court. Good basement with laundry stove connections. Splendid locality. You'll like it. Apply to W. O. Austin, opposite or Geo. J. Sherry, High Court Office. 6d-100-4688

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough. d-87

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—GOOD DRIVING HORSE CITY broken. Apply 205 Reid Street 3d-99-5001

FOR SALE—MEDIUM SIZED WARDROBE nearly new. Apply 256 Wescott Street. 2d-101-5031

FOR SALE—SIDEBOARD AND TABLE IN use for a month. Must be sold as owner is leaving City. Same may be seen at Belleghem's Furniture Store 3d-100-5026

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well built 7-roomed brick house. City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 6d-98-4989

GROCERY FOR QUICK SALE—Doing good cash business, dwelling over store, two acres of land, part fruit. This is a first-class opportunity to get in business for yourself. Owner going West. Apply M. Guerin, 660 Rogers St. 6d-100-5014

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once.—H. C. Stabler, 286 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired; cheap. Apply on premises, 224 Rubidge street 4d-100-5000

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.
206 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

A HOME OF YOUR OWN.

Are you wise enough to Secure One Now?

While Prices are Lowest and Terms So Easy

On June 1st my price will be $150 per lot

I have offered to wholesale the balance of my sub-division and it may go any day. I sold four lots on Saturday and if you want to buy for a home or a safe and very profitable investment you should call at once.

CARPENTERS WANTED.

T. HURLEY
1m-101 282 Hunter St.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Despatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust and wind.

is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

J. H. VANCE
Further Particulars From
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1098

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?

If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:

Buy a Lot

and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
431 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

A Real Estate SNAP

Lots 37 & 38, block 1, Buena Vista SASKATOON

$1050 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months

This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro

L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro
1m4-98-5000

A. Brown & Co.
408 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc, to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
3m-96

Might & Taylor
376 Water St. Phone 99
Real Estate and Insurance
Lots on George Street South $200 each
$1250.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.
$2200.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $600,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS

including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.

Cash or Time Payments

Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Summer Opening

About the tenth of May we will hold our Summer Opening when we will show hot weather ready-to-wear, and to make ready for them we are clearing out the remainder of spring suits and dresses and underskirts. Just now you can get all the latest spring suits and dresses for a fraction of their cost.

Beautiful Silk Dresses that would cost $35.00 to $40.00 to get made, will be cleared out at about..... $19.00
Cloth Dresses, beautiful styles, at about..... $10.50
The latest Suits, fine cloth, with good silk lining at from..... each..... $12.50

Come early while the choice is good. Third Floor.

Millinery

Our Millinery Department with wonderful rapidity has made for itself a most enviable name throughout our entire district. The beautiful artistic designs show evidence of rare skill. Like the picture of a master painter, there is not a touch lacking and not a touch is there too much.

Miss Noble never sinks her art into dollars and cents. She would sooner lose a sale than sell an unsuitable hat. She makes a careful study of faces and figures and thus you can always depend upon her hats giving a beautiful completeness to your costume, and though her hats are in a class by themselves they cost no more than the others.

Millinery Phone 354 Second Floor Miss Noble, HEAD MILLINER

Children's Headwear

Latest effects, ... 25c and up
See our new Mull Bonnet trimmed with beautiful embroidery (2ND FLOOR)..... $1.00

Music

Everything up-to-date in music.
SPECIAL BARGAIN
Music slightly frayed 7c

Boot Sale

Ladies' Boots, none under $2.50 and up to $3.00, for $2.09

Ladies' Boots, 4 different styles, all sizes, for $1.25

Saturday only

Whitewear

Children's Drawers for ages 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, reg 25c a pair, Saturday only, 2 pairs for..... 25c

Children's Knitted Wool Bootees reg 10c to 30c a pair, Saturday only per pair..... 5c

Children's Dresses in pretty American styles, full width, kimona sleeve, 2 to 5 years .. 50c
Second Floor

Hose and Underwear

Stockings

We pride ourselves upon our high class Hosiery and Underwear
See our boy's strong Hose, all sizes..... 15c
Ladies' fine thread Stockings in black and fancy shades..... 15c
Our Cashmere Hose is stronger and finer in quality than you usually see 25c-35c-50c

Underwear

Ladies' Vests with long, short or no sleeve, regular 25c for Saturday only 15c
Ladies' Knitted Combinations, regular $1.25, for Saturday only 69c
Ladies' Vests, fine thread, short sleeve..... 10c

Main Floor

New Combe, just arrived, from 5c to..... $3.00

ELLIOT'S

Try our Special $3.00 Long Corset

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. BRIGGS

(Continued from Saturday)

She opened her eyes and started up; and with the sudden movement, the glass in her hand tipped and spilled over. "It is nothing," she said "It fell on my hand. I will wipe it away."

Velasco laughed. "Your hand!" he cried, "Your hand is a rose leaf, so soft and so white. The wine has stained it with a blotch. How strange! It is red, it is crimson—a spot like blood."

The girl blanched suddenly and fell back with a cry.

"Not blood, Velasco! Wipe it off! Take it away! Not blood! Oh, take it away!"

Her eyes stared down at the blotch on her hand. They were frightened, dilated, and her whole body quivered in the chair. "Velasco—take it away."

He put down the glass and took the small, white hand in his own, brushing it gently with the sleeve of his jacket. "There now," he said, "it is gone. It was only a drop of wine. Hush—hush! See, there is no blood, Kaya, I never meant there was blood. Don't scream again!"

"It's the Cross!" she cried, "the curse of the Black Cross! Ah, go—leave me! I am a murderess! I shot him, Velasco, I shot him! I fulfilled the vow, the oath of the order. But now—oh God! I am cursed! Not blood—not blood!"

She was struggling to her feet. Without weakness, without hesitation, or mercy. I did it! Velasco—I did it!"

She fell back into the chair again, sobbing, murmuring to herself. "Not blood—no—not blood!"

"That is over and past," said Velasco, "Don't think of it, Kaya. Be a boy, a man, not weak like a woman. Eat the rest of the bread."

The girl took the bread from his hand.

"Finish the wine."

He held the glass to her lips until she had drained it; and then she began to laugh a little unsteadily.

"You are right," she said, "a boy doesn't — weep. I must be strong, a good comrade." She dashed the tears from her eyes and looked up at him pathetically, smiling, with lips that still quivered. "It is over," she said, "I am — I have— you know: but it is over! I will forget it. Sometimes I can forget it if I try; then I shut my eyes at night and I see him before me, on his face with his arms outstretched—still and strange. The blood is trickling a stream on the floor! I hear the shot—I—"

"Be still, Kaya, hush! Don't speak of it; forget it! Hush!"

She began to laugh again: "See, I am your comrade, light -hearted and gay as a gypsey should be. Already—I have forgotten! What a couple of tramps we are, you and I! Just look at your boots!"

"And your faded old jacket!"

"And your scarf, Velasco!"

"And your velveteen cap!"

They laughed out together, and then they stopped suddenly and listened. "Was it anything?"

"No, I think not."

"Are you sure?"

Velasco leaned towards her and their fingers touched for a moment. She drew them away.

"Shall we go; is it time?"

"Not yet," said Velasco, "not yet! Your lips are so sweet, they are arched like a bow; they quiver like a string when one plays on it. Kiss me, Kaya."

She pressed him back with her hands outstretched, her palms against his coat. "We must go," she whispered. "They will track us, Monsieur. I am frightened."

"Kaya, kiss me."

Their eyes met and drew closer, gazing intently the dark and the blue.

"Don't touch me," she said faintly. "We are two boys together. You must forget that I am a girl. Can you forget?"

"No," said Velasco. "You were charming before, but you are irresistible now, in that velveteen jacket and scarf, with the curls on your brow. When you look at me so, with your head on one side, and your eyes half veiled, and the flush on your cheeks, you are sweet—I love you! Kiss me."

He pressed forward closely, his eyes still on hers; but she held him back with her hands, trembling a little.

"Velasco," she whispered, "Listen! I trust you. You are stronger than I; your wrists are like steel, but—I trust you. See—I trust you."

She took down her hands from his shoulders and folded them proudly over her breast, gazing up at him.

"How strange your eyes are," said Velasco, "like two pools in the twilight; one could drown in their depths. You are there behind the blue, Kaya. Your spirit looks out at me, brave and dauntless. When you sob, you are like a child; when you look at me under the veil of your lashes and your heart beats fast, you are a woman. And now—you are—what are you, Kaya? A young knight watching beside his shield!"

He hesitated, and passed his hand over his brows, and looked at her again; he moved away slowly and began to lay the things in his knapsack. "They are all boys' things," he said, "but you are a boy; they will do for you too."

"Yes," she said.

He laughed a little unsteadily. "There is money in my belt; now the knapsack is ready, my violin—and that is all. It is nearly eleven. Come—Kaya."

He turned his head away without looking at her; he approached the door slowly. The girl sat still in the chair.

"Are you coming?"

There was silence; then he turned on his heel and went back to her, and laid his hand on her shoulder. "Kaya," he said, whispering as if someone could hear, "Are you afraid? Why are you afraid to come with me, dear brother musician, dear comrade?" His voice broke. "I will take care of you. You said you would trust me, Kaya."

The girl clasped his arm with a cry: "I am not afraid for myself," she said, "but for you—you, Velasco. Leave me before it is too late. There is time for the train, just time, I implore you to go!"

She trembled and raised her eyes to his. "If anything should happen, and you suffered for me, I couldn't bear it. Leave me—Velasco!"

He put out his hand and took hers, crushing it in his own strength. He did not speak, but he drew her forward, and she followed him dumbly, quietly, without resistance; her head drooping, the cap on the back of her yellow curls; the lashes hiding her eyes, fringing her cheek.

He took the Stradivarius under his arm. The door closed and they started out, hesitating, looking back over their shoulders; stealing down the stairs like two frightened children, hand in hand.

CHAPTER X.

The first pale streaks of dawn were creeping slowly up from the horizon, piercing the darkness of night with faint, far-away shafts of light, like arrows, silver-tipped, shot from an unseen quiver. In the distance, the snow fields stretched limitless and vast, and between them the road wound in and out, narrow and dark, like a coiled serpent amid the whiteness. Here and there an occasional black-roofed farm house reared its head; across the snow came the sudden gleam of an ice covered pond; while afar off, to the left, the domes of Belais rose dark and mysterious in their roundness, like a patch of giant toadstools, shadowy, and strange. The air was damp and a cold wind blew over the snow drifts. Along the road, in the full teeth of the blast, trudged two boys, the one a little behind the other, and the taller of the two shielding the younger with his body.

"Is it far now, Velasco?"

"Not far, if you peep through the folds of your cloak you will see the domes over yonder. Are you weary, Kaya?"

"No—Velasco."

The voice came in little gasps, as if blown by the gale, fluttering like a leaf that is tossed hither and thither. The elder boy bent his head, struggling forward.

"The wind is like a dagger," he stammered "it cuts through the cloak like an edge of fine steel, like a poignard piercing the heart. Come closer, Kaya, and let me put my arm around you. Your body sways like a frail stem, a flower. You are stumbling and your breath freezes, even as it comes through your lips. Come closer, or you will fall, Kaya. Let me put my arm around you."

"It is nothing, Velasco; only the snow that whirls before my eyes and blinds them. Is that the dawn, those faint, grey streaks in the distance?"

"You are stumbling again, Kaya! It is wonderful the way you have tramped the whole night through. We are almost there."

"It is only my feet, Velasco; they are frozen a little by the snow, and numb. That is nothing for a boy. Let us run a race together. Come!"

"The wind mocks at you, little one. Run in such a blast—fight rather! Put your head down and battle with it. The demon! Keep behind, me a little; use my cloak and my arm as a shield. It is not far now."

"Shall we stop at the inn, Velasco: is it safe, do you think? There is one on the market-place."

"Yes, why not?"

"I was there once before, Velasco, with my—with my maid!" The girl laughed.

"You pant, Kaya, and your breath comes in jerks. Are you frightened?"

"No, Velasco—no!"

"They will look for us in the trains and the boats, but never in the snow-fields and the market-places. Kaya, we will tramp as long as you are able to bear it, and then—"

"Then—Velasco?"

"We will take the train at some smaller station—Divisk, Vilna—wherever we can."

"You, Velasco, but not I."

"Both of us. I will never leave you again. In my pocket are passports, blank; I bribed the official. We will fill them in together; two gypsies, one dark and one fair. Ha, Kaya—keep up—a little further! See, the domes are bigger now and nearer, and the road goes straight without winding."

"Velasco—I cannot walk! I cannot see! Everything whirls before me in a mist. Go! Leave me—I am falling—"

The older gypsey gave a despairing look over the snow-fields; they were bare, and white, and glistening. The golden ball of the sun had begun to climb slowly and the shafts had grown suddenly yellow. Across the icy surface of the pond the wind whistled, lashing him in the face as with a whip. The road was narrow and deserted. They were alone, and the form of the younger boy lay against him unconscious, inert, half sunk in the snow.

Velasco bent over his companion, chafing the hands, the cheeks; they were cold like ice. He gave another despairing glance around; then he lifted the form in his stiffening arms and carried it slowly, laboriously forward, plodding each step; his head bent, his teeth grit together, fighting his way.

The shafts lengthened across the sky; the domes grew larger and began to glitter in the rays of the sunlight; by the side of the road houses appeared, straggling at first, then nearer together. Suddenly behind them came the tinkle of sleigh-bells, and the crunching of snow beaten in by the weight of hoofs.

"Oi—Oi!"

Velasco stepped aside with his burden and stared at the sleigh as it approached. It was a cart, roughly set on runners, drawn by a pair of long-haired ponies; while fastened behind was a mare, and two wild-eyed colts following.

The peasant in the seat was wrapped in sheep-skin and smoking a short, thick pipe, held between his teeth.

(To be continued)

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"YOU aren't glad to see me to-night?" said the six-foot man.

"Y-es," said the distractingly pretty little lady, but said it so dubiously that, of course, he recognized it as equivalent to a "no."

"Why aren't you glad to see me to-night?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"You know."

"I do not."

"I told you over the telephone."

"Surely you don't mean because I asked you to come to meet me instead of my going out to the house for you?"

"Why not?"

"But, dear, didn't I tell you that I had some unexpected work that I positively had to do that kept me later than usual?"

"I know, but I think it's perfectly horrid for a girl to have to go to meet a man."

"But you know I don't often ask it of you, and if you hadn't come in to-night we would have missed half the first act and made everybody get up to get to our seats."

"Well, I don't know; but it seems to me that if a man truly liked and respected a girl he would manage some way to come to her father's house and get her."

The six-foot man looked down at the distractingly pretty little tormenter, half exasperated, half puzzled. If this had been an unusual occurrence it would not have been so trying, but it was not. This was only one of the many exasperating little spasms of unreasonableness in which the pretty little lady continually indulged.

For a moment he remembered the hours of tense straining to get that work done in time to go at all, and the scrap of sandwich which had served him for a dinner and he looked rather stern, and then, partly because he was a six-foot man—six foot inside as well as outside—and partly because she was distractingly pretty, he simply said gently:

"Well, little girl, we will try not let it happen again."

Whereupon the little girl, to reward him, smiled up very sweetly and tightened ever so lightly the clasp of her fingers on his coat sleeve, and the six-foot man, thrilled in every nerve by that 100-volt current of exquisite sensation which those fingers had power to start, quite forgot he had felt exasperated even for a moment.

And apparently all was merry as wedding bells.

But really it wasn't.

For the little girl was committing one of Judge Rentoul's fifteen errors of life from which I have quoted before — "Not to yield in unimportant trifles."

Just now the six-foot man finds it worth while to endure this exasperating pettiness, but some day, after they have been married a year or two, there will come a time when the current does not work so spontaneously, and the smile will have become a commonplace, and then, if the little girl hasn't grown any wiser, there will surely be trouble.

Trouble may mean an overbearing love changed to indifferent and cold courtesy.

Or it may more happily mean a quick revolt that will open the little girl's eyes in time.

Let us hope the latter.

Many women have an idea that men rather like them to be inconsistent and exasperating.

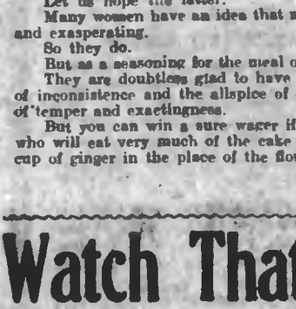
So they do.

But as a seasoning for the meal of life, not for its substance.

They are doubtless glad to have their cake spiced with the cinnamon of inconsistence and the allspice of coquetry, and even a little of the ginger of temper and exactingness.

But you can win a sure wager if you bet that there isn't a man living who will eat very much of the cake if he finds the cook has dumped in a cup of ginger in the place of the flour of common sense and livableness.

Ruth Cameron



Take One Pain Pill then— Take it Easy

To get the best of Backache Get a Box of

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Otherwise Backache May get the best of you

Nothing disturbs the human system more than pain whether it be in the form of headache, backache, neuralgia, stomachache or the pains peculiar to women. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are a standard remedy for pain, and are praised by a great army of men and women who have used them for years.

"A friend was down with LaGrippe and nearly crazed with awful backache. I gave her one Anti-Pain Pill and left another for her to take. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again."
Mrs. G. H. Wran, Austinburg, O.

At all druggists—25 doses 25 cents.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

Watch That Bald Spot

Old, middle aged and young men, should keep a sharp look out for thinning out of hair right on the top of the head.

If your hair has already started to fall; if you have dandruff and your scalp itches at times; your hope lies in Parisian Sage, a really scientific hair preparation.

In Parisian Sage there is one ingredient that supplies nourishment to the hair root, one that kills the dandruff germs and another that puts life and luster into the hair. But most marvelous of all is one ingredient that makes it possible for the others to penetrate into the scalp, get to the root of the hair and do their duty.

This wonderful agent helps the other ingredients to soak in and get right down to the hair spot where the hair worries and scalp ailments begin. This is why Wm. Madill guarantees Parisian Sage to grow new hair (if the hair root is not dead), to stop falling hair; to kill the dandruff germs and stop itching scalp or money back.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs 50c. at Wm. Madills and druggists everywhere or by mail, charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

THE STRENGTH OF A CHAIN

Is that of its Weakest Link. Father Morrisey's No. 10 Purges It Anew.

The chain of the physical system is only as strong as its weakest link. When that link breaks, the chain breaks, and serious illness followed by death often results. The weak link with many people is the throat and lungs. In fact, statistics show that over twenty-five per cent of all deaths can be directly traced to diseases of these most important respiratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

During his long and successful practice, Father Morrisey, the learned priest-physician, was often called upon to treat bronchial and pulmonary affections. He soon found that it was not enough to make temporary repairs on the "link," but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

After much study, he succeeded in devising a prescription that would secure this result, by not only giving prompt relief but also by rebuilding and strengthening the delicate cells and membranes of the throat and lungs.

This prescription, Father Morrisey's Lung Tonic, or No. 10, has cured thousands. It is absolutely free from any dangerous drug, being compounded from Nature's own roots, herbs and balsams.

No. 10 stops the cough, relieves the soreness and strengthens and fortifies the system against future attacks. Even in the early stages of consumption it has proved helpful, but the wise plan is to take it in time, and avoid serious distress.

In our climate it is well to have a reliable and tested remedy like No. 10 always on hand. Take it at the first appearance of a cold, and keep the chain of life strong and capable of resistance.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c. At most druggists or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jory.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Is good for Growing Girls and Boys—and they like it. It nourishes their little bodies and makes them healthy and strong.

Cowan's Cocoa, as you get it from your grocer, is absolutely pure. Its delicious flavor is obtained by the use of the highest grade of Cocoa beans, skilfully blended. Nothing is added to impair the health-building properties of the Cocoa.

170

Do You Use Cowan's Cocoa?

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment.

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Hats, Hosiery

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

WHEN THE ODDS ARE AGAINST YOU

You Can Depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to Help You, If You Get the Genuine

What a fight goes on during the winter season against coughs and colds. The children are careless about keeping dry and warm, and the parents are worried to hear them cough.

The best insurance against serious results is the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

So well-known is this medicine and so universally used that we need scarcely tell you of its merits. But we do want to warn you against imitations and substitutes.

Once you know that there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on the market, you are not likely to let any dealer talk you into accepting anything but the genuine, on each bottle of which are the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book Author.

Imitations are sold on the reputation of this great medicine, and not on their own merits, or why should they not have a name of their own.

With the genuine Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can readily overcome croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritation and the most serious coughs and colds. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Lines of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just In—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH
143 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
Bell Phone No. 798

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 311

OUR DISPLAY OF NEW

Summer Dresses Presents a Program OF LATEST FASHIONS

The Largest and Most Exclusive Showing of Ready-to-Wear Dresses we Have Ever Made

We cordially invite you to inspect them.

You will discover that the silhouette effect still holds. You will be delighted with the prevailing Empire style and its high waist line, fichus, boleros, broad revers and other quaint effects.

You will note the prevalence both of black and white and the most gorgeous almost barbaric tones.

It is this charm of "old-times," this fascinating variety—that makes the present season's styles so attractive.

We have assembled many different models each embodying some accurate and distinctive fashion note, and including the appropriate frock for every occasion for morning, afternoon or evening wear.

We have gowns of satin, silk, net and mull.

Jaunty tailor frocks and elaborate embroidered and gorgeously trimmed creations, will vie for your favor.

The prices we believe will prove equally alluring.

When may we serve you?

A RARE COLLECTION OF

Silk, Satin, Chiffon and Satin Foulard Dresses

Our showing is sure to appeal to the woman of taste and refinement. New York's favored styles are here awaiting your inspection.

CHANTUNG SILK DRESS—A clever model made of natural Chantung silk. Yoke of tucked net with fancy medallion. Girdle, sleeves, collar and the edge of yoke finished with silk in the new shade of Helen Taft pink. Braided ornaments on sleeves and front. Gored skirt trimmed with pointed band Price $18

GREY MESSALINE SILK DRESS—A handsome dress of rich Duchess Messaline silk in a medium shade of grey. Yoke, and 6 inch cuffs of fish net lined with chiffon. Tucked yoke, fancy shaped band across the front and on collar and cuffs, girdle of same material, seams finished with wide inverted pleats, silk covered buttons used as trimming, sleeves can be adjusted to ¾ or full length. Price $25.00

BLACK MESSALINE SILK DRESS—A beautiful rich gown of an excellent quality of black silk with yoke of Dresden silk veiled with chiffon, bodice trimmed with wide black lace insertion, black silk girdle with rosette and button at front and back. Sleeves can be made ¾ or full length. Skirt in tunic effect. Price $35.00

CHIFFON DRESS—A truly exquisite gown of pale blue chiffon in a handsome bordered pattern made over pale blue silk. Waist is made from the border and presents a wonderfully pleasing effect. Yoke & cuffs are of allover lace, kimona sleeve, black satin girdle, collar & cuffs finished with a fold of black satin. Buttons, covered with black satin, are used as a trimming. Draped skirt, finished at bottom with a 15-inch black satin band. Price..... $45.00

FOULARD DRESS—A striking gown of Satin Foulard in the new shade of aeroplane blue; kimona sleeve, neck & cuffs of allover lace edged with a fold of black satin. High waisted effect with a black satin band down either side and trimmed with scallops and buttons. Price $25.00

NAVY BLUE SATIN FOULARD DRESS—A very unique model of bordered Foulard in polka dot pattern, kimona sleeve, Dutch neck finished with Bulgarian net. Trimmings of navy blue satin straps and buttons, skirt made of two rows of border finished with bands of blue satin trimmed with buttons. Price $25

MULL DRESSES

MULL DRESSES—Dainty and cool for the warm weather, made of good quality mull in pink, sky and white. Kimona sleeve; high neck; collar of lace and insertion; two rows of lace insertion on sleeves four rows down front and back. Skirt has tucked band at bottom with two rows of insertion. Price $4.50

MULL DRESSES—Made from fine mull with kimona sleeve, round yoke, tucked and trimmed with lace and insertion, two rows of insertion around body. Skirt has three tucks and finished with a fancy design in insertion down front and back. Collar of lace and insertion, made in pink sky and white. Price.. 5.95

ATTRACTIVE LINGERIE BLOUSES

LAWN BLOUSES—Fine quality, Dutch neck, front of all over embroidery in a neat design, ¾ sleeves, fastened at back, pin tucks down front and back, tucks and lace insertion on sleeve Price..... 1.00

LAWN BLOUSES—Fine sheer quality, Dutch neck, yoke of embroidery and lace insertion, front trimmed with lace insertion and clusters of tucks, ¾ sleeves trimmed with insertion in a pretty design, edge of sleeve finished with lace and insertion. Price..... 1.50

PERSIAN LAWN BLOUSES—A very fine sheer quality of Persian lawn made in an attractive style with kimona sleeve and Dutch neck, handsome embroidered design on front, trimmings of embroidery, lace insertion and clusters of pin tucks, sleeves trimmed with embroidery, lace and insertion. Price 3.75

SMART TAILORED WAISTS

LINEN TAILORED WAISTS—Made from fine Irish linen with five tucks down each side, handsome embroidered band down front; buttoned with fancy white pearl buttons. Price..... 3.75

TAILORED SHIRT—A new and very popular style, perfectly plain, man tailored, made from a fine quality of linenette. Price..... 2.00

LINENETTE TAILORED WAIST—A very smart style with wide tucks and clusters of pin tucks; same front and back. Price 2.75

HANDSOME SILK BLOUSES

PLAID SILK BLOUSES—Made from a super quality of taffeta silk in black and white and black plaids; Gibson pleated shoulder trimmed with small black silk buttons, high neck and long sleeves. Price 5.50

DRESDEN SILK BLOUSE—A beautiful model in Dresden effect of mauve, green and blue, with blue predominating. Kimona sleeve, high neck, piping of plain blue satin, trimmed with satin covered buttons. Price 6.75

BLACK SILK BLOUSE—A splendid quality of black taffeta silk made with the peasant or kimona sleeve. Bodice and sleeves made of fine pin tucks; a new model, very smart. Price ... 5.00

EXQUISITE NET BLOUSES

FIGURED NET BLOUSE—A really beautiful model of figured net in a neat pattern veiled with black chiffon, kimona sleeve, high neck, collar and sleeves edged with gold cloth, yoke finished with gold embroidered medallion; black satin bands on sleeves. Price 6.75

EMBROIDERED NET BLOUSE—A wonderfully handsome blouse of embroidered net in Dresden effect, partly veiled with navy blue chiffon, leaving the yoke, collar and cuffs of net; kimona sleeves trimmed with band of navy blue satin; bands of navy blue satin on either side of front and back forming yoke, front tucked with navy blue chiffon, Price 8.00

SPECIAL SUIT VALUES

NAVY BLUE SERGE SUIT, with white hairline stripe A very smart style with shawl collar inlaid with moire silk, short coat lined with silk, bias fold of material on sleeves & bottom of coat, skirt has panel front and back with bias fold on each side. Price..... 20.00

FANCY WORSTED SUIT—A rough finished material in the new fawn shade, a very pleasing model. Four button coat 25 ins. long, lined with silk, four small buttons on either side of back. Skirt has a panel on front and back with fold across either side. Price.... 25.00

GREY WORSTED SUIT—A very attractive style in a medium shade of grey diagonal worsted. 26 inch silk lined coat with straps put on in fancy design, three buttons on cuffs. Skirt has panel back with fancy haped band across the sides and front Price..... 27.50

LONG SEPARATE COATS

BLACK SATIN COAT—A beautiful quality of rich black satin, made in a semi-fitting style, 54 inches long, satin lined throughout, long roll collar. Handsome embroidered design on collar and cuffs Price 25.00

TAN COVERT COAT—A very serviceable garment made from covert cloth in a medium tan shade, semi-fitting style with cuffs and steppe collar. Four buttons; patch pockets with laps. Price..... $10.00

SEPARATE SKIRTS

VENETIAN SKIRTS—A very serviceable skirt, gored, with cluster of four pleats on either side, trimmed with buttons, inverted pleat at back. Price $3.98

BLACK VOILE SKIRT—A very pleasing style, plain front with side pleats and pretty embroidered pattern on either side. Price..... $6.00

HOUSE DRESSES

PERCALE DRESSES—Smart, serviceable and sensible garments bought at an exceptionally low figure from an American manufacturer, Made in one piece, fastened in front and buttoned at cuffs, turn down collar. A good assortment of patterns to choose from, all good washing colours. Price $1.59

GINGHAM DRESSES—American make, absolutely fast colours, good range of patterns and colours, finished with pretty trimming around the neck and sleeves and down the front. Some are made in the Dutch neck style with short sleeves, others have the high neck & long sleeves. Price..... $2.29

UNDERSKIRTS

TAFFETA SILK UNDERSKIRTS—A fine, soft quality of taffeta silk in black, lavender, grey and navy, also navy blue shot silk with wide flounce & dust ruffle of spun glass. Price.... $5.50

MOIRETTE UNDERSKIRT—Has all the rustle of silk and wears much better; wide flounce with accordion pleating; dust ruffle of percaline, comes in black only. Price..... $5.00

RICHARD HALL & SON

ROBBLE SKIRT MAY DISAPPEAR

LONDON, APRIL 29.—The general opinion of the English press on the Lord Chamberlain's order that the hobble skirt be banned at all court functions is that it means the disappearance of that dress.

In court circles it is whispered that Queen Mary positively abhors the hobble skirt; in fact, she discountenances all extremes of fashion, such as tight skirts, enormous hats and exaggerated coiffures.

The disappearance of the hobble, of course, also means the end of the peshe or harem skirt.

Fashionable dressmakers apparently are glad that these skirts are banned. The manager of one dressmaking firm voiced the opinion of all when she said:

"We have ceased to order tight skirts unless specially ordered. I sincerely hope we have heard the last of the detestable 'hobble.' It was forced on us. I think we shall all be glad to see the last of it. I saw no merit in it from beginning to end. Not one 'hobble' in ten fitted properly."

Another leading dressmaker admitted that many gowns for the first court, on May 9, had been designed as 'hobbles.' These have been entirely remodelled.

The careful manner in which any approach to a royal command has been avoided in the matter is evidenced by the fact that no written message has been sent to dressmakers but an official from the Lord Chamberlain's office personally called and requested the managers to convey to their clients the information that it was undesirable that tight skirts should be worn at court.

The Queen's position is approved by many women and all men. The hope is expressed that the Lord Chamberlain's office will next convey a hint to milliners that big hats must go, too.

MR. JOHN NEEHAN

Who Appears at "The Grand" next Wednesday in "The Man on the Box." Seats Now on Sale

WEDDING BELLS

BOYLE—BARR.

A very pretty wedding took place in Holy Trinity Church on Tuesday afternoon, the 18th inst., at two o'clock, when Miss Ethyl G. Barr, second daughter of Mrs. A. Barr, Kinmount, Ontario, was united in matrimony to Mr. Robt. B. Boyle, third son of Mr. George Boyle, Mayfield House, Bandon, Ireland, by the Venerable Archdeacon Fortin. During the signing of the register, Miss Scarth sang "Because".

The bride was handsomely attired in white satin, heavily embroidered, and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. D. Barr of Kenora, Ont. Her only ornament was a beautiful pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride was attended by Miss A. Hartley and Miss A. Carse. The former wore a champagne satin gown, with a lace overdress and a black picture hat, with moss roses and jet ornaments. The latter was becomingly attired in pink marquisette with Persian trimming, with a large picture hat of the same shade, trimmed with French roses and Irish point lace. All carried shower bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were preceded by Miss Edith Dawson, dressed in pale blue silk, and carrying a basket of sweet peas. The groom was assisted by Mr. John A. Thompson of Winnipeg. The groom's gift to the bridesmaids were pearl hair ornaments; to the flower girl, a gold necklace, and to the best man, gold cuff links.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the guest room of the Royal Alexandra. Covers were laid for twelve.

The happy couple left on the six o'clock train for the south. The bride's travelling costume was navy serge over a blouse of champagne satin, with becoming turban of the same shade. They will be at home after May 1, Suite 58, Casa Loma Block.

(Lindsay Post please copy).

SEAMAN—HARBOR.

Mr. Thomas Seaman, of Toronto and Miss Maud Marion Harbor, also of Toronto, were married in St. Paul's church last week, on April 26th, by Rev. Mr. Pogue. The bride was assisted by the groom's sister, Miss Mary Seaman of this city, while Mr. Harry Tolley supported the groom. Many presents were received.

After a two weeks' honymoon, spent in this city, and at the groom's old home in Manvers, the happy couple will take up their residence in West Toronto, where the groom has purchased a beautiful home.

Tiger Don't Bite. Try it for kitchen stained hands. 10 cents.

"Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both!" They will if you take Shakespeare

NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

They correct stomach disorders, assist digestion, and make life worth living again for the victim of dyspepsia. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet, send us 50c. and we will mail them. 26

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. Montreal.

A Word to Housekeepers About

Wall Papers

For Bed rooms, dainty patterns in a great variety of designs from 10c per roll up.

For Dining Rooms, splendid assortment of the much wanted brown and green colourings, figured, striped and plain effects.

For Halls, plain and embossed effects, also novelties in leather effects.

For Parlors and Libraries, our range is very comprehensive, delicate combinations or chintz, elaborate floral designs, white and gold effects, with pretty backgrounds.

It's a pleasure to show you for one room or a large house

The

Peterborough Bookstore

Trebilcock Bros., 419 George Street, Phone 285

CHURCH NOTICES

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Announcements for St. Paul's for the week are as follows:

The Young People's Guild will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Session on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The regular midweek service will be held on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, and the Teachers' meeting at 9 o'clock.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Monday—S. S. Philip and James. 10 a.m., Holy Communion; 4, Boys' practice; 7.30, Girls' Auxiliary.

Tuesday, 2.30—W. A. meeting; 8, adjourned Vestry meeting.

Wednesday—8, evening service; 8.30, Brotherhood meeting.

Thursday, 8—Choir practice; boys at 7.30.

Saturday, 9 a.m., Boys' practice.

Sunday, 8, 11—Holy Communion.

Yesterday, at the morning service, the hymn "For those at Sea" was sung, as Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Packman are on the ocean. After service God speed and best wishes were expressed to Mr. Nat. Greenhalgh, of the choir, by the clergy and choristers, for a happy trip home to the motherland.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

DEATHS.

JOHNSTON. — Mr. George H. Johnston, Lethbridge, Alberta, died April 26th. The funeral will be from the residence of his brother, Mr. A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue, Tuesday, May 2nd.

BALD MEN

Should call and inspect the famous Sanitary Patent Toupees, as shown by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911.

These toupees are not only perfect in construction, but are the only Sanitary and Patented substitutes of one's hair.

SCHOOL REPORT

S. S. No. 3, North Monaghan for the month of April. Attendance good. 14 pupils regular attendants. Average attendance 20. Names of pupils in order of merit:

Fourth Class—Epsie Adamson, Alma Dobbin, Annie Brown, Della Bidgood, Walter Brown.

Sr. Third Class—John Whitfield, Murton Colon, George Whitfield, Lottie Ball, Arnold Bidgood.

Jr. Third Class—Lena Taylor.

Sr. Second Class—Pearl Cannon, Harold Ball, Allie Bidgood.

Jr. Second Class—Bobbie Whitfield, Marion Clark, Ethel Reynolds, George Cannon, Ina Marsh.

First Class—Bessie Wilson.

Primary Class — Herbie Reynolds, Walter Hayward, Burton Taylor.

G. M. CLARK, Teacher.

STEAMER OTONABEE

now open for excursions. Special rates to Sunday Schools and Societies. Dates are being taken rapidly. Apply at the office of the Peterboro & Lake Simcoe Navigation Co Ltd, 132 George St. R. PINCHIN, Sect. & Man

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons

364 George Street

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88.

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

Dry Cleaning

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make to them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 630

304 Charlotte Street. Bell 979. Mach. 24

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

The New American

Double Rod Fixtures

A WORTHY INNOVATION

EVER SINCE the introduction of the over drape idea in window curtaining there has been a missing link which has caused a certain inconvenience—the fact that two rods had to be used or the necessity of placing the over drape or lambrequin on the same rod with the front curtain. Now for the innovation—the new idea. We have received from a large brass manufacturer a consignment of brass fixtures which have solved the problem to a nicety; they consist of double rods, one set out past the other on the same brackets thus avoiding the necessity of two brackets. Another is the single rod with one extension rod at each end for the over drapes. These short extension rods are finished with round brass caps and give a very pleasing effect. Another still more complete set is the double rod with the window shade brackets. A most useful neat outfit consisting of three in one, all on the two end pieces. These are the most pronounced lines, but there are many others including the long extension brackets etc., which are much in demand at spring house cleaning time.

Brass Extension Rods from 5c up to 65c set

Wall Papers, 3rd floor

Draperies and Rugs Third Floor

Creelman's

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd

Monte Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN

—IN—

The Best of American Comedies

THE MAN ON THE BOX

From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Special Cast and Production

Prices—25-50-75 & $1.00 Seats now on Sale

Oddfellows Of Peterborough Attend Divine Service

Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox Church, Delivers an Inspiring Message to the Three Linked Brethren Who Were Out in Strength

MARCHED TO CHURCH

Despite the inclemency of the weather a large gathering of Oddfellows and the Rebeccas attended the divine service at Knox church last night.

They assembled in a body to the church, the I.O.Q.F. hall, corner Simcoe and George streets, being the rendezvous previous to starting for the church. Arriving at the place of worship the members marched in a single file and occupied seats in the body of the church.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith was apt, intellectual and practical. He took for his text, the tenth chapter of St. Luke, 33rd verse, "But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him."

The country in which this story originated, said the speaker, was overcome by robbers, and respectable men of all creeds were constantly set upon, and left to perish by the wayside. The story of the good Samaritan is an old one and in it is presented an ideal character. It shows the character of a man who took the initiative, and is a type of which the world needs more There are a number of organized institutions in the world to-day that cater to the passions of men. The commendation of Jesus Christ rests upon those who help their fellow men. We must recognize that the church of Jesus Christ stands behind you as a bulwark. Don't associate yourself with an organization of any kind, for a selfish purpose; endeavour to benefit your fellow beings by doing so..

I do not take it that any of you who are here to-night, joined this order for any selfish purpose or for the idea of holding office. God has called every man to assist his fellow beings. The brightest spot in human life is where we are given the opportunity of helping others. Race first is a dangerous thing; it is a state of affairs which should be eliminated as soon as possible. This is a day when we are face to face with a common responsibility. The day is coming when this world of ours will be united in one vast sphere of brotherhood.

We cannot make you use Tiger Hand Cleaner any more than we can stop you when you start.

WIRE CAUSED FIRE

Defective wiring is said to have been the cause of a small fire at the home of Mr. F. J. Might, 603 Steward street about 7 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

TEN MILLION ACRES OF WHEAT IN THE WEST

From present indications, grain seeding in western Canada will have been completed by May 1. Conditions favour a larger acreage, both from increase of settlers and from a better equipment of older occupants who are likely to extend their acreage in all the prairie provinces. Last year Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba had a wheat area of 8,295,000 acres, compared with 7,000,000 in 1909, or an increase of 20 per cent. At the same ratio of increase these three western provinces this year will have over 10,000,000 acres in wheat alone. Oats, barley, and rye will require 12,000,000 acres more for the season, making 22,000,000 acres in western Canada alone.

LOOK HERE! LOOK HERE!

Read! Read! Read!

Come and get your share of the great price reductions Saturday or Monday at the Home Furnishing Co.'s store, 208 Charlotte street, next Curling Rink. Read these few sample prices. Don't miss the bargains.

20 doz. Summer Blouses in silk chiffon, mull and lawn, at half price.
Handsome Silk Waists at ....1.98.
Fine Lawn Waists at ....39c.
Mull Waists, great sellers, at 49c.
Ladies' Summer Suits $11.98, worth $18.20.
Iron beds, brass trimmed, with bed springs and mattress for .....$9.00.
Splendid Couches, $5.50 worth $8.00.
Splendid Couches $9.00, wirth $12.50
Handsome Davenports, $19.75, worth $28.00.
Refrigerators from $7.00 up.
Go-Carts from $3.15 up.
Reed Baby Carriages, $10.50 up.
Everything in the store is brand new and we are offering at specially reduced prices for Saturday and Monday. Cash or credit.

THE HOME FURNISHING CO.
208 Charlotte St. Next Curling Rink.

INDOOR GARDEN PARTY

Orange Cake, orange Sherbet, orangeade, all served in an orange grove, at Charlotte St. lecture hall, Friday evening, May 5th. No admission fee. 1d

CHANGING HANDS?

Rumoured That Central Milling Co. Business is Being Taken Over by Toronto Concern

It is rumoured that the Campbell Milling Company of Toronto has taken over the business of the Central Milling Company. Some credence is given to the report by those who know of the endeavour of the Company to re-organize, but it has not been confirmed as yet.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded.

MICE CAUSED FIRE

The home of Mr. Albert Dorris, 201 1-2 Louise street, was the scene of a small conflagration on Saturday night. Upon the arrival of the fire brigade, the fire was soon extinguished. About $20 damage was done. The building is owned by Mr. LeVick. The fire is supposed to have been caused by mice nibbling some matches which had been placed in a cupboard.

NO MORE AUTO SPEEDING IN CITY NO MORE STANDING AROUND STREETS

His Worship Magistrate Dumble Will Have all Citizens and Others Prosecuted Who Speed Automobiles on Busy Thoroughfares—Speed Limit 6 Miles Per Hour—Cases in Police Court.

Alf. Cooney, a familiar form in the Police Court, made one more visit to that place this morning. Last 21st of March, Alf. was put on the black list, but despite this fact, he was found drunk on Hunter street, on Saturday. He was in the alleyway on Hunter street, where J. Parrott keeps his famous "Little Store," and was causing trouble generally. A crowd of curious spectators, to the number of thirty or forty, had gathered before a policeman arrived on the scene, and arrested Cooney. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.00 or thirty days in jail. He asked for a longer time in which to pay the fine. He said that he was only earning $1 per day, and that ten days would not be enough. His Worship thought the prisoner could raise the money, so did not alter the judgment.

Cooney was put in the box to tell where he got the liquor, and stated that he met an old friend of his, who had just came back from Cobourg. Thomas McDonald, by name, and the latter happened to have a bottle of liquor in his pocket so the old friends went in behind the little church on Aylmer street, just north of the Y. W. C. A. and finished the bottle.

Cooney stated tha the had known McDonald for years, and he thought that McDonald was not aware that he (Cooney) was a blacklister. When looking back over previous cases, his Worship, Magistrate Dumble, discovered that he had forbidden McDonald to return to the city, and he had promised that he would stay away.

Another local man was fined $2.25 for refusing to move on, when requested by P. C. Brown. The officer gave evidence to the effect that the accused and three friends were standing in front of the Peterborough Hardware Co., on George street, on Saturday night about 8.45, and there were also about 30 other men standing stepped off onto the road. He told them to move on, and some of them did, but the majority walked out to the outside of the sidewalk, and stepped off onto the road. He walked on, and when he came around the second time on his beat, the accused and his friends were still standing there. P. C. Brown asked him his name, and he refused to give it, so he took him to the Police Station, to get his proper name.

The Chief stated this morning that he was going to put a stop to the habit of standing around on the street corners and in front of stores at night. The Magistrate threatened that if any more complaints of this nature came up, that he would deal severely with them. The Chief stated that it was the custom of a number of men to come along and stand in front of the Peterborough Hardware store in particular, and obstruct the entrance to the store, as well as the sidewalk, and that, in addition to this habit, they expectorate on the sidewalk, so that ladies avoid walking on that side of the street to a great extent on Saturday nights.

His Worship drew attention to the excessive speed motoring on the streets also. He said that those running automobiles were liable for exceeding six miles per hour on the business thoroughfares of the city, and he expressed his intention of seeing to it, that this law would be enforced. He stated that at present it was extremely dangerous for people crossing the streets, or getting off trolleys, also for people driving, as autos were being driven so fast.

TORONTO HORSE SHOW GREATEST EVENT IN YEARS

Mr. Stratton's Horses Won Nine First Prizes and Five Seconds with Two Championships Last Week—Mr. Sifton's Horses Carried Off All the Important Jumping Events.

The Toronto Horse Show came to a conclusion on aturday night and was generally conceded to be the best show in years, and displayed the fact that the horse is as popular as ever. Fully 5,000 people were present at the Armouries on Saturday night.

In all the important harness events, Mr. Stratton's horses were to the front.

In the ladies' Victoria turn-out, with appointments, "My Pride" and "Premier" carried away the ribbon.

In the stage, Victoria, with appointments, "Perfect Dream" carried off the prize.

In the saddle class, gentleman and lady, "None Nicer" took the blue ribbon in both events, and "Non Nicer" carried off the championship for saddle.

"My Pride" and "Premier" took the championship in their class, and won in many events throughout the week.

"Latest News" and "Loch Ryan Princess" came second in the high stepping class pairs. Senator Beith's ne wteam, imported from England a few months ago, took first prize.

Mr. Sifton's horses carried off all the important prizes in the jumping class, and in the high stepping classes, Senator Beith's imported "Flourish" and "Fireworks" won the prize.

More Authentic Stories Concerning Freak Eggs Hen Scared By Snake

The Toronto Star says:

Is it psychology, or what is it? Now we have the real problem, and again it is the hen and her egg. There may be a perfectly natural and common-place explanation for it all, but from the facts which have been laid before the Star it would appear that for the mental influences of the hen and their impressions upon the egg, as a psychologist the ordinary fowl has Plato and his schools faded way back into the ages.

When brought to this office the egg in question showed the perfect outlines of a snake in miniature wrapped about the shell. The circular trail was wrapped once and a half around the egg, commencing about the middle of the large portion and ending at the small point. It began in a very thin needle-like point, about half an inch in length, corresponding to the wriggly black end of a snake's tail. This gradually spreads out in thickness until it has circled the egg, ends with a broad neck and a quick little turn about the point of the egg, where the marking suddenly enlarges to the exact counterpart of a snake's head. The appearance is that of a reptile with its head raised a short distance above the ground, and at the end there are two little prongs like fangs which a snake darts about when it is angry. This portion of the shell is somewhat thinner than the rest of the egg, and the marking is undoubted.

The man who offered this remarkable specimen is Mr. Charles Smith of Bracondale, and the story he has to tell is one which is calculated to make doubters sit up and take notice.

Mr. Smith states that it was on Sunday morning that he was out in his garden, and noticed a quick disturbance among his fowl. Mr. Smith has quite a plot at the back of his house. There are trees, raspberry bushes, and other small shrubs, through which the fowl wander. While he was in the yard one of his barred Plymouth Rocks dashed from the raspberry bushes, cackling and putting up something of a row. The owner investigated, and wasn't long in discovering that it was a big garter snake which had chased the hen from her grubbing. He didn't think much of the matter at the time, but it did startle him a little to find on the following morning that this unique egg had been deposited in the nest, which that particular hen ordinarily occupied.

In the case of a similar instance mentioned about a month ago a hen had been operated upon, had its crop sliced open, some oats removed, and the wound closed by a few stitches. The first egg which that hen laid had a neat little wound in the shell, and running off from this depression were a number of lines which resembled nothing quite so much as stitches. Later, however, a number of eggs bearing the same marking were offered The Star, but in none of these cases had the hens which laid them first undergone a surgical operation in the crop.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Newest Styles In Children's, Boy's and Men's

HATS

Our Storage Department is second to none.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

COMING

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto will be at the Oriental Hotel Peterboro FRIDAY MAY 5th with a large & varied stock of the newest Parisian, London and New York Creations

SWITCHES
TRANSFORMATIONS
POMPADOURS
OURLS
PUFFS, Etc.

Ladies with thin hair will be interested in our improved transformations. The new designs in Curls are very dainty and attractive. We invite your inspection of these goods.

Dorenwend's Sanitary Patent Toupees,

for Men Who Are Bald, are so constructed that only the wearer will know that it is not their own hair. They give the protection necessary to physical health. Adjust themselves as readily as your own hair would. Light, strong, made in any style, shade or shape.

THE ONLY SANITARY AND PATENTED TOUPEES MANUFACTURED

(Do not fail to call and see them)

DORENWEND CO. OF TORONTO, Ltd

The House of Quality Hair-Goods, 103-5 Yonge st.

Choose Your Baby Carriage from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $20.00.

Benj. Shortly

Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

Sanford

HAMILTON ONT

A New Idea in Children's Clothes

When we were children, clothing for youngsters was modeled pretty much after the fashion of their elders'. They had none of the little refinements in trimming and simplicity of design that characterize the Sanford Juvenile Brand of children's clothing to-day. Few clothing manufacturers even now take the trouble to make a special brand of clothes for children. We may justly lay claim to being pioneers in that respect.

Sanford Juvenile Clothes are made solely and altogether for children. The styles are youngsters' styles; the cloth is cut in loose, simple lines; and the fabrics are especially chosen with a view to the hard rough-and-tumble usage to which healthy children subject their clothes.

Neat and childish in appearance, essentially strong and durable in wear—just the kind the average mother looks for, but finds so hard to get.

Be fair, madam, both to yourself and to us. At least examine as critically as you like Sanford Juvenile Clothes at the leading clothing or dry goods store in your town.

W. E. SANFORD MANUFACTURING CO., Ltd., HAMILTON

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Miss Cunningham, an expert Corsetiere, will demonstrate the Merits of the P. C. Corset in the Turnbull Corset Section all this week

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, L. R. C. P., Edinburgh, L.R.C.S., London, Specialist in Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 258. 187 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. V. F. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 187 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 362 Rubidge Street. Phone—Bell 331, Mach., 331. Hours—2-4 p.m. 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

P. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Bell 91 East St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce, Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 141. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

E. HILLSDEN.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 190 Kennedy street, or at residence, 28 Hunter street. Telephone No. 35.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easy terms of repayment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 375 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George H. Gordon.

BUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices: 279 Water Street
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Beddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A.
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 61 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUNBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Saving and Loan Company, 455 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets entrance, next Medhi's Drug Store.

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st. Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—H. E. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Loal M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. H. E. Hall, K. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. E. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first half way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

E. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 20 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer! you will never be lacking in a pure, appetizing, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

BANGOR IN FLAMES

Maine City Loses Nearly All Its Business Section—Damage Amounting to Six Millions Was Done

STARTED IN A SHED

Bangor, Me., May 1.—Property valued at upwards of $6,000,000 was destroyed, hundreds of people made homeless and almost the entire business section of the city devastated during the first six hours of a conflagration which at midnight was still raging, although the firemen seemed to be making some headway. One life is known to have been lost, an unknown man being killed by a falling wall after his clothing had taken fire. Mayor Mullen placed the city under martial rule. Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Old Town, Brewer and every other city and town within reach were asked for help and sent it.

The fire started in the hay shed of J. Frank Green on Broad street and in a short time was sweeping through the city in a northwesterly direction, a tornado of flame beyond the power of the firemen to stay.

Before midnight both sides of Exchange street from York to State, both sides of State street, from Kenduskeag Stream to Broadway, a considerable part of Central and Franklin streets, nearly all of Park street and Marion Street were in ruins, and the flames had made inroads of nearly a mile into the best residential section in Broadway, Centre, and French streets.

One of the few buildings to escape destruction was the City Hall. This was in the direct path of the fire, but in some way the flames leaped over it and it was hardly scorched.

An ineffectual attempt was made to stay the progress of the flames by dynamiting several blocks located in a triangle formed by Hammond and Central streets and Kenduskeag Stream but the fire bridged the chasm and continued with unabated fury.

Help from outside cities began to arrive soon after nine o'clock, the Augusta department being the first to arrive.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odourless, tasteless and colourless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for alike purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

ARRESTED; KILLS HIMSELF.

Saskatchewan Man Dies Rather Than Face Jail.

Swift Current, Sask., May 1.—C. G. Sadlemyer, a homesteader at Burradon, a farming district southeast of here, shot himself Saturday when placed under arrest by Corpl. Snedden, charged with forgery. He died instantly. Sadlemyer saw the police coming. He took a revolver from the bureau, but his wife took it from him and placed it back. When arrested he asked time to change his clothes, and he and his wife went into the room together. His wife went out to tell the corporal that she had a receipt for the money in question. As soon as his wife left him he reached for the gun and shot himself through the breast. He never moved after. His wife is prostrated. She is only 17, and he was 24. They kept a restaurant here last summer and were well-known.

Rescued Sailor Who Fell Overboard.

New York, May 1.—The steamer Minnewaska, from London, reached her dock here yesterday bringing a story of the rescue of H. Browning, a seaman, who fell overboard in mid-ocean on April 14. Browning fell from an insecure foothold on the ship's rail, and was buffetted about by the waves for twenty minutes before a boat picked him up.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Then Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas of Sudbury Dist., is one of those who know it. He writes:

"For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. When I thought I had sprained my back, the suffering the pain would catch me. Even if my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes effected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessing of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifying the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

TEACHERS KILLED

Three Dead and Eight Missing in Pennsylvania Wreck While Over Fifty Were Injured

SPECIAL TRAIN

Easton, Pa., May 1.—Three persons lost their lives, eight are missing and believed to be dead, and half a hundred others were injured on Saturday afternoon at Martin's Creek, N.J., in a wreck of an excursion train carrying 170 school teachers and friends from Utica and Syracuse, N.Y., and vicinity to Washington, for a week's outing.

The train was one furnished the teachers by the Delaware, Lackawanna Western Railroad, and the accident occurred while it was traveling at a high rate of speed over a stretch of track controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The locomotive jumped the track, the cars toppled over and were set on fire by exploding oil, the wrecked coaches having sideswiped an oil tank along the track when they left the rails.

The entire train was quickly enveloped in flames and completely consumed by the fire. The eight missing persons, seven of whom were women and lived in Utica, are believed to have burned to death in the wreckage. The finding of charred bones led the railroad wrecking crews to the conclusions that they are dead.

The most seriously injured were removed to the Easton hospital, where two of them, Miss Eleanor Rutherford, a Utica teacher, and Charles M. Person of Stroudsburg, Pa., a Pennsylvania Railway conductor, died on Saturday night, while W. M. Vaney of Trenton, N.J., engineer of the train, succumbed early Sunday morning.

The physicians at the hospital said that most of those in the hospital will get well. Those not injured and who were willing to return at once to their homes, left Martin's Creek late Saturday night.

The cause of the wreck has not yet been ascertained. The place where the accident occurred had been undergoing repairs and unfinished work may have been responsible for the train leaving the track.

Vice-President Sherman was to have given a reception for the teachers in Washington and it was reported he was on the ill-fated train. Later, however, it was learned that he had remained at his home.

Another Fatal Wreck.

Tampa, Fla., May 1.—Walter Hagens of Chicago was killed, and T. F. Cook, baggagemaster, was fatally injured, when Coast Line train No. 29, from Jacksonville to Tampa, was wrecked near Odessa last night. Twelve passengers were more or less seriously injured.

Hagens, a 12-year-old boy, was in the baggage car feeding a pet dog and in endeavoring to save him that the baggage master was injured. Spreading rails caused the wreck.

Book Peintors on Taxes.

London, Ont., May 1.—Assessment Commissioner Grant has been written to and asked to explain the system of the "business" tax in London by the City of New York. The New Yorkers have been making enquiries about a business tax, as it is the intention of the bureau of finance of that city to take the matter up and see how the system could be applied to the merchants and business men of New York.

W. A. Pendergast, comptroller of the bureau of municipal investigation of statistics, has been referred by the Provincial Secretary to Commissioner Grant for advice on the subject.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loves it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can have a the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Most medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

KING IS FOR AMITY

British Parties Are Beginning to Lose Their Bitterness—Unionists Reluctantly Concede Passage of Measure

MAY NOT NEED PEERS

London, May 1.—The King's influence is beginning to calm the troubled waters of politics. The two front benches of the House of Commons are reaching an understanding by which the Parliament bill can be carried to a second reading in the House of Lords before the coronation and discussed in committee during July. The Ministers admit that they will be satisfied with this result.

Prominent Unionist members reluctantly concede the ultimate passage of the measure without the creation of "puppet peers."

Amiable Radicals assert that Lord Lansdowne's reform scheme may be substituted for the preamble of the Government bill if opposition to the main clauses be withdrawn, but this is hazy conjecture.

When the results of the peers' reconstruction policy are known, certainly the House of Lords will make a vigorous attack upon the Government bill in committee stage, according to its attitude on amendments, by admitting a minimum majority of considerable size in the House of Commons and for providing a referendum for home rule. The Ministers, having guarantees for the creation of peers, are willing to compromise on the main clauses of the measure, and, indeed, the daily chance of compromise lies in the acceptance of the House of Lords' reform scheme after the relations of the two Houses have been regulated by a Parliament bill.

The House of Lords may be allowed to save its face after submitting to changes by which an absolute veto on radical legislation is converted into a suspensive veto. The bare suggestion of this method of conciliation sends the Tory squires into a frenzy passion.

The imperial education conference, which has been holding drowsy sessions during the past week, has been like an ordinary English schoolmasters' conference. The same subjects have been discussed by the same people, and the colonial delegates have been brilliant by flashes of silence.

The Ministers have been forced to admit that the Imperial Conference must have a program which will interest colonial Premiers vitally, especially when Canada is pre-occupied with reciprocity. Hence the number of imperial projects in incubation is steadily increasing.

The Imperial Council now takes the form of a permanent committee. The Premiers are in constant communication with one another by cable. State-owned cables will also be discussed, and the construction of land lines across Canada will be favored as a necessary imperial link.

ECZEMA CURE A BEAUTY WASH

Although D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for years as the one remedy for Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other forms of skin diseases, it is now known that there is no other wash, even those used by the beauty specialists, that can compare with this mild liquid for cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads, rash, and all similar skin affections.

For this reason alone, a bottle of D. D. D. should be kept on hand and in every household. A free trial bottle will show you the merits of this great remedy as a complexion wash.

D. D. D. seems to remove the cause, what ever the trouble may be, cleansing the skin, and leaving it as soft, as smooth and clear as that of a healthy child.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P.E., 49 Colborne St., Toronto, and prove its wonderful effectiveness.

McDermid and Jury druggists; also Payne's drug store.

SLEW THE DRIVER.

Enraged Father Shot Man Who Drove Over His Boy.

New York, May 1.—Giuseppe Bongiel, an Italian cigarmaker, who saw his three-year-old boy trampled beneath the heels of truck horses Saturday night, took summary justice upon the driver, Wm. Krugman, by pouring four bullets from a revolver into his body. The driver fell dead from his seat almost into the arms of a policeman, who had halted him, and a mob of two thousand persons, bent upon punishing the driver, first stood aghast at the shooting, then set furiously upon the slayer.

The lone policeman fought the crowd valiantly for the slayer, but they were not to be denied. Reserves who charged the mob on the double quick, found the bluecoat bruised and battered and the prisoner unconscious, with blood flowing from a dozen wounds. He was taken to a hospital, then lodged in jail on a murder charge. The child died on the operating table an hour later.

Conditions Unpromising.

New York, May 1.—"Many laborers are idle, and labor agencies report conditions worse than last year," said Herman Robinson, commissioner of licenses, in his report to the mayor, made public Saturday. Wages have fallen below the prevailing rate of last year, and the present spring is not nearly as good as the spring of 1910. Mr. Robinson was formerly a well-known labor leader.

The demand for domestic servants grows more acute each year, says the commissioner, and just now is more sharply felt in Canada than any other part of the country. "The dependent status of household servants is responsible," he explains, "and until employers put them on the same footing as working women in other walks of life, the scarcity will continue."

THERE is something probably that you did not know about Chocolates. The most expensive part of them is the chocolate coating itself. The thinner the chocolate coating, the less expense to the makers, and naturally the less enjoyment to you.

Most makers thin the chocolate with some substitute, so that the cream or hard centers will take up only a very thin jacket of chocolate when dipped.

You will find every piece of Neilson's Confectionery has a thick, heavy coating of the richest, most delicious chocolate—in its absolute purity—you ever tasted.

The centers are coated individually and special care is taken to have the chocolate of just the correct proportion to give that delicate, original flavor so quickly recognized by the connoisseur.

You get something worth eating—something different—something you will always remember with pleasure—when you eat Neilson's Chocolates.

"Chocolats des Aristocrates"—"Cherries in Maraschino"—and "Hard Centers" are only three of the different chocolates that Neilson's make.

30 other kinds, in different packages—and each the best of its kind.

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates That Are Different.

If you are unable to obtain Neilson's Chocolates in your neighborhood, send us 30c. for a pound box of the most delicious assorted Chocolates you ever tasted.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED, TORONTO.

Sold in Peterborough by the Warne Drug Company, and William Medill

MONEY MADE EASY

UNIVERSITY Subdivision

The Rosedale of Calgary

THE BEAUTIFUL WEST END RESIDENTIAL ANNEX

Everybody knows what Calgary is. The St. Paul of Canada. The City of Golden Opportunities.

Population four years ago 17,000, to-day 60,000, and will be 100,000 in less than two years. "Nuff said." Is it any wonder fortunes are being made in Real Estate there.

Horace Greely says: "Young man, go West," and it seems to be nature's tendency. Men go west and cities grow west. University is a western subdivision. Every lot is high, dry and level, or money refunded on application. We have reserved one block of 96 Lots for the investors of Peterborough, and the first to apply gets the pick of location. Calgary Builders bought in tens and twenties. Toronto investors who have seen the property, bought in blocks. Seeing is believing. They saw.

LISTEN { Prices to-day—$125 to $150 per Lot.
Terms—$10 cash and $10 per month.
Interest—6% or 5% discount for cash.

THINK { What this will mean to you when this triples in value, when the Electric Line begins to operate past this in a few months.

BUY { Tuesday, for on Wednesday, May 3rd, the prices advance, as the property has sold so rapidly.

PROSPER { By holding these a few months and selling them. We want you make money and become permanent customers.

Government Deeds given to all this property.
References---Standard Bank, Calgary.
Payments made at your own Bank.

Our Manager, Mr. G. E. Buck, will be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, May 2nd, for one day only. Call upon him. He lives in Calgary and can tell you.

You need this investment. You need to share in this great Western prosperity, so get in early and buy.

THE B. & R. CO., Limited

71 and 72 McDougall Block, Calgary.

Toronto Office—106 Dominion Exchange Building - - 14 King St. East

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 125 George Street

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS
Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets
Both Phones Peterborough

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE EVENING EXAMINER

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. ARMBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teacher Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

Once You Try Regal Lager you'll want it again and again and again—

Made to Sixteenth-century perfection with Twentieth-century appliances, spotless y clean. Regal Lager is at the top-notch of zestful, health-bringing tonics for your table.

All dealers. Or write Hamilton Brewing Ass'n. Ltd., Hamilton, for quick supply.

10a

In The World of Sport

THE SPRING STALLION AND BULL SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

A Fine Exhibition of Well Bred Horses of Different Classes, Also Fine Bulls---Good Attendance at Show---List of Prizes and Prize Winners.

The Peterborough Spring Stallion and Bull Show, under the auspices of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, was held on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition grounds, when a number of splendid animals of an excellent class, were exhibited. The red ribbons were in the majority, when the judging was over. Mr. Harris Duncan, of Port Hope, was judge of the bulls, while Dr. Bolton of Simcoe, officiated as judge of the horses. The ideal day was a great drawing card for the farmers, who turned out in great numbers to see the show, and were evidently not disappointed in their expectations.

Following is the list of prize-winners:

Imported Clydesdales — 1st prize, diploma, "Attractive Tom," owned by W. H. Staples; 2nd prize, "Sirowen" owned by Thos. Beattie and Mr. Howson; 3rd prize, "Baron Crawford" owend by Wasson Handbidge.

Class 1.—Imported heavy-draught breeds.

First prize, "Golden Gleam," J. F. Staples, $5.00; 2nd prize, William Kearns, $3.00; 3rd prize, J. E. Johnston, $2.00.

Class 3.—Canadian Bred Heavy Draughts—

1st prize, "Radiant Boy," J. H. Nothey, $5.00; 2nd prize, Morris & Brown, $3.00.

Class 4.—Canadian three-year-old Clydes—

First prize, Thos. Sutton—diploma.

Class 5—Percherons.

1st prize, "Paddy B." Jake Brown, $5.00.

2nd prize—"Paturot," Jake Brown, $3.00.

3rd prize, Frank Brown, $2.00.

Class6—Standard Bred—

1st prize, "Bordon Brook," Wm. Elmhurst, $5.00; 2nd prize, "Egwood" Geo. Colbourne, $3.00; 3rd prize, "Gilbert Parker," Herb. Kendry, $2.

Class 7, Hackneys—

1st prize, "Attraction," C. S. Lough $5.00.

Bulls—Class 3—Holstein—

1st prize, Mr. S. J. Brooks, $5.00.

Class 1—Durham—1st prize, M. T. J. Cullen, $5.00.

All those who had animals entered were well pleased with the judging, and the success of the show was complete in every detail. It was regretted that there were not more bulls shown. But those on exhibition were of the finest class and deserved the 1st prizes. Those who had charge of the proceedings were highly elated at the success that had been attained. No better class of horses could be wished, and they were the admiration of the large crowd which gathered to see them. The judging of the animals commenced about two o'clock.

Lacrosse Boom On Opening Game Saturday

Champion Nationals Will Meet Tecumsehs in Exhibition Game at the Island at End of Week

Lacrosse has certainly struck a winning streak this spring. From information gathered from the local press throughout the country more clubs will handle the gutted stick than has been heard from for the past ten years. In the Maritime Provinces, where Canada's national game has never received much attention, mention, men whose early training taught them to admire lacrosse are getting in behind the clubs and helping to put the game before the school children, which, if looked after cannot help but bear fruit.

Toronto will have abundance of lacrosse the coming season, with two teams in the National Lacrosse Union, the senior series of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and a four-club senior series in the Ontario Lacrosse Association, junior and juvenile leagues, school leagues and church leagues, the game looks exceedingly promising for 1911.

The management of the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club have set a new record for opening senior lacrosse in Toronto. For the past years baseball has opened the sporting season; this year it will be different. Manager Charlie Querrie, of the Tecumseh Club, looking ahead to put his team in the "pink" early, has arranged to play the Champion Nationals on the Island oval May 6th. This is at least three weeks earlier than any former year. The Frenchmen are very anxious to meet the Indians—it was on the Island that the champions struck their first defeat last year. Manager Joe Cattarnich wants to wipe out the sting, and Charlie Querrie is just as anxious to take another fall out of the "pea soups."

The Tecumseh team will have very few changes from last year's line-up. The defence are all intact and it is likely that the management will work a few of the reserves against the Frenchmen on Saturday, May 6th.

The Torontos will also have to be reckoned with. The management will have all last year's stars in line with the exception of "Nick" Carter, who has joined Con. Jones' "Minto Cup" hunters at Vancouver. This player is a great loss to the Toronto team, still the management have lots of material to fall back upon this season. From the Queen City end the N. L. A. championship this year looks to lie between the Toronto Clubs. The first meeting between Tecumsehs and Torontos will be at Scarboro Beach on May 24. This game is for the city championship, and lacrosse fans would just as leave see these two teams fighting for city honours as striving for the Minto Cup. Here is the schedule of games in the N. L. A. both at the Island and Scarboro Beach:

Tecumsehs at Home.

*May 6—Nationals.
June 17—Capitals.
xJune 22—Torontos.
June 24—Cornwall.
July 8—Shamrock.
July 15—Montreal.
Aug. 12—Nationals.
Sept. 4—Torontos.

Torontos at Home.

xMay 24—Tecumseh.
June 3—Capitals.
July 1—Montreal.
July 22—Nationals.
Aug. 5—Tecumseh.
Aug. 19—Cornwall.
Aug. 26—Shamrocks.

*Exhibition; xCity Championship.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieves all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

MIDLAND LEAGUE TEAM HAD FIRST PRACTICE

Good Turnout of Ball Tossers at Riverside Park Saturday ---Prospects Good for Successful Season---A Probable Second Midland League Team for Peterborough is Announced.

The first real baseball practise of the season was held on Saturday afternoon, when the Peterborough Midland League team worked out at Riverside Park. There was a big squad out and the prospects are bright for a first-class team, there being an abundance of players available and a lot of new material in sight. Among the new players out were Neale, Fothick, Murphy and Rahmal, the first three infielders and the latter a pitcher. All four of last year's City League teams were well represented. The team will start practising at night in a short time and should be in good shape for the opening game on May 24th. Among those out were Quinlan, McFadden, O'Brien, Shaw, O'Hearne, Brydie, Cresswell, Rahmal, Pethick, Murphy, Kelly, Neale and others.

The Bowmanville Club has applied for a franchise in the Midland League and may be accommodated in the event of Lindsay deciding not to go in.

The possibilities are that the Midland League magnates will have another application for membership to deal with and that, too, from another Peterborough team. Realising that the Midland League proposition will mean that there will be no City League, and that this will leave a lot of players out of the game, several local sportsmen have been talking the matter over and are planning the organization of another Peterborough Midland team. It is felt that there is plenty of material here for two teams as not only the players of last year's City League but half a dozen new comers are in sight.

Leafs Lose Leadership Providence Pitcher Put Crimp In Canadians

By dropping Saturday and Sunday games to the Providence team, Joe Kelley's Maple Leafs had to relinquish their grasp on first place which they had held since the opening of the season and are now a game behind the Greys and only one ahead of Rochester and Baltimore, who are tied for third place. The Toronto team was badly outplayed both Saturday and Sunday, Shine holding them to six hits on Saturday and Lavender to the same number yesterday. On the other hand the Clam Diggers chased Cather and Backman to the bench on Saturday, and in the Sunday game hammered Ed. Killian's southpaw slants for a total of fourteen safeties, at the same time fielding sensationally. Providence won Saturday 4 to 0 and yesterday 5 to 2. It is reported that Kelley has asked for waivers on Pitcher McGinely and Catcher Slattery and that the two new right-hand pitchers and a catcher-first baseman will join the Leafs to-morrow.

Saturday's other results in the Eastern were Montreal 4, Jersey City 2; Buffalo 12, Newark 8; and Baltimore 2, Rochester 1, in 12 innings.

Yesterday Buffalo won easily again from Newark by 9 to 2, Corridon doing some fine twirling for the Herd. Jersey City, however, turned the tables on Montreal by 6 to 3, in spite of the fact that the Royals used four pitchers in an attempt to stop the Pests.

In the National the Chicago Cubs by beating Pittsburg by a fierce batting rally by 6 to 4, jumped from fourth place to second. Chicago lost the Saturday game by 8 to 3, Pittsburg landing on Mordecai Brown for fifteen safeties.

New York, with Mathewson pitching, beat Brooklyn with Barger on the slab, 7 to 3, and Philadelphia kept up their winning streak by trimming Boston 7 to 4.

In the American on Saturday, St. Louis beat Chicago 1 to 0 in five innings, Washington nosed out Boston 4 to 3, Philadelphia hammered out a 10-6 victory over the Highlanders, and Cleveland won from Detroit 2 to 1. Sunday the Tigers turned the tables on the Naps, winning 5 to 4, and Chicago beat St. Louis 9 to 1.

Few Phenoms. Make Good At Once In Big League Company

(By Tim Murnane.)

BOSTON, APRIL 29.— Where have all the young phenoms gone? We find the veterans back in their old places, with only here and there a youngster clever enough to tie up with the regular performers. Not one in ten and less than one in twenty can make good in their first trial in the major leagues.

This spring I travelled from coast to coast, witnessed the work of 200 players that I never saw before, and in that small army of recruits only half a dozen looked good enough for fast company.

At Dallas, Oklahoma City and St. Joe I saw catchers that could throw like a Ewing, were full of ginger and could make the big league in a canter. All of these boys may get a chance later, but they will be given little work and grow discouraged for a time, and it will be two or three years before they are allowed to come to the front. The best of the youngsters are bound to be tender during the trial days in the big leagues.

At least 200 players were selected for the big leagues that were not fast enough for the class A organizations, and half of these could not hold a place in a class B league. It is always a great mistake to pick these youngsters before they are ripe.

This is the fault of the scouts, many of whom have little baseball knowledge outside of liberal talk picked up from the players. Think of one man in Texas who advertises that he has 300 good ball players for sale. Great batsmen, all speed merchants, all ready for fast company. This promoter, no doubt, is looking for some easy money, and the funny part of it is that he has already handed the big leagues several gold bricks.

These bushers at times look fair at the country games, and here and there one will make good, but if one-fifth of the money thrown away was paid to the hard-working, clever boys who have made good the game would be more interesting and pleasing to the baseball public, which often grow tired of seeing half-baked ball players trying to fill the shoes of passing heroes.

Selecting talent should be the work of capable ex-diamond stars.

Church Soccer League Had Splendid Opening

Three Interesting Games Were Played on Saturday Afternoon and the Local Organization Started Under Most Encouraging Auspices.

Soccer League were played on Saturday last and, considering the amount of interest taken by the general public, it may be safely said that football has come to stay. One of the oldest inhabitants was heard to say that he didn't think there were so many football boots in Peterborough. Had some enterprising business man in this go-ahead city taken the trouble to cater for light sweaters, he could have sold about six dozen; as is is the football teams had to go to Toronto for the goods.

The biggest surprise of the day was the defeat of All Saints by the Y. M. C. A. All Saints were strongly fancied for the League Championship but they will have to improve some. St. James' beat Park street, and at half time Knox looked like winning but they couldn't stay the course. St. John's meet Cold Springs on Wednesday evening, as Cold Springs can not play on Saturday afternoons.

St. James was the only club to keep a clean sheet. This may be accounted for by the fact that they were playing in the C. G. E. shirts, at least Billy Millburn says so.

Park St. 6—St. James', 2.

St. James' opened their league campaign by a decisive victory over Park Street Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the latter club. Park St. lost the toss and had to face the sun. They started off in fine style, and carried the game to the St. James' goal. For about ten minutes they looked like winners, but the Saints got into their stride, and the game was quickly transferred to the opposite end, where Bleakley, though well placed, shot wide. Gash was seen to advantage, but he couldn't score. Turner, Gash and Newton were playing a nice, passing game, and Newton opened the scoring for St. James, with a pretty shot that gave Renshaw no chance. This reverse put the Baptists on their mettle, and Braun had all his work cut out with Follis. The Baptists kept up the pressure and if Leader hadn't brought off two fine saves in as many seconds, they would have scared. He looked relieved when one of the Park St. forwards kicked over the goal. One of the Park St. backs caused a little amusement by trying to teach the Referee his business, but eventually the genial Mr. Roberts seemed to convince the wrathful player that he wasn't the only one who understood football. An enthusiastic crowd of St. James' supporters were loudly clamouring for another goal, and Gash had several good attempts, one header from a corner, passing the wrong side of the goal post. It was reserved for Newton to do the trick, and he utilised a pass from Turner to such good effect that he scored again. Half-time arrived with the score 2-0, in the Saints' favour. After the interval the Saints took the upper hand and Gash lying well up field took a pass and scored with a grand shot, but to the amazement of all who understand football, the Referee gave him offside; why he did so is a mystery, as the left back played him on-side.

Park Street tried hard to reduce the lead, but Jates seemed to be all over the place, cropping up wherever he was wanted, and with Gribb and Braun lying well up field the Baptists hadn't much chance.

The last game seemed to be telling on both sides, and things were getting a bit slow when E. Dawson electrified the crowd by hitting the upright with a grand shot, and Follis was not a bit behind hand by rattling the cross bar with a grand drive, both these shots deserved to score. The Saints took the upper hand again but there was no further scoring. Leader kept a grand goal for St. James'. He hadn't much to do, but what he had to do, was done in first-rate style. Both Gribb and Braun played in fine style, their clearances and tackling being very sound, and it is owing to their fine defence that "Bertie" had such an easy time between the sticks. Of the halves, Yates took the eye most; in fact he was the best half on the field, Sandiford played a nice game as right half, and it was owing to his close attentions that E. Dawson didn't score. Keith, Sparrow played well, but he had the misfortune to hurt his foot early in the game; but, in spite of this accident he played a nice defensive game. All the forwards played well, but Bleakley did not get going till near half time. Follis and E. Dawson were the best forwards for Park Street, but the inside men were not far behind them. Biddle and Marks played well, and Pitcher tackled well; but did not feed the forwards as well as Biddle, who excelled in combining with his wing men. Had the backs played as well as the halves, the result might have been different. Renshaw, in goal, put up a great game, particularly in the second half, when he stopped some grand shots from Hotston, Newton, Turner and Gash, and but for his fine display the Saints would have been several more goals up.

Mr. Roberts acted as Referee, and Messrs. W. Filds and B. Bedworth officiated on the line. The line-up was as follows:

St. James—Leader, goal; Gribb and Braun, backs; Sandiford, Jates and Sparrow, halves; Bleakley, Gash Turner, Newton and Hotston, forwards.

Park Street—Renshaw, goal; H. Foster and Cole, backs; Pitcher, Marks and Biddle, halves; Follis, Tolley, Collett, Thorne and E. Dawson, forwards.

Y.M.C.A. 2, All Saints 1.

The Y.M.C.A. team, although they have had no practice and were in poor shape, surprised the talent by handily beating All Saints in their Church League fixture at Riverside Park on Saturday. The Anglicans had been looked upon as a very strong proposition, as indeed they were, but the "Y" had the better of the argument and should have won farther away had they been in condition to go the distance. They tired badly on end and were being pressed hard when the final whistle blew. The Association team were leading at the half by 1 to 0 and early in the second half scored again, Boness doing the trick on both occasions. Towards the finish, however, the Saints taking advantage of the evident fatigue of the "Y" assumed the aggressive and were decidedly dangerous, only the grand defensive work of Dr. M'Pherson saving the day for the 'Y' It was a fine exhibition of football and both teams will take a lot of beating. The line-up:

Y.M.C.A.—

Goal—Fleming.

Full Backs — Dr. McPherson and Hampton.

Half-Backs—Moore, Adams and Tarte.

Forwards—Cunniff, Boness, A. Flowers, Kerr and Miller.

All Saints—

Goal—Moriaty.

Full Backs—Abbott and Robinson.

Half Backs— Hooper, Jones and Dawson.

Forwards—Curtis, Willis, Abbott, Downes and Hildreth.

Who said Tiger? "All hands."

FOOTBALL

LONDON, APRIL 29.—The football results in the various leagues to-day were as follows:

League—First Division.

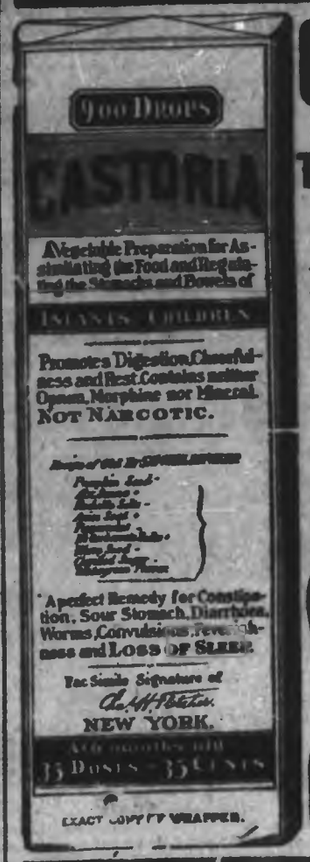
Bury 1, Sheffield U. 1.
Notts C. 6, Woolwich A. 2.
Bristol C. 6, Everton 1.
Sheffield L. 2, Oldham A. 0.
Newcastle 3, Manchester C. 3.
Middlesboro 2, Blackburn R. 3.
Preston 2, Bradford C. 0.
Manchester 3, Sunderland 1.
Liverpool 3, Aston Villa 1.

League—Second Division.

Birmingham 2, Bolton W. 1.
Bradford 1, Blackpool 0.
Burnley 2, Clapton O. 0.
Derby 5, Barnsley 1.
Fulham 2, Glossop 2.
Gainsboro 3, Chelsea 1.
Hull City 2, Lincoln C. 1.
Leeds City 1, Wolverhampton 1.
Stockport C. 1, Leicester 0.
W. Bromwich 1, Huddersfield 0.

Southern League.

New Brompton 1, Southend W. 2.
Millwall 4, Southampton 0.
Queen's Par kR. 1, Plymouth 0.
West Ham 1, Watford 1.
Luton 4, Leyton 1.
Portsmouth 2, Brentford 1.
Exeter 2, Swindon 1.
Coventry 3, Norwich 1.



CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

O'K

A Royal Brew!

A good many men say that "Gold Label" is the finest Ale that we have ever brewed.

It's all a matter of taste. If you prefer a rich, old, creamy ale—that proves its quality by its delightful flavor—just try "Gold Label."

Every bottle sealed with an easily opened "Crown" stopper.

O'Keefe's "Gold Label" Ale

"The Beer that is always O.K."

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive	Depart
Montreal, Ottawa, West and Kingston	1.05 a.m.	2.30 a.m.
Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Woodville	8.40 p.m.	4.35 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Toronto and Belleville	8.15 a.m. 1.15 p.m.	9.00 a.m. 2.30 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, London, Detroit, Chicago and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo	8.15 a.m.	10.00 a.m.
Quebec, Montreal and East	8.15 p.m.	9.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Waterloo & Guelph	11.00 a.m. 8.00 p.m.	7.30 a.m. 4.35 p.m.
Havelock	10.55 p.m.	4.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	5.15 p.m.
Havelock, Campbellford, Madoc, Belleville, Hast'gs	8.15 a.m.	2.30 p.m.
Montreal and East	8.15 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
Havelock	8.15 a.m. 1.40 p.m.	9.05 a.m. 5.15 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

	Leave Peterboro'.
Sudbury, Sturgeon Falls, Ottawa, Montreal, Hamilton	11.55 a.m.
Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Harvey, Havelock, Peterboro'	8.40 a.m.
Havelock, Peterboro'	2.40 p.m.
Harvey, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	10.10 a.m. 1.55 p.m.

	Leave Peterboro'.
Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points	6.30 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Great Lakes Service

FIVE SAILINGS WEEKLY TO SOO, PORT ARTHUR FORT WILLIAM

Daily except Friday and Sunday from Owen Sound

Connected Train leaves Toronto at 8.15 a. m.

ASK AGENT FOR PARTICULARS

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular TOURIST ROUTE TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.

B. A. ROSE City Agent

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

FROM MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Empress of Ireland	May 6th
Montreal to London direct	May 6th
Lake Champlain	May 13th
Empress of Britain	May 13th
Lake Manitoba	June 3rd
Empress of Ireland	June 3rd
Lake Champlain	June 10th

Special sleeping car to the ship's side Leaving Toronto at 10.30 the evening before, for "Empress" sailings.

I. E. Suckling, General Agent for Ontario, 16 King st. E., Toronto.

Apply to any Ry. or S. S. Agent or to W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 134 Robinson Street, East City

Both Phones 264

BICYCLES

BICYCLE SUNDRIES

BICYCLE MUNSON

at Cut Prices. 249 Yonge St. Toronto

Send for Cut Price Catalogue.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE

328 George 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

328 George St. HARRY HARRINGTON

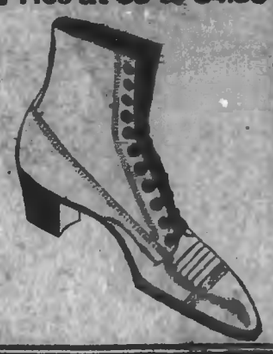
Ice Cream Soft Drinks

The Warne Shoe Store

LADIES'—
Catchy Pumps Comfortable Oxfords
Dainty Ties Misses' & Children's Shoes
Slippers and Sandals

MEN'S— Oxfords & Ties at $3 to $4.50
Blucher Bals.
at $3 to $5.50

BOYS' & YOUTHS'
in Patent, Calf and Dongola leathers



Come in and examine our
Gymn. & Field Shoes

Warne Shoe Store
345 GEORGE STREET

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of
Vegetable and Flower Seeds
from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:
EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN DUTCH SETS and MULTIPLIERS
Golden Bantam Corn
Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year
Prepared Fertilizer
For LAWNS and GARDENS
Porter S. White
336 George St. Phone 208
City Agent for West End Green House

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by
WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Have Us Call
for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.
West-End Greenhouses
W. C. MEAD, Florist
Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

IMITATION IS THE MOST SINCERE FORM OF FLATTERY.
That is why some dealers advertise various kinds of
SCRANTON COAL
There is only one genuine—that is the D. L. & W. Scranton. We sell at the following prices for May:—
Stove & Egg $7.00
Chestnut $7.25
Pea Coal $6.50
R. HICKS & Co
YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 68

REMOVAL
The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold
I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, signs, and automobile painting.
JAMES J. SHADGETT

Baking Suggestions for May
Graham Biscuits
Oatmeal Scones
Brown Bread
Currant Bread
French Pastry
German Pastry
Fruit Cakes
ICE CREAM
"Coleman's Quality"
Sodas and Sundaes
Order your Wedding Cakes
from us
COLEMAN
BROS. 426 George St.

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.
Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Plasterers Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.
All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing
including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.
Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Up-to-Date Cigar Store
A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from
D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mount ed artistically and permanently.
Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 Harvey St.
Peterborough Ontario.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. It also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Probabilities.

Winds, increasing to strong northerly to north-westerly, showery; much colder by Tuesday.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the secretary's office, 437 George street on Tuesday at 7.45 p.m.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149. Peterborough Messenger Service, 345 1-2 George street.

Annual Meeting To-night.

All Saints' Woman's Guild will hold their annual meeting to-night at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall. All members are requested to be present; also new members who woul dlike to join.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carton, C. J. Carroll.

Meeting Postponed.

—The meeting which was to have been held Tuesday night at Coleman's restaurant, for the purpose of forming a St. George's Society, has been postponed until Thursday night.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 466, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19, Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Funeral To-morrow.

The remains of the late Mr. George H. Johnston, of Lethbridge Alberta, are expected to arrive on the C. P. R. local to-night. The funeral will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday from the residence of his brother, Mr A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans; jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 176 Simcoe street.

The Boss Oven.

For gas, gasoline and oil stoves. You can save one-half your gas bills by using a Boss oven on top burner of gas range. Every one guaranteed, made with patent glass doors or polished steel doors, or with oven thermometers, in various sizes, and sold as low as $1.50 up. Call and see them. The P. R. J. MacPherson Co'y Limited, 341 George street.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaning Co., 395 Water street, (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall case store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Open For Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 668 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

Took Part in Service.

The Examiner has received the programme of the Easter services in the McDougall Methodist church in Edmonton, in which several Peterborough people took part. Miss Ruth Carlisle assisted in the singing of a quartette in the morning, and at the evening service Mr. Chas. Harmer, formery of the Charlotte street choir, sang a solo "Easter" by Van-de-Water.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

Time-Table for Motor Line.

The Rutherford-Grimes Motor Car Line have made the arrangements for the running of their cars up until June 10th, 1911. They will be open every hour to parties from 7 to 14 in number. Charge will be $4.00 per hour; $12 per half day, and $24.00 per day. Distances for more than 20 miles from the city will have to be arranged for. Special contracts can also be made with the firm. See advt. elsewhere in these columns.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 49c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c. for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 455—161 Hunter street west.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG
Keep in the sunshine. Avoid excesses of all kinds. Eat moderately at regular intervals. Cultivate a spirit of contentment and keep the bowels regular and liver active by using Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. No treatment is so definite and so satisfactory for this purpose. None so trustworthy and economical.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Fred Beattie of Montreal is the guest of Dr. Frank Neal.

C. W. Richards, of the Millbrook Mirror, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. C. W. Baker of Montreal, is registered at the Hotel National.

Miss Mary McWilliams, East City, has returned home after spending the winter with her sister in New York.

Mr. Joseph Hawnsley is leaving tomorrow morning for Welland, where he has accepted a very lucrative position.

Miss Margaret Craig of Kinmount, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Christopher, corner of Charlotte and Margaret avenue, returned home today.

Councillor J. N. McGill, secretary-treasurer of the Millbrook Agricultural Society, was in the city Saturday in the interests of his fair. Special efforts will be made to make the Millbrook fair, to be held on October 5th and 6th, a record breaker.

OBITUARY

VICTOR COLLINS.

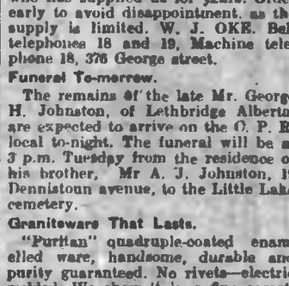
After a week's illness, Victor Collins, son of Peter Collins, of 468 Park street, aged 15 months. Remains were interred in St. Peter's cemetery at 3.30 this afternoon.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT

With Provincial Home Rule for Ireland, Scotland, England and Wales

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, MAY 1.—There is a rumour in well informed political circles here that the leaders of the government and opposition have reached an arrangement for some kind of an imperial parliament with colonial representations and provision for state or provincial home rule for Ireland, England, Scotland and Wales. It is thought that Irish Nationalists would be satisfied with such an arrangement.



At the Right-End
of things are the men and women who never wait 'till cash is in hand when a new wardrobe is needed. Try their habit of using our method of Superior Clothing On Credit
and you'll be, like them, at the head of life's procession. Call and we'll explain.
SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK:
Ladies' Suits $5.95
Voile Skirts 4.95
Millinery—all trimmed Hats, 4.50 to 7.00
for 2.98
Shapes 98c
Men's Suits and Overcoats and Pants all at reduced prices.
Housefurnishings—Carpets, Linoleums, Square Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains all at reduced prices.
CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE
Opposite the Cadzow House. The Best Credit Clothiers in the City
311 GEORGE STREET

MISERABLE WITH STOMACH TROUBLE
"FRUIT-A-TIVES" BRINGS THE HAPPINESS OF HEALTH
"Fruit-a-tives" cures Stomach Trouble because it cures the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin.
Indigestion etc, is not usually the fault of the stomach itself. The bowels are irregular—the kidneys are weak or strained—the skin is inactive—and consequently the blood is impure. It is the impure blood that really makes bad digestion.
"Fruit-a-tives" purifies the blood by making all the vital organs active and healthy—which in turn relieves the stomach. Take "Fruit-a-tives" if you want to get rid of all Stomach Troubles and faults of Digestion.
50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

ATTACKED GIRL THEN SUICIDED

MONTREAL, MAY 1.—Walking into an ice cream parlour this morning, John Robinson called for the proprietress, Miss Lords, and slashed her across the throat with a razor and then cut his own throat from ear to ear, dying almost instantly. The girl will recover.

"CONQUEROR" LAUNCHED

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, MAY 1.—The "Conqueror," Great Britain's twentieth dreadnought, was launched on the Clyde today.

RUTHERFORD GRIMES MOTOR CAR LINE

Time Table Up to June 10th, 1911

Cars are open for use every hour to parties from one to seven, costing $3.00 per hour. From 7 to 14, $4.00 per hour. Parties going out of town $12.00 per half day, and $24.00 per day. Any number up to 14, and within a radius of 20 miles around, over that distance, extra charge will be made. For one or two persons going out to nearby villages, special contracts will be made.

WRECKED BY REBELS

Special to The Examiner:

MEXICO CITY, MAY 1.—Three passengers and a negro porter were killed and several others injured in a wreck of a week end special train by rebels at Elparun last night.

MEETING TO-NIGHT

A meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. III., I.O.O.F., is particularly requested for to-night, Monday, at 7.30 o'clock sharp, to make arrangements for the funeral of Bro. Johnston on Tuesday at 3 p.m. By order
J. M. White, recording Sec
M. McLean, N. G. 1d101

TWO WERE DROWNED

Special to The Examiner.

SHERBROOKE, MAY 1. — While crossing a swollen river on a plank raft, Lyndia Croteau, aged ten, and Mary, her sister, aged eight, fell over and were drowned near Thedford Mills.

Board Of Health

The City Board of Health met this afternoon at 2.30, and discussed the Garbage and Sewer connection. The following were present at the meeting: Drs. Young and McNulty, chairman; Robert Neill, Wm. Johnston, Wm. Murty and Dr. McPherson, M. H. O.

A suggestion was read at the meeting regarding the Garbage question, and it was moved that the suggestion be presented at the Council meeting to-night, for them to propose a by-law along the lines of the suggestion. It was requested that the suggestion not be printed until after the meeting to-night.

It was also moved by Mr. R. Neill that the Council be petitioned to make connection with the Bonner-Worth Co., regarding putting in sewer from Cedar to McDonnel Sts. on Cambridge street.—Carried.

It was also moved and seconded that the Scavengers be charged a fee of 50 cents for a yearly license.

Stole $10,000 Worth Of Diamonds

CALGARY, MAY 1. — Somebody filched from under the pillow of J. Fleishman, of New York, while he slept in a Canadian Pacific train, ten thousand dollars' worth of diamonds. There is no clue to the thieves.

Limoge China
We have just received a full line of the genuine Elite brand of the "Medium Rose" pattern.
DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

The Piano with A Soul
Is the name that has been given to and recognized as applicable to
THE MASON & RISCH
Piano. It embodies the highest perfection yet attained in Piano building, combining exquisite tone, beauty of design and thorough workmanship. We also have the popular Bell and Haines Pianos, making the choice a splendid one.
Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

DUTTON & COMPANY
Pine Apples Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c
Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries
Motor Boat Supplies
MOTOR CYCLES
Competent Repair Man At Your Service
F. J. R. MacPherson Co.
Limited
341 George St. Both Phones 386

SHOW AN INCREASE

Another increase is reported from the Peterborough Customs House for the month of April, 1911, over the collections for the corresponding month last year. During April, 1911, the amount collected was $33876.20, while for April, 1910, the collections were $27,693.17, an increase of $6,183.03.

BURN
"OCCO"
SCRANTON COAL
"THE VERY BEST"
BELL PHONE 116 — ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO — MACHINE PHONE 116

Egg Coal	.....	$7.00 per ton
Stove "	.....	7.00 " "
Nut "	.....	7.25 " "
Pea "	.....	6.50 " "

NOTE—To benefit by above prices, coal must be paid for on or before May 21st, unless ordered for immediate delivery, when same must be paid for on delivery.

Something Artistic
It is Mr. Mendel's delight to hear his customers say there is "Something Artistic" about his photos that is peculiar to his work.
Louis Mendel
STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Alex Gordon's Meat Market
is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.
CALL AND SEE IT
Also a full supply of LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday
Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.
Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

Ladies' Tailoring
I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.
If the ladie's of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.
I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.
J. GOLDBERG
Phone 1267. 452 George St.

FRESH MAPLE SUGAR
Guaranteed PURE
T. H. Hooper
327, 414 and 601 George Street

Everyone May Dress Well Now
The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.
ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS
You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only
$1 and $2 per week
House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.
The STANDARD COMPANY
163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—151 Hunter St., East
Phone 96
All sizes of Best Mixed Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.
COAL $7.50 PER TON
Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.
WEIR & O'BRIEN
Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost—10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept it as gladly. So wonder.
ROSE LEAF

VOL L No. 102 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MAY 2 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Two Special Vaudeville Acts

T. W. GOODWIN & CO.
In A Comedy Sketch—
"Who Is He?"

Dorothy Weaver
Singing Comedienne and Wooden Shoe Dancer

These two Acts come to the Royal direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, and should prove pleasing to all lovers of good, clean, refined amusement.

Motion Pictures

Another change of motion pictures for to-night's big picture show, comprising the most laughable comedies and the latest and most interesting dramas. To-night's special feature film is Kalem's latest sensational drama, "The Hero of The Mill," one of the strongest dramas yet produced, and 3 other pictures.

Remember, the Royal is the coolest place to go to in the evenings. There are six big electric ceiling fans and one large suction fan going at all times when needed.

ADMISSION:
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

Princess

Special Big Comedy for To-night

CAPTAIN BARNACLE'S COURTSHIP

This is one of the Vitegraph Co's latest biggest and best great comedies. It is a scream from start to finish; it will make even the most grouchy hold their sides. Don't miss it.

"Caught With the Goods"

One of Essanay's latest and best Comedies, showing the hero going to jail for 30 days, making his wife think he is in Mexico, and then his return. It is some fun.

"Zululand"

One of Selig's great Dramas of Central Africa, showing scenes of hair breadth escapes from wild animals.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Now is the Time to Bring Them To Us

Before the summer sun gets in its work. Remember every child will be reproduced in the "Christmas Examiner."

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
Always get Roy's famous souvenir post cards

Latest Styles
May Millinery

New designs of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats for this month at prices much below other store prices

Stylish Trimmed Hats worth $5.00 for $3.00

Grand Display of Flowers—We purchased 150 dozen flowers for trimming hats, all kinds and colors, at a great bargain and will sell them away below value. See our window.

Flowers worth 50c and 75c per bunch only 15c

Ladies' and Gentleman's Ready-to-wear Suits and Spring Coats, all colors and sizes at prices to suit all.

Housefurnishings — Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Chenille and Tapestry Curtains, etc.

CASH OR CREDIT

The Elite Clothing Co
432 George St. Phone 567

May Day In Paris

Troops and Police Have Lively Time With Rioters—All is Quiet in London However With a Very Poor Showing of Workers

CHICAGO SITUATION

Paris, May 2.—During the daylight hours the extra troops and those from the Paris garrison and the police had little trouble with the crowds of workingmen who gathered to celebrate May Day with great demonstrations, but late in the evening things took on a livelier aspect, and there were many collisions in the streets. About 7 o'clock in the evening hundreds of thousands of persons, for the most part spectators, gathered in the Place de la Concorde and the adjacent streets. The troops and police finally succeeded in dispersing them, and this district and the Champs Elysees took on their habitual aspect.

M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, announced that the disturbances had nowhere assumed a serious character, and that this May 1 had passed more quietly than ever before known.

About nine o'clock, however, several thousand manifestants reassembled before the big St. Paul Riding School, near the Bastile, and listened to internationalist and anti-militarist speeches by the revolutionary leaders Large forces of police and troops held the surrounding streets. A German workman, wearing a tri-color rosette in his buttonhole, declared amidst thunders of applause, in the name of his comrades, that in case of war the German workers would refuse to raise their weapons against their French comrades. The close of the meeting was marked by serious disturbances. The manifestations fought the police tooth and nail in the narrow streets of the old quarter for an hour before they were finally dispersed.

Many of the rioters were knocked down and trampled on by the chargers. A score of police were injured and many of the rioters were arrested.

Despatches from the provinces say that the customary labor celebration was held everywhere. They were practically without incident, except at St. Etienne, where the manifestants solemnly burned a copy of the Workman's Pension Law in front of the City Hall. The troops had some trouble in dispersing them, and a number of the workmen were hurt or arrested.

Quiet Day In London

London, May 2.—No disorder accompanied the May Day demonstration here yesterday. A procession bearing red banners, bands playing the Marseillaise, marched from Victoria Embankment to Hyde Park. About 15,000 persons, more than half of them aliens, gathered there. Tom Mann, vice-president of the Workers' Union, who was the principal speaker, said it was shameful that the attendance of the workers was so small.

American Railway Men Out.

Chicago, May 2.—Maintenance of way employes of six railroads, numbering 2,500 men, struck last night when their demands for recognition of the union and a wage increase were refused.

The total number of men involved in strikes and lockouts in and near Chicago, as a result of May Day labor troubles, is estimated at 12,000.

Alfonso Gravely Ill.

Paris, May 2.—L'Intransigeant claims that King Alfonso is gravely ill with tuberculosis, and that at a recent consultation of his physicians it was decided that urgent measures of treatment were necessary, and also that the Spanish monarch should pass the coming winter at Lenins, Switzerland, where the climate is better adapted to his condition.

The Busin World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES

Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES

Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON, - President

Apollinaris
"THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS"
Supplied Under Royal Warrant of Appointment to
HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

LAST LIBERAL SPEAKER ON RECIPROCITY IS HEARD IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

J. G. Turriff Ends the Debate as Far as the Government is Concerned by Delivering the Final Message Amid Outburst of Applause.

VERVILLE SPEAKS TO-DAY

Ottawa, May 2.—The last Liberal word on the reciprocity debate was spoken last night, and was a significant and memorable one. Amid repeated outbursts of cheering, which kept the Government benches rattling continuously, Mr. J. G. Turriff delivered the final message from the west with characteristic western frankness. A few weeks ago the Conservatives were predicting that the member for Assiniboia would followed Hon. Clifford Sifton in opposition to the reciprocity agreement.

Last night they got their answer, when the stalwart westerner spoke the closing word for the Liberal party. It is expected that Mr. Verville will speak to-day for the Labor interests, and the further continuance of the debate will be relegated to the obstructionists in the Opposition ranks. Whether the Prime Minister will be relieved in time to attend the Imperial Conference is accordingly solely the responsibility of the party which delights to flaunt its loyalty.

W. H. Sharpe of Lisgar, Man., represented the Opposition yesterday.

He voiced the needs of the west. Terminal elevators, a railway to Hudson Bay, chilled meat facilities, these things he demanded in the interests of the farmers. With these things to aid them, the question of tariff wall against farm products would be of no moment to the farmers. He showed that the fruit growers of British Columbia and the east, for instance, would have to assist the western farmers to get these facilities, yet the agreement would ruin the fruit industry of Canada.

Before the House rose Mr. Lennox intimated that the Farmers' Bank case would be reopened to-day.

When the House met yesterday Hon. Frank Oliver said: "I desire, Mr. Speaker, to call your attention to a matter which was brought to the attention of the House on Friday last by the Prime Minister, who referred to an article which had appeared in a Toronto paper, in which no names were mentioned. Since that time articles have appeared in other papers in which my name has been mentioned. I have not yet had an opportunity to consider these articles, but I hope to be able to make some observations on the matter to-morrow."

George H. Bradbury (Selkirk), after referring to the appointment of a royal commissioner by the Manitoba Government to discover if the titles to the property of the St. Peter's Indians, recently sold, were good, said that to enable the commission to arrive at a decision it was necessary to have the original documents, and asked if the Government would place these at the disposal of the commission.

Mr. Oliver said he was not desirous of impeding the work of the commission, but he had a certain responsibility regarding the documents. He promised a statement to-day.

On the motion to go into committee of ways and means R. L. Borden discussed the question of statistics of emigration from Canada to the United States, and from the United States to Canada. He quoted American statistics to shew that during the year 1910, 94,698 Canadians entered the United States as emigrants. He said that if these figures were correct the balance in favor of Canada was a little less than 22,000. This was hardly what he would have expected.

Mr Borden enquired if it was so that no statistics were available in Canada as to the number of departures to the United States.

Mr. Oliver noticed no reason.

Mr. Borden expressed his belief that it would be advisable to have comprehensive statistics as to the number of Canadians who went over to the United States. The people had been led to believe that this emigration had almost ceased, but evidently their belief was not based on a sure foundation.

Mr. Oliver said no doubt there was a considerable reciprocity in population. There had been in the past, and it would doubtless continue in the future. Nevertheless the Department questioned the Canadian statistics of arrivals as fairly accurate. To adopt the proposal suggested by Mr. Borden would mean a considerable [illegible] the cost of the service, [illegible] Parliament, the Department would be willing to undertake the work, but some grave fault had been proposed which would prevent this immigration he doubted the expediency of the proposal.

Mr. Borden said that if the statistics of the emigration from Canada to the United States were given there would be a different tale to tell. It would be shown that there was only a small net gain. We were planning ourselves on a basis which was not satisfactory. In the interests of true knowledge we should have the information.

Hon. Wm. Paterson suggested that household effects would provide a rough test. He found that household effects to the value of $2,760,137 had been taken into the United States by Canadians last year, whereas the value of household effects brought into Canada was $7,833,553. While not conclusive, he considered that these figures might indicate that the figures quoted by Mr. Borden were not wanted.

Richard Blain (Peel) said that this was a serious matter, the figures showing that we were sending as many people to the United States as that country was sending to Canada.

Mr. Schaffner said that the figures quoted by Mr. Paterson could be explained by the fact that the new arrivals in Western Canada were prosperous American farmers, with many effects, while on the other hand the movement from the Maritime Provinces to the United States was made up largely of young people. He said there was plenty of room for these people in the west.

C. A. Magrath said this was the most important of all questions, because it affected the life blood of the nation. It was highly desirable, he said, that we should have more complete and accurate statistics so that we would know the exact condition of affairs.

ARE STILL AT IT.

Another Republican Raises the Annexation Bogey.

Washington, May 2.—Speeches on the farmers' free list bill in the House yesterday again sounded the note of Canadian annexation: traversed the whole range of argument concerning Canadian reciprocity, already disposed of by the House, and came back at time to specific attack upon or support of the free list bill, which has been pending for six days and gives promise of continuing for several more. At times less than a score of members were on the floor to hear the speech-making. Democratic Leader Underwood, at adjournment, expressed the hope that a vote may be reached Thursday or Friday, but many members wish to speak, and all desired time will be given.

Representative Madden of Illinois, in an hour's speech yesterday, touched the annexation issue.

"My hope is that if we can have closer commercial relations with the people of Canada," he said, "some day this relationship may blend the two peoples into one harmonious whole; and that the territory lying north of us may become a part of the United States, as it should be. I have always believed we should be one people, under one flag, and under one form of Government, and it will be better for us all when such a thing happens, if it ever does."

Messrs. Gillette of Massachusetts and Dyer of Missouri attacked the free list bill because it put jute bagging, used to bale cotton with, upon the free list, thereby threatening the bag-making industry of this country.

Mr. Cox of Indiana supported the bill and attacked opponents of the reciprocity measure recently passed.

Mr. Rucker of Colorado, Democrat, who voted against the Canadian reciprocity bill, attacked that measure in a speech favoring the free list bill. He said he had been criticized for not abiding by the action of the Democratic caucus in favor of reciprocity, but explained that he opposed the measure because he believed it unfair to the farmer.

In a speech lasting more than three hours, Senator Stone of Missouri, in the Senate yesterday, denounced what he declared to be an unjust propaganda to defeat the Canadian reciprocity bill. The attempt, he said, was being made to alarm the American people by painting the ruin that would follow the free importation of Canadian goods, the products of cheap labor. This contention, he declared, was absolutely untrue, as he submitted statistics gathered by both governments, designed to show that both labor and live stock were higher across the border than in the United States.

When Mr. Stone concluded Senator Gallinger asserted that the Missouri Senator had proved conclusively that there would not be the reduction in the cost of living which it had been contended, reciprocity would bring to the United States. Mr. Stone replied that he had not contended that in and of itself reciprocity would be of great benefit, but had undertaken to show that it would not produce great injury.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

A force-gale raged on Lake Huron yesterday.

The twentieth British Dreadnought was launched on the Clyde.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has purchased six lots in the west end of Montreal.

Penetanguishene electors voted for Hydro-Electric power by a large majority.

A C.P.R. train crew rescued a family marooned on lake from their burning dwelling at Whitneyville.

The military aviator Matievitch and his brother were killed yesterday at Sebastopol while make a flight.

Lydia Fontaine and Mary Corteau, young girls, were drowned while crossing White River, near Thetford Mines.

His Excellency Earl Grey, the Countess Grey and the Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey returned to Ottawa from Winnipeg yesterday afternoon.

The Liberal caucus at Ottawa discussed the question of taking over branch lines by the Intercolonial. Only a passing reference was made to reciprocity.

The Lachine Canal was thrown open yesterday and within a few minutes afterwards there had been no less than forty passes issued to vessels to pass through.

A tragedy occurred at Cambridge, P.E.I., on Saturday, when Hon Irving in a fit of rage, is alleged to have caught his aged sister by the throat and strangled her to death. Irving is said to have been insane.

McGill Students Arrested.

Montreal, May 2.—Dan Gilmore, son of Senator Gilmore, and "Buster" Mathewson, were arrested Saturday on a charge of burning the carriage occupied by Hon. Clifford Sifton at the anti-reciprocity demonstration in Montreal on March 20 last. "Buster" Prime was also charged, but he will not be in town till the hearing on Friday.

All three are McGill men, Liberals, and interrupted the procession of McGill students to the Windsor Hall the night of the Sifton meeting. They pleaded not guilty.

Treaty For Five Years

Anglo-American Peace Pact Will Soon be Signed—An Advance on the Agreement of 1907—The "Telegraph" on its Contents

MANY FORMALITIES

London, May 2.—The Daily Telegraph claims authority to state that the new Anglo-American peace convention is not likely to be signed for at least a fortnight, but that sufficient progress has been made to warrant a forecast of its subject matter.

According to The Telegraph, it is understood the agreement is to be for five years and that it will be a great advance over the treaty of 1907 and all similar treaties heretofore negotiated between first-class powers, inasmuch as it will contain no clause excluding matters of vital interest and affecting the independence of honor of the contracting states from arbitration.

Before the reference of any dispute to The Hague Court, it will be provided that the contracting parties shall conclude a special agreement clearly defining the matter in dispute, the scope of the arbitrators' powers and the period to be fixed for the formation of the arbitral tribunal. Such agreements on the part of the United States will be made by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, the British Government reserving the right, before concluding such an agreement in any matter affecting the vital interests of any self-governing dominion, to obtain the Dominion Government's concurrence therein.

$500,000 Worth of Jewels.

New York, May 2.—Customs officers, private detectives and the police department here, were all busy yesterday working on information from Scotland Yard that jewelry worth $500,000 and upwards, stolen in great part from Americans in England and on the continent is being distributed here piecemeal by an international band of crooks.

Some of the band are said to be women, and the understanding was that New York is supposed to be the clearing house for their operations. The arrest of the man believed to be the head "fence" is momentarily expected.

Mustn't Smuggle Furs.

Washington, May 2.—Chief Wilkie, acting head of the special customs bureau, warns all Americans who intend to buy furs in Canada this summer to make sure that their purchases will be delivered in a legitimate manner and not smuggled in.

Many Americans who bought furs in good faith last year in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, expecting them to be delivered duty free, have been obliged to pay heavy penalties.

Chief Wilkie says all who make purchases abroad to be delivered duty paid, should take receipts showing that fact.

Indian Burned to Death.

Montreal, May 2.—Mrs. Saiswenre Stacey, the 65-year-old wife of Tarongata Stacey, a venerable Indian resident of Caughnawaga, was burned to death in the destruction of her home by fire yesterday morning between two and three o'clock. Her husband, a man of 73, escaped with his life only by leaping from a second storey window. He is suffering from a badly contused shoulder and internal injuries.

Germany's Antarctic Expedition.

Hamburg, May 2.—The German Antarctic expedition will set sail on Wednesday on the steamer Deutschland. Yesterday Prince Henry of Prussia, made a final inspection of the vessel, and later gave a farewell luncheon for Commander Filchner.

Senator Gets $6,000 Job.

Ottawa, May 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House yesterday afternoon announced the appointment of Senator Roy, of Edmonton, as Canadian representative in Paris. The appointment was foreshadowed some time ago. The salary is $6,000.

Morgan After Telephones.

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—With the buying of the Bowling Green Home Telephone Co., in Kentucky, the first of a series of large purchases, which will entail an expenditure of $25,000,000, has just been completed. The lines, which have practically been secured, are in the south and west.

J. Pierpont Morgan is said to be back of this project. Certain telephone officials in Cincinnati say he intends eventually to secure every independent company in this country and that he is now in control of a majority of the stock of the Bell Telephone Co.

Ottawa's New Health Officer.

Ottawa, May 2.—The Board of Health has declined to make a selection from the list of almost a dozen applicants for medical health officer. The choice was left to the City Council last night, but the board recommends that the salary be $4,000. The appointee must hold an Ontario medical certificate, which puts out of the running about half of the candidates.

The Most Used Extensively

KRYPTOKS

Are supplied by the best Optometrists and Opticians throughout United States and Canada, and Peterboro is not slow in recognizing that it pays to pay a little more and enjoy the best possible aid to the eye. During the past few years the Optical Institute has supplied a a large number of Kryptok and Toric lenses, and the demand for these better qualities continually increases.

THE PETERBOROUGH OPTICAL INSTITUTE
In the Hyslop Building, Peterboro.
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1321 Machine 7
J. W. Strowess, Optometrist

REBELS ADVANCING.

Chinese Revolutionary Forces Are Routing the Troops.

Hong Kong, May 2.—Rebellion, brigandage, and anarchy are stalking through the western half of Kwang Tung Province, murdering, pillaging, and burning. The loyal troops are fighting desperately to crush the uprising, the seriousness of which is revealed in further despatches from Canton yesterday.

While the fighting was progressing in the streets Chinese gunboats patrolling the west river fired upon several parties of rebels, slaughtering 200 of them.

Retreating to the countryside the revolutionaries attacked and captured Sam Shui, thirty miles west of Canton, and murdered the prefect. The troops were put to flight, and the rebels moved on to Wen Chow and Woo Chow, both of which towns they took after slight resistance.

The viceroy of Canton, who took refuge on a gunboat after his palace was burned Wednesday night, has ordered troops to pursue the rebels in the country. The authorities appear from the latest advices to be in control at Canton. The gates of the city are closed, and no one is allowed to enter. A vigorous round-up of suspects is being made. Seven gunboats are stationed off the city.

The uprising began with a plot against the throne by anti-Manchus, who went to Canton in great numbers from Hong Kong. Their object was betrayed and the revolutionary movement was prematurely begun following an attempt to arrest the leaders. Successfully coped with in Canton, the revolutionaries appear to be abandoning that city and concentrating their attacks on the towns to the north and west. There are 30,000 troops in the capital of the province, and upon the loyalty of these the hope of the Government depends. Many of the troops have proved their faithfulness, and this appears to have influenced the greater body, suspected of disloyalty, to still obey the commands of their officers.

Southern B. C. Fruit Lands.

Montreal, May 2.—Private despatches from Vancouver state that the rush has already commenced to the fruit-bearing lands of the Columbia Valley in the Windermere district, south of Canton. This is where the C.P.R. has under construction the Kootenay Central Railway, and it is expected that this line will be a great influence in the opening up of this country. Fruit, vegetables, poultry, etc., can be placed on the train at night, and reach Calgary next morning.

Three steamers will ply on the Columbia River this year from Golden to the Windermere district, carrying passengers and freight, and it is not improbable that the C.P.R. will erect a new hotel in the near future overlooking Windermere Lake.

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not as all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are bordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialties of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 619. 160 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 380 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 364 Rubidge Street. Phone—Bell 864, Mach., 933. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Off 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 649. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 190 Hunter street, or at residence, 192 Hunter street. Telephone No. 68.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 376 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George H. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, &c.
Offices - 376 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 54

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 411 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, E. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 435 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public, Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church. Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. —H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis H. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. E. E. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetizing, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE H. BRIGGS

(Continued from Monday)

"Oh—Oh! Is that a corpse you hold there, Bradjaga?" he cried. His voice was hardly distinguishable above the roaring of the gale.

"For the love of heaven," shouted Velasco, "Moujik, if you have a heart under your sheep-skin, let me lay my comrade in the cart! He is faint with the cold, numbed. We have tramped all night in the snow. Are you bound for the market at Belais? Hey, stop! Moujik—Stop!"

"Get in," said the peasant, "The ponies rear and dance as if Satan were on their backs, and the mare is like one possessed! It is good to see the sun. Get in, Bradjaga, and if the burden in your arms is no corpse it will soon become one! The night has been hell. Boshe moi! At the first crossing to the left is a tea-house. Get along you brutes! Pour the vodka into his throat; it will sting him to life!"

The ponies dashed forward, the mare and the foals running behind. Velasco sat huddled on the floor of the cart, his violin and the knapsack slung from his shoulders; his arms still clasping the slight, dark form, protecting it from the jolting of the runners. He was muttering to it under his breath:

"Kaya—poor little one! Your curls are damp against my cheek; your forehead is ice! Courage, little comrade. Now — your heart beats faster —your eye-lids are flickering! Another moment and you will be warm and safe. The lights of the tea-house are ahead. Moujik—faster! We will drink a glass of vodka together, all three! Faster—faster!"

As the sleigh dashed into the court yard, the great red ball of the sun rose above the distant tree-tops: and behind the stable a cock began to crow, slowly, feebly at first, as if just awake and stretching his wings.

When Kaya came to consciousness again, she was lying on a pile of straw in a low rafftered room. She had dreamt that she was chained and in prison, and that something was choking her and weighing on her breast; but when she tried to move her limbs, she found that it was the blankets, wrapping her closely, and when she opened her eyes, she saw the face of Velasco bending over her, and he was trying to force some wine through her clenched lips.

"Where am I?" said Kaya faintly, "You are choking me, Velasco!"

She struggled to a sitting posture, leaning on one elbow, and peered up into his face. "What has happened?" she said again, "Where are we? I thought we were tramping through the snow and my feet were frozen! You are pale, Velasco, and your eyes are heavy!—Have I slept?"

Velasco glanced over his shoulder, and then brought his lips close to her face and whispered: "You fainted, and I carried you in my arms; the Moujik brought us here in his cart. You opened your eyes once and when we laid you on the straw you fell asleep. You slept so long I was frightened, Kaya—if it had not been for your jacket moving under the blankets, rising and falling softly, with the beat of your heart, you might have been dead; you were so still! Poor little one, you were exhausted. Bring a little and eat!"

"What time is it, Velasco?"

The sun was rising when we drove into the court and now, in another hour or two, it will be setting."

Kaya put her hand to her cropped yellow curls, and then she looked at him and a dimple came in her cheek:

"I forgot about being a boy," she murmured. "Is this what you call an inn, Velasco? It looks like a stable!"

"It is a stable."

Kaya looked at him again and began to laugh softly: "I forgot about being a gypsey," she said, "Your clothes are ragged and torn, Velasco; they are worse than they were that night in your Studio. And I—tell me—how do I look?"

"Like a little Bradjaga, sweet, and disreputable, and boyish!"

Kaya drew herself slowly to her knees, and then to her feet, brushing the straw from her velveteen trousers and the sleeves of her jacket. "They wouldn't let us in the inn because we were gypsies, was that it? They were afraid we would steal?"

The dimples came back in her face and she picked up her cap from the floor, dusting it with her elbow and cramming it down on the back of her curls. "Steal me a little bread, Velasco, I am hungry."

"Come back to your nest in the straw, Kaya, put your fingers in my pocket and steal for yourself. I bought a loaf with a couple of copecks, and some honey-cake. At sundown, when the peasants come for their vodka, there will be a dance. They have never danced to a Stradivarius before; but they won't know the difference, Kaya, not they! We will pay for the straw with a rollicking waltz—Ha ha!"

The gypsey musician caught his comrade by the arm and pulled her down on the straw beside him.

"Which pocket, Velasco? Oh, I feel the honey-cake bulging! Give it to me."

"No—take it yourself!"

"Your pocket is so deep; it is like diving into a pool."

"Not so deep as your eyes, Kaya. You thief! Ah, take your fingers away and pay for your bread."

"Are you fooling, Velasco? You look at me so strangely! Sometimes your eyes are slits and disappear under your brows, and now—Velasco. turn your head away—I am hungry. You make my heart beat! Velasco—give me the bread."

"Pay first and then you shall have it."

She stared at him a moment, drawing back into the straw. "I am a boy," she said softly, panting, "Remember I am a boy! Don't—tease me!"

"Just once, Kaya."

"No—Velasco."

The older gypsey glanced again about the low rafftered loft. The window in the rafters was hung with cob-webs; the light came through it dimly, a shaft of sun-beams dancing on the floor; they fell on her hair beneath the cap and the curls glistened like gold. Her eyes were watching him.

"No—no—Velasco!

He came nearer to her, and the straw crackled as he moved, stretching out his arms: "When you were weary, Kaya, I carried you. When you fell asleep I watched over you. It is not your heart that is beating so fast; it is mine! The colour has come back to your cheeks and the light to your eyes. You slept while I guarded you. My eyes were heavy but I dared not shut them; I watched the folds of your jacket rising and falling, the breath as it came through the arch of your lips; the gold of your curls against the straw; the oval of your cheek and your lashes. My eyes never closed—I have given up everything for you, Kaya, my life and my art."

He stretched out his arms to her again and his dark eyes gazed into her blue ones, passionate and eager.

"— Kaya!"

She put out her hand and touched his: "Sleep, Velasco. Your life is safe and your art. You have given them to me, but I will give them back again. Break off a piece of the bread, Velasco, and we will talk a little together while we eat. We have been such good comrades, you and I, and we care for one another—as comrades do. If you should die or —or leave me, it would break my heart—you know that."

"Ah, kiss me—Kaya! Let me take you in my arms! Come to me and let me kiss you on your lips!"

"You hurt me, Velasco, your hands are so strong! Not on the lips—Velasco—not on the—lips! I beseech you, dear friend—I—"

The gypsey held her close to him for a moment, his heart beating against hers, and then he turned away his head. "I love you, Kaya; I love you! Kiss me of your own will. I can't force you—how can I? Your hands are struggling in mine, but they are soft like the down on a bird's breast! Some day you will come to me, Kaya, some day—when you love me, too. When—ah! The touch of your hands, your hair against my cheek sets my blood on fire! Feel my pulse how it throbs! It is like a storm under the skin! I suffer, little Bradjaga—little comrade!"

"Don't suffer!" cried the girl, "Let me go, Velasco, let me go! We will sit here together, side by side; be my comrade again, my big brother! Laugh, Velasco! Smile at me! When you look like that and come so close, I am frightened! Don't tease any more! The bread is hard like a nut; see, I will crack it between my teeth. Where is the honey-cake, Velasco? Give me me a piece."

"Do you care for me, Kaya? Look me in the eyes and tell me."

The girl pushed him away from her slowly and turned away her head with a flush: "Is that your violin over there in the straw, lying in a little nest all by itself,—cradled so snug and so warm? It is charming to be a gypsey, Velasco. Are you glad I came to you, or are yousorr y? That night, do you remember the violets? I flung them straight at your feet! I wasn't a boy then, but I threw straight, Velasco, listen—I—I care for you—but don't—kiss me!"

"Kaya—Kaya!"

"Hush! Shut your eyes! Put your head back in the straw and go to sleep. When it is time for the dance I will wake you. I will sit here close beside you and watch, as you watched over me. Shut your eyes, Velasco.

"Won't you—Kaya?"

"Go to sleep, Velasco—hush!"

"If I shut my eyes—will you?"

"Hush!"

The sun-beams danced on the dusty floor, and the light came dimly through the cobwebs. Velasco lay with his arm under his head, his young limbs stretched in the straw, asleep. He mumured and tossed uneasily. There was a flush on his face and his dark hair fell over his brows and teased him, and he flung it back, half unconscious.

Kaya covered him with the blanket, kneeling beside him in the straw. She moved without rustling, drawing it in softly, and smoothing the straw with her fingers.

"It is my fault that he is lying here in a loft," she whispered low to herself, "He does it for me! His hands have been frozen—for me! They were so white, and firm, and supple; and now—they are scratched and swollen!"

She gave a frightened glance about the loft, and then bent over him, holding back a fold of the blanket. "He is asleep!" she breathed, "he will never know!"

She stooped low with her golden head and kissed his hands one after the other, lightly, swiftly, pressing her lips to the scratches. He murmured again, tossing uneasily; and she fell backwards in the straw, gazing at him, with her arms locked over her breast and her heart throbbing madly.

"No—he is asleep!" she said; "he is fast asleep! Another hour, and then in the dusk I will wake him. He will play for the dancing—Velasco! The greatest violinist in all Russia—he will play for the peasants to dance!"

She gave a little sob, half smothered. "It was wicked," she said, "unpardonable! I didn't know then—how could I know? If I had known! God, save him! Give him back his life and his art that he has given to me. Give it all back to him and let me suffer alone the curse of the Cross—the curse of the—Cross! Make me strong to resist him! Ah, Velasco!"

She was sobbing through her clenched teeth; staring at him, stretching out her arms to him.

—"Velasco!"

(To be continued)

BLOOD BAD IN THE WINTER

Indoor Life, Too Little Exercise, Breathing Impure Air, Eating Artificial Foods.

Is it any wonder that the system becomes poisoned with impure waste matter in the winter time, when you think of the artificial life we lead?

With doors and windows tight shut we breathe the same air over and over again until it is incapable of purifying the blood.

In vain effort to cast the poisons out of the system the liver and kidneys are worked over time until they too are played out. Then comes the pains in the back, the headaches, the attacks of constipation and indigestion.

The quickest and most certain way to overcome this condition is by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They act definitely and directly on the liver and kidneys, awaken them to renew energy in filtering poisons from the bowels and remove the cause of indigestion, backache and other body pains.

You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They are unique in their combined action on the liver and kidneys and for this reason stand without a rival as a means of purifying the blood and cleansing the filtering and digestive systems.

One pill a dose, 25 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. Sallie Stevens, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman

London, Ont.—I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was so weak and tired that I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it.—Mrs. Wm. A. Busby, 905 Dame St., London, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has surely cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

BRITISH TOURISTS

Arrangements for a Tour of the Maritime Provinces

F. W. Frier, publisher of the London Coloniser, has arranged to conduct two large parties of British tourists and home-seekers on a trip through Nova Scotia and New Brunswick early in the summer. The party will tour Nova Scotia, leaving Quebec via the Intercolonial Railway for Amherst. After a two-day sojourn there, the party will visit Oxford and Pugwash, and go to New Glasgow via Brown's Point on the short line. They will spend a day looking over the industries of New Glasgow and the surrounding country, and will go from thence to Sydney. They will be shown the many features of interest throughout Cape Breton, and the opportunities for farming and market gardening will be impressed on the visitors, many of whom are men of means, who are looking over Eastern Canada with a view to settlement. They will return from Sydney to Halifax by the I.C.R., and from thence will tour the South Shore and the Annapolis Valley. The party is to be personally conducted by Mr. Frier by special arrangement with the Nova Scotia government.

KILL ALL HOUSE FLIES

Earl Grey Advises Ottawa's Mayor to Inaugurate Company

Earl Grey wrote a letter to the Mayor of Ottawa, urging an immediate warfare on house flies. He suggested that a systematic campaign should be inaugurated, and calls on the Mayor to take the lead. His Excellency thinks that Ottawa, as the capital, should set an example to other cities, both in a campaign to kill the flies before they breed and in removing unsanitary conditions.

CORONATION CARD OF FINE DESIGN

The Official Invitations to Westminster Abbey are Remarkable Pieces of Workmanship

The card inviting privileged guests to Westminster Abbey for the crowning of the King and Queen on June 22 is a remarkable piece of workmanship and design. The card, which measures thirteen and a half inches by eleven and a quarter inches, is much larger than that used at the Coronation of King Edward. It is the work of Mr. Bernard Partridge, and has been engraved by the Swan Electric Engraving Company. The general design, which is admirable in conception, emphasises the maritime greatness of the British Empire, the sea, with the sun rising over it forming the fitting background for the entire design. In the centre is a beautiful winged symbolical figure of Britannia in classical drapery, carrying in her right hand the Royal sceptre, with the Cross, and in the left the Orb, the emblem of sovereignty. Perched on the top of her aureoled helmet, which is also winged, site a miniature British lion. On the right of the figure are shown the Royal Arms of King George and the royal monogram, "G.R." Beneath the medallion of the arms lie the sword of state and the trident. The Queen's Arms on the left of the central figure closely resembles those of the King, except that the letters "M.R." (Mary Regina) are here substituted. Below the medallion of the Queen's Arms is the cornucopia or horn of plenty. Six smaller symbolical medallions, three on each side of the feet of the central figure, surmounted by the Royal Crown, indicate the various Dominions of the Empire. The four stars represent the four provinces of the South African Union; the maple leaf of Canada; the rose, shamrock and thistle, the United Kingdom; the five stars, the five States of Australia, while the Indian and New Zealand symbols are readily distinguishable. Between six and eight thousand of these cards are being issued. The peers' cards, which are being sent out by the College of Heralds, are signed by the King himself. The others are issued through the Earl Marshal's Office, and signed by the Duke of Norfolk.

SWINDLER AT WORK

Clever Crook Who Took Several Thousand Dollars at Marseilles

The town of Marseilles has been victimized by a clever swindler to the tune of several thousand dollars. A good-looking and well-dressed man, calling himself Maurice de Larrain, who said he was honorary vice-president of the Lorraine Sporting Club, in Lorraine, arrived at one of the best hotels in Marseilles. There is no more patriotic town in France than Marseilles, and the recent arrest of the president of the Lorraine Sporting Club at a gymnastic fete in Germany made the new arrival a popular hero. De Larrain was interviewed, and his portrait appeared in all the local papers. He was wined and dined extensively, and gave several lectures on Alsace and Lorraine which were largely attended. Then one day he told the police that his pocket-book and cheque-book had been stolen in the street, and that he had received from the thief an anonymous letter, which showed. The stealer of the pocket-book wrote to say that unless $100 was given to the messenger at once he should send for it, he would hand over to Germany a document of great importance contained in the pocket-book. De Larrain told nobody what the document was, but excitement grew as excitement can grow in Marseilles, when next day the newspapers published a second letter threatening de Larrain with death if he continued urging the claims of Alsace and Lorraine in Marseilles. De Larrain told his friends that he thought it wiser to go away for a few days. He left without paying his hotel bill, after borrowing $100 apiece from thirty or forty different people to buy back "the important document." Inquiries have been made about him in Metz and at the Lorraine Sporting Club. He is not known there, and it is extremely improbable that Marseilles will ever see him again, unless the police, who are looking for him, succeed in finding him.

ABSOLUTE SECURITY.

Genuine
Carter's
Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of

Brent Good

See Fac-Simile Wrapper Below.

Very small and as easy to take as sugar.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

FOR HEADACHE.
FOR DIZZINESS.
FOR BILIOUSNESS.
FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION
FOR SALLOW SKIN.
FOR THE COMPLEXION

Genuine must bear Fac-Simile Signature

Purely Vegetable

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

No. 633

A new Antipon Bak, in latest design, suitable for medium and full figures. Duplex, rust-proof steels throughout. In sizes 19 to 30.

C/C

à-la Grâce
CORSETS

There is a model made that fits your figure to perfection. Be particular to get it and there'll be no difficulty in getting the "right hang" to your new gowns or suits. No other corset imparts such gracefulness and true dignity of style.

Ask for C/C a la Grace at the best stores.

Our new 1911 style book sent free if you write Crompton Corset Company, Limited, Toronto

202

THE BANK OF OTTAWA
ESTABLISHED 1874.

Capital Paid Up, Rest and Undivided Profits, $7,517,088.65

An efficient Banking service is essential to CORPORATIONS

MERCHANTS
BUSINESS FIRMS.

Peterboro Branch, GeorgeSt., C. G Wainright, Manager

FIRE - LIFE - ACCIDENT
PLATE GLASS - BOILER
INSURANCE

Agents for the strongest British, American and Canadian Companies
Licensed to Transact Insurance in all its branches.

LOWEST RATES in all cases

SPECIAL ATTENTION Given to the Settlement of Losses.

Get Our Rates Before Placing or Renewing your Insurance

Davis - Thompson Co'y
433 George Street. Limited

The most tempting breakfast is spoiled if the Coffee be of poor quality. But—every meal is a Banquet when you use

Seal Brand Coffee

Packed in 1 and 2 pound tins only. 126
CHASE & SANBORN - MONTREAL.

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart
Lindsay, Orillia, Mid-land, Gravenhurst	1.40 a.m.	2.35 a.m.
North Bay, Cobalt, Toronto	9.20 a.m.	4.25 p.m.
Port Hope and points East of Montreal and Ottawa	4.25 a.m. 4.35 p.m.	11.05 a.m. 7.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Orillia, Gravenhurst and west, Niagara Falls, Buffalo.	2.35 p.m.	11.05 a.m.
Chemong, Montreal and east.	2.35 p.m.	7.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Gravenhurst, Uxbridge & Scarboro.	11.40 a.m. 9.00 p.m.	7.35 a.m.
Havelock	10.15 p.m.	6.35 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.35 a.m.	5.35 p.m.
Havelock, Campbellford Millbrook, Butterfield, Minden	8.35 a.m.	8.35 a.m.
Perth, Montreal and East.	4.35 p.m.	1.40 p.m.
	10.20 a.m.	4.35 a.m.
Lakefield	6.15 p.m.	10.30 a.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Perth	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.35 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago,	6.35 a.m.
Sarnia, Chicago.	6.35 a.m.
Burleigh, Bobcaygeon, Orillia, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.20 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Great Lakes Service

FIVE SAILINGS WEEKLY TO
SOO, PORT ARTHUR FORT WILLIAM

Daily except Friday and Sunday from Owen Sound
Connecting Train leaves Toronto at 8.10 a. m.
AND AGENT FOR PARTICULARS
W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular
TOURIST ROUTE
TO MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 334 George St.
B. A. ROSE City Agent

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of
Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Nets, Hosiery

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
494 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. BRADBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of George and Simcoe Streets.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop
Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1254

Relieves CATARRH of the BLADDER and all Discharges in 24 HOURS

Sold by all Druggists.

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital - $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund - $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,355,5[illegible]
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,166,0[illegible]
Surplus $1,189,4[illegible]

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'
W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eggs for sale in any quantities.
Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262
Yards 124 Robinson Street
East City
Both Phones 264

IMITATION IS THE MOST SINCERE FORM OF FLATTERY.

That is why some dealers advertise various kinds of

SCRANTON COAL

There is only one genuine—that is the D. L. & W. Scranton. We sell at the following prices for May :—

Stove & Egg $7.00
Chestnut $7.25
Pea Coal $6.50

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 48

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 725 Georgia Street

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96

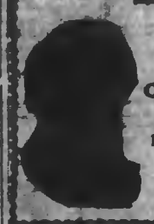
All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the City. Terms strictly cash.

COAL $7.50 PER TON

Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.

WEIR & O'BRIEN
Archie Weir. Jno. O'Brien.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.



Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

KEYS OF DEATH AND HADES

Sheol to Be Destroyed, Then Will Come the Shout: "O, Hades, Where Is Thy Victory?"

Sunday, April 30.—Pastor Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached today on the Resurrection, approaching the subject from another standpoint—the destruction of sheol, hades, the grave, the state of death. He considered a number of texts waiting his theme. He said:—

Death is spoken of throughout the Bible as an enemy. Merely hymnbook theology presents it as a friend, an angel sent of God. Death is introduced to our attention in the Bible as the penalty for sin, with the distinct understanding that had Adam not transgressed the Divine commands he need not have died, nor ever have been cast out of his Eden home. St. Paul emphasizes the fact that death is the penalty of sin and that the resurrection of the dead will come to mankind as the result of the redemptive work of Christ. He says, "Since by man comes death, by man also comes the resurrection of the dead. For as all in Adam die, even so all in Christ shall be made alive; but every man in his own order," band or cohort (I. Corinthians xv, 21-23).

As Genesis introduces death as a penalty for sin, Revelation concludes the great drama by pointing out Christ's victory and the destruction of sin and death, the release of all the members of Adam's family from his sentence and eventually the bringing of all the willing back to fellowship with God and to eternal life. Between these two extremes of Divine Revelation are the assurances of the Prophets and the words of Jesus and His Apostles explaining the processes of redemption and reconciliation. St. Paul summarizes these with the statement, "By one man's [disobedience] sin entered into the world, and death as the result of sin, and thus death passed upon all men, because all are sinners. * * * As by one man's disobedience [the] many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall [the] many be made righteous" (Romans v, 12-19).

In the poetic language of Scripture death is symbolically represented as a great monster which has been swallowing up the human family, never satisfied. Millions on millions have already been devoured. Mankind in vain has looked for a Deliverer—for one able to vanquish death and to deliver the prisoners from the great prison-house of sheol, hades, the grave. This monster was granted permission to devour the race by Him Who created us, because we were unworthy of eternal life. Death, therefore, is backed by the mandate of the Almighty, and He cannot overthrow His own decision.

The Divine proposition is that whoever would meet the requirements of Justice against Adam and his race might purchase or ransom them, and have full right to deliver them from the prison-house, the tomb. For four thousand years there were promises looking forward to this great Messianic Deliverer, but only promises—nothing was accomplished. Finally, in due time, God sent forth His Son.

He says that "He came not to condemn the world (not to add to its condemnation, not to add to its sorrow or pain or trouble or hopelessness), but that the world through Him might be saved" from death—have life, perfect and everlasting, deliverance from the jaws of the monster and from his prison-house. But although more than eighteen centuries have since elapsed, the race is being swallowed up of this great monster, death, more voraciously than ever—ninety thousand every day. His prison-house, sheol, hades, the tomb, is supposed now to contain twenty thousand millions of Adam's children. Why the delay? Did God's plans go awry? Was the Saviour insufficient for His work? Was His sacrifice imperfect and unsatisfactory?

The Scriptures assure us that the sacrifice that Jesus offered (Himself) was a satisfaction, "ransom-price," for the sins of the whole world. They tell us that the Heavenly Father manifested His approval of the sacrifice when He granted the Pentecostal blessing, and that Jesus is even now at the Father's right hand waiting (Hebrews x, 12,13) until the time shall come when the heathen and the uttermost parts of the earth shall be given to Him, that He may establish His reign of righteousness, blessing the world and releasing all the prisoners of Sin and Death.

The delay is not in any sense an indication of weakness, nor of any change in the Divine program. It merely indicates that there is another feature of the Almighty's purpose which we did not see a time discern. The work is to be a great one. Twenty thousand millions are to be delivered from death's prison-house. And all of them will need instruction, uplifting, chastening, schooling, to prepare them for the Divine blessing of life everlasting. The time for instruction and uplifting is declared to be a thousand years. The power for the instruction is the Messianic Kingdom, the Rulers of which will be Messiah and His Bride—joint-heir with Him in His Kingdom. During the past nineteen centuries God, by His Word and providences, has been calling and drawing a "little flock" to Christ to be His Bride.

And not until all of these shall be called, drawn, tested, proven faithful unto death as followers in the Master's footsteps, will the elect Body be complete and the slaying of the great monster, Sin and Death, be begun and accomplished. For that day the saints are waiting and praying, "Come, Lord Jesus, come quickly!" And for that day the whole creation is waiting, although not clearly informed respecting the blessings in store for them (Romans viii, 19, 21).

St. Paul points us to the great Deliverer, the glorified Messiah, at the time when He shall take the Kingdom and rule the whole Heavens and begin the fulfilment of the prayer He taught us, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as in heaven." He tells us He must reign until He shall have put all enemies under His feet—"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (I. Corinthians xv, 26). The meaning is clear. Messiah's Kingdom will address itself promptly to the rectification of every form of unrighteousness, financial, political, social, religious. He will rule the world with a rod of iron and every nation and every system or element contrary to the Divine standards of righteousness will be broken to shivers with His "iron rod." Thus will righteousness be established in the earth in the midst of "a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation."

But the putting down of sin will be but the beginning of Messiah's work. Satan being bound, and the reign of sin thus estopped, each transgression will receive a just recompense and each good endeavor a just reward. Gradually mankind will rise out of sin and therefore proportionately come from under the power of death, until all the willing and obedient shall be fully delivered from all danger as respects the monster which has devoured our race for sixty centuries. Not only so, but those twenty thousand millions who have gone into the prison-house of death will be released—not all at once, but gradually, as the Apostle declares, "Every man in his own order," or band.

By the close of the thousand years of Messiah's reign, His victory over Sin and Death will be complete. Every member of Adam's race will have been lifted from the prison-house of death. It will be a prison-house no longer, for there will be no prisoners in it; mankind will have been lifted out of the clutches of Sin and Death, weakness and depravity, by the processes of restitution, resurrection, uplifting (Acts iii, 19-23). The victory over sin will be complete, because all who love sin and are willingly its servants, after being released from the condemnation of the Adamic death, will be destroyed in the Second Death. Thus Adamic Sin and Death will finally be completely routed and the prison-house of death be broken up. And Adam and his family, not willingly sinners, will all be set at liberty—restored to human perfection, as the earth will be brought to Edenic perfection.

Then will be brought to pass the Divine prophecy, "O, death, where is thy sting? O, grave, where is thy victory?" (I. Corinthians xv, 55).

We must notice when this is to be brought to pass. It is not now true. The sting of death is in us all, for, as the Apostle explains, Sin is the sting of death. And because all have been stung by sin, all are dying. It will require the entire Messianic Age to fully extract from humanity the virus, the sting, of sin by bringing mankind to perfection. Only as the sting of death is removed will the power of death relax, because it is a part of the Divine Law that "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." Death now has its sting. But when that which is perfect shall have come, the sting will be gone, the imperfection and weakness will be gone, the cause for sin will also be gone.

Not now, but then, will be brought to pass the saying, "O, Hades, where is thy victory?" Hades, sheol, the grave, has been having a victory over Adam's race for over sixty centuries. And its victory will not be entirely overthrown until the Redeemer shall have delivered from the power of the grave the last member of the human family—for all of whom "He died, the Just for the unjust, to bring us back to God."

Thus, as the Apostle says, with the culmination of Christ's Kingdom, with the deliverance of all mankind from the power of Sin and Death, death will be swallowed up in victory. The Apostle probably quoted from Hosea xiii, 14, where we read, "I will ransom them from the power of the grave (sheol); I will redeem them from death: O death, I will be thy plagues (gradual destruction); O grave (sheol), I will be thy destruction; repentance shall be hid from mine eyes." The Almighty will never change or turn from this decision. Death and the grave, sheol, hades (the Bible hell), are to be destroyed. Every member of Adam's race is to be delivered by Him who redeems all.

A key is a symbol of authority and symbolizes a legal power to open the prison-house and to release the prisoners. Talmadic death has been a legal penalty upon our race—a just penalty. But although all shared the condemnation and weakness, God foresaw that some of the race, if granted the opportunity, would gladly return to loyalty to His laws. He has, therefore, made provision through Jesus for every member of the race, great and small, rich and poor. World-wide redemption will be provided and world-wide opportunity for the coming to a knowledge of the Truth and for being uplifted or resurrected will be afforded. The right or power to release mankind from the power of death and from the prison-house of the tomb, sheol, hades, the grave, is represented by the key in the hands of Messiah. He gained that key, that rightful authority to set us free from the grave, by the redemption which He accomplished for us at Calvary.

This figure of the prison-house was used also by the Lord through Isaiah the Prophet. Is it not written that the Lord was anointed to preach a message of good tidings to the meek, to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives of Sin and Death and the opening of the prison-house of death to those that are bound? And did not Jesus apply this very prophecy to Himself? (Isaiah lxi. 1; Luke iv, 18). Surely our Lord opened no earthly prison-doors at His first advent. But just so surely He (through) that His voice open the prison-doors and set all the captives free. His death, "the Just for the unjust," was in order that He might have the rightful authority to release the prisoners—by His death He opened the key.

Necessarily this glorious work will be consummated, and in the consummation of it the elect Church of this Gospel Age is invited to have a share. Hence the Church is called out from the world first under a special Covenant of sacrifice that she may with her Lord, the Redeemer, become part of the Seed of Abraham on the spirit plane (Galatians iii, 29).

"And death and hell (Hades) were cast into the lake of fire. This is the Second Death" (Revelation xx, 14).

In the symbolic language of Revelation, Messiah's reign is described as a glorious opportunity for all mankind to come back into harmony with the Almighty and to obtain everlasting life through the great Mediatorial Kingdom. The symbolic picture of which this text is a part, describes the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom, the saints of this Gospel Age being with Him in His throne, in His Kingdom, reigning with Him—a Royal Priesthood (Revelation xx, 4-6).

The context further describes that period, in which all mankind shall be brought to a knowledge of the Truth, when all will "stand before the great White Throne." Messiah's Judgment Throne, to be tried, to be tested, to be proven whether they will accept or reject the perfection and eternal life which Divine mercy will then make possible for them. During that thousand years of Messiah's reign, as we have seen, death will be gradually swallowed up in victory. And as the prisoners of the tomb are gradually released, the grave will be destroyed, will be no more.

The statement, death and hades were cast into the lake of fire, which is the Second Death, is merely another way of explaining to us that Adamic death, and the grave connected therewith, will be superseded by the Second Death. Any of the race who, by the close of the Mediatorial reign, will not have come up to perfection and will not have gotten entirely free from the power of sin and the tomb, will themselves be responsible for their wrong condition, their imperfection. The great Mediator will have done everything right, proper and necessary for all. Whoever then will come short of eternal life will himself only be to blame. And the trial time over, any not fully delivered, any still held by sin and death, will be willingly held, and all such will be turned over to the Second Death, destruction, symbolized by fire, from which there will be no recovery.

Let it be remembered that the Valley of Hinnom, outside of Jerusalem the earthly, where only the vile refuse was destroyed, will find its antitype in the Second Death, symbolically represented as a lake of fire outside the New Jerusalem. In it will be consumed utterly, completely, everything out of harmony with the Divine will.

In the New Testament, as we have seen, hades stands for the grave or state of death, which results from Adam's transgression; while Gehenna represent the Second Death, which will come only upon those who shall first have been delivered from the Adamic sentence, or shall have had at least a full opportunity for deliverance and who will manifest their love for sin more than for righteousness and who, therefore, will be sentenced to the Second Death.

But in the Old Testament there is no distinctive word used to represent the Second Death — the extinction which will be the penalty of personal, wilful transgression. To meet the difficulty the word sheol is used a second time. For instance, we read of some who will be wilfully wicked after enjoying a knowledge of the Truth—not merely inheritors of imperfection and weaknesses which they have not overcome, but intelligently wilful sinners—"The wicked shall be returned to sheol together with all people who forget God" (Psalm ix, 17). In our Common Version the prefix re is improperly omitted.

The "wicked" are only those who sin against light, knowledge and opportunity, and only those can be said to forget God who have once known Him—who have been brought to a knowledge of the Truth and turned from it. Truly, my hearers, the resurrection hope is the great theme of the Bible.

A Much-Licked Son.

It may or may not be true, but the story is told of the late Bishop DuMoulin. His son, living in Chicago, wrote on the fourth of July, and the letter started out this way:

"Dear Father: I am celebrating the day we licked you."

The old bishop wrote back and this is a free translation of one sentence in his letter:

"I would be celebrating every day in the year if I celebrated every day I licked you."—Weekly Star.

Undoubtedly True.

"Anyway," said the man who was getting the worst of the argument, "there's one thing no woman has ever done and probably never will do."

"What is that?" queried the fair suffragette.

"Spoil anything through silence," answered the mere man as he hurried away.

A Royal Letter.

Written by King Edward, when ten years old, to his sister, the Princess Royal, a letter has just been sold for $33.50.

Pay in Britain.

In five counties of Ireland the average pay of hired men on the farms is less than $2.43 a week, in all Ireland it is $2.74, in Wales and Monmouthshire it is $4.38, in England it is $4.46, and in Scotland it is $4.76.

Origin of "Grog."

Grog, the sea term for rum-and-water, got its name from Admiral Edward Vernon, who introduced the mixture in the navy. He was nicknamed "Old Grog," because he wore grogram breeches.

Explained.

Young Lady—You say you were on a raft for six weeks and had nothing to eat but mutton. Where did you get the mutton from?

Old Salt—Well, you see, miss, the sea was very choppy."

CAUTION!
A smaller quantity required than of any other extract.

The difference between "vanilla" (so-called) and Shirriff's

TRUE VANILLA

is a difference you never can appreciate until you have tried Shirriff's. It is a flavor revelation. Far stronger—and immeasurably finer—than the common kinds. Ask the grocery man.

Other delicious Shirriff flavorings are Lemon, Almond, Rotalia, Rose, Pineapple, Strawberry and ninety others.

Mexican vanilla bean gatherer.

EVERY WOMAN SHOULD READ THIS LETTER ABOUT

St. Lawrence Sugar

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

(Signed) MILTON L. HERSEY, M. Sc., L.L.D.
Provincial Government Analyst.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co. Limited
MONTREAL. 36

The Piano with A Soul

Is the name that has been given to and recognized as applicable to

THE MASON & RISCH

Piano. It embodies the highest perfection yet attained in Piano building, combining exquisite tone, beauty of design and thorough workmanship. We also have the popular Bell and Haines Pianos, making the choice a splendid one.

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies
MOTOR CYCLES

Competent Repair Man At Your Service

F. J. R. MacPherson Co.
Limited
341 George St. : Both Phones 386

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—
437 George St., City

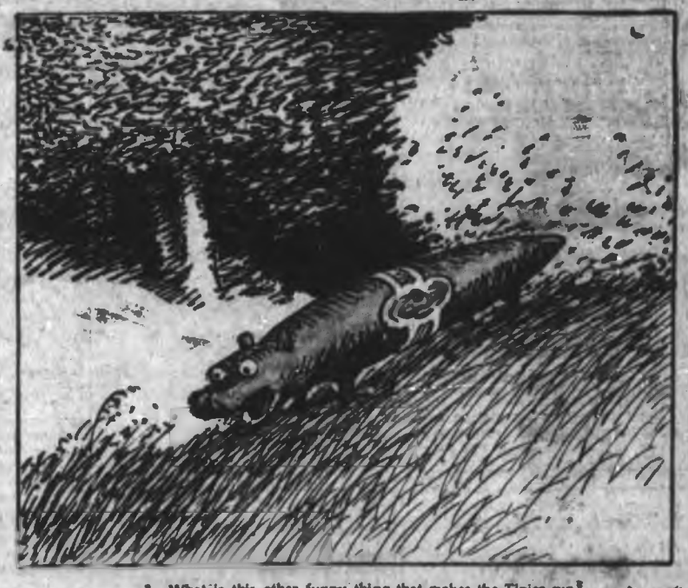
THE RAG TAGS AND BOB TAIL

(COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY THE NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved.

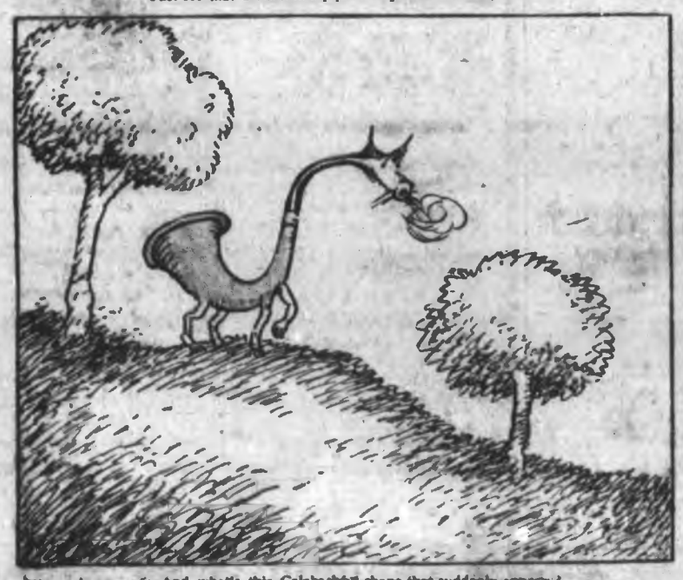
THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

1—"I guess we're in Tobacco-land," the Tiny Tads declare.
"Just see that Unicorncob-pipe who puffs around up there!"

2—He has a sort of troubled look, perhaps he wants a light.
Mosquitobacco too, no doubt, would be a welcome sight.



3—What is this other funny thing that makes the Tinies run?
It must be a Cigargoyle, for it surely looks like one.



4—And what's this Calabashful shape that suddenly appears?
It must be a Jackalabash, to judge him by his ears.

5—Oh, see! The rain has sent the Tinies running helter-skelter,
Until they find an Umbrellark who kindly gives them shelter.

6—The shower has passed but still the grass is wet and very long,
"You'll all get Kangaroomatiz," forewarns a Tiny Tad.

Do You Feel All Tired Out ?
Do You Feel Dull and Listless ?
Have You That All-Gone, No-Ambition,
Don't-Care-to-Work Feeling ?

If So You Have Spring Fever

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Is Without a Doubt

The Best Spring Medicine

It Has Been Used by Thousands Every Spring for Over Thirty Years as A SPRING MEDICINE

AEROPLANE WAR TO BE GHASTLY

Expert Says the People of the Big Cities Will Have to Find Shelter Underground

M. Mallet, a member of the French Aeronaut Club, analyses the various changes science has brought into warfare, and points out that though the more primitive weapons have been gradually replaced by rifle and cannon, the field of battle has hitherto remained the same. Aviation has, however, changed all this, and thus completely revolutionises military science. All the time, labor and money spent in fortifying frontiers is now useless. For no number of troops massed behind the ramparts will any longer be able to arrest the flight of the new warbirds. Thus the whole of the military edifice, which men and nations have given of their best to build, falls like a house of cards, and the education of the modern warrior must begin all over again. The conquest of the air has shaken the throne of Mars to its very foundation. In addition to instructive comments on the wanton waste of millions spent on weapons and dreadnoughts, which the flying machine will render obsolete, the author gives us a wierd picture of a battle in the air. Before it the imagination recoils in horror. We are told that in order to escape certain death the people of vast cities like London, Paris, and New York, which will inevitably be the objective of the aerial invaders, will have to seek shelter underground. Life under such conditions would be entirely changed. The whole race would be transformed and have to adapt itself to subterranean cities, where every day existence would be the living death of the tomb.

M. Louis Bleriot, who made the first flight across the Channel, spoke in the same vein. "A battle in the air," he said, "will present a spectacle infinitely more ghastly in its hideousness than anything on land or sea. I have no doubt that in a year or two military and naval flying machines will be able to carry explosives of the deadliest nature. With such formidable weapons the havoc wrought by belligerents will be of indescribable magnitude. If ever so horrible a struggle is allowed to take place. Can this calamity be averted? I am rather pessimistic on this point. The only hope is that the movement for international arbitration will receive an impetus corresponding with the activity displayed in inventing or perfecting engines of war." It should be remembered that M. Bleriot is actually engaged in promoting a company for building military aeroplanes in England, but so great is his aversion against war that he desires to see it abolished, even though this would mean that his company would have to go out of business.

ASSISTS THE POOR

King George Sends a Subscription to the Fresh Air Fund

The King has sent a subscription of $125 to the Fresh Air Fund. His Majesty has always shown the deepest sympathy with the aims and achievements of the F.A.F., which was able to give more than 20,000 poor children a day in the country last year and provide a fortnight's holiday by the sea for 4,000 others. As Prince of Wales, the King was a regular subscriber to the Fund, and three years ago, accompanied by the present Queen, he spent part of the afternoon with a thousand poor children in Epping Forests, and saw the F.A.F. at work bringing rosy cheeks and smiles to wan faces. The whole of the working expenses in connection with the Fund are borne by the promoters, Messrs. C. Arthur Pearson, Limited, the "Standard" Newspapers, Limited, the "Daily Express," Limited, and the Ragged School Union. Every penny of the money given to the children is used for the children's happiness. The King's $125 means a day in the country for 667 children who would never have a day's holiday were it not for the F.A.F., which, for a penpence can take one child for one day into the forests and fields.

NO PROTESTANT RIVAL

A New Production of the Passion Play Will Not be Allowed

There will be no Protestant rival to the Oberammergau Passion Play. Such a performance had been planned to take place at Eisenach, a little town at the foot of the famous Wurtburg, replete with historic associations with Martin Luther and the Reformation. But now the police of the Grand Duchy of Saxe-Weimar have stamped in and vetoed the play by refusing their sanction. It had been arranged to present a "Jesus Tetralogy," a play on realistic lines showing the last years and Passion of Christ, but differing widely from the Gospel version. The authorities held that this play was likely to give offence to people holding orthodox religious views. In the projected play Jesus was presented as a physician who had travelled in India, where he had imbibed the ideas of brotherhood and charity which are expressed in his teachings. Other sacred characters has been treated from a similarly free point of view.

THRIVING PRUSSIAN CITY

The youngest "city" of Prussia is Hamborn, which has been raised to its present rank by Imperial Cabinet order on attaining its 100,000th inhabitant. Forty years ago it had less than 1,000, and the scene of its thriving zinc and iron industries was an idyllic country landscape. Manufacturing wooden shoes, fishing, and going to church were the chief occupations of its people in those days, whereas to-day the rolling mills and social democracy take up most of their time and attention.

PRIEST WHO STOLE

Bouron's Remarkable Story of His Love Episode in Paris

A detective has arrested a priest for thieving in a big department shop in the Rue de Rivoli. The priest, whose name is Bouron, told an extraordinary story. He is an abbe in the Yonne department, and some weeks ago fell in love and eloped with the wife of the local judge. Bouron came to Paris with the woman, and put away his priest's clothes. He spent all his money, and dared not, he said, confess the fact to his companion. He was seen to steal two silk blouses and a silk petticoat. Declaring that love had driven him to theft, as the detective was taking him to the police station, Bouron drew a revolver and attempted to commit suicide. The policeman wrested the revolver from him, and he is now in prison.

OPPOSES MISSIONARIES

Mr. Lin Shao-Yang, in a book just published entitled "A Chinese Appeal to Christendom Concerning Christian Missions," protests against the "absurd, contemptible and demoralizing medley that forms the stock in trade of missionaries," and urges that China be left to work out her own salvation, as far as religion is concerned, without western interference.

GATEWAY MIDDLE WEST

Six Points Where American Immigrants Enter Canada

Between Kenora and the Rockies there are six points where United States immigrants enter Canada. The chief of these is North Portal, a few miles south of Moose Jaw. During every day of the year ending March 31st there passed ten carloads of settlers' effects—northward, ever northward. The total number of cars was 3,218, more than ten for every working customs' day in the year. And with the cars came the settlers—northward, ever northward. German-Americans, Swedish-Americans, Norwegian-Americans, Canadian-Americans, and Americans—all bearing northward, where land is twenty dollars an acre instead of sixty or a hundred. During the year there were 27,982 of these trekkers, nearly ninety a day. North Portal is the southern gateway to Saskatchewan and Alberta, as Winnipeg to the eastern gateway.

INDIANS GET CASH

The Songhee tribe of Indians, British Columbia, are no longer "poor." Every head of a family in the tribe is to receive $10,000 cash. There are about forty-five of them. The Province of British Columbia is to pay it. Their reservation within the limits of Victoria has been transferred to the Province. A new reservation will be given the Indians in return, the old one going to the Province. The Indians get the money in actual cash; it will not be placed in a trust fund.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION

Engineers have been instructed to begin at once on the location of the Canadian Pacific Railway line from Glentay, sixteen miles west of Smith's Falls, to Toronto, and it is expected that this railroad will be in operation in about two years. Steel will be laid on the new railway from Victoria Harbor to Bethany, near Peterboro', this year, and before the snow flies it is expicted that wheat will be hauled from that harbor.

Electricity for Farmers

The Ontario Government is sending officials to Europe to study the application of electricity to agriculture, with a view to extending to the rural communities the benefits of the hydro-electric system.

ITEMS OF NEWS FROM BRITAIN

"Hallelujah Chorus" Rendered by Gramaphone—Death of a Famous Swiss Guide

During a service in a Yarmouth church the "Hallelujah Chorus" was rendered by gramaphone.

Sir C. Dilke's Pictures

Twenty-nine old pictures and water-color drawings belonging to the late Sir C. Dilke were sold for just over $7,500.

Prince Henry Goes Flying

Prince Henry of Prussia, the German Emperor's brother, made a trial flight at Darmstadt in an aeroplane constructed by the Grand Duke of Hesse.

Victims of the Meter

Since the introduction of taxi-cabs there has been a great increase in cat mortality and a decrease in business, stated the wife of a cat's meat vendor at the Clerkenwell County Court.

Famous Swiss Guide

The death is announced at Davos, at the age of ninety-one, of Andreas Mettler, a famous guide and chamois hunter. In his eighty-sixth year Mettler made the ascent of the Schwarzhorn.

Could Not Hear the Sermon

When the offertory was being counted at a London church a peppermint sweet was found wrapped in paper, on which was written, "Please give this to the old chap with the bad cough."

Big Contract of London Firm

Messrs. Simpson, a London firm of engineers, have secured the larger part of a contract for the construction of waterworks at Buenos Ayres. The total cost of their work will be $2,000,000.

Wigan Railway Smash

Mrs. Margaret Work, whose three children and their nurse were killed in the railway disaster at Wigan in 1873, and who herself was injured, died at Highgate, at the age of eighty-three.

Sea Scourge

The "Isle of Wight disease," which has practically exterminated bees in the island, has spread much alarm among fruit growers. The disease is now said to be derived direct from poison in certain flowers.

Custodians of the Dead

Two terriers guarded the body of Herbert Morris, which was found on the railway line near Sutton Coldfield, and it was a considerable time before these faithful custodians could be coaxed away from the corpse.

Stuck Stamp on Forehead

Sticking a postage stamp on his forehead a broken-down Italian called upon the postal officials at Bologna to post him to Venice. Beyond providing a little amusement the man found that his humorous idea did not help him.

Fine Eagle Slaughtered

Unable to control his sporting instincts, a gamekeeper shot a magnificent golden eagle, measuring nine feet from tip to tip of wing, on the Downham Hall estate at Brandon, Norfolk. The eagle weighed 16 pounds, and is being stuffed.

Shot Through the Heart

Mr. George Boxall, a builder, of Pangbourne, was climbing a fence in a meadow when the gun he was carrying was accidentally discharged, and he fell shot through the heart. "Accidental death" was the verdict returned.

Smoothness of the Silk Hat

The hat suspender designed by the Rev. F. A. Adams, rector of Doddinghurst, near Brentwood, is arranged under the pew seat so that the silk hat, inverted, can be fixed by the brim to wire clips, leaving the glossy nap unruffled.

The Budget Baby

Political enthusiasm has shown itself in a baby being christened Augustus George Budget Oldfield. He was born shortly after the introduction of Mr. Lloyd George's 1909 Budget. His father, Mr. W. Oldfield, has for years been an ardent Liberal worker in North Camberwell.

Disfigured for Life

A Reading girl named Alice Prew was awarded £2,000 damages at Berks Assizes at Reading against Mr. G. Male, a Reading veterinary surgeon, for injuries received by being knocked down by a motor-car while she was cycling. The girl sustained a fractured jaw and has been disfigured for life.

His Fourteenth Rescue

"I'm wet through again," was the simple remark made by W. Lloyd, a boatman, of Port Talbot Docks, on reaching home after accomplishing his fourteenth rescue. Fully dressed, he had jumped into the main dock and saved from drowning a sailor from the Liverpool schooner Twig.

LOOKING FOR A BOMB

The Passengers Found the Engineer Under His Engine

An extraordinary incident has occurred on one of the suburban railroad lines. Growing anxious, owing to a long wait between two stations, the passengers got out of the train to investigate, and found the engine-driver lying on his back under the engine. In reply to questions, he declared that he believed a bomb had been placed under the engine, and that he intended to find it before it could do any mischief. The unfortunate man, who had completely lost his senses, was removed to an asylum.

TRAVELS 10,000 MILES

Seven Weeks Old Son of Army Officer Holds Record

Howard, son of Major and Mrs. Horace D. Bloombergh, who arrived in Atchison, Kansas, with his mother, since his birth, seven weeks before, has travelled 10,000 miles. He went from Manila to San Francisco on an army transport. He is believed to be the greatest travelled baby of his age in the United States.

NA-DRU-CO LAXATIVES

are new and entirely different from ordinary preparations. They accomplish their purpose without disturbing the rest of the system, and are therefore the ideal laxative for the nursing mother, as they do not affect the child.

Compounded, like all NA-DRU-CO preparations, by expert chemists. If unsatisfactory we will gladly return your money.

25c. a box. If your druggist has not yet stocked them, send 25c. and we will send them. 24

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited, . . . Montreal.

Library Voting Contest

Two Handsome Libraries of 80 Volumes Each with Oak Sectional Book Cases Will be Given Away in a Library Voting Contest

Below will be found the names of some of the progressive merchants of Peterborough who make this most popular and liberal offer. One library of 80 volumes and handsome sectional bookcases will be given by votes to the lodge, church, society, school or other organization in the City of Peterborough, and one library of 80 volumes to the schools, lodge, society, church or organization in the County of Peterborough, outside of the City of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes in the following manner. The business men listed below will give with each

5 Cent Purchase 5 Votes

The contest begins Saturday, April 1st, 1911, and ends Saturday, Sept. 2nd at 7 o'clock p.m. A ballot box has been placed in the E.L. Payne Drug Store, where the votes are to be deposited.

At the close of the contest the lodge, church, school, society, or organization, in the City of Peterborough, and the County of Peterborough outside of Peterborough, having the largest number of votes will be awarded the libraries.

Current Accounts when promptly paid will be entitled to votes

REMEMBER votes can only be obtained by trading with the Merchants listed below. Each week The Examiner will announce the standing of the contestants. The libraries and cases are on exhibition in E. B. Clegg & Co's show window. The following is a list of the merchants where votes can be secured:

Peterborough Hardware Co.
Hardware and Tools
368 George Street

E. B. Clegg & Co.
Fine Furniture
427 George Street

J. T. Stenson & Sons
Boots and Shoes
364 George Street

Young & Vandewater
Dealers in McCormick Agricultural Implements, High class Vehicles, Harness, etc.
388 Water Street

Robert Cox
Fresh Meats
461 George Street

R. Farthing - Photographer
Successor to Richmond Studio
147 Hunter Street

Pillsworth's Picture and Art Store
Picture Framing, Picture and Art Goods
345 George Street

STYLE STORE FOR MEN
H. LeBrun & Co.
High Class Ready-to-Wear Clothing and Men's Furnishings
386 George Street

Brock Street Roller Rink

Model Dairy Co.
Cream Milk and Buttermilk delivered in the City
281 George Street

Central Milling Co.
All Bags of Flour contain Library Votes according to value

Peterborough Lunch and Restaurant
330 George Street
WE NEVER CLOSE

T. H. Adams
Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Garments and Furnishings
Adams' Store for Women

Otonabee Boat House
H. S. Rye Prop.
Canoes and Boats for hire—Gasoline Launch Supplies

The Peterboro Examiner
Job Work and Advertising

F. C. Cubitt
Books, Stationery, Souvenirs and Fancy Goods
370 George Street

J. M. Greene Music Co.
Green's Music Bldg. Charlotte St.
New Beale Williams Pianos
Heintzman & Co's Pianos

C. B. Routley & Co.
Wall Paper and Chinaware
379 George Street

E. L. Payne
Chemist and Druggist
Corner George and Simcoe

HICKEY
High Class Tailor
434 George Street

A. W. Clysdale & Co.
Successor to W. E. Talbot
Wholesale & Retail Tobacconists
Importers of fine Cigars, Tobaccos and Pipes. 382 George St

W. E. Lech
Hats, Caps and Furs
366 George St. near Simcoe

Peterborough Candy Works
Fine Confectionery & Ice Cream
JAS. HAGGIS
382 George Street

Porter S. White
Grocer, Seeds, etc.
336 George Street

Wesley Bros.
The Clothes Doctors
Corner George and Brock Sts.

Miss E. Smith
Manicurist and Hairdresser
523 George Street

Peterboro Bowling Club
Shooting Gallery and Billiards
[illegible] George Street

A. E. Micks
Stoves and Tinware
212 Hunter Street

F. S. Schneider & Co.
The Watchmaker and Jeweler
Issuer of Marriage Licenses
391 George Street

J. W. Boorman
Bread and Cake Bakery
55 Hunter Street

Robert Gibbs
Hacks and Livery
431 Water Street

Geo. Ruth & Company
Real Estate
395 Water Street

A. McGiverin
City Millinery Parlours
431 George Street

DUTTON & COMPANY

Pine Apples — Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes — Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c

Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

Renew Your Examiner Subscription

Zam-Buk

SURE CURE FOR SKIN-INJURIES & DISEASES.

A purely herbal balm; best thing for the tender skins of children, yet powerful enough to heal an adult's chronic sore; highly antiseptic; eases pain and smarting soon as applied—that is Zam-Buk. Remember it is purely herbal—no mineral poisons, no animal fats. Power and purity combined!

All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box.

He Did Age Made Free From Suffering

BY GIN PILLS

Annapolis, N.S.

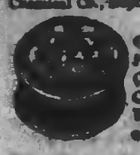
"I am over 80 years of age and have been suffering with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for fifteen years. I took doctors' medicine but got no help. I want to thank you for sending me the sample box of GIN PILLS.

I have taken six boxes of GIN PILLS altogether but got relief before I had taken over three doses. I had to get up seven nights every fifteen minutes and had to use an instrument before I could urinate.

Now, I can lie in bed from ten o'clock without getting up. I can say that GIN PILLS have nearly cured me and I shall always keep a box in the house."

W. H. Bishop.

Do as Mr. Bishop did—write us for free sample box of GIN PILLS and see for yourself just how much they will do for you,—then buy the regular size boxes at your druggist's—50c. a box. GIN PILLS are sold with a positive guarantee of money back if they fail to give prompt relief. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto, Ont.



The original Gin Pills made by National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, Toronto, are sold only in this box.

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of

Vegetable and Flower Seeds

from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:

EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN BROWN SETS and MULTIPLIERS

Golden Bantam Corn

Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year

Prepared Fertilizer

For LAWNS and GARDENS

Porter S. White

326 George St. Phone 208

City Agent for West End Green House

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.

West-End Greenhouses

W. C. MEAD, Florist

Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

Baking Suggestions for May

Graham Biscuits
Oatmeal Scones
Brown Bread
Currant Bread
French Pastry
German Pastry
Fruit Cakes

ICE CREAM
"Coleman's Quality"
Sodas and Sundaes

Order your Wedding Cakes
from us

COLEMAN

BROS. 426 George St.

Up-to-Date
Cigar Store

A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from

D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

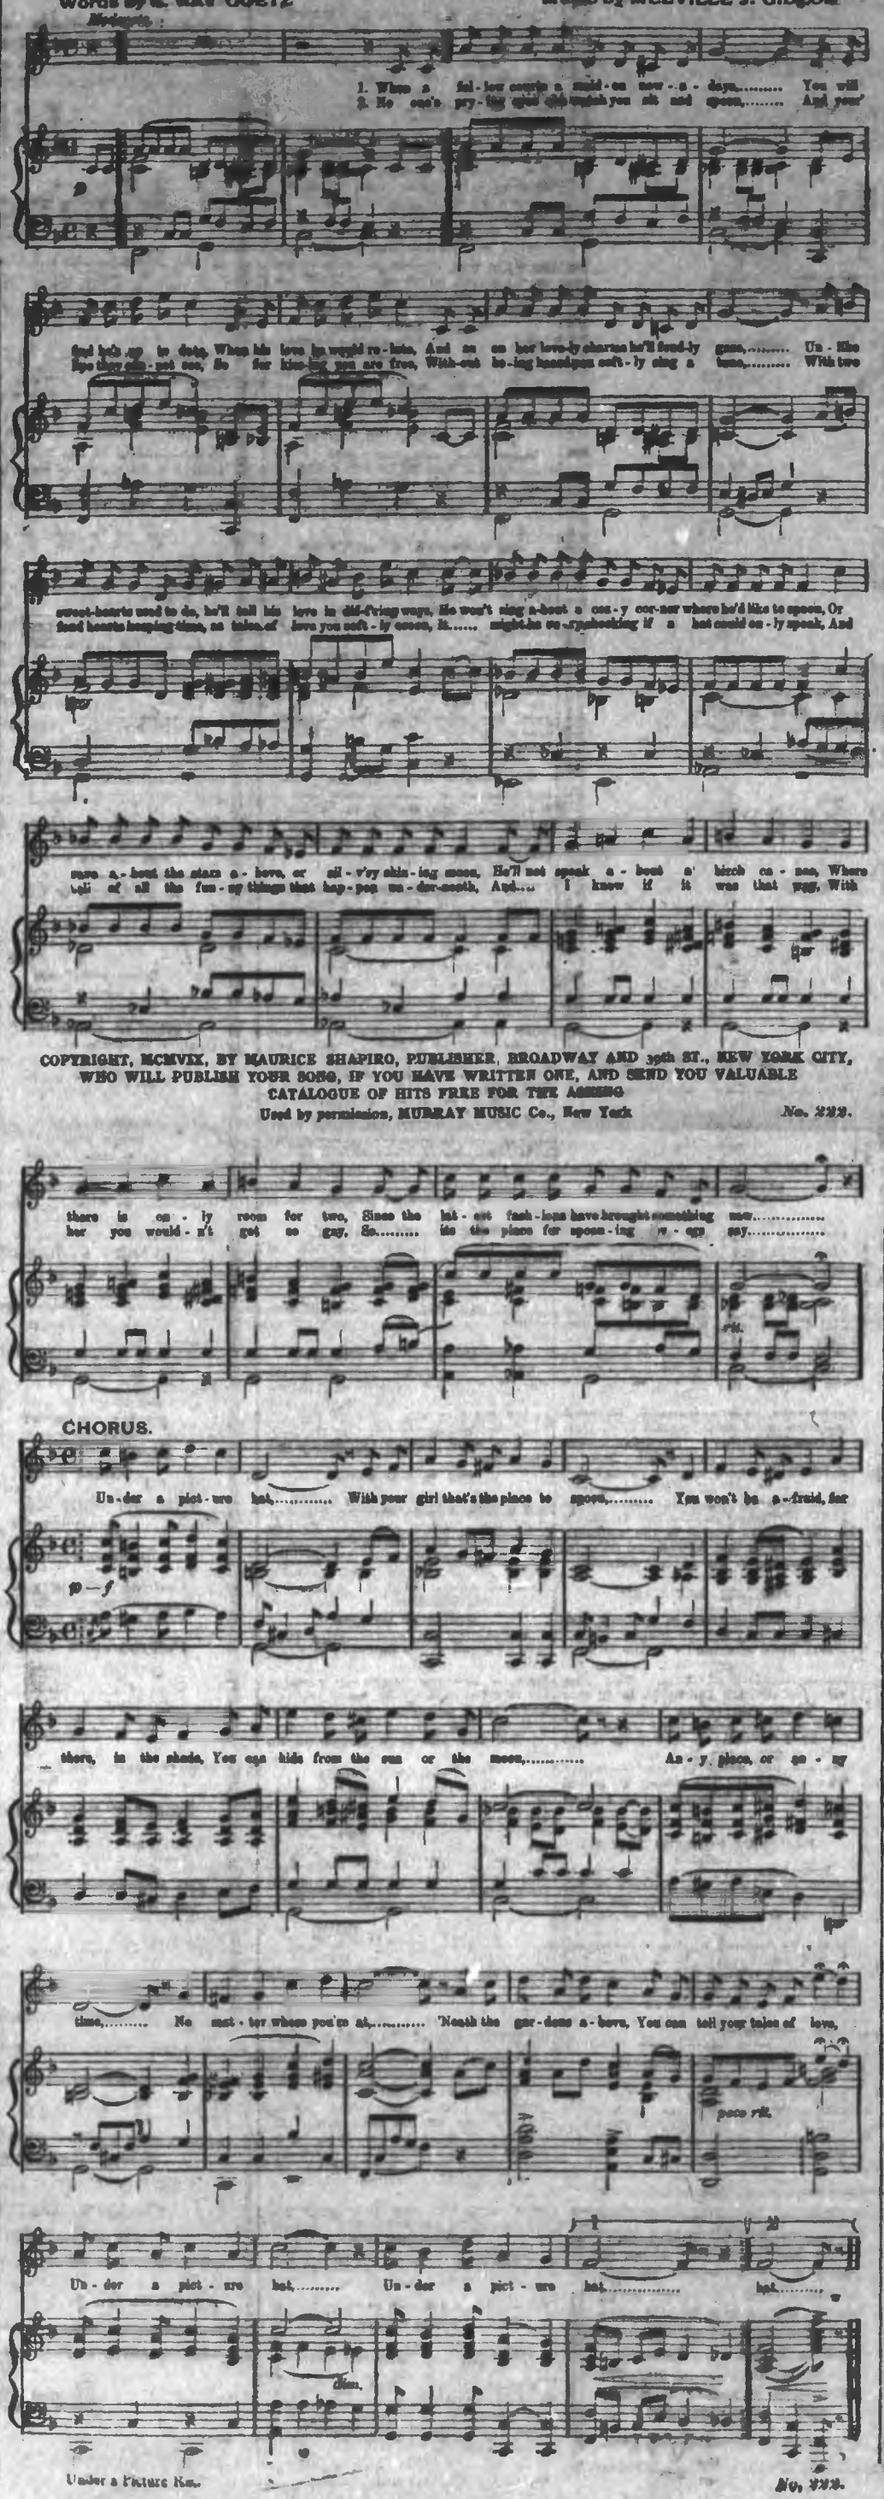
UNDER A PICTURE HAT

As sung in the big musical production

"IN AFRICA"

with ADAMS & YORKE

Words by E. RAY GOETZ — Music by MELVILLE J. GIDEON



COPYRIGHT, MCMVIX, BY MAURICE SHAPIRO, PUBLISHER, BROADWAY AND 39th ST., NEW YORK CITY, WHO WILL PUBLISH YOUR SONG, IF YOU HAVE WRITTEN ONE, AND SEND YOU VALUABLE CATALOGUE OF HITS FREE FOR THE ASKING

Used by permission, MURRAY MUSIC Co., New York

The Implement OF THE NATION

A NECESSITY TO ALL CLASSES.

To the Farmer, in his Business and Home Life.

The Commercial Man in his Office and Every Department of his Establishment.

The Manufacturer, for the Manager and the Departments he Controls.

The Professional Man for Prompt Communication with City and Rural Subscribers.

In Every Home, as a Time-Saver, a Labor Saver, a Protection, and for the Social Life of Wife and Family.

The Bell Telephone Company's Universal Service

meets every requirement.

1400 Subscribers connected with the PETERBORO EXCHANGE. Rural Service throughout the district. Rates to meet the requirements of all.

LONG DISTANCE EVERYWHERE.

For full particulars consult the Local Manager.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

Something Artistic

It is Mr. Mendel's delight to hear his customers say there is "Something Artistic" about his photos that is peculiar to his work.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374 George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.

Agents for Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Siding, Pioneerers Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.

All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing

Including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.

Maitland & Moore

General Roofing Contractors

Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Alex Gordon's Meat Market

is stocked with some prime beef —better has never been shown in Peterborough before.

CALL AND SEE IT

Also a full supply of

LAMB
MUTTON
PORK

Specially Selected for Holiday

Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.

Alex Gordon

Butcher • Market Arcade

At the Right-End

of things are the men and women who never wait 'till cash is in hand when a new wardrobe is needed. Try their habit of using our method of

Superior Clothing On Credit

and you'll be, like them, at the head of life's procession. Call and we'll explain.

LADIES' SUITS

Ladies' Suits $9.00

MILLINERY

All kinds of trimmed Hats and Shapes.

MEN'S CLOTHING

Suits, Overcoats, Raincoats and Pants.

Housefurnishings—Carpets, Linoleums, Square Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains all at reduced prices.

CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE

Opposite the Custom House. The Best Credit Clothiers in the City

311 GEORGE STREET

A 10 to 1 Shot—The chances are 10 to 1 that you will die before your house will burn. Then, your life is 10 times more important than your house, or should be. Is your life as well insured as your house? If not, get particulars from The

MANUFACTURERS' Life Insurance Co.

THOMAS MARK

General Agent, Bank of Commerce Bldg Peterborough - Ont.

COAL

I desire to thank all my customers for their much appreciated patronage the past year, also to state that May prices are as follows:

Egg and Stove Coal $7.00 per ton
Nut Coal ..... $7.25 per ton
Pea Coal ..... $6.50 per ton
Also the very best Hardwood at ..... $6.00 per cord
Cutting and Splitting Extra

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's

Cor. Hunter & Aylmer Phones 191

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 788

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH

143 Simcoe Street South

MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

House Phone No. 788

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavestroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

Spring Dated!

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and we will do wonders to perfect the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 669
394 Charlotte Street, Bell 670, Mach. 36

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

12 Pages

The Evening Examiner.

Pages 7 to 12

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MAY 2 1911

The Board of Trade Endorses the Industrial Commissioner

AGREEMENT WITH C. P. R. IS FINALLY PASSED BY THE COUNCIL

The Council Insists Upon the Resignations of the Two Firemen

INFLUENTIAL DEPUTATION URGES RETENTION OF MR. DUGGAN AS INDUST. COMMISSIONER

Writ Upon the Council and Messrs. D. O'Connell and W. H. Denham as Spokesmen Show Their Confidence in Mr. Duggan and Eulogize His Fitness for the Position

ACTION WAS DEFERRED

Despite the presence of a large deputation representing the Board of Trade and other prominent citizens, to urge that the office of Industrial Commissioner be retained, that Mr. Duggan, the present commissioner, be engaged for another year, and that the matter be settled immediately, the Council last night decided to give the subject further consideration. The Manufacturers' committee had taken up the question at a meeting in the afternoon and had reported recommending that the office be continued and that the matter of appointing the Commissioner be left with the committee and a committee from the Board of Trade. There was a very large attendance of citizens in the deputation the speaking being done by Messrs. D. O'Connell and W. H. Denham. The particular clause in the report affecting the Commissioner goes back to the committee of the Whole for further discussion.

Ald. Buller, chairman of the Manufacturers' committee read and moved the adoption of the following report.

Gentlemen, — Your Manufacturers committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the department of the Industrial Commissioner be continued for another year and that the matter of engaging a commissioner and other matters in connection with the office be left with this committee, together with three representatives of the Board of Trade, with power to act, and that the City Treasurer be authorized to make payments out of the appropriation made for this department on the order of the committee.

2. That a by-law be submitted to the electors to provide for purchasing that part of Park Lot No. 3 between George and Aylmer streets to add to the King Edward Park, of lots Nos. 9 and 10, north of Hunter and west of Mark streets, and of land in the west for a park or playground,' and that this committee make further enquiries regarding land in the west for this purpose.

When the report was read, Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Graham, that Clause 1 be struck out and referred back to the Manufacturers' committee to discuss and report back to the Council.

Mr. O'Connell stated that there was a large deputation of citizens present who were anxious to be heard before the matter was settled and on motion it was decided to hear the views of the visitors.

Mr. O'Connell reviewed the steps that had been carried out in the establishing of the office of Industrial Commissioner and in the securing of Mr. Duggan for that position. He pointed out that the Board of Trade had secured subscriptions from citizens to the amount of $2900 and the council had granted $2000 to pay for the office during the first year and it had been decided that the office was to be in charge of the Board of Trade. A committee had been appointed by the Board to look after the matter and he (the speaker) had been made president of that committee. They had advertised for applicants for the position and had selected Mr. Duggan from a large number. He had come most highly recommended and the speaker could say that he had fully and satisfactorily lived up to what had been said of him. During his term of office the Board of Trade had been in touch with him and he did not think that it was possible to make a selection in any sense as satisfactory to the people of Peterborough. Mr. Duggan's work had been eminently satisfactory to the Board of Trade. He had worked hard and had been faithful and earnest. That he had not secured more industries was not to be wondered at; it was not claimed that it was possible for anyone to get in many industries in one year. It was only possible to lay the foundation and Mr. Duggan was in touch with a number of concerns that he was sure would come to fruition during the year. Acting on instructions from the Board of Trade he had devoted a good deal of time to the water power question and had been unremitting in his attention to this important matter. It had been felt that if Peterborough was to go ahead the city

(Continued on page 11.)

EXAMINER WANT AD. BRINGS A HOST OF APPLICANTS

The following letter received by the Examiner is self explanatory.

Dear Sirs,—Please take out the advertisement running in your paper asking for domestic aid. Before 8 p.m. on Saturday evening no fewer than seven persons had answered the advertisement, and the door bell was rung so incessantly that I had to leave the house. If people want to find out how many want domestic employment in this city, they should advertise in your paper,

Yours,
Q. F. D.

OFFER FREE POWER TO CITY FOR ADVERTISING PURPOSES

At the meeting of the City Council last night a proposition was read from the Electric Power Co., Limited, offering to supply for advertising purposes to the city, electric current free of all expenses sufficient to light one 50 Watt Tungsten lamp for each 100 inhabitants over and above 5,000. The company advises that special illumination of the business sections and of the streets leading to the stations might be the best form of advertising.

The matter was referred to the Fire Water and Light Committee and the clerk was instructed to write and thank the Electric Power Company for their generous offer.

REPAIRS TO BE MADE TO POLICE COURT AND STATION

The police court and police station are to be enlarged and repaired.

At least a motion was put through the city council last night asking the City Trust Commissioners to go ahead with the work after the plans drawn up by Mr. Blackwell have been approved by the council.

Ald. Duncan, in introducing the matter, pointed out the need of repairs at once.

Ald. Buller did not think it a good policy to spend much money on the old building when a new city hall was being talked of.

Chief Thompson pointed out that in Toronto and Hamilton they were discussing the advisability of taking their police courts away from the city buildings. At all events the present quarters were in bad shape and improvements were needed.

THE PROPER CELEBRATION OF CORONATION DAY

In connection with the great celebration proposed to be held on Coronation Day, the Reception Committee now has the matter in hand, and may be depended upon to handle the matter with prompt action. It has also been suggested that the military authorities, the City Council and the Chimes Committee co-operate with a view to holding a magnificent celebration on that day.

A number of representative citizens were present to bring the matter to the attention of the City Council last night, but through some mistake, the opportunity was lost. Peterborough has a unique opportunity in the inauguration of the largest chimes in Canada, and there is no reason why it should not come before the whole country, if an energetic effort is made. Prompt action is necessary to assure the assistance of leading men, who will be otherwise engaged later on.

An old boys' reunion has also been suggested in connection with the inauguration, and some steps might be taken in this direction, for, no doubt there will be numbers of former citizens who will desire to be present on this occasion.

CARTERS FORBIDDEN TO DUMP ANY REFUSE ON WATER STREET

Mr. James Stubbs, of 659 Water St., complained in the Police Court this morning, that Mr. Edward Flaherty, Carter, dumped ashes, and refuse of an objectionable character on the ash dump on Water St., in front of his residence. His Worship, Magistrate Dunable, dismissed the case with a warning that in future all carters must not dump any more refuse on this dump. Mr. Stubbs stated that he had lived on the street for four years, and that during that time he had to complain about several times about the same thing, and about the same man. Mr. Flaherty denied depositing any offensive material there. He said that in carting ashes, the grass and leaves off the lawns were mixed up with them, but he failed to see any thing wrong with dumping leaves there. Mr. Stubbs argued that there was a terrible stench off the place, and that all the people on the street would be willing to sign a petition to have the carters stopped from dumping refuse there. His Worship thought that if this was the case, that it would be better to stop carters from dumping any kind of material there.

Thomas McDonald was charged with vagrancy. He pleaded not guilty, and the Chief gave evidence which proved the accused was guilty. In view of the prisoner's record and the evidence taken in the case His Worship decided to send him back to Cobourg where his home is. He had been in the city only a week, but had been drunk all the time and that is why he landed in Court. McDonald was here a year ago in the same condition and was sent out of the city for good, but he broke his promise to stay away, and paid another visit, with the stated results.

OLD PEOPLE

Made Strong by Vinol

A prominent Boston lawyer says: "My father is eighty years of age and he owes his present strength and good health to Vinol.

"During the last two trying winters he never had a cold, and was able to walk farther and do more than for years.

"I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making and strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."

We wish every feeble old person in this vicinity would try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermaid and Jury, druggists; also Payne's drug store.

DEP. CHIEF AND CAPT. MUST RESIGN

$16,000 NEEDED FOR SOME CHANGES IN CITY SCHOOLS

Deputation From Board of Education Waits Upon the City Council to Urge that Work be Done at Once---Would Have to be Carried Out During the Holidays---Top Flat of King Edward School to be Completed---New Heating and Ventilating System for Old Collegiate and Vestibule and Outside Stairs for the Central.

At last night's meeting of the city council a deputation representing the Board of Education with Messrs. John Crane, the chairman of the Board and Dr. Morrison as spokesmen was present and laid before the council the necessity of the immediate expenditure of some $16000 on repairs and alterations at the Central and King Edward schools.

Mr. John Crane, the first speaker, pointed out that it would be necessary to have the contemplated improvements carried out during the summer holidays. Speaking of the King Edward school, he explained that it was a twelve room school, of which only eight rooms had been finished, the top flat being left uncompleted. There were four hundred pupils in attendance there now and there was no accommodation for some thirty pupils who could go only half a day. Two more rooms at least would be required before the beginning of the next term and it was proposed to finish the top flat of the building. In the old Collegiate building a new system of heating and ventilation would be necessary—in fact the government grant would be withheld on the recommendation of the provincial inspector unless some improvements was made. A new retaining wall would also have to be constructed.

The Central school itself was not in proper shape for children at the present time. The halls were dark, the floors were all gone and the building had always been a fire-trap. It had been suggested to put two vestibules at the south and west of the present school and to remove the stair-cases to the outside of the building.

The cost of the work outlined in the different schools had been estimated at $16,000, and he asked the council to do something in the matter at once.

Ald. Duncan was of the opinion that some of the money asked for might be used to advantage on the west ward school, which he thought was hardly fit to send children to.

"I hope you are not going to spend any money on the East Ward school," remarked Ald. Morgan. "The old building should be torn down."

Mr. Crane remarked that the repairs were needed immediately. He admitted that the conditions in the West and East Ward schools were not as they should be, but said that they would receive attention in due time.

Dr. Morrison, in supporting the request of the Board, said that he did not agree with those who proposed that the old Central school building should be torn down and replaced by a new one. The suggested alterations would make the Central an up-to-date first class school that would serve its purposes for a couple of generations and it would seem a misfortune to tear down such a building.

On motion of Ald. Duncan and Brown, the matter was referred to the Finance committee.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Special to The Examiner

QUEBEC, MAY 2.—Five children of Phileas Patry were burned to death late Sunday night in the destruction of their home in an isolated parish of Saint Sophie, near here. The parents were away at neighbour's and found the house in flames on returning. Three thousand pounds of maple sugar were destroyed.

AFTER BUT 24 DAYS WITH US

Mrs. I. M. McKenzie, 41 Dunn Ave., takes a position at $12 weekly. with the Empire Refining Co., 466 King St., E. She enrolled at Moon College, February 7th, 1911.

Remittance Man Dead

Special to The Examiner

TORONTO, MAY 1.—George Cowling, 57 years old, died at the General Hospital on Saturday, and his body was brought to the morgue, where as yet the body remains unclaimed. Cowling was a Yorkshire man, and is thought to have wealthy relatives in England, from whom he had been receiving a remittance of $v00 a year. He was a marble cutter and had been employed by the Coughlin people of Peterborough, who have been notified.

His body can only be held at the morgue for another 24 hours, when, if still unclaimed, it will be handed over to Mr. Harry Ranks, inspector of anatomy.

It is learned that the deceased never lived here as reported.

AVIATOR IS FATALLY HURT

Special to The Examiner.

BERLIN, GERMANY, MAY 2.—Lieut. Power, while aeroplane experimenting for the German Army, fell 150 feet and was fatally hurt.

Caused By Cigarette

Special Wire to the Examiner.

BANGOR, MAINE, MAY 2.—It is thought now, as the result of police investigation, that the three million dollar fire here the other day, was the result of a cigarette butt being thrown into hay by a party at a poker game.

TRUE BILLS ARE RETURNED

Special Wire to the Examiner.

TORONTO, MAY 2.—The Grand Jury at the criminal assizes to-day returned true bills for conspiracy in the Farmers' Bank cases against John Watts, Dr. John Ferguson, Alexander Fraser, E. S. Law, J. J. Warren, J. R. Stratton, M.P., C. P. Smith and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt.

Former manager Travers was in the Court as a witness, looking as if he is standing the prison treatment well.

12,000 MEN TO GO ON STRIKE

Special to The Examiner.

PITTSBURG, MAY 2. — If the Pennsylvania Railroad officials do not give recognition to organized labour within 48 hours, say the union officials to-day, twelve thousand men will walk out of the big shops at Altoona, and the whole system will be tied up.

HE WAS PARALYZED

Mr. William J. Brereton, Western Hill, St Catharines, Ont., tells what it feels like to be paralyzed. He lost power of speech, face was drawn out of shape, met flesh, could not sleep. Five doctors failed to help him. Electricity proved ineffective. He used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food until his former good health was restored. Face was restored to shape, power of speech returned and he gained in weight. Says he would not return to former condition for all the gold in the country.

THREE MILLION MATCHES GONE

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, MAY 2.—Three million boxes of matches were burned in a fire in the stock room of the E. B. Eddy Co., Hull, to-day. Spontaneous combustion was the cause.

Duel To The Death

Examiner Special:

NEW YORK, MAY 2.—Walter Obolskey and Mackay Movski, Russians, rivals for the hand of a beautiful country woman, fought a duel to the death for fifteen minutes, with a crowd of acquaintances looking on. Obolskey was finally killed, the blade of a knife having passed through his body and protruded from his back. The other man was arrested.

THREE PEOPLE ARE DROWNED

Special Wire to The Examiner.

EDMUNDSON, N.B., MAY 2.—Two men and a boy were drowned while crossing St. John's River. The cable used for ferrying across broke and let them down, and they were dashed over the Falls.

On Thursday, May, 4th., the steamer Islinda will leave Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train for the lakes returning to connect with 4.40 train for Petesborough. td
Stoney Lake Navigation Co

DRANK LYE AND IS DEAD

Special to The Examiner:

SHERBROOKE, MAY 2.—During the absence of the mother, the two-year-old son of Mrs. Marison, of Danville, drank half a pint of lye, used for making soap, and is dead.

KILLED BY A STORM

Special to The Examiner:

SCRANTON, PA., MAY 2.—In a lightning and wind storm sweeping down from Canada last night, a girl and man were killed by lightning, and several persons were hurt by falling signs and poles.

"THREE SWALLOWS"

Six John Power and Son's
"Three Swallows" Irish Whiskey—
Famous for over a century.
Of highest standard of purity.
Distillers to His Majesty the King.

HEARING DEPUTATION

Special to The Examiner:

WASHINGTON, MAY 2.—The Senate Finance Committee started to-day hearing scores of deputations for and against the Canadian reciprocity bill and expect to report the same to the Senate at the end of the week.

BIRTH

STURGEON—At 202 Charlotte street, Peterborough, Saturday, April 29, 1911, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Sturgeon, a son.

SUCCEE.—In Peterborough, on May 1st, 1911, the wife of Mr. M. Succee of a son.

Council Passes the Report of Fire Water and Light Committee, Chopping Off Heads of Two Fire Brigade Officials, After a Somewhat Heated Debate.

VOTE STOOD 6 TO 4

The city council last night, after a heated and acrimonious discussion, passed the report of the Fire, Water and Light committee, a clause of which calls for the resignation of Deputy Chief Grange and Capt. Samuel Thomas of the Fire Department. It will be remembered that the matter was discussed by the Fire, Water and Light committee a month ago, the action of the committee being caused by a letter which appeared in the Examiner criticising Ald. Kerneghan and with the instigation of which the two officials were charged. Ald. Buller, Anderson, Edgar and Bradburn opposed the clause, but it was supported by Ald. Metheral, Morgan, Graham, Kerneghan, Duncan and Brown. The latter was in favour of a compromise measure, calling upon the two men to apologize, but there was no seconder to the motion. The report of the committee was as follows:

Gentlemen,—Your Fire, Water and Light committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. We met with the chairman of the Water Commissioners and Mr. Kendrey of the Auburn Woollen Co. in regard to fire protection for the Auburn Woollen Mills and arranged that the Water Commissioners would ascertain what it would cost to provide fire protection for the mills and inform this committee.

2. In view of the fact that the city has decided to use oil on the streets, we recommend that an agreement be made with the Peterborough Water Commissioners for water for public purposes other than hydrants at $1,000 a year, if the Water Commissioners will agree to this.

3. We recommend that the tender of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. for 500 feet of maguet multiple woven fire hose at $1.00 per foot, with couplings complete, be accepted, the company to give a guarantee that it will stand 400 lbs. pressure on delivery and fully guarantee it for three years against all defects of workmanship and material.

4. We recommend that the Peterborough Lights & Power Co. be instructed to change the light at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets to the centre of the street.

5. We recommend that the Chief of the Fire Brigade, be requested to ask Assistant Chief Grange and Capt. Thomas to send in their resignations.

When the report was read, and its adoption moved by Ald. Metheral and Morgan, Ald. Buller took objection to several clauses. He stated that the committee was making a big mistake in buying any other brand of hose than the Paragon. The matter had been thrashed out often before, and the best experts had stated that this was the only hose worth buying. While they might be saving 10 cents a foot in the initial cost of the hose, it would cost dollars in the end.

"I move that Clause 5 be struck out," said Ald. Buller. "I don't think it right to intertere. The Chief should have full control of the men under him."

"I second the motion," said Ald. Anderson. "I don't think it wise to dispense with the services of these men. They have been, according to the Chief, trustworthy and efficient in every way. I don't think it at all fair; neither man has done anything that he should be asked to resign for. The Chief should have full charge."

"I think these men should come here and apologize," said Ald. Brown.

"May I ask what they have to apologize for?" asked Ald. Anderson.

"Well, they have no right to say that Ald. Kerneghan is as big a liar as Ananias," returned Ald. Brown.

"We are not living in Russia," remarked Ald. Buller, hotly. "We are living in Canada and under the British flag. I think it is a disgrace and a shame to handle these men as they have been handled."

There was a burst of applause from the large audience at this statement.

Ald. Graham said things had been going wrong at the fire hall and it was time to put a stop to it."

Mayor Morrow thought the men should be brought before the committee—they were not being given a fair chance.

"There has been quite a bit of applause from the gallery," remarked Ald. Metheral. "Ald. Kerneghan made a remark in the council in regard to hose and other matters. If an alderman sent here to represent the people

(Continued on page 11.)

MECCA OINTMENT
The great healer for all wounds and sores
25¢ at all Druggists

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Ltd/ted. Office, 360 George Street.

The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.

The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.

R. H. CLOVER, Managing Director.

Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1911

NEW MILITARY DIVISION.

Good-bye to Peterborough's hope to be made the centre of a military division. Our splendid armouries, set in the midst of our beautiful and beautifully kept Central Park, with the lessons of order and military smartness it presents, didn't contribute pull enough. By a recent order, Military Districts Numbers 3 and 4 are amalgamated to form the Third Military Division in Eastern Canada, with headquarters in Kingston. This third divisional area comprises the counties of Durham, Northumberland Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox, Addington, Frontenac, Haliburton, Carleton, Dundas, Glengarry, Renfrew, Russell, Stormont, Grenville, Lanark, Wright, Labelle, Pontiac, Leeds, Prescott, the district of Nipissing south of Mattawa River (exclusive of the townships of Ferris and Bonfield).

ANOTHER EXPLODED SCANDAL.

On Thursday, April 27th, the Toronto Telegram devoted a page, less a column, to the exploitation of a veiled reference to an alleged attempt to ruin a member of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet, by convicting him of corrupt acts in relation to the deposit and checking out of large sums of money from the Imperial Bank.

The Telegram asserted that the "head and front" of the attack upon the integrity of the Cabinet Minister consisted in the items in the Minister's bank account, contained in the photographic reproduction of a page of the bank's ledger. The Telegram naively adds that the "facts" it pointed at were "forced upon the attention of this journal," but the "force" was not great enough to lead the Telegram to run the risk of a libel suit by giving the name of the minister, slandered by stealth. And its prudence was justified, for the President of the Imperial Bank, Mr. D. R. Wilkie, declares that the photograph of the alleged bank ledger page printed by the Telegram to indicate the figures of the Minister's account, is not a photograph of the account and does not represent the actual figures. The Telegram has not the boldness of some members of the Conservative Opposition, who, in waging the campaign of slander against the Liberals, quote from public documents what these documents do not contain, and when caught in flagrante delictu, have not the manliness to retract. Will the Toronto journal have the fairness to explain that the photograph of the page of the bank ledger was an impudent forgery, and that as this constituted the "head and front" of the attack on the Minister the whole structure innuendo and insinuation of wrong doing falls to the ground. It is sad to see a member of the press degrade itself to the level of some members of parliament.

OBSTRUCTION.

The Conservative Opposition in Parliament have taken a pretty large responsibility, in deciding upon a policy of obstruction, a course that demands less brains than "brass." They may succeed in prolonging and adding to the expense of the session, a trifle compared with the practical cessation of public business and the neglect of important legislation. They will prevent Canada being represented at the Imperial Conference at London by the ablest and most outstanding premier of the Dominions beyond the seas. They may precipitate a premature general election, upon old lists, and upon old riding boundaries, which will disfranchise the west to a very large extent, and result in Western Canada being represented in the new Parliament by a dozen instead of thirty or more members. They base their policy of obstruction upon their opposition to reciprocity, claiming that it must be submitted to the people. In the ordinary course of events, there, will be a general election within two years, and the most logical way is to have the reciprocity agreement put into force and give the people a chance of voting upon something they know, something concrete, not a mere theory. There does not seem to be anything to be gained by the policy of obstruction; not even party advantage to the Conservative party; for they will be responsible for the injury of the national interests that such a policy will bring. Unfortunately, according to the rules of parliament, the Opposition have it in their power to do wrong. They have it in their power to prevent the voting of supplies, after the interim supply, recently voted, becomes exhausted. When, however, the Opposition is confronted with the direct result of their unpatriotic policy of obstruction, they may hesitate. They have only to think of what will happen if they block supply. Every post office throughout the country would have to close; no mails could be carried; the Intercolonial railway would have to stop every wheel on its line; the canals, which have before them the prospect of the greatest season on record, could not be operated; and so on throughout the whole list of public service. Every public servant would have to go without his salary and would be dependent upon his credit at his purveyors for the necessaries of life, and every business house in the country would feel the effect of the paralysis which would ensue.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Grand Trunk Railway should be made a ward and provided with a guardian. Here we have this reckless railway corporation proposing to spend ten million dollars for track elevation and new terminals in Montreal; and this in the face of the assurance of Conservative rail-aways that reciprocity will ruin railway traffic and railways.

The death of Sir C. A. P. Pelletier, says the Ottawa Free Press, removes one of the very few survivors of the real old guard of the Liberal party. A member of the House of Commons in the early days of Confederation, he was also Minister of Agriculture in the Mackenzie Government and was later one of the most popular speakers which the Senate has ever possessed. A descendant of one of the first French families in Quebec, he was, like the late Sir Elzear Taschereau, a splendid type of the courtly French-Canadian gentleman.

HAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS.

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

Thompson Seton tells us that the Barren Grounds caribou, between the Mackenzie River and Hudson Bay, number more than 30,000,000, and may be double that. He says that in the very largest estimate the number killed by the Indians, the Eskimo and the Arctic whalers do not exceed 40,000—a number so small as to have no influence on the herds. As outside hunters rarely enter the region, this represents practically all the destruction by man. The wolves account for a few each year, but as the natural increase of such a herd would be several millions, the toll taken by man and wolf can make no permanent difference. They were probably never more numerous than now, and the destruction from outside sources is becoming less and less every year.

AN OUTRAGED NOBLEMAN.

(London Advertiser.)

Lord Onslow, the owner of an estate near Guildford, some 30 miles from London, sings his swan-song in the Times. He says he has decided to sell his land under the pressure of the Lloyd-George taxes, and enjoy himself in the south of France. The exactions of the budget, he declares, absolve the territorial magnate from his time-honoured duties of dispensing charity and guiding local administration.

The budget lays no new burden upon agriculture, but Lord Onslow's land, being more suburban than rural, is "ripening" for building purposes and acquiring a market price beyond its mere value as a producer of crops. Lord Onslow admits this; his land, because of its situation, was "bound to suffer early—his own words. It is precisely this species of property that the land clauses of the budget were framed to reach. Its increment of value comes not from the exertions of its owners or occupiers, but from the growth of urban communities.

The suffering complained of by the noble lord will not wring tears from many of his countrymen. He will get an excellent price for his land—there is a land boom in the United Kingdom just now—and it will pass into the hands of people who will make better use of it, because they need it more than does Lord Onslow. The mere fact that he was obliged to pay taxes is a proof that there was a demand for his property which enhanced its value beyond a mere agricultural level. Furthermore, there will be twenty or a hundred owners in place of one. The diffusion of property ought to be welcomed by true Conservatives. The feudal system is doomed in England, and on its ruins will be erected a more equitable order.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c, at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., Toronto.
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Price Too High For Conservative Opposition's Modest Demands

(The Globe)

The Opposition at Ottawa will graciously consent to the presence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Imperial Conference if he will agree to transfer the government of the country to Mr. Borden and his colleagues. The leader of the Opposition put his propositions suavely, but there can be no doubt as to what they mean. The Premier may leave for Britain if he will agree to drop the reciprocity agreement for this session, he may go also if he will consent to take supply for two months and continue the session of Parliament after the Coronation, or he may go and make such arrangements as he can with his colleagues to continue the session during his absence. The Premier has not a few able lieutenants to whom he can entrust the conduct of business in the House. But, after all, Sir Wilfrid is the captain of the ship of State in Canada, and the Normans as well as the Saxons have the tradition that no captain worthy of the name leaves his ship while his crew remains to face a storm.

And there can be no doubt that if the Opposition hold to their intention of obstructing the business of the country to the extent of refusing supplies in the hope of forcing a general election before redistribution a political storm of great violence is about to break. Disguise it as he may in courteous language, the spirit that Mr. Borden exhibits is the spirit of Toryism from time immemorial. There seems to be opportunity of cheating a million people in western Canada, who are strongly in favour of reciprocity, out of a voice in settling the question if an election can be forced before the census results are known and the West secures the additional seats to which it is entitled. Therefore at the bidding of the moneyed interests of Montreal and Toronto, and to earn the huge campaign fund that is even now being spent riotously in the Press and on the platform, the Opposition are prepared to throw the entire machinery of government out of gear and prevent the doing of the veriest routine work of Parliament. To blandly suggest that at a moment when they are planning to wreck his Government Sir Wilfrid is urgently needed in London "for Imperial reasons" may be the Opposition's idea of humour, but the Liberal party is not yet educated up to an appreciation of that form of joke.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's first duty is to Canada and his place is here. He believes, as his followers do, that he can best serve the Empire by making Canada prosperous and strong. The adoption of the reciprocity agreement will add vastly to the population of the Dominion within the next decade, and will increase the country's commercial strength materially. The Liberals of Britain will not misunderstand the situation. They know that Liberalism in Canada is as devoted to the cause of Imperial unity as is the Conservative party, and that when the Tories had power they spent in waving the flag the time and strength the Liberal party of Canada has devoted to the adoption of Imperial penny postage, the British trade preference, the inauguration of a system of naval defence, the garrisoning of Halifax and Esquimalt, and many other measures of practical Imperialism that were never thought of by its opponents.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier would have been one of the most picturesque figures in the great gathering of next month in London, and Liberals are sorry he will not be there, but they heartily agree with him that his first duty is to Canada, and that the price at which he must purchase leave of the Opposition to attend the Imperial Conference and the Coronation is too high.

THE DEADLOCK AT OTTAWA ON RECIPROCITY ISSUE

A Review of the Situation as it Now Presents Itself and Probable Course of Events---Liberals Are in Much Better Shape to Stand Long Fight Than the Opposition Side.

OTTAWA, APRIL 29.—The political situation now developed at Ottawa is the most interesting and the most illuminative of the present Parliament. The two parties have come to a deadlock on the reciprocity issue, the most important and far-reaching issue that has been before the country for many years. The minority is now attempting to dictate the policy of the majority on this issue, and unless the terms of the minority are accepted with reference to an indefinite postponement of the Government's proposals a practically complete blockade of the business of Parliament is threatened, with its immediate concomitant of preventing any Governmental representative at all at the Imperial Conference and the Coronation, and with its ultimate concomitant of forcing an appeal to the country this year without a redistribution of seats, and with the Government's present mandate from the people having still over two years to run.

Government Attitude Plain.

The attitude of the Government and of the Liberal majority in Parliament is very plain, and the issue at stake cannot be successfully disguised from the electors, despite the obvious attempts of the Opposition to lay on the Government the onus either for the non-attendance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Conference or for the holding up of the business of Parliament.

Mr. Borden's Stand.

Mr. Borden on Friday in the Commons, in proposing that the Government abandon reciprocity for this session, or at least for two or three months in order to allow Sir Wilfrid to attend the Conference and the Coronation, made it very plain that this was the only condition on which the Opposition would agree to a temporary truce and a postponement of the ultimate crisis. He declared the uncompromising hostility of the Conservatives to reciprocity, and at the same time declared their belief that Canada's representation at the Conference was of more importance than the question of Canada's trade relations with the United States. In support of his contention he enumerated the subjects that are to be debated at the Conference, chiefly cheaper cable rates, merchant shipping and navigation laws, the "all-red" route, State-owned Atlantic cable and telegraph lines across Canada, and Imperial navy and military defence co-operation. It is significant that during the present session of Parliament none of these questions have been discussed in any very tangible shape by the Opposition, and in regard to none of them is there now any very concrete proposition before the country or any very general demand for immediate action thereon. Yet, Mr. Borden seriously advances the proposition that those matters are of more importance to the country than an enlargement of Canadian markets through reciprocal trade relations.

Postponement Would Not Help.

To allow the issue to go over now until next fall would practically mean a confession of failure on the part of the Government to be able to put through what it considers in the best interests of the country. Postponement would bring the question no nearer solution, and would be an admission that the majority in Parliament is unable to carry on responsible government. The Liberals have no intention of accepting any such compromise. Their position is clear. They will keep Parliament in session indefinitely on the issue, and it will not take long to leave only two questions before Parliament for consideration—namely, the ratification of the reciprocity agreement and the voting of supply to carry on the administration.

May Not Go Too Far.

It is not believed that the Opposition will go to extreme lengths in refusing to vote any supplies after the first of June next, when the money voted by the interim supply bill of last month will be exhausted. For the Opposition to do this, though it would force the Government to appeal to the country within a comparatively short time, would, at the same time, expose the obstructionists to an outcry from all parts of the country at the stoppage of all receipts of salary or wages from the many thousands of civil servants, employees on public works now in course of construction, etc. It would involve a widespread demoralization of public business, for which the Opposition would undoubtedly have to take the blame. Moreover, it would mean an election without the promised redistribution of seats, and although the Opposition frankly confess that they will lose by such redistribution they dare not run the risk of forcing an injustice on perhaps two or three millions of the eletcors.

Looks Like Endurance Test.

The outlook, therefore, is for an endurance test in the Commons, with reciprocity as the chief subject of debate, continued until the Opposition decide to let the matter come to a vote. Obstruction would be carried on by means of continued talk from the Opposition benches on reciprocity, and by prolonged discussion of every item of supply brought down by the Government, on which there can be any excuse for talking.

Liberals in Best Shape.

This could be continued of course for months, and the Liberal members can stand the process even better than the Conservatives, since the burden of keeping the talk going would rest with the latter, while the Government could sit back and watch the show, merely being under the necessity of keeping a quorum in the House. It will probably not take more than a month or so for the Opposition to back down as gracefully as it may be sensible for them to do after committing themselves with more valor than discretion to the policy on which they have embarked. It is the opinion of the most astute Parliamentarians here that public opinion, the warm weather, the convenience of the members themselves, and the cessation next month of the regular monthly checks on indemnity allowance will before many weeks have elapsed bring a change over the spirit of the Opposition dream. At present they are apparently full of fight and courage, stimulated by the promise of large campaign contributions from the anti-reciprocity interests and by the loud-voiced enthusiasm of the Montreal and Toronto organizing end of the alleged alliance between the tariff reformers of Britain and the ultra-protectionists of Canada. The members of the Government are not at all worried over the situation.

The Payton Pump Works
84 Simcoe St., Peterborough

Improved Wooden and Iron Pumps manufactured or supplied to order—Payton's Pumps have been in use for over 40 years, and are well tried and tested.

Pumps Repaired
in most satisfactory manner

Stickney Gasoline Engines, Toronto Windmills and Reliance Wire Fencing supplied to order. A call solicited

Merrell & Stephens
(Successors to late Jas. Payton)
TELEPHONES: Pumps Works 748, Residence 838

Chas. A. Stoneham & COMPANY
Commission Stock Brokers
23 Melinda Street - Toronto
Telephone Main 2580

Our business is strictly that of buying and selling mining securities on commission. We are not promoters, and are in no way identified with new flotations. Our independence makes our advice particularly sound as we have only the interests of our clients to serve. We maintain correspondents in all camps and at all markets and are in constant touch with influential news. Our Weekly Market Letter, issued every Friday, is sent to a guide to sound profits. Put your name on our mailing list. Private code books and market guide furnished free.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED
Direct Private Wire to our Main Office, 54-56 Broad Street, New York
6m-d87-1tu

IT IS EASY TO OWN A
SINGER SEWING MACHINE
The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.
J. W. Stewart, Local Manager
347½ George St. Peterborough

WANTED

WANTED—BOARDERS. APPLY 50 OLIVE Ave., off Perry St. 6d-102-5052.

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 692 Stewart St. 12d-99-4797

BOARD WANTED—YOUNG MAN DESIRES to board with a country family for a few weeks, will pay $6.00 per week. Lake field or Rice Lake preferred. Reply to F.C.L., care Examiner Office, Peterborough. 3d-102.1w-5066

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 320 Albert St. Ottawa. d-6mos30-3694

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—NIGHT PORTER. APPLY NATIONAL 3d-101-5054

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED — STRONG YOUNG MAN FOR Stock Room. Apply at Examiner Office

WANTED AT ONCE—GOOD BOY. APPLY to Trebilcock Bros., Peterborough Book store. 3d-102-5059

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons. $25.00 weekly, job guaranteed $10 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1760, Rochester, N.Y. 1md-91-4923

WANTED AT ONCE A LIVE REPRESENTATIVE for Peterboro and district. A permanent position with liberal inducements for the right party. Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto. 6d-101-5w-18-5043

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.

FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice. —People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-8s-4703

HELP WANTED—Female

GIRLS WANTED FOR LAMP DEPARTMENT of C.G.E. Apply Gate House. 3d-102-5015

WANTED —IMMEDIATELY, GOOD GENeral servant. Apply Mrs. Smith, 521 Gilmour. 3d-102-5064

WANTED—GOOD GENERAL SERVANT. Apply to Mrs. Burritt, 232 Brock Street. 3d-102-5055

WANTED—CAPABLE MIDDLE AGED WOman as general servant. Small family. Apply to Miss Sherry, 106 McDonnel St. 4d-100-5027

GIRLS WANTED—A GIRL FOR UPSTAIR work, and one for washing dishes, at the Hotel National. 6d-100-5022

WANTED —EXPERIENCED SALESLADY, also girl for repair work Apply The Elite Clothing Co., 432 George St. 3d-102-5063

WANTED—GOOD EXPERIENCED SALESlady for Dry Goods Store, one with some knowledge of Millinery preferred. Apply to 166 Simcoe St. - dtf-101-5047

WANTED—WOMAN OR GIRL FOR LIGHT House work in morning Apply Mornings or in the evenings between 7 and 8 p.m., to 203 Stewart St. 3d-100-5023

WANTED—SALESLADY. WRITTEN APplications will be received up to May 6th, state experience if any, also enclose copy of references. Apply C. B. Routley, 379 George Street. 3d-100-4997

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker. Reference, state wages. Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 540, Ring 3, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-98-4980

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTICS, carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Grenville St. Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-94-4667

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A. British Canadian Industrial Company, 238 Albert St., Ottawa 6-4mos-92-4654

LOST

LOST—CHILDS' BRACELET SUNDAY April 16th, initials M. H. Reward at Examiner. 6d-101-5044

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

WORK WANTED

WANTED—ODD JOBS. LUCAS, 225 SIMcoe Street. 3d-102-5067.

WOMAN DESIRES SITUATION AS HOUSEkeeper or general servant in small family. Apply 385 Bethune Street 3d-101-5039

SEWING WANTED — SHIRT WAISTS, Children's dresses and all kinds of plain sewing. Apply 326 Sherbrooke St. Machine Phone 19. 3d-102-5051

SITUATIONS VACANT

WANTED—MAN OR WOMAN OF GOOD appearance to engage in work of a religious character, good salary and commission paid to right party. State previous or present occupation if any. Apply Box 5047 - 3d-102-5047.

LIVE MAN OR WOMAN WANTED FOR work at home, paying $3 to $5 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience.—Winston, Limited, Spadina Ave. Toronto. 3d-91-4962.

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $100 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, F 1720, Lockport, N.Y. d1m-120

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, B. 1620, Lockport, N.Y. d1m-120

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Dominion, Peck & Kerr. d-d-94

FURISHED ROOMS TO RENT — BELL Phone 989. 3d-101-5030.

MODERN HOUSE TO RENT. 124 PARK Street. Apply 161 Hunter Street or Phone 1281. dtf-101-5041.

TO RENT—A SMALL HOUSE IN GOOD locality, city water and electric light. For particulars apply to 183 Antrim St., City. dtf-99-5008

TO RENT—SUMMER COTTAGE BY month or season. Apply to Box 5040 Examiner Office. 3d-101-5046

OFFICE ROOMS AND LIVING ROOMS to rent, centrally situated on George St. Apply at 341 George St. 6d-101-5045

HOTEL TO RENT—CROWN HOTEL TO rent, corner Water and Hunter Streets For terms and other particulars, apply to R. H. Jackson on premises. d-tf-102-5058

TO RENT FOR THE SUMMER—FURNISHed house centrally located, 408 Charlotte Street, modern improvements. Possession given first of May. Apply to G. W. Hatton, Solicitor 397½ George St. 6d-eod-92-4962

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 329 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 99 1-2 Hunter Street. dtf-76-4886

FOR RENT OR SALE-BRICK RESIDENCE 555 Weller St., 4 bedrooms, attic, bathroom and conveniences. Sewer, water gas and electric connections. All rear of this deep lot is a lawn tennis court. Good basement with laundry stove connections. Splendid locality. You'll like it. Apply to W. C. Austin, opposite or Geo. J. Sherry, High Court Office. 6d-100-5028

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, cor. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tents and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets, both Phones Peterborough 4-87.

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—MEDIUM SIZED WARDROBE nearly new. Apply 256 Wescott Street. 3d-101-5031

FOR SALE—SIDEBOARD AND TABLE IN use for a month. Must be sold as owner is leaving City. Same may be seen at Bellegham's Furniture Store 3d-100-5026

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well-built 7-roomed brick house, City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 195 Romaine St. 6d-98-4940

LAUNCH FOR SALE—TWENTY-SIX FT., Canopy top, torpedo stern, 9 h.p. double cylinder gasoline engine, as good as new. Staunch, roomy and speedy, close price to cash purchaser. Box 5060, Examiner. 3d-102-5060

FOR SALE—A LIGHT SINGLE DELIvery Wagon; in use less than a year; a snap for quick sale. Also Two 30-barrel Puncheons, suitable for cisterns or cheese factory. Apply Calcutt's Brewery. 1md-eod-6w-17-4919

GROCERY FOR QUICK SALE—Doing good cash business, dwelling over store, two acres of land, part fruit. This is a first-class opportunity to get in business for yourself. Owner going West. Apply M. Guerin, 850 Rogers St. 6d-100-5014

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once. —H. C. Stabler, 300 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Bethune street 4w-100-5018

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.
206 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

A HOME OF YOUR OWN.

Are you wise enough to Secure One Now?

While Prices are Lowest and Terms So Easy

On lots let my price will be $150 per lot

I have offered to wholesale the balance of my sub-division and it may go any day. I sold four lots on Saturday and if you want to buy for a home or a safe and very profitable investment you should call at once.

CARPENTERS WANTED.

T. HURLEY
1m-101 282 Hunter St.

Have you tried the "Want" Columns of The Examiner yet. Small ads., small coins.

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip
will stop all rattling of windows. Keep out dust and wind.
Is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting Decorating Kalsomining
Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.
J. H. VANCE
Further Particulars From
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1292

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?

If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this.

Buy a Lot
and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
424 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

A Real Estate SNAP
Lots 37 & 38, block 1, Buena Vista
SASKATOON
$1850 for the pair, $500 cash, balance 4 & 10 months

This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro

L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro
12d 95-4980

A. Brown & Co.
406 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
2m-98

Might & Taylor
376 Water St. Phone 90
Real Estate and Insurance
$775 will buy frame house on corner lot George Street.
$3000 will buy brick house, modern 4 bedrooms hot water heating.
Lot near King Edward School $200

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS
including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.
Cash or Time Payments
Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Sale of Spring

SUITS AND COATS This Week.

Suits

We Want to Clear Out All the SPRING SUITS and SPRING COATS This Week.

Now is your chance to get a really up to date suit lined with pure strong silk for..... $12.50

And many others at wonderfully low prices this week

Dresses

Spring Cloth and Silk Dresses at prices that would scarcely buy the material.

Underskirts

Fine Moreen Underskirts this week for..... 98c

Waists

Tailored Waists are very correct this season. We have them at..... 98c, $1.25, 1.50, 2.00, 3.00

Dress Skirts

We excel in Dress Skirts—our skirts are always cut with a style—all shades..... $3.75, $5.00, $6.50, etc.

New May Music This Week 15c

ELLIOT'S

Watch Our Boot Sale for Next Saturday

Toronto's Tumble To Third Place

Toronto took another drop in the Eastern League standing and are now in third place as the result of a thirteen-innings defeat at the hands of Providence yesterday, the Greys thus cleaning up the series by copping all four games. Lush pitched good ball for Toronto, and the game was the best of the series, Providence finally winning by 3 to 2.

Rochester stopped Baltimore's winning streak by beating the Orioles by 7 to 3 in a long-drawn-out, hard-hitting game, by which Dygert was driven off the slab.

Buffalo and Newark had a grand battle, the Indians winning by 6 to 5.

SHOOTING AT YEOTES BROS' GALLERY

There was great interest taken in the target shooting contest last week at Yeotes Bros. gallery, when C. Haleson captured the cigars with a score of 57. A long list followed with a score of 56.

Professional.

C. Haleson	57
W. Gill	56
A. C. Miller	56
H. C. Gerrish	56
A. Mellan	56
N. Perry	56
J. Gillespie	56
J. Pearson	56
C. Gutterson	56
J. Laken	56
F. S. Matthews	56
H. Solms	56
H. Mackay	56
J. Wilson	55

Amateur.

In the amateur contest J. Vinette and J. Thornton were tied for the Bachelors, but Vinette won out with 57. A. McFadden was a close third. Following are the scores:

J. Vinette	56
J. Thornton	56
A. McFadden	56
P. Robson	55
P. Welsh	55
J. Clancy	55
C. Mills	55
C. Rutherford	55
P. Hamlin	55
J. Reynolds	55
F. Holland	55
E. Davis	55

There will be three more good prizes next week—two for the amateurs and one for professional, and will be well worth trying for.

BUCKLEY HATS

Latest American Styles — Best English Quality

Price $2.50

SOLD BY WM. E. LECH, 325 George St., near Simcoe

FOOTBALL

The following poetic effusion has been handed in for publication:

The Fast All Saints.

All Saints, they had a football team,
Renowned both far and near,
But when they played their first league match,
The goals they missed, "Oh, dear!"

The centre forward was so slow
He could not score at all,
Because you see, he had washed his pants
And did not want to fall,

The backs and half backs so they say
Were very good "by gum,"
But when they saw the forwards play
It put them on the 'b'um."

So no wAll Saints buck up and show
The league, what you can do,
And then boys, if you win the cup,
We'll be very proud of you.

"Bradford City."

Famous Hockey Goal Keeper Is In The City

Percy Leseur, the famous goal keeper of the Ottawa hockey team, world's hockey champions and holders of the Stanley Cup, was in Peterborough today in the interests of his firm, Lally's, of Cornwall, the well known manufacturers of lacrosse sticks and baseball bats. The celebrated goaler, when seen by the Examiner, re-called the famous battle between the Smiths Falls team, of which he was a member, and the Toronto Marlboros which took place here some years ago, for the senior O.H.A. championship and which was attended by the biggest crowd that ever saw a game in Peterborough.

Speaking of hockey generally, he stated that it was improving all the time in the East as regards the elimination of rough play and the development of team work. The players have learned the necessity of getting in on the nets and there is very little long shooting, the crowd "beating" a player who heaves from well outside.

Asked if he expected to play next season, he replied that he hoped to. "I like the game and excitement," he remarked, "and it is hard to keep out of it."

Messrs. Trebilcock Bros. will handle the Lally sticks next season, having placed an order with Mr. Leseur to-day.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

ELECTED OFFICERS

The Epworth League of St. James' church held their annual election of officers last evening. The following officers were elected.

President—Mr. J. J. Goodwin (re-elected.)

First Vice-President—Miss M. Bacon.

Second Vice-President—Mr. William McLaren.

Third Vice-President — Miss Lena Drake.

Fourth Vive-President—Miss Morris.

Fifth Vice-President—Miss B. Bedworth.

Secretary—Miss Frost.

Reporter—Miss Mamie Drake.

Treasurer—Miss Kidd.

Organist—Miss Ada Lee.

Excellent reports for several departments were presented, indicating good progress during the past year.

A consecration service was also held and a very profitable evening spent.

A USELESS EXISTENCE ENDED

After a Life of Useless Destruction and Devastation the Dandruff Germ Finally Succumbs

BECOMES A VICTIM TO NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The dandruff germ is a busy little microbe constantly at work and always doing the same thing. Apparently with fiendish intelligence it burrows down into the hair follicles, destroys the hair life and finally crowds out the hair, causing baldness.

There are two sure ways of stopping the harmful career of this invisible microbic growth. One is to wait until the germ has induced incurable baldness after which the atrophied hair follicle offers no sustenance to the germ; the other is to USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

The dandruff germ cannot exist where Newbro's Herpicide is used intelligently. By killing the dandruff germ, it thus checks further accumulations of scarf skin and prevents the hair from coming out.

While many imitations and substitutes are offered for Newbro's Herpicide, there is nothing "just like it" or "just as good."

Get genuine Herpicide.

One dollar size bottles sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Send 10c. in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Applications obtained at the better barber shops, and hair dressing parlours.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

Reciprocity Bill May Be Shelved For Day Or Two

Special to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, MAY 2.—The Reciprocity bill seems to be shelved for the rest of the week. This afternoon, after Hon. Frank Oliver has made his statement there will be a renewal of the debate upon the Farmers' Bank failure, which involves a vote upon the topic which has already been threshed out. To-morrow ther ewill be another lack of confidence motion, and there may be a third on Thursday. It is quite evident that the obstruction wing of the Opposition is in full control just now.

A Good Digestion

means a man or woman good for something—good work or pleasant times. Whoever has distress after eating, sick headaches, nausea, bad taste, unpleasant breath, cannot find good in anything, or be of much use in the world.

But these symptoms are only signs that the stomach needs a little care and attention and the aid that can give. Safe, reliable, thoroughly tried, this family remedy has wonderful reviving power. They tone the stomach, liver and bowels—all organs of digestion. With these organs in good order, the whole system is better and stronger.

Beecham's Pills

Try a few doses and see for yourself what a splendid bodily condition Beecham's Pills

Can Create

Sold Everywhere. 25c. In Boxes

BY FINGER PRINTS

Special to The Examiner.

LOS ANGELES MARCH 2.—Efforts are being made to convict McNamara by means of finger-print impressions as the men, Bryce, who purchased dynamite in California.

NEW RURAL DEAN

At a meeting of the Rural Deanery of Peterborough and Northumberland held yesterday at Haveloch, at which there was a large and representative attendance of the Anglican clergy of the district, Rev. A. J. Reid of Campbellford was elected Rural Dean to succeed Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, formerly of St. Luke's, Peterborough.

Last evening there was a special service at which Rev. Dean Bidwell, of Kingston, preached.

The sessions of the Deanery are being continued to-day.

Rev. Canon Davidson and Rev. H. B. Trumpour, of Esterborough, were in attendance at yesterday's meetings.

TIRED, ACHING FEET

How annoying to have the feet tired and aching, sore and chafed about the time you want to take a good long walk. You can get a world of comfort by using Dr. Chase's Ointment when the feet give you trouble. It heals and soothes the skin, makes it soft and natural and prevents corns and bunions.

THREE CARS BURNED

(Port Hope Guide)

Three cars, one used as a boarding place, the other the supply car of the Construction Company, and a box car, were burned at the C. N. R. Station at Osaca yesterday afternoon shortly after dinner. The fire originated from the boarding car, but the cause is unknown. An engine nearby drew the cars away and thus saved the Station from serious damage.

RAPID GROWTH

Mr. J. H. Smith of Rogers street, East City, who is an ardent agriculturist, is authority for the statement that some rhubarb in his garden, which he measured on Sunday, was four inches taller on Monday afternoon. This indicates some very rapid growth.

SCHOOL REPORT

Following is the report of S. S. No. 7, Smith, for the month of April.

Class Sr. IV—Myrtal Northy 90, Wellington Pearson 88, Garnet Northy 82.

Class Jr. IV—Ida Pearson 92, Jas. Northy 86.

Class IV—Vina Nichols 87, Florence Davis 50, Mae Bell 49.

Class II—Edward Pearson 93, Stanley Pearson 42.

Class Pt. II Sr.—Gladys Sage 90, Warne Northy 85, Evelyn Sage 75, Madge Nugent 70.

Class Pt. II Jr.—Willis McIlmoyl, Alex. Rosborough.

Class Pt. I—Enid Rosborough. Gwendoline Sage, Ella Davis, Wesley McClure, Kenneth Loudes, Greta Northy.

Those who attended every day—Myrtal Northy, Wellington Pearson, Florence Davis, Vina Nichols, Stanley Pearson, Warne Northy, Alex. Rosborough, Willis McIlmoyl.

JEAN BUCK, Teacher.

LAME BACK

To have a lame back or painful stitches means Disordered Kidneys, and the sooner you have the Kidneys and Bladder in a perfectly healthy condition the sooner you will enjoy life. As far as we know, there is only one remedy that is guaranteed to cure you, and that is FIG PILLS. If they don't make you a strong, healthy person in two weeks, your money will be refunded. At all dealers; 25c. per box, or The Fig Pill Co., St. Thomas, Ont.

ANNUAL MEETING

All Saints' Women's Guild held their annual meeting last night. The following officers were elected for the year:

Hon.-Pres.—Mrs. D. J. Lundy.
Pres.—Mrs. Babcock.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Metheral.
Secretary—Mrs. H. Morgan.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wolstenholme.

Business was throughly discussed and there was a good meeting.

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I see by your morning contemporary that the council last night passed the report of the Fire, Water and Light committee, and not being a fireman, or afraid of "Czar" Kernaghan or the rest of the Council. I would like a little space in your paper to deal with this matter. I venture to say that the decision of the Council will be a most unpopular one throughout the city, and that if a vote of the citizens was taken it would go greatly in favour of the retention of these two men. Deputy Chief Grange has lived many years in Peterborough and has been a quiet, inoffensive citizen, who enjoys the respect and esteem of a very large number of people. Captain Thomas, although not a resident for so nearly a long time as Mr. Grange, has shown himself a worthy citizen. Chief Howard has stated that there is absolutely nothing against the two men as far as he is concerned; their work has been satisfactory in every respect. Why then their resignation?

It is gathered that it is because Grange and Thomas are alleged to have instigated the writing of a letter which appeared in the Examiner criticising Ald. Kernaghan. The latter, a new comer in the council, early in the year raked the Fire Department over the coals for having left hose lying around the streets and on other counts. A day or so after a letter appeared in the Examiner contradicting these statements. The aldermen believe that this letter was instigated by the two officials whose resignations have been asked for. Why, however, should they not have an investigation, have the two men on the carpet and give them a chance to explain, if any explanation is forthcoming? It is certainly contrary to all the principles of fair play to dismiss men without any investigation.

Reading between the lines, however, it is not hard to see that some of the aldermen are out after other scalps than those of the deputy-chief and the captain. Why don't they come out in the open and admit that they are hunting for a chance at Chief Howard, and not finding an opening, are taking revenge upon these two men?

Is it going to add anything to the efficiency of the fire department to dismiss the men who are next to Chief Howard in authority? Mr. Grange has been in the brigade for quite a long time now and has become familiar with the duties. In the event of Chief Howard not being available for any cause whatever, Mr. Grange would be capable of taking charge of affairs. But with he and the captain gone, who is there in the brigade to act? Surely not one of the raw recruits whom Ald. Morgan talks about? To fire the most experienced men in the brigade because the feelings of an alderman have been disgruntled may be pleasant to the alderman, but it's mighty poor business for the city and Peterborough's interests should take precedence over any private feelings.

It is not increasing the efficiency of the department to ignore Chief Howard and dismiss men whom he has pronounced as most highly satisfactory. Truly, Ald. Buller was right when it is said it was a shame and a disgrace to handle men as these two have been handled.

Yours, etc.,
"FAIR PLAY."

OXO CUBES

are money-savers and health-preservers. There are a hundred uses for OXO in every house.

4 Cubes, 10c.

BICYCLES

BICYCLE SUNDRIES

BICYCLE MUNSON

Cut Prices. Send for Cut Price Catalogue. 249 Yonge St. TORONTO

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

800 AYLMER ST. PHONE 632

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

LUMBER

Builders' Materials of all kinds Shingles, Sheathings, Joist and Bill Stuff, Mouldings, Casings, & Basswood and all kinds of finish. Boxes and Box Shooks.

ALF. McDONALD ESTATE

Point St. Charles Mills

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Boys' Suits, Young Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.

ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS

You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week

House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY

163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning.

MAY PRICES

Stove and Egg..... $7.00 ton
Nut..... $7.25 ton
No. 2 Nut..... $6.50 ton

Cash with order

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

122 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-601
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 260.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Papermangers, Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Stipends

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1140

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio

Ground Floor, 170 Charlotte St

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers. Corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones Peterborough

Kellaric Demonstration and Window Display

AT

E. B. CLEGG & CO'S.

The Kellaric Mattress is made with a Laced Opening Device by means of which the filling can be inspected by the purchaser.

The Strap Handles are very handy for turning

We would like to have interested householders call and let us explain all the merits of the Kellaric. For sale in Peterborough by

E. B. CLEGG & CO. - - - 427 George Street

Guaranteed by the makers, Berlin Bedding Co., Limited, Toronto

Wednesday Mid-Week Bargains

For May 3rd

Wednesday Millinery Bargains of Exceptional Merit

Clever Trimmed Hats at $4.90 and $6.00

For to-morrow we have prepared a wonderful showing of Hats to sell at $4.90 and $6.00. Pretty shapes, large, medium and small in all shades to match your suit, including tan, green, navy, black and tuscan. All hand made, trimmed with velvets, ribbons, wings, and foliage.

Anyone in search of a stylish becoming and sensible Hat at a moderate price will appreciate this opportunity. See Window Display.

LISLE HOSE

Very fine quality black mercerized Lisle Thread Hose, double top, sole and heel, all sizes. Wednesday Bargain, pair, 35c, 40c and .. .. .50c

COLORED LISLE HOSE

Splendid quality Lisle Thread Hose, with garter tops and double sole and heel; all sizes, in colors of Paris Tans, Grey, sky, Brown, Champ., White, Copenhagen, Pink and Cream. Wednesday Bargain, pair 29c

GLOVES

Fine quality Lisle Thread Gloves, wrist length, two domes, in colors of grey, navy, brown, tan, black, chamois and white. Wednesday Bargain, pair..25c

MOTOR VEILS

Chiffon motor veils, with satin stripe border all around, 2½ yards long, in colors of tan, grey, pink, navy, taupe, ecru, black sky and white. Wednesday Bargain, each $1.50

TALCUM POWDER

Pure Valley Violet Talcum Powder, made by The John Taylor Company, Toronto. Wednesday Bargain, box 15c

MERCELLO HANDKERCHIEFS

Men's Marcello Handkerchiefs, white centers, with blue polka dot borders. Wednesday Bargain, 2 for 25c

VESTS

Women's Vests with short sleeves and sleeveless, finished around neck with draw. Wednesday Bargain, each.12½c

LONG SILK GLOVES

Perrin's long pure silk Gloves with the (Kayser patent finger tops) Mousquetaire style, in delicate shades of pink, Paris tans, browns, sky, champ., and white; all sizes. Wednesday Bargain, pair $1

WHITE WASH BELTS

Very pretty patterns, in white embroidered wash belts also plain and heavy corded effects; finished with white pearl buckles. Wednesday Bargain, each 25c

SHEETS

Hemmed sheets, made from heavy quality, full bleached sheeting, double bed size. Wednesday Bargain, each ...67c

COLORED DRESS MUSLINS

In a large assortment of smart designs and colorings; nice fine material and will wash well. Wednesday Bargain, yard. 12½c

LINEN TOWELLING

Heavy quality of pure linen kitchen towelling, full bleached, excellent drying quality; 24 inches wide. Wednesday Bargain, yard 11c

COTTON VOILES

A beautiful range of striped Cotton Voiles, a very serviceable material, for summer dresses, in colors of white,cream, sky, pink, tuscan and black. Wednesday Bargain, yard 30c

SUITS

Very stylish Suit of navy serge, with white pin stripe, coat made in semi-fitted style, with bias band around bottom and cuffs, lined with navy silk, collar is of black moire silk trimmed with buttons; skirt made in gored style, with pleat at each side from knee down; trimmed across side with bias band, inverted pleat at back. Wednesday Bargain, each $20.00

SACQUES

Made of percale, in colors of cadet and navy, with deep turnover collar; trimmed with banding, belted at waist. Wednesday Bargain, each 75c

SHIRT WAIST

Made of printed Percale, with 3 deep tucks on either side of front pleat; shirt sleeve with cuff in colors of grey and white, sky and white, mauve, and pink with white linen collar. Wednesday Bargain each $1.50

HOUSE DRESSES

Made in one piece style, with turnover collar, and Dutch neck; in colors of plain sky and grey, also grey and white, sky and white, and navy and white, with trimmings of pearl buttons and white pipings; long sleeve with cuff. Wednesday Bargain, each $2.29

NAVY BLUE SUITING

All pure wool and sponged and shrunk, good hard finish; dust and wear resisting; 45 inches wide; worth $1.00 a yd. Fast dye. Wednesday Bargain, yard.. ....75c

BLACK CORDED SILK

For a new spring Coat or Suit, extra finish and weight; 36 inches wide; one of the season's latest silks. Wednesday Bargain, yard $1.50

FOULARD SILKS

The season's most stylish fabric, 22 in. wide, used for all occasions. We have a few dresses left in such colors as tan, navy blue, brown, grey and green; sold at $1.00 a yard. Wednesday Bargain, yard 83c

STRIPE TAFFETA CLOTH

A good hard wearing material for women's and children's dresses, in a good many of the new colors; 42 inches wide; all pure wool. Wednesday Bargain, yd. 47c

INGRAIN RUGS

Heavy Quality of Ingrain Rugs, suitable for any room. Note the sizes. Wednesday Bargain, each

7 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft. $2.59
9 ft. x 9 ft..... ....$3.19
10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft. $3.89
12 ft. x 9 ft. $4.39
12 ft. x 10 ft. 6 in. $4.99
13 ft. 6 in. x 12 ft. $5.69

BIG RUG SALE

10 only Scotch Axminster and Canadian Wilton Rugs, patterns that we are clearing out, as they are designs that are being dropped by the manufacturers. Regular value up to $40; two sizes only, 12 ft. x 9 ft., and 10 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft. Wednesday Bargain, each $25.00

THE BIGGEST BARGAIN

in Brussels Carpet we ever offered, 800 yards of English and Canadian Brussels Carpet, 4-5 and 5 frame; superior qualities, up to $1.75 a yard. Wednesday Bargain ,yard $1.19

HEAVY QUALITY

Canadian Oilcloth, 2 yards wide, in a big range of patterns and colorings. Wednesday Bargain, yard 24c

SEAMLESS VELVET RUGS SIZE 10 FT. 6 x 9ft. TWO PATTERNS ONLY. EACH $16.50.

RICHARD HALL & SON

AXMINSTER RUGS, SEAMLESS. SIZE 13 FT. 1 IN. x 9 FT. 10 IN. —$28.00—

COUNCIL HOLDS BUSIEST SESSION OF THE SEASON

Very Large Amount of Business Taken Up at Last Night's Meeting—Communications Dealt With, Reports Received and By-laws Passed—Question of Fire Protection for Auburn Again to Front.

The City Council had a very busy session at the regular monthly meeting last night. In addition to the matters reported in other columns of this issue, a large amount of routine business was wiped off the slate, reports being received, communications dealt with and by-laws passed. Ald. Bradburn, who has been absent from the city, was present, and the circle was complete for the first time in several months.

The following communications were received:

From the Secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a copy of a resolution, calling for the construction of a sewer on Cambridge street.

From the Secretary of the Board of Health, enclosing a resolution of the Board, recommending to the City Council that scavengers be licensed, to enable the Sanitary Inspector to have knowledge of those who are engaged in such work, and that the license fee be 50 cents.

From the Tax Collector, giving the statement of roll.

From Mr. W. H. Moore, suggesting that the unnamed street lying between the city and the township of Smith, at the north end of the Hilliard property, be called Langton avenue, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late Joan Langton.

From H. M. Gilchrist, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., asking the city to do something towards giving an official reception towards Wm. Jennings Bryan, who is to lecture here on May 18th.

From J. H. Merrest, ensign of the Salvation Army, thanking the aldermen for their attendance at the special services in the local Temple on April 19th.

From A. S. Elliott, making application for a sewer between Hunter and Brock streets, on Bethune street. —Board of Works.

Finance Committee.

Gentlemen,—Your Finance Committee beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Finance Committee has sold the following debentures to the Peterborough City Trust: $10,000 for waterworks extensions; $6,534.89 for frontage portion of sewers, and $7,778.06 for frontage portion of concrete walks, and authorized the Chairman and City Treasurer to dispose of the balance of the local improvement debentures at the best price obtainable.

2. We recommend that the Tax Collector be instructed to have the roll for 1910 returned by May 15th. next.

3. We recommend that the usual grant of $150 be made to the Salvation Army Band on the usual terms.

4. We recommend that the following accounts be paid:

J. H. Savigny	$ 4.80
Robert Fair & Co.	16.50
Bell Telephone Co.	3.98
Hamilton Stamp and Stencil Works	14.00
W. Caldwell, M. D.	5.00
Victoria Industrial School	48.21
J. D. Craig	98.60
Dr. C. Hewitt Amys	15.65
Office Specialty Mfg. Co	152.00
C. Young & Son	11.25
Adam Hall	4.55
Estate of A. McDonald	9.04
W. J. Green	32.85
Queen City Oil Co., Ltd.	201.52
Kingan Hardware Co.	6.75
Roland Denne	48.00
Peterborough Typewriter Co.	1.85
Howard Shurter	9.00
Adamson & Dobbin	5.00
Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goode Co.	50.00
Fanning's Steam Laundry	3.71
Trebilcock Bros.	3.03
W. Scott Co., Ltd.	123.54
T. A. Redner	75
Joseph Batten	12.50
Peterborough Lumber Co.	31.20
E. L. Payne	9.00
The Peterborough Examiner	55.50
Alexander & Miller	65
White Bros.	1.25
E. B. Clegg & Co.	1.50
B. Morrow	5.00
D. W. Dumble	1.65
St. John's Industrial School	16.07
Canadian Pacific Railway Co.	9.90
F. R. J. MacPherson Co.	4.20
W. H. Hill	1.80
J. P. Francis	6.00
W. J. Kennedy	5.95
F. C. Cubitt	6.00
Jones Bros.	1.00
Peterborough Canoe Co.	14.03
W. H. Hamilton	5.05
R. Gibbs	6.00
Times Printing Co.	142.74
Review Printing Co.	114.23
R. J. Wolstenholm	3.75
G. T. R. System	11.31
Frank White	4.00
Higgins Hardware Co.	14.35
Geo. R. McCrea	3.50
Peterborough Lunch Co.	2.50
Curtis Bros.	16.20
Wm. Hamilton Co.	8.40
John Kerr	29.70

Board of Works.

Among the recommendations of the Board of Works was the following:

We recommend that the following work be done on the streets, named:

Victoria avenue—the west end gravelled.

Smith street—to be repaired east of Reid street.

Bethune street—to be graded from Smith street to Aberdeen avenue.

Benson avenue—the hill to be cut down and the low part near the Normal School to be filled up.

Aberdeen avenue — to be graded north of Benson avenue

Caddy street—to be graded.

Concession street—the culvert over the creek to be rebuilt.

Rogers street—to be gravelled north and south of Douro street.

Burnham street—the stones to be raked off and the street repaired.

Sophia street—to be gravelled.

Water street—the manhole at Edinburgh street and the sewer at that point to be repaired and the street to be graded and gravelled between Dublin and Antrim streets.

George street—a catch basin to be put in between Dublin and Edinburgh streets.

Water street—a catch basin to be put in at Dublin street.

Brock street—a crossing to be constructed at J. E. A. Fitzgerald's office.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan asked for permission to use Central Park for the purpose of holding Gospel song services on Sunday evenings during the summer after the regular church services are over.

The request was granted on motion of Ald Morgan and Anderson. These services have been held for the past couple of years.

Mr. Larmouth was present in regard to the proposal to lay a water main across the new dam of the Auburn Power Company for fire protection purposes. In return for the conveyance to the Auburn Power Company of a triangular piece of land along the street line, needed by them in the construction of a tail race, the company had agreed to pay for the construction of a six inch pipe across the dam. However, Mr. Larmouth had since learned that the commissioners wished to lay a ten inch pipe and his company would not agree to pay for that although he was willing to pay for the cost of the six inch pipe if the city would pay the difference. He was of the opinion that the work the company was doing was a distinct improvement to that section and was worth the land in question.

Mr. Jas. Kendrey of the Auburn Woolen Company who was present to urge the immediate necessity of fire protection coincided in Mr. Larmouth's opinion.

The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

The dog by-law was amended making provision for a kennel license to cost $10.00.

A by-law making a grant of $150 to the Salvation Army Band upon the usual condition of giving a concert each week during the summer was passed.

A by-law increasing the salary of Medical Health Officer, Dr. McPherson and adding to his duties the testing of milk and water received in several readings and was carried, as was a by-law establishing a Board of Management for the Queen Mary (Isolation) Hospital.

Ald. Duncan thought a resolution should be passed conveying the five acres selected on the Hilliard property as a site for the new home to the Peterborough Protestant Home Board. It was explained by City Solicitor Hall that the agreement between the city and the Board had been referred to the latter's solicitor for approval.

The Mayor will call a special meeting to pass the by-law as soon as it has been approved.

On motion of Ald. Brown and Edgar the Property Committee will look into the matter of painting the band stand in Central Park. Ald. Kernehan inquired about some trouble in connection with the cess-pool at the Queen Mary Hospital and Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Property Committee promised to look into the matter. On motion of Ald. Morgan and Anderson the Board of Wrks are given power to purchase a new road sweeper.

The by-law authorising the execution of an agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway concerning the waterfront land required for freight offices and siding purposes in connection with the new Seaboard line was finally passed by the City Council last night.

The principal features of the agreement are that the C.P.R. is to pay $10,000 for the land in question while Charlotte and King Streets will be closed, the city are given access to the water front at Simcoe St and having power to build an over head bridge at Charlotte St.

Ald. Duncan brought up the question of protection at Simcoe St. and moved that if any protection was needed at that point, the company should furnish it at their own expense by order of the Board of Railway Commissioner. Ald. Brown seconded the motion.

Ald. Morgan moved in amendment seconded by Ald. Fuller that no action be taken along this line and the amendment was carried.

Mr. G. W. Hatton who was present in the interests of the C.P.R., thanked the Council for their courtesy and stated that the C.P.R. would spend a considerable amount of money in Peterborough and would start at once.

Queen Quality

As good style as any woman's shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons
364 George Street

HAIR HEALTH

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer

We could not afford to so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if we did not do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

We assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness.

Our faith in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded if it does not do as we claim. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store.—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

HON. A. G. MACKAY CLOSES HIS RECIPROCITY TOUR

Reciprocity Explained to Thousands of Farmers—Great Interest Shown—"Give Reciprocity a Chance" Says the Farmer.

Hon. A. G. MacKay, addressed on Saturday at Goderich the closing meeting of a tour that extended over three weeks, in which time the leader of the Opposition discussed reciprocity in over a score of places, from Kingston in the east to Windsor in the west. The tour served a twofold purpose; it brought the Liberal leader into close touch with the people of the Province, and it gave to thousands of farmers and townspeople a clearer view of what the reciprocity agreement is and what it will mean, not only to agriculture, but to the country at large.

FARMERS ARE INTERESTED

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the series of meetings was the tremendous interest taken in the reciprocity question, despite the fact that an election is not in progress. In the country districts the halls were always crowded and it was a common thing for farmers to drive fifteen and twenty miles to hear the speakers. The night of the Straffordville meeting in Elgin county the rain came down in torrents and the roads were in bad shape, yet the Township Hall was crowded. The farmers have read a great deal about reciprocity in the newspapers and various pamphlets sent abroad, but the opportunity of hearing reciprocity discussed by a speaker as thoroughly grounded in the subject as Hon. Mr. MacKay attracted to the meetings every farmer that could conveniently get there.

WHAT WILL THE FARMER DO?

The lesson of the score of meetings held by Hon. A. G. MacKay in the past three weeks is that the farmer has just about made up his mind; he has decided to "give reciprocity a chance." Since the Conservative members at Ottawa awoke to the realisation that hysteria and flag-waving were making the opposition to the reciprocity agreement somewhat ridiculous, and came suddenly to earth, the farmers have been deluged with "boiler-plate" pamphlets attacking reciprocity. They have been told that their home market is going to be spoiled, that American products are going to flow over the boundary in great quantities. These pamphlets have given the party-bound individual a chance to make a show of justifying his position, but the average farmer, remembering that the Government entered into the present agreement as a concession to the men who sent their great delegation up Capital Hill, and contrasting prices of farm products on both sides of the boundary line, is not being convinced.

LITTLE OPPOSITION EXPRESSED

Resolutions endorsing reciprocity were introduced at practically every meeting held in the three weeks. At one meeting three men declared against the agreement, at several others one or two were opposed, but in a majority not one farmer stood up to vote against endorsing the pact. The significance of this is apparent when it is remembered that in all of these meetings a large number of Conservatives were present. In one or two they actually outnumbered the Liberals. The Conservatives who did not get up to vote for wider markets kept to their seats and gave no expression of opinion either way.

THE CONSERVATIVE FARMER

The position of the Conservative farmers was aptly summed up by one well known Bruce county farmer. "It's this way," he said. "The most of the Tory farmers think this a good thing. Quite a lot of them say so straight and are going to vote for it when the time comes. Others will tell you man to man that they think it will help us, but they don't like coming out open with it. A lot of those men will either vote for it without saying much, or, rather than vote against the party, they won't vote at all. It's not so easy," he added, "to go against your party."

And he was in a position to know, for he was a Conservative farmer who had come out in support of the agreement.

"ANNEXATION" CRY RIDICULOUS

The Liberal leader's tour showed that the Opposition members knew what they were doing when they abruptly dropped the "annexation" and "disloyalty" cries. It was hard work keeping them warm even for a few weeks and the response was discouraging. Hon. MacKay at the first few meetings paid some attention to the "annexation" bogey, but the farmers laughed at it, and at his remaining meetings "loyalty" or "disloyalty" figured very little in his addresses.

SOUND ADVICE FOR ALL SUFFERERS

Mrs. Lois McKay Tells Them to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills

They took the pain from her side, cured her backache, and made her a well woman — Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure where the Kidneys are the cause of the trouble.

Tiverton, Digby Co., N.S., May 1st. (Special.)—"I advise every sufferer from Kidney Disease to use Dodd's Kidney Pills." Those are the words of Mrs. Lois McKay, of this place.

"Before I used Dodd's Kidney Pills" Mrs. McKay continues, "I suffered with a bad pain in my back and side. Sometimes when I sat down I could hardly get up out of the chair. But thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills my pain is all gone and my back is well. I have proved for myself that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good."

How many women are there in Canada who suffer day after day with pain in the back or some other equally painful and disagreeable form of Kidney Disease? Every day from all parts of the Dominion come the statements of the Dominion come the statements of other women who have suffered just as they do and who have been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. The cure is simple, safe and within easy reach. Dodd's Kidney Pills never harmed anyone. They have cured thousands. They have never failed to cure where the Kidneys are the cause of the trouble.

ROUTLEY'S 379 George St., Peterboro 292/4 Queen W., Toronto

OUTPOUR OF ELEGANT

WALL PAPER BARGAINS

See our south window and you will be convinced that nothing equal to the offerings can be seen elsewhere. We also want you to take notice of our free gift with each purchase of $3.00 worth of goods.

420 ROLLS WALL PAPER suitable for dining rooms, halls and sitting rooms. These goods are used as independent decorations. We will give you an idea of how to have a nicely decorated room this week. Half price 25c

250 ROLLS BED ROOM PAPERS with cap and panel effect, usually sold at 30c, this week per roll 15c

3000 FEET WHITE ENAMEL and GILT ROOM MOULDING 1¼ inch, colored to match your wall paper. Regular 3c & 7c, for this week per foot 2c

75 WINDOW SHADES trimmed with fine lace insertion, best oil finish, size 36x72, regular 85c for... .. 50c

Free To All

Customers presenting or mentioning this coupon at time of purchase amounting to $3.00 or over, are entitled to a beautiful steel engraving, value..... .... $1.00

Come to the store that gives tempting bargains no matter whether you want expensive or low priced goods —you will always find the goods you want at the prices that suit your pocket book.

397 George St., Peterboro 262/4 Queen W., Toronto ROUTLEY'S

C. B. ROUTLEY C. B. ROUTLEY C. B. ROUTLEY C. B. ROUTLEY C. B. ROUTLEY C. B. ROUTLEY

20th Bargain Annex Event — Wednesday, May 3rd, 1911

Bargain Annex

Registered

$2.50 Heatherbloom Underskirts $1.29

One of Wednesday's Leaders

A new range of that most popular of Underskirts—the Heatherbloom. It is made of an exceptionally fine quality material; with 14 inch crimped and pleated flounce; in shades of navy, green and grey, also black; length 38 to 42; the best skirt value in the trade at 2.50; on sale in the Annex Wednesday as a big leader, at only.... 1.29

(See Window)

Soft White Madapolam Cloth 10 1-2c

A 20c Underwear Fabric

400 yards of an exceptionally fine quality Madapolam Underwear Cloth, 36 inches wide; very soft, silky finish and easily the best 20c value we have ever offered. For a one day leader in the Annex, Wednesday we offer this line at an exceptionally low price 10½c

(A positive limit of not more than 12 yards to any customer; no phone or mail orders)

See Window

New French Night Gowns 49c

Sharp at Two O'clock, Not Before

6 dozen Ladies' Fine White Night Gowns, made in the popular French yoke style, with dainty embroidery edging and insertion, trimmed neck and sleeves, inserted with pink and blue wash ribbon draw strings. The regular price was much more—the biggest value we have yet offered; sharp at two o'clock in the Annex Wednesday 49c

(A Limit of Not More Than Two Gowns to a Customer)

$5.00 Coloured and Black Silk Waists

Wednesday at $1.49

28 only of these Coloured and Black Taffeta Silk Waists, all regular 4.00 4.50 and 5.00; in shades of champagne, green, rose, wisteria, navy, wine, grey and a good assortment of Tartan plaids, odd lines that there is only one or two left. The lot must be closed out Wednesday. In the Annex at each..... 1.49

Annex opens at 8.15. This is the right time to get the best selection

Feather Filled Bed Pillows One Day Only 79c a pair

For one Annex Day only we will offer 40 pairs of Sanitary Feather Filled Bed Pillows in usual size with striped ticking covers at a very low figure. Regular $1.25 value. Positively for one Annex Sale only at per pair 79c

Have You Seen Our Wall Papers ? — Cressman's — Get Our Ideas on Papering

FINE LECTURE ON SOUTH AMERICA BY SENOR RAY

Famous South American Explorer Lectures on Habits and Customs of Natives—Tells of Cannibal District and of Strange Savage Customs—Great Cities and Horrible Revelations.

A large crowd of citizens, representing all denominations of the city, were present at Park street Baptist church last evening to hear the lecture by Senor Ray, of Bolivia, on the habits and customs of the natives, of South America, the necessity of missionary aid, the great buildings, and the advancement of the country as far as worldly advancement is concerned.

Mr. Ray, whose home is in Toronto, has spent a great many years in South America, and has had the privilege of seeing a country which very few white men are familiar with.

At the request of the audience last night, instead of lecturing on the country as before mentioned, and as he had intended, he showed lantern slide pictures of the different cities and scenery of the country. At the close of the pictures, each one of which were described in a very interesting way, Mr. Ray exhibited his collection of curios, among which were the following: Native weapons, both for hunting and for war, different kinds of wearing apparel, skins of jaguars and other fierce animals of the Brazilian forests, skins of the reptiles, which are the terror of the South African forests including the Anaconda and the Boa Constrictor, Idols, which were worshipped by the natives, sacred rattles, banners used in worshipping the God of thunder, and many other like things, too numerous to mention. Mr. Ray was, for some time, an explorer in the employ of the Bolivian Government, and while following this occupation went further in land than probably any other white man has ever gone, being at one time thousands of miles from a railway or the faintest sign of civilization. He travelled directly through the Cannibal district, and saw the Cannibals themselves. While making these trips, he was in company with a few natives of Bolivia, who had been, to a certain extent, civilized, but yet were wielders of the bow and arrow.

Speaking of Rio Janerio, Mr. Ray said that that famous city had a population of more than one million people, and scarcely any of them knew what the true God was. In comparison with Toronto and other Canadian cities, he said that they were 30 or 40 years out of date with the cities of South America. They have up-to-date street car service and the finest and most expensive buildings in the world. The people speak the Portugese language in the civilised cities, and they are indeed very luxurious spending more in dressing than the Speaking of Rio Janeiro, Mr. Ray stated that the dock of Rio Janiero cost over seventy million dollars ($70,000,000) and scarcely a dock in the North American continent cost one million. He stated that there were more millionaires in Buenos Ayres than any other city in the world, and more automobiles on the street than one would see on Broadway, New York. The city itself, is also probably the most beautiful city in the world. The greatness of the country, and the apparently civilised nature of the people, heretofore setforth, is only a screen over the terrors of it.

Mr. Ray went on to describe to a limited extent, the horrors of native wars and revolutionary outbreaks in the cities. He showed pictures of the batteries in action fighting the fleet in the harbour and the soldiers fighting in the city. He, himself, had the fortune, or the misfortune, to be right in the thick of a revolutionary outbreak, and witnessed the slaughtering of three thousand men, in a fight which lasted three days. It may also be of interest to the readers to know that the pictures, including those of the revolution, shown last night, were photographs from life.

Regarding emigration, Mr. Ray stated last night that three emigrants went to Bolivia and South America, for every one that comes to Canada. And regarding the price of fruit, he stated, as an example, that a hundred oranges of the very best class, could be purchased for five cents, and that a whole bunch of bananas could be purchased for the same amount. He stated that a single orange tree, and not necessarily a very big one, would bear as many as 10,000 oranges, and that one part of the tree would be in blossom, another part with green oranges on, and another with big ripe ones, all at the same time. Another peculiarity he mentioned, regarding fruit, was that a person could go out to his garden any season, or day in the year, and pick strawberries. They grow all the year around, as do many other such fruits. Although the city of Rio Janerio is far in advance of Canadian cities, Argentina cities are far behind them. The people are living in little huts, and they are so oppressed by the church that they can scarcely live. The speaker also told of the native priests, and showed pictures of them, and gave an imitation of them on the platform. He told of their heathenish ways of killing little children, where there were more than two in the family, and had on exhibition the club with which the deed was performed, and which was composed of a single piece of hard and heavy wood about two feet and a half long with a heavy wooden knob carved out at the end.

Mr. Ray also showed and described a number of scenes along the route he took when exploring, including a fight between a jaguar and a tapir, also a Boa Constrictor and an alligator, both being nearly twenty feet in length. Beautiful scenes of the Brazilian forests were also shown, including the famous palm trees, and the hardest wooded trees in the world. These were only a few of the interesting things which were the subject of discussion, and to-night a two hours' lecture will be given, and each of the curios will be described. The latter will be one of the interesting features of the evening, as the articles are there to be inspected.

The large and enthusiastic audience showed their appreciation of the interesting and educative time they had spent, and nearly all expressed their wish to be present to-night. The Young Men's Bible Class is accountable for Mr. Ray's presence and are very lucky in procuring him, as he is very much in demand. He has promised, that if all is well, he will come back to the city next autumn, to lecture again.

It is expected that a very large crowd will gather at the church to-night, as telephone messages were received from a number of citizens, requesting that Mr. Ray remain over to give the people a chance to hear his interesting lecture. Mr. Ray also has a book written by himself, entitled "Through Five Republics on Horseback," and copies may be obtained to-night at the church.

Newest Styles In

Children's, Boy's and Men's

HATS

Our Storage Department is second to none.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter :: ::

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, TO-MORROW, WEDNESDAY, MAY 3rd

Manie Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN

—IN—

The Best of American Comedies

THE MAN ON THE BOX

From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Special Cast and Production

Prices—25-35-50-75 & $1.00 Seats now on Sale

THE BEST ADVERTISEMENT This Store Ever Had Has Been The Goods We Have Sold

WE HAVE always believed that small profits would make a big business. Our new Spring Merchandise exhibits in a marked degree what values can be offered when the dealer is looking to his future, and considers, first of all, the customer's satisfaction.

Our new Spring Shower and Waterproof Coats will win your trade if you see them, and hold your trade if you wear them. We show these in all the new weaves and colourings at $5.00 to $15.00. Be prepared for a rainy day, perhaps you need only an Umbrella. We show plain and spring-opening Umbrellas at 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50. Drop in and see if you don't think you can do better here than anywhere else.

H. LeBrun & Co.

The Style Store for Men and Boys

Choose Your

Baby Carriage

from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $20.00.

Benj. Shortly

Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

Deputation Urges Retention Of The Industrial Com.

(Continued from page 7.)

must have power and Mr. Duggan was instructed by the Board to look after the matter. He had been successful in securing a report from the Hydro-Electric Commission that might have cost the city $3500 or $4000, in any other way. Hon. Mr. Beck had come to Peterborough and had given the report at a meeting of citizens. As far as he knew it had not been the intention to have the report presented then, but that was Mr. Beck's matter and not Mr. Duggan's.

Mr. O'Connell urged upon the Council the retention of Mr. Duggan as Industrial Commissioner and sat down amid loud applause.

"I wish to ask one question," remarked His Worship. "Did Mr. Duggan send out notices saying the report would be given at that meeting?"

"Not as far as I know," replied Mr. O'Connell. "In fact, I don't think it was known that Mr. Beck was coming until the day he was here."

"Surely some member of the Citizens' committee will be able to answer that question, yes or no," said the Mayor.

Mr. W. H. Denham was called upon to speak and remarked that it would be one of the most unfortunate things that the city could do to discontinue the office of Industrial Commissioner at the present time. The speaker had many opportunities to look over Mr. Duggan's work and to be in conference with him. He was satisfied that Mr. Duggan had done an immense amount of work during the year, far more than any committee of the Board of Trade or Council could hope to do. He had worked hard, faithfully and with a great deal of zeal. He was sure that a vote of business men would be overwhelmingly in favour of the retention of the office. As regards the report of the Hydro-Electric Commission, Mr. Denham said that its being read at a meeting of citizens had been a surprise. It had been thought that Mr. Beck was only going to give an address.

Ald. Duncan explained that his motion that the matter should be referred to the Manufacturers' committee did not mean that he was opposed to the retention of the office but rather he did not feel like settling the matter without more consideration.

Ald. Buller remarked that there was no use sending the matter back to the Manufacturers' committee which had already dealt with the question.

Ald. Morgan said that he had been opposed to Mr. Duggan coming at first and had later wanted to cut his salary in two, but he thought he was becoming converted. He felt that there was lots of work for the Commissioner to do. He would be satisfied if he successfully dealt with the power question even if he did not get any industries. Once the power was secured it would not be possible to keep the industries from coming in. However, he thought that the council should talk over the matter with Mr. Duggan. The latter had been managed by the Board of Trade last year and the speaker did not think that body had done it very well.

Ald. Duncan changed his motion to read that the clause be referred to the committee of the Whole Council and in its new form the amendment seconded by Ald. Graham, was carried.

The other clause of the report was adopted without opposition.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE TABLETS. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE

Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf cannot express an opinion without having officials of the fire department or any other department take it up, write a letter and have it published in the papers, practically calling him a liar, it is not as it should be. A poor, innocent fool who could write a letter, wrote this one and these two men read it and it was published in the paper. The committee raised the point and would not stand it any longer. The Chief discharged the man who wrote the letter. Who was the guilty party, the man who wrote the letter, or the men who told him to write it.

Dep. Chief And Capt. Must Resign

(Continued from page 9)

Ald. Metheral went on to say that things were not being conducted rightly at the fire hall and went after Chief Howard, raking up some matters that the council had heard of before. He further stated that one man had quit because Chief Howard had called him down for not blacking his (the Chief's) boots after he had been on duty all night.

Ald. Morgan said that he was prepared to stand by the report of his committee. Things were not right at the hall, and not as they should be. He said that there was nothing but a bunch of raw recruits, even if some citizens imagined that they had a good fire department. The reason that the men did not stay was not because of wages, as was alleged. Mr. Grange was a hard man to get along with. Ald. Morgan intimated that the council might have to go further and start at the head of the department.

Ald. Buller's amendment was then put and the yeas and nays called for with the following result:

Yeas—Ald. Buller, Anderson, Edgar and Bradburn.

Nays—Ald. Metheral, Morgan, Kerneghan, Graham, Brown and Duncan.

Ald. Brown moved that the men be asked to apologize and in the event of their doing so that they be kept on, but there was no seconder to the motion and the report went through, as read.

MUST RAISE $6000 IN THE NEXT TEN DAYS

Messrs. Koga and Otsuka, Art Co., the most well known Japanese firm in Toronto, have consigned over 250 cases of the finest assortment of Japanese art collection ever imported into Canada to the China Hall Co., 394 George street, to sacrifice at public auction regardless of cost, to raise six thousand dollars during the next 10 days, to release 500 cases buried in the Custom House. The consignment stock consists of antique and modern arts, as well as thousands of varieties of genuine hand-painted Japanese china of the latest importation, which is manufactured by their own factories in Kurume and Yamato in Japan. They are preparing to establish a permanent wholesale business in Montreal from July 1st. The China Hall is now the centre of attraction and drawing a large crowd of high-class art lovers of this city, afternoon and night. All articles are going very fast under the hammer. Hand carved furniture, silk screens, ivory carvings, cloisonnes, jardiniers will be offered by Mr. Otsuka tonight. Tea sets, berry sets, chocolate sets, cups and saucers, plates, etc., are sold at give-away prices to raise cash. They are determined to sell out the entire stock during the next ten days and this is the greatest sale which has ever been held in the history of this city and there will be no more. This affords the most rare opportunity to our citizens to secure real genuine hand-painted Japanese China at one-quarter the regular value.

PUBLIC INAUGURATION OF CHIMES SUGGESTED JUNE 22

The following letter from Rev. Canon Davidson, Chairman of the Chimes Committee was read at last night's meeting of the Council and referred to a Committee:—

Gentlemen,—

We have just learned that the magnificent chime of bells obtained by the subscriptions of present and former citizens, irrespective of creed will be laid down in Peterboro before June 1st, the makers giving their opinion that it will be possible if desired to inaugurate the chimes on or after June 3. The inauguration of this, the largest chime of bells in Canada, in which so large a body of citizens is interested should be made a patriotic festival of considerable importance and a memorable occasion in the history of our City. Enquiries are already being made as to the date by old Peterboro citizens in other places and it is probable many of them would desire to be present.

As to this date it would seem now to be too late to arrange for the Kings birthday, June 3, with the added uncertainty as to the completion of the work by then. On the first of July, the 57th Regiment, which we expect will take part in the ceremony will be out of the City so that Coronation Day, June 22, seems to be the best choice and most appropriate for a patriotic demonstration. The Chimes Committee desir to know whether the day will be kept as a public holiday or whether the Mayor and Council would think it well to proclaim it as such.

The Committee which has so far dealt with this matter in a small one and advice and cooperation will be thankfully received with a view to satisfactorily carrying out a plan which will be in the interests of our City generally. The Chimes have been named the People's Chimes and will be operated in the public interests. The manner of their operation is to be worked out as is found to be expedient for the public welfare and I may add that the Toronto Globe has arranged to devote a pictorial supplement largely to the picturing and description of this unique event.

Thankfully yours,

J. C. DAVIDSON,

Chairman Chimes Committee.

KODAKS

We have a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Amateur Photographic Supplies.

Any size film developed for 10c

CHEMIST E. L. PAYNE DRUGGIST

(AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH)

YOUR CHANCE

to get Your New Spring Suit or Coat

this season for less money than ever before is at H. Zack's Ready-To-Wear Store for ladies and men.

We offer the latest and most up-to-date lines in Ladies' and Gentlemen's Ready-to-Wear Clothing & Furnishings, Men's Spring Suits and Coats, and Ladies' Fine Suits, Skirts, Waists & Millinery in strictly latest styles, at positively lower prices than elsewhere. You are always welcome here

H. ZACKS

Ready-To-Wear Store for Ladies and Men

522 George Street - - Phone 711

WINDS—Northwest to north winds, fresh to strong during the day; a few local snow flurries, sharp frosts to-night. Wednesday—Fine and cool.

Robt. Fair & Co.
Limited

Special Sale of Beautiful Lace Curtains
Fancy Curtain Nets
Scrims, Madras Muslins

The prices on these lines have been cut to such an extent, owing to the late Spring, that it is like giving money a new purchasing value. It is making every dollar worth a dollar and a third or a dollar and a half. Can't afford to miss it.

Bungalow Nets
In ivory and ecru, 42 inches wide. Regular price 50c, for 35c

Casement Nets
In white and Arab, 44 inches wide. Regular value 75c yard, for 60c

French Two Tone Casement Nets
48 inches wide. Regular value 95c yard, for 65c

Heavy French Curtain Scrim
With drawn work insertion in ecru, 44 inches wide. Regular value 90c, for 75c

Georgian Cloths
The new fancy fabric for curtains and drapes, 36 inches wide. Per yard 25c

Fancy Art Scrims
With plain centres and 9 inch fancy coloured border 35c

Coloured Scotch Madras
In artistic design and colour. 48 inches wide. Regular price 60c yard, for 43c

Madras Curtain Material
Plain cream figured, 44 inches wide. Regular price 35c, for 23c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in small neat designs. Regular value 75c pair, for 59c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in fancy scrim designs. Regular value $1.25, for 89c

French Net Curtains
Perfect copy of Battenberg design. Regular value $5 00 the pair, for $3.75

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. Is also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Window Cleaning.

Practical men to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149. Peterborough Messenger Service. 346 1-2 George street.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carton, C. J. Carroll.

Probabilities.

Northwest to north winds, fresh to strong during the day; a few local snow flurries, but generally fair and quite cool; sharp frosts to-night. Wednesday, fine and cool.

Hardware Clerk Wanted.

Now beginner, or one who has had two or three years' experience. Applications must be in own handwriting. THE KINGAN HARDWARE CO., cor. George and Simcoe streets.

Meeting Postponed.

—The meeting which was to have been held Tuesday night at Coleman's restaurant, for the purpose of forming a St. George's Society, has been postponed until Thursday night.

St. George's Society.

A meeting to organize a branch of the St. George's Society in Peterborough will be held on Thursday night of this week in Coleman's parlours. All Englishmen of the city are invited to be present.

Yesterday's Wreck.

The grain has been reloaded this morning fro mthe train wreck of yesterday into other cars by means of a temporary siding. It is now ascertained that the extent of the damage is confined to one car only.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 485, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Annual Meeting.

—The twentieth annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association will be held this evening, when an interesting and enjoyable time is expected. The reports of the year's work will be given and there will be a musical programme in addition.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19, Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Graniteware That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaning Co., 359 Water street, (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Have Them Demonstrated.

—There are still a few ladies in town who have not taken advantage of the opportunity of having the aluminum cooking utensils demonstrated to them. The local agent, R. R. Brown, has a whole room full of this wonderful ware on exhibition at his office at 374½ George street, (second floor), and will be glad to reserve a time for any one. 'Phone Bell 496. Open Saturday, all day, or by engagement any day or evening.

Open For Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 666 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 45c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c. for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 594—43 Hunter street east; phone 455—161 Hunter street west.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., Cobourg, Ont.

Limoge China

We have just received a full line of the genuine Elite brand of the "Medium Rose" pattern.

DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

Perhaps you have determined to try Red Rose Tea sometime, but have not remembered it when ordering because from force of habit you have thought of the old brand. Next time, just remember

RED ROSE TEA "Ingersoll Tea"

SEVEN SOLD IN BULK

Your Grocer Will Recommend It

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mrs. R. P. Kennedy will not receive again this season.

Mr. A. Carman of Strafford, is staying at the Oriental.

Mr. G. E. Broderick of Lindsay, is a guest at the Munro House.

Mrs. McDonald Hoag of London, Eng., is registered at the Oriental.

General Roadmaster Bibby arrived in the city during the night from Allandale.

Miss A. Flynn, of 5 Dennistoun avenue, left yesterday to visit friends in Rochester, New York.

Mrs. E. M. Hatcheet, East City, left yesterday for Hamilton to visit her son, Mr. M. W. Matchett.

Mr. Martin Connors, a former hotelkeeper of this city, has purchased the Hastings House, Belleville.

Mrs. A. Gilbert and Mrs. T. H. Hooper left yesterday for Toronto, as delegates to the 25th anniversary of the Women's Auxiliary.

Miss Gertrude McClellan, who has been training as nurse at the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. McClellan, 405 Gilmour street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. S. Hay announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Helene Leocadie, to Dr. Arthur Hamilton Crawford, formerly of Havelock. The wedding will take place quietly on May 25th, 1911, at 2 p.m. at the family residence, 192 McDonel street, Peterborough.

Mr. W. Galbraith, manager of the Independent Real Estate Co., Limited, left this morning for Winnipeg and Calgary, in quest of bargains for Peterborough people, and will doubtless return with some choice propositions in the course of three or four weeks. The interests of the Company will be looked after by the office staff.

Mr. John Wood, one of the most greatly esteemed and one of our oldest citizens, is lying dangerously ill at his residence, 404 Belmont avenue. The serious nature of his condition has brought some of his sons from distant points; Mr. E. R. Wood, Toronto, and Mr. George A. Wood, of Newport, Rhode Island, are in attendance upon their father. About a fortnight ago Mr. Wood underwent a surgical operation of capital importance—litholomy—and although he apparently recovered well from the shock, and is showing great vitality, the serious nature of his illness and his advanced age—87 years—give the greatest anxiety to his family and friends. However, last night Mr. Wood passed a fairly good night.

WEDDING BELLS

GATCHELL—MAITLAND.

A quiet wedding was celebrated at the Knox Church manse on April 28, when Miss Margaret Maitland of Port Hope was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Geo. Gatchell of Sudbury. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. J. Keith in the presence of witnesses. The happy young couple will reside in Sudbury.

RUTHERFORD GRIMES MOTOR CAR LINE

Time Table Up to June 10th, 1911

Cars are open for use every hour to parties from one to seven, costing $3.00 per hour. From 7 to 14, $4.00 per hour. Parties going out of town $12.00 per half day, and $24.00 per day. Any number up to 14, and within a radius of 20 miles around, over that distance, extra charge will be made. For one or two persons going out to nearby villages, special contracts will be made.

ACCEPTS POSITION

QUEBEC, MAY 2.—Sir Francis Langelier, acting Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Quebec, has wired his final acceptance of the position of Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec.

The Warne Shoe Store

LADIES'—
Catchy Pumps — Comfortable Oxfords
Dainty Ties — Misses' & Children's Shoes
Slippers and Sandals

MEN'S— Oxfords & Ties at $3 to $4.50
Blucher Sale at $3 to $5.50

BOYS' & YOUTHS'
In Patent, Calf and Dongola leathers

Come in and examine our
Gymn. & Field Shoes

Warne Shoe Store
345 GEORGE STREET

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by
WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladies of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG
Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

DOMINION CHINESE CAFE
328 George — 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at
328 George St. HENRY HAMILTON
Ice Cream — Soft Drinks Peterborough — Ontario.

FRESH
MAPLE SUGAR
Guaranteed PURE

T.H. Hooper
327, 444 and 601 George Street

BURN
"OCCO" SCRANTON COAL
"THE VERY BEST"

BELL PHONE 116 — ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO — MACHINE PHONE 116

May Prices

Egg Coal	.....	$7.00 per ton
Stove "	.....	7.00 " "
Nut "	.....	7 25 " "
Pea "	.....	6.50 " "

Dry Hard Wood and Slabs cut and split as desired.

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.
Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 Harvey St.

A Wednesday Leader in Cotton Hose. 40c worth for 25c
To offer such qualities in Women's Cotton Hose at this price, is possible only because of the purchase of an enormous quantity direct from the manufacturer. They consist of blacks and tans in plain seamless makes with spliced heel and toe. A 20c quality. To-morrow (See Window).. 2 pairs for 25c

35c C. C. Embroideries 26½c
A dozen pretty openwork designs in fine cambric corset cover embroidery. Has beading and a good edge that will launder well. 35c values, yd. 26½c
Wash Goods Counter

New Galateas at 23 1-2c
New Galateas for men's shirts or boys' blouses in stripe designs on blue, tan & white grounds, splendid wearing materials & permanent colours. A yd. 23½c
Staple Section

New Hair Bandeaux 25c
A range of fancy bone Bandeaus for the hair just opened out, including barred effects and others set with brilliants, shell or amber. Each..... 25c
Hair Goods Counter

A Big Showing of 89c Whitewear. $1.50 & 1.75 values in the lot
Princess Slips, Night Dresses or Petticoats in qualities worth up to $1.75. Slips are of fine lonsdale with tucked lawn flounce. Night Dresses come in slipover or button front style and shirts have either lace or embroidery trimmed flounces. Each..... See Window 98c

10c & 12½c Embroideries 7½c
For to-morrow's selling we have grouped a special lot of 10c and 12½c embroidery edgings & insertions in either cambrics and swiss materials. Blind or eyelet designs & width up to six inches. A yard..... 7½c
See Window

A Special Parasol at $1.48
Black Parasols with silk & wool top, 23 inch frame and bulb runner. Good range of handles. A parasol worth easily $2 25. To-morrow.. $1.48
Rear North Aisle

$1.00 Long Gloves 59c
Long Gloves in silk or lisle, 22 inch lengths with 3 button fastenings. Blk. or white & reg. $1.00 qualities. A pair.. 59c
Glove Counter

Bigger Values for To-morrow on the Second Floor

$2.25 Blouses $1.59—Tailored Linen Blouses with laundered collar and cuffs and pretty front trimmed with tucks, pleats and scalloped embroidery. Also a line of White Batiste Blouses, prettily embroidered in shades of sky, coronation blue, lavender, coral and black. Choice of high or low neck and all have kimona sleeve. All sizes. Each..... $1.59

Dressy Silk Waists at $2.98 and $3.98—Women's waists of all black or black with white stripe messaline silks, made with the new kimona sleeve and with choice of low square or high neck. Trimmings of silk gimp and buttons. Very dressy models. Each.. ..... $2.98 and $3.98

$5.00 Panama Skirts $3.98—Women's skirts in French Panama in black or navy. Several styles, nearly all of which are pleated and trimmed with bands of self and buttons. Sizes 38 to 42. Regular $5.00, for..... $3.98

Women's Wash Skirts 98c—Wash skirts for women, made of heavy Drees Ducks in black or navy with dot or small floral designs. Permanent colours. Sizes 38 to 42. Special value at..... 98c

Black or Fawn Coats $5.98—Women's coats in fawn Coverts or black Venetians, 30 inch lengths, with semi-fitting back. Welted seams. Sizes 34 to 42. Each..... $5.98

Extra Wide Window Shades 25% Less
Extra Special for Wednesday's selling is a reduction of 25% on all wide Window Shades. These shades are all made in our own workrooms and may be had in any colour or with any style trimming. Only the best oiled shade cloth and best rollers used. Bring your sizes. To-morrow..... 25% Savings

Wednesday Leaders in Home Furnishings
A Reversible Bedroom Rug for $2.89
Reversible Bedroom Rugs, 7 ft. 6 in. x 9 ft., woven all in one piece with neat borders on sides & ends. Good weight & colours of crimsons, greens & fawns. Special value (See Window) $2.89

Extension Rods 2 for 15c
54 inch brass extension rods with white silver ends & brass brackets, bright finish. Can be handily adjusted to any window 2 for 15c
Curtain Section

White Lace Curtains $1.39
Several odd lines of white and cream curtains of which there are only 1 to 4 pairs of a pattern. Heavy fish net effects in this season's newest patterns. All to clear. Regular $2.00 and $2.50. A pair..... $1.39
Curtain Section

White and Cream Muslins 15c
Fancy white and cream curtain muslin, 30 & 36 ins. wide, in a good range of new stripe trellis & spot patterns. All are materials that will launder & look well for kitchen, bedroom & dining room curtains. Some lines have trimmed edges. A yard..... 15c
Curtain Section

Tapestry Carpets 59c
Heavy imported tapestry carpets in rich velvety patterns in deep green, fawn and crimson, splendid grade that will stand hard everyday wear. Some patterns are woven 54 ins. wide to avoid seams. A yard 59c
Sewed Free

Curtain Madras 19c
Scotch madras muslins, double width, in cream or white. Best washing quality free from dressing. Patterns come in neat floral, crossbar and conventional effects. A yard..... 19c
Curtain Section

25c to 35c Jap Mattings 17½c
New patterns in fancy Japanese matting, 36 inches wide. Stout quality woven on heavy cotton warp and finished with heavy corded edge. Floral and conventional patterns in colours of blue, crimson, brown, green, yd. 17½c

Remember the Corset Demonstration
Miss Cunningham, the clever corsetiere, will be pleased to assist you in the choice of an up-to-date corset, the first consideration to the proper fit of your new Suit or Dress.

TURNBULL'S
THE HOUSE THAT VALUE BUILT

New Hat Shapes at 98c
See the Table of Untrimmed Hat Shapes, a clean-up of broken lines including blacks, new blues, greens, lavenders, cerise & champ., in rustic straws, worth up to $2, for 98c

MAY

1911

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost—10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept th m gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—Nine Sizes

VOL. I. No. 101 PETERBOROUGH MONDAY MAY 1 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

PROBS—Winds increasing to strong northerly to northwesterly, showery; much colder Tuesday.

Robt. Fair & Co.
Limited

Special Sale of Beautiful Lace Curtains
Fancy Curtain Nets
Scrims, Madras Muslins

The prices on these lines have been cut to such an extent, owing to the late Spring, that it is like giving money a new purchasing value. It is making every dollar worth a dollar and a third or a dollar and a half. Can't afford to miss it.

Bungalow Nets
In ivory and ecru, 42 inches wide. Regular price 50c, for 35c

Casement Nets
In white and Arab, 44 inches wide. Regular value 75c yard, for 60c

French Two Tone Casement Nets
48 inches wide. Regular value 85c yard, for 65c

Heavy French Curtain Scrim
With drawn work insertion in ecru, 44 inches wide. Regular value 90c, for 75c

Georgian Cloths
The new fancy fabric for curtains and drapes, 36 inches wide. Per yard 25c

Fancy Art Scrims
With plain centres and 9 inch fancy coloured border 35c

Coloured Scotch Madras
In artistic design and colour. 48 inches wide. Regular price 60c yard, for 43c

Madras Curtain Material
Plain cream figured, 44 inches wide. Regular price 35c, for 23c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in small neat designs. Regular value 75c pair, for 59c

Nottingham Lace Curtains
3 yards long, in fancy scrim designs. Regular value $1.25, for 89c

French Net Curtains
Perfect copy of Battenberg design. Regular value $5 00 the pair, for $3.75

THE BEST ADVERTISEMENT
This Store Ever Had Has Been
The Goods We Have Sold

WE HAVE always believed that small profits would make a big business. Our new Spring Merchandise exhibits in a marked degree what values can be offered when the dealer is looking to his future, and considers, first of all, the customer's satisfaction.

Our new Spring Shower and Waterproof Coats will win your trade if you see them, and hold your trade if you wear them. We show these in all the new weaves and colourings at $5.00 to $15.00. Be prepared for a rainy day, perhaps you need only an Umbrella. We show plain and spring-opening Umbrellas at 75c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50. Drop in and see if you don't think you can do better here than anywhere else.

H. LeBrun & Co.
The Style Store for Men and Boys

Get the "EXAMINER" in Your Home

ROYAL
Two Special Vaudeville Acts
T. W. BOSWELL & CO.
In A Comedy Sketch—
"Who Is He?"
Dorothy Weaver
Singing Comedienne and Wooden Shoe Dancer
These two Acts come to the Royal direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, and should prove pleasing to all lovers of good, clean, refined amusement.
Motion Pictures
Complete change of Motion Pictures for to-night, including one of the Biograph's latest and best Dramatic films, "The Broken Cross," a most beautifully told picture story. Also one of Edison's latest and funniest Comedies, "The Resurrection of John," and three other pictures.
Remember, the Royal is the coolest place to go to in the evenings. There are six big electric ceiling fans and one large auction fan going at all times when needed.
ADMISSION:
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

Princess
Special New Pictures To-day
"Caught With the Goods"
One of Essanay's latest and best Comedies, showing the hero going to jail for 30 days, making his wife think he is in Mexico, and then his return. It is some fun.
"Zululand"
One of Selig's great Dramas of Central Africa, showing scenes of hair breadth escapes from wild animals.
"Father's Birthday Hog"
One of Lubin Co's. latest and best comedy dramas.
"Woman's Curiosity"
One of the funniest comedies ever seen on a picture curtain.
5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Now is the Time to Bring Them To Us
Before the summer sun gets in its work. Remember every child will be reproduced in the "Christmas Examiner."
The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
Always get Roy's famous souvenir post cards

The Elite Clothing & Millinery Store
Just Received—A New Supply of LADIES' & CHILDREN'S HATS
Every one the very latest in style. Our Trimmed Hats a specialty. Come and see the prettiest Millinery in town. You can buy your Summer Hat cheaper here than elsewhere.
SPRING SUITS AND COATS for Ladies and Gents
All made up-to-date in the present day styles.
You will need some new things for the home, now the housecleaning time is here. Come and see what you require in the way of Rugs, Carpets, Linoleums, Curtains, etc.
We will be pleased to show you our new stock. Come and open up an account with us. A small deposit and easy terms to suit your convenience.
422 George St. Phone 567

THE FIRST DROWNING OF THE SEASON
LITTLE EDDIE TAYLOR LOSES HIS LIFE

Nine Year Old Boy Loses His Footing While Crossing Locks Dam —Falls Into the River and is Carried Away by the Turbulent Waters.

BODY NOT RECOVERED

The first drowning accident of the season occurred on Saturday evening when little Eddie Taylor, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Weir street, fell from the locks dam and lost his life in the swiftly flowing water of the Otonabee.

The river is at its height now, and is rushing over the locks dam in a manner that would give the strongest swimmer very little chance to escape, and although the accident was witnessed by several people, they were unable to do anything to help the unfortunate little fellow, who was swept away and disappeared in the turbulent waters below the dam.

Eddie and his two brothers Fred and Oliver, who are a few years older, had been fishing for suckers at the locks. They had been operating at the east side of the river, but shortly after seven, Fred and Oliver started for the west side and Eddie followed them, carrying a bag over his shoulder containing about twenty fish. He was seen to stumble and before the spectators of the accident could realize what had happened, he toppled and fell from the dam into the water. He was carried away with lightning rapidity and disappeared before any plan for rescue could be formulated.

So far the body has not been recovered although search parties have been at work all day yesterday and today. The swiftness of the current makes the work difficult and it may be some time before the body can be located.

The sympathy of the community will be extended to the bereaved family, who seem to be particularly unfortunate. A few years ago, one of the [illegible] and had both legs taken off, and the father has been ill for some time. The little fellow is survived by his parents and six brothers, Willie, Alfred, Ben, Fred, Phillip and Oliver, all living at home.

BUT THEY WON'T KEEP QUIET.

and as long as those Moon College graduates keep on telling their friends so long we must expect 30-day Shorthand to invade our camp.

SENOR RAY AT PARK ST. CHURCH

All those who were privileged to listen to the thrilling missionary addresses yesterday, given by Senor Ray of Bolivia, at Park street Baptist church, must have been deeply impressed by the great need of the simple gospel of Jesus Christ in South America. Mr. Ray depicted this need in very realistic terms.

This evening he will give a missionary exhibit and also a grand lantern lecture on South America. One should come and hear him. This is one of the finest lectures of its kind in America. The lecture relates facts and not fancies, of life among the savages. Don't forget to come to-night.

One of the Stoney Lake Navigation Co. steamers will leave Lakefield on the arrival of the morning train from Peterboro on Tuesday, May 2nd for the Lakes. 2d-10c

The Business World
Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.
THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES
Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.
OUR HOME STUDY COURSES
Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.
PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON, - President

TWO BURNED TO DEATH IN THE BANGOR FIRE

Thousands of Homeless People Spent the Night on the Streets Sheltered Only by Blankets, But the Incoming Trains To-day Are Bringing Tents and Food for the Sufferers.

Special to The Examiner

BANGOR, MAINE, MAY 1.—It is assured now that the only casualities in the six million dollar fire which wiped out a third of the city last night were, two burned to death while asleep and a dozen or more firemen and citizens slightly hurt by falling timbers. Thousands of homeless people spent the night on streets, sheltered only by blankets and sheets. The incoming trains this morning are bringing food and tents for the sufferers.

FEDERATION OF LABOUR WILL UNDERTAKE DEFENCE

Special to The Examiner.

INDIANAPOLIS, INT., MAY 1. — Samuel Gompers, the president of the American Federation of Labour held a secret conference this morning with forty leading labour presidents, when it was decided that the executive of the Federation would take charge of the McNamara defence funds to be raised by contributions from the various Unions of the United States and Canada.

CONSERVATIVE CRITICIZES OPPOSITION TACTICS

Ottawa, April 30.—The threatened extreme obstructive tactics of the Opposition with regard to reciprocity do not appeal to [illegible]

[illegible] Stewart Hall-field, who is at present in Ottawa. Mr. Brockfield was one of Mr. Borden's nominators at the last general election and his status in the party is not questioned.

"I am unable to understand the Opposition," he said on Saturday. "If reciprocity is such a bad thing and so unpopular in the country as they allege, why do they not allow the Government to go ahead and hang itself? The general elections are only a little more than a year off at any event, and if what the Conservatives declare is true the Government would be defeated on the issue. It and not the Opposition must accept the responsibility. Personally I think the [illegible] Nova Scotia and the country generally.

"I think it most regrettable that by reason of the fight of reciprocity still being kept up here Sir Wilfrid Laurier is likely to be kept from the Imperial Conference. His attendance there is indispensable."

Mr. Brockfield expresses an opinion that is widely held by many prominent Conservatives like imself, who have privately expressed their dissent from the policy now embarked on by the Opposition.

Cars Were Derailed
Accident On The G.T.R.

At 5 o'clock this morning an east bound G.T.R. freight with a load of grain, five miles west of Peterborough encountered a broken rail. This did not affect the engine but eight or nine of the hindermost cars were thrown off the line.

On account of this the flyer and the 8.30 train were forced to travel via Millbrook on the old track.

The auxiliaries are now busy replacing the cars.

Trainmaster McMillan arrived at Peterborough at 2.10, having cleared the track.

200 Boy Scouts May Be Sent To Coronation

OTTAWA, APRIL 29.—To consider a proposal to send 200 representative Canadian boy scouts over to England in time for the coronation was the object of a meeting of the Dominion council of the movement, which took place at government house to-day.

The original plan, and that proposed by the British organization, was that the colonial boys should arrive just in time for a monster scout rally to take place in London on July 4. The Dominion authorities, however, are of the opinion that Canadians will give more support if the boys are going to be present at the coronation ceremony.

Must See Sight.

"The parents of the boys who are to go insist that they should be given an opportunity to see the coronation," said Mr. H. R. Hammond, provincial secretary of the movement. "It is possible that they could go over before June 22, and remain in London until the rally," he added.

Speaking on the progress of the movement generally in Canada, Mr. Hammond said the chief difficulty was for the authorities to keep track of its growth and the new bands being organised in different places.

WILL MAKE STATEMENT IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

OTTAWA, MAY 1.— The name of Hon. Frank Oliver having already been mentioned in the Toronto World as the man referred to in the graft charges in Toronto Telegram, it is stated in some circles that he will make a statement on the subject in the house this afternoon. After a long caucus this morning, twelve announced that there would be no let up on the part of the Liberals in the reciprocity fight. Opposition forces here are now strengthened by Hon. W. J. Bowair, of British Columbia and Hon. Robert Rogers, Manitoba.

FIGHT A BITTER ONE

Examiner Special:

OTTAWA, ONT. MAY 1.—There is no indication of any ending of the parliamentary dead lock over reciprocity. Indeed, the members who have been away for the week end have come back this morning are full of fight as when they went away and it is asserted on both sides that there will be no surrender, but that the fight will be kept on to the bitter [illegible]

THINKING OF A Kodak Camera?
If you are, just stop and think where you can get the best for your money.
McDermid & Jury carry a full line of Eastman's Kodaks and Cameras and it is this year as in the past, Eastman's are head and shoulders above their competitors. If you get an Eastman you get the best possible.
We carry the largest stock of amateur goods in the city. Our films and papers are always fresh.
If you would like any information or want any developing or printing done, consult the head of the department.
Any size roll developed for 10c
McDermid & Jury
The Safe Satisfactory Druggists
Corner George and Charlotte Sts.

KNEW NOTHING OF MURDERS

Woman Prisoner Among the Camorrists Testifies

Special to The Examiner.

VIERBO, ITALY, MAY 1. — Maria Steneardo, the lone woman prisoner among the Camorrists on trial for murder, was a witness to-day when the court resumed after two weeks' interruption, owing to the illness of juryman. Steneardo is one of the most beautiful Italian women. She told of her adventurous life and sundry conferences, socially, in her house, but declared she knew and heard nothing of murders.

REVOLUTION SPREADING

Special to The Examiner.

HONG KONG, MAY 1. — Advices from Canton this morning indicate that the revolution is spreading and the loyal troops are unable to cope with it. The rebels have captured several towns and there is much pillaging and murder going on.

Tiger cleans soiled hands instantly.

$10,080 FOR 12 GAMES

Special to The Examiner:

VANCOUVER, B.C., MAY 1.—Tommy Burns, formerly heavyweight champion pugilist of the world has signed his contract with Con Jones to play at least twelve games with the Vancouver lacrosse team this season for ten thousand dollars.

HEALING POWER A MARVEL
So remarkable is the healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment that the results of a single application are often a marvel to persons who witness them for the first time. Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., tells how her son was cured of blood poisoning which got started in a wound received at a threshing. Relief was prompt and cure effected by three boxes.

We Go To SPECIALISTS
When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves run all wastes up and we are bordering on the vision of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on nerves. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.
We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.
All Work Guaranteed
A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. D.O. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

To those out of tune, prompt relief and quick, sure healing follow the use of Mexxa Ointment
For cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, sores, boils, abscess, sunstings, dandruff, it is always used by those who have once tried it. 25c. All Druggists.

Daily Examiner.

The Circulation of The Evening Examiner for the three months ending March 31, 1911, was 3450

COPIES

Sworn to and Guaranteed Detailed Statement for the year on application

The Daily Examiner, published every lawful evening by The Peterborough Examiner Limited, Office, 360 George Street.
The Weekly Examiner, published every Thursday morning.
The subscription price of The Daily Examiner is $4.00 per annum; that of The Weekly, $1.00.
E. H. CLOVER, Managing Director.
Advertising Rates on application.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unparalleled."

MONDAY, MAY 1, 1911

WHERE THE BEST IS DEMANDED

The matter of building and food inspection is one in which the requirements for Caesar's wife should rule—be "above suspicion." Other elements than strict, unbending and incorruptible integrity, and first-rate efficiency may, without such terrible results, enter into the appointment and character of other inspectors. If, through influence, favour, or other consideration we appoint an inefficient and dishonest street inspector, the chief results are bad streets and waste of money, which do not involve loss of life. Hamilton has a sewer scandal. A contractor laid a sewer that lets sand in at the joints—a la our own Romaine street sewer—and, it is said, that two controllers instructed the City Engineer to be "easy on the contractor." This is simply waste of money—a premium in scamping work, with no peril, except perhaps remotely to health or life. But a building inspector, or plumbing inspector should be chosen by merit. The recent disaster in Montreal, in which defective inspection led to evasion of building regulations and this to imminent loss of life, is a case in point. In buildings where work is covered, defective construction, defective plumbing and defective sanitary provision can easily be performed unless subject to progressive and vigilant inspection. Where risk of health and danger of health are incurred, there cannot be too rigid inspection. A civic body assumes a terrible responsibility if in appointing inspectors, it yields to any other consideration than competency, honesty, thoroughness and incorruptibility in the appointee. These qualities should be the one determining factor, the only recommendation.

THE DUTY OF THE TIME.

The Globe in the following article, puts its finger upon a tender spot in our national life, present and future:

The twofold problem of Canada today, from the point of view of citizenship, is the maintenance of its moral standards and the assimilation of its new people. Of all the mental diseases that afflict a young nation none is more dangerous in its consequences than the craze for population. It seems to be as contagious as smallpox or scarlet fever. One city raises the slogan, "So many people in 1915," and immediately all other aspiring cities take up the cry. But in the last analysis the craze for numbers is a mere delusion. A mass of unassimilated, uneducated, unmoralized people, exploited by a few masterful captains of industry, do not make a nation. However democratic the form of such a people's government may be, in reality it is a government by interests. Government can never be democratic in reality until the people have arrived at self-consciousness through education and social assimilation, and the chief problem of Canada to-day, from the point of view of citizenship, is not to fill up its vacant places, but to assimilate and educate its ever-increasing army of immigrants.

Among the voluntary agencies for this work of education and assimilation none is more interesting than the Reading Camp Association, whose tenth annual report has just come to hand. Naturally the two points where the poor, uneducated foreigner comes most into contact with our civilization is in the slums of the larger cities, and in the mining, lumber and railway construction camps on the frontier. In the cities the public school reaches the children of the foreigner, and through the child assimilates to a greater or less degree the parents. But no such agency exists on the frontier. The adult there must be dealt with directly or not be reached at all. There are approximately 300,000 men, mostly foreigners, working in the frontier camps of Canada, and the State makes no effort whatsoever to teach these men our language, our history, our political ideals, or the working of our institutions. For various reasons, denominational and otherwise, the churches can do little for them. Until recent years no one seemed to care much either for the body or soul of the frontiersman. His labour-power was exploited to the uttermost by the contractor; he was preyed on by the liquor seller, he was duped by those who sold him supplies, but no effort was made to instruct him or make him a sober, decent, intelligent citizen.

The reading Camp Association in an attempt to meet the needs of this class of men. It has been in operation for ten years and every year its workers feel increasing confidence in the worth and practicability of its mission. It supplies reading tents or camps or cars, according to circumstances; furnishes these as tastefully as possible; provides papers, magazines, gramophones, games, etc.; places a student from some one of our universities in charge of each camp; teaches the foreigner to speak, read and write our language—in a word, tries to surround the frontiersman with a few of the advantages of civilized life and fill his empty hours with wholesome entertainment and useful elementary instruction. The success of the work so far justifies the insight and judgment of its founder, Mr. Alfred Fitzpatrick, and should commend the work to every public spirited citizen of Canada.

The above article indicates only a very small part of the problem. We have a far more numerous and important work of civilization and assimilation to do in our great northwest. This region is rapidly filling with a population cosmopolitan in character. A large proportion of this new population is a stranger to the conditions and requirements of civilization as we know it is Canada; and far more in need of enlightenment, instruction and uplift than many of the class with which the foregoing article deals.

Unattended to, neglected and allowed to develop and transplant among our population the undesirable characteristics in which it was reared in its home land, this element of our new population—it cannot be called citizenship—is an element of danger, too evident to require demonstration. To meet this menace two things are needed. We must have education, to give knowledge of the conditions, duties and requirements of civilized citizenship; and we must have religion to create and excite the sense of responsibility in respect of the fulfilment of these duties. One need, education, meet this menace two things are needfalls within the province of the church. In Canada we have no organic connection between church and state, but a very deided moral connection and interrelation. We may educate our new people, but without the compementary element, the moral element, we have only supplied the smaller part of the need. The Layman's missionary movement bulks largely in the field of moral enterprise, and constitutes a tremendous moral force. But it is open to question whether this force, in Canada, is directed in the direction that Canadian conditions urgently demand. Foreign missions, are a duty that cannot be neglected, but Home Missions in Canada have the first call. The command to preach the gospel to the heathen, literally interpreted, in a splendid abstraction, but to us in this country there is concrete quality in the process—"beginning in Jerusalem." Our Jerusalem is at our doors, and it seems that our first responsibility is to our home missions. These are needed to implant in our new population the principles of Christianity, upon which the highest, and only real and enduring civilization is based. So shall our new citizens become and be a benign, and not corrupting, element in our population.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The Ontario Educationalists," says the Brantford Expositor, "placed themselves on record to the effect that the formation of a good manners circle in each class in school would be of great advantage.' It would be, if the teacher were the centre of the "circle" in the way of both precept and example.

The Windsor Record says: "Enlighten the child at a proper age. If parents will not do it, the school is the right place. Banish false modesty." This is sensible. Why should the origin of human life be made such a forbidden mystery. Even the natural curiosity of very small children might be satisfied by a diplomatic version of the truth and not be put off by fables and monstrously absurd falsehoods, to be dispelled in after years by possibly depraved and corrupt enlighteners.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.
Is sent direct to the diseased parts by the Improved Blower. Heals the ulcers, clears the air passages, stops droppings in the throat and permanently cures Catarrh and Hay Fever. 25c. blower free. Accept no substitutes. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

How Professional-Economists Differ In Matter Of Reciprocity

(London Advertiser)

On the reciprocity question even the doctors disagree, as on most other questions indeed. Professor Leacock, of McGill, is the academic champion of the Anti-Reciprocity League. Professor Skelton, of Queen's, calmly gives deliberate judgment in favour of this agreement. There are doctors and doctors. Professor Leacock, quite as much a humorist as an economist, in close touch with the small coterie of Montreal capitalists, who vie with Toronto in frenzied antagonism to the agreement, finds an excellent opportunity, not so much for seizing and stating the economic truth of the matter as for taking up a sensational position, challenging public wonder, performing a more or less motley action for the grandstand. Every university of any magnitude boasts such professors as this, a refined opera bouffe variety which blends laughter and bravado, lights up a measure of comic truth with stage fire, and mingles all without a plan.

Professor Skelton, on the other hand, is an equally indispensable member of a fully-equipped faculty, the man of solid judgment and sober utterance, who seeks not to present a corner of the truth in red lights, but scientifically to set forth whole matter viewed from all angles.

In the current number of the Queen's Quarterly, Professor Skelton surveys dispassionately the reciprocity discussion of the last three months. He sees it steadily and sees it whole. What sort of reply, fit to present to a serious university class, can Professor Leacock make to this thorough and massive analysis of the question and its answers?

"If there is one aim in which there is unanimity among the world's nations. . . . it is the ceaseless endeavour to find new outlets for their products. . . . If, again, there is one market which Canada has persistently sought to enter, it is the market of the United States, as the history of nearly a dozen negotiations testifies." Professor Skelton then goes on to note the extreme reaction on the part of the opponents of the pact to a refusal of the American market altogether. The opponents of reciprocity are the men who hold most strongly the exports should exceed imports, but now refuse to allow our balance of trade with the United States to be redressed.

The Canadian producer is sure to gain. "Compared with the gains," says Professor Skelton, "the losses are of little magnitude". The consumer also stands to gain: "where a manufacturing stage intervenes between primary producer and consumer, and where the manufacturer, whether miller or pork-packer, was already charging the highest price the tariff on his finished product would permit, it is possible that both producer and consumer will gain at the expense of the not over-small profit of the middleman. The consumer, too, may hope to gain by the lengthening of the season. Commerce is a game in which one's gain is not necessarily any other's loss."

As to the conservative plea, the eminent writer points out that "to forego present markets for reproducible products of farm or forest or sea now going to economomic waste, is not conversation, but imbecility."

The annexation bogey is convincingly disposed of. "If some blatant southern Democrat declares to-day that reciprocity will lead to annexation, sixty years ago wiser southern Democrats voted for reciprocity to prevent annexation and the addition of a tier of anti-slavery states to the union. If trade intercourse involves political union, how is it that the twenty years in which our imports from the United States have doubled each decade are precisely the twenty years which national and imperial sentiment has been mounting highest?" "Queen Anne is dead and the war of 1776 over." "Two events in the republic to the south have revealed sharply the weaknesses of its constitutions. The first is the holding of the extra session of Congress, displaying the conflicting powers of President, the two Houses, and the people. The second is the declaration by the court of appeals of New York that the Workmen's Compesation Act recently passed by that state is unconstitutional." Will Canadians have anything to do with such a political system?

Some other points are tersely and vigorously made, and the whole situation viewed with a masterly eye. The article is in strong contrast to the hysterics and heroics of Professor Leacock.

USEFUL THINGS AS CORONATION SOUVENIRS

Coronation souvenirs of all sorts are being shown in London. Some already have made their way to this country, and others undoubtedly will follow. Coronation colours are with us already. Coronation jewelry, spoons, laces, etc., are novelties we may look for.

Queen Mary, with her simple housewifely tastes, is a difficult person to exploit as an originator of fads. Some of the manufacturers have solved the problem by adopting china. Queen Mary being very fond of it and much interested in those handsome collections in Windsor castle which Queen Victoria assembled during her long life. Coronation china appears in every grade of china and in all sorts of pieces from cups and saucers to serviceable bedroom sets. The British lion or the arms of Great Britain appear on some, while the interlaced monograms of the King and Queen adorn others. One bedroom set is decorated with gold lions rampant on a white background, shamrocks for good luck forming a scattered decoration.

In jewellery there are pins, brooches, hat pins, bracelets and pendants of various different styles. One enterprising London firm has produced a new "Empire" brooch or pendant with an original design registered by themselves. The enamelled centre, which is reversible shows the two hemispheres, with the colonies tinted red. Surrounding this is a garter bearing the words: "Survey the Empire, 1911," and outside is a pretty design introducing the rose, thistle and shamrock, while at the top is the King's coronet, and at the sides the letters G. R. This may be had in plain gold or beautifully enamelled and set in diamonds. Another somewhat similar style, but not so expensive, is beautifully finished in green and yellow gold, but without the reversible centre.

Other effective and appropriate yet inexpensive novelties are little pincushions which are an exact model of the King's crown in sterling silver gilt with the red velvet forming the pincushion. The same design is used for other souvenirs, notably for hatpins.

The anointing spoon is copied in every size and may be had in gold or silver, as saltspoons, brooches, watch-charms, etc., and at all prices, from one shilling up.

Many pretty designs in brooches show the King's initials, G.R., while the date is also frequently used, as well as the royal motto and coat of arms.

If your hands could talk, they would ask for Tiger Hand Cleaner.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION

For the next Homeseekers' excursion on May 2nd, the Grand Trunk Railway will operate a through Pullman tourist car, Toronto to Winnipeg and Edmonton via Chicago, St. Paul and G.T.P., leaving Toronto at 11 p.m. Rates, berths, etc., the same as via other route. No trouble with customs, transfer, etc. Reserve berth early from B. A. Rose, City Passenger Agent, 334 George street.

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE.

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Toronto Savings & Loan Comp'y

Paid Up Capital $1,000,000.00
Reserve Fund $720,000.00

SAVINGS DEPARTMENT

3½% Interest paid four times a year on deposits of One Dollar and upwards.

Interest accrues from date of deposit to date of withdrawal.

Depositors are afforded every facility afforded by modern methods of banking.

Security Afforded to Depositors

Total Assets of the Company, December 31st, 1910 $3,355,5[illegible]4.40
Total Liabilities to the Public $1,866,0[illegible]6.6
Surplus $1,[illegible]89 6 7.71

MONEY TO LOAN—On City or Farm Property at lowest current rates of interest.

Head Offices:
437 GEORGE ST., PETERBORO'

W. G. MORROW
MANAGING DIRECTOR

Peterboro,' March 17th, 1911.

New and Second-hand Clothing, Boots, Rubbers, etc., Furniture.

JAY'S STORE

390 AYLMER ST. PHONE 622

Our Coal Sells Itself

The first order for our No. 1 quality hard coal, brings others when the need arises. A ton of our coal gives a ton of Satisfactory Burning. :: :: ::

7.50 Per Ton Cash

THE PETERBOROUGH FUEL AND CARTAGE COMPANY, Limited

162 Charlotte St. Tel. Bell: 270-281
Tel. Machine 270.
134 Aylmer Street, Tel. (Bell) 283.

So Convenient

For ladies, mothers with children and elderly people to have their photographs taken on the ground floor at

The Lendrum Studio
Ground Floor. 170 Charlotte st

In the Surrogate Court of the County of Peterborough.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF JOHN CHESNEY, late of the Township of Harvey, in the County of Peterborough, Farmer, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN Pursuant to R.S.O. 1897, Chapter 129, Section 38, that all Persons having Claims against the Estate of the late JOHN CHESNEY, who died on or about the 18th day of March, 1911, are required to send by post prepaid or to deliver to the undersigned Solicitors for the Administrator on or before the 25th day of May, 1911, their names, addresses and descriptions and a full statement and particulars of their claims and the nature of the security (if any) held by them duly verified and after the said date the assets of the said Estate will be distributed among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to the claims of which the said Administrator shall then have notice.

Dated this 21st day of April, A.D. 1911.

HALL, HAYES & HALL
116 Hunter Street, Peterborough
Solicitors for the Administrator
4d.mon.28-4916

IT IS EASY TO OWN A SINGER SEWING MACHINE

The most Economical Machine you can buy. Built to last a lifetime. Needles for all makes of machines. Attachments, Parts and Repairs always in stock.

J. W. Stuart, Local Manager
247½ George St. Peterborough

WANTED

WANTED—NORMAL SCHOOL BOARDERS Apply 69½ Stewart St. 12d-29-472

AGENTS WANTED

AGENTS WANTED—A STUDY OF OTHER Agency propositions convinces that none can equal ours. You will always regret it if you don't apply for particulars to Travellers' Dept. 238 Albert St. Ottawa. d-4mo-[illegible]-3494

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED—NIGHT PORTER. APPLY NATIONAL. 3d-101-5034

MESSENGER BOY WANTED—APPLY AT Examiner Office.

WANTED—FIRST CLASS PAINTER. BEST wages. Apply W. J. Koster, 574 Charlotte. 1d-5037

LEARN AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS. HOME lessons, $35.00 weekly, job guaranteed $15 weekly while learning. Rochester Auto School, 1768, Rochester, N.Y. 3md-51-4[illegible]

WANTED AT ONCE A LIVE REPRESENTATIVE for Peterboro and district. A permanent position with liberal inducements for the right party. Stone & Wellington, Nurserymen, Toronto. 9d-101-5w-18-5043

HELP WANTED—IF YOU ARE LOOKING for work, call and see us. We have calls for all kind of help.

FACTORIES, FOUNDRIES, CONTRACTORS and all employers of help supplied free of cost on short notice.—People's Employment Bureau, 391 George Street. 1md-30-4[illegible]

HELP WANTED—Female

GIRLS WANTED FOR LAMP DEPARTment of C.G.E. Apply Gate House. 3d-103-5019

WANTED—CAPABLE MIDDLE AGED WOman as general servant. Small family. Apply to Miss Sherry, 195 McDonnel St. 4d-103-5027

GIRLS WANTED—A GIRL FOR UPSTAIR work, and one for washing dishes, at the Hotel National. 6d-103-5[illegible]

WANTED—GOOD EXPERIENCED SALES lady for Dry Goods Store, one with some knowledge of Millinery preferred. Apply to 165 Simcoe St. d-tf-101-5042

WANTED—WOMAN OR GIRL FOR LIGHT House keeping in mornings. Apply Mornings or in the evenings between 7 and 8 p.m., to 283 Stewart St. 1d-103-5023

WANTED—SALESLADY. WRITTEN APplications will be received up to May 6th, state experience if any, also enclose copy of references. Apply C. B. Routley, 379 George Street. 2d-103-4[illegible]

WANTED — EXPERIENCED DRESS AND Suit maker. References, state wages. Apply James Sheirlock, Golden, B.C., or phone 544, Ring 3, Peterboro, for further particulars. 6d-98-4[illegible]

CAPABLE OLD COUNTRY DOMESTIC carefully selected, arriving every Monday. Apply now. The Guild, 71 Drummond St., Montreal or 14 Granville St., Toronto. Emily F. Francis. d-1m-94-4[illegible]

WOMEN WANTED—TO TAKE ORDERS in spare time. No experience necessary. Our lines especially used by mothers and girls. Apply to Dept. A., British Canadian Industrial Company, 220 Albert St., Ottawa. 1-4mos-98-4954

LOST

LOST—CHILDS' BRACELET SUNDAY April 16th, initials M. H. Reward at Examiner. 6d-101-5044

LOST—ON THE KEENE ROAD LAST FALL an Automobile cover. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

WORK WANTED

WOMAN DESIRES SITUATION AS HOUSEkeeper or general servant in small family. Apply 255 Bethune Street 3d-101-5029

SITUATIONS VACANT

AN INTELLIGENT PERSON MAY EARN $60 monthly corresponding for newspapers. No canvassing. Send for particulars. Press Syndicate, P 1723, Lockport, N.Y. d4m129

ANYONE, ANYWHERE CAN START A mail order business at home. No canvassing. Be your own boss. Send for free booklet. Tells how. Hancock, B. 1623, Lockport, N.Y. d4m 129

TO RENT

OFFICE TO RENT—ON WATER STREET Apply Donnelsons, Peak & Kerr. 6d-98

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT — BELL Phone 269. 2d-101-5049

MODERN HOUSE TO RENT, 134 PARK Street. Apply 141 Hunter Street or Phone 1261. d-tf-101-4961

TO RENT—A SMALL HOUSE IN GOOD locality, city water and electric light. For particulars apply to 125 Antrim St., City. d-tf-98-4[illegible]

TO RENT—SUMMER COTTAGE BY month or season. Apply to Box 2046 Examiner Office. 3d-101-5046

OFFICE ROOMS AND LIVING ROOMS to rent, centrally situated on George St. Apply at 241 George St. 6d-101-5045

DOUBLE ROOMS IN THE LUNDY BLOCK, George St., suitable for young men. Heated and all conveniences. Also house No. 220 Queen Street, 11 rooms, newly papered and painted. Apply to D. J. Lundy, 211-2 Hunter Street. d-tf-[illegible]

FOR RENT OR SALE-BRICK RESIDENCE 566 Weller St., 4 bedrooms, attic, bathroom and conveniences. Sewer, water gas and electric connections. All rear of this deep lot is a lawn tennis court. Good basement with laundry stove connections. Splendid locality. You'll like it. Apply to W. C. Austin, opposite or Geo. J. Sherry, High Court Office. 6d-103-5[illegible]

TO RENT—TWO STORES AND UPPER Floor in the Grand Opera House Block. A good Butcher Shop with large refrigerator, occ. McDonnell & Aylmer Sts. The Turner House with good grounds and large Stable at Port Hope. Apply to J. J. Turner & Sons, Tent and Awning Manufacturers, corner George, King and Water Streets. Both Phones. Peterborough. d-tf-

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—GOOD DRIVING HORSE CITY broken. Apply 295 Reid Street 3d-99-5002

FOR SALE—MEDIUM SIZED WARDROBE nearly new. Apply 256 Wescott Street. 2d-101-5051

FOR SALE—SIDEBOARD AND TABLE IN use for a month. Must be sold as owner is leaving City. Same may be seen at Belleghem's Furniture Store 3d-100-5026

FOR QUICK SALE OWNER GOING WEST Warm, well built 7-roomed brick house. City water, electric light, bath not fitted good garden. Apply 193 Romaine St. 5d-98-4[illegible]

GROCERY FOR QUICK SALE—Doing good cash business, dwelling over store, two acres of land, part fruit. This is a first-class opportunity to get in business for yourself. Owner going West. Apply M. Guerin, 469 Rogers St. 6d-100-5014

LOT FOR SALE—A GOOD BUILDING LOT on George Street north. Lots in this locality are selling at from $15 to $18 per foot. This lot may be had for $10 per foot if bought at once.—R. C. Stabler, 359 Water Street.

FOR SALE—6 ROOMED BRICK HOUSE—well built and warm; very convenient to Canadian General Electric Works; lot large enough to build double house if desired; cheap. Apply on premises, 124 Rubidge street 4w-[illegible]

FOR SALE

All kinds of highest grade Furniture, Clocks, Iron Beds, Springs, Mattresses, Carpets and Linoleums, Blankets, &c., at very lowest prices and on easy terms of payment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Home Furnishing Co.
208 Charlotte Street
Next to the Curling Rink

Crown Hotel For Sale

The entire property connected with and including the Crown Hotel, corner of Water and Hunter Streets, is offered for immediate sale. For terms and other particulars, apply to

R. H. JACKSON,
On the Premises

A HOME OF YOUR OWN.

Are you wise enough to Secure One Now?

While Prices are Lowest and Terms So Easy

On Jesse lot my price will be $450 per lot

I have offered to wholesale the balance of my sub-division and it may go any day. I sold four lots on Saturday and if you want to buy for a home or a safe and very profitable investment you should call at once.

CARPENTERS WANTED.

T. HURLEY
1m-101 282 Hunter St.

W. & A. KINGDON

Painters, Paperhangers Glass Embossers, Gilders, & General House and Church Decorators.

All Work GUARANTEED, and Executed with Dispatch

Our charges are moderate and we use only the best materials

Estimates Cheerfully Furnished

Address—
762 Water Street
PHONE 1149

Chamberlin Metal Weather Strip

will stop all rattling of windows. Keeps out dust and wind.

is 50 Per Cent Cheaper than storm windows and 100 per cent better.

Painting Decorating Kalsomining

Promptly attended to. Estimates cheerfully given. Prices moderate.

J. H. VANCE
Further Particulars From
773 Aylmer St. Phone 1898

DON'T YOU WISH YOUR LANDLORD WOULD HAND YOU BACK YOUR RENT MONEY EVERY MONTH?

If you would stop the rent foolishness and take the same money and buy a lot and build a house with it, it would be all yours—every month's payment of it. We offer you an easy method of saving the money you pay for rent and keeping the value of it in your own possession for all time. Our plan is this:

Buy a Lot

and start building a little home at once. The full particulars of how this can be done will be explained to you by

J. T. O'Connell & Co.
136 Hunter St. Phone 376
Open Evenings

LAMEY & COSTELLO
Real Estate Brokers
434 Granville St., Vancouver, B. C.
Information regarding Vancouver and adjacent Districts forwarded on application

A Real Estate SNAP

Lots 37 & 38, block 1, Buena Vista SASKATOON

$1050 for the pair, $300 cash, balance 4 & 10 months

This is one of the best money getters ever presented to the people of Peterboro

L. A. Russell
REAL ESTATE OPERATOR
Room 18 Bank of Commerce Bldg., Peterboro
12d-98-4980

A. Brown & Co.
406 GEORGE STREET
Headquarters for all kinds of
Real Estate

WINDSOR HOUSE
BUCKHORN : N. PEARSON, Prop.
Accomodation for tourists both Cottage and Hotel. Write for terms, etc. to
N. PEARSON, HALL'S BRIDGE
2m-98

Might & Taylor
376 Water St. Phone 99
Real Estate and Insurance
Lots on George Street South $300 each
$1250.00 will buy frame House and ½ acre of land, 12 minutes walk from P.O.
$950.00 will buy a two story Brick House on Smith Street.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

A Solid Manufacturing Business, established over twenty-five years, present output about $500,000 per year; net profit on this amount 20 per cent. We are offering a block of 7 per cent. preferred profit sharing stock in this company at par value, $100 per share, with 25 per cent bonus on common stock now earning 7 per cent. Will average you 12 per cent dividends payable half-yearly. Write or call.

National Securities Corporation, Limited
Confederation Life Bldg., TORONTO

Special Sale of TYPEWRITERS

including:
Visible MONARCHS, OLIVERS, FOX and sundry second-hand machines
10% off Duplicating Machines
Desk Files, Envelope Cases and Statement Compartments
Reporter's Note Books 40c per dozen
Columbia and Victor Gramophones at Special Prices.

Cash or Time Payments

Peterborough Typewriter and Office Supply Company
159 Simcoe St. : Phone 655

Summer Opening

About the tenth of May we will hold our Summer Opening when we will show hot weather ready-to-wear, and to make ready for them we are clearing out the remainder of spring suits and dresses and underskirts. Just now you can get all the latest spring suits and dresses for a fraction of their cost.

Beautiful Silk Dresses that would cost $35.00 to $40.00 to get made, will be cleared out at about..... $19.00
Cloth Dresses, beautiful styles, at about..... $10.50
The latest Suits, fine cloth, with good silk lining at from..... each..... $12.50
Come early while the choice is good. Third Floor.

Millinery

Our Millinery Department with wonderful rapidity has made for itself a most enviable name throughout our entire district. The beautiful artistic designs show evidence of rare skill. Like the picture of a master painter, there is not a touch lacking and not a touch is there too much.

Miss Noble never sinks her art into dollars and cents. She would sooner lose a sale than sell an unsuitable hat. She makes a careful study of faces and figures and thus you can always depend upon her hats giving a beautiful completeness to your costume, and though her hats are in a class by themselves they cost no more than the others.

Millinery Phone 354 Second Floor Miss Noble, HEAD MILLINER

Children's Headwear

Latest effects, ... 25c and up
See our new Mull Bonnet trimmed with beautiful embroidery (2ND FLOOR)..... $1.00

Music

Everything up-to-date in music.
SPECIAL BARGAIN
Music slightly frayed 7c

Boot Sale

Ladies' Boots, none under $2.50 and up to $3.00, for $2.09

Ladies' Boots, 4 different styles, all sizes, for $1.25

Saturday only

Whitewear

Children's Drawers for ages 2 to 14 years, made from good cotton, reg 25c a pair, Saturday only, 2 pairs for..... 25c

Children's Knitted Wool Bootees reg 10c to 30c a pair, Saturday only per pair..... 5c

Children's Dresses in pretty American styles, full width, kimona sleeve, 2 to 5 years .. 50c
Second Floor

Hose and Underwear

Stockings

We pride ourselves upon our high class Hosiery and Underwear
See our boy's strong Hose, all sizes..... 15c
Ladies' fine thread Stockings in black and fancy shades..... 15c
Our Cashmere Hose is stronger and finer in quality than you usually see 25c-35c-50c

Underwear

Ladies' Vests with long, short or no sleeve, regular 25c for Saturday only 15c
Ladies' Knitted Combinations, regular $1.25, for Saturday only 69c
Ladies' Vests, fine thread, short sleeve..... 10c
Main Floor

New Combs, just arrived, from 5c to..... $3.00

ELLIOT'S

Try our Special $3.00 Long Corset

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"YOU aren't glad to see me to-night?" said the six-foot man.

"Y-e-s," said the distractingly pretty little lady, but said it so dishonestly that, of course, he recognized it as equivalent to a "no."

"Why aren't you glad to see me to-night?"

"Because."

"Because what?"

"You know."

"I do not."

"I told you over the telephone!"

"Surely you don't mean because I asked you to come to meet me instead of my going out to the house for you?"

"Why not?"

"But, dear, didn't I tell you that I had some unexpected work that I positively had to do that kept me later than usual?"

"I know, but I think it's perfectly horrid for a girl to have to go to meet a man."

"But you know I don't often ask it of you, and if you hadn't come in to-night we would have missed half the first act and made everybody get up to get to our seats."

"Well, I don't know; but it seems to me that if a man truly liked and respected a girl he would manage some way to come to her father's house and get her."

The six-foot man looked down at the distractingly pretty little tormenter, half exasperated, half puzzled. If this had been an unusual occurrence it would not have been so trying, but it was not. This was only one of the many exasperating little specimens of unreasonableness in which the pretty little lady continually indulged.

For a moment he remembered the hours of tense straining to get that work done in time to go at all, and the scrap of sandwich which had served him for a dinner and he looked rather stern, and then, partly because he was a six-foot man—six foot inside as well as outside—and partly because she was distractingly pretty, he simply said gently:

"Well, little girl, we will try not let it happen again."

Whereupon the little girl, to reward him, smiled up very sweetly and tightened ever so lightly the clasp of her fingers on his coat sleeve, and the six-foot man, thrilled in every nerve by that 100-volt current of exquisite sensation which those fingers had power to start, quite forgot he had felt exasperated even for a moment.

And apparently all was merry as wedding bells.

But really it wasn't.

For the little girl was committing one of Judge Rantoul's fifteen errors of life from which I have quoted before — "Not to yield in unimportant trifles."

Just now the six-foot man finds it worth while to endure this exasperating pettiness, but some day, after they have been married a year or two, there will come a time when the current does not work so spontaneously, and the smile will have become a commonplace, and then, if the little girl hasn't grown any wiser, there will surely be trouble.

Trouble may mean an overburdened love changed to indifferent and cold courtesy.

Or it may more happily mean a quick revolt that will open the little girl's eyes in time.

Let us hope the latter.

Many women have an idea that men rather like them to be inconsistent and exasperating.

So they do.

But as a seasoning for the meal of life, not for its substance.

They are doubtless glad to have their cake spiced with the cinnamon of inconsistence and the allspice of coquetry, and even a little of the ginger of temper and exactingness.

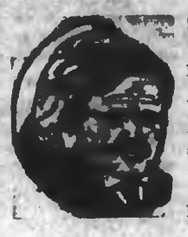
But you can win a sure wager if you bet that there isn't a man living who will eat very much of the cake if he finds the cook has dumped in a cup of ginger in the place of the flour of common sense and livableness.

Ruth Cameron

Watch That Bald Spot

Old, middle aged and young men, should keep a sharp look out for thinning out of hair right on the top of the head.

If your hair has already started to fall; if you have dandruff and your scalp itches at times; your hope lies in Parisian Sage, a really scientific hair preparation.



In Parisian Sage there is one ingredient that supplies nourishment to the hair root, one that kills the dandruff germs and another that puts life and luster into the hair. But most marvelous of all is one ingredient that makes it possible for the others to penetrate into the scalp, get to the root of the hair and do their duty.

This wonderful agent helps the other ingredients to soak in and get right down to the hair spot where the hair worries and scalp ailments begin. This is why Wm. Madill guarantees Parisian Sage to grow new hair (if the hair root is not dead), to stop falling hair; to kill the dandruff germs and stop itching scalp or money back.

A large bottle of Parisian Sage costs 50c. at Wm. Madills and druggists everywhere or by mail, charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

look at me under the veil of your lashes and your heart beats fast, you are a woman. And now—you are—what are you, Kaya? A young knight watching beside his shield!"

He hesitated, and passed his hand over his brows, and looked at her again; he moved away slowly and began to lay the things in his knapsack. "They are all boys' things," he said, "but you are a boy; they will do for you too."

"Yes," she said.

He laughed a little unsteadily. "There is money in my belt; now the knapsack is ready, my violin—and that is all. It is nearly eleven. Come—Kaya."

He turned his head away without looking at her; he approached the door slowly. The girl sat still in the chair.

"Are you coming?"

There was silence; then he turned on his heel and went back to her, and laid his hand on her shoulder. "Kaya," he said, whispering as if someone could hear, "Are you afraid? Why are you afraid to come with me, dear brother musician, dear comrade?" His voice broke. "I will take care of you. You said you would trust me, Kaya."

The girl clasped his arm with a cry: "I am not afraid for myself," she said, "but for you—you, Velasco. Leave me before it is too late. There is time for the train, just time, I implore you to go!"

She trembled and raised her eyes to his. "If anything should happen, and you suffered for me, I couldn't bear it. Leave me—Velasco!"

He put out his hand and took hers, crushing it in his own strength. He did not speak, but he drew her forward, and she followed him dumbly, quietly, without resistance; her head drooping, the cap on the back of her yellow curls; the lashes hiding her eyes, fringing her cheek.

He took the Stradivarius under his arm. The door closed and they started out, hesitating, looking back over their shoulders; stealing down the stairs like two frightened children, hand in hand.

CHAPTER X.

The first pale streaks of dawn were creeping slowly up from the horizon, piercing the darkness of night with faint, far-away shafts of light, like arrows, silver-tipped, shot from an unseen quiver. In the distance, the snow fields stretched limitless and vast, and between them the road wound in and out, narrow and dark, like a coiled serpent amid the whiteness. Here and there an occasional black-roofed farm house reared its head; across the snow came the sudden gleam of an ice covered pond; while afar off, to the left, the domes of Balsis rose dark and mysterious in their roundness, like a patch of giant toadstools, shadowy and strange. The air was damp and a said wind blew over the snow drifts. Along the road, in the full teeth of the blast, trudged two boys, the one a little behind the other, and the taller of the two shielding the younger with his body.

"Is it far now, Velasco?"

"Not far, if you peep through the folds of your cloak you will see the domes over yonder. Are you weary, Kaya?"

"No—Velasco."

The voice came in little gasps, as if blown by the gale, fluttering like a leaf that is tossed hither and thither. The older boy bent his head, struggling forward.

"The wind is like a dagger," he stammered "it cuts through the cloak like an edge of fine steel, like a poignard piercing the heart. Come closer, Kaya, and let me put my arm around you. Your body sways like a frail stem, a flower. You are stumbling and your breath dreams, even as it comes through your lips. Come closer, or you will fall, Kaya. Let me put my arm around you."

"It is nothing, Velasco; only the snow that whirls before my eyes and blinds them. Is that the dawn, those faint, grey streaks in the distance?"

"You are stumbling again, Kaya! It is wonderful the way you have tramped the whole night through. We are almost there."

"It is only my feet, Velasco; they are frozen a little by the snow, and numb. That is nothing for a boy. Let us run a race together. Come!"

"The wind mocks at you, little one. Run in such a blast—fight rather! Put your head down and battle with it. The demons! Keep behind me a little; use my cloak and my arm as a shield. It is not far now."

"Shall we stop at the inn, Velasco; is it safe, do you think? There is one on the market-place."

"Yes, why not?"

"I was there once before, Velasco, with my—with my maid!" The girl laughed.

"You pant, Kaya, and your breath comes in jerks. Are you frightened?"

"No, Velasco—no!"

"They will look for us in the trains and the boats, but never in the snow-fields and the market-places. Kaya, we will tramp as long as you are able to bear it, and then—"

"Then—Velasco?"

"We will take the train at some smaller station—Divisk, Vilna—wherever we can."

"You, Velasco, but not I."

"Both of us. I will never leave you again. In my pocket are passports, blank; I bribed the official. We will fill them in together; two gypsies, one dark and one fair. Ha, Kaya—keep up—a little further! See, the domes are bigger now and nearer, and the road goes straight without winding."

"Velasco—I cannot walk! I cannot see! Everything whirls before me in a mist. Go! Leave me—I am falling—"

The elder gypsey gave a despairing look over the snow-fields; they were bare, and white, and glistening. The golden ball of the sun had begun to climb slowly and the shafts had grown suddenly yellow. Across the icy surface of the pond the wind whistled, lashing him in the face as with a whip. The road was narrow and deserted. They were alone, and the form of the younger boy lay against him unconscious, inert, half sunk in the snow.

Velasco bent over his companion, chafing the hands, the cheeks; they were cold like ice. He gave another despairing glance around; then he lifted the form in his stiffening arms and carried it slowly, laboriously forward, plodding each step; his head bent, his teeth grit together, fighting his way.

The shafts lengthened across the sky; the domes grew larger and began to glitter in the rays of the sunlight; by the side of the road houses appeared, straggling at first, then nearer together. Suddenly behind them came the tinkle of sleigh-bells, and the crunching of snow beaten in by the weight of hoofs.

"Oi—Oi!"

Velasco stepped aside with his burden and stared at the sleigh as it approached. It was a cart, roughly set on runners, drawn by a pair of long-haired ponies; while fastened behind was a mare, and two wild-eyed colts following.

The peasant in the seat was wrapped in sheep-skin and smoking a short, thick pipe, held between his teeth.

(To be continued)

WHEN THE ODDS ARE AGAINST YOU

You Can Depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine to Help You, If You Get the Genuine

What a fight goes on during the winter season against coughs and colds. The children are careless about keeping dry and warm, and the parents are worried to hear them cough.

The best insurance against serious results is the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

So well-known is this medicine and so universally used that we need scarcely tell you of its merits. But we do want to warn you against imitations and substitutes.

Once you know that there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on the market, you are not likely to let any dealer talk you into accepting anything but the genuine, on each bottle of which are the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book Author.

Imitations are sold on the reputation of this great medicine, and not on their own merits, or why should they not have a name of their own.

With the genuine Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can readily overcome croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritation and the most serious coughs and colds. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE STRENGTH OF A CHAIN

Is that of its Weakest Link. Friday Morning's Ex. to Purple it Anew.

The chain of the physical system is only as strong as its weakest link. When that link breaks, the chain breaks, and system thrown frightened by death closes round. The weak link with many people is the throat and lungs. In fact, statistics show that over twenty-five per cent of all those who die directly succumb to diseases of these most important respiratory organs. Weakness here is very dangerous.

During his long and successful practice, Father Morrisey, the learned priest-physician, was often called upon to treat bronchial and pulmonary affections. He soon found that it was not enough to make temporary repairs on the "link," but that it had to be forged anew, in order permanently to strengthen the chain.

After much study, he succeeded in devising a prescription that would secure this result, by not only giving prompt relief but slowly rebuilding and strengthening the diseased cells and membranes of the throat and lungs.

This prescription, Father Morrisey's Lung Tonic, of Ext. 10, has cured thousands. It is absolutely free from any dangerous drug, being compounded from Nature's own roots, herbs and balsams.

No. 10 stops the cough, relieves the soreness and strengthens and fortifies the system against future attacks. Even in the early stages of consumption it has proved helpful, but the wise plan is to take it in time, and avoid serious disease.

In our climate it is well to have a reliable and tested remedy like No. 10 always on hand. Take it at the first appearance of a cold, and keep the chain of life strong and capable of resistance.

Trial size 25c. per bottle. Regular size 50c. At your druggist's or from Father Morrisey Medicine Co., Ltd., Montreal, Que.

Sold and guaranteed in Peterborough by McDermid & Jury.

COWAN'S PERFECTION COCOA

Is good for Growing Girls and Boys—and they like it. It nourishes their little bodies and makes them healthy and strong.

Cowan's Cocoa, as you get it from your grocer, is absolutely pure. Its delicious flavor is obtained by the use of the highest grade of Cocoa beans, skilfully blended. Nothing is added to impair the health-building properties of the Cocoa.

170

Do You Use Cowan's Cocoa?

Ladies' Hair Store

All kinds of Hair Goods made up, also ladies' own hair combings made into Puffs and Switches. Best of work guaranteed.

All styles of PADS, TURBANS, etc., at low prices.

We make a specialty of
Hair Dressing, Shampooing, Scalp Treatment

Our preparations for the prevention of hair falling out have proven their value.

Other items of our stock are Fancy Goods, Hair Pins, Combs, Brushes, Dressing Combs, Veiling, Hats, Hosiery

MRS. M. J. BYRNE
424 GEORGE ST. PHONE 1350

The Electric Installation Co., Limited

293 George St. Phone No. 798

New Line of FIXTURES, ELECTRIC IRONS and TOASTERS Just in—Very Newest designs—Prices Very Reasonable

It will pay you to call and see our stock, and let us figure on your wiring, installation, etc., before placing your order.

J. A. ASH
142 George Street South
MANAGER PETERBOROUGH BRANCH
House Phone No. 790

COAL

That Is Coal

Is the LEHIGH VALLEY COAL at

$7.50 Per Ton

HARDWOOD

First Class—Best in City—at

$6.00 Per Cord

4 feet long. Cutting and Splitting as desired, at

J. E. A. Fitzgerald's
Cor. Brock & Aylmer Phone 201

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. BIGGS

(Continued from Saturday)

She opened her eyes and started up; and with the sudden movement, the glass in her hand tipped and spilled over. "It is nothing," she said "It fell on my hand. I will wipe it away."

Velasco laughed. "Your hand!" he cried, "Your hand is a rose leaf, so soft and so white. The wine has stained it with a blotch. How strange! It is red, it is crimson—a spot like blood."

The girl blanched suddenly and fell back with a cry.

"Not blood, Velasco! Wipe it off! Take it away! Not blood! Oh, take it away!"

Her eyes stared down at the blotch on her hand. They were frightened, dilated, and her whole body quivered in the chair. "Velasco—take it away."

He put down the glass and took the small, white hand in his own, brushing it gently with the sleeve of his jacket. "There now," he said, "it is gone. It was only a drop of wine. Hush—hush! See, there is no blood, Kaya, I never meant there was blood. Don't scream again!"

"It's the Cross!" she cried, "the curse of the Black Cross! Ah, go—leave me! I am a murderess! I shot him, Velasco, I shot him! I fulfilled the vow, the oath of the order. But now—oh God! I am cursed! Not blood—not blood!"

She was struggling to her feet.

Without weakness, without hesitation, or mercy. I did it! Velasco—I did it!"

She fell back into the chair again, sobbing, murmuring to herself. "Not blood—no—not blood!"

"That is over and past," said Velasco, "Don't think of it, Kaya. Be a boy, a man, not weak like a woman. Eat the rest of the bread."

The girl took the bread from his hand.

"Finish the wine."

He held the glass to her lips until she had drained it; and then she began to laugh a little unsteadily.

"You are right," she said, "a boy doesn't — weep. I must be strong, a good comrade." She dashed the tears from her eyes and looked up at him pathetically, smiling, with lips that still quivered. "It is over," she said, "I am — I have— you know; but it is over! I will forget it. Sometimes I can forget it if I try; then I shut my eyes at night and I see him before me, on his face with his arms outstretched—still and strange. The blood is trickling a stream on the floor! I hear the shot—I—"

"Be still, Kaya, hush. Don't speak of it; forget it! Hush!"

She began to laugh again: "See, I am your comrade, light -hearted and gay as a gypsey should be. Already—I have forgotten! What a couple of tramps we are, you and I! Just look at your boots!"

"And your faded old jacket!"

"And your scarf, Velasco!"

"And your velveteen cap!"

They laughed out together, and then they stopped suddenly and listened. "Was it anything?"

"No, I think not."

"Are you sure?"

Velasco leaned towards her and their fingers touched for a moment. She drew them away.

"Shall we go; is it time?"

"Not yet," said Velasco, "not yet! Your lips are so sweet, they are arched like a bow; they quiver like a string when one plays on it. Kiss me, Kaya."

She pressed him back with her hands outstretched, her palms against his coat. "We must go," she whispered. "They will track us, Monsieur. I am frightened."

"Kaya, kiss me"

Their eyes met and drew closer, gazing intently the dark and the blue.

"Don't touch me," she said faintly. "We are two boys together. You must forget that I am a girl. Can you forget?"

"No," said Velasco. "You were charming before, but you are irresistible now, in that velveteen jacket and scarf, with the curls on your brow. When you look at me so, with your head on one side, and your eyes half veiled, and the flush on your cheeks, you are sweet—I love you! Kiss me."

He pressed forward closely, his eyes still on hers; but she held him back with her hands, trembling a little.

"Velasco," she whispered, "Listen! I trust you. You are stronger than I; your wrists are like steel, but—I trust you. See—I trust you."

She took down her hands from his shoulders and folded them proudly over her breast, gazing up at him.

"How strange your eyes are," said Velasco. "like two pools in the twilight; one could drown in their depths. You are there behind the blue, Kaya. Your spirit looks out at me, brave and dauntless. When you sob, you are like a child; when you

Take One Pain Pill then— Take it Easy

To get the best of Backache Get a Box of

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills

Otherwise Backache May get the best of you

Nothing disturbs the human system more than pain whether it be in the form of headache, backache, neuralgia, stomachache or the pains peculiar to women. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are a standard remedy for pain, and are praised by a great army of men and women who have used them for years.

"A friend was down with LaGrippe and nearly crazed with awful backache. I gave her one Anti-Pain Pill and left another for her to take. They helped her right away, and she says she will never be without them again."
Mrs. G. H. Wise, Austinburg, O.

At all druggists—25 doses 25 cents.
MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, Can.

OUR DISPLAY OF NEW

Summer Dresses Presents a Program OF LATEST FASHIONS

The Largest and Most Exclusive Showing of Ready-to-Wear Dresses we Have Ever Made

We cordially invite you to inspect them.

You will discover that the silhouette effect still holds. You will be delighted with the prevailing Empire style and its high waist line, fichus, boleros, broad revers and other quaint effects.

You will note the prevalence both of black and white and the most gorgeous almost barbaric tones.

It is this charm of "old-times," this fascinating variety—that makes the present season's styles so attractive.

We have assembled many different models each embodying some accurate and distinctive fashion note, and including the appropriate frock for every occasion for morning, afternoon or evening wear.

We have gowns of satin, silk, net and mull.

Jaunty tailor frocks and elaborate embroidered and gorgeously trimmed creations, will vie for your favor.

The prices we believe will prove equally alluring.

When may we serve you?

A RARE COLLECTION OF

Silk, Satin, Chiffon and Satin Foulard Dresses

Our showing is sure to appeal to the woman of taste and refinement. New York's favored styles are here awaiting your inspection.

SHANTUNG SILK DRESS—A clever model made of natural shantung silk. Yoke of tucked net with fancy medallion. Girdle, sleeves, collar and the edge of yoke finished with silk in the new shade of Helen Taft pink. Braided ornaments on sleeves and front. Gored skirt trimmed with pointed band Price $18

GREY MESSALINE SILK DRESS—A handsome dress of rich Duchess Messaline silk in a medium shade of grey. Yoke, and 6 inch cuffs of fish net lined with chiffon. Tucked yoke, fancy shaped band across the front and on collar and cuffs, girdle of same material, seams finished with wide inverted pleats, silk covered buttons used as trimming, sleeves can be adjusted to ¾ or full length. Price .. $25.00

BLACK MESSALINE SILK DRESS - A beautiful rich gown of an excellent quality of black silk with yoke of Dresden silk veiled with chiffon, bodice trimmed with wide black lace insertion, black silk girdle with rosette and button at front and back. Sleeves can be made ¾ or full length. Skirt in tunic effect. Price $35.00

CHIFFON DRESS—A truly exquisite gown of pale blue chiffon in a handsome bordered pattern made over pale blue silk. Waist is made from the border and presents a wonderfully pleasing effect. Yoke & cuffs are of allover lace, kimona sleeve, black satin girdle, colla & cuffs finished with a fold of black satin. Buttons, covered with black satin, are used as a trimming. Draped skirt, finished at bottom with a 15-inch black satin band. Price..... $45.00

FOULARD DRESS—A striking gown of Satin Foulard in the new shade of aeroplane blue; kimona sleeve, neck & cuffs of allover lace edged with a fold of black satin. High waisted effect with a black satin band down either side and trimmed with scallops and buttons. Price $25.00

NAVY BLUE SATIN FOULARD DRESS—A very unique model of bordered Foulard in polka dot pattern, kimona sleeve, Dutch neck finished with Bulgarian net. Trimmings of navy blue satin straps and buttons, skirt made of two rows of border finished with bands of blue satin trimmed with buttons. Price $25

MULL DRESSES

MULL DRESSES—Dainty and cool for the warm weather, made of good quality mull in pink, sky and white. Kimona sleeve; high neck; collar of lace and insertion; two rows of lace insertion on sleeves four rows down front and back. Skirt has tucked band at bottom with two rows of insertion. Price $4.50

MULL DRESSES—Made from fine mull with kimona sleeve, round yoke, tucked and trimmed with lace and insertion, two rows of insertion around body. Skirt has three tucks and finished with a fancy design in insertion down front and back. Collar of lace and insertion, made in pink sky and white. Price.. 5.95

ATTRACTIVE LINGERIE BLOUSES

LAWN BLOUSES — Fine quality, Dutch neck, front of all over embroidery in a neat design, ¾ sleeves, fastened at back, pin tucks down front and back, tucks and lace insertion on sleeve Price.... 1.00

LAWN BLOUSES — Fine sheer quality, Dutch neck, yoke of embroidery and lace insertion, front trimmed with lace insertion and clusters of tucks, ¾ sleeves trimmed with insertion in a pretty design, edge of sleeve finished with lace and insertion. Price..... 1.50

PERSIAN LAWN BLOUSES—A very fine sheer quality of Persian lawn made in an attractive style with kimona sleeve and Dutch neck, handsome embroidered design on front, trimmings of embroidery, lace insertion and clusters of pin tucks, sleeves trimmed with embroidery, lace and insertion. Price 3.75

SMART TAILORED WAISTS

LINEN TAILORED WAISTS—Made from fine Irish linen with five tucks down each side, handsome embroidered band down front; buttoned with fancy white pearl buttons. Price 3.75

TAILORED SHIRT—A new and very popular style, perfectly plain, man tailored, made from a fine quality of linenette. Price..... 2.00

LINENETTE TAILORED WAIST—A very smart style with wide tucks and clusters of pin tucks; same front and back. Price 2.75

HANDSOME SILK BLOUSES

PLAID SILK BLOUSES — Made from a superior quality of taffeta silk in black and white and black plaids; Gibson pleated shoulder trimmed with small black silk buttons, high neck and long sleeves. Price 5.50

DRESDEN SILK BLOUSE—A beautiful model in Dresden effect of mauve, green and blue, with blue predominating. Kimona sleeve, high neck, piping of plain blue satin, trimmed with satin covered buttons. Price 6.75

BLACK SILK BLOUSE—A splendid quality of black taffeta silk made with the peasant or kimona sleeve. Bodice and sleeves made of fine pin tucks; a new model, very smart. Price ... 6.00

EXQUISITE NET BLOUSES

FIGURED NET BLOUSE—A really beautiful model of figured net in a neat pattern veiled with black chiffon, kimona sleeve, high neck, collar and sleeves edged with gold cloth, yoke finished with gold embroidered medallion; black satin bands on sleeves. Price 6.75

EMBROIDERED NET BLOUSE—A wonderfully handsome blouse of embroidered net in Dresden effect, partly veiled with navy blue chiffon, leaving the yoke, collar and cuffs of net; kimona sleeves trimmed with band of navy blue satin; bands of navy blue satin on either side of front and back forming yoke, front tucked with navy blue chiffon, Price 8.00

SPECIFIED SUIT VALUES

NAVY BLUE SERGE SUIT, with white hairline stripe A very smart style with shawl collar inlaid with moire silk, short coat lined with silk, bias fold of material on sleeves & bottom of coat, skirt has panel front and back with bias fold on each side. Price..... 20.00

FANCY WORSTED SUIT—A rough finished material in the new fawn shade, a very pleasing model. Four button coat 25 ins. long, lined with silk, four small buttons on either side of back. Skirt has a panel on front and back with fold across either side. Price.... 25.00

GREY WORSTED SUIT—A very attractive style in a medium shade of grey diagonal worsted. 26 inch silk lined coat with straps put on in fancy design, three buttons on cuffs. Skirt has panel back with fancy haped band across the sides and front Price..... 27.50

LONG SEPARATE COATS

BLACK SATIN COAT—A beautiful quality of rich black satin, made in a semi-fitting style, 54 inches long, satin lined throughout, long roll collar. Handsome embroidered design on collar and cuffs Price 25.00

TAN COVERT COAT—A very serviceable garment made from covert cloth in a medium tan shade, semi-fitting style with cuffs and steppe collar. Four buttons; patch pockets with laps. Price. $10.00

SEPARATE SKIRTS

VENETIAN SKIRTS—A very serviceable skirt, gored, with cluster of four pleats on either side, trimmed with buttons, inverted pleat at back. Price $3.98

BLACK VOILE SKIRT—A very pleasing style, plain front with side pleats and pretty embroidered pattern on either side. Price $6.00

HOUSE DRESSES

PERCALE DRESSES—Smart, serviceable and sensible garments bought at an exceptionally low figure from an American manufacturer. Made in one piece, fastened in front and buttoned at cuffs, turn down collar. A good assortment of patterns to choose from, all good washing colours. Price $1.59

GINGHAM DRESSES— American make, absolutely fast colours, good range of patterns and colours, finished with pretty trimming around the neck and sleeves and down the front. Some are made in the Dutch neck style with short sleeves, others have the high neck & long sleeves. Price $2.29

UNDERSKIRTS

TAFFETA SILK UNDERSKIRTS—A fine, soft quality of taffeta silk in black, lavender, grey and navy, also navy blue shot silk with wide flounce & dust ruffle of spun glass. Price.... $5.50

MOIRETTE UNDERSKIRT—Has all the rustle of silk and wears much better; wide flounce with accordion pleating; dust ruffle of percaline, comes in black only. Price..... $5.00

RICHARD HALL & SON

ROBBLE SKIRT MAY DISAPPEAR

LONDON, APRIL 28.—The general opinion of the English press on the Lord Chamberlain's order that the hobble skirt be banned at all court functions is that it means the disappearance of that dress.

In court circles it is whispered that Queen Mary positively abhors the hobble skirt; in fact, she discountenances all extremes of fashion, such as tight skirts, enormous hats and exaggerated coiffures.

The disappearance of the hobble, of course, also means the end of the pasha or harem skirt.

Fashionable dressmakers apparently are glad that these skirts are banned. The manager of one dressmaking firm voiced the opinion of all when she said:

"We have ceased to order tight skirts unless specially ordered. I sincerely hope we have heard the last of the detestable 'hobble.' It was forced on us. I think we shall all be glad to see the last of it. I saw no merit in it from beginning to end. Not one 'hobble' in ten fitted properly."

Another leading dressmaker admitted that many gowns for the first court, on May 9, had been designed as 'hobbles.' These have been entirely remodelled.

The careful manner in which any approach to a royal command has been avoided in the matter is evidenced by the fact that no written message has been sent to dressmakers but an official from the Lord Chamberlain's office personally called and requested the managers to convey to their clients the information that it was undesirable that tight skirts should be worn at court.

The Queen's position is approved by many women and all men. The hope is expressed that the Lord Chamberlain's office will next convey a hint to milliners that big hats must go, too.

"Let good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both!" — Shakespeare

They will if you take

NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

They correct stomach disorders, assist digestion, and make life worth living again for the victim of dyspepsia. 50c. a box. If your druggist has not stocked them yet, send us 50c. and we will mail them. 25

National Drug and Chemical Company of Canada, Limited. - Montreal.

A Word to Housekeepers About

Wall Papers

For Bed rooms, dainty patterns in a great variety of designs from 10c per roll up.

For Dining Rooms, splendid assortment of the much wanted brown and green colourings, figured, striped and plain effects.

For Halls, plain and embossed effects, also novelties in leather effects.

For Parlors and Libraries, our range is very comprehensive, delicate combinations or chintz, elaborate floral designs, white and gold effects, with pretty backgrounds.

It's a pleasure to show you for one room or a large house

The

Peterborough Bookstore

Trebilcock Bros., 419 George Street, Phone 285

MR. JOHN NEEHAN

Who Appears at "The Grand" next Wednesday in "The Man on the Box."

Seats Now on Sale

WEDDING BELLS

BOYLE—BARR.

A very pretty wedding took place in Holy Trinity Church on Tuesday afternoon, the 18th inst., at two o'clock, when Miss Ethyl G. Barr, second daughter of Mrs. A. Barr, Kinmount, Ontario, was united in matrimony to Mr. Robt. B. Boyle, third son of Mr. George Boyle, Mayfield House, Bandon, Ireland, by the Venerable Archdeacon Fortin. During the signing of the register, Miss Scarth sang "Because".

The bride was handsomely attired in white satin, heavily emroidered, and wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. D. Barr of Kenora, Ont. Her only ornament was a beautiful pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. The bride was attended by Miss A. Hartley and Miss A. Carse. The former wore a champagne satin gown, with a lace overdress and a black picture hat, with moss roses and jet ornaments. The latter was becomingly attired in pink marquisette with Persian trimming, with a large picture hat of the same shade, trimmed with French roses and Irish point lace. All carried shower bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were preceded by Miss Edith Dawson, dressed in pale blue silk, and carrying a basket of sweet peas. The groom was assisted by Mr. John A. Thompson of Winnipeg. The groom's gift to the bridesmaids were pearl hair ornaments; to the flower girl, a gold necklace, and to the best man, gold cuff links.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the guest room of the Royal Alexandra. Covers were laid for twelve.

The happy couple left on the six o'clock train for the south. The bride's travelling costume was navy serge over a blouse of champagne satin, with becoming turban of the same shade. They will be at home after May 1, Suite 58, Casa Lomas Block.

(Lindsay Post please copy).

BEAMAN—HARBOR.

Mr. Thomas Beaman, of Toronto and Miss Maud Marion Harbor, also of Toronto, were married in St. Paul's church last week, on April 26th, by Rev. Mr. Pogue. The bride was assisted by the groom's sister. Miss Mary Beaman of this city, while Mr. Harry Tolley supported the groom. Many presents were received.

After a two weeks' honeymoon, spent in this city, and at the grooms old home in Manvers, the happy couple will take up their residence in West Toronto, where the groom has purchased a beautiful home.

Tiger Don't Bite, Try it for kitchen-stained hands. 10 cents.

CHURCH NOTICES

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Announcements for St. Paul's for the week are as follows:

The Young People's Guild will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Session on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock.

The regular midweek service will be held on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, and the Teachers' meeting at 9 o'clock.

ST. JOHN'S NOTICES.

Monday—S. S. Philip and James. 10 a.m., Holy Communion; 4, Boys' practice; 7.30, Girls' Auxiliary.

Tuesday, 2.30—W. A. meeting; 8, adjourned Vestry meeting.

Wednesday—8, evening service; 8.30, Brotherhood meeting.

Thursday, 8—Choir practice; boys at 7.30.

Saturday, 9 a.m., Boys' practice.

Sunday, 8, 11—Holy Communion.

Yesterday, at the morning service, the hymn "For those at Sea" was sung, as Mr. and Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Packman are on the ocean. After service God speed and best wishes were expressed to Mr. Nat. Greenhalgh, of the choir, by the clergy and choristers, for a happy trip home to the motherland.

FINE RESIDENCE FOR SALE Solid brick house, No. 291 Rubidge St., West side, ten rooms, all modern conveniences, water, gas, electric light, and furnace. Lot is 50 feet frontage x 114 ft. deep. For further particulars apply at the Office of the Otonabee Power Company, 184 Simcoe Street. tf

DEATHS.

JOHNSTON. — Mr. George H. Johnston, Lethbridge, Alberta, died April 26th. The funeral will be from the residence of his brother, Mr. A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue, Tuesday, May 2nd.

BALD MEN

Should call and inspect the famous Sanitary Patent Toupees, as shown by Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, at the Oriental Hotel on Friday, May 5, 1911.

These toupees are not only perfect in construction, but are the only Sanitary and Patented substitutes of one's hair.

SCHOOL REPORT

S. S. No. 3, North Monaghan for the month of April. Attendance good. 14 pupils regular attendants. Average attendance 20. Names of pupils in order of merit:

Fourth Class—Epsie Adamson, Alma Dobbin, Annie Brown, Della Bidgood, Walter Brown.

Sr. Third Class—John Whitfield, Murton Colon, George Whitfield, Lottie Ball, Arnold Bidgood.

Jr. Third Class—Lena Taylor.

Sr. Second Class—Pearl Cannon, Harold Ball, Allie Bidgood.

Jr. Second Class—Bobbie Whitfield, Marion Clark, Ethel Reynolds, George Cannon, Ina Marsh.

First Class—Bessie Wilson.

Primary Class — Herbie Reynolds, Walter Hayward, Burton Taylor.

G. M. CLARK, Teacher.

STEAMER OTONABEE

now open for excursions. Special rates to Sunday Schools and Societies. Dates are being taken rapidly. Apply at the office of the Peterboro & Lake Simcoe Navigation Co Ltd, 132 George St. R. PINCHIN, Sect. & Man

Queen Quality

As good style as any womans shoes—Better style than most—Far larger variety than any other.

J. T. Stenson Sons

364 George Street

Plumbing, Hot Water, Steam & Hot Air Heating, Galvanized Iron Work, Roofing and Eavetroughing

We are continuing this part of our business at our new premises, corner of Simcoe and Bethune Streets.

Phone 88.

Estimates given on all contract work.

ADAM HALL

Limited

Big Sale!

This is the time to look over your spring wardrobe. Bring them to us and you will be surprised the improvement we can make in them. We clean, press and repair all outer garments worn by lady or gent.

—TWO STORES—

Geo. R. Record

173 Simcoe Street Phone 680

304 Charlotte Street. Bell 678, Mach. 34

Removal Notice!

Low & Company, Junk Dealers have removed their Office and Store House from 255 Simcoe Street to 385 Bethune St. Highest cash price will be paid for all kinds of Junk. If you have any let us know by phone 697, or drop us a card by mail and we will attend to it at once.

A. LOW & COMPANY

The New American

Double Rod Fixtures

A WORTHY INNOVATION

EVER SINCE the introduction of the over drape idea in window curtaining there has been a missing link which has caused a certain inconvenience—the fact that two rods had to be used or the necessity of placing the over drape or lambrequin on the same rod with the front curtain. Now for the innovation—the new idea. We have received from a large brass manufacturer a consignment of brass fixtures which have solved the problem to a nicety; they consist of double rods, one set out past the other on the same brackets thus avoiding the necessity of two brackets. Another is the single rod with one extension rod at each end for the over drapes. These short extension rods are finished with round brass caps and give a very pleasing effect. Another still more complete set is the double rod with the window shade brackets. A most useful neat outfit consisting of three in one, all on the two end pieces. These are the most pronounced lines, but there are many others including the long extension brackets etc., which are much in demand at spring house cleaning time.

Brass Extension Rods from 5c up to 65c set

Wall Papers, 3rd floor

Draperies and Rugs Third Floor

Creasmans

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd

Monte Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN

—IN—

The Best of American Comedies

THE MAN ON THE BOX

From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Prices—$1.50-$1.00-75 & $1.00

Special Cast and Production Seats now on Sale

Oddfellows Of Peterborough Attend Divine Service

Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox Church, Delivers an Inspiring Message to the Three Linked Brethren Who Were Out in Strength

MARCHED TO CHURCH

Despite the inclemency of the weather a large gathering of Oddfellows and the Rebecca attended the divine service at Knox church last night.

They assembled in a body to the church, the I.O.Q.F. hall, corner Simcoe and George streets, being the rendezvous previous to starting for the church. Arriving at the place of worship the members marched in a single file and occupied seats in the body of the church.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith was apt, intellectual and practical. He took for his text, the tenth chapter of St. Luke, 33rd verse, "But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him."

The country in which this story originated, said the speaker, was overcome by robbers, and respectable men of all creeds were constantly set upon and left to perish by the wayside. The story of the good Samaritan is an old one and in it is presented an ideal character. It shows the character of a man who took the initiative, and is a type of which the world needs more There are a number of organized institutions in the world to-day that cater to the passions of men. The commendation of Jesus Christ rests upon those who help their fellow men. We must recognize that the church of Jesus Christ stands behind you as a bulwark. Don't associate yourself with an organization of any kind, for a selfish purpose; endeavour to benefit your fellow beings by doing so..

I do not take it that any of you who are here to-night, joined this order for any selfish purpose or for the idea of holding office. God has called every man to assist his fellow beings. The brightest spot in human life is where we are given the opportunity of helping others. Race first is a dangerous thing; it is a state of affairs which should be eliminated as soon as possible. This is a day when we are face to face with a common responsibility. The day is coming when this world of ours will be united in one vast sphere of brotherhood.

We cannot make you use Tiger Hand Cleaner any more than we can stop you when you start.

WIRE CAUSED FIRE

Defective wiring is said to have been the cause of a small fire at the home of Mr. F. J. Might, 603 Steward street about 7 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

TEN MILLION ACRES OF WHEAT IN THE WEST

From present indications, grain seeding in western Canada will have been completed by May 1. Conditions favour a larger acreage, both from increase of settlers and from a better equipment of older occupants who are likely to extend their acreage in all the prairie provinces. Last year Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba had a wheat area of 8,395,000 acres, compared with 7,058,000 in 1909, or an increase of 20 per cent. At the same ratio of increase these three western provinces this year will have over 10,000,000 acres in wheat alone. Oats, barley, and rye will require 12,000,000 acres more for the season, making 22,000,000 acres in western Canada alone.

LOOK HERE! LOOK HERE!

Read! Read! Read!

Come and get your share of the great price reductions Saturday or Monday at the Home Furnishing Co.'s store, 208 Charlotte street, next Curling Rink. Read these few sample prices. Don't miss the bargains.

20 doz. Summer Blouses in silk chiffon, mull and lawn, at half price.
Handsome Silk Waists at ....1.98.
Fine Lawn Waists at ....39c.
Mull Waists, great sellers, at 49c.
Ladies' Summer Suits $11.98, worth $18.00.
Iron beds, brass trimmed, with bed springs and mattress for ....$9.00.
Splendid Couches, $5.50 worth $8.00.
Splenidd Couches $9.00, wirth $12.50.
Handsome Davenports, $19.75, worth $28.00.
Refrigerators from $7.00 up.
Go-Carts from $3.15 up.
Reed Baby Carriages, $10.50 up.
Everything in the store is brand new and we are offering at specially reduced prices for Saturday and Monday. Cash or credit.

THE HOME FURNISHING CO.
208 Charlotte St. Next Curling Rink.

INDOOR GARDEN PARTY

Orange Cake, orange Sherbet, orangeade, all served in an orange grove, at Charlotte St. lecture hall, Friday evening, May 5th. No admission fee. 1d

CHANGING HANDS?

Rumoured That Central Milling Co. Business is Being Taken Over by Toronto Concern

It is rumoured that the Campbell Milling Company of Toronto has taken over the business of the Central Milling Company. Some credence is given to the report by those who know of the endeavour of the Company to re-organize, but it has not been confirmed as yet.

PILES C. RED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c

MICE CAUSED FIRE

The home of Mr. Albert Dorris, 291 1-2 Louise street, was the scene of a small conflagration on Saturday night. Upon the arrival of the fire brigade, the fire was soon extinguished. About $20 damage was done. The building is owned by Mr. LeVick. The fire is supposed to have been caused by mice nibbling some matches which had been placed in a cupboard.

NO MORE AUTO SPEEDING IN CITY NO MORE STANDING AROUND STREETS

His Worship Magistrate Dumble Will Have all Citizens and Others Prosecuted Who Speed Automobiles on Busy Thoroughfares---Speed Limit 6 Miles Per Hour---Cases in Police Court.

Alf. Cooney, a familiar form in the Police Court, made one more visit to that place this morning. Last 31st of March, Alf. was put on the black list, but despite this fact, he was found drunk on Hunter street, on Saturday. He was in the alleyway on Hunter street, where J. Parnott keeps his famous "Little Store," and was causing trouble generally. A crowd of curious spectators, to the number of thirty or forty, had gathered before a policeman arrived on the scene, and arrested Cooney. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.00 or thirty days in jail. He asked for a longer time in which to pay the fine. He said that he was only earning $1 per day, and that ten days would not be enough. His Worship thought the prisoner could raise the money, so did not alter the judgment.

Cooney was put in the box to tell where he got the liquor, and stated that he met an old friend of his, who had just came back from Cobourg. Thomas McDonald, by name, and the latter happened to have a bottle of liquor in his pocket so the old friends went in behind the little church on Aylmer street, just north of the Y. W. C. A. and finished the bottle.

Cooney stated tha the had known McDonald for years, and he thought that McDonald was not aware that he (Cooney) was a blackliater. When looking back over previous cases, his Worship, Magistrate Dumble, discovered that he had forbidden McDonald to return to the city, and he had promised that he would stay away.

Another local man was fined $3.25 for refusing to move on, when requested by P. C. Brown. The officer gave evidence to the effect that the accused and three friends were standing in front of the Peterborough Hardware Co., on George street, on Saturday night about 8.45, and there were also about 30 other men standing stepped off onto the road. He told them to move on, and some of them did, but the majority walked out to the outside of the sidewalk, and stepped off into the road. He walked on, and when he came around the second time on his beat, the accused and his friends were still standing there. P. C. Brown asked him his name, and he refused to give it, so he took him to the Police Station, to get his proper name.

The Chief stated this morning that he was going to put a stop to the habit of standing around on the street corners and in front of stores at night. The Magistrate threatened that if any more complaints of this nature came up, that he would deal severely with them. The Chief stated that it was the custom of a number of men to come along and stand in front of the Peterborough Hardware store in particular, and obstruct the entrance to the store, as well as the sidewalk, and that, in addition to this habit, they expectorate on the sidewalk, so that ladies avoid walking on that side of the street to a great extent on Saturday nights.

His Worship drew attention to the excessive speed motoring on the streets also. He said that those running automobiles were liable for exceeding six miles per hour on the business thoroughfares of the city, and he expressed his intention of seeing to it, that this law would be enforced. He stated that at present it was extremely dangerous for people crossing the streets, or getting off trolleys, also for people driving, as autos were being driven so fast.

TORONTO HORSE SHOW GREATEST EVENT IN YEARS

Mr. Stratton's Horses Won Nine First Prizes and Five Seconds with Two Championships Last Week---Mr. Sifton's Horses Carried Off All the Important Jumping Events.

The Toronto Horse Show came to a conclusion on sturday night and was generally conceded to be the best show in years, and displayed the fact that the horse is as popular as ever. Fully 5,000 people were present at the Armouries on Saturday night.

In all the important harness events, Mr. Stratton's horses were to the front.

In the ladies' Victoria turn-out, with appointments, "My Pride" and "Premier" carried away the ribbon.

In the stage, Victoria, with appointments, "Perfect Dream" carried off the prize.

In the saddle class, gentleman and lady, "None Nicer" took the blue ribbon in both events, and "Non Nicer" carried off the championship for saddle.

"My Pride" and "Premier" took the championship in their class, and won in many events throughout the week.

"Latest News" and "Loch Ryan Princess" came second in the high stepping class pairs. Senator Beith's new steam, imported from England a few months ago, took first prize.

Mr. Sifton's horses carried off all the important prizes in the jumping class, and in the high stepping classes, Senator Beith's imported "Flourish" and "Fireworks" won the prize.

More Authentic Stories Concerning Freak Eggs Hen Scared By Snake

The Toronto Star says:

Is it psychology, or what is it? Now we have the real problem, and again it is the hen and her egg. There may be a perfectly natural and common-place explanation for it all, but from the facts which have been laid before the Star it would appear that for the mental influences of the hen and their impressions upon the egg, as a psychologist the ordinary fowl has Plato and his schools faded way back into the ages.

When brought to this office the egg in question showed the perfect outlines of a snake in miniature wrapped about the shell. The circular trail was wrapped once and a half around the egg, commencing about the middle of the large portion and ending at the small point. It began in a very thin needle-like point, about half an inch in length, corresponding to the wriggly black end of a snake's tail. This gradually spreads out in thickness until it has circled the egg, ends with a broad neck and a quick little turn about the point of the egg, where the marking suddenly enlarges to the exact counterpart of a snake's head. The appearance is that of a reptile with its head raised a short distance above the ground, and at the end there are two little prongs like fangs which a snake darts about when it is angry. This portion of the shell is somewhat thinner than the rest of the egg, and the marking is undoubted.

The man who offered this remarkable specimen is Mr. Charles Smith of Bracondale, and the story he has to tell is one which is calculated to make doubters sit up and take notice.

Mr. Smith states that it was on Sunday morning that he was out in his garden, and noticed a quick disturbance among his fowl. Mr. Smith has quite a plot at the back of his house. There are trees, raspberry bushes, and other small shrubs, through which the fowl wander. While he was in the yard one of his barred Plymouth Rocks dashed from the raspberry bushes, cackling and putting up something of a row. The owner investigated, and wasn't long in discovering that it was a big garter snake which had chased the hen from her grubbing. He didn't think much of the matter at the time, but it did startle him a little to find on the following morning that this unique egg had been deposited in the nest, which that particular hen ordinarily occupied.

In the case of a similar instance mentioned about a month ago a hen had been operated upon, had its crop sliced open, some oats removed, and the wound closed by a few stitches. The first egg which that hen laid had a neat little wound in the shell, and running off from this depression were a number of lines which resembled nothing quite so much as stitches. Later, however, a number of eggs bearing the same marking were offered The Star, but in none of these cases had the hens which laid them first undergone a surgical operation in the crop.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator: never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Newest Styles In Children's, Boy's and Men's

HATS

Our Storage Department is second to none.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter :: ::

366 George Street, Near Simcoe Phone 725

COMING

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto will be at the Oriental Hotel Peterboro FRIDAY MAY 5th with a large & varied stock of the newest Parisian, London and New York Creations

SWITCHES
TRANSFORMATIONS
POMPADOURS
OURLS
PUFFS, Etc.

Ladies with thin hair will be interested in our improved transformations. The new designs in Curls are very dainty and attractive. We invite your inspection of these goods.

Dorenwend's Sanitary Patent Toupees,

for Men Who Are Bald, are so constructed that only the wearer will know that it is not their own hair. They give the protection necessary to physical health. Adjust themselves as readily as your own hair would. Light, strong, made in any style, shade or shape.

THE ONLY SANITARY AND PATENTED TOUPEES MANUFACTURED

(Do not fail to call and see them)

DORENWEND CO. OF TORONTO, Ltd

The House of Quality Hair-Goods, 103-5 Yonge st.

Choose Your Baby Carriage

from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $20.00.

Benj. Shortly

Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

A New Idea in Children's Clothes

When we were children, clothing for youngsters was modeled pretty much after the fashion of their elders'. They had none of the little refinements in trimming and simplicity of design that characterize the Sanford Juvenile Brand of children's clothing to-day. Few clothing manufacturers even now take the trouble to make a special brand of clothes for children. We may justly lay claim to being pioneers in that respect.

Sanford Juvenile Clothes are made solely and altogether for children. The styles are youngsters' styles; the cloth is cut in loose, simple lines; and the fabrics are especially chosen with a view to the hard rough-and-tumble usage to which healthy children subject their clothes.

Neat and childish in appearance, essentially strong and durable in wear—just the kind the average mother looks for, but finds so hard to get.

Be fair, madam, both to yourself and to us. At least examine as critically as you like Sanford Juvenile Clothes at the leading clothing or dry goods store in your town.

W. E. SANFORD MANUFACTURING CO., Ltd., HAMILTON

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

These Houses will be sold on very easy terms or payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Miss Cunningham, an expert Corsetiere, will demonstrate the Merits of the P. C. Corset in the Turnbull Corset Section all this week

The New American

Double Rod Fixtures

A WORTHY INNOVATION

EVER SINCE the introduction of the over drape idea in window curtaining there has been a missing link which has caused a certain inconvenience—the fact that two rods had to be used or the necessity of placing the over drape or lambrequin on the same rod with the front curtain. Now for the innovation—the new idea. We have received from a large brass manufacturer a consignment of brass fixtures which have solved the problem to a nicety; they consist of double rods, one set out past the other on the same brackets thus avoiding the necessity of two brackets. Another is the single rod with one extension rod at each end for the over drapes. These short extension rods are finished with round brass caps and give a very pleasing effect. Another still more complete set is the double rod with the window shade brackets. A most useful, neat outfit consisting of three in one, all on the two end pieces. These are the most pronounced lines, but there are many others including the long extension brackets etc., which are much in demand at spring house cleaning time.

Brass Extension Rods from 5c up to 65c set

Wall Papers, 3rd floor

Draperies and Rugs Third Floor

Creasmans

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd

Monte Thompson Presents MR. JOHN MEEHAN

—IN—

The Best of American Comedies

THE MAN ON THE BOX

From Harold McGrath's Most Popular Novel. Prices—25-35-50-75 & $1.00

Special Cast and Production Seats now on Sale

Oddfellows Of Peterborough Attend Divine Service

Rev. H. J. Keith, of Knox Church, Delivers an Inspiring Message to the Three Linked Brethren Who Were Out in Strength

MARCHED TO CHURCH

Despite the inclemency of the weather a large gathering of Oddfellows and the Rebeccas attended the divine service at Knox church last night.

They assembled in a body to the church, the I.O.O.F. hall, corner Simcoe and George streets, being the rendesvous previous to starting for the church. Arriving at the place of worship the members marched in a single file and occupied seats in the body of the church.

The sermon by the pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith was apt, intellectual and practical. He took for his text, the tenth chapter of St. Luke, 33rd verse, "But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was, and when he saw him, he had compassion on him."

The country in which this story originated, said the speaker, was overcome by robbers, and respectable men of all creeds were constantly set upon and left to perish by the wayside. The story of the good Samaritan is an old one and in it is presented an ideal character. It shows the character of a man who took the initiative, and is a type of which the world needs more There are a number of organized institutions in the world to-day that cater to the passions of men. The commendation of Jesus Christ rests upon those who help their fellow men. We must recognize that the church of Jesus Christ stands behind you as a bulwark. Don't associate yourself with an organization of any kind, for a selfish purpose; endeavour to benefit your fellow beings by doing so..

I do not take it that any of you who are here to-night, joined this order for any selfish purpose or for the idea of holding office. God has called every man to assist his fellow beings. The brightest spot in human life is where we are given the opportunity of helping others. Race first is a dangerous thing; it is a state of affairs which should be eliminated as soon as possible. This is a day when we are face to face with a common responsibility. The day is coming when this world of ours will be united in one vast sphere of brotherhood.

We cannot make you use Tiger Hand Cleaner any more than we can stop you when you start.

WIRE CAUSED FIRE

Defective wiring is said to have been the cause of a small fire at the home of Mr. F. J. Might, 603 Steward street about 7 o'clock this morning. No damage was done.

TEN MILLION ACRES OF WHEAT IN THE WEST

From present indications, grain seeding in western Canada will have been completed by May 1. Conditions favour a larger acreage, both from increase of settlers and from a better equiment of older occupants who are likely to extend their acreage in all the prairie provinces. Last year Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba had a wheat area of 8,286,000 acres, compared with 7,058,000 in 1909, or an increase of 29 per cent. At the same ratio of increase these three western provinces this year will have over 10,000,000 acres in wheat alone. Oats, barley, and rye will require 13,000,000 acres more for the season, making 23,000,000 acres in western Canada alone.

LOOK HERE! LOOK HERE!

Read! Read! Read!

Come and get your share of the great price reductions Saturday or Monday at the Home Furnishing Co.'s store, 208 Charlotte street, next Curling Rink. Read these few sample prices. Don't miss the bargains.

20 doz. Summer Blouses in silk chiffon, mull and lawn, at half price.
Handsome Silk Waists at 1.98
Fine Lawn Waists at 39c
Mull Waists, great sellers, at 49c
Ladies' Summer Suits $11.98, worth $18.20.
Iron beds, brass trimmed, with bed springs and mattress for .....$9.05.
Splendid Couches, $5.50 worth $8.00.
Splendid Couches $9.00, wirth $12.50
Handsome Davenports, $19.75, worth $28.00.
Refrigerators from $7.00 up.
Go-Carts from $3.15 up.
Reed Baby Carriages, $10.50 up.
Everything in the store is brand new and we are offering at specially reduced prices for Saturday and Monday. Cash or credit.

THE HOME FURNISHING CO.
208 Charlotte St. Next Curling Rink.

INDOOR GARDEN PARTY

Orange Cake, orange Sherbet, orangeade, all served in an orange grove, at Charlotte St. lecture hall, Friday evening, May 5th. No admission fee. 1d

CHANGING HANDS?

Rumoured That Central Milling Co. Business is Being Taken Over by Toronto Concern

It is rumoured that the Campbell Milling Company of Toronto has taken over the business of the Central Milling Company. Some credence is given to the report by those who know of the endeavour of the Company to re-organize, but it has not been confirmed as yet.

PILES C. RED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 25c

MICE CAUSED FIRE

The home of Mr. Albert Dorris, 291 1-2 Louise street, was the scene of a small conflagration on Saturday night. Upon the arrival of the fire brigade, the fire was soon extinguished. About $20 damage was done. The building is owned by Mr. LeVick. The fire is suposed to have been caused by mice nibbling some matches which had been placed in a cupboard.

NO MORE AUTO SPEEDING IN CITY NO MORE STANDING AROUND STREETS

His Worship Magistrate Dumble Will Have all Citizens and Others Prosecuted Who Speed Automobiles on Busy Thoroughfares---Speed Limit 6 Miles Per Hour---Cases in Police Court.

Alf. Cooney, a familiar form in the Police Court, made one more visit to that place this morning. Last 21st of March, Alf. was put on the blacklist, but despite this fact, he was found drunk on Hunter street, on Saturday. He was in the alleyway on Hunter street, where J. Parrott keeps his famous "Little Store," and was causing trouble generally. A crowd of curious spectators, to the number of thirty or forty, had gathered before a policeman arrived on the scene, and arrested Cooney. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.00 or thirty days in jail. He asked for a longer time in which to pay the fine. He said that he was only earning $1 per day, and that ten days would not be enough. His Worship thought the prisoner could raise the money, so did not alter the judgment.

Cooney was put in the box to tell where he got the liquor, and stated that he met an old friend of his, who had just came back from Cobourg. Thomas McDonald, by name, and the latter happened to have a bottle of liquor in his pocket so the old friends went in behind the little church on Aylmer street, just north of the Y. W. C. A. and finished the bottle.

Cooney stated the the had known McDonald for years, and he thought that McDonald was not aware that he (Cooney) was a blacklister. When looking back over previous cases, his Worship, Magistrate Dumble, discovered that he had forbidden McDonald to return to the city, and he had promised that he would stay away.

Another local man was fined $2.25 for refusing to move on, when requested by P. C. Brown. The officer gave evidence to the effect that the accused and three friends were standing in front of the Peterborough Hardware Co., on George street, on Saturday night about 8.45, and there were also about 20 other men standing stepped off onto the road. He told them to move on, and some of them did, but the majority walked out to the outside of the sidewalk, and stepped off onto the road. He walked on, and when he came around the second time on his beat, the accused and his friends were still standing there. P. C. Brown asked him his name, and he refused to give it, so he took him to the Police Station, to get his proper name.

The Chief stated this morning that he was going to put a stop to the habit of standing around on the street corners and in front of stores at night. The Magistrate threatened that if any more complaints of this nature came up, that he would deal severely with them. The Chief stated that it was the custom of a number of men to come along and stand in front of the Peterborough Hardware store in particular, and obstruct the entrance to the store, as well as the sidewalk, and that, in addition to this habit, they expectorate on the sidewalk, so that ladies avoid walking on that side of the street to a great extent on Saturday nights.

His Worship drew attention to the excessive speed motoring on the streets also. He said that those running automobiles were liable for exceeding six miles per hour on the business thoroughfares of the city, and he expressed his intention of seeing to it, that this law would be enforced. He stated that at present it was extremely dangerous for people crossing the streets, or getting off trolleys, also for people driving, as autos were being driven so fast.

TORONTO HORSE SHOW GREATEST EVENT IN YEARS

Mr. Stratton's Horses Won Nine First Prizes and Five Seconds with Two Championships Last Week---Mr. Sifton's Horses Carried Off All the Important Jumping Events.

The Toronto Horse Show came to a conclusion on sturday night and was generally conceded to be the best show in years, and displayed the fact that the horse is as popular as ever. Fully 5,000 people were present at the Armouries on Saturday night.

In all the important harness events, Mr. Stratton's horses were to the front.

In the ladies' Victoria turn-out, with appointments, "My Pride" and "Premier" carried away the ribbon.

In the stage, Victoria, with appointments, "Perfect Dream" carried off the prize.

In the saddle class, gentleman and lady, "None Nicer" took the blue ribbon in both events, and "Non Nicer" carried off the championship for saddle.

"My Pride" and "Premier" took the championship in their class, and won in many events throughout the week.

"Latest News" and "Loch Ryan Princess" came second in the high stepping class pairs. Senator Beith's ne wteam, imported from England a few months ago, took first prize.

Mr. Sifton's horses carried off all the important prizes in the jumping class, and in the high stepping classes. Senator Beith's imported "Flourish" and "Fireworks" won the prize.

More Authentic Stories Concerning Freak Eggs Hen Scared By Snake

The Toronto Star says:—

Is it psychology, or what is it? Now we have the real problem, and again it is the hen and her egg. There may be a perfectly natural and common-place explanation for it all, but from the facts which have been laid before the Star it would appear that for the mental influences of the hen and their impressions upon the egg, as a psychologist the ordinary fowl has Plato and his schools faded way back into the ages.

When brought to this office the egg in question showed the perfect outlines of a snake in miniature wrapped about the shell. The circular trail was wrapped once and a half around the egg, commencing about the middle of the large portion and ending at the small point. It began in a very thin needle-like point, about half an inch in length, corresponding to the wriggly black end of a snake's tail. This gradually spreads out in thickness until it has circled the egg, ends with a broad neck and a quick little turn about the point of the egg, where the marking suddenly enlarges to the exact counterpart of a snake's head. The appearance is that of a reptile with its head raised a short distance above the ground, and at the end there are two little prongs like fangs which a snake darts about when it is angry. This portion of the shell is somewhat thinner than the rest of the egg, and the marking is undoubted.

The man who offered this remarkable specimen is Mr. Charles Smith of Bracondale, and the story he has to tell is one which is calculated to make doubters sit up and take notice.

Mr. Smith states that it was on Sunday morning that he was out in his garden, and noticed a quick disturbance among his fowl. Mr. Smith has quite a plot at the back of his house. There are trees, raspberry bushes, and other small shrubs, through which the fowl wander. While he was in the yard one of his barred Plymouth Rocks dashed from the raspberry bushes, cackling and cutting up something of a row. The owner investigated, and wasn't long in discovering that it was a big garter snake which had chased the hen from her grubbing. He didn't think much of the matter at the time, but it did startle him a little to find on the following morning that this unique egg had been deposited in the nest, which that particular hen ordinarily occupied.

In the case of a similar instance mentioned about a month ago a hen had been operated upon, had its crop sliced open, some oats removed, and the wound closed by a few stitches. The first egg which that hen laid had a neat little wound in the shell, and running off from this depression were a number of lines which resembled nothing quite so much as stitches. Later, however, a number of eggs bearing the same marking were offered The Star, but in none of these cases had the hens which laid them first undergone a surgical operation in the crop.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Newest Styles In Children's, Boy's and Men's

HATS

Our Storage Department is second to none.

W. E. LECH Manufacturing Furrier and Hatter :: ::

366 George Street, Near Simcoe : Phone 726

COMING

Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto will be at the Oriental Hotel Peterboro FRIDAY MAY 5th with a large & varied stock of the newest Parisian, London and New York Creations

SWITCHES
TRANSFORMATIONS
POMPADOURS
OURLS
PUFFS, Etc.

Ladies with thin hair will be interested in our improved transformations. The new designs in Curls are very dainty and attractive. We invite your inspection of these goods.

Dorenwend's Sanitary Patent Toupees, for Men Who Are Bald, are so constructed that only the wearer will know that it is not their own hair. They give the protection necessary to physical health. Adjust themselves as readily as your own hair would. Light, strong, made in any style, shade or shape.

THE ONLY SANITARY AND PATENTED TOUPEES MANUFACTURED

(Be sure and call and see them)

DORENWEND CO. OF TORONTO, Ltd.
The Home of Quality Hair-Goods, 103-5 Yonge st.

Choose Your Baby Carriage from our line, larger and more varied than ever. We show newest 1911 Go-Carts, Perambulators and Collapsible Go-Carts, all priced much less than usual. Many styles to choose from. Prices range from $1.50 to $20.00.

Benj. Shortly

Sign of the Big Horse at the Door

A New Idea in Children's Clothes

When we were children, clothing for youngsters was modeled pretty much after the fashion of their elders'. They had none of the little refinements in trimming and simplicity of design that characterize the Sanford Juvenile Brand of children's clothing to-day. Few clothing manufacturers even now take the trouble to make a special brand of clothes for children. We may justly lay claim to being pioneers in that respect.

Sanford Juvenile Clothes are made solely and altogether for children. The styles are youngsters' styles; the cloth is cut in loose, simple lines; and the fabrics are especially chosen with a view to the hard rough-and-tumble usage to which healthy children subject their clothes.

Neat and childish in appearance, essentially strong and durable in wear—just the kind the average mother looks for, but finds so hard to get.

Be fair, madam, both to yourself and to us. At least examine as critically as you like Sanford Juvenile Clothes at the leading clothing or dry goods store in your town.

W. E. SANFORD MANUFACTURING CO., Ltd., HAMILTON

FOR SALE

HOUSE, just completed, and situated on the Sugar Company Property in the South End.

Also House on Cedar Street, newly decorated throughout.

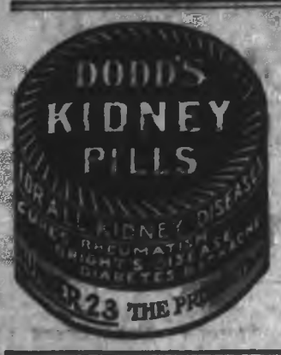
These Houses will be sold on very easy terms of payment. Monthly instalment payments if desired.

Any Person contemplating the purchase of a comfortable Home at a Moderate Price should look at these Houses AT ONCE.

For particulars apply—

437 George St., City

Miss Cunningham, an expert Corsetiere, will demonstrate the Merits of the P. C. Corset in the Turnbull Corset Section all this week



MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London, Member of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. 'Phone 358. 149 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-10 a.m., 1-4 p.m., 7-8 p.m.

DR. P. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 29 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 342 Rubidge Street. Phones—Bell 614, Mach., 238. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

P. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
Established 91 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ADA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. 'Phone 349. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 1 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

S. HALLDEN.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 192 Hunter street, or at residence, 188 Hunter street. Telephone No. 92.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easy terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 376 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 121. J. W. Bennet; E. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George H. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices: 370 Water Street
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 64.

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Office, 41 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, K. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Offices, over Toronto Saving and Loan Company, 436 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. B. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets entrance, next Medill's Drug Store.

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st. Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest.—R. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Loui. M. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors etc., Peterborough, Ont. Offices, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. S. R. Hall, S. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office, George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 378 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetising, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy.

The Caloutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

BANGOR IN FLAMES

Maine City Loses Nearly All Its Business Section—Damage Amounting to Six Millions Was Done

STARTED IN A SHED

Bangor, Me., May 1.—Property valued at upwards of $6,000,000 was destroyed, hundreds of people made homeless and almost the entire business section of the city devastated during the first six hours of a conflagration which at midnight was still raging, although the firemen seemed to be making some headway. One life is known to have been lost, an unknown man being killed by a falling wall after his clothing had taken fire. Mayor Mullen placed the city under martial rule. Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Old Town, Brewer and every other city and town within reach were asked for help and sent it.

The fire started in the hay shed of J. Frank Green on Broad street and in a short time was sweeping through the city in a northwesterly direction, a tornado of flame beyond the power of the firemen to stay.

Before midnight both sides of Exchange street from York to State, both sides of State street, from Kenduskeag Stream to Broadway, a considerable part of Central and Franklin streets, nearly all of Park street and Marlow street were in ruins, and the flames had made inroads of nearly a mile into the best residential section in Broadway, Centre, and French streets.

One of the few buildings to escape destruction was the City Hall. This was in the direct path of the fire, but in some way the flames leaped over it and it was hardly scorched.

An ineffectual attempt was made to stay the progress of the flames by dynamiting several blocks located in a triangle formed by Hammond and Central streets and Kenduskeag Stream but the fire bridged the chasm and continued with unabated fury.

Help from outside cities began to arrive soon after nine o'clock, the Augusta department being the first to arrive.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is odourless, tasteless and colourless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for alike purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physic, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

ARRESTED; KILLS HIMSELF.

Saskatchewan Man Dies Rather Than Face Jail.

Swift Current, Sask., May 1.—C. G. Sadlemyer, a homesteader at Burradon, a farming district southeast of here, shot himself Saturday when placed under arrest by Corpl. Snedden, charged with forgery. He died instantly. Sadlemyer saw the police coming. He took a revolver from the bureau, but his wife took it from him and placed it back. When arrested he asked time to change his clothes, and he and his wife went into the room together. His wife went out to tell the corporal that she had a receipt for the money in question. As soon as his wife left him he reached for the gun and shot himself through the breast. He never moved after. His wife is prostrated. She is only 17, and he was 24. They kept a restaurant here last summer and were well-known.

Rescued Sailor Who Fell Overboard.

New York, May 1.—The steamer Minnewaska, from London, reached her dock here yesterday bringing a story of the rescue of H. Browning, a seaman, who fell overboard in mid-ocean on April 14. Browning fell from an insecure foothold on the ship's rail, and was buffetted about by the waves for twenty minutes before a boat picked him up.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

The Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who knew it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured me of kidney trouble years before. A few boxes of these pills completely cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifying the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

TEACHERS KILLED

Three Dead and Eight Missing in Pennsylvania Wreck While Over Fifty Were Injured

SPECIAL TRAIN

Easton, Pa., May 1.—Three persons lost their lives, eight are missing and believed to be dead, and half a hundred others were injured on Saturday afternoon at Martin's Creek, N.J., in a wreck of an excursion train, carrying 179 school teachers and friends from Utica and Syracuse, N.Y., and vicinity to Washington, for a week's outing.

The train was one furnished the teachers by the Delaware, Lackawanna Western Railroad, and the accident occurred while it was traveling at a high rate of speed over a stretch of track controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The locomotive jumped the track, the cars toppled over and were set on fire by exploding oil, the wrecked coaches having side-wiped an oil tank along the track when they left the rails.

The entire train was quickly enveloped in flames and completely consumed by the fire. The eight missing persons, seven of whom were women and lived in Utica, are believed to have burned to death in the wreckage. The finding of charred bones led the railroad wrecking crews to the conclusions that they are dead.

The most seriously injured were removed to the Easton hospital, where two of them, Miss Eleanor Rutherford, a Utica teacher, and Charles M. Person of Stroudsburg, Pa., a Pennsylvania Railway conductor, died on Saturday night, while W. M. Vaney of Trenton, N.J., engineer of the train, succumbed early Sunday morning.

The physicians at the hospital said that most of those in the hospital will get well. Those not injured and who were willing to return at once to their homes, left Martin's Creek late Saturday night.

The cause of the wreck has not yet been ascertained. The place where the accident occurred had been undergoing repairs and unfinished work may have been responsible for the train leaving the track.

Vice-President Sherman was to have given a reception for the teachers in Washington and it was reported he was on the ill-fated train. Later, however, it was learned that he had remained at his home.

Another Fatal Wreck.

Tampa, Fla., May 1.—Walter Hagens of Chicago was killed, and T. F. Cook, baggagemaster, was fatally injured, when Coast Line train No. 29, from Jacksonville to Tampa, was wrecked near Odessa last night. Twelve passengers were more or less seriously injured.

Hagens, a 12-year-old boy, was in the baggage car feeding a pet dog and in endeavoring to save him that the baggage master was injured. Spreading rails caused the wreck.

Seek Pointers on Taxes.

London, Ont., May 1.—Assessment Commissioner Grant has been written to and asked to explain the system of the "business" tax in London by the City of New York. The New Yorkers have been making enquiries about a business tax, as it is the intention of the bureau of finance of that city to take the matter up and see how the system could be applied to the merchants and business men of New York.

W. A. Pendergast, comptroller of the bureau of municipal investigation of statistics, has been referred by the Provincial Secretary to Commissioner Grant for advice on the subject.

KING IS FOR AMITY

British Parties Are Beginning to Lose Their Bitterness—Unionists Reluctantly Concede Passage of Measure

MAY NOT NEED PEERS

London, May 1.—The King's influence is beginning to calm the troubled waters of politics. The two front benches of the House of Commons are reaching an understanding by which the Parliament bill can be carried to a second reading in the House of Lords before the coronation and discussed in committee during July. The Ministers admit that they will be satisfied with this result.

Prominent Unionist members reluctantly concede the ultimate passage of the measure without the creation of "puppet peers."

Amiable Radicals assert that Lord Lansdowne's reform scheme may be substituted for the preamble of the Government bill if opposition to the main clauses be withdrawn, but this is hazy conjecture.

When the results of the peers' reconstruction policy are known, certainly the House of Lords will make a vigorous attack upon the Government bill in committee stage, contributing its efforts on amendments for securing a minimum majority of considerable size in the House of Commons and for providing a referendum for home rule. The Ministers, having guarantees for the creation of peers, are willing to compromise on the main clauses of the measure, and, indeed, the only chance of compromise lies in the acceptance of the House of Lords' reform scheme after the relations of the two Houses have been regulated by a Parliament bill.

The House of Lords may be allowed to save its face after submitting to changes by which an absolute veto on radical legislation is converted into a suspensive veto. The bare suggestion of this method of conciliation sends the Tory squires into a frenzy passion.

The imperial education conference, which has been holding drowsy sessions during the past week, has been like an ordinary English schoolmasters' conference. The same subjects have been discussed by the same people, and the colonial delegates have been brilliant by flashes of silence.

The Ministers have been forced to admit that the Imperial Conference must have a program which will interest colonial Premiers vitally, especially when Canada is pre-occupied with reciprocity. Hence the number of imperial projects in incubation is steadily increasing.

The Imperial Council now takes the form of a permanent committee. The Premiers are in constant communication with one another by cable. State-owned cables will also be discussed, and the construction of land lines across Canada will be favored as a necessary imperial link.

ECZEMA CURE A BEAUTY WASH

Although D. D. D. Prescription has been recognized for years as the one remedy for Eczema, Psoriasis, and all other forms of skin diseases, it is now known that there is no other wash, even those used by the beauty specialists, that can compare with this mild liquid for cleansing the skin of pimples, blackheads, rash, and all similar skin affections.

For this reason alone, a bottle of D. D. D. should be kept on hand and in every household. A free trial bottle will show you the merits of this great remedy as a complexion wash.

D. D. D. seems to remove the cause, whatever the trouble may be, cleansing the skin, and leaving it as soft, as smooth and clear as that of a healthy child.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P.E., 49 Colborne St., Toronto, and prove its wonderful effectiveness.

McDermid and Jury druggists; also Payne's drug store.

SLEW THE DRIVER.

Enraged Father Shot Man Who Drove Over His Boy.

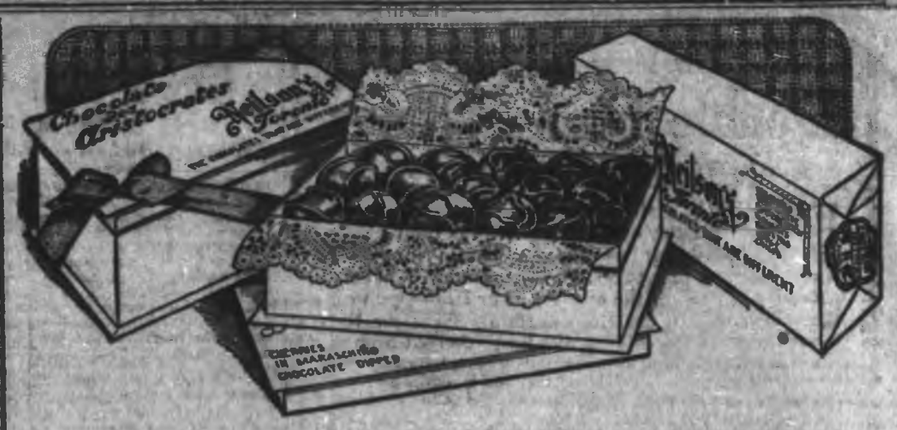
New York, May 1.—Giuseppe Bonfiglio, an Italian cigarmaker, who saw his three-year-old boy trampled beneath the heels of truck horses Saturday night, took summary justice upon the driver, Wm. Krugman, by pouring four bullets from a revolver into his body. The driver fell dead from his seat almost into the arms of a policeman, who had halted him, and a mob of two thousand persons, bent upon punishing the driver, first stood aghast at the shooting, then set furiously upon the slayer.

The lone policeman fought the crowd valiantly for the slayer, but they were not to be denied. Reserves who charged the mob on the double quick, found the bluecoat bruised and battered and the prisoner unconscious, with blood flowing from a dozen wounds. He was taken to a hospital, then lodged in jail on a murder charge. The child died on the operating table an hour later.

Conditions Unpromising.

New York, May 1.—"Many laborers are idle, and labor agencies report conditions worse than last year," said Herman Robinson, commissioner of licenses, in his report to the mayor, made public Saturday. Wages have fallen below the prevailing rate of last year, and the present spring is not nearly so good as the spring of 1910. Mr. Robinson was formerly a well-known labor leader.

The demand for domestic servants grows more acute each year, says the commissioner, and just now is more sharply felt in Canada than any other part of the country. "The dependent status of household servants is responsible," he explains, "and until employers put them on the same footing as working women in other walks of life, the scarcity will continue."



THERE is something probably that you did not know about Chocolates. The most expensive part of them is the chocolate coating itself. The thinner the chocolate coating, the less expense to the makers, and naturally the less enjoyment to you.

Most makers thin the chocolate with some substitute, so that the cream or hard centers will take up only a very thin jacket of chocolate when dipped.

You will find every piece of Neilson's Confectionery has a thick, heavy coating of the richest, most delicious chocolate—in its absolute purity—you ever tasted.

The centers are coated individually and special care is taken to have the chocolate of just the correct proportion to give that delicate, original flavor so quickly recognized by the connoisseur.

You get something worth eating—something different—something you will always remember with pleasure—when you eat Neilson's Chocolates.

"Chocolats des Aristocrates"—"Cherries in Maraschino"—and "Hard Centers" are only three of the different chocolates that Neilson's make.

30 other kinds, in different packages—and each the best of its kinds

Neilson's Chocolates

The Chocolates That Are Different.

If you are unable to obtain Neilson's Chocolates in your neighborhood, send us 30c. for a pound box of the most delicious assorted Chocolates you ever tasted.

WM. NEILSON LIMITED, TORONTO.

Sold in Peterborough by the Warne Drug Company, and William Madill

MONEY MADE EASY

UNIVERSITY Subdivision

The Rosedale of Calgary

THE BEAUTIFUL WEST END RESIDENTIAL ANNEX

Everybody knows what Calgary is. The St. Paul of Canada. The City of Golden Opportunities.

Population four years ago 17,000, to-day 60,000, and will be 100,000 in less than two years. "Nuff said." Is it any wonder fortunes are being made in Real Estate there.

Horace Greely says: "Young man, go West," and it seems to be nature's tendency. Men go west and cities grow west. University is a western subdivision. Every lot is high, dry and level, or money refunded on application. We have reserved one block of 96 Lots for the investors of Peterborough, and the first to apply gets the pick of location. Calgary Builders bought in tens and twenties. Toronto investors who have seen the property, bought in blocks. Seeing is believing. They saw.

LISTEN { Prices to-day—$125 to $150 per Lot. Terms—$10 cash and $10 per month. Interest—6% or 5% discount for cash.

THINK { What this will mean to you when this triples in value, when the Electric Line begins to operate past this in a few months.

BUY { Tuesday, for on Wednesday, May 3rd, the prices advance, as the property has sold so rapidly.

PROSPER { By holding these a few months and selling them. We want you make money and become permanent customers.

Government Deeds given to all this property.
References---Standard Bank, Calgary.
Payments made at your own Bank.

Our Manager, Mr. G. E. Buck, will be at the Oriental Hotel on Tuesday, May 2nd, for one day only. Call upon him. He lives in Calgary and can tell you.

You need this investment. You need to share in this great Western prosperity, so get in early and buy.

THE B. & R. CO., Limited

71 and 72 McDougall Block, Calgary.

Toronto Office---106 Dominion Exchange Building - - 14 King St. East

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Children's Aid Society

For Care of Neglected and Ill-Treated Children.

Incorporated by Act of Legislature. Information required. Informant's Name kept strictly private.

Children for Adoption
GEO. COCHRANE
Agent and Asst.-Secy.
Bell Phone 35 George Street

AWNINGS and TENTS

You would do well to place your order early

J. J. TURNER & SONS

Tent and Awning Manufacturers.
Corner George, King and Water Streets.
Both Phones Peterborough

SUBSCRIBE FOR THE EVENING EXAMINER

Lots For Sale
—AND—
Houses to Rent

APPLY for particulars to W. H. HEARBURN'S OFFICE, over the Dominion Bank, Corner of Georgo and Simcoe Streets.

China Painting

Mrs. Langley McCarthy

Teaches Bischoff's New and Beautiful Dark Work in China Painting. Lessons in Oil Painting for Advanced Pupils.

Once You Try Regal Lager you'll want it again and again and again—

Made to Sixteenth-century perfection with Twentieth-century apparatus, spotless y clean. Regal Lager is at the top-notch of zestful, health-bringing tonics for your table.

All dealers. Or write Hamilton Brewing Ass'n, Ltd., Hamilton, for quick supply.

HBA

In The World of Sport

THE SPRING STALLION AND BULL SHOW A GREAT SUCCESS

A Fine Exhibition of Well Bred Horses of Different Classes, Also Fine Bulls---Good Attendance at Show---List of Prizes and Prize Winners.

The Peterborough Spring Stallion and Bull Show, under the auspices of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, was held on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition grounds, when a number of splendid animals of an excellent class, were exhibited. The red ribbons were in the majority, when the judging was over. Mr. Harris Duncan, of Port Hope, was judge of the bulls, while Dr. Bolton of Simcoe, officiated as judge of the horses. The ideal day was a great drawing card for the farmers, who turned out in great numbers to see the show, and were evidently not disappointed in their expectations.

Following is the list of prize-winners:

Imported Clydesdales — 1st prize, diploma, "Attractive Tom," owned by W. H. Staples; 2nd prize, "Sirowen" owned by Thos. Beattie and Mr. Howson; 3rd prize, "Baron Crawford" owand by Wasson Handbidge.

Class 1.—Imported heavy-draught breeds.

First prize, "Golden Gleam," J. F. Staples, $5.00; 2nd prize, William Kearns, $3.00; 3rd prize, J. E. Johnston, $2.00.

Class 3.—Canadian Bred Heavy Draughts—

1st prize, "Radiant Boy," J. H. Nothey, $5.00; 2nd prize, Morris & Brown, $3.00.

Class 4.—Canadian three-year-old Clydes—

First prize, Thos. Sutton—diploma.

Class 5—Percherons.

1st prize, "Paddy B." Jake Brown. $5.00.

2nd prize—"Paturot," Jake Brown. $3.00.

3rd prize, Frank Brown, $2.00.

Class6—Standard Bred—

1st prize, "Bordon Brook," Wm. Elmhurst, $5.00; 2nd prize, "Egwood" Geo. Colbourne, $3.00; 3rd prize, "Gilbert Parker," Herb. Kendry, $2.

Class 7, Haeknays—

1st prize, "Attraction," C. S. Lough $5.00.

Bulls—Class 3—Holstein—

1st prize, Mr. S. J. Brooks, $5.00.

Class 1—Durham—1st prize, M. T. J. Cullen, $5.00.

All those who had animals entered were well pleased with the judging, and the success of the show was complete in every detail. It was regretted that there were not more bulls shown. But those on exhibition were of the finest class and deserved the 1st prizes. Those who had charge of the proceedings were highly elated at the success that had been attained. No better class of horses could be wished, and they were the admiration of the large crowd which gathered to see them. The judging of the animals commenced about two o'clock.

Lacrosse Boom On Opening Game Saturday

Champion Nationals Will Meet Tecumsehs in Exhibition Game at the Island at End of Week

Lacrosse has certainly struck a winning streak this spring. From information gathered from the local press throughout the country more clubs will handle the gutted stick than has been heard from for the past ten years. In the Maritime Provinces, where Canada's national game has never received much attention, mention, men whose early training taught them to admire lacrosse are getting in behind the clubs and helping to put the game before the school children, which, if looked after cannot help but bear fruit.

Toronto will have abundance of lacrosse the coming season, with two teams in the National Lacrosse Union, the senior series of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and a four-club senior series in the Ontario Lacrosse Association, junior and juvenile leagues, school leagues and church leagues, the game looks exceedingly promising for 1911.

The management of the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club have set a new record for opening senior lacrosse in Toronto. For the past years baseball has opened the sporting season; this year it will be different. Manager Charlie Querrie, of the Tecumseh Club, looking ahead to put his team in the "pink" early, has arranged to play the Champion Nationals on the Island oval May 6th. This is at least three weeks earlier than any former year. The Frenchmen are very anxious to meet the Indians—it was on the Island that the champions struck their first defeat last year. Manager Joe Cattarnich wants to wipe out the sting, and Charlie Querrie is just as anxious to take another fall out of the "pea soups."

The Tecumseh team will have very few changes from last year's line-up. The defence are all intact and it is likely that the management will work a few of the reserves against the Frenchmen on Saturday, May 6th.

The Torontos will also have to be reckoned with. The management will have all last year's stars in line with the exception of "Nick" Carter, who has joined Con. Jones' "Minto Cup" hunters at Vancouver. This player is a great loss to the Toronto team, still the management have lots of material to fall back upon this season. From the Queen City and the N. L. A. championship this year looks to lie between the Toronto Clubs. The first meeting between Tecumsehs and Torontos will be at Scarboro Beach on May 24. This game is for the city championship, and lacrosse fans would just as leave see these two teams fighting for city honours as striving for the Minto Cup. Here is the schedule of games in the N. L. A. both at the Island and Scarboro Beach:

Tecumsehs at Home.

*May 6—Nationals.
June 17—Capitals.
xJune 22—Torontos.
June 24—Cornwall.
July 8—Shamrock.
July 15—Montreal. .. ..
Aug. 12—Nationals.
Sept. 4—Torontos.

Torontos at Home.

xMay 24—Tecumseh.
June 3—Capitals.
July 1—Montreal.
July 22—Nationals.
Aug. 5—Tecumseh.
Aug. 19—Cornwall.
Aug. 26—Shamrocks.

*Exhibition; xCity Championship.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

This is the Time

to have your wheel cleaned & repaired before the rush is on.

See our line of new and re-built wheels

Millard's Bicycle Shop

Hunter St. near Aylmer Phone 1256

MIDLAND LEAGUE TEAM HAD FIRST PRACTICE

Good Turnout of Ball Tossers at Riverside Park Saturday ---Prospects Good for Successful Season---A Probable Second Midland League Team for Peterborough is Announced.

The first real baseball practise of the season was held on Saturday afternoon, when the Peterborough Midland League team worked out at Riverside Park. There was a big squad out and the prospects are bright for a first-class team, there being an abundance of players available and a lot of new material in sight. Among the new players out were Neale, Pethick, Murphy and Rahmal, the first three infielders and the latter a pitcher. All four of last year's City League teams were well represented. The team will start practising at night in a short time and should be in good shape for the opening game on May 24th. Among those out were Quinlan, McFadden, O'Brien, Shaw, O'Hearne, Brydie, Cresswell, Rahmal, Pethick, Murphy, Kelly, Neale and others.

The Bowmanville Club has applied for a franchise in the Midland League and may be accommodated in the event of Lindsay deciding not to go in.

The possibilities are that the Midland League magnates will have another application for membership to deal with and that, too, from apother Peterborough team. Realizing that the Midland League proposition will mean that there will be no City League, and that this will leave a lot of players out of the game, several local sportsmen have been talking the matter over and are planning the organization of another Peterborough Midland team. It is felt that there is plenty of material here for two teams as not only the players of last year's City League but half a dozen new comers are in sight.

Leafs Lose Leadership Providence Pitcher Put Crimp In Canadians

By dropping Saturday and Sunday games to the Providence team, Joe Kelley's Maple Leafs had to relinquish their grasp on first place which they had held since the opening of the season and are now a game behind the Greys and only one ahead of Rochester and Baltimore, who are tied for third place. The Toronto team was badly outplayed both Saturday and Sunday, Sline holding them to six hits on Saturday and Lavender to the same number yesterday. On the other hand the Clam Diggers chased Cather and Backman to the bench on Saturday, and in the Sunday game hammered Ed. Killian's southpaw slants for a total of fourteen safeties, at the same time fielding sensationally. Providence won Saturday 4 to 0 and yesterday 5 to 2. It is reported that Kelley has asked for waivers on Pitcher McGinely and Catcher Slattery and that the two new right-hand pitchers and a catcher-first baseman will join the Leafs to-morrow.

Saturday's other results in the Eastern were Montreal 4, Jersey City 2; Buffalo 12, Newark 8; and Baltimore 2, Rochester 1, in 12 innings.

Yesterday Buffalo won easily again from Newark by 9 to 2, Corridon doing some fine twirling for the Herd. Jersey City, however, turned the tables on Montreal by 6 to 3, in spite of the fact that the Royals used four pitchers in an attempt to stop the Pests.

In the National the Chicago Cubs by beating Pittsburg by a fierce batting rally by 6 to 4, jumped from fourth place to second. Chicago lost the Saturday game by 8 to 3, Pittsburg landing on Mordecai Brown for fifteen safeties.

New York, with Mathewson pitching, beat Brooklyn with Barger on the slab, 7 to 3, and Philadelphia kept up their winning streak by trimming Boston 7 to 4.

In the American on Saturday, St. Louis beat Chicago 1 to 0 in five innings, Washington nosed out Boston 4 to 3, Philadelphia hammered out a 10-6 victory over the Highlanders, and Cleveland won from Detroit 2 to 1. Sunday the Tigers turned the tables on the Naps, winning 5 to 4, and Chicago beat St. Louis 9 to 1.

Few Phenoms. Make Good At Once In Big League Company

(By Tim Murnane.)

BOSTON, APRIL 29.— Where have all the young phenoms gone? We find the veterans back in their old places, with only here and there a youngster clever enough to tie up with the regular performers. Not one in ten and less than one in twenty can make good in their first trial in the major leagues.

This spring I travelled from coast to coast, witnessed the work of 200 players that I never saw before, and in that small army of recruits only half a dozen looked good enough for fast company.

At Dallas, Oklahoma City and St. Joe I saw catchers that could throw like a Ewing, were full of ginger and could make the big league in a canter. All of these boys may get a chance later, but they will be given little work and grow discouraged for a time, and it will be two or three years before they are allowed to come to the front. The best of the youngsters are bound to be tender during the trial days in the big leagues.

At least 200 players were selected for the big leagues that were not fast enough for the class A organizations, and half of these could not hold a place in a class B league. It is always a great mistake to pick these youngsters before they are ripe.

This is the fault of the scouts, many of whom have little baseball knowledge outside of liberal talk picked up from the players. Think of one man in Texas who advertises that he has 300 good ball players for sale. Great batsmen, all speed merchants, all ready for fast company. This promoter, no doubt, is looking for some easy money, and the funny part of it is that he has already handed the big leagues several gold bricks.

These bushers at times look fair at the country games, and here and there one will make good, but if one-fifth of the money thrown away was paid to the hard-working, clever boys who have made good the game would be more interesting and pleasing to the baseball public, which often grow tired of seeing half-baked ball players trying to fill the shoes of passing heroes.

Selecting talent should be the work of capable ex-diamond stars.

Church Soccer League Had Splendid Opening

Three Interesting Games Were Played on Saturday Afternoon and the Local Organization Started Under Most Encouraging Auspices.

Soccer League were played on Saturday last and, considering the amount of interest taken by the general public, it may be safely said that football has come to stay. One of the oldest inhabitants was heard to say that he didn't think there were so many football boots in Peterborough. Had some enterprising business man in this go-ahead city taken the trouble to cater for light sweaters, he could have sold about six dozen; as it is the football teams had to go to Toronto for the goods.

The biggest surprise of the day was the defeat of All Saints by the Y. M. C. A. All Saints were strongly fancied for the League Championship but they will have to improve some. St. James' beat Park street, and at half time Knox looked like winning but they couldn't stay the course. St. John's meet Cold Springs on Wednesday evening, as Cold Springs can not play on Saturday afternoons.

St. James was the only club to keep a clean sheet. This may be accounted for by the fact that they were playing in the C. G. E. shirts, at least Billy Millburn says so.

Park St. 0—St. James', 2.

St. James' opened their league campaign by a decisive victory over Park Street Saturday afternoon at the grounds of the latter club. Park St. lost the toss and had to face the sun. They started off in fine style, and carried the game to the St. James' goal. For about ten minutes they looked like winners, but the Saints got into their stride, and the game was quickly transferred to the opposite end, where Bleakley, though well placed, shot wide. Gash was seen to advantage, but he couldn't score. Turner, Gash and Newton were playing a nice, passing game, and Newton opened the scoring for St. James, with a pretty shot that gave Renshaw no chance. This reverse put the Baptists on their mettle, and Braun had all his work cut out with Follis. The Baptists kept up the pressure and if Leader hadn't brought off two fine saves in as many seconds, they would have scored. He looked relieved when one of the Park St. forwards kicked over the goal. One of the Park St. backs caused a little amusement by trying to teach the Referee his business, but eventually the genial Mr. Roberts seemed to convince the wrathful player that he wasn't the only one who understood football. An enthusiastic crowd of St. James' supporters were loudly clamouring for another goal, and Gash had several good attempts, one header from a corner, passing the wrong side of the goal post. It was reserved for Newton to do the trick, and he utilized a pass from Turner to such good effect that he scored again. Half-time arrived with the score 2-0, in the Saints' favour. After the interval the Saints took the upper hand and Gash lying well up field took a pass and scored with a grand shot, but to the amazement of all who understand football, the Referee gave him offside; why he did so is a mystery, as the left back played him on-side.

Park Street tried hard to reduce the lead, but Jates seemed to be all over the place, cropping up wherever he was wanted, and with Gribb and Braun lying well up field the Baptists hadn't much chance.

The last game seemed to be telling on both sides, and things were getting a bit slow when E. Dawson electrified the crowd by hitting the upright with a grand shot, and Follis was not a bit behind hand by rattling the cross bar with a grand drive, both these shots deserved to score. The Saints took the upper hand again but there was no further scoring. Leader kept a grand goal for St. James'. He hadn't much to do, but what he had to do, was done in first-rate style. Both Gribb and Braun played in fine style, their clearances and tackling being very sound, and it is owing to their fine defence that "Bertie" had such an easy time between the sticks. Of the halves, Yates took the eye most; in fact he was the best half on the field, Sandiford played a nice game as right half, and it was owing to his close attentions that E. Dawson didn't score. Keith, Sparrow played well, but he had the misfortune to hurt his foot early in the game; but, in spite of this accident he played a nice defensive game. All the forwards played well, but Bleakley did not get going till near half time. Fallis and E. Dawson were the best forwards for Park Street, but the inside men were not far behind them. Biddle and Marks played well, and Pitcher tackled well; but did not feed the forwards as well as Biddle, who excelled in combining with his wing men. Had the backs played as well as the halves, the result might have been different. Renshaw, in goal, put up a great game, particularly in the second half, when he stopped some grand shots from Hotston, Newton, Turner and Gash, and but for his fine display the Saints would have been several more goals up.

Mr. Roberts acted as Referee, and Messrs. W. Filds and B. Bedworth officiated on the line. The line-up was as follows:

St. James—Leader, goal; Gribb and Braun, backs; Sandiford, Jates and Sparrow, halves; Bleakley, Gash Turner, Newton and Hotston, forwards.

Park Street—Renshaw, goal; H. Foster and Cole, backs; Pitcher, Marks and Biddle, halves; Follis, Tolley, Collett, Thorne and E. Dawson, forwards.

Y.M.C.A. 2, All Saints 1.

The Y.M.C.A. team, although they have had no practice and were in poor shape, surprised the talent by handily beating All Saints in their Church League fixture at Riverside Park on Saturday. The Anglicans had been looked upon as a very strong proposition, as indeed they were, but the "Y" had the better of the argument and should have won farther away had they been in condition to go the distance. They tired badly on end and were being pressed hard when the final whistle blew. The Association team were leading at the half by 1 to 0 and early in the second half scored again, Boness doing the trick on both occasions. Towards the finish, however, the Saints taking advantage of the evident fatigue of the "Y" assumed the aggressive and were decidedly dangerous, only the grand defensive work of Dr. McPherson saving the day for the 'Y' It was a fine exhibition of football and both teams will take a lot of beating. The line-up:

Y.M.C.A.—

Goal—Fleming.

Full Backs — Dr. McPherson and Hampton.

Half-Backs—Moore, Adams and Tarte.

Forwards—Cannift, Boness, A. Flowers, Kerr and Miller.

All Saints—

Goal—Moriaty.

Full Backs—Abbott and Robinson.

Half Backs— Hooper, Jones and Dawson.

Forwards—Curtis, Willis, Abbott, Downes and Hildreth.

Who said Tiger? "All hands."

FOOTBALL

LONDON, APRIL 29.—The football results in the various leagues to-day were as follows:

League—First Division.

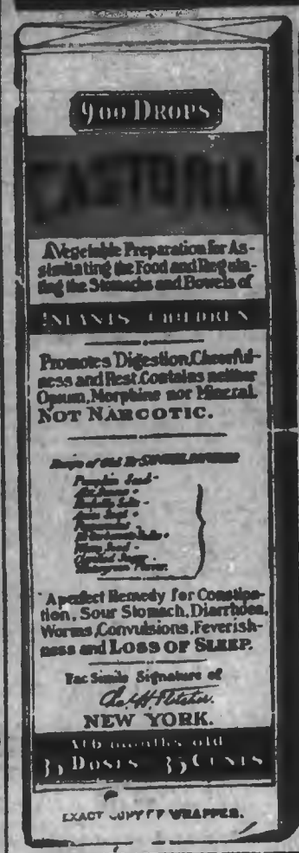
Bury 1, Sheffield U. 1.
Notts C. 6, Woolwich A. 2.
Bristol C. 0, Everton 1.
Sheffield L. 2, Oldham A. 0.
Newcastle 3, Manchester C. 3.
Middlesboro 2, Blackburn R. 3.
Preston 2, Bradford C. 0.
Manchester 3, Sunderland 1.
Liverpool 3, Aston Villa 1.

League—Second Division.

Birmingham 2, Bolton W. 1.
Bradford 1, Blackpool 0.
Burnley 2, Clapton O. 0.
Derby 5, Barnsley 1.
Fulham 2, Glossop 2.
Gainsboro 3, Chelsea 1.
Hull City 2, Lincoln C. 1.
Leeds City 1, Wolverhampton 1.
Stockport C. 1, Leicester 0.
W. Bromwich 1, Huddersfield 0.

Southern League.

New Brompton 1, Southend W. 2.
Millwall 4, Southampton 0.
Queen's Par kR. 1, Plymouth 0.
West Ham 1, Watford 1.
Luton 4, Leyton 1.
Portsmouth 2, Brentford 1.
Exeter 2, Swindon 1.
Coventry 3, Norwich 1.



CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over Thirty Years

CASTORIA

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

O'K

A Royal Brew!

A good many men say that "Gold Label" is the finest Ale that we have ever brewed.

It's all a matter of taste. If you prefer a rich, old, creamy ale—that proves its quality by its delightful flavor—just try "Gold Label."

Every bottle sealed with an easily opened "Crown" stopper.

O'Keefe's "Gold Label" Ale

"The Beer that is always O.K."

RAILWAY TIME TABLE

GRAND TRUNK

	Arrive.	Depart.
Lindsay, Orillia, Muskoka and Georgian Bay	1.50 a.m.	6.35 a.m.
North Bay, Sturgeon Falls and Toronto	3.40 p.m.	3.55 p.m.
Port Hope and points east of Montreal and Boston	8.15 a.m. 1.55 p.m.	11.10 a.m. 3.05 p.m.
Port Hope, Toronto, Lindsay, Toronto, Chicago and west, Kingston and Perth, Buffalo	1.55 a.m.	11.10 a.m.
Quebec, Montreal and East	8.15 p.m.	3.05 p.m.
Toronto, Lindsay, Bracebridge, Uxbridge & Markham	11.40 a.m. 3.40 p.m. 10.15 p.m.	7.30 a.m. 3.55 p.m. 6.10 p.m.
Lindsay Local	8.15 a.m.	8.15 p.m.
Montreal, Campbellford Belleville, Kingston and points, Montreal and East.	3.15 a.m. 3.55 p.m.	8.30 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
Lakefield	10.30 a.m. 7.55 p.m.	8.15 a.m. 10.30 a.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Going East.	Leave Peterboro'.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal, Kingston	11.35 a.m.
Indian River, Norwood, Havelock, Trenton	7.40 p.m.
Norwood, Havelock, Ottawa, Montreal	12.10 a.m. 1.55 a.m.
Going West.	Leave Peterboro'.
Toronto, Galt, London, Detroit, Chicago.	8.55 a.m. 6.35 p.m.
Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Lindsay, Toronto.	7.40 a.m.
Toronto, Detroit, Chicago, Winnipeg, Northwest Points.	4.35 p.m.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

Great Lakes Service

FIVE SAILINGS WEEKLY TO SOO, PORT ARTHUR FORT WILLIAM

Daily except Friday and Sunday from Owen Sound

Connecting Train leaves Toronto at 3.10 p. m.

ASK AGENT FOR PARTICULARS

W. McIlroy, Agent, Peterborough

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Popular TOURIST ROUTE TO

MUSKOKA LAKES
LAKE OF BAYS
TEMAGAMI
ALGONQUIN PARK
MAGANETAWAN RIVER
FRENCH RIVER
GEORGIAN BAY
LAKE COUCHICHING
KAWARTHA LAKES, Etc.

Round Trip Homeseekers' Excursions to the West at Low Rates—Via Sarnia or Chicago.

Literature and full information from City Ticket Office, 284 George St.

B. A. ROSE City Agent

Canadian Pacific Ry.

EMPRESSES

And other Steamships

FROM MONTREAL AND QUEBEC

Empress of Ireland	May 6th
Montrose (to London direct)	May 6th
Lake Champlain	May 13th
Empress of Britain	May 13th
Lake Manitoba	May 20th
Empress of Ireland	June 3rd
Lake Champlain	June 3rd

Special sleeping car to the ship's side Leaving Toronto at 10.30 the evening before, for "Empress" sailings.

I. E. Suckling, General Agent for Ontario, 16 King St. E., Toronto.

Apply to any Ry. or S. S. Agent or to W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent Peterborough.

PETERBOROUGH COLD STORAGE IN FULL OPERATION

Satisfaction Guaranteed.

Eddo for sale in any quantities.

Coal—All kinds first-class Coal on hand for sale at market prices.

W. SCOTT Co., Limited

Office corner George and Hunter Sts.

Both Phones 262

Yards 134 Robinson Street East City

Both Phones 264

BICYCLES

BICYCLE SUNDRIES

BICYCLE MUNSON

26 Cut Prices 240 Yonge St.

Send for Cut Price Catalogue. TORONTO

DOMINION CHINESE

328 George CAFE 328 George

Best meals in the city. If you are going out for dinner or evening lunch don't forget to call at

328 George St. HARRY HAMILTON

Ice Cream Soft Drinks

The Warne Shoe Store

LADIES'—
Catchy Pumps Comfortable Oxfords
Dainty Ties Misses' & Children's Shoes
Slippers and Sandals

MEN'S— Oxfords & Ties at $3 to $4.50
Blucher Bals.
at $3 to $5.50

BOYS' & YOUTHS'
In Patent, Calf and Dongola leathers

Come in and examine our
Gymn. & Field Shoes

Warne Shoe Store
345 GEORGE STREET

SEEDS!

Just received fresh shipment of
Vegetable and Flower Seeds
from well known growers, which we can offer by the the pound and ounce also in packages including:
EARLY SEED POTATOES, ONIONS IN DUTCH SETS and MULTIPLIERS

Golden Bantam Corn
Be sure and have some of this corn in your garden this year

Prepared Fertilizer
For LAWNS and GARDENS

Porter S. White
336 George St. Phone 208
City Agent for West End Green House

Have Us Call

for your flower vases, hanging baskets and window boxes, to be filled for the summer. Care and taste taken in the selection of suitable plants.

West-End Greenhouses
W. C. MEAD, Florist
Telephone 21, or City Agency at Porter S. White's Grocery George St.

Baking Suggestions for May

Graham Biscuits
Oatmeal Scones
Brown Bread
Currant Bread
French Pastry
German Pastry
Fruit Cakes

ICE CREAM
"Coleman's Quality"
Sodas and Sundaes

Order your Wedding Cakes
from us

COLEMAN
BROS. 426 George St.

Up-to-Date
Cigar Store

A Full Line of
Tobaccos, Cigars, Cigarettes and Smokers' Sundries
Buy Your Easter Smoke from :: :: ::
D. McCabe
326 George St.
NEXT to MARKET ARCADE

GRIP CURE

Madill Pulmonic Cough Syrup and Madill Grip Tablets, taken for La-Grippe in the beginning of the attack will break it up very quickly.

Prepared only by
WM. MADILL
Oak Hall Drug Store
Cor. George & Hunter Sts.

IMITATION IS THE MOST SINCERE FORM OF FLATTERY.
That is why some dealers advertise various kinds of

SCRANTON COAL

There is only one genuine—that is the D. L. & W. Scranton. We sell at the following prices for May :—
Stove & Egg $7.00
Chestnut $7.25
Pea Coal $6.50

R. HICKS & Co

YARDS and OFFICE—Corner Murray and Bethune Streets, alongside G. T. R. track. Phone 46

REMOVAL

The Buildings Now Occupied by Me Being Sold

I am compelled to move my place of business from 57 Hunter St. to corner of Charlotte and Aylmer, where I shall be found after May 1st and shall be prepared to execute all orders promptly and in first class order. Thanking all for past favours and soliciting same for future, for all kinds of carriage, sign, and automobile painting.

JAMES J. SHADGETT

The Peterboro Roofing & Supply Co.
Agents for
Galt & Eastlake Steel Shingles, Metal Lath, Metallic Ceilings, Metal Sidings, Plasterers Iron Corner Bead, Ventilators, etc.
All kinds of Prepared Ready Roofing
including Brantford, Ruberoid, Asbestos, and Carey's Roofing, all kinds of building paper.
Maitland & Moore
General Roofing Contractors
Phone 775. 344 Water St.

Edwin Elcome
TAXIDERMIST

Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, etc. mounted artistically and permanently.
Heads of Deer, Moose, Caribou, Elk, etc., our specialty.
Heads, Animals, Birds, Fish, Artificial Eyes, Taxidermist supplies. Bird and Flower Guide Books for sale.
692 Harvey St.
Peterborough Ontario.

LATEST CITY NEWS.

It pays to advertise in the Lost and Found column of the Examiner. It also pays to read Lost and Found ads. Look at page 2 and read.

Open For Business.

C. Wilder, Ladies' Tailoring Parlour open for business. 418 George street.

Probabilities.

Winds, increasing to strong northerly to north-westerly, showery; much colder by Tuesday.

Board of Education.

A regular meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the secretary's office, 437 George street on Tuesday at 7.45 p.m.

Window Cleaning.

Practical man to clean windows, in private houses. Both 'phones 149. Peterborough Messenger Service, 345 1-2 George street.

Annual Meeting To-night.

All Saints' Woman's Guild will hold their annual meeting to-night at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall. All members are requested to be present; also new members who would like to join.

To Rent.

—Six acres of land, house, stables, etc., 8 minutes' walk to C. G. E. Also 20 acres for sale (real bargains). Owner going West. 372 Water St., M. Carton, C. J. Carroll.

Meeting Postponed.

—The meeting which was to have been held Tuesday night at Coleman's restaurant, for the purpose of forming a St. George's Society, has been postponed until Thursday night.

Pure Maple Syrup.

From the eastern townships. Good, heavy-bodied syrup, guaranteed pure. Also maple sugar, in bulk, very choice. Order early, as supply is limited. Phone 275. S. A. OKE, 340 George street. Meats, fruits and vegetables.

Lathing and Shingling.

The undersigned is prepared to accept and execute orders for lathing and shingling, have had seven years' experience in the city and all orders entrusted will have the best of attention. 'Phone 495, G. N. Barrie, 717 Bethune street.

Absolutely Pure Maple Syrup.

We have just received a small consignment of the very best Maple Syrup from the same reliable shipper who has supplied us for years. Order early to avoid disappointment, as the supply is limited. W. J. OKE. Bell telephones 18 and 19, Machine telephone 18, 376 George street.

Funeral To-morrow.

The remains of the late Mr. George H. Johnston, of Lethbridge Alberta, are expected to arrive on the C. P. R. local to-night. The funeral will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday from the residence of his brother, Mr A. J. Johnston, 19 Dennistoun avenue, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Granitewars That Lasts.

"Puritan" quadruple-coated enamelled ware, handsome, durable and purity guaranteed. No rivets—electric welded. We show it in a fine assortment of kettles, saucepans, jugs, porridge, soup, coffee and tea pots, etc. See also our new American novelties in bathroom fixtures. ADAMSON & DOBBIN, 175 Simcoe street.

The Boss Oven.

For gas, gasoline and oil stoves. You can save one-half your gas bills by using a Boss oven on top burner of gas range. Every one guaranteed. made with patent glass doors or polished steel doors, or with oven thermometers, in various sizes, and sold as low as $1.50 up. Call and see them. The F. R. J. MacPherson Co'y Limited, 341 George street.

Housecleaning Made Easy.

—Before you decide how you will clean your carpets, call us up or drop in and see the work our machines will do. We can thoroughly clean the carpets of an ordinary sized house in three hours, without any inconvenience to you and at a very small cost.—The Vacuum Carpet Cleaning Co., 395 Water street, (near Cor. Hunter St.) Telephone 72.

What We Manufacture.

—The Peterborough Showcase Co., situated at 709 Water street, manufactures all designs of counter cases, silent salesmen, showcases, wall cases store fittings, and all designs of high-grade cabinet work, such as china cabinets, kitchen cabinets, music cabinets, writing desks, book cases, medicine cases, etc. Furniture made to order and repaired. Dealers in British late glass and mirrors. Telephone No. 1153. W. Theobald, manager.

Open For Business.

—The Model Foundry and Pump Works, to be operated by Messrs. T. H. Ruth and John Condin at 57 Hunter street, will be open for business on May 1st. The firm will manufacture all kinds of pumps and gasoline engines and will, in addition, attend to repair work. Mr. Walter Scott will be the firm's representative throughout the city district. The office telephone number is 666 Bell, and the residence 'phone 1127, Bell.

Took Part in Service.

The Examiner has received the programme of the Easter services in the McDougall Methodist church in Edmonton, in which several Peterborough people took part. Miss Ruth Carlisle assisted in the singing of a quartette in the morning, and at the evening service Mr. Chas. Harmer, formery of the Charlotte street choir, sang a solo "Easter" by Van-de-Water.

Pay Off the Mortgage.

Sweeping and dusting is now a thing of the past, use our Automatic Double Tank Electrical Vacuum Cleaner at a small cost and enjoy a spotless home. Just consider that our Automatic Cleaner will clear up everything in your household, except the mortgage on your home. But it will save enough for you in wear and tear to clean that off in a short time.—D. C. Lamont, 309 George St. 'Phone 255.

Time-Table for Motor Line.

The Rutherford-Grimes Motor Car Line have made the arrangements for the running of their cars up until June 10th, 1911. They will be open every hour to parties from 7 to 14 in number. Charge will be $4.00 per hour; $12 per half day, and $24.00 per day. Distances for more than 20 miles from the city will have to be arranged for. Special contracts can also be made with the firm. See advt. elsewhere in these columns.

A Good Bunch.

—Five packages jellies 'Best' for 25c., seven lb. pails of jam, regular 65c. for 50c.; catsup bottle, regular 20c. for 15c.; canned corn, best, regular 2 for 25c., 3 for 25.; 3 cans of Lombard plums for 25c.; dairy butter, prints, 24c.; Red Rose tea 30c. and 40c. per lb.; 3 packages of ammonia powder for 25c.; washing soda 12 lb. for 25c.; maple syrup, one dollar per gallon while it lasts. Come early. These are for cash only. JAMES R. BELL, 'phone 584—43 Hunter street east; phone 456—161 Hunter street west.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG
Keep in the sunshine. Avoid excesses of all kinds. Eat moderately at regular intervals. Cultivate a spirit of contentment and keep the bowels regular and liver active by using Dr. Ohase's Kidney and Liver Pills. No treatment is so definite and so satisfactory for this purpose. Note so trustworthy and economical.

MISERABLE WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" BRINGS THE HAPPINESS OF HEALTH

"Fruit-a-tives" cures Stomach Troubles because it cures the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin.

Indigestion etc. is not usually the fault of the stomach itself. The bowels are irregular—the kidneys are weak or strained—the skin is inactive—and consequently the blood is impure. It is the impure blood that really makes bad digestion.

"Fruit-a-tives" purifies the blood by making all the vital organs active and healthy—which in turn relieves the stomach. Take "Fruit-a-tives" if you want to get rid of all Stomach Troubles and faults of Digestion.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Fred Beattie of Montreal is the guest of Dr. Frank Neal.

C. W. Richards, of the Millbrook Mirror, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. C. W. Baker of Montreal, is registered at the Hotel National.

Miss Mary McWilliams, East City, has returned home after spending the winter with her sister in New York.

Mr. Joseph Rawnsley is leaving tomorrow morning for Welland, where he has accepted a very lucrative position.

Miss Margaret Craig of Kinmount, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Christopher, corner of Charlotte and Margaret avenue, returned home today.

Councillor J. N. McGill, secretary-treasurer of the Millbrook Agricultural Society, was in the city Saturday in the interests of his fair. Special efforts will be made to make the Millbrook fair, to be held on October 5th and 6th, a record breaker.

At the Right-End
of things are the men and women who never wait 'till cash is in hand when a new wardrobe is needed. Try their habit of using our method of Superior Clothing On Credit
and you'll be, like them, at the head of life's procession. Call and we'll explain.
SPECIAL FOR THIS WEEK :
Ladies' Suits $5.95
Voile Skirts 4.95
Millinery—all trimmed Hats, 4.50 to 7.00 for 2.98
Shapes 98c
Men's Suits and Overcoats and Pants all at reduced prices.
Housefurnishings—Carpets, Linoleum, Square Rugs, Lace and Tapestry Curtains all at reduced prices.
CANADIAN FURNISHING HOUSE
Opposite the Custom House. The Best Credit Clothiers in the City
311 GEORGE STREET

OBITUARY

VICTOR COLLINS.

After a week's illness, Victor Collins, son of Peter Collins, of 468 Park street, aged 45 months. Remains were interred in St. Peter's cemetery at 3.30 this afternoon.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT

With Provincial Home Rule for Ireland, Scotland, England and Wales

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, MAY 1.—There is a rumour in well informed political circles here that the leaders of the government and opposition have reached an arrangement for some kind of an imperial parliament with colonial representations and provision for state or provincial home rule for Ireland, England, Scotland and Wales. It is thought that Irish Nationalists would be satisfied with such an arrangement.

ATTACKED GIRL THEN SUICIDED

MONTREAL, MAY 1.—Walking into an ice cream parlour this morning, John Robinson called for the proprietress, Miss Lares, and slashed her across the throat with a [illegible] and then cut his own throat [illegible] to ear, dying almost instantly. [illegible] girl will recover.

"CONQUEROR" LAUNCHED

Special to The Examiner.

LONDON, MAY 1.—The "Conqueror," Great Britain's twentieth dreadnought, was launched on the Clyde today.

RUTHERFORD GRIMES MOTOR CAR LINE

Time Table Up to June 10th, 1911

Cars are open for use every hour to parties from one to seven, costing $3.00 per hour. From 7 to 14, $4.00 per hour. Parties going out of town $12.00 per half day, and $24.00 per day. Any number up to 14, and within a radius of 20 miles around, over that distance, extra charge will be made. For one or two persons going out to nearby villages, special contracts will be made.

WRECKED BY REBELS

Special to The Examiner:

MEXICO CITY, MAY 1.—Three passengers and a negro porter were killed and several others injured in a wreck of a week end special train by rebels at Elparun last night.

MEETING TO-NIGHT

A meeting of Peterborough Lodge No. III., I.O.O.F., is particularly requested for to-night, Monday, at 7.30 o'clock sharp, to make arrangements for the funeral of Bro. Johnston on Tuesday at 3 p.m. By order
J. M. White, recording Sec
M. McLean, N. G. 1d101

TWO WERE DROWNED

Special to The Examiner.

SHERBROOKE, MAY 1. — While crossing a swollen river on a plank raft, Lyndia Croteau, aged ten, and Mary, her sister aged eight, fell over and were drowned near Thedford Mills.

Board Of Health

The City Board of Health met this afternoon at 2.30, and discussed the Garbage and Sewer connection. The following were present at the meeting: Drs. Young and McNulty, chairman; Robert Neill, Wm. Johnston, Wm. Murty and Dr. McPherson, M. H. O.

A suggestion was read at the meeting regarding the Garbage question, and it was moved that the suggestion be presented at the Council meeting to-night, for them to propose a by-law along the lines of the suggestion. It was requested that the suggestion not be printed until after the meeting to-night.

It was also moved by Mr. R. S. G. that the Council be petitioned to make connection with the Bonnar Worth Co., regarding putting in sewer from Cedar to McDonnel Sts. on Cambridge street.—Carried.

It was also moved and seconded that the Scavengers be charged a fee of 50 cents for a yearly license.

Stole $10,000 Worth Of Diamonds

CALGARY, MAY 1. — Somebody filched from under the pillow of J. Fleishman, of New York, while he slept in a Canadian Pacific train, ten thousand dollars' worth of diamonds. There is no clue to the thieves.

Limoge China

We have just received a full line of the genuine Elite brand of the "Medium Rose" pattern.

DIAMOND HALL
WARNE BROS.

The Piano with A Soul

Is the name that has been given to and recognized as applicable to
THE MASON & RISCH
Piano. It embodies the highest perfection yet attained in Piano building, combining exquisite tone, beauty of design and thorough workmanship. We also have the popular Bell and Haines Pianos, making the choice a splendid one.

Peterborough Music Co.
404 George St. J. P. CUNNINGHAM, Prop.

DUTTON & COMPANY
Pine Apples Grape Fruit
Ripe Tomatoes Cucumbers
Celery, Lettuce, Green Onions
Challenge Tea, Pound 25c
Phones 304. F. WALKER, Mgr.

BICYCLES & Bicycle Sundries

Motor Boat Supplies
MOTOR CYCLES
Competent Repair Man At Your Service
F. J. R. MacPherson Co. Limited
341 George St. : Both Phones 386

SHOW AN INCREASE

Another increase is reported from the Peterborough Customs House for the month of April, 1911, over the collections for the corresponding month last year. During April, 1911, the amount collected was $38876.29, while for April, 1910, the collections were $27,693.17, an increase of $68,183.63.

BURN
"OCCO"
SCRANTON
COAL
"THE VERY BEST"

BELL PHONE 116 — ONTARIO COAL CO. LIMITED PETERBORO — MACHINE PHONE 116

Egg Coal ..... $7.00 per ton
Stove " ..... 7.00 " "
Nut " ..... 7.25 " "
Pea " ..... 6.50 " "

NOTE—To benefit by above prices, coal must be paid for on or before May 21st, unless ordered for immediate delivery, when same must be paid for on delivery.

Something Artistic

It is Mr. Mendel's delight to hear his customers say there is "Something Artistic" about his photos that is peculiar to his work.

Louis Mendel

STUDIO—374½ George Street, East Side. The only Studio on George St.

Alex Gordon's
Meat Market
is stocked with some prime beef—better has never been shown in Peterborough before.
CALL AND SEE IT
Also a full supply of LAMB
MUTTON
PORK
Specially Selected for Holiday
Our stock of Fowl was bought so that the people of Peterborough could have a first class supply at moderate prices.
Alex Gordon
Butcher Market Arcade

Ladies' Tailoring

I have just returned from Montreal and have put into stock another shipment of fine dress goods for suits, skirts and dresses.

If the ladie's of Peterboro will call and see my stock and order their suits or dresses, I will give them better satisfaction than they can get anywhere else in the city.

I can make a specially fine fitting riding suit. Your own goods made up. Our prices are low for high class work.

J. GOLDBERG
Phone 1267. : 452 George St.

FRESH
MAPLE SUGAR
Guaranteed PURE
T. H. Hooper
327, 414 and 801 George Street

Everyone May Dress Well Now

The Standard Company, 163 Simcoe St., is offering now a full line of ladies' and gent's ready-to-wear clothing, such as Men's Suits, Coats; Ladies' Coats, Waists and Underskirts.
ON EASY WEEKLY PAYMENTS
You need not wait for all the cash; come and select your spring outfit and pay only $1 and $2 per week
House Furnishings, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, Lace Curtains, all of best quality for CASH OR CREDIT.

The STANDARD COMPANY
163 Simcoe St., Peterboro

East City
Coal and Wood Yard
MAIN OFFICE—111 Hunter St., East
Phone 96
All sizes of Best Mined Hard and Soft Coal delivered promptly to all parts of the city. Terms strictly cash.
COAL $7.50 PER TON
Hardwood $6.00 cord, Best Mixed Wood $4.50 cord. First class Tamarac. Cutting and splitting extra.
WEIR & O'BRIEN
Archie Weir. Jas. O'Brien.

One Cent a Word
The Evening Examiner Want Ads. always bring results. For Sale, To-let, Lost-10 words 10c

The Evening Examiner.

Your friends accept it as gladly. No wonder.
ROSE LEAF
10c Cigar—Rose Polley

VOL L No. 102 | 12 PAGES | PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MAY 2 1911 | PAGES 1 TO 6 | PRICE TWO CENTS

ROYAL

Two Special Vaudeville Acts

T. W. ROBSWIN & CO.
In A Comedy Sketch—
"Who Is He?"

Dorothy Weaver
Singing Comedienne and Wooden Shoe Dancer

These two Acts come to the Royal direct from the Majestic Theatre, Toronto, and should prove pleasing to all lovers of good, clean, refined amusement.

Motion Pictures

Another change of motion pictures for to-night's big picture show, comprising the most laughable comedies and the latest and most interesting dramas. To-night's special feature film is Kalem's latest sensational drama, "The Hero of The Mill," one of the strongest dramas yet produced, and 3 other pictures.

Remember, the Royal is the coolest place to go to in the evenings. There are six big electric ceiling fans and one large suction fan going at all times when needed.

ADMISSION:
Afternoon....5c Evening.....10c

Princess

Special Big Comedy for To-night

CAPTAIN BARNACLE'S COURTSHIP

This is one of the Vitegraph Co's latest biggest and best great comedies. It is a scream from start to finish; it will make even the most grouchy hold their sides. Don't miss it.

"Caught With the Goods"

One of Essanay's latest and best Comedies, showing the hero going to jail for 30 days, making his wife think he is in Mexico, and then his return. It is some fun.

"Zululand"

One of Selig's great Dramas of Central Africa, showing scenes of hair breadth escapes from wild animals.

5c—— ADMISSION ONLY ——5c

Now is the Time to Bring Them To Us

Before the summer sun gets in its work. Remember every child will be reproduced in the "Christmas Examiner."

The Roy Studio
140½ Hunter Street
Always get Roy's famous souvenir post cards

Latest Styles
May Millinery

New designs of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats for this month at prices much below other store prices

Stylish Trimmed Hats worth $5.00 for $3.00

Grand Display of Flowers—We purchased 150 dozen flowers for trimming hats, all kinds and colors, at a great bargain and will sell them away below value. See our window.

Flowers worth 50c and 75c per bunch only 15c

Ladies' and Gentleman's Ready-to-wear Suits and Spring Coats, all colors and sizes at prices to suit all.

Housefurnishings — Carpets, Rugs, Linoleums, Chenille and Tapestry Curtains, etc.

CASH OR CREDIT

The Elite Clothing Co
432 George St. Phone 567

May Day In Paris

Troops and Police Have Lively Time With Rioters—All is Quiet in London However With a Very Poor Showing of Workers

CHICAGO SITUATION

Paris, May 2.—During the daylight hours the extra troops and those from the Paris garrison and the police had little trouble with the crowds of workingmen who gathered to celebrate May Day with great demonstrations, but late in the evening things took on a livelier aspect, and there were many collisions in the streets. About 7 o'clock in the evening hundreds of thousands of persons, for the most part spectators, gathered in the Place de la Concorde and the adjacent streets. The troops and police finally succeeded in dispersing them, and this district and the Champs Elysees took on their habitual aspect.

M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, announced that the disturbances had nowhere assumed a serious character, and that this May 1 had passed more quietly than ever before known.

About nine o'clock, however, several thousand manifestants reassembled before the big St. Paul Riding School, near the Bastile, and listened to internationalist and anti-militarist speeches by the revolutionary leaders Large forces of police and troops held the surrounding streets. A German workman, wearing a tri-color rosette in his buttonhole, declared amidst thunders of applause, in the name of his comrades, that in case of war the German workers would refuse to raise their weapons against their French comrades. The close of the meeting was marked by serious disturbances. The manifestations fought the police tooth and nail in the narrow streets of the old quarter for an hour before they were finally dispersed.

Many of the rioters were knocked down and trampled on by the chargers. A score of police were injured and many of the rioters were arrested.

Despatches from the provinces say that the customary labor celebration was held everywhere. They were practically without incident, except at St. Etienne, where the manifestants solemnly burned a copy of the Workman's Pension Law in front of the City Hall. The troops had some trouble in dispersing them, and a number of the workmen were hurt or arrested.

Quiet Day in London

London, May 2.—No disorder accompanied the May Day demonstration here yesterday. A procession bearing red banners, bands playing the Marseillaise, marched from Victoria Embankment to Hyde Park. About 15,000 persons, more than half of them aliens, gathered there. Tom Mann, vice-president of the Workers' Union, who was the principal speaker, said it was shameful that the attendance of the workers was so small.

American Railway Men Out.

Chicago, May 2.—Mainteance of way employes of six railroads, numbering 2,500 men, struck last night when their demands for recognition of the union and a wage increase were refused.

The total number of men involved in strikes and lockouts in and near Chicago, as a result of May Day labor troubles, is estimated at 12,000.

Alfonso Gravely Ill.

Paris, May 2.—L'Intransigeant claims that King Alfonso is gravely ill with tuberculosis, and that at a recent consultation of his physicians it was decided that urgent measures of treatment were necessary, and also that the Spanish monarch should pass the coming winter at Lesins, Switzerland, where the climate is better adapted to his condition.

The Busin World

Is calling you, why not prepare now? The leading mercantile houses of Canada and United States recognize our efficiency.

THE SPOTTON BUSINESS COLLEGES

Have given thousands of young people a good start in life. We can assist you.

OUR HOME STUDY COURSES

Offer unexcelled advantages to those who cannot attend college. Full particulars upon inquiry.

PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE
GEO. SPOTTON, President

Apollinaris
"THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS"
Supplied Under Royal Warrant of Appointment to
HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE V.

LAST LIBERAL SPEAKER ON RECIPROCITY IS HEARD IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

J. G. Turriff Ends the Debate as Far as the Government is Concerned by Delivering the Final Message Amid Outburst of Applause.

VERVILLE SPEAKS TO-DAY

Ottawa, May 2.—The last Liberal word on the reciprocity debate was spoken last night, and was a significant and memorable one. Amid repeated outbursts of cheering, which kept the Government benches rattling continuously, Mr. J. G. Turriff delivered the final message from the west with characteristic western frankness. A few weeks ago the Conservatives were predicting that the member for Assiniboia would followed Hon. Clifford Sifton in opposition to the reciprocity agreement.

Last night they got their answer, when the stalwart westerner spoke the closing word for the Liberal party. It is expected that Mr. Verville will speak to-day for the Labor interests, and the further continuance of the debate will be relegated to the obstructionists in the Opposition ranks. Whether the Prime Minister will be relieved in time to attend the Imperial Conference is accordingly solely the responsibility of the party which delights to flaunt its loyalty.

W. H. Sharpe of Lisgar, Man., represented the Opposition yesterday.

He voiced the needs of the west. Terminal elevators, a railway to Hudson Bay, chilled meat facilities, these things he demanded in the interests of the farmers. With these things to aid them, the question of tariff wall against farm products would be of no moment to the farmers. He showed that the fruit growers of British Columbia and the east, for instance, would have to assist the western farmers to get these facilities, yet the agreement would ruin the fruit industry of Canada.

Before the House rose Mr. Lennox intimated that the Farmers' Bank case would be reopened to-day.

When the House met yesterday Hon. Frank Oliver said: "I desire, Mr. Speaker, to call your attention to a matter which was brought to the attention of the House on Friday last by the Prime Minister, who referred to an article which had appeared in a Toronto paper, in which no names were mentioned. Since that time articles have appeared in other papers in which my name has been mentioned. I have not yet had an opportunity to consider these articles, but I hope to be able to make some observations on the matter to-morrow."

George H. Bradbury (Selkirk), after referring to the appointment of a royal commissioner by the Manitoba Government to discover if the titles to the property of the St. Peter's Indians, recently sold, were good, said that to enable the commision to arrive at a decision it was necessary to have the original documents, and asked if the Government would place these at the disposal of the commission.

Mr. Oliver said he was not desirous of impeding the work of the commission, but he had a certain responsibility regarding the documents. He promised a statement to-day.

On the motion to go into committee of ways and means R. L. Borden discussed the question of statistics of emigration from Canada to the United States, and from the United States to Canada. He quoted American statistics to show that during the year 1910, 94,026 Canadians entered the United States as emigrants. He said that if these figures were correct the balance in favor of Canada was a little less than 22,000. This was hardly what he would have expected.

Mr. Borden enquired if it was so that no statistics were available in Canada as to the number of departures to the United States.

Mr. Oliver replied in the negative.

Mr. Borden expressed his belief that it would be advisable to have comprehensive statistics as to the number of Canadians who went over to the United States. The people had been led to believe that this emigration had almost ceased, but evidently their belief was not based on a sure foundation.

Mr. Oliver said no doubt there was a considerable reciprocity in population. There had been in the past, and it would doubtless continue in the future. Nevertheless the Department considered the Canadian statistics of arrivals to be fairly accurate. To adopt the proposal suggested by Mr. Borden would mean a considerable increase in the cost of the service, which might produce commensurate results. If authorized to do so by Parliament, the Department would be willing to undertake the work, but no machinery had been proposed which would prevent this immigration he doubted the expediency of the proposal.

Mr. Borden said that if the statistics of the emigration from Canada to the United States were given there would be a different tale to tell. It would be shown that there was only a small net gain. We were pluming ourselves on a basis which was not unhopeful. In the interests of true knowledge we should have the information.

Hon. Wm. Paterson suggested that household effects would provide a rough test. He found that household effects to the value of $2,760,137 had been taken into the United States by Canadians last year, whereas the value of household effects brought into Canada was $7,613,563. While not conclusive, he considered that these figures might indicate that the figures quoted by Mr. Borden were not wanted.

Richard Blain (Peel) said that this was a serious matter, the figures showing that we were sending as many people to the United States as that country was sending to Canada.

Mr. Schaffner said that the figures quoted by Mr. Paterson could be explained by the fact that the new arrivals in Western Canada were prosperous American farmers, with many effects, while on the other hand the movement from the Maritime Provinces to the United States was made up largely of young people. He said there was plenty of room for these people in the west.

C. A. Magrath said this was the most important of all questions, because it affected the life blood of the nation. It was highly desirable, he said, that we should have more complete and accurate statistics so that we would know the exact condition of affairs.

ARE STILL AT IT.

Another Republican Raises the Annexation Bogey.

Washington, May 2.—Speeches on the farmers' free list bill in the House yesterday again sounded the note of Canadian annexation: traversed the whole range of argument concerning Canadian reciprocity, already disposed of by the House, and came back at time to specific attack upon or support of the free list bill, which has been pending for six days and gives promise of continuing for several more. At times less than a score of members were on the floor to hear the speech-making. Democratic Leader Underwood, at adjournment, expressed the hope that a vote may be reached Thursday or Friday, but many members wish to speak, and all desired time will be given.

Representative Madden of Illinois, in an hour's speech yesterday, touched the annexation issue.

"My hope is that if we can have closer commercial relations with the people of Canada," he said, "some day this relationship may blend the two peoples into one harmonious whole; and that the territory lying north of us may become a part of the United States, as it should be. I have always believed we should be one people, under one flag, and under one form of Government, and it will be better for us all when such a thing happens, if it ever does."

Messrs. Gillette of Massachusetts and Dyer of Missouri attacked the free list bill because it put jute bagging, used to bale cotton with, upon the free list, thereby threatening the bagmaking industry of this country.

Mr. Cox of Indiana supported the bill and attacked opponents of the reciprocity measure recently passed.

Mr. Rucker of Colorado, Democrat, who voted against the Canadian reciprocity bill, attacked that measure in a speech favoring the free list bill. He said he had been criticized for not abiding by the action of the Democratic caucus in favor of reciprocity, but explained that he opposed the measure because he believed it unfair to the farmer.

In a speech lasting more than three hours, Senator Stone of Missouri, in the Senate yesterday, denounced what he declared to be an unjust propaganda to defeat the Canadian reciprocity bill. The attempt, he said, was being made to alarm the American people by painting the rain that would follow the free importation of Canadian goods, the products of cheap labor. This contention, he declared, was absolutely untrue, as he submitted statistics gathered by both governments, designed to show that both labor and live stock were higher across the border than in the United States.

When Mr. Stone concluded Senator Gallinger asserted that the Missouri Senator had proved conclusively that there would not be the reduction in the cost of living which it had been contended, reciprocity would bring to the United States. Mr. Stone replied that he had not contended that in and of itself reciprocity would be of great benefit, but had undertaken to show that it would not produce great injury.

SNAPS FROM THE WIRES.

A fierce gale raged on Lake Huron yesterday.

The twentieth British Dreadnought was launched on the Clyde.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has purchased six lots in the west end of Montreal.

Pembroke ratepayers electors voted for Hydro-Electric power by a large majority.

A C.P.R. train crew rescued a family named Blake from their burning dwelling at Whitneyville.

The military aviator Matievitch and his brother were killed yesterday at Sebastopol while make a flight.

Lydia Fontaine and Mary Corteau, young girls, were drowned while crossing White River, near Thetford Mines.

His Excellency Earl Grey, the Countess Grey and the Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey returned to Ottawa from Winnipeg yesterday afternoon.

The Liberal caucus at Ottawa discussed the question of taking over branch lines by the Intercolonial. Only a passing reference was made to reciprocity.

The Lachine Canal was thrown open yesterday and within a few minutes afterwards there had been no less than forty passes issued to vessels to pass through.

A tragedy occurred at Cambridge, P.E.I., on Saturday, when Ben Irving in a fit of rage, it is alleged to have caught his aged sister by the throat and strangled her to death. Irving is said to have been insane.

McGill Students Arrested.

Montreal, May 2.—Dan Gilmore, son of Senator Gilmore, and "Buster" Mathewson, were arrested Saturday on a charge of burning the carriage occupied by Hon. Clifford Sifton at the anti-reciprocity demonstration in Montreal on March 29 last. "Bunny" Prime was also charged, but he will not be in town till the hearing on Friday.

All three are McGill men, Liberals, and interrupted the proceedings of McGill students to the Windsor Hall the night of the Sifton meeting. They pleaded not guilty.

Treaty For Five Years

Anglo-American Peace Pact Will Soon be Signed—An Advance on the Agreement of 1907—The "Telegraph" on its Contents

MANY FORMALITIES

London, May 2.—The Daily Telegraph claims authority to state that the new Anglo-American peace convention is not likely to be signed for at least a fortnight, but that sufficient progress has been made to warrant a forecast of its subject matter.

According to The Telegraph, it is understood the agreement is to be for five years and that it will be a great advance over the treaty of 1907 and all similar treaties heretofore negotiated between first-class powers, inasmuch as it will contain no clause excluding matters of vital interest and affecting the independence of honor of the contracting states from arbitration.

Before the reference of any dispute to The Hague Court, it will be provided that the contracting parties shall conclude a special agreement clearly defining the matter in dispute, the scope of the arbitrators' powers and the period to be fixed for the formation of the arbitral tribunal. Such agreements on the part of the United States will be made by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, the British Government reserving the right, before concluding such an agreement in any matter affecting the vital interests of any self-governing dominion, to obtain the Dominion Government's concurrence therein.

$500,000 Worth of Jewels.

New York, May 2.—Customs officers, private detectives and the police department here, were all busy yesterday working on information from Scotland Yard that jewelry worth $500,000 and upwards, stolen in great part from Americans in England and on the continent is being smuggled here piecemeal by an international band of crooks.

Some of the band are said to be women, and the understanding was that New York is supposed to be the clearing house for their operations. The arrest of the man believed to be the head "fence" is momentarily expected.

Mustn't Smuggle Furs.

Washington, May 2.—Chief Wilkie, acting head of the special customs bureau, warns all Americans who intend to buy furs in Canada this summer to make sure that their purchases will be delivered in a legitimate manner and not smuggled in.

Many Americans who bought furs in good faith last year in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, expecting them to be delivered duty free, have been obliged to pay heavy penalties.

Chief Wilkie says all who make purchases abroad to be delivered duty paid, should take receipts showing that fact.

Indian Burned to Death.

Montreal, May 2.—Mrs. Saiswenze Stacey, the 65-year-old wife of Tarongata Stacey, a venerable Indian resident of Caughnawaga, was burned to death in the destruction of her home by fire yesterday morning between two and three o'clock. Her husband, a man of 72, escaped with his life only by leaping from a second storey window. He is suffering from a badly contused shoulder and internal injuries.

Germany's Antarctic Expedition.

Hamburg, May 2.—The German Antarctic expedition will set sail on Wednesday on the steamer Deutschland. Yesterday Prince Henry of Prussia, made a final inspection of the vessel, and later gave a farewell luncheon for Commander Filchner.

Senator Gets $8,000 Job.

Ottawa, May 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House yesterday afternoon announced the appointment of Senator Roy, of Edmonton, as Canadian representative in Paris. The appointment was foreshadowed some time ago. The salary is $8,000.

Morgan After Telephones.

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—With the buying of the Bowling Green Home Telephone Co., in Kentucky, the first of a series of large purchases, which will entail an expenditure of $25,000,000, has just been completed. The lines, which have practically been secured, are in the south and west.

J. Pierpont Morgan is said to be back of this project. Certain telephone officials in Cincinnati say he intends eventually to secure every independent company in this country and that he is now in control of a majority of the stock of the Bell Telephone Co.

Ottawa's New Health Officer.

Ottawa, May 2.—The Board of Health has declined to make a selection from the list of almost a dozen applicants for medical health officer. The choice was left to the City Council last night, but the board recommends that the salary be $4,000. The appointee must hold an Ontario medical certificate, which puts out of the running about half of the candidates.

The Most Used Extensively

KRYPTOKS

Are supplied by the best Optometrists and Opticians throughout United States and Canada, and Peterboro is not slow in recognizing that it pays to pay a little more and enjoy the best possible aid to the eye. During the past few years the Optical Institute has supplied a a large number of Kryptok and Toric lenses, and the demand for these better qualities continually increases.

THE PETERBOROUGH OPTICAL INSTITUTE
In the Nichol Building, Peterboro.
332 George Street
Phones: Bell 1321 Machine 7
J. W. Brewster, Optometrist

REBELS ADVANCING.

Chinese Revolutionary Forces Are Routing the Troops.

Hong Kong, May 2.—Rebellion, bandage, and anarchy are stalking through the western half of Kwang Tung Province, murdering, pillaging and burning. The loyal troops are fighting desperately to crush the uprising, the seriousness of which is revealed in further despatches from Canton yesterday.

While the fighting was progressing in the streets Chinese gunboats patrolling the west river fired upon several parties of rebels, slaughtering 200 of them.

Retreating to the countryside the revolutionaries attacked and captured Sam Shui, thirty miles west of Canton, and murdered the prefect. The troops were put to flight, and the rebels moved on to Wen Chow and Woo Chow, both of which towns they took after slight resistance.

The viceroy of Canton, who took refuge on a gunboat after his palace was burned Wednesday night, has ordered troops to pursue the rebels in the country. The authorities appear from the latest advices to be in control at Canton. The gates of the city are closed, and no one is allowed to enter. A vigorous round-up of suspects is being made. Seven gunboats are anchored off the city.

The uprising began with a plot against the throne by anti-Manchus, who went to Canton in great numbers from Hong Kong. Their object was betrayed and the revolutionary movement was prematurely began following an attempt to arrest the leaders. Successfully coped with in Canton, the revolutionaries appear to be abandoning that city and concentrating their attacks on the towns to the north and west. There are 20,000 troops in the capital of the province, and upon the loyalty of these the hope of the Government depends. Many of the troops have proved their faithfulness, and this appears to have influenced the greater body, suspected of disloyalty, to still obey the commands of their officers.

B. C. Fruit Lands.

Montreal, May 2.—Private despatches from Vancouver state that the rush has already commenced to the fertile fruit lands of the Columbia Valley in the Windermere district, south of Golden. This is where the C.P.R. has under construction the Kootenay Central Railway, and it is expected that this line will be a great influence in the opening up of this country. Fruit, vegetables, poultry, etc., can be placed on the train at night, and reach Calgary next morning.

Three steamers will ply on the Columbia River this year from Golden to the Windermere district, carrying passengers and freight, and it is not improbable that the C.P.R. will erect a new hotel in the near future overlooking Windermere Lake.

We Go To SPECIALISTS

When we wish to have our teeth treated, do we call on the family physician or a nerve specialist? Not at all, we consult a man in the dental profession who has, by specialization on the organs of digestion and mastication, the proper scientific knowledge and skill to alleviate the sufferings produced by these particular organs. On the other hand, if our nerves are all unstrung and we are bordering on the verge of a nervous collapse, we give little thought to the dental surgeon and consult a specialist on neurosis. We should be just as careful who we have treat our Eyesight. The eyes are one of the most important organs of the body, and should be treated only by a Specialist.

We are Specialists in the correcting of all errors of refraction in the Eye. We do all our own Lens Grinding, thus assuring promptness and positive accuracy.

All Work Guaranteed

A. A. FOWLER
Phm. B.
Eyesight Specialist
Ref. B.C. Toronto Opt. D. Chicago
with NUGENT DRUG CO.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
FOR ALL KIDNEY DISEASES
CURES RHEUMATISM
BRIGHT'S DISEASE
BACKACHE
DIABETES
50 PILLS 25 THE PIL

MEDICAL.

DR. BUCHANAN, F. R. C. S., Edinburgh, M. R. C. S., England, L.R.C.P., London. Specialist of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Phone 619. 169 Charlotte Street. Hours—9-11 a.m., 2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

DR. T. P. McCULLOUGH—Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Specialist. Office, 289 Brock Street.

DR. FRANK C. NEAL, M.R.C.S., (Eng.) L.R.C.P. (Lond.)—Internal Medicine. Special attention to Diseases of Chest. 364 Rubidge Street. Phone—Bell 604, Mach., 603. Hours—2-4 p.m., 7-9 p.m.

AUDITORS AND ASSIGNEES.

F. H. KIDD
Chartered Accountant and Auditor
401 Kent St., LINDSAY, ONTARIO

OSTEOPATHY.

DR. ASA G. WALMSLEY — Osteopathic Physician. Office over Canadian Bank of Commerce; Hunter Street Entrance. Bell Phone 548. Office Hours—9 to 12 a.m.; 2 to 5 p.m. Evenings by appointment. Consultation free.

UNDERTAKERS.

D. BELLEGHEM.—Funeral Director—Calls may be given day or night at warerooms 199 Hunter street, or at residence, 202 Hunter street. Telephone No. 35.

MONEY TO LOAN.

MONEY TO LOAN—On Farm and Town property, at lowest current rates on easiest terms of payment. HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON, (Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Peterborough, Ont. Office—Over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

MONEY TO LEND—On first class City and Farm Securities only, on current rates. BENNET & GOODWILL, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., No. 275 Water street, Peterborough. Telephone, No. 191. J. W. Bennet; H. L. Goodwill.

LEGAL.

O'CONNELL & GORDON, Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Hunter street, two doors west of Post Office. Daniel O'Connell, George H. Gordon.

RUDDY & BURNHAM,
Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Etc.
Offices . . 370 Water Street.
MONEY TO LOAN.
Robert Ruddy, K.C. J. H. Burnham, M.A
Telephone No. 64

DENNISTOUN, PECK & KERR.—Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries. Offices, 311 Water street. Money to loan at lowest current rates of interest, on easy terms of repayment. E. A. Peck, K. H. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr.

DUMBLE & JOHNSTON.—Barristers, Solicitors, etc. Office, over Toronto Savings and Loan Company, 438 George street. D. W. Dumble, K.C.; W. F. Johnston.

A. E. DIXON.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Offices, corner Hunter and George streets, entrance, next Madill's Drug Store. dw

HALL, HAYES & HALL. — Barristers, Solicitors and Notaries Public. Hunter st., Peterborough. Next to St. John's Church Money to loan at lowest rates of interest. H. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor; Louis H. Hayes, K.C., and Basil D. Hall.

HALL, MEDD & DAVIDSON—Successors to Stratton & Hall, Barristers, Solicitors, etc., Peterborough, Ont. Office, corner of Hunter and Water streets, over Canadian Bank of Commerce. H. H. Hall, K. T. Medd, W. S. Davidson.

W. H. MOORE.—Barrister, Solicitor, etc. Office, entrance first hall way west of Post Office, Peterborough, Ont. Money to loan.

R. E. WOOD — Barrister, etc., County Crown Attorney. Office, over Canadian Express Office. George Street. Money to Loan.

ARCHITECTS.

W. BLACKWELL—Architect and Civil Engineer. Plans and estimates made on churches, public buildings and dwelling houses. Buildings, heating and plumbing a specialty. Office, 372 Water street, Peterborough.

If We Serve You

with our exceptionally fine Bottled Beer you will never be lacking in a pure, appetising, refreshing and delightful drink. It has the rich body and delicious flavour that speaks of pure malt and hops and careful brewing. As a thirst-quencher it is unrivalled, and as a blood and flesh builder for the weak and sickly it has absolutely no equal. Let us send you a single case on trial—one drink will make you want to have it always handy. 'Phone

The Calcutt Brewing & Malting Company
of Ashburnham Limited
Brewers and Bottlers
of Fine Ales, Porters and Lager
PHONE 98

"THE BLACK CROSS"

By OLIVE M. BRIGGS

(Continued from Monday)

"Oi—Oi! Is that a corpse you hold there, Bradjaga?" he cried. His voice was hardly distinguishable above the roaring of the gale.

"For the love of heaven," shouted Velasco, "Moujik, if you have a heart under your sheep-skin, let me lay my comrade in the cart! He is faint with the cold, numbed. We have tramped all night in the snow. Are you bound for the market at Belsia? Hey, stop! Moujik—Stop!"

"Get in," said the peasant, "The ponies rear and dance as if Satan were on their backs, and the mare is like one possessed! It is good to see the sun. Get in, Bradjaga, and if the burden in your arms is no corpse it will soon become one! The night has been hell. Bezhe moi! At the first crossing to the left is a tea-house. Get along you brutes! Pour the vodka into his throat; it will sting him to life!"

The ponies dashed forward, the mare and the foals running behind. Velasco sat huddled on the floor of the cart, his violin and the knapsack slung from his shoulders; his arms still clasping the slight, dark form, protecting it from the jolting of the runners. He was muttering to it under his breath:

"Kaya—poor little one! Your curls are damp against my cheek; your forehead is ice! Courage, little comrade. Now — your heart beats faster —your eye-lids are flickering! Another moment and you will be warm and safe. The lights of the tea-house are ahead. Moujik—faster! We will drink a glass of vodka together, all three! Faster—faster!"

As the sleigh dashed into the court yard, the great red ball of the sun rose above the distant tree-tops; and behind the stable a cock began to crow, slowly, feebly at first, as if just awake and stretching his wings.

When Kaya came to consciousness again, she was lying on a pile of straw in a low raftered room. She had dreamt that she was chained and in prison, and that something was choking her and weighing on her breast; but when she tried to move her limbs, she found that it was the blankets, wrapping her closely, and when she opened her eyes, she saw the face of Velasco bending over her, and he was trying to force some wine through her clenched lips.

"Where am I?" said Kaya faintly. "You are choking me, Velasco!"

She struggled to a sitting posture, leaning on one elbow, and peered up into his face. "What has happened?" she said again. "Where are we? I thought we were tramping through the snow and my feet were frozen! You are pale, Velasco, and your eyes are heavy!—Have I slept?"

Velasco glanced over his shoulder, and then brought his lips close to her face and whispered: "You fainted, and I carried you in my arms; the Moujik brought us here in his cart. You opened your eyes once and when we laid you on the straw you fell asleep. You slept so long I was frightened, Kaya—if it had not been for your jacket moving under the blankets, rising and falling softly, with the beat of your heart, you might have been dead; you were so still! Poor little one, you were exhausted. Bring a little and eat!"

"What time is it, Velasco?"

The sun was rising when we drove into the court and now, in another hour or two, it will be setting."

Kaya put her hand to her cropped yellow curls, and then she looked at him and a dimple came in her cheek:

"I forgot about being a boy," she murmured, "Is this what you call an inn, Velasco? It looks like a stable!"

"It is a stable."

Kaya looked at him again and began to laugh softly: "I forgot about being a gypsey," she said, "Your clothes are ragged and torn, Velasco; they are worse than they were that night in your Studio. And I—tell me—how do I look?"

"Like a little Bradjaga, sweet, and disreputable, and boyish!"

Kaya drew herself slowly to her knees, and then to her feet, brushing the straw from her velveteen trousers and the sleeves of her jacket. "They wouldn't let us in the inn because we were gypsies, was that it? They were afraid we would steal?"

The dimples came back in her face and she picked up her cap from the floor, dusting it with her elbow and cramming it down on the back of her curls. "Steal me a little bread, Velasco, I am hungry."

"Come back to your nest in the straw, Kaya, put your fingers in my pocket and steal for yourself. I bought a loaf with a couple of copecks, and some honey-cake. At sundown, when the peasants come for their vodka, there will be a dance. They have never danced to a Stradivarius before; but they won't know the difference, Kaya, not they! We will pay for the straw with a rollicking waltz—Ha ha!"

The gypsey musician caught his comrade by the arm and pulled her down on the straw beside him.

"Which pocket, Velasco? Oh, I feel the honey-cake bulging! Give it to me."

"No—take it yourself!"

"Your pocket is so deep; it is like diving into a pool."

"Not so deep as your eyes, Kaya. You thief! Ah, take your fingers away and pay for your bread."

"Are you fooling, Velasco? You look at me so strangely! Sometimes your eyes are slits and disappear under your brows, and now—Velasco, turn your head away—I am hungry. You make my heart beat! Velasco—give me the bread."

"Pay first and then you shall have it."

She stared at him a moment, drawing back into the straw. "I am a boy," she said softly, panting, "Remember I am a boy! Don't—tease me!"

"Just once, Kaya."

"No—Velasco."

The older gypsey glanced again about the low raftered loft. The window in the rafters was hung with cob-webs; the light came through it dimly, a shaft of sun-beams dancing on the floor; they fell on her hair beneath the cap and the curls glistened like gold. Her eyes were watching him.

"No—no—Velasco!

He came nearer to her, and the straw crackled as he moved, stretching out his arms: "When you were weary, Kaya, I carried you. When you fell asleep I watched over you. It is not your heart that is beating so fast; it is mine! The colour has come back to your cheeks and the light to your eyes. You slept while I guarded you. My eyes were heavy but I dared not shut them; I watched the folds of your jacket rising and falling, the breath as it came through the arch of your lips; the gold of your curls against the straw; the oval of your cheek and your lashes. My eyes never closed—I have given up everything for you, Kaya, my life and my art."

He stretched out his arms to her again and his dark eyes gazed into her blue ones, passionate and eager.

"—Kaya!"

She put out her hand and touched his: "Sleep, Velasco. Your life is safe and your art. You have given them to me, but I will give them back again. Break off a piece of the bread, Velasco, and we will talk a little together while we eat. We have been such good comrades, you and I, and we care for one another—as comrades do. If you should die or—or leave me, it would break my heart—you know that."

"Ah, kiss me—Kaya! Let me take you in my arms! Come to me and let me kiss you on your lips!"

"You hurt me, Velasco, your hands are so strong! Not on the lips—Velasco—not on the—lips! I beseech you, dear friend—I—"

The gypsey held her close to him for a moment, his heart beating against hers, and then he turned away his head. "I love you, Kaya; I love you! Kiss me of your own will. I can't force you—how can I? Your hands are struggling in mine, but they are soft like the down on a bird's breast! Some day you will come to me, Kaya, some day—when you love me, too. When—ah! The touch of your hands, your hair against my cheek sets my blood on fire! Feel my pulse how it throbs! It is like a storm under the skin! I suffer, little Bradjaga—little comrade!"

